THE DAWSON KID PROPOUNDS A QUERY TO THE MINISTER.

Pipedream Exploded.

The pipe dream exploded by the joke this morning of a bold, bad man in Klondike City last evening holding up a party at the point of a gun, was as similar dreams of the joke have been merely a case of the imagination of the writer being stretched to an abnormal size. The bold, bad man referred to was Thos. Gardner, a very inoffensive looking individual who while strongly under the 'influence' had upon being refused a request for money, taken a package of tobacco from a fruit stand. He was later found in the Klondike City hotel and brought to the barracks. This morning he very demurely pleaded guilty to the time-worn charge and received a fine of $5 and costs or an alternative of 10 days. Some friends came to his rescue, paid his fine and he went his way rejoicing.

Robt. Marshall was in a like condition but he confined his actions merely to sleeping on a bench on Queen street and afterward endeavoring to walk when he was not able. His fine was imposed at $2 and cost.

A GOOD TIP.

While many a life is saved by drugs there is many a fatality caused by same; not but what they are a good thing if they are fresh and properly used. Never patronize a drug store that is not up-to-date in stock. Old drugs and medicines do more harm than good. Cribbs, the druggist, carries only fresh, up-to-date drugs and at virtually outside prices. A trial order will convince you.

SLAUGHTER HOUSE

Ordinance Meets Much Opposition

Public Objects to the Granting of Exclusive Privileges

Considerable opposition is manifesting itself to the exclusive slaughter house bill which was introduced in the Yukon council last evening. The intent and purpose of the measure is to shut out competition in the matter of conducting slaughter houses, and it is very justly contended by its opponents that such action would be contrary to the wishes and in direct opposition to the interests of the general public. It is generally recognized that the passage of the bill might ultimately tend to raise the price of beef and other meats which are brought in on hoof, and in general it may be said that the public is opposed to the granting of anything in the way of exclusive privileges, particularly in a case like the present, where there are a number of well established business enterprises whose interests would be seriously affected.

Several members of the council opposed the bill at last night's session, and it may be said that they are confident of defeating it. The contention that the health officer has not time to inspect more than one slaughter house is met with the reply that it would be better to increase his compensation or furnish an assistant rather than grant an exclusive privilege and thus bar the community from the benefits of competition.

LABORERS IN COURT

Largest Amount Ever Involved in Any Suit for Wages Before Local Courts.

One of the largest wage cases ever tried in the courts of the Yukon territory was commenced in the police court before Magistrate Wroughton this morning. The proceedings were instituted yesterday by 36 workmen against Peter Jarvis and Joseph Sebard and Theophilus Senard of 48 below on Bonanza. In all there are about 50 men who have been at work on this property during this season, whose wages, it is claimed, have not yet been paid. Thirty-six of this number have made themselves complainants in the action and the balance will follow shortly.

The amounts of the claims range from $50 up to several hundred for each man, the aggregate amount at present reaching $4,000. The total indebtedness to the laborers on the property will reach, it is said, about $8,000.

One case will be tried as a test case, and upon the result of this action will depend the disposition of the other cases.

The case was called this morning and showed the complainants out in force. In fact the court room was filled with them. The defense was responded to by Jarvis, who stated that the summons was delivered to him last night. He casually glanced at it and thought it read Thursday instead of Tuesday. He made a closer examination this morning and upon seeing Tuesday he had jumped on a horse and told his partners to follow, and had just arrived in town. He was expecting his partners to follow. Upon motion of the complaintants the case was enlarged until this afternoon.

The complainants in the action, together with the amounts claimed, are as follows: Wm. Talbot, $410; Giddons on Beaucheu, $130; L. F. Turgeon, $50.85; Neil Lerrest, $50.85; Louis Bousseau, $340; Dona Pomerleau, $50; Frank Morris, Michael Gosselin, $450; Ernest Trichon, $83.50; Henri Letourneau, $50; Francois Lamoth, $220; Jean Dion, $135; Eugene Dettise, $279.50; Nap. Pare, $135; Darnakie Martineau, $150; Eugene La Lamette, $160; Gabriel Leclerc, $350; Henry Cartier, $90; Jepherrin Longchamps, $330.00; Omer Talbot, $180; Godfroi Talbot, Louis Bustin, $100; Philippe Collins, $10.75; A. L. Winda, $148.75; Louis-Lacrois, $200; Oral Janast, $40.50; George Snown, $200; Elias Dumais, $125; A. C. Akre, $35; Herbert W. White, $289.50.

LA FRANCE RETURNS

After Interesting Trip to Pelly River

Brings Reports of New Strikes and Prospecting on Pelly and Its Tributaries.

The steamer La France returned last night from her third trip to the Pelly river this season. She left Dawson on the 25th of August, but waited at the mouth of the Pelly river for one day to get some passengers from the Clifford Sifton, who were left behind when the La France sailed. She arrived at Granite Canyon where there are quite a number of men prospecting for coal. The mouth of McMillan was reached on the 30th, and Tunnel river on the 31st. This is quite a large stream but no prospecting has been done.

On Glen Lion river, which is about 220 miles up the Pelly, there is a large number of prospectors, and a good strike was reported at the Ketzra river 100 miles above Glen Lion. At the Ketzra river the boat made a landing and a number of the crew staked claims.

It is estimated that there are not less than 200 men on the Pelly river prospecting, who will remain there all winter, and the report was brought down that cabins and tents have been erected with surprising rapidity so that they are seen within a short distance of one another.

The return trip was made with considerable difficulty owing to the low stage of the water. Three times it was necessary to drag the boat back over the bars notwithstanding the fact that she was only drawing 40 inches of water.

Captain Martineau says that the Granite Canyon is in an awful shape for navigation, the rocks being as thick as flies around a molasses jug. Lots of game was encountered including moose, caribou, as well as all kinds of wild fowl. It is said to be a veritable sportsman's paradise.

The La France leaves for Whitehorse tonight and will continue on the upper river run until the end of the season.

The announcement is made that the first trip of the boat next year will be to the Pelly river.

The Bonanza King is due this afternoon and billed to leave for Whitehorse tomorrow at 4 p. m.

LIEN LAWS.

Legislation thus far attempted for the protection of miners' wages has proven ineffective and entirely inadequate for the accomplishment of the desired purpose.

Councilman Wilson's proposed "Deception Bill" has nothing to commend it and in point of fact even if it were passed it would in all probability be pronounced illegal and unconstitutional the first time a case under its provisions was brought before the courts.

The fact of the matter seems to be that the desire to pass effective legislation upon the point at issue is wanting. What has been done thus far has been merely in the nature of a play to the galleries.

The people want a law which will give the laborer protection and which will stand the test of judicial investigation, and they want that law so simple, concise and clear in its terms that no difficulty will be encountered by any laborer of ordinary intelligence in determining just the nature of the protection which it affords him.

Under the proposed division of the territory for electoral purposes the Yukon council will shortly become a distinctly representative body.

ties may be, local conditions will never be satisfactory until the men whose interests are directly concerned have a voice in determining the regulations under which they follow their chosen calling.

More than a year ago the Nugget undertook to show the landlords of Dawson that a general reduction in rental charges was necessitated by the changed condition of business.

The News has boasted so loudly of having accomplished so many wonderful things with which everyone knows it had nothing to do, that if in the dim and distant future it should happen to achieve anything worth while no one would be found who would take any stock in its claims.

The advance in passenger rates which took effect the first of the week will tend materially to decrease the volume of outgoing passenger travel.

With the facts now in possession of the government regarding the record of Joe Clarke while in and out of the government service, about fifteen minutes would be required on the floor of the house to pulverize Joseph so completely that he would never be able to secure a respectful hearing from anyone.

The Sun's cartoonist this morning represented Governor Ross making away with the proposed government assay office in spite of the protests of Miss Yukon.

A Vancouver dispatch announced yesterday that ex-Commissioner William Ogilvie is regarded on the outside as a probable opposition candidate.

The first decided change in the weather will witness a switch in the News' attitude. Cold weather is certain to see the News looking for a new candidate.

The News assiduously avoids any mention of Clarke's name. Evidently our misguided contemporary has discovered that Joseph is not a name to conjure with.

If Gov. Ross is opposed by no one but Clarke he could remain out of the territory and be elected hands down.

Dawson's boom days are over but the period of steady growth and progress is only now beginning.

By the way, what has become of Dr. Catio?

REGULAR MEETING

Of City Council Held Last Night

Number of Amendments and By-Laws Introduced - Clerk's Salary Paid.

The city council met in regular session in the gold commissioner's court in Administration building last evening with all members present.

The council decided last evening to obtain rooms in the McLennan-McPeely building to be fitted up as a council chamber and office of the city clerk, and Alderman Murphy gave notice that in two weeks he would make a motion that the council move from its present to its new quarters.

Among the communications read was one from Palmer and Peterson, the bicycle dealers, asking that the license fee of $100 they had paid as second hand dealers be refunded.

The following letter received by Mayor Macaulay was read before the council:

"Dear Sir, - About a year ago an uncle of mine was drowned in the Yukon river, Alaska. This information I received through a Swedish newspaper which paper also stated that the deceased left a considerable sum of money deposited mostly in San Francisco banks.

1. If no will was left does the whole estate go to the widow and to the exclusion of any of his relatives? 2. If the widow receives a dowry only can the remainder of the estate be claimed by any two or three or all the relatives only without due notice to all of them.

3. If a will was left, has not the probate court got to notify the beneficiaries of the existence of such will. By answering these questions you will greatly oblige.

Yours respectfully, "MRS. HILMA RINGSTROM, 1035 Maplewood avenue, Bridgeport, Conn.

The Gutta Percha and Rubber Manufacturing Company of Toronto acknowledged an order for fire department supplies and called attention to the fact that a clerical error in the order, not in the contract, made the price of the hose $1.10 per foot when it should be $1.15.

The present site of the dog pound on the government reserve, yard and enclosure, was voted to be made the permanent site for said structure upon a motion by Alderman Adair.

The pound master is to be authorized to collect 50 cents per day for all dogs kept in the pound. This will be authorized by an amendment to bylaw 14 introduced by Alderman McDonald and passing its second reading at last night's meeting.

Several bylaws amending bylaws previously passed were introduced and given their first reading. These amendments were merely matters of clerical errors.

The finance committee recommended the payment to George Calvert the sum of $500, salary account for the past two months, and further recommended that Mr. Calvert be employed as assistant clerk at a salary of $250 per month.

LIGHTING OF STREETS

Dealt With by the City Council

Arrangement Agreed Upon With the Dawson Light and Power Company.

The subject of street lights for Dawson was taken up by the city council at its meeting last evening and the people will be pleased to learn that definite action has been taken in the matter.

The finance committee reported that the subject had been under consideration for some time past and that negotiations had been in progress with the Dawson Electric Light and Power Co. and that on Saturday afternoon last an agreement had been reached whereby the Electric Company was to furnish 100 lights for the year for $7,800 or $650 per month.

The subject of street lights for Dawson was taken up by the city council at its meeting last evening and the people will be pleased to learn that definite action has been taken in the matter.

The arrangements are all complete and the lamps will be installed as soon as the amendment to the city charter is made by the Yukon council which will give the necessary power to the city council to make contracts extending beyond their term of office.

AMERICAN POLITICS

Forms Basis of Play This Week

The Senator Produced With Big Cast of Characters Greeted by Crowded House.

The "Senator" produced last night for the first time at the Auditorium brought out a crowded house. In fact first nights are becoming very popular of late and the S. R. O. sign will need to be hung up on Mondays if the Bittner company continues on its present wave of popularity.

The play hinges upon the efforts of old Silas Denman to press a long pending claim upon the attention of the government. In this he is assisted by the newly elected Senator Rivers, who is in love with Mabel Denman, the old man's daughter.

The designing villain in the case is furnished by an attaché of the Austrian legation who finds no difficulty in falling in love with several American women at one time and thereby brings all manner of trouble upon himself and almost upsets the peace and happiness of two households.

In the meantime the Denman claim is pushed through the house of representatives and literally rammed down the throat of the senate receives the signature of the president, all due to the persistent efforts and untiring energy of Senator Rivers, who in the end naturally takes possession of Miss Denman as also of the claim.

Once there was a Boy named Eugene. About the time that he shook the Sailor Collar and began to wear Galluses instead of buttoning them to the waist, he had his first Attack. He went off his Feed and moaned in his sleep. His mother, not suspecting that the Divine Passion could find room to operate in a 90-pounder, thought he had Cholera Infantum. She began to shoot the Pain-Killer into him, but it failed to touch the Spot.

Little Eugene had gone Mushy on the Lady who taught his Sunday School Class. She was doing her 35th Lap and had a Husband who led the Choir, but these Trifles did not bother the Kid. He had it all cribbed up to kill the Husband in a Duet and carry Loved One off to a lonely Island where they could live Crusoe Fashion. He used to send Teacher an occasional Card showing a couple of fat Pigeons nestling under a Mess of Spinach, and also a little Couplet to the Effect that as sure as the Vine grows round the Stump she was his little Sugar Lump. He picked her Currants for her and wouldn't take Money for it and he loafed around the Kitchen when she was making her Apple Butter until at last she sent him Home with a little Note to his Maw, advising her to put him in heavier Flannels and make him drink Sassafras Tea each Night.

Eugene pined away for a couple of Days and then transferred his Pollywog Affections to an Old Maid who stood at the General Delivery Window at the Postoffice. He wrote for Seed Catalogues, and Terms to Agents so as to have an Excuse to speak to Angel. She up and married the Station Agent. Eugene had to go out and forget his Sorrow in Base-Ball and Pull-Away.

In due Time he went to a Fresh-Water College and here he began to yearn for another Kind. It happened that he went out Botanizing with a slender Co-Ed who wore Nose-Glasses and had an intellect that made a Noise like a Dynamo. Frequently they did their Algebra together, and he wrote to her in Latin telling her that she was All Right.

Along about this time his Idea of Paradise come down to Earth was to own a snug little Library and sit in it every Evening reading aloud to a tall-browed Help-meet. He wrote several Essays on Women and sprung them on the Pythagorean Literary Society. He said that every Maverick who was cow-trailing around over the Sand-Lots of this dreary Life had an Affinity concealed somewhere in the Brush and the Game was to hunt her up and then stick to her like Spalding's Glue. He allowed that the real Girlie Charms did not depend upon Frizzes and Make-up. Eugene was strong for the Beauty of Soul which would wear for Years and look just as well on one Side as on the Other.

When he graduated he was keen to do the Library Act with the cogitative Co-Ed. Upon searching himself he found that his Assets consisted of a hand-worked Diploma, a few Dance Programmes and a Badge of the Oota Bazoota Frat. He decided to cut out the Private Reading Circle until he could see his Way clear to get enough to pay for the License.

Having settled in the City he gave a busy Imitation of a Bright Young Fellow who is trying to side-step the Potter's Field. At the Boarding House where he coaled there was a Head Waitress who carried a Remarkable Shape for one who had to be on her Feet all day. She never had been beyond the 3d Grade in the Grammar School but when they had Chicken she always slipped Gene the Second Joint and she had his Paper propped up for him when he came to Breakfast. He gave her several long Rides on the Cars and there might have been something doing if Eugene had not had his Salary whooped. He moved into a first-class, pruneless Family Hotel and got into the Habit of carrying Money in his Clothes. In the meantime the Co-Ed was off in Minnesota somewhere, teaching School.

Around the Hotel there were all Kinds and Eugene, who was now 30 and had mislaid his Diploma, found that he no longer had an uncontrollable Desire to buckle up with those who wore Specs and could tear the lining out of Synthetic Philosophy.

When he ambled around after Dinner he had his Port Eye out for a larksome Loo-loo who would pin Flowers on him and tease him to take her to a Lively Show. He began to buy Flowers for all who were under 22. He framed his Dresser with Carbon Photos of Mazies and Lillians and Madges. One of the upper Drawers smelled like the front part of a Drug Store and was filled with Square Envelopes addressed in the scraggly, dislocated Writing that looks like a Profile Drawing of the Sierra Nevadas.

Eugene was now too Busy to think of Matrimony. He had eight or nine on his Books at one time and the main Joy of his Life was to burn up his Income in such a way that it would give a fleeting Hour of Happiness to a dimpled Bud weighing anywhere from 85 to 115 Pounds.

The Library which he had planned in the Cloisters of Learning consisted of a Date-Book and a Volume telling how to cook Things in a Chafing-Dish.

Bye and bye it came about the Eugene had a thin Spot on top of his head. The little Snips who hopped out of the Nursery into Sascity every Fall started in to call him Papa and Nunky. He began to count the Years and decided that he was due to take the High Jump.

But he did not choose any Lady who taught in the Sunday School. Neither did he swing on any Old Maid at the General Delivery. His Heart did not bone and hanker for any Female Emerson or any stately and superior Head Waitress. Even the Society Queen who had been worked out for a couple of Seasons did not appeal to Eugene. He put his Tag on a blonde Canary 17 Years of Age who spelled Sure with an H and had from 7 to 9 Thoughts every 24 Hours. But she was very Easy to Look at. And the only call that he made on her Intellect was to please regard him as The Works. MORAL: The only Cinch Method of avoiding Misplays is to wait until one knows his Mind.

KILLED IN TORNADO

Train Meets With Peculiar Accident

Two Persons Meet Instant Death and Several Others Badly Wounded.

Waseca, Minn., Aug. 30.—Two persons were killed, three fatally injured, and more than a score of others hurt tonight in the wreck of a train which had been hurled down an embankment by a tornado. A west-bound train on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, consisting of an engine, a baggage car and two crowded passenger coaches; was struck by a tornado while running at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour, two miles from Meridian. The passenger and baggage cars were hurled eighteen feet down the embankment to the fence guarding the right-of-way. A brakeman had been lighting the lamps when the crash came, and the wreckage was ignited by the spilling of oil. The dead:

- Delmar Peterson, aged 5 years, Waseca, Minn.
- Unknown woman, supposed to be Anna Buckford, Albert Lea, Minn.
- The fatally injured: Miss Eva Richardson, New Ulm, Minn., hurt internally.
- A. C. McConnell, Brookings, S.D., hurt internally.
- Unidentified woman; crushed.
- Among the other injured: T. N. Knutvold, Albert Lea, state senator and candidate for congress, four ribs broken; R. H. Wilde, Milwaukee, shoulder dislocated, left arm broken and injured internally; Miss E. C. Hilmer, New Ulm, Minn., head cut and badly injured internally; John Rosenau, Meridian, left arm broken; Miss Mary Glasby, Kassoun, Minn., left arm broken.

The engineer is reported to have seen the tornado in apparent pursuit of the train and scarcely an instant before the wind struck the cars the train gave a lurch in a sudden spurt to evade the funnel-shaped fury. It was 5:40 o'clock when the train was struck. Fully an hour and a half elapsed before a wrecking train arrived.

The engine did not leave the track, the baggage car and passenger coaches having been twisted off, as if by giant hands, and hurled downward to the bottom of the embankment. The baggage car was shattered to splinters.

The two dead were jammed in the wreckage and their bodies were cut out with axes. It is feared that more bodies may be found underneath the debris, and wrecking gangs sent from Waseca are at work on the shattered cars.

The brakeman who was lighting the lamps in one of the passenger coaches when the tornado struck cannot be found tonight. It is feared his body may be in the wreckage. Passengers saw him strike the underside of the coach with terrific force, and at the same time the lamp he had been trimming was crashed into splinters.

The injured and the bodies of the dead were brought to Waseca by physicians, who attended to the seriously injured. Eva Richardson died from her injuries after reaching Waseca.

The damage by the cyclone in Owatonna was not great and was confined to a narrow path.

Society Aghast at Lorillard's Sporting Successor.

FROM A SNAPSHOT OF MRS. ALLIEN AT SARATOGA DRIVING HER THREE HORSES ABREAST AFTER THE MANNER OF A ROMAN CHARIOTEER.

Saratoga, Aug. 15.—It was with a shock of surprise that the colors of the late Pierre Lorillard were seen in Saratoga the other day.

This was succeeded by a shock deeper than surprise. A shock of disgust thrilled those who saw her—and knew.

The first sight of the cherry and black sent a group of men who were loitering on the porch of the Grand Union Hotel to their feet, where they stood with hats uplifted, reverently saluting the Lorillard colors.

They looked, and behold—a woman guided the horses.

They looked again, and beheld in her the woman to whom the late turf magnate left the famous Ranocas stock farm.

Mrs. Lillian B. Allen, triumphant as though she had reaped the reward of righteousness, was making a spectacular bid for admiration.

In an instant the situation flashed upon the men, themselves distinguished members of the American turf. They resumed their seats before the woman had passed, ashamed to have betrayed any feeling but indignation.

That feeling had been dominant in the breast of every thoroughbred on the turf and off of it but little more than a year ago, when, by the terms of Pierre Lorillard's will, she, the only person not of his blood mentioned therein—the woman who had estranged him from his wife—was left the celebrated Jersey estate.

The day that this was made public all society stood aghast with wonder—a wonder that framed itself into a single question:

"Why did he not give her Ranocas while he lived and leave mention of her out of his will?"

The question remained unanswered, for the millionaire tobacco manufacturer had ever been popular; he was dead, and his friends outnumbered his enemies.

Mrs. Allen had the decency to remain more or less in seclusion until at Saratoga the other day she blazoned forth in splendor so theatrical that her history sped through the place, rehearsed from end to end in all its sensational details.

On the porches of the great hotels men and women craned their necks to see the most startling outfit that had yet dazzled their eyes.

Three prancing bay-horses driven abreast chanced down upon them. Small boys, still in their circus days, thought it was an advance bit of one of the greatest shows on earth. They threw up their hats and yelled for joy.

Their sisters, with eyes big with admiration, studied the tall, graceful woman who held the reins.

She sat alone in a high, light mail phaeton painted a heavenly blue. It was, by the way, the only heavenly thing about the equipage.

In cherry hued livery, turned back with black at the collar and wrists. He wore the colors that had crowned the first American horse that won the English Derby.

The woman who now haunted them was in pink cloth that the mud had spattered, for the horses went at a terrific pace guided by a master hand through a rush of automobiles, bicycles, coaches, trucks, carriages and pedestrians.

Her picture hat of black, drooping with flowers, revealed a face still young, with dark eyes and bushy hair.

Exclamations, lorgnettes and opera glasses went up on all sides.

Women driving dog-carts or tandems of four-in-hands are comparatively common. But a woman driving three horses abreast in ancient Roman chariot fashion caused a rush for the porch railing.

"It's a circus!" piped the small boy.

But it wasn't, and in a breath every one asked, "Who is she?"

Men with families hesitated, well-bred women equivocated, but youths and maidens, their curiosity aroused by so much splendor, persisted.

The distasteful display of the notorious Mrs. Allen became the talk of Saratoga.

She is unwilling to be forgotten.

It seems but a few months ago that her history was flaunted in the eyes of every one.

The publication of Pierre Lorillard's will, with its clause leaving to "Lillian A. Barnes, known also as Lillian Barnes Allen," the celebrated Ranocas stock farm, in Burlington county, New Jersey, with all its appurtenances and all the racing stock there and in England, made the name of Allen notorious.

Before that it had been known that she was the millionaire merchant's constant companion, the only hostess ever seen on the Lorillard yacht or on the gorgeous houseboat Calman, or at the splendid country estate in Jersey, or at a certain house in New York just off Fifth avenue on Thirty-first street.

Certain people knew these things before the death of Pierre Lorillard.

It was common gossip that he and his wife, the beautiful Mrs. Lorillard had not been friendly for many years. It was known that all the family, including the son, Pierre, and the daughters, Mrs. T. Sullern Taylor and Mrs. William Kent, were estranged and indignant.

But the publication of the will was followed by still more startling and sensational revelations.

The first and most amazing was that the Allen woman had no right to the title of "Mrs."

The peculiar phrase "known also as Lillian Barnes Allen" was accounted for.

So, too, was the perpetual and continual absence of Mr. Allen.

Immediately after the publication of the will people began to inquire into the history of the woman who had captivated the turf king.

Incidentally, they asked questions about her husband.

He was absent, had been absent, and continued to be absent.

The woman in the will became more and more mysterious. Elucidations of the enigma she presented became more and more plentiful.

It was said that Mr. Allen had come over from England to become the husband of Miss Barnes; that he had received $10,000 after marrying her to conveniently disappear. He was reported to have died, to have gone to Africa or Asia or Greece, to have been swallowed up by an earthquake or a cyclone. He had disappeared and every one was trying to explain how.

At last came the real explanation, which for once outdid fiction.

Mrs. Allen had married a woman—the wife of one of Mr. Lorillard's employes on the Jersey estate. If any $10,000 had been paid this woman had received it to discard male clothing immediately after the marriage ceremony and to reappear in a woman's gown.

Thus was explained the strange clause in the will.

There was no such person as Mrs. Lillian B. Allen in a legal sense and a bequest to her might have been doubtful. So the careful financiers had described her as Lillian A.

Barnes, adding, for purposes of better identification, Allen, the name under which she was generally known.

The story of the events that led to the pseudo marriage was much more commonplace.

It began with a meeting in Orange, N.J., where Mrs. Allen, then pretty Lilly Barnes, lived with her parents.

In those days the millionaire tobacco manufacturer was in the zenith of his fame. He had boundless imagination and, it would seem, an income to match it.

He spent money in a way to win admiration.

"To enjoy life," he said at that time, "requires about $1,000 a day—and expenses."

Luckily he had both. Whether for that reason or some other the daughter of John C. Barnes fell deeply in love with the married millionaire.

Her parents raised every objection, so the story goes, to her being seen with him.

The tongue of gossip had already signaled her out when to appease it was announced that she was about to marry a Mr. Lewis Allen.

He remained as much out of sight as he has since up to the very hour of the wedding ceremony, which was private.

Immediately after "he" disappeared, never to be seen again, and she who was thereafter known as Mrs. Allen went for a long cruise with Mr. Lorillard on his yacht.

This was, briefly, the story that startled a world accustomed to all sorts of amazing episodes.

In the years that followed the pseudo marriage Mr. Lorillard and Mrs. Allen were rarely apart. They were either on his yacht cruising on the Mediterranean, or they were living aboard the "houseboat" Calman, entertaining a party of guests as only a man who held that it was the duty of the rich to spend their money as rapidly as possible knows how.

Within, the Calman was fitted up like a palace. It had rugs and pictures and divans, rare draperies, automatic harps, pianos and banjos, electric lights and fans, a refrigerating plant and a floating stable astern that carried a number of thoroughbreds.

And Mrs. Allen was always his hostess.

In those days it was said of her that she cared nothing for display, that she was by nature retiring, that she was a splendid horsewoman and happiest when she could be in a short hunting costume galloping over the hills of the Jobstown estate.

She was blonde and tall and reserved, said the gossips. She had magnificent jewels, but rarely was she seen to wear them in public. Her simple tastes were extolled by a few people who held that Mrs. Allen had never met Mr. Lorillard until five years after he separated from his wife, and, therefore, was not in any way responsible for their estrangement.

Those simple tastes the Mrs. Allen of today has evidently outgrown.

From one end of Saratoga to the other they talk of her gowns and her rigs.

Her entrance into the town was as spectacular as her first drive through it. She stole in as the celebrated Italian actress Duse once stole into New York to advertise herself more cleverly as time wore on.

There was no announcement that Mrs. Allen was coming to Saratoga, no hint as to who she was.

Suddenly a cottage fronting on the lawn of the chief hotel was thrown open, a retinue of servants filed in, and everybody began to wonder about the owner, a beautiful woman of about thirty-five.

Occasionally she was seen at an evening concert, occasionally she dined in the pagoda on the lawn.

Her costumes were gorgeous, and her jewels matched them.

Suddenly she revealed her identity in a way that most forever set at rest any report as to her retiring disposition.

Sporting the colors of the dead man, who had loved her, she made a dash through the crowded Saratoga thoroughfares at its most crowded hour.

In defiance of all decency, in the eyes of the dead man's friends, once more she flaunted disgracefully the history and the price of her past.

The spectacular escapade of the notorious Mrs. Allen is universally condemned, even among the rapid throngs that infest and divide America's great watering place.

First Arrest Made.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Judge Brennan today ordered a venire for a special grand jury to convene next Tuesday, to consider the tax-fixing scandals that have brought some officers into a tirmous. The warrants will also be issued against several persons as yet unknown. The action is a result of the unearthing by State's Attorney Dineen of what he thinks to be a gigantic conspiracy to defraud Cook county out of hundreds of thousands of dollars. Last week it was discovered that the tax accounts of the Masonic temple building apparently had been tampered with on the books of the county treasurer. A warrant was issued and served late today on Capt. Edward Williams, manager of the Masonic fraternity temple, charging him with uttering a forged receipt for the taxes on the Masonic temple. Capt. Williams gave bonds of $5,000.

This is the first arrest in the tax-fixing scandal that has embroiled numerous employes of the county treasurer's office and prominent property interests.

The following incident did not occur in Dawson. Upon this point the Stroller desires to be particularly explicit—chiefly for the sake of his own reputation for veracity and incidentally because he has no immediate wish to be summoned to appear for contempt of court.

In a certain small town some two thousand miles from here a lawyer had been elected to the position of Justice of the Peace. He was not what would be termed a confirmed toper but was not averse upon occasion to testing the various brands kept on tap in the "hoocheries."

Grist of Ordinances Which Passed First Reading—Others Still to Come.

Almost a round dozen new bills were introduced at the meeting of the Yukon council last night all of which on their presentation were given their first reading. Many of them are of very great importance, chief among which are the election ordinance and that respecting schools. Before their final adoption they must run the gauntlet of two or more readings and be considered by the committee of the whole during which procedure there may be many alterations and amendments made.

ELECTION ORDINANCE. One of the first to be presented was an ordinance to amend the bill which provides for the election of two representatives to the territorial council. The old ordinance was passed at the time Messrs. Prudhomme and Wilson were elected two years ago and the amendment is now made necessary by the fact that five members are to be allowed hereafter instead of but two. The amendment provides that every writ for the election of a member to the Yukon council shall be dated and made returnable on such day as the commissioner may determine, and shall be addressed to such resident elector of the electoral district as the commissioner appoints, such person to be the returning officer of the election to which the writ relates.

With all these complexities confronting him, the field does not look promising for a boss politician. But thin it must be raymerbered that the game is still very young and nobody can tell what devlopimnts will take place. If OI were a candidate meself OI know what OI'd do. The next sixty days of me loife would be devoted to the study of Frinch, and OI never would ascend the publick platform until OI could spkake the language just loike I'd ben brought up on it from me birth. This is only a tip, but if its worth anything to anybody they're welcome to it for the simple rayson that OI'm not a candidate.

At the prisint toime it lookd very much as if there will be foive candidates in the field at the very least, and if that is the case the man who can place the Frinch vote behind his back is a dead shure winner. If OI think of anything else worth menshin' in the near future OI'll be after dthropin' you a loine. Yours Trouly as before, DENNIS O'FARRELL.

The following problem has been sent to the Stroller for solution. After searching the Century dictionary, the Encyclopaedia Britannica and Webster's unabridged, the Stroller has concluded to submit it to his constituency. Whoever sends in the best answer will be entitled to call himself IT for two weeks. The problem is as follows: If it takes 10 per cent. of all the taxes to pay the salaries of mayor and aldermen and twenty per cent. more to grade the street known as Alderman avenue, how long will it be before sidewalks will be constructed around the unimproved property in the centre of town?

sult was that at 2 o'clock the following morning he was doing a cake walk in a third-rate bar room with a professional tramp who was in about the same condition as his honor. The fun waxed fast and furious but was suddenly interrupted by the arrival of a policeman, who escorted the tramp to the lockup, the judge being saved from a like fate by the timely intervention of a friend.

The next morning when the time arrived to convene court the new J. P. looking as fresh as a daisy walked briskly into the court room. As he approached the judicial chair he glanced at the prisoner's box. Where had he seen that man before? He asked the question of himself involuntarily but could not answer it satisfactorily.

The prisoner's memory, however, was better. "Hello, pard," said he, "did they run you in, too?" It was too much for the judge. Without taking the chair he announced that owing to certain unavoidable circumstances court would be adjourned for two days and that in the meantime all prisoners charged with any crime short of highway robbery were to be discharged.

A precocious infant of four years who recently came into Dawson with his mother has had great difficulty in learning to distinguish between the names of the different meals and the time at which they are served. Awakening early one morning recently he ran to his mother and said, "hurry, mamma, and let's have dinner."

"Now, Bobbie," said his mother, "you know we don't have dinner in the morning." "Well supper, then," said the child after a moment's thought. "Wrong again," replied mamma. "Now think hard and try and remember what meal we have in the morning." "I know, I know," joyfully shouted the youngster, "It's oatmeal."

the city of Dawson will be governed by a board of three trustees. Nominations of the latter shall take place on the first Wednesday of September of each year.

The minority of the ratepayers of any school district whether Protestant or Roman Catholic may petition the commissioner to establish a separate school therein, and in such cases the ratepayers of such separate school shall be liable only for assessment of such rates as they impose upon themselves in respect thereof. Petition for the erection of a separate school district shall be signed by three resident ratepayers of the religious faith indicated in the name of the proposed district and shall set forth the religious faith of the petitioners; the proposed name of the district, whether Protestant or Roman Catholic; proposed limits, location and approximate area; total number of ratepayers and of children between the ages of five and sixteen years, and the religious faith of the petitioners within the limits of the proposed district, and the total assessed value of the real and personal property according to the last revised assessment roll of the district. If the commissioner is satisfied that the proposed new district contains twenty children of the religious faith of the petitioners and ten persons actually residing therein who would be liable to assessment, he may grant the petition and order the erection of such parties into a school district. Any person who is legally assessed for a public school will not be liable to assessment for any separate school established therein.

Annual school meetings outside of the city of Dawson shall be held in the school house not later than the first Tuesday of September in each year. The duties of the board of trustees of each district are similar to those in other parts of the Dominion. They may by resolution borrow from any person or bank such sum of money as may be required to meet the expenditures of the district until such time as the taxes levied are available. Upon the approval of the commissioner any board may also borrow not to exceed $5000 for the purpose of securing or improving a school site. Where a district is within a municipality the assessment for school purposes shall not exceed fifteen mills on the dollar.

No fees shall be charged for the attendance at any school; the school year will last from the first day of January to the thirty-first day of December and consist of two terms; school hours shall be between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock in the forenoon and 1 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon of every day not including Saturday and Sunday; the hours may be shortened by the permission of the commissioner; there shall be a recess of fifteen minutes both in the forenoon and afternoon. Two vacations are provided for; the summer holidays fall between the second day of July and the thirty-first day of August, and the winter holidays shall commence on the 24th day of December in all schools. Two weeks additional holidays may be allowed by the board in any district. Special holidays include Ash Wednesday, Good Friday, Easter Monday, the birthday of the reigning sovereign, Victoria Day, Dominion Day, Christmas, New Year's Day, and any day specially set apart as a holiday by the governor-general, the commissioner or the mayor. All schools shall be taught in the English language, but it is permissible that a primary course be taught in the French language. No religious instruction shall be permitted in the school of any district from the opening of such school until within one-half hour of its closing in the afternoon, after which any such instruction may be permitted by the board if it is desired. It is permissible for any board to direct that the school be opened by the recitation of the Lord's prayer. Any child may leave the school at the time of such religious instruction should the parents so desire. Kindergarten classes may be established in any school for the teaching and training of children between the ages of four and six years; in such school a fee may be charged not to exceed one dollar each month for each pupil to cover the cost of maintenance. Night schools may be established by any board if it is so desired. Fees not to exceed two dollars a month per pupil.

Districts which contain fifteen children within a radius of a mile and a half must be kept open the entire year; where at least ten children six months are required. Compulsory education is required. Every child between seven and twelve inclusive must attend school at least sixteen weeks in each year, eight of which must be consecutive. The violation of the preceding section by parents or guardians renders them liable to a penalty. Non-attendance of children is excusable under certain conditions; such as the child being under private instruction, sickness, distance to the nearest school being too great, poverty of the child's mental condition.

The appointment of a truant officer is provided for. No teacher shall be employed unless he or she holds a valid certificate of qualification. Teachers dismissed or suspended may appeal to the commissioner. Salaries are to be paid at least once every three months. Teachers during sickness shall receive their salaries in full providing the period of such illness does not exceed four weeks in the year. The duties of teachers and principals are fully set out and the last two pages of the bill contain a number of penalties which are provided for various infringements and infractions of the ordinance, such as the making of false reports, misconduct, disturbing schools, etc.

TO AMEND SLAUGHTER HOUSE ORDINANCE. The ordinance to amend the slaughter-house ordinance upon its presentation was given its first reading and later was taken up for consideration of the committee of the whole. The bill provides that no license shall be issued until after the inspector of slaughter-houses has inspected the premises and made a report in writing to the commissioner giving a description of the premises, distance from any building occupied as a dwelling, and a statement that the premises are so constructed as to comply with the provisions of the ordinance. The commissioner has the power to appoint one or more inspectors of slaughter houses and fix their salaries. RESPECTING LEGAL PROFESSION. The ordinance amending the bill respecting the legal profession is of importance only to law students and barristers. RESPECTING JURIES. A new ordinance presented was respecting the summoning of juries. All British subjects between 21 and 65 years of age are qualified to serve as jurors. The following persons are exempt: Minister of religion, members of the Yukon council, members of the N.W.M.P., practicing advocates, medical practitioners, school teachers while so employed, all persons employed in the running of railroad trains or steamboats, telegraph officers when so employed, postmasters, any person while in charge of a steam engine on any mining claim, mail carrier, every officer of the Dominion and territorial government, and every judge, magistrate or officer of any court of justice actually exercising the duties of his office. No person can be compelled to act twice in one year unless the list in his district has become exhausted. Provisions are made for the formation and posting of the jurors' list by the sheriff and clerk of the court. Criminal cases with a jury will be tried on the first Monday in each month when such are necessary. Persons summoned to serve as a juror who fail to obey are liable to a fine of $200.

A slight amendment was made to the bill for the prevention of fires. Various ordinances are consolidated under an ordinance authorizing the consolidation of the same. The commissioner is empowered to employ one or more persons for the purpose of acting in conformity with the provisions of the bill. The amendment to the Dawson city charter provides for the establishment and maintenance of a public library and the purchasing and leasing of such real and personal property as may be required for the same, and providing for and guaranteeing the payment of the expenses of the permanent maintenance of the same. A sub-section is also added to the charter regulating the numbering of houses within the city of Dawson and compelling the affixing of numbers thereto by the owners or occupiers thereof. All arrears in taxes due and payable under any ordinance shall be held to be due and payable to the city of Dawson. The owner of any goods or merchandise in the city and the person offering the same for sale shall severally be deemed to occupy the premises in or upon which such goods are situated.

Other bills introduced were an ordinance respecting the council of the Yukon territory, one amending the ordinance respecting masters and servants; and one respecting the public service of the territory.

ELDORADO AND BONANZA.

The genial Ben Gladwin of Gold Hill was in town last Friday. Mrs. Legans of King Solomon's Hill visited in Dawson last week. Messrs. Baker, McDade and Miller bought the Bradley claim on King Solomon's Hill of W. F. Means a few days ago, and are making improvements to do big work at once.

Messrs. Bates & Weinberg of 37 Eldorado had the pleasure of meeting their families last Friday, who had just arrived from their former home in Seattle. Mr. Chas. F. Rothweiler, son of Mrs. McKay, has just arrived from New York. Mr. Rothweiler is a thorough electrician by profession, and will have charge of Mr. McKay's mining interests in the Yukon. Mr. A. Johnson of 8 below Bonanza, who has had 30 men at work this summer has closed down for the season, and is doing a lot of stripping preparatory for next season's run. Stampedé Gulch, which empties into Adams at No. 19, had a quiet stampedé last Tuesday morning. It is reported that $20 to the pan was found a short distance up the gulch. Mr. E. A. O'Connell of 39 Eldorado took the big dive from the mud box on the above claim last week. While Mr. O'Connell was standing in the box, which was about 12 feet from bedrock, the props suddenly gave way and he was precipitated to the bottom. Fortunately there was 4 feet of water below, and Mr. O'Connell got off with an ice cold bath.

Surveyors are again at work on Bonanza, undoubtedly on changes recommended since Mr. Hawkins' return. No. 10 below Bonanza, owned by Capt. Norwood and associates, has closed down for the season. Thirty men worked on the above claim this summer. Messrs. Geo. Lee and Ed. Erickson, who recently purchased the Kinsey & Kinsey claim on Gold Hill, have struck big pay. Eight and ten dollar pans are not uncommon. The boys have placed a new Scotch marine boiler on the claim, and will do some big work this fall and winter. Mrs. Bennett of 32 above Bonanza left for Seattle on the Thistle last week. Frankie and Maragret Callahan, children of Mr. and Mrs. Callahan of 31 above Bonanza, left for Seattle to attend school this winter. Quite a number of improvements are being made in the roadhouses on upper Bonanza in order to comply with the new regulations to go into effect Oct. 1st. Among those especially noticeable are the Kenyon at 26 above Bonanza, Geo. Murry, 33 above Bonanza, Mrs. Primus also at 33 above Bonanza, and A. T. Coslett of 36 above Bonanza.

Last Friday morning while Henry H. Darud and Harry Pearson were ground sluicing under their cabin on Cheechaco Hill with a number of workmen, the props under the cabin gave way, a loud crash was heard, and the men scattered in every direction. All escaped except Mr. Darud, one of the owners, who was the last to leave and was caught by one of the timbers. Mr. Darud had his right leg severely bruised and will be laid up for a week. Mrs. Campbell and Miss McMullen, daughters of Mr. Tom McMullen, proprietor of the Stockade, have left for their former home at Seattle. The big sale of Cheechaco Hill, property to the Rockefellers seems to be progressing satisfactorily, as all the options that have fallen due thus far are reported to have been taken up by the big concern. As near as can be learned the following prices have been agreed upon by the syndicate and the various owners: The Yukon Gold Fields claim, $30,000; Senator Lynch claim, $15,000; Mr. Hebb's claim, $25,000; the Dry claim, $5,000; the McNamar claim, $7,000; Walter Woodburn's claim, $3,000, and Skiff Mitchell's claim, No. 1 on Little Skookum, which is to be used for dumping ground, $5,000. Those not sold, and which will be necessary to complete the deal, are the McDonald claims which were bonded by a French syndicate and not taken up, the Pronderville claim, a small fraction between the Yukon Gold Fields and the Lynch claims, and the Re- kate claim now owned by Messrs. Signori & Perleida. So that the Rockefellers will get the Cheechaco Hill property for about $150,000. There are a number who say there is still a million left in the glove claims. The dance given by Mrs. Frame last week at her home at 53 below Bonanza was one of those pleasant affairs which are always enjoyed by those who have the pleasure of the hostess' acquaintance. It was not a boisterous, but a happy, jolly crowd that assembled to do honor to the hostess, who expects shortly to join her husband at Juneau. Those present were: Mesdames Davis, Rowe, Valkart, Gardner and Frame; Misses Merryfield, Hartman, Moore and Gladys Hartman; Messrs. Moore, Bean, Hartman, Stovel, Tippo, Scott, E. Hartman, Patterson, Ferguson, Mills, Barker, Gleris, Johnson, McMullen, Mills, Clark, Smith, Sweeney, Lawson, Larson, Cameron, Johnson, Leo Tippo, Hickey and Billy Frame. Mr. Emil Mohr of Dawson has purchased the stock and good will of Mr. Roy Jensen of 17 Eldorado. Mr. Mohr is one of Dawson's well-known grocery men, and with Burne Pollock in charge of the Eldorado store will undoubtedly do the business of that region. Mr. Jensen has sold his business in order to give his entire attention to his mining interests on 29 Eldorado.

MUCH IMPORTANT BUSINESS

Was Transacted at Last Night's Meeting of Yukon Council—Number of Petitions Were Presented and Many New Bills Introduced.

The first meeting of the Yukon council to be held since July 7 was that of yesterday evening. All the members were present save Commissioner Ross and in his absence Acting Commissioner Major Wood occupied the chair. A very large amount of business has accumulated since the last meeting and the present session will doubtless last several days. About a dozen new bills were presented and there were petitions on hand galore. One of the most important of the new ordinances was the school bill, a gist of which together with the others will be found elsewhere in this issue. The election bill was given its first reading and several important amendments were made to the Dawson City charter. Wilson's "deception" bill came up for its second reading, but after a heated argument as to its efficacy and constitutionality in which Prudhomme, Dugas, Wilson and Newlands took part it was shelved for the time being.

About half of the dozen or more petitions that were presented were for ferry privileges incidental to the building of the new overland road to Whitehorse. The first was from one Payne who desires to operate a ferry on the Stewart river where the road crosses that stream. H. T. McKay wants to put in one on the Yukon near Mackay's Thos. Whalen has made application for a similar privilege on the Pelly river. Messrs. Lynch & Nelson would be glad to have ferry rights accorded them on the Pelly, Stewart and Indian rivers. The foregoing petitions were presented by Prudhomme. Dugas thought it unwise that the ferry privileges should be distributed so promiscuously; better have them all under the operation of one company, upon which Newlands remarked that anyone could secure a ferry license by applying to the proper magistrate and depositing the fee required.

Wilson presented the petition from the free libraries at Dawson and Whitehorse asking that financial assistance be given them. The same member also handed in the petition signed by J. T. Lithgow, F. T. Congdon, H. C. Macaulay and others asking that the incorporation of the Dawson Amateur Athletic Association, Ltd., be effected.

Newlands presented a petition from the licensed victuallers' association asking that certain amendments and refunds be made in the liquor ordinance and its operation. It was explained that prior to the passage of the bill in question several of the dealers in the city had secured new licenses under which they were compelled to pay a certain schedule of fees. By the new bill those fees have been reduced which places those who have procured licenses at a later date at an advantage. A refund is asked equal to the difference in the two scales of fees.

Dugas had three petitions to submit. The first was from John Ross, superintendent of public schools, asking that a school be established on Bear creek. There are said to be ten or more pupils on the creek. The second petition was in reference to the government assisting in the development of the quartz interests of the country by the giving of a bonus toward the erection of a stamp mill where tests may be made of new discoveries at a nominal figure.

The owners of 3a Eldorado have asked for help in the sinking of their shaft to second bedrock. They are down over 300 feet and can go no further for lack of funds. Senkler presented the petition.

Seven roads are desired built according to as many petitions handed in by Girouard. The first pertains to the widening of the road at present in existence leading from the bluff near the Klondike bridge to the Ogilvie bridge. An extension of the present road on Sulphur to its mouth is desired. One is wanted on Duncan creek and a bridge across the Mayo. Miners on Gold Bottom desire their road extended farther up the creek. A road is wanted badly from the city to Lepine creek. Also one on Henderson. One leading from the Hubrick ferry to a connection with the Glacier creek trail on the bluff above. One up Bear creek.

Prudhomme presented a copy of the proposed agreement between the government and the Dawson City Water and Power Company, relative to the assistance it is proposed the government shall donate toward the erection and maintenance of a stamp mill for testing purposes.

But one committee had any report to make and that was a special committee appointed by the commissioner to look into and ascertain the amount of damage Thos. O'Brien had sustained in the closing of his tramway during the winter of '98-'99. Girouard was chairman of the committee and he it was who presented the report. It states the committee has expended a vast amount of time in the examination of all the books, vouchers and papers pertaining to the construction of the tramway, its cost, maintenance and the profits derived from its operation, and they recommend that Mr. O'Brien be indemnified for the two months and a half that his road was not in operation at the rate of $6000 a month, $15,000. They also recommend that he be paid an additional $12,000 for expenses incurred in the construction of grades, bridges and culverts which the public afterward appropriated to its own use. They consider that the government really owes Mr. O'Brien $35,000 but they only recommend the payment of $27,000. The recommendation of the committee is not equivalent to the payment of the money, as the appropriation of money for that purpose will have to be voted before it can be paid.

Under the head of inquiries Prudhomme asked if the employees at work on the various government roads who have been receiving $5 a day and their board are being charged for their board on Sunday. It was stated that he had received several complaints that such was being done. It was also asked if the men taken from the city to a distance were compelled to pay their own fares. In replying to the first question the commissioner asked that he be given a day or two in which to answer. As to the second question he said it was understood that road employees paid their own fare but for the time lost in traveling they were compensated at the regular rate of $5 a day. While the question was under discussion Girouard asked if all the men on such work were paid at the same rate. Why were they paid $5 a day and board instead of $7.50 a day and they board themselves and was it compulsory that they board at the regular mess house? The chair replied that last year the rate was $8 per day and $3 was deducted for board, but this year a contract was made by which the men were boarded for $2.50 a day and that rate was made accordingly.

Dugas gave notice that at the next meeting he intended to move the abolishment of all committees.

Wilson presented the bill providing for the incorporation of the Dawson Amateur Athletic Association, Ltd., and moved its first reading. He also presented a bill to amend ordinance No. 31 of 1901 respecting unincorporated towns. It was explained that under the provisions of the proposed amendment it was desired by the residents of Grand Forks that rather than make the assessment and the collection of taxes against real estate, personal property and incomes, it had been decided at a meeting held for that purpose that if permission were given them by the council such funds would be raised by means of licenses. The residents of the Forks have agreed upon such procedure and a slight amendment is asked to be made in order that a higher schedule of licenses can be imposed than are at present provided for. The bill was given its first reading.

Newlands presented the bill respecting the public service of the territory. First reading. He also presented the election bill which amended the ordinance of 1900 providing for the election of two representatives to the Yukon council.

An ordinance to amend the ordinance respecting masters and servants was presented by Wilson. Dugas presented the ordinance respecting the summoning of juries. Newlands one relating to the consolidation of certain ordinances already in force. Senkler one respecting the public health, and also one relating to the prevention of fires and one to amend the Dawson City charter. Newlands one respecting schools. All the foregoing were given their first reading.

Wilson moved the second reading of his "deception" bill which provoked a discussion lengthy and interesting. Before the motion could be put Prudhomme was on his feet with an amendment which he desired to substitute for the "deception" bill. He stated that he had no objection to the Wilson bill but he feared it would not answer the purpose for which it was intended; it was not enough far-reaching in its effect. What was wanted was a law that would protect the workingman making his labor a lien upon the claim upon which the work had been performed. He moved that the legal adviser be instructed to prepare such a bill at once and an effort be made to put it through the present session of the council.

Wilson defended his bill. He is heartily in sympathy with the honorable gentleman at his left but he could see no reason why his bill should not receive its second reading. If there was any objection to the bill he had not heard it mentioned and he will support any lien ordinance that may be brought up. He had been informed by the legal adviser that a lien law such as was desired it was impossible to enact, the council had not that power; in fact, that was the rock upon which all previous attempts in that line have perished. He hoped that if such an ordinance could be introduced, it would be done at the present session and he trusted that his friend would withdraw his amendment.

Prudhomme—"I have no objection to the 'deception' bill but I don't think it is worth the paper it is written on. What we want is a lien law the same as they have in Ontario where it works satisfactorily and there is no reason that I can see why we should not have the same here. I have had the advice of eminent counsel to the effect that the council has the power to enact a law such as is desired and it is time something was being done to protect the laborer. The collection of his wages is becoming worse and worse every year and it is a positive disgrace the way such things have been running."

Wilson—"I do not expect my bill to take the place of a lien ordinance. Its intention is to get at a class of men who have made it a practice of deceiving their laborers by hiring them in the fall and in the spring when their wages become due and the cleanup is made have some mortgage or come along and take the entire proceeds of the winter's work without leaving a dollar for the men who have dug the gold-bearing gravel out of the earth. There have been instances where it has been proven that mortgages such as I speak of have turned out to be fraudulent and given for the sole purpose of beating the miners out of their wages. That is the class of men it is intended this bill shall get after."

Dugas—"There is no doubt but that the so-called lien ordinance at present in effect does not work satisfactorily. The judges of the territorial court are in a better position to know that to be a fact than anyone else and to speak of the hardship which the laborer is often compelled to suffer, I have seen hundreds of them losing their wages and there appeared to be no help for it. I am of the opinion with the legal adviser that we can not pass a law which will be a real lien law. I will vote for any measure that will afford better protection for the laboring man. They are not the only ones who are entitled to protection. The man who furnishes the wood should receive the same consideration." The speaker cited several cases which had come under his own observation where in one instance 70 men had been turned off one claim without receiving one dollar of the wages that were due them and such happens almost every day. He is unable to form an opinion of what is the best course to pursue but the entire council will agree upon any ordinance that will protect in a better way the man who works for his daily bread and a suggestion was offered that a committee consisting of Prudhomme, Wilson and the legal adviser be instructed to form a bill which would answer the requirements as near as it would be possible to make it.

Prudhomme insisted that the Wilson bill provided only a punishment for an employer to hire labor and not inform him of the existence of a mortgage or other lien on his claim when he expected to pay such laborer out of the proceeds of his own work. It afforded him no protection after the labor had been performed. Further argument was cut short by Newlands who pointed out that the bill as it stood at present was ultra vires of this council. By a recent decision it has been decided that a dump is a chattel and an ordinance can be passed as to it, but a lien can not be made on the ground. If such were done it would have the effect that no claim owner would be able to borrow money on his property, nor could he secure any provisions upon the strength of his ownership. As to the "deception" bill by providing for a punishment for the doing of certain things that was infringing on the powers of parliament. It was impossible for the Yukon council to legislate upon matters pertaining to the criminal code. Dugas suggested a conference with the legal adviser and Wilson withdrew his motion for the second reading of the bill upon ascertaining that it was, ultra vires. The committee was increased by the addition of the name of Dugas making it four in number. Prudhomme desired that an attorney outside of the council be made one of the committee, a thing that the other members would not listen to for a moment. It was pointed out, however, that a barrister could be invited to confer with them which was agreed upon. The name of him whom Prudhomme had in mind was asked but he refused to give any reason to divulge his identity.

The slaughter house ordinance came up for its second reading and another warm argument was indulged in having reference to the granting of the monopoly to any one individual. The matter was finally compromised by Prudhomme moving that the committee rise and report progress on the bill and ask leave to sit upon it again. When the second reading of the bill providing for the incorporating of the Dawson City Electric Street Railway came up, Senkler presented a communication from the solicitors of the company begging that the bill be withdrawn and the fee of $200 refunded. Agreed. An adjournment was taken until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Arrest Explained
Editor Nugget:—Sir,—In justice to Mrs. McPhee and her friends I beg for space in your paper to explain the nature of the debt for which we think she was wrongfully arrested. One Mr. Bert and Mrs. McPhee were partners in a roadhouse on Dominion creek in 1899. Mrs. McPhee in the fall of 1899 sold out her one-third interest to Mr. Bert, he to collect outstanding accounts and pay all debts. Since then Mrs. McPhee has from time to time collected money due her from Mr. Wilson for boarding his men and no mention whatever has been made of the account in question until the very moment she was leaving the country. Mr. Wilson, fully knowing that he could not otherwise collect the bill, Mrs. McPhee knowing that to remain and prove her case would probably detain her until close of navigation, promptly settled the bill.

COUNCIL COMPLETES

Purchase of Mrs. Ferguson's Figures
The city council last night voted to offer Mrs. M. L. Ferguson, $1,000 for her stock of house numbers, sign boards upon which the names of the streets are designated, poles upon which the sign boards are nailed, maps, franchises, register and in fact her full and complete stock in trade in the Yukon territory. Mrs. Ferguson has been prominently before the people here for three or four years, in connection with the first issuance of the Yukon directory, putting sign boards on the corners of the streets at her own expense and then ordering a sufficient number of house numbers to number every house in Dawson.

One Thousand Dollars to be Paid for Her Entire Stock in Trade.
Mrs. Ferguson brought these numbers in last summer, but owing to some hitch in the renaming of the streets, it was impossible to use them and she was compelled to put them in storage for the winter. She returned to Dawson this spring and has been awaiting the action of the council, which action was taken last night with the result as above stated.

Having a Good Time
Chicago, Aug. 30.—Theodore Roosevelt, jr., today was driven to the Owentish Club's golf links, at Lake Forest, where for a time he was an interested spectator in the Western Women's Championship tournament. Thence the party drove to Fort Sheridan, where a dress parade and cavalry maneuvers were ordered by Col. McCaskey in honor of the president's son. The Twentieth infantry and the Second cavalry participated in the review, and "Three" for "Teddy" was given as the men went to quarters. From Fort Sheridan the party came into Chicago, where young Roosevelt did his shopping previous to the hunting trip in South Dakota. He returned to lunch with Mr. H. R. McCullough, his host, at Lake Forest, whence the party will leave for the northwest at 5 o'clock this evening over the Chicago & Northwestern road. Other members of the party on the hunting and fishing trip will be Marvin Hughtit, jr., and D. W. Cox.

Movement of Fleet
Woods Hole, Mass., Aug. 30.—Rear Admiral Higginson's fleet was still at anchor in Menemsha bight this forenoon. It was expected it would go out under cover of darkness last night. The dispatch boat, which had been making daily trips to this port for mail and supplies, did not come today, and this was taken to indicate that the departure of the vessels was imminent.
