A QUEEN UNCROWNED

— OR —
THE STORY IN THE LONE INN.

CHAPTER IV.

"I don't feel sleepy, and don't want to go," said Orrie, settling herself closer into the corner.

With the ringing tread of a dragon, the old woman marched in and approached her; but, seeing her intention, Miss Ortole thought discretion the better part of valor, and springing up, darted away, and was up the stairs in a twinkling. Soon after Grizzle walked silently and stealthily from the room.

"What is that child, Orrie, to that pleasant-spoken old lady, our hostess? Her grandchild?" asked Captain Disbrowe.

"Her grandchild? No; old Grizzle only has two sons—Kit and Blaise—a precious pair of handog scoundrels, both of em! and neither of them are married nor likely to be. I don't know what Orrie is to her; but she has always lived with old Mother Ortole as long as I can remember, and always was the same queer little wisp she is to this day. I expect she found her under a toadstool, or lying on a rush-blade over from Scotland, or dancing in a fairy ring some bright Hallow Eve night, and captured her."

"Shouldn't wonder. And now, about Fontelle. I suppose they received Barnecille's letter?"

"Saying you were coming to pay us a visit—yes," said the boy. "I heard Jack and Gus talking about it, and wondering what sort of an individual you would turn out to be."

"Gus?"

"Why, yes—Oh, I forgot, you didn't know. I mean Cousin Augusta—Lady Augusta De Vere, if you please."

"Lady Augusta? I thought you had no titles over here."

"Haven't we? That's all you know about it, then. Why, every second man you meet is a colonel, and a general, and a squire; and lots of other things. Uncle Bob's a squire—Squire De Vere, you know. But they used to call her Lady Augusta when she was a little girl—she was such a proud, haughty little duchess; and so the name stuck to her ever since."

"She wouldn't be a De Vere if she was not proud," said Disbrowe, quietly.

"Oh, wouldn't she? Well, they call me a De Vere, and anybody that says I'm proud—why, I say they're mistaken, to draw it mild. To be sure, it's not my name; but that's neither here nor there, nor anywhere else, for that matter."

"Not your name?" said Disbrowe, with a stare.

"No, sir!" said Master Frank, emphatically. "My name's Stubbs—but tell it not in Gath. You see, the way of it was, my mother and Squire De Vere's wife were sisters; and when father and mother died, and I went to live at Fontelle, everybody took to calling me De Vere. I was a little shaver then, and the name's stuck to me ever since. But tell me, Cousin Alfred—I suppose I may call you that—what first put it into your head to honor us with a visit, anyway?"

"For my honor, that's a puzzle, my young friend. I don't even know how I ever discovered there was such a place as America in existence. Oh, come to think of it, Ned Howard, of the Guards, told me. He did a little fighting here, once upon a time; and as I got tired of lounging about the Serpentine, and making love to Lady Jane and Lady Mary, I thought I would try the Hudson, by way of a change. And so Barnecille informed me I had a half-uncle, or something, here, and wrote to him to let him know what a nice youth I was, and to warn him to treat me tenderly; and I obtained unlimited leave of absence and came, and saw, and no—yes, I did, though!—I conquered an insolent fellow I met at the Mermaid Inn."

"How was that? Who was he?"

"Not acquainted with the gentleman. He was a short, stout, red-haired, red-whiskered individual, with an unpleasant, not to say ferocious, expression of countenance, and an air generally that looked like a cross between a sailor and a hangman."

"Why, it must have been old Nick Tempest. What did you do to him?"

"Gave him a cut of my horsewhip in the face, by way of a slight hint to be more polite to strangers in future."

"Whew!" said Frank, thrusting his hands in his pockets and indulging in a long, wailing whistle. "Well, then, let me tell you, you've made an inveterate and deadly enemy for life. That fellow's worse than a Corsican—he never forgives an injury."

"Well, there's not much love lost, that's one comfort. Who is he, anyway?"

"Of the captain of a schooner, and they say a buccaner," said the boy, lowering his voice. "He has been seen cruising round the coast, and it is more than suspected that his deeds are evil. But it won't do to speak of that subject here."

"And why not?"

"Oh, well, he's thick with old Grizzle, and hand-and-glove with her two precious sons. But I feel sleepy, and will seek a little virtuous repose in the arms of Morphene, if you have no objection."

"Why don't you take a snooze yourself?" said Frank, settling himself in his chair, thrusting both hands in his coat pockets, and putting on a resolute expression that bespoke his unflinching determination to go asleep, in spite of all obstacles.

"For certain good reasons, that I will tell you to-morrow, which, if I don't mistake, is already growing grey in the east. Asleep so soon?" said the young man, glancing at Frank who had dropped off almost instantly. "I wonder if he knew as much as I do about this house, whether he would sleep so easily? Where has the old Jezabel spirited off the men to, I should like to know?"

"Drawing closer to the fire, Captain Disbrowe set himself to watch until morning; but, insensibly overcome by drowsiness and fatigue, he dropped fast asleep in ten minutes, and slept soundly—so soundly that he did not, two hours later, hear the door opened, nor the entrance of old Grizzle Howlet. Softly she crossed the room on tiptoe, and bent over him, and gazed intently as he lay with his head resting easily on his arm, and his handsome face plainly revealed in the gray morning light."

Suddenly he moved restlessly, and murmured something in his sleep. The woman bent down to hear, but she could only catch the words: "When I come back, Norma."

"When you come back, Norma!" said Grizzle, rising, with her evil smile, and looking down upon the sleeper. "Will you ever come back to Norma, whoever she may be? Oh, Jack De Vere! God grant the day may soon come—when I can see your high pride laid low, and your haughty head under the heel of this gay, proud Englishman, with his fair, young face and scornful heart—and may heaven send the day soon when I can repay you a thousandfold for all your taunts, and gibes, and mockery."

She struck her clinched hand on her breast, as if she could have beaten down a lion, and her face was livid with the raging passion throbbing in it, yet forcibly held back.

"Hello! old Mother Hubbard! what are you up to now?" said the voice of Frank, as he got up suddenly, with a raws, and shook himself. "Hurry up breakfast—will you? I shall have to make tracks for Fontelle in double-quick time this morning, or Jack will be in my wool. Let's have a look at the weather," said he, going to the window and looking out, while old Grizzle silently bustled herself in kindling a fire.

"Well, what is your opinion of the weather, my good comrade?" said Captain Disbrowe, awakened by his voice. "Is it snow, rain, hail, or lightning, or a mixture of all?"

"None of 'em," said Frank; "going to be a splendid day, after the storm."

Breakfast was soon ready, and sooner dispatched. Then little Orrie brought around their horses, while the young Englishman settled his bill with the hostess.

"And now, madam," he said, fixing his eyes keenly and significantly on her face, "before I bid you good-morning, allow me to thank you for your and your three friends' kind intentions toward me last night; and to advise you, when you next hold a secret conference around the fire, to be sure the door at the foot of the stairs is shut. Good-morning, madam." And with a slight and peculiarly graceful bow and smile, he passed from the house. Not a muscle of the woman's face moved, not the slightest start or sign of guilt did she betray, but with a muttered "Humph!" she folded her arms and looked after them until they were out of sight.

A rapid ride of nearly five hours, through forest paths and muddy roads—considerably different from what the same route is to-day—brought them, at last, to their journey's end.

"There's Fontelle—is it anything like your English home?" said Frank suddenly.

Disbrowe looked and saw a large, irregular, cumbersome-looking old mansion of gray stone, that seemed to have been built at different periods, with two wings—the one at the north heavy and gloomy, and fashioned after some antique style; while the southern one seemed of more modern date and construction, lighter, airier, and more elegant. Extensive and handsome grounds surrounded it, and a long, winding avenue of tall maples led up to the front door. It was a fine old mansion, strongly resembling the old mansions so common in England.

"As he named it after Fontelle Park in England," said Frank, "he had it built, you see, to resemble it as much as possible. Does it really look like the old English house of the De Veres?"

"Very much," said Captain Disbrowe, in evident pleasure. "Very much, indeed. It only wants the broad lawns, and glades, and the great park, and the deer, and the 'silver star' above the gate, and the squire's lodge. Do you know the 'silver star'?"

"Don't it?" said Frank. "Is there a day of my life I don't hear of the 'silver star' of the De Veres? Hasn't Uncle Bob the family arms emblazoned in the drawing-room?—and doesn't the 'silver star' shine there from year's end to year's end, and never set? But, look here! if that isn't Jack! Jack! Jack! I say!" he called, raising his voice.

He galloped on, followed by Disbrowe, until, suddenly reining, he exclaimed, in a voice full of quiet malice and delight.

"Jack, this is our English cousin, Captain Disbrowe, allow me to make you acquainted with Jack De Vere."

Captain Disbrowe looked up, and sat for a moment stock-still with surprise. Well, he might; he was not the first who had been electrified by Jack De Vere!

Seven Convicts Escape on Dartmoor

HUNDREDS OF VISITORS JOIN IN HUNT.

A dramatic and daring attempt to escape from Princetown Prison, Dartmoor, was made recently, by seven convicts. Two were immediately shot at by a mounted warder and taken back to prison. The other five made a wild dash for the moors, but after a thrilling chase, in which hundreds of holiday makers, who were visiting Dartmoor, joined, they were all recaptured.

The men were among a large gang of convicts engaged in hay-making, when they suddenly darted for a neighbouring hedge.

After the first two had been seized the other five rushed across the moor. A man who lives in a cottage near the prison immediately ran to the local police office and police constable Kellaway, who gave chase on his bicycle, overtook two of the escaping men. A struggle took place and one escaped. The constable, however, was able to hold on to the other until he was secured with the help of a party of visitors.

A Line Of Pursuers.

By this time the other convicts were making for Tor Royal, the Prince of Wales' dairy farm, and the densely wooded country beyond.

The alarm had now being extended, however, and the other gangs of convicts were brought back to prison, so that all the available warders could join in the hunt. They were also helped by holiday-makers and motorists who left their cars by the roadside and formed a line in extended order stretching across the moor.

The visitors who joined in the hunt had come on the scene unexpectedly in a long procession of motor coaches as they were driving to various parts of the moors.

Every warder sent to various vantage points overlooking the moors was armed.

Fail Into River.

The day was brilliantly fine and in less than half an hour one of the warders had noticed two of the escaped men creeping along by the side of a hedge. He signalled to other warders who took up the pursuit, and one of the men, who had discarded his tunic, was recaptured. He was placed in a motor car and taken back to the prison.

The other man went off in the direction of Two Bridges, where he fell into the river and was caught and marched back between two warders. Finally, by eight o'clock, one only remained at liberty. Later in the evening he was also recaptured.

He was found by a warder lying in a ditch hidden by the undergrowth, and clad only in a shirt. The warder summoned assistance, but the man made no resistance and was so exhausted that he had to be carried back to prison on an improvised stretcher. He had thrown away all his clothing, and the warders covered him up with their coats.

In the early stages messages were sent to every town in a wide radius for every road to be watched. It was known that three of the men were expert motor drivers and it was thought possible they would try to board one of the many motor cars left on the moors while the occupants were changing neighbouring heights.—Daily Mail, Aug. 8.

COMMUNISTS CAUSE UPROAR IN REICHSSTAG.

LONDON, Aug. 27. A sitting of the Reichstag was suspended temporarily to-day during the debate on the acceptance of the London agreement. Communists caused an uproar by demanding that their expelled and imprisoned members should be allowed to vote to-morrow, according to a News Agency despatch from Berlin.

ADVERSE WEATHER DELAYS FLIERS.

On Board U. S. Cruiser Richmond, Aug. 27.—The American around the world fliers have postponed their departure scheduled for to-morrow morning from Ivigtut, Greenland, to Indian Harbor, Labrador, because of the adverse weather reported. Lieut. Smith, Lieut. Nelson and their mechanics will not start from Ivigtut until Friday at the very earliest.

ARGENTINE WON'T BE REPRESENTED.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 27. Foreign Minister Gallardo has announced definitely that the Argentine would not be represented at the forthcoming sessions of the Assembly of the League of Nations. Argentine's non-representation, he said, was due to the failure of Congress to act on the Government's request for Legislative sanction of adherence to the League of Nations given by the Government of former President Yfioyen.

DEMANDS DEATH PENALTY.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27. The labor of letting down the effectiveness of the four day plea for humanity, gentleness, kindness and mercy, began yesterday by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe launching the final argument of the State in the advisory hearing before Chief Justice John R. Caverly, in the criminal court. Mr. Crowe struck vigorously with a renewal of the State's plea for the death penalty of Nathan F. Leopold and Richard Loeb, for kidnaping and murdering 13 year old Robert Franks. Mr. Crowe based his argument, he emphasized, not on philosophies, on ages or ages, not on prattle and piffle of paid alienists concerning childish phantasies and dreamlands of toddlers and detective careers, and called the proceedings back from laboratories, psychopathic hospitals and communist mass meetings to the criminal court, to Cook County. His argument at once took him into the realms of controverted points and precipitated as a climax at to-day's proceedings a disagreement between the Counsel which brought into open record a portion of the coroner physician's testimony of his post mortem examination of Bobby Franks' body, after it was found in a water filled railroad culvert.

FORD DENIES INTERVIEW.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 27. Henry Ford, in a wireless despatch to his office here from his yacht, en route from Montreal to Detroit to-night, positively denies the statement credited to him yesterday by the Montreal Star wherein he was quoted as saying that the St. Klara Klan was misunderstood. Mr. Ford in his message, not only denied the interview published by the Montreal Star, but asserted he had given no interview to anyone, while in Montreal, and stated that he had not discussed the plan. The message further instructed the Ford offices to "make positive denial of an absolutely false statement."

THE MOSUL QUESTION.

GENEVA, Aug. 27. The Foreign Office at Machis has notified the League that the Arabian Government considers Mosul an inseparable part of the Kingdom and that it will not accept any decision of the Council ruling otherwise. The Council which meets Friday must decide the Mosul dispute between Great Britain and Turkey.

STUNG TO DEATH.

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Aug. 27. Three horses were employed in moving loads of gravel on the high road between St. Damase and Rougemont, near here, when thousands of bees settled on the animals and literally stung them to death. The horses were completely covered by the bees and maddened by the stings tried to kick themselves loose from the heavy waggons. The harness was eventually severed by knives and the animals too weakened to bolt were sprinkled with poison to get rid of the bees. They died shortly afterwards.

GOING TO ASSISTANCE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. The bureau of education supply ship Boxer has been ordered to proceed to the assistance of the motor schooner Lady Kindersley, caught in the ice 45 miles east of Point Barrow, Alaska. The Boxer last was reported within 30 or 40 miles of the distressed vessel.

GUARDS UNDER ARREST.

MONTREAL, Aug. 27. Four guards of Bordeaux Jail are under arrest as result of the almost successful attempt of Giuseppe Serafini who is to be hanged on October 24th, had sawed through the bars of his cell and was later found in the jail yard trying to climb the walls. The guards will be arraigned here to-morrow morning charged with criminal negligence. It was learned here to-night that other arrests had been made in connection with the affair.

CANADA'S TRADE FIGURES.

OTTAWA, Aug. 27. Canada's so-called balance of trade with the United States is becoming more favorable to the Dominion. In the twelve months ended July imports from United States exceeded Canadian exports to United States by $143,088,000. In the previous 12 months excess of imports over exports was $193,265,000. Canadian exports to United States in 12 months ended July were $422,210,000 an increase of twenty millions over the previous year imports from United States were $665,890,000 a drop of thirty million dollars from the previous year.

Canadian exports to all parts of the British Empire totaled $462,147,000 during the twelve months ended July, an increase of ten millions over the previous year. Canadian purchases in British Empire countries during the same period were $191,631,000 a decrease of four millions. Exports to United Kingdom alone were $383,969,000 a decrease of two millions from the year before. Imports from United Kingdom were $150,624,000, a drop of three millions.

A STEAMER IN DANGER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. A radio message received to-day by the Air Signal Corps from Wainipig, Manitoba requested assistance of Government stations for the steamer Lady Kindersley, which was declared to be in danger of sinking with 15 persons on board.

DREDGE AFOAT AGAIN.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Aug. 27. Three tugs at high water this morning succeeded in starting the Giant Federal dredge Corcoral, aground on South Bar at the mouth of the inlet. The crew of eighty men remained aboard yesterday and they refused to take advantage of the life lines thrown to them by coast guards.

LAST OF SQUARE-RIGGED WHALERS ENDS CAREER.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 27. The whaling bark Wanderer ended her career on Middle Ground shoal yesterday. The Wanderer, the last of the square riggers which once made this port famous as a whaling centre, set out Monday on a cruise to the South Atlantic. Captain Edwards was in charge of the vessel for which this voyage was planned as her last search for whales. Old time skippers, their memories of stirring experiences revived, gave her a rousing send off. Captain Edwards, after sailing, decided that he needed more men in his crew and on Monday night he left the Wanderer at anchor and came ashore to recruit them. During a gale yesterday the bark dragged her anchor and drifted towards Cuttyhunk. Seeing that she was being driven towards the shoal the crew abandoned her. The whale boats became separated and late last night the coast guardsmen had not been able to find one of them, but she had reached a light ship on board of which the men spent the night. The Wanderer struck the shoal soon after she was abandoned and the mate said that she would be a total loss. The whaler was built at Mattapozet in 1878 and registered 238 tons net. She was 113 feet long.

Unemployment in Italy

ROME, Aug. 12 (A.P.)—Statistics just issued show that during the first four months of 1924 the number of unemployed in Italy was reduced by 234,000. This makes the country's unemployment figure about half what it was last year.

Wedding Bells

BARRETT-QUIGLEY.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Patrick's Church on Monday night, at 8.30, when Mr. Allan Barrett led to the altar Miss Stella Quigley, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Quigley, Pleasant Street. The bride looked charming in a dress of white georgette trimmed with silver lace and a veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and maiden hair fern, as she proceeded up the aisle leaning on the arm of Mr. H. Quick, who acted as father of the bride. She was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Quigley and Miss M. Delahunty, who looked very pretty in dresses of lemon and peach colored crepe de chene, with hats to match, and carried bouquets of carnations and maiden hair fern. The groom was ably supported by Mr. T. J. Carew of the Commercial Cable Company. After the ceremony the party motored to Smithville where a reception was held and the health of the bride and groom duly and heartily toasted. An enjoyable time was spent by all until the wee sma' hours of the morning. The presents received were numerous and costly, among which were many gold pieces, testifying to the esteem in which the contracting parties are held. Congratulations.

Words of Wisdom

"I cannot see why any woman should toil and labour with unsatisfactory washing soap when this Pearline does the work with little trouble and expense." Pearline is becoming known as the great labour saving compound. Women who wash and scrub with Pearline never become tired and "all in" for Pearline requires but little effort. Pearline does the work. It is great time and labour saver cost ten dollars, it would be eagerly purchased, but when it costs only ten cents, it should be used in ever home. Ask your grocer for Pearline, if he hasn't stocked up yet, he can do so quickly by getting in touch with the local agent Gerald S. Doyle.—G

Old Chapels Varied Uses

ROTHERHAM, England, Aug. 15 (A.P.)—Used in turn as a town hall, almshouse and tobacco shop during its 400 years' history, the chapel on the old stone bridge here has been reconsecrated for religious services. The building was originally a chantry chapel.

Highland Games Dance

WAS A SPLENDID SUCCESS.

The Highland Games Dance held in Grenfell Hall last night proved to be a brilliant success both financially and socially. The event was held under the joint management of St. Andrew's Society and the Newfoundland Highlanders, and was attended by more than one hundred couples. Dancing was indulged in from nine o'clock until past the midnight hour to the music of St. Andrew's Orchestra which had never been heard to better account, every number was scored. The effects were simply delightful and the dancers voted the music as being perfect. The arrangements were carried out without a hitch, and greatly appreciated by the gathering. To Mr. H. Butt, the Convener, and Committee every credit is due for its splendid success. The Elimination Dance was won by Miss Ethel Tucker and Mr. Jack Cross.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Do not use prepared shampoo or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Mulifed coconut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulifed is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulifed coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulifed. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

Responds to Alarm

About 7 o'clock last night an alarm of fire was rung in from box 35, calling the Central and West End Fire Companies to the residence of Mrs. Croke, 35 Casey Street, where a slight blaze was in progress on the roof, being caused by sparks falling from a nearby chimney. The blaze was quenched before much damage was done and the all-out sounded ten minutes later.

Black hair is a great favorite in the present on both sides of the water. Thorough rinsing after washing is essential to the witness of hair.

Manitoba's Life Line

Winnipeg, Aug. 28.—With indications of extensive deposits of gold, iron, copper and other minerals, verdant pastures, excellent fishing and ideal harbor facilities, Port Nelson is Manitoba's metaphorical "life-line."

Declares Capt. Baldwin Anderson of Gimli, Man., who accompanied by S. Jansson from the same district has just returned from the northern port. At the close of the fishing season on the Nelson River and in Split Lake, where they had been engaged by a large fishing concern, the two decided to continue to Port Nelson to obtain first-hand information as to actual conditions in this part of the country for the young Icelandic fishermen of Lake Winnipeg, who are great believers in the northern port and its possibilities.

The channel was open right out to the Bay last winter, and never froze up," Capt. Anderson said. "It is never frozen over before the end of January or the beginning of February," he added, and towards the latter part of April. The currents generally started wearing away the ice, leaving the river comparatively free of ice in May.

Capt. Anderson was agreeably surprised with the splendid condition in which he found everything at Port Nelson, from the temporary lighthouse to the buildings in the town, piers and lighters. There are five steel lighters, all belonging to the Dominion government; three marine dredges; the "million dollar mystery" dredge; a stern wheeler which was used for hauling sand and gravel up the river to the docks; 20 barges and five large derricks, all in perfect shape, Capt. Anderson asserted.

Discussing the road bed, Capt. Anderson said that 60 miles from Kettle Rapids, coming towards the Pas, the rails and ties were in good condition, while the grade was in fair shape. The two bridges over the Nelson river, he declared to be a credit to the country. He considered that the Hudson Bay railway was one of the best roads in Canada, one straight stretch extending for 47 miles.

Four hundred men are at present at work re-tieing and leveling the road between the Pas and Kettle Rapids while improvements were also being carried out near Hudson Bay Junction.

Capt. Anderson was of the opinion that this rich territory would yet be the home of 100,000 prosperous people, but he believed that the road would have to be completed to give them a chance to get there.

War Minister Shocks Staff

By LUNCHING WITH A PRIVATE.

COPENHAGEN (A.P.)—Mr. Rasmussen, the Labor Minister for Defense, drove to some army maneuvers recently and on the way felt the need of a cup of coffee. He asked his chauffeur, a private, to pull up at the nearest country inn. Arriving there, he invited the chauffeur to sit at his table and share the refreshment.

On arrival at the maneuvers the minister soon learned that scouts had already informed the general staff of the incident, and it was gently brought home to him that discipline would suffer if the head of the army made it a practice to take his meals with privates. Minister Rasmussen replied: "Bless your soul, general, the fellow who drove me is a working engineer in private life and I a lieutenant, so you see we belong to the same class. Just fancy if you, general, had been my chauffeur, then I do not know how the dickens I should ever have been able to get a cup of coffee."

Jack Under Fire!

WHEN DINNER WAS BLOWN SKY HIGH BY ENEMY.

Good stories of the battle of Jutland were related by Mr. C. G. Ammon, M.P., Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, who broadcasted his impressions of the Naval Review. They concerned the warships, whose steering gear had been so damaged that she was steaming round in circles under heavy fire. "A shell had made a breach in the side of the ship," stated Mr. Ammon. "The captain was rather worried as to the position when he was nudged by a young rating attending him, who remarked, 'I reckon, sir, we will get a long spell of leave out of this.' Almost immediately afterwards another shell crashed through into the kitchen, where the dinners had been prepared," continued Mr. Ammon. "It blew the whole lot sky high. Swiss Glaciers Non Receding

AFTER LONG FORWARD MOVEMENT

BERNE, Aug. 12 (A.P.)—Scientific observations seem to show that the Swiss glaciers are receding. The advance during the last ten years has come to a stop. From 100 observations taken last year, 55 glaciers were found to be receding and only 25 advancing whereas in 1916, 63 out of 100 were creeping forward. The last great period of retrogression was between the years 1856 and 1908, but since 1908 the greater part of the glaciers appeared to be going forward until last year, when the new period of withdrawal set in.

Beware of the Novice

No new motorist should take to the road himself until he has mastered the following:

The confident use of all controls such as brakes, gear lever, electrical horn switch, and clutch, without having to look at any of them. The driver who has to search for his controls in an emergency is lost. The proper method of backing a car. Many new drivers can steer accurately in a forward direction, but are completely lost when trying to reverse. I watched a driver the other day who took a quarter of an hour to reverse into position at the motorist park in St. James' Square. How to change a lower gear when approaching a steep hill. The proper use of the recognized drivers' warning signals. The police signals. The meaning of the various road-side danger signs. The unwritten laws of the road. It might seem scarcely necessary to mention the last item, yet it is a fact that many new drivers are completely ignorant of the rules of the road, having had no previous experience of traffic conditions.—Daily Mail.

Road-Finishing Machine

DRIVEN BY TWO MEN.

A hand-operated road-tamping and finishing machine, has been developed for use by contractors. The machine moves on two tracks that constitute the form for the concrete. A shaft extending across the top of the machine is turned by two men, one on each side of the road. Through the action of a cam, the tamper is given both vertical and lateral motion, insuring a perfect crown. Two strike-offs, a tamper, and wood-finishing belt, passing over the plastic mass leave the surfacing smooth and with the desired crown to the road. Your mattresses should be turned, sunned and cleaned frequently.

A REQUEST TO MOTORISTS

FOR KIND CONSIDERATION.

It has been brought to the attention of the Newfoundland Motor Association that there are several thousand people in the city who do not own motor cars and who walk to Bowring Park on Sunday and holiday afternoons. It is a well-known fact that these citizens are deluged with dust in the fine weather and often splattered with mud in wet weather, as however careful a driver may be, it is usually impossible not to raise dust and sometimes it is impossible to prevent splashing when driving through the mud. The Association has therefore decided to issue a personal request to Motorists generally not to use the Southside Road on Sunday, Holiday and Half Holiday afternoons, thereby affording the many people in the city who do not own cars an opportunity to walk to the Park in some degree of comfort on Sundays and holidays. (This request, of course, does not apply to motorists living on the Southside nor motorists wishing to call at houses on the Southside on these afternoons). This is an appeal to Motorists, not an order nor a demand. A little consideration is all that is asked and the Association believes that Motorists, generally, are considerate. Issued by the Executive and Road Committee. THE NEWFOUNDLAND MOTOR ASSOCIATION. P. E. OUTERBRIDGE, Sec'y.-Treas. aug.13.1.24

Give The Railway a Chance

Since the Railway was taken over by the Government it has been regarded by everyone as a white elephant, and without exception we have all taken a turn in damning it because of its cost, because of its lack of travelling facilities, because it is incapable of meeting requirements, and in particular, because it is Government owned. It is a case of having given a dog a bad name and hanging it forthwith.

It cannot be denied that there has been considerable justification for this attitude of the public, but as we have to take things as we find them, and as it is said that there is no likelihood of our disposing of the service at present, perhaps if a more hopeful view were adopted, matters might improve. Certainly they could not become worse. It is surely worth trying if only to give a little encouragement to those who are in charge of the service. They need it.

We are rather too apt to forget that what is Government property is our property. Our dollars are invested in it, and whether they are turned to good account or bad, it is our pocket which is affected. That this is not fully realized is only too obvious. If it were, the cases in which public utilities are abused would not so frequently occur. It is our business to protect them as we do the property which we personally own, and once this view is taken by everyone the bill for damages will at least be reduced.

Once we have decided to regard it as a child gone wrong through lack of sympathy rather than an unmitigated evil which is beyond redemption, we may apply practical measures to help it along, and there is much that can be done in that direction. The personal care of the property, increased patronage, less interference with officials both on the part of passengers and politicians, less destructive criticism, and more suggestions that are helpful are but a few of the ways in which the general public can render valuable assistance.

Everyone is aware of the great difficulties with which the railroad man has to contend in Newfoundland. They are climatic, physical, and economical, and to overcome them entirely may be impossible of achievement. They may, however, be reduced, and nothing will do more to gain that end than the co-operation of the public.

One of the greatest difficulties which present themselves is to maintain a satisfactory service during the winter, and past experience would seem to indicate that it cannot be done. The section of the road which passes over the Topsails has always been the greatest obstacle. It is isolated, exposed to every wind that blows, and it is always operated at a dead loss. To alter the route with the means at our disposal is impossible, and the only alternative which suggests itself is to cut it out, say from the first of January each year to the end of March.

Were this decided upon, the line could be operated at considerably less expense in two sections, one running from Port aux Basques to Deer Lake, and the other from St. John's to Grand Falls. Argentinia would then become the terminus for the Gulf steamer and Port aux Basques a port of call when conditions permitted.

We make the above suggestion as an earnest of our intention to adopt towards the railway a spirit of encouragement. It showed no inclination to respond to harsh methods, and possibly, as with an errant child, sympathy and help may accomplish what criticism and punishment never could.

Shocking Accident on Topsail Road

WOMAN JUMPS TO HER DEATH.

An accident of an unusual character occurred on the Topsail Road about 5.30 last evening, and resulted in the death of one of the occupants of a car. The victim was Mrs. Ryan, proprietress of the National House, on Queen Street.

According to what was ascertained by those who arrived on the scene of the accident shortly after it happened, Mrs. Ryan, accompanied by her son, Constable Ambrose Conway and Constable Graham Trickett, of Belleoram, decided to run out as far as Topsail after dinner, in her car, a Ford Sedan, No. 5885. Conway was driving and the others occupied the back seat. On the return journey, the deceased is said to have expressed a wish to get out, almost opposite Mr. D. MacRae's bungalow. She suddenly opened the door, stepped on the footboard, and before Trickett could prevent her, she jumped or was flung by the motion of the car, into the road.

From the nature of the injuries, her head must have come in contact with the surface and death was instantaneous. The car was pulled up, and the occupants rushing back, were horrified to find the lifeless form of their companion lying huddled on the road. It was impossible to elicit any coherent account of events which led to the tragedy, from the companions of the unfortunate victim, as they were quite overcome by the shock which they had received.

Almost immediately after the accident, Mr. P. K. McLeod arrived on the scene, and at once returned to Donovans and telephoned Inspector General Hutchings and Dr. Parsons, the Superintendent of the Asylum. The body was wrapped in a quilt obtained from Mr. McRae's house, and was tenderly lifted into the car. Dr. Parsons, who had responded with despatch, was about to bring the body citywards, when the Inspector General arrived and, having reviewed the scene of the accident gave instructions to proceed to the Mortuary rooms of Undertaker Martin, where preparations for burial were made.

Mrs. Ryan was about 45 years of age and is a sister of Mr. M. Hawco, former Minister of Posts and Telegraphs. Her husband, John Ryan of Holyrood, predeceased her about 2 years ago. She leaves no children but has an adopted daughter who is married in England.

The funeral takes place to-morrow from the National House, at 2.30 p.m.

Magistrates Court

Detective Bennett had a farmer belonging to the Goulds Road up before court this morning charged with the larceny of a bread tin containing two cakes, $20.00 in cash, a small hand bag and some clothing the property of Mrs. Matthew Williams, at the Goulds Garden Party. There was also a second charge laid against the accused for entering a second tent. The man pleaded guilty and was sent down for three months.

A 29 year old labourer, Mallock St., for creating a disturbance in his mother's home and threatening to do her bodily harm, was ordered to leave the parental home, and sign a personal bond of $100.00 for his future good behaviour.

A labourer, Water Street West, for being drunk, indecently exposing himself on the public street was fined $20.00. A labourer of the West End was arraigned before court, and stood charged with the larceny of a quantity of goods from the grocery store of Mrs. O'Reilly, Water Street West. The accused was not asked to plead and was remanded to the penitentiary until the police are ready to proceed.

A woman resident of the Southside had her daughter-in-law before court for assault. It appears that no assault took place. The complainant was examined by a doctor and pronounced insane, and was removed to the Lunatic Asylum.

Rotary's Guests

The Rotary entertainment to the city children is being held this afternoon at Topsail in the grounds of Hon. Mayor Tasker Cook. A large number were taken out by a special train and others who were unable to walk from the station went by motor car.

Nothing Decided Yet

As far as can be learned nothing has been decided upon in the way of reception of the special service squadron due to arrive here shortly. It is expected that a movement in the desired direction will be made as soon as his Excellency returns to the city. He is at present at Grand Falls and returns on Saturday.

Shipping.

S.S. Cranley sailed at noon Tuesday from Botwood for London, taking 4,350 tons paper from the A.N.D. Co. S.S. Sechem left Halifax at 5 p.m. yesterday and is due here to-morrow afternoon. S.S. Digby left Liverpool at 5 p.m. Saturday for this port.

Yesterday's Sorrow

VERY LITTLE DAMAGE REPORTED

Early yesterday morning a terrific wind storm from a S.W. direction, swept the city, and as the day progressed it increased, making it very unpleasant for the pedestrian, and causing much damage to property in the city and countrywards. Around the city many chimneys were blown from roof tops, window panes smashed, and much damage done to fences, and to flowers and crops. During the full force of the storm yesterday afternoon, a large sign board at Callaghan's Grocery Store, Water St. West, crashed to the pavement, though fortunately nobody was passing at the time. Many slates were torn off the buildings on Water Street; much damage being done in this respect at the General Post Office. Last night a fence blew down on George St. and a number of children, who were playing alongside, had a narrow escape. The various tugs were kept busy in the harbor all day, towing schooners to safe anchorage. The steamer Watchet also broke clear, but collided with a Danish schooner, the "Pitta" who, doing slight damage to the vessel's spars, the Prospero, which left here yesterday morning on the run North, must have received a severe drubbing. The ship was unable to get into Bay de Verde, and the passengers were forced to land at Trinity where she sheltered out of the storm all night. There is no report of the Melgie since leaving Carbonear on Tuesday night.

It is quite possible that she safely sheltered somewhere on the way North, and is out of communication owing to wire trouble. As yet no news of damage in the outports has been received. The storm was felt all the way along the railway line, but did not interfere with the progress of the trains. Tuesday's express arrived at Port aux Basques 10.40 last night, while the east bound train which was several hours late leaving Port aux Basques owing to the late arrival of the Kyle, has been making good headway across country and is due to reach the city at nine o'clock to-night. To-day westerly winds prevail all over the island, and the weather is reported fine and clear.

Instances of the appearance of these creatures are nowadays fairly frequent in Tibet, and until one is captured the question of their species must remain unsolved. It seems hardly possible that a new species of animal can exist in what is nowadays fairly well known country. Telegraph Lines Down

Owing to the Postal Telegraph wires being down as a result of the gale, very few messages have been transmitted today. A number of section men have been out repairing the lines since early morning in various parts of the country, and no direct communication as to damages caused in the outports can be received until the whole line is placed in order.

Animal-Men

TIBETANS' FEAR OF STRANGE CREATURES.

KILIMPONG, N. Bengal, August 16.—Another story of the supposed existence of primitive beings living in rocks and caves, and preying on the animal life of the countryside, comes from near Pharijong. These beings, called by the Tibetans "Migu," or "Abominable Snow-men," are supposed to be men, their bodies being covered with hair, and long matted locks hang over their shoulders.

Word was brought in that two of these creatures, half animal, half man, had killed several yak and partially devoured them. The particular description given by one who said he saw them was as follows:

About six feet tall, the body covered with black hair like a bear, with a red face like a monkey. He has only been seen erect, not on all fours, and walks like a man.

Instances of the appearance of these creatures are nowadays fairly frequent in Tibet, and until one is captured the question of their species must remain unsolved. It seems hardly possible that a new species of animal can exist in what is nowadays fairly well known country. The Tibetans believe they are evil, but the Tibetan invariably gives that name to anything he does not understand in the world of natural history.

IN POND AND LOVING MEMORY

of my dear mother, Catherine McDonald, who departed this life August 28th, 1924. The roses in memory's garden. They never fade away! But the one that died one year ago is the one I miss to-day. When the evening shades are falling And I am sitting all alone, In my heart there comes a longing If she only could come home. Oft and oft my thoughts will wander To her grave so far away! Where the gently loved her body Just one year ago to-day. May the Sacred Heart of Jesus have mercy on her soul. Invented by her daughter, Mrs. John Lawlor.

NOTE OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marcor desire to express their sincere thanks to all kind friends who so willingly helped them in the recent death of their dear son, Harvey, especially all those who sent wreaths and messages of sympathy. Special thanks to Rev. Crockett for his kind attendance.

Wedding Bells

McKAY-CARTER.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McKay, No. 40 Franklin Avenue, was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when their daughter Carrie, formerly of Ayre & Sons Grocery, became the happy bride of Mr. Austin W. Carter of Knowling's Hardware.

The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. W. A. Power, M.A., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, in the presence of a number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. W. A. McKay of the Telegram staff, and as they entered the room the Wedding March was played by the bride's cousin, Miss Hilda Wareham of Harbor Buffet. Miss Laura Carter, sister of the groom, attended the bride, while Mr. Jack McKay, brother of the bride, performed the duties of best man.

The large number of useful and valuable presents received testified to the esteem in which this popular young couple are held. At 5 p.m. the newly wedded pair left by motor car for Holyrood enroute to Brigus Junction, where they will board to-day's express for Arnold's Cove. The fine motor boat of Mr. W. Wareham of Harbor Buffet has been placed at their disposal for a 10 days' trip around Placentia Bay. All good wishes accompany them for a long and happy married life.

S. O. E. Outing

The first of a series of events celebrating the S.O.E. Golden Jubilee took place at Smithville yesterday and was participated in by a fairly large gathering of members of the fraternity, their wives and lady friends. Arriving at Smithville at 3 p.m. the party indulged for a short while in outdoor games. The series planned had to be abandoned owing to a storm of wind which prevailed and the greater part of the evening was spent indoors in various amusements. At 6.30 all sat down to a sumptuous supper which was enlivened by songs and speeches. District Dep. Bro. N. Andrews ably performed the duties of chairman. The toast list was as follows:—

- The King—Pro. by the Chairman.
- Supreme Grand Lodge—Prop. Bro. A. G. Williams, P.D.D.; Resp. D.D.S.F. Bro. N. Andrews.
- The Ladies—Pro. Bro. W. J. Piko; Resp. Bro. C. Pudester.
- Songs and choruses from the song sheet provided interspersed the speeches. After supper preparations were made for dancing, which began at 8.30 under the able management of Bro. W. Piko. A delightful programme of music provided by the Fraternity's orchestra and dancing was kept up until 12.30, when the gathering dispersed, having had a most enjoyable evening.

Entertainment at Poor Asylum

The annual entertainment provided by the Wesley Young People's League for the inmates of the Poor Asylum was given at the institution yesterday afternoon. Owing to the wind storm it was impossible to hold any outdoor amusements, and a programme for indoors was arranged and carried through most successfully. At 5 o'clock supper was served and all enjoyed the bountiful repast. After supper every inmate was presented with a bag of candy, fruit, etc. Beginning at 7 o'clock an excellent concert was rendered. Rev. J. O. Joyce ably performed the duties of chairman. The guests of the day were C. E. Russell, M.H.A., Minister of Public Works, and Rev. Mr. Bursey. At the conclusion of the concert speeches were delivered by Mr. Russell, Rev. Mr. Bursey, W. Whiteway, and H. W. Piko, President of the League. Mr. Miller, Superintendent of the Asylum, thanked the entertainers for the excellent day provided, and assured them that it was appreciated by each and every one of the inmates. The National Anthem brought to a close a day that was appreciated both by the members of the Young People's League and the receivers of their kindness.

TELEGRAM ROAD RACE TROPHY.

The Telegram Trophy will be competed for a third time, over a course of ten miles from the Octagon to St. George's Field, on Wednesday, Sept. 10th, in conjunction with the A. A. A. Championships Meet, and a word or two in connection with our local long distance runners at this time will not be amiss. Probably the runner that did most to keep this form of athletics alive in Newfoundland is none other than the ex-champion Jack Bell, and being the first winner of the Telegram Trophy, we give to our readers to-day a brief account of his running career.

JACK BELL (The Ex-Champion)
Who Held The Local Championship For Eight Years.

Jack Bell, after completing his education at St. Patrick's Hall School, took up running at the age of 15 years, and with a number of his classmates, who were also eagerly bent on showing their wares, much running was resorted to on the roads around Long Pond, Smithville and vicinity. Walter Bell, a twin brother of Jack, whom we regret to state passed away several years ago in Montreal, and who also had a splendid running record, (second in the Boston Marathon in 1912) was always Jack's most dangerous opponent. However, the running contests staged in their boyhood days stood Jack in good stead.

HIS FIRST BEAL RACE.
At 16 he was conditioned for the road, and although young in years he was ambitious enough to compete against runners many years his senior, and in a 15 mile race, from Manuel's to St. George's Field (his first real race) he kept up with the leading runners until eleven miles of the track had been covered, when he was forced to drop out suffering from cramps.

In the year 1916 he made rapid strides and in his second attempt at an outing held by the Green Sprig Club, at the Octagon, he won his first long distance race over a course of six miles. The following year he duplicated his performance, but it was not until the year 1918, did he become better known as a runner, when he turned out to be the "dark horse" in the six mile road race from the B.I.S. Hall to Mount Cashel, defeating several of the favourites, whom he chased hard in the 15 mile road race two years previous. Being then recognized as the champion six mile runner, he specialized on this distance alone, and by careful training he successfully defended his laurels in the chief Mount Cashel Garden Party event in the years 1919, 1921, and 1923. In 1924 he lost to J. Kavanagh who defeated him in a challenge race on

St. Bon's Campus; but in Mt. Cashel the following year, and with Kavanagh a likely winner, Bell not only gained back his previous laurels but he set a record over this course in the creditable time of 51 minutes and 42 seconds, which still stands unbeaten.

From 1915 until after the war, no long distance races took place. They were revived again, however, in the year 1919, when in a 2 mile race, held at Quidi Vidi Lake, the scene being St. Joseph's Garden Party, Bell once again successfully defended his title.

In the same year he also won the 1 mile race at the C.C.C. Sports, St. George's Field, and later in the same year, captured a 5 mile race in the Prince's Rink, besides teaming up with three others in an 8 mile relay race on the same night, in which his team was victorious.

THE HALIFAX HERALD ROAD RACE.
In the fall of 1920 a number of enthusiasts sent Bell, to Halifax in charge of Mr. J. I. Vintcombe, to compete in the Halifax Herald 10 mile road race. Bell, at that time, was the first Newfoundlander, in our recollection, sent abroad to compete against the "Canucks." With Bell running to form, it was predicted by many that he would make a good showing. After three miles of the journey had been covered, however, he was seized with cramps, and was forced to drop out, after being well up with the leaders. Shortly after returning home he won his first 10 mile race, over a course of 60 laps in the Prince's Rink. This event was included in a sports programme run under the auspices of the Cadet Boat Club. It was in this race that Bell showed wonderful stamina as a runner, his time being 53 minutes 55 sec.

HIS BEST YEAR.
Bell's best running year was in 1921; in the early part of which he won the C.L.B. 10 Mile Road Race in 53 minutes flat, and on August 18, in the M.C.A. Sports, over the same course, he lowered his previous record by 1 minute and 27 seconds. Later he romped home a winner in a 5 mile turf race, over a grassy track at St. George's Field. In the first A.A.A. Championships which was held under the National Sports Committee, Bell's time was 28 minutes and 11 seconds, and he still holds that record on turf. In the same year a local track team, including Bell, was sent to Halifax to take part in the Maritime Championships. Bell contested in a 5 mile race run on a cinder track, and retrieved his loss of the previous year by winning from a field of 19 starters, including Alfred Rogers, the much touted champion at that time. Bell ran the finest race of his career on that day, and although he was one lap short, which was a big mistake on the part of the judges, his time was clocked in 35 minutes and 51 seconds. Bell's nearest opponent was Mat. Power, who was some 230 yards to the rear. The other members of the track team also shared in the prizes on that day, and returned home, leaving Bell and his trainer behind to get in readiness for the Halifax Herald 10 Mile Road Race, which was then some six weeks away. The sporting public will remember the creditable showing the local champion made in this race. MacAulay, who was away from the Province for a period of 13 years, drifted in from Dorchester, Mass., and upset the whole works. Bell, it might be said, went to Halifax that year primarily with the intention of defeating Rogers, Martin and others, and in this he was successful. But MacAulay, who is one of the best runners wearing shoes leather-to-day, was found unbeatable. Nevertheless he was compelled to run the race of his life to win, besides hanging up a new record for the distance.

FIRST WINNER OF TELEGRAM ROAD RACE.
In 1922 the local champion was again covering the roads, with the snow barely left the ground, getting in condition to seek further success across the water. In August he sailed for Ireland to represent Newfoundland in the Taltan Games, but disappointment was his; the event having been postponed owing to disorders, until the following year. Although it might be termed a wild goose chase, nevertheless the champion derived great pleasure out of the trip. Later he returned home and defended his title by winning the first 10 Mile Road Race for the "Telegram" Trophy. The champion covered the course in good style, being but two seconds behind his record. Ron O'Toole, who was then making rapid strides in the running game, finished a good second. At the National Sports Meet, held in the Prince's Rink, Bell suffered his first set-back in years, when Laurie Jackson, of Halifax, defeated him in a ten mile (challenge) race, and lowered the local best time by 11 seconds. In that race Bell hugged close to his opponent for five miles, when he was suddenly seized with cramps. Upon being revived he pluckily continued on, but before Jackson had gained a lead of eight laps, which was too much to overcome. In 1923 Bell was defeated by Ron O'Toole in the "Telegram" Road Race, O'Toole doing the course in 55 minutes, 59 seconds. The ex-champion took his defeat in a true sportsmanlike manner, and heartily congratulated the new champion at the finish. A few weeks later, Bell and O'Toole, with Burnell, the walker, left for Halifax with Manager S. P. Cullen, to compete in the All-Canadian Championships. Bell and O'Toole competed in a 5 Mile Race against the pick of Canada. The former finished fourth, while the latter was forced to drop out, due to a sore leg. Since then Bell has not participated in any races. During the summer months he confined all his time to rowing, but admits that he does not intend to retire from the running game yet.

The ex-champion has been running altogether 15 years, and in that time he competed in about thirty races; winning 16 first places, 3 second, and many thirds, a record which he should well feel proud of.

HIGHLAND GAMES POSTPONED UNTIL WEDNESDAY NEXT.
The Committee in charge of the Highland Games decided wisely at noon yesterday in postponing the annual event, which was scheduled to take place at St. George's Field in the afternoon. The forecast of the previous day, which predicted a storm, which broke over the city at early morning, and as the day progressed the wind increased its velocity, making conditions utterly impossible for the competitors to run. The stores were acquainted with the postponement before close-up time, so that the spectators were well known to all. The Highland Games will take place on Wednesday next, and with an extra week's practice available for all runners, the races are bound to be even more closely contested.

TO-NIGHT'S GAME.
Owing to the heavy wind storm of last night, the Junior League game between the Gaelic and Holy Cross teams was postponed. As the evening has now begun to clear in quickly, the players are requested to be on the field to start the game at 6.45.

Earning at Rate of Between $2 and $2.25 per Share—Helped by Advancing Metal Prices—Brass Subsidy Earning at Good Rate.
(From Boston News Bureau, Aug. 21.)
BOSTON—Anacoda is understood to be earning at present prices of non-ferrous metals and silver between $2 and $2.25 a share a year on 2,000,000 shares of common stock, bond interest, depreciation, taxes and other charges. First-half earnings were, it is believed, at rate of $2.50 to $2.75 a year. American Brass subsidiary is running at a good rate, with three months' orders ahead.

Standardization of mining methods at Butte, started last summer, is understood to have decreased mining costs $2.50 a ton from first half of 1923. As Butte ores yield about 75 pounds of copper a ton, this means a reduction of two cents a pound in cost of producing copper, and more than makes up for lower price for silver compared with last year, when 80 cents an ounce was averaged as a result of the Pittman Act, which held domestic silver at $1 an ounce until the middle of June.

Producers Copper at 11 Cents.
Butte ores yield four ounces of silver and 30 cents in gold for each 100 pounds of copper. With silver at

Harbor Grace Notes

An old and respected resident of the town in the person of Mr. John Gray, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Parsons, on Sunday, Aug. 17th. Although much beyond the three score and ten years he was able to get about town and the end came after but a brief illness. His wife predeceased him a few years ago, and he leaves behind three daughters, three residing in the U.S.A. and Mrs. John Parsons with whom he spent the eventful of his life. His only brother, Mr. Stephen Gray, also of this town. The funeral was held on Monday to St. Paul's Church, and was very well attended; in the procession the C.B.B. Society was represented, of which deceased was a worthy member. Rev. W. R. J. Higgins performed the last sad rites, and the mortal remains of our aged friend were laid to rest in the Church of St. Paul's Cemetery. So after life's sojourn comes "Rest and Peace." To the departed we offer sympathy.

The Methodist Sunday School Picnic was held on Wednesday last at Russell's Farm; the younger children having been conveyed there from the school in motor cars and carriages. The usual games and racing, etc., was indulged in and tea served in the afternoon. The weather was all that could be desired, and all attending had a very pleasant day.

A team from the Tennis Club, Bell Island, visited town on Thursday, and a tournament was held at the Courts here, Hr. Grace vs. Bell Island. Owing to some little trouble with the "bar" the visitors came by the "Cohar" and were a bit late on arriving, but the Tournament was played, and at the close, Hr. Grace team had won. After the game the party repaired to St. Patrick's Hall, where refreshments were served, and dancing indulged in. The visitors left again at ten o'clock the morning following, having had an enjoyable time.

Another game in the Inter-town Cricket Series for the Jones' Cup, was played at Shannon Park on Wednesday, between Bay Roberts and Hr. Grace, which resulted in a win for the latter, by a small majority. At the conclusion of the match, the visitors were entertained at the "Gracian House" and returned to Bay Roberts by motor cars. The next game was played Wednesday at Carbonear between Hr. Grace and Carbonear at Carbonear but the weather conditions were not favourable.

A troupe of amateurs from Colby's staged the three-act comedy, "Safety First," in St. Paul's Hall on Wednesday night last. Each performer acted very creditably, and produced much merriment for those present. We hope to see the troupe visit again at some future date.

The Girl Guides held an afternoon tea in the Rectory grounds on Tuesday, which was well patronized, and realized the fine sum of $96.00. Their efforts deserve encouragement, and this enable the Guides to "carry on."

Mr. M. P. Stapleton, assistant postmaster, who spent his vacation in Colby, arrived by the last trip to Colby, and is now on duty again after having a most enjoyable trip north.

Mr. J. G. Thistle, who has been visiting friends, left by Monday afternoon's train for Carbonear, where he has secured a position.

Mr. A. E. Simmons, who is on the Survey Party, of the N.P. & P. Co., at Deer Lake, and has been here on holiday, returned again on Tuesday to resume work.

Mr. Wm. Wood, of Bay Roberts, who had spent the week-end at Carbonear, paid a brief visit to town on Monday.

Miss Pearl Parsons, left town by Tuesday's train en route to Boston, Mass., after a lengthy visit to relatives and friends here.

Amongst those to spend the weekend here with friends were Miss Gladys M. Russell, of Bay Roberts, and Miss Doris. Noseworthy, of Clarke's Beach.

Miss Gladys French, typist at Messrs. Ayre & Sons, St. John's, has been visiting town, the guest of her uncle, Mr. Robert French. Miss French returns to the city this afternoon.

The Ladies Aid and Girls Guild of the Methodist Church intend holding a Social at Coughlan Hall on Thursday afternoon, September 4th. Meat, tea, ice cream and candy will be on sale. We trust the ladies will meet with a good measure of success.

Miss Lily Stevenson, nurse at the General Hospital, St. John's, is here pending a holiday with her mother, Mrs. A. Stevenson.

Miss Gladys Parsons, who has spent the summer vacation with her uncle, Mr. A. Parsons, St. John's, returned to town again on Wednesday.

Schn. "Florence E." Capt. Antsey, who was on dock for extensive repairs, has now been launched, and is ready to sail first opportunity.—COR. Harbor Grace, Aug. 27th.

THE HOSTESS SPEAKS.

Mrs. J. had company for dinner last night. Mrs. J. is my next door neighbor, and when she came over to chat for a few minutes on my porch this afternoon she looked tired. I asked her why she tried to manage a lot of company for dinner these hot summer days.

Hindering Not Helping.
 "Oh, but it wasn't a lot of people," she said. "It was just one girl friend whom I asked to come and spend the day. I like her and I like to have her here. All except one thing. I do wish that while I am getting dinner ready I would stay out-of-doors or in the living room and amuse herself until I had her to come to the table. I know my guest would not be so bored, but I must wait my guests both in the kitchen and in the dining room. I am tired."

"She kept saying that she wanted to go and when I told her that I really referred to do things alone and that could do it quicker by myself, she said that if she couldn't help she would at least keep me company. So she came and sat and chattered and chattered and expected me to get back or to make appropriate replies. And it is nerve racking to try to do two things at once. I forgot to whip the cream and I salted the potatoes twice and the meringue got too brown and altogether I was as tired as if I had been able to work quickly and quietly alone and my mind on what I was doing."

I've tried to sympathize with Mrs. J. I've tried to write with folks interrupting and the confusion is frightfully tiring.

And yet, on the other hand, a friend was complaining to me not long ago that a guest of hers "never lifted her hand to help out, and never offered to do a single thing but just sat out in the hammock and read while I was working away in the kitchen."

I think the best plan is for a guest to ask her hostess quite frankly just what she would like to have her do about helping and then take her quite literally at her word.

Real Help.
 The guest whom I remember most pleasantly of the many who visited me last summer was a young business woman who spent a few days with us. She told me that just to be at the seashore was all the amusement she needed, and her evident enjoyment of the long leisure hours on the sands bore out her statement. She did little tasks unobtrusively about the house, picking up and folding away the newspapers, tidying up the porch, watering my window box garden, hanging out the wet bathing suits—little services that really helped and were done without comment. She had no fussy tastes in food but ate everything that was set before her with apparent relish, and her gratitude was expressed not in effusive and embarrassing outbursts of thanks, but in an abiding enjoyment of her visit which was much more convincing and gratifying.

A Gracious Expression of Gratitude.
 On her return to the city she wrote me a most appreciative letter, and sent a book which she had heard me express a desire to read. Of course a gift is by no means a necessary aftermath of such a visit, but I did enjoy the book and the thoughtfulness that prompted its sending.

Perhaps some of my Readers have a different code for vacation guests. If you have, send it along. An exchange of ideas on the subject from both hostesses and guests may be helpful at this time.

FORGETTING.

WALT MASON.

I call my seven nieces, I call my nephews in a row, and say, "My wrath increases—an aching heart is mine. You keep me sadly fretting, you keep me peevish and blue; you always are forgetting the things you ought to do. You don't forget diversions where all the bright lights are; you don't forget excursions to swimmingholes afar; you don't forget the dances or pink or purple tea, or any circumstances attending transient life. Neglectful of my wishes, on errands vain you trot; you do not wash the dishes, and tell me you forgot. You do not sweep the garage or oil the phonograph; you do not feed the parrot, or groom the bridled calf. You do not scour the casement until there is no spot; you fail to scrub the basement, and tell me you forgot. Ah, thoughtless, heedless tricksters, my gronch is growing big; you do not comb my whiskers, or clean the chickens or stain the coffee pot, and when I raise the chickens you tell me you forgot. Oh, nieces, this forgetting the things you ought to do will some day, I am betting, bring ghastly ruin to you. Oh, nephews, this forgetting all things but idle fun, will bring you care and fretting, and trouble by the ton. They find the going better whose heads are on the job; the vacuous forgets trains with the has-been mob."

"Scaramonche"
 Greatest of Great Pictures

SO SAY THE GREAT AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS.

"Scaramonche" is said by "those who know" to surpass all other screen masterpieces. The picture is enacted by a wonderful cast including Alice Terry, Ramon Navarro and Lewis Stone under the skilled direction of Rex Ingram. The film will be shown in St. John's at the Nickel Theatre commencing Monday next. The following press tributes show the true magnificence of the production:—

"Scaramonche" is an engrossing and charming film. Far and away the best production of its kind that has been made.

—New York Times.

Bigness, splendor, great beauty, much pathos. . . Romance. Excellent cast at their best. The screen's pageant of beauty.

—New York Daily News.

The best in any season. It "stands out" in a dozen ways. A wonderfully gripping, thrilling and beautiful "Scaramonche."

—The Evening World.

Sat spellbound. "Scaramonche" will undoubtedly be called a "super production" and yet it is entirely human. Rex Ingram's greatest.

—New York Tribune.

A picture that will make history, it surpasses all expectations and hopes in the tremendous splendor of its production.

—The Sunday Star.

See this picture. A great picture, greatly acted. In "Scaramonche," which stirred a first night film audience to unvoiced vigorous hand-clapping. A splendid visualization.

Miss Eva Roddick Tells How Cuticura Healed Eczema

"My trouble began with an itching and burning of the skin, and then eczema broke out on my hands in a rash. It got so itching on my nerves that I scratched it, which caused watery, sore eruptions. It was very painful to get my hands in water, and hard for me to do my work. I also lost my rest at night because of the irritation."

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me, and after using almost two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Eva Roddick, Fall Lake, Nova Scotia.

Daily use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Tablets helps to prevent skin troubles.

The False Spider

A 200 FRAUD WITH A HUGE APPETITE.

Here is the menu devoured by the new "False Spider," which has just settled down in the Insect House at the London Zoo:

1st day: Three crickets.
 2nd day: Three grasshoppers.
 3rd day: Three cockroaches.
 4th day: Three blowflies.
 5th day: A half-inch cube of meat.

In the midst of a pallid hedge of long and hairy legs you see a surprising body. Instead of a "biob" there is a long, flat, jointed arrangement which suggests a giant wasp that has had an argument with a steam-roller. All the rest is very spider-like, but the thing is really a link between the spiders and the scorpions. It comes from Burma, but is also found in the Near East. Camel-men dread it because it lurks in the hair of the camels and can give a most painful bite.

While on the topic of bites it may be mentioned that the keeper of the Insect House has rather lost his respect for the fangs of the real poisonous "bird-eating spider." He knew that even the reddish bristles on the creature were poisonous as nettles, but he has handled them so often that he has become immune to this particular trouble. Now he has just been properly bitten by an enraged female. It hurt as much as an ordinary cut, and for the next 24 hours two joints of his finger seemed to be partly paralysed. Then the effects wore off.

Madrid Poor

EMPLOY BURE TO GET FASHIONABLE ROOMS.

MADRID, Aug. 27 (A.P.)—Six laboring families have found a way to overcome the lack of housing accommodations for poor people in Madrid. They formed themselves into a co-operative society, which sent a representative dressed in his Sunday clothes to rent a flat on the Gran Via, the central street of Madrid, priced at 500 pesetas monthly. The house owner was glad to find a tenant and at once drafted the contract, which both parties signed.

The next day, to the horror of the other tenants who are chiefly professional men, six hand trucks loaded with dilapidated furniture drew up to the apartment. They were accompanied by a crowd of men, women and children, who shocked the door attendant by proclaiming themselves the new tenants.

The landlord endeavored to obtain an ejectment order, but the judge sustained the rights of the laboring families to their new home.

Steel Works Problem

Not Enough Apprentices For Sheffield Trades.

The problem of attracting sufficient apprentices to follow skilled operations in the staple trades is challenging increased attention.

Normally the iron, steel, cutlery, silver, and electric-plate industries of this district furnish employment for about 80,000 operatives, and in the successful prosecution of those industries in the future is unquestionably dependent upon Sheffield brains and Sheffield hands.

Experience has shown that the average schoolboy is surprisingly ignorant of the processes involved, and the opportunities presented. Educationists estimate that about 80 per cent. of students on leaving the elementary schools of the city have no definite ambition as to what trade or calling they would like to follow.

Closer co-operation between the education authorities and industrial organizers might go a long way towards solving the apprentice problem.

One interesting proposal is that works visits and inspections by parties of schoolboys under proper supervision should be made part of the school curriculum. First-hand acquaintance with the many forms of steel production would, it is felt, stir the imagination.

Even in these days of depression there is excellent money to be earned by capable craftsmen.

Whether the education authority is prepared to co-operate in this innovation remains to be seen.

If your outlook on life is pessimistic look to your shoes. Is your body well balanced on your feet?

Palm juice flavored with lemon juice and sweetened to taste makes a very delicious and pretty sherbet.

A little lemon juice gives a nice flavor to creamed mushrooms. Serve them on toast, or in timbale cases.

"Hunchback" Sets Appeal to Tourists

LAST SHOWING TO-NIGHT.

One of the most unusual requests ever received by a motion picture company is contained in a letter which reached officials of the Universal Pictures Corporation from the Academy of French Artists and Authors. The distinguished body expressed the hope that the massive settings used in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" be kept intact for at least six months to permit of a pilgrimage by members of the society and other students of the Victor Hugo and Louis XI period.

Photographs of the settings used in the production were sent to the International Congress of Motion Picture Arts in Paris some months ago and attracted great attention. In an address before the Congress M. Valentine Mandelstam said:

"While touring America I visited Universal City where Victor Hugo's masterpiece was in the final stages of filming. You would be astonished at the faithfulness with which the streets of Paris during the reign of Louis XI have been reproduced, but most of all by the remarkable reproduction of our beloved Cathedral of Notre Dame. I had the privilege of seeing some of the finished film, and I feel safe in predicting that it marks the beginning of a new era in the art of the cinema.

"I have been keenly desirous of bringing Hugo unspooled to the screen, because I have always loved him. I have always loved Paris, loved France, and, to me these were Hugo. He was their genius, he was their god. During the many years I lived in your wonderful city, I was, so to speak, a neighbor of Victor Hugo. He was dead, but his spirit lived. And his home was there—now a public museum—right around the corner. I have brooded there for hours; communed with him in secret; learned of his great aspirations and found consolation and inspiration in his silent companionship. He was always with me when I walked near Notre Dame."

Peace in Mining Circles for 12 Months

The signing of the new National Wages Agreement between the British coal miners and the coal owners, it is expected, will insure peace in the industry for the next twelve months, according to advice received by the Bankers Trust Company of New York through its English Information Service. The agreement imposes upon coal owners extra cost which in the present state of trade constitutes a serious handicap. Already mines have been closed with the result that several thousand workmen are idle. The general tendency seems to be for owners to cease operations in unremunerative workings. In one or two cases where collieries have been closed, the owners have stipulated that a condition of their reopening is double shift working. To this system the miners are strongly opposed. Therefore, the question may become a serious point at issue between employers and employees.

Quiet conditions prevail in the coal trade both in Great Britain and in Scotland. Shipments from Newcastle for the first five months aggregated 5,583,000 tons as compared with 8,789,000 tons in the corresponding period of 1923, a decrease of 24% but, as compared with 1913 when the output was 8,240,000 tons, an increase of 11%. Shipments to Germany decreased and also shipments to Scandinavia and the United States. On other hand, shipments to Holland, Italy, Spain, Canada and the Argentine, as well as Australia, somewhat increased. The bunkering trade, which is the supplying of ships with coal, showed a substantial improvement. In the first five months of 1923, 221 vessels were supplied with coal, having 76 registered tonnage of 345,584 tons. In 1924, 216 vessels were bunkered, having a tonnage of 508,324 tons. The total output for the first half of this year from the coal mines of Great Britain was 139,061,000 tons, comparing with 140,791,000 tons for the first half of 1923 and 119,754,000 for the first half of 1922.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

COMMISSION TO ENQUIRE INTO SCHOOL MATTERS.

Hon. L. A. Tachereau, Prime Minister of the Province of Quebec, has appointed a special commission, consisting of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish representatives, in equal numbers, to study school matters. The Catholic representatives are, Sir Leonard Gouin, M.P., former Premier of the Province; Alma Geoghegan, K.C., one of the leading lawyers of the Province with a wide knowledge of Constitutional Law, and Auguste Richard, a manufacturer. The Protestant members are, General Sir Arthur Currie, Principal of McGill University; E. V. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Chancellor of McGill University, and Walter Mitchell, former Provincial Treasurer.

For the Jewish community, the members are, Michael Hirsch, a prominent manufacturer; S. W. Cohen, an engineer, and Joseph Schubert, a member of the Montreal City Council. The purpose of the appointment of the commission is primarily to deal with educational matters on the Island of Montreal, which includes the City of Montreal, and suburbs cities, and account for an approximate third of the total population of the Province of Quebec. In this area have arisen problems of unusual character concerning the education of children of diverse religious beliefs, hence the necessity of a complete survey of the situation and the desire to obtain suggestions from men who are closely identified with the groups affected, and men who are also interested in education.

By law, in the Province of Quebec, taxes on property for school purposes are paid into panels, Catholic and Protestant, according to each panel's belief of the property owner. Commercial corporations pay into a third panel called the Neutral Panel and into this third panel also are paid the taxes of Jewish property owners. Catholic and Protestant Commissions having obtained the sums paid into their respective panels are entitled to share the monies paid into the neutral panel upon a proportional basis according to population, with this exception that the Protestant Board is entitled to withdraw as a first charge the total amount required for the education of the Jewish children under their care. One of the suggestions offered was that a fourth panel, a Jewish panel, should be established, and this is one of the matters to be studied.

The most difficult matter for the Commission to settle will be that of the Verdun Protestant Schools which are financially embarrassed. No date has been set for the first meeting of the new commission.

KIWANIANS BUILD TUBERCULAR HUT.

The members of the Kiwanis Club have constructed a beautiful tubercular Hut at the Children's Memorial Hospital. The building was commenced last spring and nearly every member of the club put his shoulder to the wheel and helped in some way to construct the edifice, which is perfectly equipped as an outdoor convalescent home for underprivileged children. Nothing is lacking in the Architectural construction or equipment of the hut which was opened here lately.

TO ADVERTISE THE PROVINCE.

The immense possibilities of the Province, of Quebec from a tourist standpoint of view, that tourists should visit Montreal all the year round, and that hotels should be built in important towns and villages were the principal points emphasized by D. R. Mulligan, general manager of the Windsor Hotel, addressing the Kiwanis Club on the hotel position in Quebec. "The hotel business is the only one that gets the money from outside and spends it locally," he said. The public, he thought, should be particularly interested in the hotel business and hotels built wherever possible. He pleaded that a bureau of information should be set up and everything possible done to attract tourists summer and winter. Montreal had huge possibilities. It was within easy access of 15,000,000 people, and yet they had no active propaganda to bring these people here. The Provincial Government voted $50,000 for the building of small hotels in the outlying important centres.

FIRE DID $35,000 DAMAGE.

The inmates of St. Jean de Dieu Asylum for the insane were aroused from their slumbers when a fire broke out in the barn near the hospital at 2:55 in the morning. The inmates, particularly interested in the hotel business and hotels built wherever possible. He pleaded that a bureau of information should be set up and everything possible done to attract tourists summer and winter. Montreal had huge possibilities. It was within easy access of 15,000,000 people, and yet they had no active propaganda to bring these people here. The Provincial Government voted $50,000 for the building of small hotels in the outlying important centres.

TWO MUCH SPEED ENDS IN DEATH

PECULIAR ACCIDENT ON SCENIC RIDE.

A very peculiar accident happened on the scenic railway at the King Edward Park, when a boy of ten years of age, residing at Point St. Charles, while riding with relatives and some friends, was choked to death by swallowing a cuff link which he had in his mouth. As the car took one of the steep drops the boy swallowed the link and choked. He was taken to the park office and given every attention, but when a doctor arrived the boy was dead.

The drunken auto driver is still found on our streets. Judge Enright sentenced a man to ten days in jail without the option of a fine for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The policeman testified that the accused was driving on St. Urban Street, zig-zagging, on that thoroughfare. He said the man had caused a previous accident and had nearly run down a young boy. The judge gave the man a scathing lecture on such conduct, and ordered him to jail. The Boston Transcript, under the caption of "Alcohol and Auto Drivers," says: "Every driver of a car knows that in any given set of circumstances everyone concerned remains cool and collected, the chances of an accident are comparatively slight. The pedestrian who starts to cross the street in front of an approaching car becomes confused, turns back, and then attempts to hurry across. Result, he is hit. Two cars approaching a corner near it at the same time. One driver wavers, slows up, then speeds up to get ahead of the other car. Result, a collision. In each of these hypothetical cases calm judgment is destroyed through a momentary befuddlement. How much more dangerous, then, is the driver whose judgment is for a continuous stretch befuddled by liquor?"

FIRST AND PARAMOUNT,
ABSOLUTE SECURITY TO POLICYHOLDERS

Next Year Calendar

"PERHAPS I'll take out a policy next year," you say.

Your life is just as uncertain during this year as it will be later. Don't leave your family's future in doubt for another day.

Twice recently we've seen instances of men who have died within a year of their having been solicited for life assurance.

In one case the man put the matter off—to-day his widow is almost penniless. The other man purchased a policy—paid only one premium—and his widow received three thousand dollars. Comment is unnecessary.

We've a booklet called "The Creation of an Estate" that we'd like to send you—if you're interest enough to write for it.

Keep Fit Beyond Seventy

MARY I. BARBER, Kelllogg Company, London, Ontario.

A journal published by one of the departments of health has taken its slogan "70". This is to the people that it is possible to live long life beyond the limit of three score years and ten. This publication shows that the five diseases of middle age after middle life, which exact the heaviest toll from mankind, are: heart disease, cancer, diabetes, lung disease, and tuberculosis. All slow of development; all are preventable; and all yield, in a greater or lesser degree, to treatment.

What is the treatment for tuberculosis?—rest, fresh air, and proper diet. For diabetes?—primarily a special diet. For Bright's disease?—special diet.

Diet is an important factor in the treatment of disease, is it not even more important in the prevention of disease? Can many ills of the flesh be avoided by an intelligent food program from birth to the age of 70?

Probably the best general rule for keeping fit is to avoid constipation. Eat more coarse foods, fruits, and vegetables. The easiest way to include fibre material in your meals is by judicious use of bran. This need not be a hardship. Indeed eating crumbed bran is a pleasure when it is mixed into appetizing cookies and tea.

The following recipes are suitable for afternoon teas or to serve with fruit or a frozen dessert.

MARGUERITES.
2 eggs, 1 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup nut meats, cut in small pieces, 1/2 cup crumbled bran.

HERMITS.
1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1/2 cup milk, 1 1/2 cups flour (or 1 cup), 1/2 cup crumbled bran, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon mace, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

PEARLINE FOR EASY WASHING.
The cakes are cool, they may be frosted with confitener's sugar, and chopped nuts or crumbed bran sprinkled over the top.

Large generator shaft of solid steel weighing 40,000 pounds and measuring 27 inches in diameter recently was cut through five times by torch in the remarkable speed of ten to 17 minutes for each cut.

Due to the intense heat encountered in such heavy cutting and the consequent punishment to the operator in attempting to manipulate a torch continuously for the length of time required to complete a cut, an ingenious device was rigged to carry the torch at the required uniform speed up and over the shaft as the cutting progressed.

The device consisted of a pipe supported over the horizontal shaft and supporting two 1 1/2-inch parallel steel rails spaced 12 inches apart horizontally across the shaft and three feet above it. The oxyhydrogen torch was fastened to a carriage travelling on these rails and propelled by hydraulic pressure from the oxygen line. Vertical clearance was obtained by another device, the speed of which was controlled by a water piston.

Eight cylinders of oxygen were connected with a manifold on the high pressure side and the oxygen was delivered to the torch through four reduced regulators. The gas consumption was 600 cubic feet of oxygen and 2000 cubic feet of acetylene an hour.

The shaft was cut for use as a shaft for making iron forgings.
