

THEY DISCOUNTANCE DANCING.

Members of the I.P.S. Society Oppose the Tripping at the Light Fantastic.

The Irish Protestant Benevolent Society avoke for an hour last night from their usual quiet, easy society life and showed all the signs of that energy that distinguished their fathers as the Irish county fairs of pious memory.

A discussion then arose as to the propriety of holding a social. Several of the members, Mr. Morphy among others, objected to the idea of being any dancing in connection with the proposed entertainment and signified their intention of having nothing to do with it if the society countenanced dancing.

Mr. Waring Kennedy addressed the meeting, taking for his subject, "Our Heritage." In this Mr. Kennedy showed himself an ardent lover of Canada. After dwelling on our numerous and large provinces with their dance and music, the speaker turned to the city of Toronto, which was incorporated as a city in 1834, with a population of 10,000, and which now numbered 300,000 souls.

As Canadians we were proud of our civil and religious liberties, and we would ever countenance anything that would tend to endanger these. Neither would we permit any divorce of the component parts of the British Empire. "Great applause." We possess people who are always speaking to the prejudice of our country, people who know not of our grand heritage we possess. Let these people know their country and they will change their tone.

In 1882 the deposits in all the banks in the country amounted to $37,000,000 and in 1888 to $175,000,000. In 1868 the letters and postal cards sent were 15,000,000, in 1888 61,000,000. A 1868 had 2222 miles of railway, in 1888 12,222 miles. And this improvement was still going on. Thus there was no room for discouragement. For his part the speaker believed every man should find his duty to speak well of his country. He paid a high tribute to the memory of Dr. Byerson, our Public and High school system, our universities and our banking system.

IN THE POLICE SWEEP.

A Foreign Funds Quilt-Winding Typewriter—Using an Over-check-List.

For the theft of an overcoat from K. W. Elliott, 100 Penbrooke-street, Henry Mead, a young Englishman, was yesterday sent to the Central for 15 months.

John Kearns pleaded guilty at the Police Court yesterday to using an over-check-List on his horse and was fined $2 and costs.

The Pardoe brothers, charged with swindling typewriters by means of an advertisement, appeared in the Police Court yesterday. They are aged 18 and 10 years. The smallest boy was at once discharged, the magistrate being satisfied that he was too small to have anything to do with the swindle. Thomas Pardoe was remanded. It is not believed that more than half a dozen persons answered the advertisement before the late was detected.

James W. Thorne pleaded guilty yesterday to having forged the names of ex-U. S. Consul Charles Pope, Dr. Shepard and Meyer Brox, to a number of cheques and cashed them with tradesmen, and was remanded for sentence.

John McGuire, 199 Parliament-street, was committed for trial yesterday on a charge of perjury in a case in which he was a certain party he had been.

For burglarizing Thomson & Robertson's tailoring establishment, Gerrard-street, George Grant was yesterday sent to jail for six months.

The Andrews case was yesterday adjourned until Monday.

SAVY BURGLARS FOILED. They Leave Behind a Steel Drill and Other Tokens of Their Vile.

A burglary was attempted at the office of R. H. Shaw's woodyard in Dundas-street Thursday night. The back window was found open. The burglars were evidently disturbed, as they left a steel drill on top of the door.

THE THEATRES.

"Wang" Coming to the Grand.

The much talked of "Wang," which has probably had the greatest popular success of any modern comic opera, is to be presented for the second time in this city next week.

The opera has for the past two seasons been one of the greatest money-makers that ever delighted a lucky manager. The company consists of 60 people and carries its own orchestra. It also has every foot of the gorgeous scenery needed for the production. The piece is exactly the happy medium between opera and extravaganza. It is the lovers of high grade frivolity demand. It is the embodiment of jollity with a weaving of beautiful and useful melody of far-away Siam, the land of the white elephant.

The Draw Comedy Company. Those who have seen Mrs. John Drew as Mrs. Matrop would sacrifice almost any amount of pleasure seeking rather than banish remembrance of her delightful impersonation of Sheridan's rare old girl. It is not going too far to say that playgoers are as ill-afford to miss her portrayal of Widow Green in Thomas Horner's comedy, "The Road to the Rich," which is presented by Mrs. Drew and her excellent company at the Grand Opera House next Monday evening.

At the Minerva. Minerva, the female Samson and champion lady heavy weight lifter of the world, will make her first appearance in Canada at the Minerva next week. Minerva holds The Police Gazette championship belt and has a standing challenge of $500 to any person that wishes to compete with her in heavy lifting. The principal feature of her performance will be her remarkable lift of 800 pounds dead weight. The other attraction will be the famous long-haired ladies. A splendid performance in the theatre will be carried out by the following artists: Miss Lettie Wray, queen of long-haired ladies. A sonnet of the negro before the war; Miss Maud Harris, singing and dancing; Berol and Belmont, in a delightful exhibition of mental photography and thought transmission; the original Kawakamis, Japanese warriors and athletes, and a Mr. Thomas Webster, singing comedian and dancer.

"Paul Karvan." It has been claimed for "Paul Karvan" that it is the best play that has yet been written by an American. The scenery which is to be used in its presentation at Jacobs & Sparrow's Opera House next Monday evening is all new and of the most elaborate character, and the casting is rich and historically correct. The management has secured a large force of supernumeraries to aid in the production and to assist in the many great scenes.

Next Week at the Academy. With this evening's performance the "Newly Mined" will close their week-long engagement at this house. Next week, commencing on Monday evening, "Gus Hill's Novelties" will appear. The newspapers of the neighborhood state that Manager Hill has a cunning hand in organizing a company, and that it surpasses all his previous efforts in the vaudeville line. Judging from the list of names enumerated in the programs he must have reached both England and France for novelties to his patron. Such a show, combined with the splendid scenery, should amply fill the Academy at each entertainment throughout the coming week.

A Great Combination. The Pavilion should be crowded on Thursday week here, what will undoubtedly be one of the very finest concerts ever given in Toronto, with the ever popular Toronto Vocal Society, the vocal quartet which has stamped into popular favor; the Toronto Orchestra of 48 members, and as a climax Miss Nora Church, violinist. It will be a great program. The subscribers' list is filling up. The plan will open next week for subscription.

Living With at the Pavilion. Last night saw the third and closing performance of Living With at the Pavilion. The audience was as large as ever, and the entertainment showed decided improvement as would show that among the cast there is plenty of talent of no second rate. The dances were performed with an easy grace that gave them a charm that was to a certain extent lacking on the first night. The management have good reason to compliment themselves on the decided success they have achieved in the citizens of Toronto own them a measure of thanks for a class of entertainment so much above the average amateur performance.

And Now for the Favorite. The Christmas number of The Montreal Star looked forward to with widespread expectancy. The Christmas Stars have become prime favorites, jumping into popularity from the word go. The fact is, the Christmas Stars are publications of transcendent merit and are held with delight all over the world. Those few art critics who have had the opportunity of getting a peep behind the scenes say this season's Christmas Star is the best yet. That is saying a good deal.

Help Yourself. Fight your own battles. Hoe your own row. Ask no favors of anyone, and you'll succeed a thousand times better than one who is always beseeching some one's influence and patronage. No one will ever help you as you can help yourself, because no one will be so heartily interested in your affairs. The first step will be such a long one, because but carving your own way up the mountain you make each one lead to another, and stand firm until you chop still another out. Men who have made fortunes are not those who have had $1000 given them to start with, but boys who have started fair with a well-earned dollar or two—Slow and Steady Wins the Race.

The double-pointed electric train shown at the World's Fair by which it is hoped to make 100 miles per hour, has recalled to a writer in Cassier's Magazine the rather unique solution worked out by some inventive genius several years ago, of the interesting problem of how to enable two railroads to cross each other on the same track without collision.

A Few Words With Mr. Dana.
As we expected, The New York Sun has lost no time in siding up the Wilson Tariff bill in the relation to Canada.

That has ever existed in the United States, or, perhaps on the Continent of America, was opened at Gallipoli, Ohio, on Thursday last.

Trade Topics.
One of Toronto's leading brokers yesterday made the statement that "money is becoming easier and banks are now offering large amounts at 6 per cent, on call, the second rate of course, is 6 1/2 per cent."

Mr. Dana still rests under the delusion that the best and only way to force Canada into joining the union is by putting up a high wall along the 49th parallel, with very small gates therein, and placed long distances apart.

There has been a decline in pork last week. Packers are inclined to hold off owing to proposed changes in the United States tariff and offerings are fair.

A French method of preserving grapes in something very close to the natural condition has been discovered at this season. Shots of the vine bearing, say two bunches of sound grapes each, are placed in bottles, not covered with water containing charcoal in solution.

The bottles are then hung along the edges of the vines, and the grapes are placed in good contact with the water. It is said that, if the water be renewed from time to time, grapes so treated will keep in good condition many hundreds of thousands of dollars, that is to say, in order to provide for its present obligations the order should have on hand more than that, or in other words it insured have not to that extent the security they should have to provide for payment of their contracts.

2. That instead of securing insurance at the lowest possible cost, contractors who insure with the Order are grossly insufficient to provide for the payment of the Order as they mature, and the insurance plans of the Order are therefore, as at present conducted, neither safe nor permanent.

3. That its rates are erroneously constructed and also that they are inequitable, especially to the young members, and that the making of an occasional extra assessment, as the chief apparently thinks sufficient, would make such contracts the large annually increasing liabilities of the order, under its endowment contracts.

The public are the members of the order, especially after the fact, and are obliged to the press of the city for having called attention to this important subject. What is here written, as well as any criticisms have seen in your columns, appears to me to have been conceived and written, as this letter is, solely in the public interest.

An Old Man's Medicine.

"What could be a prettier sight than a lot of children playing together?" said an old man recently as he peered through the iron bars of the fence at the second ward school children taking their morning recess.

"I am an old man now," he continued, "and we old men will get sad and feel blue often, but I have a regular medicine that cures me and makes me feel young again. I just come down here and watch the children." Just then a bell rang and the scholars promptly fell in line preparatory to entering the school building.

"That's not the way we used to do," mused the old man. "That bell when I went to school would have been a signal for a scramble for the door, and we would have piled into the old log school house, climbing one over the other. There were not so many restrictions put upon us in those days, yet I think they turned out just as good men. As the last scholar entered the building he turned and walked to his home, the medicine having had the desired effect."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

THE INDEPENDENT ORDER OF FORESTERS.

Editor World: The two-column letter of the Supreme Chief Ranger of the I.O.F. The World reveals entirely the only point with which the members of the Order and the public are concerned, viz: the entire inadequacy of the rates charged by the Order for the benefits promised in its certificate, now aggregating over $61,000,000.

To draw off attention from this point the Chief makes most reckless assertions, compares wholly unlike systems, omits material facts, and makes statements largely in personalities. Both Canada's leading financial journal and your correspondent "Actuary" have shown that such rates are least the one of which they should be, according to the standard fixed by the Dominion Government as being essential for safety.

Ability to meet endowment-insurance contracts such as this order issues is based on well-recognized and established mathematical principles, and all material departures from these principles have invariably ended in disaster. The most recent example of this is the failure of the "Equitable League of America," with a membership of 300,000, having on hand only $316,000 to meet maturing liabilities of several millions of dollars.

The chief has stated in the public press that "the question of the inadequacy of the rates of the order is a matter of mere detail." "Always receives most serious and respectful consideration." Has he named me, and asserts that I know, I have on such invitation looked into the matter, and I do not hesitate to state that, in my opinion, the rates of the Order are entirely insufficient, as well as erroneously constructed and most inequitable, especially to the younger members of the Order.

For example, the rate available at age 35 (the present average age of the members) to meet its maturing liabilities of $5 per cent, is $8.55 per $1000, which rate remains uniform during the currency of the contract, and is grossly insufficient to meet the endowment of $1000, which rate of the Order is less than the rate of the Dominion Government standard, and is less than the rate of the insurance companies for the same purpose.

The Chief thinks that the well-established principles regarding life and endowment insurance in the world can be disregarded by his order and that it is safe to trust to his order to hold in good standing the most important contracts, as well as to meet the needs of the insured, and to pay the benefits of the contracts as they mature.

There is no practicable, reliable way of doing this other than collecting and investing yearly the sums absolutely essential for this purpose. The Chief is never satisfied in an opportunity of proving his sincerity in always giving "serious and respectful consideration" to criticism of the rates of the Order. Clearly, this point is of vital importance to the I.O.F., and cannot be settled by long, rambling, irrelevant letters by him, nor by references to what other companies may do or have done. If he has faith in the assertions he makes it should be possible for him to get some competent authority, some competent authority. To aid in this commendable work I undertake to pay personally the whole cost of the report if (1) either the superintendent of insurance for the Dominion, (2) the inspector of insurance for Ontario, (3) Mr. E. J. Conroy, the leading authority in the United States on assessment and society insurance; (4) Mr. W. F. F. C. A., the chief objects to the above; (5) any other recognized competent authority that may be agreed upon, will not concern with me the substantial accuracy of the following:

1. That the insurance plans of the order, instead of being based on a solid financial basis as stated in its literature, are most unsound, and the insurance fund is already about nearly bankrupt to the extent of thousands of dollars, that is to say, in order to provide for its present obligations the order should have on hand more than that, or in other words it insured have not to that extent the security they should have to provide for payment of their contracts.

2. That instead of securing insurance at the lowest possible cost, contractors who insure with the Order are grossly insufficient to provide for the payment of the Order as they mature, and the insurance plans of the Order are therefore, as at present conducted, neither safe nor permanent.

3. That its rates are erroneously constructed and also that they are inequitable, especially to the young members, and that the making of an occasional extra assessment, as the chief apparently thinks sufficient, would make such contracts the large annually increasing liabilities of the order, under its endowment contracts.

LIGHT at OAK HALL.

You cannot have too much light—nor a light that is too good to properly examine the shade, pattern and texture of the cloth and in such cases you may have noticed that the "clothing department" is in a corner, where the light can't get at the garments very freely or every finger through the windows is most judiciously veiled with other goods or decorations.

Where in Toronto do you find clothing displayed in such full, bright light as at Oak Hall? The spotless walls and lofty ceilings are immaculate in their whiteness. Daylight streams into the great store in unimpeded volume through the immense expanse of plate glass, both in the front and the rear of the building, and there's a wide well directly below a great central skylight, through which a constant flood of daylight pours down from overhead.

Saturday Night.

When Oak Hall remains open until 10 o'clock, the immense store is bathed in a mighty glow of light which, in its overflow, illumines the entire front of the street. The grand light in daytime or at night, which is provided for the proper inspection of clothing, is one of the features which distinguish Oak Hall from any other house in the city.

You may happen to be in our vicinity to-night, and when your attention is attracted by the usual Saturday illumination if you will add to its impression the known square dealing methods of Oak Hall, the reliable character of Oak Hall clothing and the fact that Oak Hall one price is always the lowest you will have the simple but substantial reasons why Oak Hall does the largest and nicest trade in Men's and Boys' Clothing in Toronto.

A PASTOR'S EXPERIENCE.

THE TROUBLES OF A CANADIAN GENTLEMAN.

Attached with a Disease Unknown to Physicians—He Had Almost Given Up Hope When the Hand of Relief Was Stretched Out to Him.

Rev. S. J. Cummings, the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Delaware, New York, has had an experience that makes him one of the most talked of men in Cattaraugus County. To a reporter of The Buffalo News, who called upon him, Mr. Cummings made the following statement, which he put in the form of an affidavit:

"I can now testify so well that I am entering on a series of special meetings, and am returning to work with all my old-time vigor. I was prostrated in June last and was treated by three physicians, one near this place and two in the city of Buffalo. They would have me to believe that I was incurable. They all were of the opinion that I would have to resign my pastorate and quit preaching. Nevertheless I now feel entirely recovered.

"I cannot give you the name of my disorder. It baffled the physicians, and they could not agree as to the nature of the trouble. After the slightest exposure, as in the damp of the morning, or after the dew fell in the evening, my limbs would swell and become discolored and my body would be racked with pain. These attacks would last three or four hours, but they would usually leave me helpless for at least a day after each acute pain had passed. At night I was unable to sleep. The strain upon my nervous system was tremendous. I could not go to work as usual, and I was unable to take exercise. I could do scarcely any work in my study, frequently could not read to my people. Sometimes for a week the muscles of my arms would be so affected that I could not write a letter, or pen a discourse.

"On the recommendation of the physicians who examined me, my church granted me a vacation for a month, and I went to my old home at Oakwood, Ont., north of Toronto.

"On the 19th day of September, 1893, I was visited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had heard of them, but had not had faith in them. But he had heard of their efficacy, and insisted on my giving them a trial. He brought me two boxes and I commenced taking so rapidly that I returned to my home and family at this place. Some of my friends insisted that the benefit was only temporary, that I would soon have a relapse and be worse than before, but I have continued to take them and now feel like a new man. The sudden attacks of pain which formerly prostrated me on my bed do not recur, and I have exposed myself many times in a way that would have formerly brought them on.

"In my family I have found them very beneficial. My wife has been more benefited than any other person. She has ever taken them, and she has spent hundreds of dollars in remedies and patent medicines, but all to no avail until I tried Pink Pills.

"S. J. CUMMINGS."

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 19th day of September, 1893.

JOHN HUNT, Notary Public.

Druggists everywhere bear witness to the fact that this wonderful Canadian medicine has taken upon the public, and to the vast good it has accomplished in relieving suffering, and thousands of grateful people like Rev. Mr. Cummings, cheerfully testify to the benefits derived from its use. Often after skilled physicians had absolutely failed to help them. If you are afflicted with such ailments, and give this medicine a fair trial, an analysis of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills shows that they contain a combination of the most powerful and easy to give life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are a specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, neuritis, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of grippe, palpitation of the heart, that peculiar feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all diseases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppurations, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and check it. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. There are no ill-effects following the use of this wonderful medicine, and it can be given to children with perfect safety.

These Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockton, Mass., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark. A prescription, at the rate of five or six boxes for $2.50, and are never sold in bulk. There are numerous imitations of which the public are cautioned. If your dealer does not keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills they will be sent post paid on receipt of above price.

Earth Worms.

The worms know well that rapid heating of the soil which betokens the approach of a mole to their innocent burrows, and the moment they feel it rush wildly to the surface, prepared rather to face the worst that lurk or blanch may bring upon them than to await the onslaught of their most-ruthless and bloodthirsty enemy. If you dig a pointed stick into the ground and if you shake the earth a little by moving it from side to side you will find dozens of worms hurrying up to the surface at once, under the mistaken impression that the petty earthquake is some mole's doing. For the senses of earth worms are extremely keen, and their perception of danger most acute and vivid.

A person unaccustomed to the ways of worms might wonder that amongst them could be found in the comparatively small tract of land which each mole tunnels or occupies as his own to satisfy the needs of so voracious a creature. But, as a matter of fact, the worm population of England is something inordinately high, to be numbered, no doubt, by millions of millions. Every field on our downs is far more thickly populated underground than London is on the surface; every meadow is as dense with teeming thousands of worms as Lancashire is with men, and yet every field supports a whole village of them.

Vinegar kills worms, and where a barrel of vinegar has been accidentally spilled upon the ground the surface is sometimes positively covered before long by a thick layer of giggling creatures which have come up to die, as is the wont of their species. This abundance and ubiquity of the game explains the numbers and frequency of the hunters. Every mole eats daily many pounds of worms, and yet every field supports a whole village of them.

It is the entire drama of nature on a small scale—underground—wormholes, exist, and exist in thousands, because there are myriads and myriads of most leaves for down to live upon. In most every dead leaf that falls from tree or shrub or weed or herb, except in autumn—when the supply all at once increases—it outruns the demand—they creep underground and bury or devour with ceaseless industry. In doing so they create and keep up the layer of vegetable mold on the surface of the earth which alone makes plant life, and especially cultivation, possible.

Cultivated areas are, therefore, those where worms are most abundant. So far as they themselves are concerned, however, the worms eat only for their own appetites' sake, and never suspect that they are the friends of lonely man, whose fields and crops they thus unconsciously fertilize.—The Cornhill Magazine.

NEWSY, BUDGET FOR PRACTICAL MINDED PEOPLE.

Montana's "Electric City"—How the Subtle Fluid Has Supplanted Steam as Great Falls—Big Guns Now Made at Rawlids.

Great Falls, Montana, appears fairly entitled to the distinction of being called the Electric City. At Black Eagle Falls, three miles above the town, an immense dam has been thrown across the Missouri, and hydraulic works and power-houses erected. Not only are the street cars propelled and lighted by electricity from the power-houses, but they are heated as well by electric radiators placed in each car. Elevators, printing presses, cranes and all kinds of machinery are operated by the ubiquitous force. There are automatic excavators, electric pumps and electric road crushers. A not uncommon sight on the streets is a mortar mixer attached to an electric wire leading down from a power-house. The restaurants cook by electricity, the butcher employs it to chop his sausages and hamburger, and so likewise does the tailor to heat his goose. The subtle fluid is a welcome benefactor to every home; the housewives run their sewing machines and heat their flatirons by electricity; they bake their cakes in wooden electric cake ovens that can be set away on a shelf like pastebread boxes. They have electric boilers and broilers and kettles. What a singular anomaly when one pauses to think of it; that of broiling steaks and heating flatirons through the instrumentality of a waterfall!—Engineering Magazine.

GUN MADE OF RAWHIDE.

Its Chief Advantage is That it is Light and Easily Handled.

A gun of rawhide is the invention of Frederick La Tulip, Sr., of Syracuse, N. Y. In general appearance it resembles an ordinary cannon and measures five feet six inches in length, six inches in diameter at the mouth and nine inches at the base. It consists of a central tube or bore of forged steel two and one-half inches in diameter. Around this tube are wound cemented coils of rawhide prepared by a process original with the inventor, and which is found by actual test to possess the strength of steel with a degree of resistance not inferior in this material. An outer layer of steel wire completes the gun. The advantages of this gun are its light weight, its ready handling, and its not becoming heated by rapid or continuous firing.

BREAD DOUGH CHARGED WITH GAS.

It is Said to be Superior to Yeast, and a Germ Killer.

A number of methods have been proposed, says the Paris edition of The New York Herald, for the purpose of reproducing by chemical means the same action that yeast has on bread dough. All of these propositions are based on the fact that an unstable chemical substance containing carbonic acid gas can be made to decompose, by being mixed with the dough, setting free carbonic acid gas, and often another volatile substance that has the same action as itself, as in the case with the sesquicarbonate of ammonia. Another method is to add to the dough a salt from which the carbonic acid gas can be set free, by the addition of an acid. In some instances, bicarbonate of soda and tartaric acid, or bicarbonate of soda, chloride of potassium and acid phosphate of lime, or also bicarbonate of soda and tartaric acid. These, however, come under the head of adulterations, on account of the chemical substances that remain in the bread after the above-named reactions have taken place.

M. Wilson has recently proposed that the mixture of flour, water and salt should be made in a closed apparatus and that carbonic acid gas be obtained from the siphons that can now be procured in trade should then be introduced. A pressure of six kilograms per square centimetre should be maintained for an hour, and the dough stirred continuously, at the end of which time it can be made into loaves and put in the oven at once.

It is claimed that bread made in this way is excellent, especially if it is not added the aromatic principles of ordinary bread, which can, it seems, be readily done. In any case, it is a very rapid process, and one that will probably furnish bread almost free from microbes, as the carbonic acid gas destroys the greater number of them in the water and flour, which, on the other hand, are not contaminated by any yeast. This is an important matter, from a hygienic point of view.

Prevention of Diphtheria. A physician in a paper on diphtheria urges upon parents the importance of teaching children to gargle at an early age, and mentions the fact that during an epidemic of the disease in his city he taught his baby girl, only a little more than two years old, to gargle as well as her nine-year-old brother, and kept up the practice regularly three times a day throughout the prevalence of the disease. This is one of the small points in keeping with the tendency of the age, which is toward preparation and prevention rather than relief. None, perhaps, except physicians and nurses realize the obstacles which obstruct and hinder mother who stands by with her despairing "won't take it, and I can't make it," adds to the hopelessness of the situation. A child who is old enough to understand what is said to him is not too young to learn that he must do his share in the fight for recovery when sickness assails him. The same paper states that it is a noticeable fact that a much larger number of girls have diphtheria than boys, ascribing as a probable cause that girls, as a rule, spend more time in doors than boys, which should be another note of warning to mothers and cause them to turn the girls out of doors after school hours than is done.

The Benefit of Good Stock. One of the principal advantages in having good stock is that with a little extra feed and care a much better gain can be secured and they can readily be made ready for market in a few days than scrub; and at this season this will often be found quite an advantage. Whenever the hogs or cattle are fully ready for sale, there is no possible advantage in feeding a day after they are ready for market.

A Lot of Wallpaper. Sicking & Co. advertise their next trade sale for Tuesday, Dec. 5. They will only sell drygoods one day on account of the balance of the C. M. Taylor & Co. stock, together with the sale of the goods belonging to the Customs Department, on Wednesday and Thursday. About $12,000 worth of wallpaper will be put on the market by them next week. The sale will be by catalog, the lots being laid out to suit the trade. Everything belonging to this estate must positively be sold at this sale, including the warehouse and office fittings and furniture.

NO FISH, NO FINE.

Must Catch the Fish Before You Break the Law.

The Court of Common Pleas yesterday quashed the conviction of John Algie and James Calligan, who were fined by Magistrate White of Alton last August for fishing on private reserves. The evidence showed that although they cast their lines, they did not catch any fish, and the court holds that they were not guilty of illegal fishing within the meaning of the Act.

Author of Many Postal Reforms Dead.

The following obituary notice refers to Mr. Henry Mellersh, late of the General Postoffice, London, England, and father of Mr. Gowen Mellersh, Berkeley-square, York, taken from The Pacific Magazine, Stockwell, London, England: "We regret to have to announce the death of Mr. Henry Mellersh of 70 Hackford-road, Mr. Mellersh entered the postoffice in the year 1833 and in 1840 he took part in the carrying out of uniform postage. He was also, closely associated with many other postal reforms. In 1835 he was appointed postmaster to the British forces on the outbreak of war with Russia. He had a force of sorters under his command, and was with the troops in the Crimea during the whole of the protracted siege of Sebastopol. For his services he was awarded the English and the Turkish medals. After his return to the Crimea he resumed his connection with the inland branch of the Circulation Department, G.P.O., to which he rose to the chief. He retired from the service in 1886, having served his country for the space of 53 years. He enjoyed fairly good health during his well-earned rest until within a few months ago, when he began visibly to fail, and passed away on Oct. 15, of his 74th year of his age. He was one of the oldest inhabitants of the neighborhood, having resided in Hackford-road, London, for 43 years. We desire, in the name of the parish, to convey to the members of the family our sincere sympathy with them in the great loss they have so recently sustained.

Harry Webb's Patents.

By referring to our advertising columns it will be seen that the popular public and private parlors of Harry Webb, having been rearranged and decorated, are now in full blast for the coming festive season. The ladies of Toronto can now entertain a much larger number of guests at less expense and in a manner quite equal to their facilities at home, and at the same time, without the trouble of disarranging and rearranging their own homes. Those who have once used these rooms will go again. The prices are moderate, the surroundings are homelike and the attendance first-class. There is a beautiful ballroom that can be altered to suit any number up to 400 guests, a large and small dining room, smoking room, retiring room, cloak room, dressing rooms, etc., with incandescent electric lighting.

Sufferers from scrofulous troubles should remember that after all else fails, Burdock Blood Purifier cures. This has been proved in thousands of cases.

MYSTERIES OF THE HUMAN BRAIN

The latest discovery in the scientific world is that the nerve centres located in or near the base of the brain control all the organs of the body, and when these nerve centres are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid or nerve force are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centres will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force; that is, when a nerve centre is deranged or in any way diseased, it is impossible for it to supply the same quantity of nerve force as when in a healthy condition; hence the organs which depend upon it for nerve force suffer and are unable to properly perform their work, and as a result disease makes its appearance. At least two-thirds of all chronic diseases and ailments are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centres at the base of the brain, and not from a derangement primarily originating in the organs itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these ailments is that they treat the organs and not the cause of the trouble. The wonderful cures wrought by the Great South American Nerve Tonic are due alone to the fact that this remedy is based upon the foregoing principle. It cures by rebuilding and strengthening the nerve centres and thereby increasing the supply of nerve force or nervous energy. This remedy has been found of infinite value for the cure of Nervousness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Paralysis, Sleeplessness, Forgetfulness, Mental Depression, Nervousness of Females, Hot Flashes, Sick Headache, Heart Disease. The first bottle will convince any one that a cure is certain. South American Nerve Tonic, without doubt, the greatest remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all Chronic Stomach Troubles, because it acts through the nerves. It gives relief in one or every instance. At least two-thirds of all chronic diseases and ailments are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centres at the base of the brain, and not from a derangement primarily originating in the organs itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these ailments is that they treat the organs and not the cause of the trouble.
