SUCCESSFUL LABOR DAY CELEBRATION HELD HERE

A Full and Varied Programme Commencing With Parade and Ending With Big Dance—Many Visitors in Town.

Labor Day celebration in Bridgetown passed off very successfully. The procession, which was held in the afternoon and a small one during the evening, drew a large crowd of people from all over the county and a full programme of entertainment concluding with a big dance at the court house filled in a very good way.

Proceedings commenced in the morning with an auto parade with calliope and drums in attendance and a good programme discoursed by the Bridgetown band well assisted by some six or seven members of the Lawrenceville band. The auto parade while smaller than that of last year was nevertheless very effective and the decorations were handsome and tasteful. The first prize was won by Mrs. F. M. Graves with a beautiful arrangement of Western blossoms on a white background covering the car. Mayor H. B. Hicks' car won second prize. This was decorated to represent an immense swan driven by Miss Aileen Fay, representing a fairy holding silk ribbons directing the large bird. The effort was very novel and striking.

Among other handsome decorated cars we noticed one owned by Dr. M. E. Armstrong and driven by Miss Ruth Burns. This represented a huge basket of flowers which completely concealed the identity of the driver.

Mr. C. L. Piggott's car represented an old fashioned flower garden complete with a fence all around inside the enclosure besides the profusion of blossoms were a number of attractive young ladies.

Mr. E. B. Tracey had a most effective float representing a hunter's wood scene with all equipment, back ground and general features perfect in keeping. There was no prize offered on floats and the committee appreciate most thoroughly the interest and public spirit displayed by Mr. Tracey.

Another nicely decorated car was that bearing the labels of Evangelical beverages, driven by Mr. S. B. Gavel. Mrs. LeMoine Ruskles drove a car handsomely decorated with Japanese emblems and characters.

Mrs. W. D. Lockett had a handsome car decorated with Sunflowers on brown background.

Mr. W. H. Maxwell had his motor truck nicely decorated with golden glow effectively arranged.

Mr. Herbert Hicks had a car in the procession effectively decorated with golden rod.

These services begin at 8 o'clock and are held in St. James' Church. In addition a "Bible Reading" is given at 4 o'clock.

On Sunday next services will be held at the usual hours. The subject in the morning will be: "The Problem of Selfishness: Can it be overcome?" and in the evening: "The Problem of the New Creation: Is it a reality or a mere dream."

Canon Troop will be glad to meet any of his friends after any service or at the rectory where he is the guest of the Rev. E. and Mrs. Underwood.

EXTENSION TO C. N. R. SERVICE

A "Y" is Being Put in at Bridgetown And Rumours Forecast Extension in Railway Schedule.

Land has been purchased for the Canadian National Railway from Mr. S. K. Mack. This is situated some distance West of the railway station.

Workmen commenced last week the building of a "Y". There are rumors that a tri-weekly service from Middleton to Bridgetown will replace the weekly service prevailing over the line from Middleton to Port Wade.

The extension of service will presumably effect only the portions of the railway between this town and Middleton the portion of the line West of here having the same service as heretofore until traffic should justify further increase.

Base on balls: Malcolm 2. Strike outs: Malcolm 5, Dodge 6. Hits off Dodge 10, off Malcolm 14. Umpires, H. T. McKenzie, and Bowly.

REMINISCENCES OF BRIDGETOWN IN THE DAYS GONE BY

Interesting Comments On Customs of That Period—Pen Pictures Of Worthies Who Were Prominent.

To the Editor of The Monitor:
Sir,—You gave such a kindly reception to my former letter that I feel emboldened to trouble you with some more of my reminiscences of the long past of Elmhurst (late Bridgetown).

I remember the illumination that took place in 1856 on the signing of the peace with Russia at the conclusion of the Crimean war; and I have never seen a more beautiful illumination than that.

I have seen much grander in London, but they consisted of elaborate designs in gas, on the principal buildings, which only made the darkness of the other buildings more apparent. In Elmhurst every house had a candle in every pane of glass, so that there was a blaze of light, which seen through the trees, was very effective. Granville and Queen Streets resembled fairyland.

Then I remember the fight between the Hon. J. W. Johnston and the Hon. Joseph Howe for the representation of Annapolis County in the Provincial Assembly. Johnston was a Baptist and had been a Liberal but the Baptists and Roman Catholics had quarrelled with the Liberal Government over the school question and both turned Conservative, while the Methodists remained loyal to the Liberal party; the Anglicans were, as they always had been, Conservative, except that Joe Howe, although an Anglican, was a Liberal. Of course the issue was certain and Johnston and Longley (the other Conservative candidate) carried the county against Howe and Whitman.

We boys were red-hot politicians and the Conservative boys, of whom I was one, got banners fastened to flag poles; they were blue, which was the Conservative color. We marched in procession through the streets, cheering before the Conservative houses and groaning and hooting before the dwellings of the Liberals.

Among the latter was William Henry Troop, the father of the Rev. Osborne Troop. He lived in what is now the Colonial House. The next day W. H. Troop met me and gave me a calling card and sent by me an angry message to my father, I went home spluttering with rage and told my father, and as I could not think of anything worse to say of him, said that his wife was a "Puseyite".

I remember the first circus that came to Elmhurst (late Bridgetown). It was about the year 1853 before we moved to Elmhurst, when we still resided in Granville Centre. My aunt took me up to see it. We stood in front of a brown house on the corner of Granville and Queen Sts. and saw the procession go by. Oh, the wondrous animals! and beautiful horses; afterward, we went to see the show itself, which was held in a tent on the Common. The marvels of that circus I cannot describe, at least suffice it to say that there was a horse that played a hand organ! A circus to this day is the spectacle I like best. Then I remember the Earl of Mulgrave, Lt. Governor of the Province and his young son, a boy of some 15 years, coming to the town. The authorities prepared to welcome him, and went in procession to meet him headed by a herald which was, I think, old Mr. Palfrey, mounted on a rozzante and carrying in his hand the branch of the locust tree. The Earl was escorted to the Sessions House, which stood near the river, and was presented with an address.

Now that I have finished the historical part of my narrative, let me throw on the screen some sketches of the men who were active in Elmhurst sixty years ago. So clarity begins at home, I propose to let my father first of all appear upon the scene. He was a staunch Churchman and a Conservative, but his great passion was loyalty to England. England was without blemish and her church was immaculate. He had never been there, but it was the promised land, flowing with milk and honey, and being the son of an officer who had fought in the Revolutionary war he had a hatred of the "Yankess". I may relate the following amusing incident in this connection. A little steamer plied in Summer between Bridgetown and Digby. One Summer morning we assembled on the wharf to take the steamer for the latter place. The principal men of the town were also there; when my father saw the Stars and Stripes floating from the mast head, in which there was nothing wrong, as the British ensign was displayed at the stern. But my father and the other magnates told the captain they would not set foot on board till that foreign flag was lowered. And so it was! I shall never forget the face of the American seaman who came to take it down; he was pale with rage! After that we all went on the trip and passed a very pleasant day.

As I have already said, he was a strong churchman and on Sundays he used to march through the streets in his black gown to the little old St. James' Church which was served as an electric light station just this side of the bridge.

He saw no fault in the Church of England and he used to tell with pride how in many districts of England there was not a single Dissenter or Sancta Simplicites!

His people loved him, and many were the children named after him, "Moore's" all over the country.

The St. James' congregation attained a high degree of spirituality during his reign, of which the following

LARGE WOOL CROP IN NOVA SCOTIA

Truro.—The bulk of Nova Scotia's wool crop will go to Ontario this year. R. Forbes & Company, at Hespeler, are taking the largest amount. The rest of the crop which is being shipped will go to different firms. There is still in the warehouse at Truro twenty thousand pounds which has not yet been sold.

Besides the forty thousand pounds graded here, there was about forty-five thousand pounds graded at Antigonish which will all go to the Upper Provinces.

This makes the Nova Scotia wool crop over eighty thousand pounds, which is the largest in recent years. This being about twenty thousand pounds more than the combined crop of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. As yet the prices which the farmers will receive are not known, but it is believed that they will be well above the average price of twenty-two cents per pound, which was received last year. This wool was all graded for the Nova Scotia Sheep Breeders' Association under the co-operative grading and marketing scheme.

EXCRUCIATING PAINS, CRAMPS

Entirely Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Eberts, Ont.—"I started with cramps and bearing-down pains at the age of eleven years, and would get so nervous I could hardly stay in bed, and I had such pains that I would scream, and my mother would call the doctor to give me something to take. At eighteen I married, and I have four healthy children, but I still have pains in my right side. I am a farmer's wife with more work than I am able to do. I have taken three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel that it is helping me every day. My sister-in-law, who has been taking your medicine for some time and uses your Sanative Wash, told me about it and I recommend it now, as I have received great relief from it."—Mrs. NELSON YOTT, R. E. L. Eberts, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for ailments common to women. It has been used for such troubles for nearly fifty years, and thousands of women have found relief as did Mrs. Yott, by taking this splendid medicine.

If you are suffering from irregularity, painful times, nervousness, headache, backache or melancholia, you should at once begin to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is excellent to strengthen the system and help to perform its functions with ease and regularity.

SITUATION OF WHEAT GROWERS

It is a matter of common recollection how during the war period the farmers of the country were urged to plant and sow more largely and increase their production to fill the gap caused by decrease in foodstuff by reason of the millions of men withdrawn from active industry to prosecute the war. How well they responded while the navy of Britain kept open the sea lines of commerce so that even while rationing was necessary in some commodities there was generally speaking in all a matter of history. While there was an increased production in food stuffs there was a great slackening off in the building trades and housing provided far from sufficient to provide for the needs of a growing population.

These conditions have brought about results which have redounded very much to the disadvantage of the farmers as a whole and most especially those who depend largely upon the growing of wheat. To instance the disparity now existing between farming and the building trades it is necessary only to point out the fact that in New York before the war a bricklayer or plasterer earned perhaps $5 to $6 per day, the farmer had to raise and harvest about five bushels of wheat to get the same money. Today the bricklayer gets $15 to $16 a day and it takes some fifteen bushels of wheat to return the same money to the farmer. Compared with the farmer this would indicate that the bricklayer is three times as well off as the farmer. With peace prevailing the demand for wheat has shown a falling off but the scarcity of houses and buildings generally has called for more labor in the building lines. Bricklayers and plasterers are organized and control the market without fear of competition. The farmer must compete in the markets of the world to dispose of his surplus product. The building trades by limiting the number of apprentices, diminishing output and forcing shorter hours create an artificial demand for their labors which the farmer has not the organization to accomplish even if he wished to do so. The farmer can cut down his acreage though this much must be said for the farmers as a class. They like to see things grow and endeavor to secure good price, is considered afterwards. The conditions above referred in the United States are found also in degree in Canada and most particularly in the wheat belt. The remedies suggested are curtailment of this product and more diversified production. It is the old proverb over again of putting all your eggs in one basket. What is needed most seriously is the return of prosperity to war shattered Europe and the adjustment of conditions on a sound financial basis. The day has gone by when nations of the world can enjoy true prosperity while the financial and social fabric of others remains shattered.

Even so great and others contained a nation as the United States is gradually learning this fact that no country can depend upon itself alone for a great and enduring prosperity shared in by all classes of its citizens. Canada knows and appreciates the fact, but Britain knows its best of all and her heroic work after as well as during the great war period has been the brightest star of hope to shine over a discouraged and disorganized world.

A GOLD BUBBLE BURST

The gold rush to the Labrador ended, as many persons figured out it would end, in a complete fizzle—a huge fake. Prospectors and travellers with wider and more extended knowledge of this North country than that possessed by the small group of adventurers who first went to the country about three years past stated some years ago that while it was quite possible that gold might exist in some sections of this vast region that if it did exist to human knowledge the secret was known only to the Indians or possibly the Eskimaux and jealously guarded by them because they did not wish the presence of white men generally in the country. This was the consensus of opinion as gathered by the writer some few years ago at North Sydney where he frequently met travellers and explorers and trappers as well as missionaries who had spent years of their lives in this relatively unknown country. There was really nothing about the whole alleged discovery at any time to inspire public grow and endeavor to secure good

UNIQUE MEETING OF SIX SISTERS

Six sisters, who have not been all together at one time for sixteen years, met at the station in Annapolis Royal on Tuesday, the occasion being the arrival of one of them, Mrs. C. S. Rice, from Palm Beach, Florida.

These sisters, who, previous to their marriages, were the Misses Littlewood, of Lower Granville, are Mrs. James Rhodes, of Granville Ferry; Mrs. James Rice, of Lower Granville; Mrs. S. H. Blaney, of Stoney Beach; Mrs. S. V. Melanson, of Lower Granville; Mrs. C. S. Rice, of Palm Beach, Florida, and Mrs. Stewart Farnsworth, of Lynn, Mass.

The only other member of their family was a brother who died in childhood. They are, therefore, practically a family intact and each one is in good health.

OBITUARY

Rev. R. S. Whidden.

Rev. R. S. Whidden, who was inducted pastor of the congregation of Kennebec, Gore and Five Mile River, Hants Co., on July 26th, last, passed away suddenly on Saturday evening, the 18th inst., at the home of Mrs. Theodore Forbes, Five Mile River, to which section of his field he had gone on Friday to visit his parishioners there and conduct service on Sabbath morning. He had complained during the day of being unwell and remained in his room much of the time. When he did not come downstairs at dark, someone went to his room and was greatly shocked to find that he had passed away, evidently in his sleep. He was lying on his bed, his glasses on and the sermon he had prepared for the Sabbath service in his hand, fully written out.

Mr. Whidden's appointments on Sabbath were taken by Rev. C. D. MacIntosh, a former pastor, who was spending part of his vacation at Kennebec. He made use of the manuscript sermons Mr. Whidden had prepared and delivered to the people at the Five Mile River and the Gore the messages their pastor had intended for them. A short service was held at the house on Monday afternoon, a large concourse of people from all parts of the congregation being present. At the church the service was conducted by members of the Presbytery. Interment was at Selma. He was highly respected and greatly beloved by his people, having spent several months in this congregation more than a year ago.

Mr. Whidden resided for many years in the West. He is survived by his widow and seven children. One daughter is in France and the rest of the family reside on the Pacific Coast. The youngest son was accidentally killed in the West.

The above account, summarized from that in the Morning Chronicle of the 22nd inst., will be of interest to readers of The Monitor, for though many years have passed since Mr. Whidden was the pastor of the then United Presbyterian congregations of Bridgetown and Annapolis, there are still those who hold him in kindest remembrance and will join in the deep sympathy extended to Mrs. Whidden and her family by friends in other places. In Mr. Whidden's time the Presbyterian service at Bridgetown was held in the afternoon and was, as a rule, largely attended by members of other denominations as well as his own people. In this way, and through his cordial, genial manner, Mr. Whidden gained many friends. His large family made the Presbyterian Manse and grounds a place of gladness for the young people of the community and pleasant also for the older ones. One who played there years ago wishes to insert this notice in memory of the unfailing kindness and gentleness received from "The Minister".

PROMINENT VALLEY FRUIT GROWERS VISIT SACKVILLE

(From the Sackville, N. B. Tribune) Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Chute, of Berwick, N. S., and Mr. and Mrs. Manning K. Ellis, of Port Williams, spent a day in Sackville last week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Fawcett. Mr. Chute has the distinction of owning the biggest apple orchard in Canada and one of the largest in the world. He has 24,000 trees at Berwick and expects to harvest this year upwards of thirty thousand barrels of choice apples. Mr. Chute is also the owner of orange groves at Hanes City, Florida, where Mr. Fawcett has an orange plantation.

Mr. Ellis is a prominent apple man, being a large producer and buyer. He is also interested in small fruit, producing this season about a thousand crates of strawberries.

Speaking of conditions in the Annapolis Valley, Mr. Chute said that a bumper crop of apples was expected and the outlook for good prices was bright. The apple crop in England is said to be small and the price for Valley apples should therefore be satisfactory.

Messrs. Chute and Ellis spent several hours on the farm of the Farmar Fruit, Limited, and sampled the strawberries that have been shipped in car lots this season. They were delighted with the flavor, which is recognized as being equal to, if not superior to, the flavor of any strawberries produced in American. Mr. and Mrs. Chute and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis left by motor Friday afternoon on their return home.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

May Obtain Relief by Enriching the Blood Supply.

In the days of our fathers, rheumatism was thought to be the unavoidable penalty of middle life and old age. Almost every elderly person had rheumatism as well as many young people. It was thought that rheumatism was the mere effect of exposure to cold and damp, and it was treated with liniments and hot applications, which sometimes gave temporary relief, but did not remove the trouble. In these days there were many cripples. Now, medical science understands that rheumatism is a disease of the blood, and that with good, rich red blood any man or woman of any age can defy rheumatism. There are many elderly people who have never felt a twinge of rheumatism, and many who have conquered it by simply keeping their blood rich and pure. The blood-enriching qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is becoming every year more widely known, and the more general use of these pills has robbed rheumatism of its terrors. At the first sign of poor blood, which is shown by loss of appetite, dull skin and dim eyes, protect yourself against further ravages of disease by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have helped thousands—if you give them a fair trial they will not disappoint you.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NEW WATER TANK NEARLY COMPLETED—OTHER IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE

The Dominion Atlantic Railway Co. are now well along with the construction of a new water tank being built some distance West of the old structure which has long and faithfully served the day and generation. It is understood to be the intention of the company to dismantle the old structure and extend the station platform some distance over its present site, thus meeting demands made by the greatly increased length of trains now running over the road.

LET THE PAPER DO IT

The other day several prominent citizens of Yazo were discussing a local situation and thought something should be done. After it was found that it was unpleasant, unprofitable and risky for any direct or civic group, it was the consensus of opinion that it was an opportune time for the newspapers to jump in with action to be taken by any individual with both feet and force action.

There isn't anything strange about such proceeding as this, comments the Yazo (Miss) Sentinel. There is hardly a week passes but the mail brings a letter to the editor asking him to "jump on" somebody and nearly always the writer wants his own name kept secret. If the newspapers were to do all that is asked of it by these people, it would be a growling, snarling thing—and would accomplish nothing. The newspapers are ever ready to oppose wrong, or fight for the right to demand practical reforms, to praise the worthy and blame the unworthy. They are unafraid. But the truth is, most of the demands that the paper "jump in with both feet and force action" are selfish propositions and are usually urged by the people who themselves are unwilling to do exactly what they request the newspaper to do.

AN ELEGY WRITTEN IN A TOURIST CAMPING GROUND

(Spokane Spokesman-Review.)

A horn blast sounds the knell of parting day. Some late arrivals through the dust clouds creep. And three hours after we have hit the hay

The noise calms down so we can get to sleep.

Save where, from yonder pennant-clad sedan, The radio set emits its raucous squeal.

And, underneath a nearby light, a man Pounds until daylight on a busted wheel.

Beneath those tattered tops, those patent tents, Where falls the dust into each sun-burned pore.

Each on his folding bed of slight expense. The rude explorers of the highway snore.

Let not ambition mock their creaky cars. Their khaki clothes, of vintages obscure.

Nor grandeur view, with hauteur like a czar's. The short and simple flippers of the poor.

The hoist of shiny paint, the pomp of power, And all that charms the motoristic top.

Await alike the inevitable hour— The paths of touring lead but to the path.

Can streaming hood or silver-plated hubs Back to its mansion call the missing spark?

Can plush upholstery foil the clumsy dubs Who bang into your fenders in the dark?

Full many a boob of purest ray serene Succumbs each Summer to the touring itch;

Full many a car is doomed to bluish unseen And waste its sweetness in a Western ditch.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The Summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to banish them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

INTERCHANGE OF TEACHERS' SCHEME

Miss Brinton, one of Canadian Teachers Chosen For School in Old Land Praises the Idea.

Miss Estie Brinton, of the Model School staff, of Vancouver, left on Wednesday for the Coast after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. E. C. Hall, and with other relatives and friends.

Miss Brinton is returning to B.C. after a year's absence in Great Britain, during which time she had charge of a school grade in Glasgow, Scotland, under the Interchange of Teachers Scheme, which has prevailed for some sixteen or seventeen years within the Empire. Teachers from the old land being chosen and assigned to positions in Canada, Australia, New Zealand, or South Africa, and the overseas Dominions generally, and teachers from the various parts of the Empire going to the old country and also taking positions. Full details concerning this plan can be found in the reports of "The League of the Empire", which is associated with the Imperial Union of Teachers. In a brief article like this it is impossible to more than touch the general features, but fuller investigation by the teachers of the Dominion who have not yet fully studied the matter, is well worth while.

The general idea of the exchange is a splendid one. It gets teachers out of ruts, broadens their ideas, gives them useful and suggestive hints for improving themselves and their methods. Besides the practical work of the school room, the opportunity for travel and observation is an education and creates a better understanding among all of the features of the Empire, and creates a better and more appreciative feeling all around.

Miss Brinton's experience while in the old land was the experience in many ways of probably all the teachers who were accepted and took advantage of the interchange plan. She had nothing but praise for the splendid hospitality and kindness of the people of Glasgow whom she met, their interest in Canada and their happy faculty of making her feel right at home among them from the start.

In London there were a number of interchanges during the term, but in Glasgow Miss Brinton had the same department during her stay there. While comparisons are odious it might be stated that Miss Brinton's (Continued on Column Six)

LOWER GAS!

Is the price of gasoline about to take a tumble? While there has been a surplus of production the price for the most part has remained firm. There has, however, been a sharp reduction in South Dakota, where the governor purchased 500,000 gallons, which he has ordered to be retailed at 16 cents per gallon at the State owned filling stations. "Gov. Mc-Master finding that gasoline cost 14 cents per gallon wholesale, while it retailed for 26 cents, ordered 16 cent gas at the State owned stations," states an American paper. "Immediately independent companies lowered prices to 22 cents and now the Standard Oil is expected to follow."

TRADES THAT MAY BECOME LOST ARTS

Persons familiar with the interior economy of the building trades in the United States, and the same probably applies to Canada, claim that plastering and bricklaying are likely to be lost arts. This deplorable result is being brought about by the trades union policy of unduly restricting the admission of apprentices into those trades. This aspect of the matter is discussed by the Wall Street Journal in an amusing article entitled "The Last Plasterer," in which it apprehends that bricklayers will become as uncommon as veterans of the war of 1812. When one reflects on the princely wages of bricklayers, it is observed, it is a lamentable thought that they have to die, but, as with all the world's great, no way has been found to save them this unhappy fate. The Wall Street Journal goes on to say:—

"The National Association of Manufacturers says that the number of apprentices admitted to the Bricklayers' Union last year was less than the number of members taken by death. At this rate, bricklaying will soon become a lost art, and our grandchildren will marvel at our skill in laying brick, as we wonder at the last processes of our remote ancestors who understood and practiced the tempering of copper.

"The passing of the plasterers gives even greater reason for apprehension and disquietude, because they are passing even faster than the bricklayer. We replenish our streams with trout and we protect our song birds from extermination, but we take no thought of our plasterers. By reason of the limitation of apprentices, most of our plasterers are aged men and will not be with us for long. The years are not many when we shall regard with awe the last survivor of the Plasterers' Union very much as we regard the last survivor of the charge of Balacava.

"With the growing scientific interest in these matters, it is not unlikely that the professors at our institutions of learning will soon undertake a study of this disappearing type as they do the small remnant of some of the aboriginal tribes. While there is yet time, we suggest that there be preserved on the phonograph for future generations the voice of a plasterer discussing long hours and slave wages, for the era is not remote when all we shall know of this species must come from a study of the fossil remains.

"What antiquarian interest will there soon be in a fragment of freshly spread plaster! We can see the last plasterer, a centenarian on his death-bed, painfully but skillfully spreading this fragment, at the rate permitted under union rules, for preservation in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, alongside the fragment of King Tut's flagon."

Discussing this subject from another standpoint the Buffalo Commercial points out that for every 100 persons in the United States in 1910 there were 115 in 1920, and for every 100 mechanics and artisans in 1910 there were 80 in 1920. But for every 100 building permits issued in the U. S. in 1910 there were 400 issued last year. Thus, while the population was gaining 15 per cent, and building was increasing 300 per cent, the supply of skilled building labor was decreasing 20 per cent. In short, we have four men today to do three times as much work as five men did in 1910. The Commercial proceeded as follows:

"Here is a situation that is rapidly becoming alarming. Why is this thus? Why is skilled labor falling off in the face of a growing population and a tremendous increase in building requirements? Ask the labor unions in these building trades that are restricting the ratio of apprentices almost to the negligible point and are improving other artificial limitations. The whole proposition resolves itself into how far the public will allow unions to corner the labor market. It didn't let the trusts maintain corners, but it has been supremely indifferent to the arbitrary and really high handed actions of the unions.

"The entire theory upon which the unions in the building trades are getting is wrong and should be stopped. If carried out to its logical conclusion these trades unions will ultimately establish a soviet of an economic character quite as tyrannical and arrogant as the political one now functioning in Russia.

"This idea of deliberately shutting down the supply of labor, cutting down production, boosting wages to ridiculous heights and making the bill is dead wrong. This extortion will last as long as the public is willing to pay the freight. When it reveals there will be another story to tell."

Minard's Ointment for Dandruff.

SATISFACTION

A seemingly low price for an article is always attractive, but unfortunately frequently misleading. How often is heard the remark—"I would rather have paid a little more and got the quality I wanted."

As a matter of fact that "little more" was necessary to obtain the better quality. Good goods require a higher price to be good.

There are cheaper teas than "KING COLE"—but would you be satisfied with their quality?

ROAD CONSTRUCTION IN NOVA SCOTIA

Larger Mileage This Year in Province—During July 8000 Men Were Employed.

When the season closes there will have been a larger mileage of roads constructed and reconstructed in Nova Scotia this year than in any year since the Highway Board commenced operations. Such was the statement made by an official of the Board to the Morning Chronicle. There are now 225 miles of main trunk roads under construction in the Province, in addition to finishing last year's contracts. There are also 350 miles of secondary or primary roads under construction. All this in addition to bridges and culverts.

In the month of July the expenditure of the Board was near the figure of half a million dollars; and there have been times during the Summer when as high as eight thousand men were employed by Board and their contractors.

Notwithstanding the large amount of wet weather this year, reasonable progress has been made. What this progress comprises may be appreciated when it is known that with the exception of fifteen miles east of St. Peter's in Richmond County, the Board expects to have the highway from Halifax to Sydney completed in its reconstruction this year.

From Halifax to Yarmouth through the Annapolis Valley every bad section will be completely reconstructed this season, and those who have the pleasure of motoring over it this year will appreciate what that will mean, practically a perfect gravel road from the capital to the western gateway of the Province, through the Valley.

On the road from Halifax to Yarmouth by the South Shore, there are two projects under way employing very large numbers of men and a large amount of machinery. There are seven contracts in operation, besides three sections of the road under construction by the Board.

There are five projects of reconstruction on the road from Truro to the New Brunswick border, one of these is being carried by the Board, the other four by contractors.

Then there are many miles of highway of lesser important classes under repair or reconstruction.—Morning Chronicle.

experience was that of others in the fact that she found music and language received much fuller attention in the old country than in Canada, and also less tendency there to make the paths of knowledge quite so easy in primary work as they are made in Canadian towns and cities.

During the holiday season at Easter the Colonial teachers visited the continent, spending some little time in Paris and also going through Italy to Rome, where they had audience with the Pope.

Taken all in all, the trip and the year spent in Europe was an experience thoroughly appreciated. The visits to places of historic interest were pleasant features and there is no question about it that historic setting and association make them impress on the lives of the young growing up amid such surroundings.

The writer saw Miss Brinton for only a few brief moments on the eve of her departure and had not formulated any series of questions, hence the above is a subject a very slight introduction to a subject which should prove of much pleasure and interest to our teachers.

The Importance of Being Pretty

Many a girl's fortune is determined by her face. A skin which is fresh, smooth and alluring with the radiance of health, predicts a happy future, because this is the greatest of all womanly charms. Every girl can have a beautiful, attractive skin if she will only learn to give it proper care. The constant application of cold creams, lotions, powder, and rouge tend to make the skin sluggish and inactive. Dirt accumulates and blackheads and other blemishes appear. Thorough cleansing once a day prevents such a condition and keeps the complexion fresh and smooth. Cold Cream is beneficial when applied to a clean skin and rouge and powder are harmless beautifiers—but—start fresh, every day on a clean foundation. Keep your skin active and it will be clear, fresh, youthful and attractive. Soap to be thorough, need not be harsh. The mildest toilet soap made is the most thorough of all cleansers, as you will know after you have once tried Palmolive. You can buy Palmolive Soap at all first class dealers.

NEW FOX SPECIAL IS STIRRING PHOTOPLAY

William Fox has disproved the theory that "there's nothing new under the sun." "In 'My Friend the Devil,' the Fox special production which opens a two days' engagement at the Primrose Theatre, Sept. 11th and 12th, he brings forth upon the screen a new type of entertainment that won unanimous approval at its initial presentation here. It contains every element necessary for real entertainment—a novel plot, a powerful theme, unexcelled dramatic sequence, superlative portrayal, romance, thrills and a motive that will win the praise of every woman and child. The photoplay is an adaption from Georges Ohnet's famous novel, "Dr. Rameau," and to Harry Millarde must go the credit for another pictorial masterpiece. Mr. Millarde directed "Over the Hill," which is one of the triumphs of motion picture history. The entire picture of "My Friend the Devil," has been correctly mounted and the types and costumes seem to step right from the pages of Ohnet's novel. Throughout the picture dramatic sequences follow one another in rapid-fire order, building up to a stirring climax. The story deals with a man whose faith in God had been washed away when his mother is killed by lightning while he was little more than a child. He has called upon God to strike his brutal stepfather who was ill-treating his loving mother. How, after many years, his faith is restored provides a theme that grips the interest through every inch of the picture. To Charles Richman as Dr. George Dryden must go the honor of contributing to screen literature one of the finest, most powerful dramatic portrayals in the history of motion pictures. Peggy Shaw, as Dr. Dryden's daughter, also gives a remarkable depiction of a difficult part. Others in the cast whose exceptional work deserve mention are: Dennis Grauer, William Tooker, Adolph Millar, Myrtle Stewart, Barbara Castleton, Mabel Wright, Alice May and Robert Frazer. The scenario was written by Paul H. Sloane.
