SEPTEMBER WEDDINGS

HALLIDAY-MILBURY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Milbury, of Litchfield, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, on Wednesday afternoon, September 10th, when their youngest daughter, Lydia May, was united in marriage to Morland Joseph Halliday, only son of Deacon and Mrs P Halliday, of Hillsburn. Rev. I. Brindley, of Lower Granville, performed the ceremony. The bride looked charming, gowned in ivory silk and satin trimmings with customary bridal veil and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white dahlias and sweet peas and was attended by Miss Wealthy Hutchinson who presented a fine appearance gowned in pearl grey silk, and carrying sweet peas. Miss Nina Longmire niece of the bride, acted as flower girl wearing a white Hamburg dress with blue trimmings, and carrying blue dahlias. The groom was attended by Fred Kay. The bridal party entered the room to the strains of a march played on an Edison amberola. After the ceremony about 50 invited guests sat down to a bountiful supper. The bride received many useful and handsome presents and a large sum of money. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Burnie, of New York, and Miss McNeil, of Victoria Beach. The bride and groom will reside in Hillsburn, taking with them congratulations and best wishes from Litchfield, where the bride was very popular.

WHEELOCK-BANKS

On Wednesday, September 10th, a very interesting event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Banks, Meadow Vale, when their daughter, Hazel M. was united in marriage with Emerson Wheelock, of Torbrook.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. F. McWilliam, pastor, the wedding march being played by Mrs. Turner, of Middleton.

The marriage took place under an arch of golden glow and ferns the decorations of the home corresponding.

The bride was gowned in cream satin wearing the conventional bridal veil and orange blossoms and carrying a shower bouquet of sweet peas.

Little Marguerite Banks, cousin of the bride, acted as flower girl and little Margaret Douglas, of Annapolis Royal, as ring bearer.

The gifts were numerous and very beautiful suggesting principals much esteemed. The guests numbered about sixty.

After the serving of refreshments and a serenade the bridal party left by auto for the American House, Middleton, and a trip along the South Shore.

HARRIS-MULLEN

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Rev. I. A. Corbett, Paradise, Wednesday, September 17th, when Lina Maud Mullen and Frederick Charles Harris, both of Bear River, were united in holy bonds of wedlock, only relatives and intimate friends being present.

The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony for a short wedding trip through southern Nova Scotia.

DONDALDE-MAILING

A quiet wedding took place on Friday evening Sept. 12th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Apt, Bear River East, when her sister, Miss Lottie Mailing, of Bear River East, was united in marriage to Ervin R. Dondale, of Prince Dale, by Rev. O. P. Brown.

A Good Time Keeper

Bridgetown's biggest liar will have to admit that he has been defeated: "Seven years ago a farmer hung his hen on a fence in the barnyard. A calf chewed up a pocket of the garment in which was his watch. Last week the animal, a staid old milk cow, was butchered for beef, and the watch was found in such a position between the lungs of the cow that the respiration—the closing in and filling of the lungs—kept the stem winder wound up, and the watch had lost but four minutes in seven years!"

VICTORY LOAN

Nova Scotia Campaign Given Marked Impetus at Organization Meeting

A Halifax despatch says—There was no lack of enthusiasm and optimism on the part of the provincial executive and county organizers of the 1919 Victory Loan for Nova Scotia, when they met to consider "ways and means." All the counties were represented. Dr. C. S. Campbell presided, and reviewed the methods to be employed in the campaign which opens October 27. He noted the allotment for Nova Scotia as $17,145,000, and called for responses from the county chairmen and organizers as to the likelihood of the county allotments being raised. In every case the organizers stated that while conditions were not as satisfactory as in the case of the 1918 Victory Loan, they were prepared to go ahead and do their best to reach the objectives.

The chairman made a point of emphasizing the fact that there was more money in the province than at the time of the previous campaign, and that despite some changed conditions which might make it more difficult to reach the objective, such as the necessity of getting small investors to buy more bonds than they did last year, energy well directed would gain the end. All present pledged themselves to "extend themselves" in the coming campaign.

At the luncheon, D. Macgillivray, superintendent of the Bank of Commerce, and chairman of the Victory Loan Bankers' committee, explained the necessity of the loan, and emphasized the fact that there was more money in the country by $300,000,000 than there was at the time of the last Victory Loan. He had no doubt that the Nova Scotia objective could be reached if all would work with the same energy as in the case of the 1918 loan.

The county organizers will report back to the provincial committee on the 30th instant.

Following are the county allotments:

SOVEREIGN GRAND LODGE OF ODDFELLOWS

Celebration of Centennial of the Founding of the Order

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 17—Prominent members of the Independent Order of Oddfellows from every section of the country attended a banquet last night tendered to Harry V. Borst, the Grand Sire, and other officers of the Sovereign Grand Lodge in celebration of the centennial of the founding of the order in Baltimore.

For the eighteenth time of each succeeding annual session of the Sovereign Lodge the amendment to reduce the age limit for entrance into the order from 21 to 18 years was defeated, as was also an amendment to meet biennially instead of annually. There was a sharp contest over the age limit, the delegates from Canada and the far western states being arrayed against those from the eastern districts.

The big parade, the spectacular feature of the yearly meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge was held today, the attraction bringing additional thousands of persons to the city. Upwards of 40,000 members of the order were in line, including the Patriarchs Militant in their brilliant uniforms.

THE HOYT INDUSTRIES

The Nictaux Granite to be Used for Street Paving for Halifax

(From the Middleton Outlook)

The Outlook this week interviewed C. M. Hoyt, regarding his latest enterprise in which Nictaux granite is being utilized.

It might be mentioned that Mr. Hoyt ten years ago, showed his faith in the Nictaux granite, by opening a stone polishing works in Middleton, and making the Nictaux quarries his source of raw material. His business was a success from the start, and his present orders ensure the operation of the monument works to capacity for the remainder of the season.

Four years ago Mr. Hoyt with two others of our enterprising citizens, Messrs F. L. Shaffner and W. F. C. Parsons, started a cement industry under the firm name of The Middleton Cement Products Co.

Mr. Hoyt has just signed a contract with the MacKay-Bennett Co., who are erecting a large warehouse in Halifax, and with Frank A. Gillis, also of Halifax, for all the concrete blocks that he can make before the snow flies.

The latest of the Hoyt Industries is one for manufacturing street paving blocks from the Nictaux granite. In this enterprise, Mr. Parsons is a partner with Mr. Hoyt.

It was eight or nine years ago that the Nictaux granite was first used for street paving. At that time Mr. Kline, of Halifax, who owned a quarry at Nictaux, obtained an order for paving blocks for the city's streets.

The Nictaux granite has proved one of the most durable paving stones, yet used in Halifax, and it is also one of the best stone to shape into blocks.

For some time Messrs Hoyt and Parsons have been working up this enterprise, and this week they secured contract for 300,000 to 800,000 paving blocks to be used in Halifax within the next 18 months.

Sixteen men are already at work in a new quarry at Nictaux West, and it is expected that 15 to 20 skilled men, and more if they can be obtained, will be kept busy the next year, converting the inexhaustible stores of Nictaux granite into paving stone.

The first four cars of stone for Halifax are being loaded at the Coleman siding this week, and will be carried over the H. & S W Ry. Three cars a week will be shipped regularly.

The three Hoyt industries are employing some 30 men, and the pay roll is an important factor in the prosperity of this vicinity. It is citizens of the enterprise of Mr. Hoyt and his associates, that build up a town, and we hope that they may find their industries profitable to themselves as they are to the community.

TEETHING TROUBLES

Baby's teething time is a time of worry for most mothers. Baby's little gums become swollen and tender; his bowels get out of order and constipation, colic or even diarrhoea sets in. To make the teething period easy Baby's Own Tablets should be given the little one. They sweeten the stomach; regulate the bowels and keep good natured. Concerning them Mrs. Marcel C. LeBlanc, Memramcook, West, N. B., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past six years and have found them indispensable. To my mind nothing can equal them in allaying the fever accompanying teething. I would not be without them and can strongly recommend them to other mothers."

The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Good Advertising Medium

Mr. Farnham, the popular manager of the Canadian Wood Working Co., Yarmouth, called on us Monday to say that the MONITOR is alright as an advertising medium. He inserted a two inch adv and before the third insertion had appeared, sold six car loads of barrels and boxes in the Annapolis Valley. We have repeatedly asked our local manufacturers to advertise in the MONITOR.

TRAGIC ACCIDENT AT DIGBY

"Isn't It Funny That People Shoot Themselves This Way," Said Harry Keylman and the Next Moment He Was Dead

DIGBY N. S., Sept. 17—"Isn't it funny that people shoot themselves this way" were the last words of Harry Keylman, sixteen years old, son of Frank Keylman, formerly of Digby but now of Bridgetown, who accidentally shot himself in the kitchen of the Winchester Hotel last night. On Sunday he was visiting a friend and borrowed or bought a 22 calibre rifle, a little thing almost a toy. Boylike, he had been playing with it a lot during the week and last night was teasing with it the kitchen staff at the Winchester where he was employed. Tired of this at last he sat on the table and placed the muzzle in his mouth with the stock between his knees. He had just said the words quoted above when his trousers caught the trigger. A faint click was heard and he fell back dead, with the bullet in his brain. Besides his father he leaves two half brothers, Benton and Emden feet both of Mount Pleasant, Digby County.

An Old Home Week

The suggestion of an "Old Home Week" in connection with the World's Fair to be held in Nova Scotia in 1920, has caught on all through the province, and local committees are already at work in a great many places preparing for the event. To make the occasion the success that it must become, if it is gone ahead with at all, every portion of the province and every class of citizen must cooperate.

PAINFUL RHEUMATISM

May be Driven Out of the System by Enriching the Blood.

In the days of our fathers and grandfather rheumatism was thought to be the unavoidable penalty of middle life and old age. Almost every elderly person had rheumatism, as well as many young people. Medical science did not understand the trouble—did not know it was rooted in the blood. It was thought that rheumatism was the mere effect of exposure to cold and damp, and it was treated with liniments and hot applications, which sometimes gave temporary relief, but did not cure the trouble. In those days there were thousands of rheumatic cripples. Now, medical science understands that rheumatism is a disease of the blood, and that with good, rich, red blood any man or woman of any age can defy rheumatism, can be cured by killing the poison in the blood which causes it. There are many elderly people who have never felt a twinge of rheumatism, and many who have conquered it by simply keeping their blood rich and pure. The blood making, blood enriching qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is becoming every year more widely known, and it is the more general use of these pills that has robbed rheumatism of its terrors. At the first sign of poor blood, which is shown by loss of appetite, palpitations, dull skin and dim eyes protect yourself against the further ravage of disease by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have cured thousands of people—if you give them a fair trial they will not disappoint you. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

W. F. O'Connor, vice chairman of the Board of Commerce, announced on Tuesday that the board would permit no increase in the milk, and said that any farmer, dairy company or vendor, who advanced the price of milk will now be liable to a fine of $2,000 daily and two years imprisonment.

DEEP BROOK

Miss Irma Jones, with party of class mates (recent graduates of the Pawtucket Memorial Hospital, R. I.) who have been guests of Mrs. Howard Adams, for the month of August, left here on Friday of last week to take up their chosen work again in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Valuable impressions left upon the minds of many people in our little village by these young women demonstrating in a practical way how persons can enjoy a vacation at the same time making themselves useful in church and community work. A very successful ice cream sale, also a pie sale were held under their direction, the proceeds from the two evenings amounting to $115.00 towards our Memorial Window fund. The attendance and interest of these young ladies at the Baptist Sunday School picnic, added much to making the day a success. The workers connected with the Baptist church, appreciate the help so cheerfully given at this time.

LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

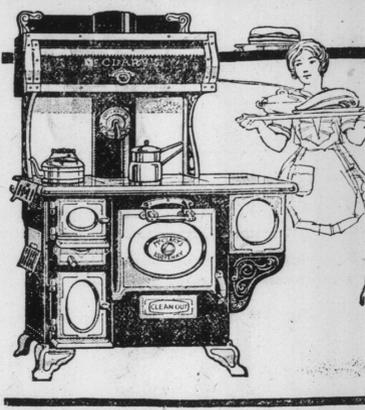

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.
 When Freezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

Taken from Observation Car in Canadian Pacific Rockies

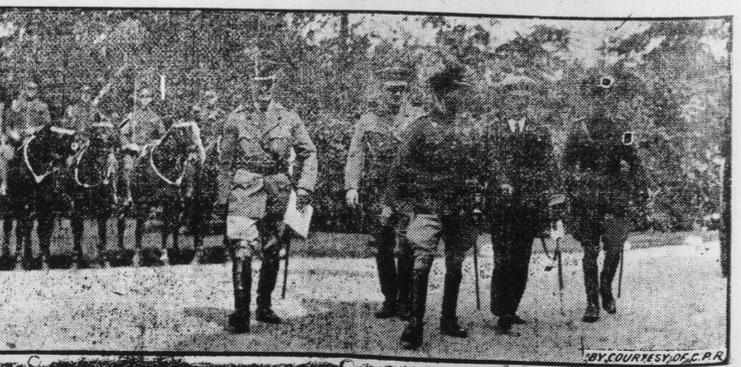

Now that the era of reconstruction is here, the business man, who has been taxed to the limit, bought bonds to his capacity and given until it hurts is to be considered again. He is to be permitted to get from place to place quickly, his freight is to be handled promptly and he is to be given every assistance to revitalize the business of America. The railways are the veins and arteries upon which a healthy business body must depend, therefore normally much of the help must come from them. The Canadian Pacific, a privately owned road is the first of the railroads to help the business man.

Canada—the new transcontinental express of the C. P. R.—pulled out of the Windsor St. Station in Montreal filled to capacity on its three thousand mile run to Vancouver. This is the fastest transcontinental train in the world, making the trip from Montreal to Vancouver in less than four days, to be exact, 92 hours and 30 minutes, and from Vancouver to Montreal in 92 hours 15 minutes, the run being made without change of cars. A whole business day is thus saved for the Business-Man-in-a-Hurry. An interesting point in connection with this train is the fact that more than half of the passengers are generally registered from New York, Philadelphia, Boston and other American cities, a considerable number being booked for Banff, Lake Louise and points west. One thinks of a transcontinental train as a single unit, but in reality it is made up of a number of complete units. A daily service, the trip being four days, requires four trains running each way simultaneously. The equipment of the new de luxe train has an estimated value of $6,000,000, using for the daily run eastbound and westbound, 59 sleeping cars, 5 compartment cars, 15 diners and 24 locomotives.

On June 1st, the first "Trans-

IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—“For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial.”

Reflections On Banff

Cascade Mountain Watches Over Banff and the Bow River.

Sweltering in a temperature in the vicinity of 90 degrees in a big city one thinks of Banff and the delightful coolness of the Rocky Mountains. How long for a glimpse of the snow, the scent of the pines, and to take a plunge in the Sulphur Water.

Talking of Banff, this little town has well been named "Banff the Beautiful"; it is the "Spa of Canada" and thousands of tourists are attracted there annually.

The Banff Hot Springs are famous for their health-giving qualities, especially for curing rheumatism. These sulphur springs were known to the Red Men long ago, and were accidentally discovered by some engineers when surveying for the C. P. R. A huge swimming tank here has a depth of water from 3 to 8 feet. People of all ages sport themselves in the water, which is quite warm so that bathing is not attended with fits of shivering. This tank is open to the air, and a large stone gallery runs along one side so that spectators can sit and watch the merry throng in the water.

The beauties of Banff, are to be found on all sides. There are mountains to right of us, mountains to left of us, mountains behind, and in front of us. The Alpine Club has headquarters here, and daily one meets parties armed with Alpinestocks, and provided with cameras, on their way to enjoy mountain climbing.

One cannot write of Banff without mentioning the Bow River, that river of the beautiful pale green colour, reminding one of opals and their ever changing fires. It is enchanting to stand on Banff Bridge early in the morning when the sun rises and to look on the water, see the pretty boat houses reflected in its depths, with the snow capped Massive Range in the background. Mt. Vermillion is on the right.

One need never feel dull or suffer from ennui in Banff, there is so much to see and to do. There is the Main St. with its stores displaying beautiful furs, Indian beadwork, picture postcards, etc. the Zoo with its fine collection of Canadian animals, and the museum where the flora and fauna of the Dominion are displayed for the benefit of students of botany and other kindred sciences.

The photographer has a wide field for his particular hobby, every turn of the road, and bend of the river offering new beauties.

Banff is well supplied with comfortable hotels, most of them being in the Main St. there is also the palatial C. P. R. Hotel situated on an eminence on the lower slopes of Sulphur Mountain. The tourist can wander into the courtyard of this hotel at any time, take a chair on the terrace and enjoy the scenery to his heart's content. The scene cannot be eclipsed for grandeur. In the foreground Cascade Mountain stands on guard, Mt. Rundle is on the right, Sulphur Mountain rises behind, on the left are Mt. Vermillion and the Massive Range, while down below the Bow River rushes and tumbles in the rapids, finally taking a leap over the Falls, to be joined by the waters of the Spray River further down the valley. This view cannot be surpassed in the world. No King's Palace has a finer situation or a more extensive outlook than that of the C. P. R. Hotel at Banff. Visitors are invariably loud in their praises of its beauty and leave this scene with reluctance and lingering regret.

Thousands have vivid memories of evenings spent in this delightful resort. The sunset in the golden west throws exquisite rose and violet tints on the snow capped peaks. In the short twilight all nature is still, and later on the Northern Lights blaze out in all their glory, all nature lovers should see Banff. Its beauties are never to be forgotten.

Baby Bear is Afraid of People

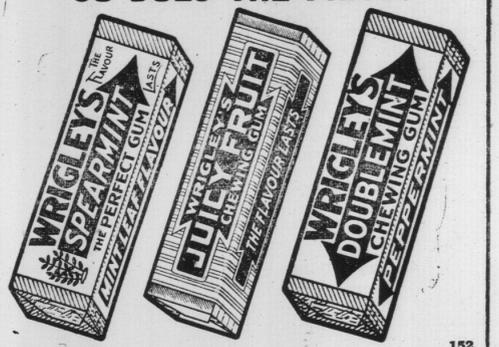

The smooth, hard, dustless road wound about through the sylvan depths of giant ferns and mighty timbers in a district round Spirit Lake, Vancouver Island. Far away a smoke smudge on the blue above the heaving ocean showed where a Canadian Pacific passenger liner was ploughing the heaving Pacific, bound for the Orient. On the right Spirit Lake gleamed in the bright sun. There was a gentle rustling in the darkness of the undergrowth, the ferns swayed gently. Then there came a sound of scratching and clawing, and finally the head of a three-months' cub rose alongside a great Douglas fir bole. As he cleared the ferns he paused and glanced eagerly about. He sought sight of his mother, who was so wrapped up in some luscious salmon berries that she had forgotten him. Higher and higher he climbed, widening his scope of view. Then came a terrible sound that paralyzed him where he clung to the rugged bark. It was the raucous challenge of a motor horn. Hugging the tree tightly he hoped to be overlooked. On the smooth road a few yards away there rolled into sight a terrible engine carrying ladies and gentlemen. He held his breath and hoped more strongly. But sharp eyes were peering every way from under the auto, canopy and a scream of pleased excitement showed that feminine eyes had spied him. He hunched himself closer and bent his head on his shoulder to watch the awful creatures in the big iron animal that always had such a bad breath. A man crouched through the ferns and pointed a black box at him. The cub darted high in the branches of the towering fir tree. The bad-breathing iron animal then grunted several times and crawled swiftly away and down from the dizzy heights the baby bear hastened his painful backward climb. Arriving at the base he found an anxious mother who had remembered her forgotten maternal

ASBESTONE 40 Year Roofing

No Rags or Tar in this roofing. Pure Asbestos and Asphalt, cannot rot or dry out. Costs but little more than the ordinary kind. It is far more durable, as well as fire resisting, and just as easy to put on. Any other roofing would be totally destroyed by fire. Not so with Asbestone. It is not what is on a roofing but what is in it that counts. Write for information and sample. If you can't get it through your dealer, we will send it to you direct. We want dealers to handle it.

A.: of Croix Cove, who wrote on four minor subjects English, French, Physics and Geology, at the University Graduates' Testing Examination, Halifax, N. S., was successful in passing on them all. At present Mr. Hall is teaching in Acadia Collegiate and Business Academy. When college opens he will also continue his studies along the lines of a M. A. degree.
 Prof. E. P. Morris and son Humphrey, of New Haven, Conn., arrived here last Wednesday to call on the Editor. Prof. Morris is a very enthusiastic yacht man and has contracted with Mr. Evan E. Dunn, Digby's well known boat builder, for a 40 foot sailing yacht to be built during 1920 and we can assure the genial professor that he is sure of a good job. He and Mrs. Morris will probably spend next summer at the Wightman House, one of Digby's popular summer hotels.

Sales Reflect Service Rendered by Automobiles

"The greatest profits result from the best service, in automobiles as in everything else," says the Colonial Motor Co., of Bridgetown.
 "The progress of sales of any make of automobile, therefore, is a reliable indication of the satisfaction that car gives in general service.
 "The extent to which the public buys a car is the measure of its appreciation of 'service rendered'.
 "No car can maintain any great sale which does not give satisfactory service in competition with other makes. Its sales cannot increase unless its service gives exceptional satisfaction. So the 'best sellers' among automobiles are those which serve best.
 "The clearest illustration of this lies in the great and ever increasing popularity of light and medium weight cars. The manner in which they are serving is obvious.
 "Everyone wants the most he can get for the least money. He wants that 'most' to include the features he particularly requires. The automobile that most nearly satisfies these wants is the automobile he buys—and buys again.
 "The light, well made, well equipped, economical car of today most fully meets the requirements the great majority of motorists hold in common, and, when compared with heavier, more expensive cars, it always affords its owner the satisfaction of a balance of commendable features in his favor.
 "Its appearance is equally smart and up to date. Its equipment is equally complete. Equal riding comfort is obtained by perfect balance rather than by weight. But in addition the lighter car costs less to buy, is more convenient to operate, and is far less expensive to maintain because of its economy of fuel and tires."

OVERSHOES, SIZE EIGHT

We had been listening to an intensely forceful and practical sermon from our vicar. By we I mean the Misses Molly, Norah, and Nellie Norton—my two grown up sisters and myself—who along with the twins, Harry and George, Kitty the baby, aged eleven, and papa, fill to overflowing the Norton family pew every Sunday.

Papa is a great stickler for constant attendance at church; therefore our regular appearance there.

My poor brother Charlie is a cripple and paralysed, or he would have to attend regularly as well. Mother mostly stays at home to keep him company; but as it is our custom to repeat the text, and as much of the sermon as we can remember, which is considerable—as each fills in what the other has left out—she always says she has not missed much by her self-sacrifice.

This particular Sunday evening—being the Sunday before Christmas—our vicar's very reasonable theme was "True Charity." I imagined he fixed his piercing eyes especially on me, as he denounced in stern tones the selfish tendency of the age.

"When he thundered out "Am I my brother's keeper?" I fairly quailed in my pew, and stealing a glance at all my folks, I could see they were similarly impressed.

Then he went on to condemn the man who advertises his charities—"Let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth," quoted he; and he wound up with a description of the reward coming to him who doeth good secretly.

After the service we went through the wintry streets much more subdued than usual, but we had an extra long talk to Charlie and mother when we reached home. I know I resolve to do, as our vicar desired us, in the future, not to strain towards great deeds, but just to do the work nearest at hand; for, he said, opportunities for charity come into every life.

On Monday morning, as we were sitting down to breakfast, I happened to glance out of the window, just as poor old Margit McIntyre—the Simpsons' charwoman—was crossing the road almost opposite. The snow had partly melted during the night and then frozen on the top, making it quite dangerous to go out, especially for old people. I pitied Margit when I saw how she seemed to slip at every step, and I fairly jumped from my seat when she fell heavily on the pavement.

"What is the matter, Nellie?" said papa, as I bounded towards the door, but Harry was outside helping poor Margit up before I could speak. When mother saw what had happened she called to Harry to bring Margit inside which with my assistance he did. We looked to her bruises, and gave her a good breakfast. I think we all had the sermon in our minds as we did so. We gazed with compassion upon her thin clothing, so lamentably insufficient for such inclement weather. Her boots especially were in wretched condition. No wonder the poor thing fell, I thought, as I noticed the gaping soles.

"Shure an' the Lord will reward ye for your kindness to a poor old crathur," she said.

"Are you very old, Margit?" inquired Norah gently.

"If I live till January the third I shall be sixty nine. Yes January the third is my birthday, but sorra a birthday I shall git."

"Why don't you buy yourself a pair of overshoes?" said George in a reproving tone.

"Hear ty him now, the bonny boy?" commented Margit admiringly. "Overshoes are beyond me entirely shure I've nobody to look to, and my rint to pay, and I can't earn enough to keep body and soul together. Ay, these are hard times."

"But," persevered George, "overshoes are so cheap now. You can get good ones at Freeman's for two-and-six the pair. I don't know about your size though," he continued doubtfully, as he gazed at her very liberal-sized boots.

"What size do you take?"

"Sivens, I hev a very tidy boot."

"That would mean eights in overshoes," said mother meditatively.

Margit gave a short laugh, half temptuous and half tolerant. "I can't raise two-and-six," she said. Five shillings a week and scraps is all heve to depend on. But I must be gettin' on; Mistress Simpson will think her washin' will never be done. Thank ye all kindly."

A TWO-FOLD DUTY

Many thoughtful mothers first give their children regularly—and then take it themselves. It is a tonic-food that contains elements as needful to an adult as to a child. Build up your strength—try Scott's.

Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont. 19-4

And with many a curtsy she went. Papa sighed, then glanced at his own somewhat shabby overcoat and larned gloves as he put them on, and said:

"I would buy that poor creature a pair of overshoes for a Christmas present if I could afford; but with our big family, and expenses, I can't even spare that bit. It is hard to see people in want, and to be unable to relieve them."

Then he hurried away to catch his usual train for the city. Norah and Molly went to their business as typist and cash clerk respectively, the boys and Kitty to school, leaving me to help mother with household duties.

A vision of Margit's poor worn out boots appeared and mingled with my sweeping, dusting, and preparing dinner, all the morning. After dinner I started planning how to spare the needful half crown from my own scanty pocket money. I resolved at last to do without a certain chateleine bag which I very much coveted, and which I had decided to buy. I thought I would slip out in the evening and buy the overshoes, then get up a little earlier on Christmas morning, and run around to Margit's before the rest of the family came downstairs. This little plan came into my head just as I passed our dining-room door, and I smiled as I heard Charley say to mother within, "I have that shilling Mr. Dent gave me, you know," and mother answers, "Yes, darlin'; is an easy matter to plan when one is determined."

As I listened, I thought how true her words were, and wondered what "Charlie was up to now. The dear boy had always some little mystery on his horizon, and we encouraged this, as it helped to make life more endurable for him.

Christmas morning came at last when I got up I was surprised to hear the boys already astir. This was most unusual. But I was more surprised when I ran bump into mother, who was returning from a walk, and still more surprised when I saw Molly hurrying along in front of me. In running to catch up to her I almost upset Norah, who was running in the opposite direction. She was holding Kitty's hand, and both were laughing over some seemingly huge joke.

"Where have you been?" I said.

"Never mind," said Norah cheerfully.

"We know, don't we, Kitty?"

"But why are you up so early and out together?"

"We did not start out together, we only met at our journey's end.

I did not see anything to laugh about in this, but Kitty evidently did, and I believe she would have told me the secret had not Norah forcibly dragged her away.

When I reached Margit's I did not wait for her to open the door, but just knocked and entered. To my great amazement she was standing gazing first at Molly, then at the table, upon which were arranged four pairs of neat overshoes, size eight. I understood Charley's conversation with mother now and also the mysterious behaviour of Norah, Kitty, and Molly.

I felt somewhat absurd as I unfolded my parcel, and laid down another pair of overshoes, just as neat and new as the rest. Margit seemed fairly bewildered. She did not seem to know whether to be insulted or to thank us for our Christmas presents.

Just as she was opening her mouth to speak, Harry and George rushed in with a bounce, then gazed in open-eyed astonishment at the table and its contents.

Harry whistled, and George said, "Hello! Have we got to another boot shop?"

At his words the dreadful truth dawned on me. With a gasp I pointed to their parcel, and whispered, "What have you there?" He did not answer, and we waited in suspense as Harry took the parcel from his unresisting hands, and slowly loosed down another pair of overshoes, size eight!

We all groaned, as Margit sat down and covered her face with her apron, whether to laugh or to cry we did not know.

As we were all starting at once to explain, a gentle knock came at the door. When I opened it I saw papa smiling on the step. I knew why he had come before he spoke. He stepped inside, but appeared so intent on his business that he did not look around at once. He seemed surprised to find four of his children there, but he quickly recovered himself, and said, "I had meant keeping this little affair secret, but I see I shall have to confess. The fact is, I decided to do without that commentary I have coveted so long, and to buy Margit a useful little Christmas present instead."

He took his parcel to the table to show. As he did so his glance rested upon the six pairs of overshoes already there. He gazed in bewilderment.

Former Mayor of Birmingham, Ala., Endorses Tanlac

"You Will Hardly Know Me When We Meet Again; For I Am Getting Well He Writes Friend"

One of the latest additions to the list of leaders of thought and action who have come forward with their unqualified endorsement of Tanlac is the name of Hon. Frank V. Evans, former Mayor of Birmingham, Ala., ex State Examiner of Public Accounts of Alabama, and at one time editor of one of the South greatest newspapers. The Birmingham Age Herald.

Writing to a personal friend in Atlanta Mr. Evans says:

"By the way you will hardly know me when we meet again, because I am getting so well and strong again. As I told you while in Atlanta last month, I have been suffering a long time with gastritis, as the doctors call it, really a disordered stomach with consequent constipation pains in the shoulders, headache, belching, heartburn, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, and fainting spells. For weeks I could not sleep on my back.

"One week ago, upon recommendation of friends who had tried the medicine I purchased one bottle of Tanlac and began taking it. Since my second dose I have suffered none of these troubles to which I refer, and really believe I am going to get perfectly well and strong again. Won't that be wonderful at my age? Well, certain it is that Tanlac is a wonderful medicine, and you know I am not given to puffing mere experiments and amateur orthodox as to matter medica.

"I shall continue the treatment with perfect confidence in the final results."

Signed "Frank V. Evans."

Commenting on this splendid endorsement of Tanlac C. F. Willis, International Distributor of Tanlac, said:

"Although the list of endorsements is a long one, I recall a few leading names that lend both dignity and credit to the entire array. Some of them are:

"Hon. C. W. Mangum, of Atlanta, Ga., for three terms Sheriff of Fulton County, Hon. Moses R. Gleason, Superintendent of Printing for the state of Kentucky; Mr. C. C. Cooper, President of the Georgia Cotton Oil Company; Mr. E. W. Hill, Bank President of South Pittsburg, Tenn.; Mr. J. F. Corroll, Cofton Mill Superintendent of Chattahoochee, Ga. Hon. A. E. Anderson, of Houston Texas, for seven terms Sheriff of Harris County Hon. S. S. Sheppard, ex city Council man of Atlanta, and many others whose names have heretofore been given to the public."

Tanlac is sold in Bridgetown by S. N. Weare, in Middleton by Clifford A. Mumford and in Bear River by L. V. Harris.

By a notice recently issued by the Marine and Fisheries Department a red conical buoy has been established on Northwest Ledge and to the northward of northwest rock. It is moored in 78 feet of water in lat 44-19.17, and long. W. 66-24.20, 3 4 miles, 207.15 from the north point of Brier Island.

The Big Value in FLOUR

IN THE KITCHEN, the big event is baking day.
And the important thing
on baking day is to use
"REGAL"—the ideal flour
for bread. "REGAL" means bread of uniform texture, lasting freshness and wholesome qualities.

ment, until suddenly the whole truth seemed to dawn upon him. He hesitated a moment, then turned to us with tears in his eyes.

"I will not be ashamed," he said.
I have brought overshoes as well.
Bless you, my children, that you have been in such a hurry in well-doing, for you have even forestalled me."

We all gazed at the seven pairs of shoes, and they in turn seemed to gaze at us in unblushing shiny newness. Then with one accord we burst into merriment.

To say we roared with laughter is not sufficient, especially when George exclaimed, in awestruck tones,
"Don't you wish you were a centipede, Margit?"

I believe Margit thought he meant some kind of saint, for she answered
"Yes" glibly enough, at which we all burst out again.

Just as we were in the midst of it, who should appear but our vicar himself; he had been to see Dennison's little boy, who was ill.

"Why are you all out so early this morning?" he enquired; "and why so merry?"

Papa turned round.
"You are to thank for this," he answered.
"Explain yourself. Why, pray?"
Papa explained. At which our vicar laughed more than the others.
"What must we do?" papa questioned.

"The shoes are paid for, so I suppose they will not take them back, and one pair is enough for Margit."

The vicar looked at the overshoes and kindly said:
"I can soon dispense with those.
If I take six pairs for my parishioners they will prove welcome gifts
this Christmas-time, and in return Margit shall have the value in other goods. I know exactly all she most needs, and will see to it to the best of my ability. I am truly thankful, my friends, that my sermon has touched your hearts with seven-fold power."

Accident Near Tupperville

The Owl train on the D. A. R. while on the run from Halifax to Annapolis on Wednesday evening struck a beautiful yoke of working oxen near Tupperville and in consequence the train was for a while badly demoralized. Both animals were instantly killed, one being thrown some distance from the track, while the other was run over and dragged several yards before the train could be brought to a standstill. The locomotive left the rails and much time was lost before the train could proceed. The oxen belonged to Mr. Howard Bent.

Minard's Liniment Co. Ltd.,
Yarmouth, N. S.

Dear Sirs:

Since the start of the Baseball season we have been hindered with sore muscles, sprained ankles, etc., but just as soon as we started using Minard's Liniment our troubles ended. Every baseball player should keep a bottle of liniment handy!

Yours truly,

E. E. ARMSTRONG
Secretary Armstrong High School
Baseball Team.

Harry C. Ryerson, of Canton, Mass., who was called home by the death of his mother at Bear River, returned Saturday. Mrs. Ryerson, who accompanied him, will remain a few weeks longer, and when she returns will be accompanied by her father in law who will spend the winter in Canton.
