SOUTH POLE EXPEDITION

Captain Robert Falcon Scott and Four Companions, After Reaching Pole, Heroically Meet Their Death—Captain Scott's Last Message to Nation

London, February 15.—A telegram to the Daily Mail from Christ Church, N. Z., says:

"The full details of Capt. Scott's return journey from the Pole, when published, I understand, reveal a still more glorious page in human history than the brief official narrative.

"Every ounce of food was used by the party long before death came to Scott, Wilson and Bowers. Only a small quantity of tea was found with the bodies.

"The relief party found the bodies in the tent in the following positions: Scott was sitting with his back to the tent pole. Between his head and the pole he had placed his diary, apparently in order that its broader surface might provide easier support than the pole. Wilson and Bowers were lying in their sleeping-bags.

"It is possible that an expedition will go to the Antarctic next summer to recover the bodies of Scott, Wilson and Bowers.

"The memorial cross erected on Observation Hill is constructed of jarrah wood, which will last for ages. The cross is painted white. The carved lettering on it, printed black, is as follows:

In Memoriam

Capt. Robert Falcon Scott, R. N.,
Dr. Edward Ryan Wilson,
Lieut. Henry Robertson Bowers.
Who died on their return from the South Pole in March, 1912.

"To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield."

"The members of Lt. Campbell's Northern party are in magnificent health, considering the terrible privations they were forced to undergo. In a snow drift, where they lived a primitive existence for six and a half months, their only literature was Dickens' David Copperfield. A chapter of it was read aloud every day.

"It is doubtful if any of the diaries belonging to the dead explorers will be published before the publication of the book narrating the history of the expedition.

"Dr. Atkinson, who organized the search party which found the bodies, refuses to give any information beyond that contained in the official narrative."

In an editorial note in reference to an apparent discrepancy between Commander Evans' despatch and its own despatch, the Daily Mail says:

"It is the custom in erecting a memorial cairn to place in the centre, in a bottle or box, documents showing what it commemorates. This record was apparently placed inside the cairn, while the inscription telegraphed by our Christ Church correspondent was cut or painted on the cross."

CAPT. SCOTT'S LAST MESSAGE

"We arrived within eleven miles of our One Ton Camp, with fuel for one hot meal and food for two days. For four days we have been unable to leave the tent, the gale blowing about us. We are weak. Writing is difficult, but for my own sake I do not regret this journey, which has shown that Englishmen can endure hardships, help one another, and meet death with as great a fortitude as ever in the past. We took this message to our countrymen, and therefore we have no cause for complaint, but how to the will of Providence, determined still to do our best to the last.

"But if we have been willing to give our lives to this enterprise, which is for the honor of our country, I appeal to our countrymen to see that those who depend on us are properly cared for. Had we lived I should have had a tale to tell of the hardship, endurance and courage of my companions, which would have stirred the heart of every Englishman.

"These rough notes and our dead bodies must tell the tale, but surely, surely, a great rich country like ours will see that those who are dependent upon us are properly cared for."

—From Capt. Scott's last letter, written March 25, 1912.

George Hudson Killed at Yarmouth

Yarmouth, N. S., Feb. 13.—A shocking accident occurred a little before seven o'clock this morning when George Hudson was run over and practically cut in two, by the H. & S. W. train.

The deceased who lived with his father-in-law, Thos. Muise, on Water St., between the H. & S. W. yards and the station left the house at about twenty minutes to seven, to go to his work. Just as he came out of the house, which is only a few feet from the track, the morning express was being backed up from the yards to the station. It is supposed that Hudson thinking he could get across the track in time, hurried and either tripped or, slipping on the ice, fell under the rear car.

The weather was very thick and at that early hour it was difficult to discern just how the accident happened.

As soon as the brakeman observed the fallen man he applied the air brakes, but it was too late, as the rear car went over him before the train could be stopped.

Dr. W. S. Phinney was summoned immediately, but the stricken man did not recover consciousness and died about three quarters of an hour after. The deceased was about thirty years of age and leaves a widow and a child.

At the inquest the Jury returned a verdict to the following effect:—

"George H. Hudson came to his death by being run over by the H. & S. W. train on Thursday, a.m., Feb. 13, 1913. We find that the hands in charge of the train had taken all precaution and had given what warning they could. The bell on the engine was being rung and the conductor was in position with his lantern signals. That he shouted a warning to the man and applied the air brakes. The jury found from evidence given that the men in charge of the train should be exonerated from any blame whatever."

The deceased was a native of Litchfield, Annapolis Co., and leaves behind a widowed mother, who has been living in U.S.A. for some time, several brothers and sisters, one sister, Mrs. Harvey Hearn, residing in Bridgetown.

A New Industry for Bridgetown

Mr. B. I. Rayner, of Alberton, P. E. Island, was in town last week and organized "The Rayner, Clark and Harlow Black Fox Co." This Company starts out with bright prospects, having as their president B. I. Rayner, one of the pioneers in fox farming in Prince Edward Island, and a man who has had wonderful success in the business, having in his own ranch last year an average of five and three-quarters, the largest average of any ranch in the world. The men on the board of directors from our own town are Major Freeman, ex-Mayor Harlow, John Wilkinson and Andrew Clark; D. G. Harlow secretary and treasurer of the Company, and Charles R. Chipman, solicitor. Twenty-six acres of land have been purchased from Major Slocumb at the eastern end of the town, and work will begin at once on this property. The ranch will have electric lights, burglar alarms, burglar proof doors, night watchman, and everything that goes to make an up-to-date ranch. Buildings will be erected, including residences for manager, stables, etc. etc.

Mr. Rayner is to supply and place in the ranch not later than Sept. 1st four pairs of his famous silver black foxes, and is to superintend the building for the first year.

The Company will be capitalized at sixty thousand dollars in shares of $100 each.

Thirteen thousand five hundred was subscribed at the first meeting, and the stock is selling rapidly. This is as good a silver black fox proposition ever presented to the people of Nova Scotia, and therefore presents the best opportunity for investors, of either large or small amounts, to share in the immense profits being reaped from the raising of silver black foxes.

OBITUARY

MRS. WILLIAM DURLING.

At her home, West Inglewille, Feb. 10th, Charlotte Durling, wife of Wm. Durling, passed on to her Heavenly home, aged eighty-nine.

Our sister was spared days of weariness and nights of pain. Suddenly the summons came, and the battle fought, the victory won, she entered into rest.

Forty years ago she enlisted under the banner of King Jesus, uniting with the Methodist church of the place, of which she remained a consistent member until the summons came that called her from the cares of earth to the joys of heaven. She was interested in all the life about her. She leaves to mourn her loss a loving and faithful husband, six sons and four daughters.

The funeral at her home was conducted by her pastor, Rev. Armistead. Interment took place at Lawrencetown.—COM.

MRS. RUTH ANN BANKS.

At East Arlington, Annapolis Co., on Jan. 27th, Mrs. Ruth Ann Banks passed from this earthly home to the home not made with hands.

She was sixty-six years and four months old. At the age of eighteen she was baptized by Rev. William Cunningham and has ever remained faithful in her duty in church matters, until old age prevented her. Her husband passed away twenty-one years ago. Her funeral was largely attended.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Whisman, her pastor, from the words, "Good hope through grace," Thes. 2: 16.

Our sister will be greatly missed in her home, where she had a welcome word to all that called to see her, but we know she has a welcome beyond where all is joy and peace.

MR. WILLIAM RISTEEN.

Mr. William Risteen died at his home at Arlington, Annapolis Co., on Jan. 20th, at the age of seventy-eight years. After several weeks of suffering, he passed away to await the day of judgment. He was always kind to all around and ever found faithful when able to attend church. He leaves one daughter living in Boston, Mass., and one sister to mourn the loss of a kind father and brother. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Whisman, who spoke from Ps. 90: 9.

MRS. ADELAIDE McLAUGHLIN.

Mrs. Adelaide McLaughlin, at the County Home, in the 83rd year of her age. Known in many homes of this town as a faithful, reliable helper. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."—COM.

Paradise and Clarence Experiences.

The individual who so successfully imposed upon the farmers and others at Granville, a full account of which appeared in the Monitor's last issue, is still at large, and his work is being traced by his other spheres of operations. Leaving Granville he proceeded in the direction of Paradise and put up at the hotel, repeating his performances as to buying farms, banking accounts, etc. After three or four days' residence at the hotel, he disappeared, leaving his board, etc., unpaid, and no more was seen of him in Paradise.

Mr. Carey Durling having heard that he was continuing his activities at Clarence, determined on giving him a lesson, and accordingly proceeded to Clarence. Having located the supposed purchaser of farms, Mr. Durling gave him a sound lecture and warned him to desist, leaving him in a very crest-fallen condition. The following morning he had moved to another district, and for a few days no further news was obtained.

From latest information the Monitor understands that Niebau Falls has likewise fallen a victim, and he is supposed to be somewhere in that locality.

It is time the police combined and put this plausible gentleman behind bars, and so protect the public.

Sanford Committed for Trial.

Windsor, Feb. 13.—The preliminary examination in the Belmont murder case was held today before Justice Frederick Curry, W. M. Christie, K.C. appeared for the prosecution; H. W. Sangster, on behalf of the prisoner, William Henry Sanford.

The first and principal witness in the morning was Leonard Harvey, to whom the prisoner first confessed that he had killed his mother. The witness stated that the father of the prisoner, the late Ezra Sanford, died six years ago this month, leaving a widow, two boys and three girls, Theodore, who does the bulk of the work about the farm, William Henry, the prisoner; the two eldest girls are mostly away from home, Huldah in Portland, the other in Halifax, and the youngest, Lavinia (16) who was at school when the murder was committed.

The witness detailed the facts as already published showing how the prisoner told him of the crime, how he had remonstrated with him for striking his mother, the best friend he ever had, and when asked why he did it, the prisoner said his mother attacked him with the poker, and he had killed her or she would have killed him. The poker, which was found lying across the wood box, on the other side of the room from where the body was found, was described as about two feet long, and about three-quarter inch in diameter. Not a very formidable weapon in anyone's hands. The witness described the Sanford family as peaceable, quiet neighbors, and the murdered mother as a kind neighbor, always helpful and kind in cases of sickness or trouble of any kind. The axe, with the blood stains thereon, the staple and chain with which the outer door was fastened by the prisoner when he left the house, and the hammer used in driving the staple or fastening the chain, were produced in Court. The witness also said the prisoner had an impediment in his speech, and in many ways seemed a little queer.

Robert Conlon, Constable and Jailor, gave details of the prisoner's arrest about 7 p.m. on Friday, or his conversation with Sanford who admitted his crime, and said made no effort whatever to avoid arrest.

These two evidences occupied the time until adjournment at one o'clock.

James Parquhar, Stipendiary Magistrate, who was foreman of the jury at the inquest, held on the body of Mrs. Ezra (Amie) Sanford on Friday, described what he saw in the home, the body lying face downward, with the hands under it, the floor saturated with great quantity of blood, and the paper on the lower part of the wall splashed with blood. Saw Coroner Reid put the pole of the axe, or one end of it, into the wound in the head, which it fitted. On Monday, by instructions of the Coroner, he went to the house and made a plan (produced in Court) and the bloody axe. (Here Mr. Sangster objected to this evidence, the plan having been made after the occurrence.)

With this evidence the Crown Prosecutor rested the case, further evidence being considered unnecessary.

Justice Curry then committed the prisoner to take his trial at the Supreme Court here in May next at which the several witnesses were instructed to appear.

Fighting Continues in Mexico

Mexico City, Feb. 16.—An armistice of twenty-four hours was arranged between the Federals and Rebels at two o'clock this morning, and effective until two o'clock tomorrow morning. The terms were agreed to by both President Madero and General Felix Diaz.

Later the armistice was extended to eight o'clock Monday evening. Hostilities were resumed with fierceness in the Mexican capital today, after a truce which lasted only a few hours. The armistice, signed at two o'clock Sunday morning by the representatives of both sides, agreeing to suspend operations for twenty-four hours, was broken before noon. Soon the sound of heavy cannonading and the whirl of machine guns announced the return of the Federal troops to their positions in front of the arsenal.

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE OPENS

The Speech from the Throne Read Before a Full Assemblage—Legislation for Erection of Hospitals for Treatment of Advanced Cases of Tuberculosis Promised.

With one exception the usual form and ceremony attended the opening of the Provincial Legislature on Thursday afternoon, a few moments after three o'clock, by the Honorable James D. McGregor, Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia. Everything in the programme passed off successfully save the playing of the National Anthem by the Royal Canadian Regiment. Upon the Lieutenant-Governor's arrival this was found impossible as the instruments were frozen and no sounds would issue therefrom.

A few seconds before three o'clock Governor McGregor, accompanied by his private secretary, Captain Hicks, drove through the south gate of the Provincial Building. The avenue was lined with a full company of soldiers from the Royal Canadian Regiment, in command of Captain du Domaine, and constituting a guard of honor. When the Governor stepped down from his carriage the guns on the Citadel boomed out and upon the moment the guard saluted. At this point the regimental band which should have burst forth into the straining strains of "God Save the King" was found wanting. It was so unable to play at the Governor's departure from the building.

After referring to the visit of their Royal Highnesses, the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall to Nova Scotia, to the farming, fishery and lumbering industries, the Speech from the Throne dealt with the coal mining industry, and stated that the past year was a record one in output, that "further legislation will be introduced during the present session providing for the improved construction of a certain class of roads, and for the more efficient care and maintenance of our highways."

RURAL TELEPHONES.

Realizing how essential it is for the comfort and prosperity of those living in our rural sections that they should enjoy the advantages of telephone communication with all parts of the Province, and to enable them to get into immediate touch with the industrial centres which furnish a market for their products, legislation will be introduced for the purpose of financially assisting and for facilitating the construction of rural telephone lines, with the view of giving every section of the Province a cheap and efficient telephone service.

TUBERCULOSIS.

Although it is most satisfactory to learn that there has been a considerable reduction during the last year in the number of reported deaths from tuberculosis, a result, I am sure, obtained by a wider dissemination of the proper methods to be used in combating this disease, yet point the loss and suffering thereby still should have burst forth into the straining strains of "God Save the King" was found wanting. It was so unable to play at the Governor's departure from the building. After referring to the visit of their Royal Highnesses, the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall to Nova Scotia, to the farming, fishery and lumbering industries, the Speech from the Throne dealt with the coal mining industry, and stated that the past year was a record one in output, that "further legislation will be introduced during the present session providing for the improved construction of a certain class of roads, and for

Illustrated Lectures

A fairly good attendance was present to hear the illustrated talk on "The Church's problem of caring for the Immigrant" given in St. James' Church schoolroom last Wednesday evening.

After giving statistics covering the total number of incomers during the last decade, "Whence they came" and "whither they go," some five dozen pictures were thrown on the screen depicting landing scenes and many views along the way, as well as Western life, the latter especially illustrating the difficulties under which spiritual ministrations are inaugurated and maintained in the sparsely settled districts. This talk was the first of a series. The second will be given this (Wednesday) evening, and will be illustrative of "Medical Missions," commencing at 7.30. Silver collection to defray expenses and help the work.

Nova Scotian in Trouble.

New York, Feb. 13.—The glittering swath that William Van Taffey, a young bank teller of Middleton, N.S., has cut through New York, Boston and London, ended here tonight in a Police Station. Van Taffey, who is only twenty years old, is charged with cashing a forged draft for $5,400 on the Royal Bank of Canada, at Vancouver.

According to the complaint Van Taffey on the first of the year resigned as paying teller in the Springhill, N. S., branch of the Royal Bank of Canada. He forged the name of the cashier to a draft made payable at the New York branch of the bank, then came here and representing himself as the payee got the money. After a gilded career in Boston and London he returned to New York, where he was arrested by a detective, who gained his confidence by posing as a millionaire's son. According to the police, Van Taffey admits his guilt.

It must satisfy you.

If it doesn't, your dealer, backed by us, gladly returns your money.

Isn't that a sincere way to invite you to try it?

TORTURED FROM BABYHOOD

"Fruit-a-lives" Cures Constipation

MISS E. A. GOODALL
BRIMSTON, ALTA., Nov. 20th, 1911
"I have been a sufferer since babyhood from that terrible complaint, Constipation. I have been treated by physicians, and have taken every medicine I heard of, but without the slightest benefit. I finally concluded that there was no remedy in the world that could cure Constipation. About this time, I heard about "Fruit-a-lives" and decided to try them. The effect was marvellous. The first box gave me great relief, and after I had used a few boxes, I found that I was entirely well. "Fruit-a-lives" is the only medicine that ever did me any good and I want to say to all who suffer as I did—"Try this fruit medicine and you will find—as I did—a perfect cure!" (Mrs.) E. A. GOODALL
"Fruit-a-lives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit and the only one that will positively and completely cure you of Constipation. Sec. a box, 6 for $1.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

IRON ORE SHIPMENTS.

W. F. C. Parsons, chief engineer of the Canadian Iron Corporation, whose works are at Nictaux, N.S., says that the industry has progressed so well that by the coming season they will ship 100,000 tons of hematite ore, a good market being found in the United States, Germany, in Scotland, and elsewhere. They employ about 150 men, and ship at Port Wade, a very well sheltered harbor on the Bay of Fundy, where there is twenty-six feet of water, at low tide and where a steamer took a full cargo late as the 25th of December. In fact the Government spent $125,000 on a fine wharf at this point, and the Canadian Iron Corporation have erected thereon ore receivers, holding 8,000 tons, and they can load 1,000 tons of ore an hour into the steamers. The shipping is done over the Halifax and South Western, Port Wade, named after an able representative of Annapolis County in the House of Commons, being their shipping port. The Dominion Atlantic also runs near the deposits, and Mr. Parsons says that the big company is spending a lot of money getting their fine property into shape for carrying traffic in a much more efficient manner than under the old regime.

Funeral of the Late John Howe Savary

His Remains Arrived in Digby Tuesday Morning, 11th inst.—Interment in Forest Hill Cemetery.

The remains of the late John Howe Savary, a notice of whose death appeared in our last issue, arrived here Tuesday morning, says the Digby Courier, via St. John, and were conveyed to J. F. Rice's undertaking rooms, First Avenue, and from there to Forest Hill cemetery, the services at the grave being conducted by Rev. Wm. Driffield, rector of Holy Trinity Church, Digby. The pall bearers were Mayor H. B. Short, F. W. Nichols, T. E. G. Lynch and O. S. Dunham.

Accompanying the father, Judge Savary, and brother, Rev. Thomas Savary, (rector at Kingston, Ont.), from Annapolis were Rev. Mr. How, Rev. Mr. Muir, Judge Owen, George E. Corbett, Esq., and other prominent citizens of that town and Grandville Ferry. The floral tributes were beautiful, among which were a splendid floral wreath from the citizens of Virden, Manitoba, forwarded by Rev. Mr. Robertson; a beautiful wreath from the Bank of Ottawa staff at Regina, and many others, a complete list of which was difficult to obtain.

Before removing to Saskatchewan, Mr. Savary spent several years at Virden, Manitoba, where he was a great favorite in the social life of the place. He was a vestryman and auditor of the church, prominent in the Tennis Club and Athletic Club, and manager of an amateur dramatic club. When he left that place for a post further west, he and a colleague who left with him were given a public dinner by the citizens.

In a letter from Regina, in which much is said in regard to his efficiency as a banker, the following paragraph gives an account of his death as far as it is known:

"How the poor boy came to his end does not seem altogether clear. He had been at the theatre in the evening with some of the boys from the bank and came home with them, apparently in the best of spirits, went to his room, got partly ready for bed and was apparently sitting on his bed when the pistol was discharged. He had in his room several fire arms, most of them of very unique pattern, which he kept as curios. Everything points to an accident, for his correspondence and business arrangements, even up to the last day, showed him to have well defined plans for the future."

There were no money difficulties or the slightest hint of any trouble with the bank. Not only in the West where he has resided of late, but also in Nova Scotia he was well and favorably known, and the news of his untimely death was heard with regret by a large circle of friends, who extend their sympathy to the bereaved father, stepmother, to whom he was deeply attached, and to the other members of the family.

Sores From Elbow to Fingers.

ZAM-BUK WORKED A MIRACLE OF HEALING.

REVEREND GENTLEMAN FULLY CORROBORATES.

Miss Kate L. Dolliver, of Caledonia, Queens Co., N. S., says: "I must add my testimony to the value of Zam-Buk. Ulcers and sores broke out on my arm, and although I tried to heal them by using various preparations, nothing seemed to do me any good. The sores spread until from fingers to elbow was one mass of ulceration."

"I had five different doctors, and faithfully carried out their instructions. I drank pint after pint of blood medicines, tried salve after salve, and lotion after lotion; but it was of no avail."

"My father then took me thirty miles to see a well-known doctor. He photographed the arm and hand. This photograph was sent to a New York hospital for the specialist; but they sent word they could do nothing further for me, and I was in despair."

"One day a friend asked me if I had tried Zam-Buk. I said I had not, but I got a box right away. That first box did me more good than all the medicine I had tried up to that time, so I continued the treatment. Every box healed the sores more and more until, to make a long story short, Zam-Buk healed all the sores completely. Everybody in this place knows of my case, and that it is Zam-Buk alone which cured me."

Minister corroborates.—The Rev. W. B. M. Parker, of Caledonia, Miss Dolliver's minister, writes: "This is to certify that the testimonial of Miss Dolliver is correct as far as my knowledge goes. I have known her for a year and a half, and her cure effected by Zam-Buk is remarkable."

Wherever there is ulceration, blood-poison, sores, cold cracks, abscesses, cuts, burns, bruises, or any skin injury or disease, there Zam-Buk should be applied. It is also a sure cure for piles. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. per box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse cheap and harmful imitations and substitutes.

Experiments to Find Origin of Cancer

Berlin, Feb. 15.—The results of experiments to find the origin of cancer are published by Prof. Johannes Fibiger, director of the Pathological Institute at Copenhagen, in the clinical weekly. These show cancerous growths in the esophagus and stomachs of rodents due to the presence of worms in the alimentary tract, an indeterminate number of which are from the common kitchen cockroach. Prof. Fibiger succeeded in producing cancer by feeding the parasites eggs of cockroaches to rats.

The experiments are considered as being of great importance to seekers for a cure of cancer as they form the first experimental production of the disease.

The success of civilization depends on the success of the mutual understanding between class and class, and the workings together of these in sympathy.

Joker's Corner.

MISLEADING.

Bill Smith, a country shopkeeper, went to the city to buy goods. They were sent immediately, and reached home before he did. When the boxes were delivered, Mrs. Smith, who was keeping the shop, uttered a scream, seized a hatchet and began frantically to open the largest one.

"What's the matter, Sarah?" said one of the bystanders who had watched her in amazement.

"Pale and faint, Mrs. Smith pointed to an inscription on the box. It read: "Bill inside."

BET THEY WERE READ.

One day little Willie's mother missed him for some time, and when he reappeared she asked: "Where have you been, my pet?"

"Playing postman," replied the "pet."

"I gave letters to all the houses in our road. Real letters, too."

"Where on earth did you get them?" questioned his mother in amusement, which changed to horror when he answered:

"They were those old ones in your wardrobe drawer tied up with ribbon."

UNNECESSARY INSTRUCTIONS.

"Now, Tommy," said his mother, giving her final instructions before he left for the Christmas party, "remember, if you're asked to have something you want, you must say 'Yes, thank you,' and if you don't want it—"

Tommy raised his hand. "That's all right, ma," he said, "you needn't bother about that part of it."

THE MINISTER'S SLIP.

A man returning to his native town after a long absence met his former pastor. After mentioning various friends the man asked: "Oh, by the way, when do you expect to see Deacon Smith again?"

"Never," said the minister, solemnly; "the Deacon is in Heaven."

"Hoo is it Jermes, that ye mak' sic an enarmous profit aff yer potatoes? Yer price is lower than any ither in the toon and ye mak' extra reductions fer yer friends."

"Weel, ye see, I knock aff twa shillins a ton because a customer is a friend o' mine, an' then I jist tak' two hundredweight aff the ton because I'm a friend o' his."

SURE IT WAS SAFE.

"You say that your airship is absolutely safe," said the investigator.

"Now, how can you make that statement?"

"We haven't been able to get it to leave the ground," replied the inventor.

Sharp—"What in the world are you doing?"

Mrs. Sharp—"What am I doing? I'm sowing the seeds of enlightenment to poor down-trodden women."

Sharp—"Well, instead of sowing any more seeds you'd better go home and sew some buttons on my shirts."

Editor—"Did you get this idea out of your own head?"

Artist (eagerly)—"Yes, sir."

Editor—"Do you feel any better?"

W. J. KELLY, OF KELLY VILLA, AYLESFORD, DEAD.

We have received a few lines from Mrs. W. J. Kelly conveying the sad news of the death on Jan. 29th, at Brooklyn, N. Y., of Mr. Kelly at the age of seventy-four years.

For several years Mr. Kelly spent his summers at his beautiful residence, Kelly Villa, at Aylesford, N.S. He had been in poor health the past year, and last summer was unable to make his annual visit to Nova Scotia.

In his younger days Mr. Kelly followed the printing business, attaining a high position in the craft. A dozen years ago he was sent to St. Petersburg to install the first color printing press in that city.

During his visits to Nova Scotia, Mr. Kelly made warm friends who will hear with regret of his death. —Outlook.

She claimed the right and was granted the right of acting as the lord proprietor's attorney.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1913.

The Lenten Pastorals recently published in the morning papers contain lessons valuable, not only to the persons to whom they are specially addressed, but to all others.
One of these Pastorals deprecates incongruities in life and conduct. It insists that what is good for the purifying and upbuilding of character
during the Lenten season is equally good for every season. To enter upon a course of self-denial and lofty endeavor, with the understanding that at the close of a certain period this is all to be abandoned, and that there is then to be a return to lines
of conduct which were deemed inconsistent with this special time, indicates a totally wrong conception of the real design of good effort.

It is like taking one step up a ladder and another step down ladder. There is no progress toward those ideals which every sincere aspirant after moral progress continually keeps before him. The important truths which the Lenten season commemorates are designed to be just as influential upon personal character and conduct at any other period of the year as during this special time.

The other Pastoral emphasizes the importance of the home in relation to the development of the character of the young upon lines which prepare them for a useful and exemplary place amid the activities of mature life. The youth who forms habits of truthfulness, obedience, courtesy, helpfulness and regard for the feelings and rights of the other members of the home is almost certain to carry these valuable characteristics with him into the wider sphere
of school or college, or office or factory, or other business and social relations. A recent cartoon represents a room, on the wall of which is a framed motto, "God Bless Our Home." But the father and mother are evidently engaged in warm dispute, while the children look on in fear, and even the family cat is roused from her nap before the grate.
The two parts of this picture are not in harmony. And it would not be surprising if in such a home
the improper parental example would be more influential for evil than the reading of the excellent motto
would be for good. "O consistency, thou art a jewel."

The following communication was addressed by W. G. Clarke, Esq., of Bear River, to Judge Savary, Annapolis, and was forwarded by him to the N. S. Historical Society, and read at its meeting on the 7th inst.:

Mr. Edward Powers, of the contracting firm of Powers and Brewer,
who are building the new railway
bridge at the mouth of the Bear River, while boring to ascertain the depth of the mud at the point where the heaviest piers are to be located came upon an obstruction. This obstruction, upon investigation, appears to be a sunken vessel. At the point where this occurred there is twenty feet of water at low water,
and the obstruction or vessel referred to is covered with twenty-five feet of silt or mud, showing that many years have passed since the vessel first settled at that point.
Further investigation shows the vessel to be about one hundred and twenty feet long and twenty two feet wide. In using the diamond drill to discover the nature of the obstruction, they have bored through two or three thicknesses, which would indicate that the frame of the vessel is still intact, and from the core brought up on the auger, the planking appears to be of oak. The ballast, which was struck by the auger after boring through four inches of plank, was found to be of a material

very like flint, but entirely different from any material found in this locality.

"It occurs to the writer that this may be an old French vessel sunk at this point in the early history of the locality. Do you know anything of the sinking of a craft in the early history of this country? I have submitted these facts in the hope of getting some information and felt that you would be interested."

The probability is that the surmise of Mr. Clarke is correct, that these timbers are parts of the hull of a French vessel, but for what purpose, or under what circumstances, brought to this locality, will, in all probability never be discovered.

In different parts of the Province
interesting relics of the old days
when French and English contended
for possession are still to be seen.
But many others have been neglected and destroyed. The best preserved are found in Annapolis Royal and are well worthy of a visit. The ruins of old Louisbourg show the solidity of much of the work done
for the security of the city, and it is to be regretted that nothing has been done to preserve these ruins from the tooth of time. On the grounds of the railroad station of the present busy town of Louisbourg
are two cannon which a few years since were taken from the bottom of the harbor near its mouth, and though rust-eaten, are remarkably preserved after the submersion of one hundred and fifty years or thereabouts.

In Cumberland County near the border of New Brunswick are the remains of Fort Beauséjour, taken from the French, and re-named Fort Cumberland. No effort has been made to preserve the magazine or any of the works, and they are fast falling into decay. Students from a neighboring town have long been accustomed to make pilgrimages to this historic spot, eat their luncheon under the shadow of one of its buildings and review its history.

But, after all, the best influence which the memory of these old scenes of strife and blood-shed can have upon us is to make us thankful that we live in happier days, and to promote in us desires and efforts
for the world-wide spread of international peace and amity.

Capt. Robert Falcon Scott, R. N.,
of the British Exploring Expedition, with four brave associates, lost their lives in a blizzard on their return journey from the South Pole, which they had reached just about a month after Amundsen had planted
there the Norwegian flag.

Capt. Scott leaves a widow and little son. One of the sad things is that Mrs. Scott sailed sometime since to meet her husband at a port in Tahiti, which had been figured upon as the first port of call of the returning party. Efforts have been made to reach the ship by wireless,
but it is not probable Mrs. Scott will hear of her great loss until her arrival in New Zealand. The lost party was within eleven miles of a food depot, and some of the crew were there, who, if they had known of the danger, would at once have gone to the rescue. Capt. Scott's last message closes thus:

"These rough notes and our dead bodies must tell the tale, but, surely,
surely, a great rich country like ours
will see that those who are dependent upon us are properly cared for."
The British government and people have been greatly stirred by this appeal and the response will be adequate.

It is believed that these brave men have not died in vain. They have obtained information respecting weather indications and changes in these southern latitudes, which will be of great service to navigators
and lessen the danger to their lives.
The full story of the expedition will be eagerly awaited.

Ratepayers of Bridgetown, when you meet this evening in solemn conclave to deliberate upon the propriety of continuing the good work upon the streets, please do not forget the sidewalks. Nothing has been done on most of them for a long time, and some of them, at some seasons, are in a very poor condition. Take, for example, Washington Street. About five hundred feet, some of them big, but most of them little, tramp up and down on

Endowment for Mt. Allison
Graduates of Mount Allison University will be interested in the announcement that the Sackville institution is shortly to inaugurate a campaign with a view to very largely increasing the endowment. This college, established in 1858, has come to be regarded as one of the most valuable assets of the Maritime Provinces, and an institution of very considerable importance in the national life of Canada. Statistics show that in proportion to the total number obtaining its degree Mount Allison men stand at the head of the list of those securing honors in the larger universities and meeting success in Canadian public life.
It has been the practice in the Sackville institution to fix the tuition fees so low that one dollar's worth of instruction has been given for every forty cents of revenue from students, but unfortunately the endowment fund has not been sufficient to make up the remaining sixty cents. The result has been shown in the way of an annual deficit and in rendering impossible such improvements and extensions in the work as have from time to time been considered necessary and advisable.
For the purpose of enabling the university to meet the requirements of the present day, it has been decided to seek an additional endowment of one quarter of a million dollars. A campaign is now being arranged during which it is hoped all former students and other friends throughout Canada
will come to the assistance of the college and aid in helping it not only to maintain its present high standard, but to establish new branches, provide new buildings, grant suitable remuneration to the professoriate, and generally to advance along such lines in such manner as is demanded by modern methods
of education.
Mount Allison students are to be found everywhere in Canada, and it is hoped they will generously respond
when the time comes.

Lawrencetown
Lawrencetown, Feb. 16th.—A meeting has been called to discuss the advisability of putting in electric lights. An electrical engineer was present and assisted in the discussion. The prospect is favorable at the present time.
Dr. Hall spent a few days in Halifax last week.
On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. S. E.
Bancroft entertained the ladies of her Eible Class and the Sunday School teachers.
Mrs. E. A. Phinney spent last week
at Berwick and Aylesford visiting friends.
Mr. Todd, of Dalhousie, visited his sister, Mrs. Buckler, for a few days.
Rev. Mr. Muir, of Annapolis Royal, gave a recital in the Temperance Hall last Wednesday evening.
On Thursday evening a fancy sale
and supper was held in the vesty of the Baptist church. The sum of thirty dollars was realized for church purposes.
Much praise is due Mrs. (Dr.) F. W.
Young and her organized Sunday School class of juniors. By their untiring efforts with sales and socials they have furnished the parlor of the new Methodist parsonage. This is the youngest organized class in the county.
Dr. Hall and Mr. Edgar Shaffer
are the speakers for the men's meeting on Sunday evening, the 23rd. It is expected a double quartette will provide music.
Frances Stoddart, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stoddart, entertained her young friends very pleasantly at a birthday party.
Rev. J. L. Batty will give a lecture in the Methodist church on Wednesday evening. Subject, "John Bull and his Neighbours."
Mr. and Mrs. Walters and children have returned to their home in Al-beria, having spent some time visiting Mrs. Walters' parents, Postmaster and Mrs. H. Y. James.
Mr. Laurie Kinsman, of Lakville, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. Newcomb over Sunday.
Rev. James Neave, lately returned from West China, spoke in the Methodist church on Monday evening last.
Lawrencetown is also enjoying the privilege of excellent lectures, recitals, etc.
Mrs. Ward, of Halifax, is the guest of Mrs. H. C. Freeman.
Rev. A. F. Newcomb, Superintendent of the British and Foreign Bible Society, visited Mr. and Mrs.
N. H. Phinney last week.
Rev. Mr. Fletcher, Secretary of the Foreign Missionary work in Canada, occupied the pulpit in the Baptist church on Sunday morning and gave a missionary address in the evening.
Mr. Richard Pierce passed away
very suddenly of paralysis on Friday morning, the 7th. The funeral took place the following Sunday in the Episcopal church, of which he has been janitor for a number of years.
Rev. Mr. Morris, of Middleton, conducted the service. The remains were laid to rest in the Whitman cemetery. He is survived by a widow and four children.

We regret very much the miscarriage last week of one of the mailbags containing the Monitors for Western subscribers. The said bag had a journey west and then east
and then west again.

CORRESPONDENCE.
DO YOU REQUIRE HELP?
To the Editor of the Monitor-Sentinel:
Dear Sir:—Will you kindly inform your readers that all farmers who require help during the coming season should write immediately to me for application forms. A large number of very desirable farmers and farm laborers
of sound British stock will arrive in this country early in the spring, and many of these wish to work for a while on a Nova Scotian farm before purchasing land for themselves. Employers should act immediately. Last year a large number of applications were received too late in the season for procuring satisfactory help. Applications will be filled in the order received.
Yours faithfully,
ARTHUR S. BARNSTEAD,
Secretary Industries and Immigration,
Halifax.

Before Stipendiary Elias Messenger
on Monday afternoon a liquor case was heard. John Tylor, of Inglewood, was summoned for selling liquor on December 19th to George Kelsey. The evidence was to the effect that the latter went to Tylor's residence with the idea of interesting him in a proposed skunk farm,
and during the course of the day
Kelsey claimed that he had got drunk on cider, for which, he alleged, he paid ten cents to the son of the defendant. The defendant totally denied that money had passed as payment. Mr. Parsons appeared for the prosecution and Mr. O. S. Miller for the defendant. After a two hours'
hearing, the stipendiary adjourned
the case until Wednesday, 2 p. m., when his decision will be given. Quite a number of persons were present, and much interest was evidenced in
the proceedings.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL.

Read and digest Gilbert Hartt's advertisement on page eight.

The lantern lecture tonight (Wednesday) in the St. James' school-room will be on "Medical Missions".

The lecture on "John Bull and His Neighbour" by the Rev. J. L. Batty, will be fully given in the Monitor's next issue.

The dry goods store of H. D. Road, of Berwick, was destroyed by fire last week. The loss was heavy and only partly covered by insurance.

The regular annual meeting of the Bridgetown Foundry Co., Ltd., will be held in their warehouses at Bridgetown on Tuesday, Feb. 25th, at 2.30 p.m.

Returns are still coming in to the Riverside Cemetery Co., from the invitations to their Birthday Party. The amount received up to date being about $135.00.

Our Town Clerk has heard from the Federal member that he is endeavoring to have placed in the Supplementary Estimates an appropriation for Bridgetown.

Mr. G. MacGillivray has been appointed agent for Hamilton-Catty and Brockbank, the well-known real estate agents at Kentville. Look at advt. in this issue.

The last of the famous Starratt vs. D. A. R. apple case is not yet in sight. The Monitor understands that an appeal to the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia will be made.

The management desires to express its keen appreciation of the renewals by subscribers during the past week, thus clearly proving that a clean, cultured journal is well appreciated.

The Kentville vs. Annapolis hockey match, in the local rink last night (Tuesday) was won by the former to the score of 5-3. A full account will appear in the next issue of the Monitor.

The first Presbyterian church of Truro was destroyed by fire on Thursday of last week. The fire is supposed to have started from hot ashes left where they could do harm. Loss $12,000.

Death occurred at Kentville last week to Cuthbert Harrison, aged seventy-two. The deceased was a native of Manchester, England, and for a number of years was a resident of Colbrook, Kings Co., later residing in Kentville.

The snow the past week has enabled the farmers to get a start on their wood hauling, and the latter part of last week was fully improved by teamsters bringing logs to the mills in town. A citizen who watches these things informs us that he never remembers seeing as many loads of logs and wood come into town in one day as on Friday of last week.

L. J. Burton, who has been appointed manager of the new fish hatchery, at Middleton, has arrived from Margate with his family, and is stopping at H. W. Dodwell's house. This week Mr. Burton is receiving 100,000 speckled trout eggs from Montreal, and leaves in a few days to obtain two million salmon eggs at Margate, where they have six millions on hand.—Middleton Outlook.

Mr. Sydney R. Fay, of the firm of Lunenburg & Fay, Real Estate Brokers, Saskatoon, who recently returned there, after spending Christmas with his father in this town, has written home saying the partnership business between himself and Mr. Lunenburg has been re-organized, and they are now known as the International Securities of Canada, Ltd. Mr. Lunenburg being president and Mr. Fay vice-president of the company.

The drop curtain for the Recreation Hall is nearly completed, and a splendid scene has been painted thereon by Mr. A. R. Bishop. The picture represents a Swiss or Austrian scene. In the foreground is a beautiful chateau at the top of a hill, beneath which a road runs to a large lake, which is surrounded with mountains. In the roadway are two figures. The chateau itself is nearly enclosed by trees and the banks leading thereto are covered with rich foliage. The whole picture is most entrancing, and reflects the greatest credit upon our local artist.

The Valentine Party held in the vestry of the Baptist church last Friday evening, was a decided success from every point of view. The various booths and tables were very attractively decorated and showed excellent taste on the part of the young ladies who had the affair in hand. The Valentine idea of Cupid and hearts was well sustained and carried out in the decorations and in the "goodies" that were on sale. The following young ladies were in charge of the different booths:—Ice cream, Mrs. G. E. Hoyt, Misses Beeler, Lee, Reed and Daniels; tea booth, Misses Healey and Craik and Mrs. O. P. Covert; cake, Mrs. Ernest Foster, Mrs. H. Mundy, Mrs. F. V. Young, Miss Florence Foster; candy, Misses Marguerite Hicks and Edith Chute.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Beckwith, accompanied by Mrs. (Dr.) Beckwith, returned from Halifax on Tuesday, after a month's vacation.

Mrs. Mary A. Chute is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Currell, after an absence of several months in Hantsport.

Ex-Mayor Hoyt has been confined to his house the past week through illness. His many friends will be glad to learn that he is much better and hopes to be out in a few days.

Mr. Gordon Brown, teller of the Royal Bank, is back at his post, after a few weeks' vacation spent in Boston and New York. He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. J. W. Piggott, on his trip to Boston.

Mr. Alfred Vidito suffered from a slight shock of paralysis in one leg recently. He is now gradually regaining the use of the limb. Although an octogenarian, Mr. Vidito has been very hale and hearty and rarely missed his daily walk down town.

Mrs. Edward Messenger, of Centreville, a sufferer from that malignant disease cancer, went to the Halifax Infirmary two weeks ago, and was there operated upon. The Monitor understands that Mrs. Messenger is progressing as well as can be expected, and will probably arrive home this week.

Mr. D. Schurman, Charlottetown, who has been in town for some days, left Monday morning for Moncton. While here he disposed of a large block of stock in the Samson Silver Black Fox Co., Charlottetown, in which he is interested. During his stay in town he was the guest of his relative, Mr. Hannington. Mr. Schurman is always a welcome visitor in our town.

Entertainment in Warren's Hall

The Riverside Cemetery Co. give a topic social in Warren's Hall on Tuesday evening, Feb. 25th, at eight o'clock. There will be a short programme, music, readings, etc., with refreshments served during the evening.

An interesting feature of the entertainment will be the reading of letters received by members of the Company from many, who though no longer residing in Bridgetown, are still deeply interested in its welfare, and express warm approval of what is being done toward improving its cemetery and a desire to assist in promoting the work. Come to the Social and hear for yourselves these messages from old friends, who "though absent" have "not forgotten Bridgetown." Topics for the evening are as follows:—
1. Books we have enjoyed.
2. Favorite winter sports.
3. Places we have visited.
4. Work that interests us.
5. Favorite summer amusements.
6. Suggestions for our next social.
There will be music, vocal or instrumental and readings between the topics, the last topic being probably discussed with the refreshments.
Admission 25 cts.

Calithumpian Carnival.

With the temperature in the day much below zero, a cold cutting wind chilling one through and through, and at night time the thermometer showing eight degrees above zero, it is small wonder that the Carnival did not get the large crowd of enthusiasts anticipated. However, in spite of these adverse circumstances, there was an excellent attendance on Wednesday night, a number of the hardy ones having driven in from Middleton and Round Hill to swell the local assemblage. Had the weather been ideal there would probably have been a record crowd. The interest in the one mile event, between Ernest Marshall and George Dechman was very keen, the latter winning somewhat easily. Marshall was handicapped from the fact that his skates could have been in much better condition. The town band was in attendance, and their renderings were very much enjoyed. The Merchants' Cup Race will take place somewhere about the first week in March, and already considerable interest is being taken in the matter. It is for two miles and is open to the County. The next Carnival to be held will be a Masquerade, and it is to be hoped that better weather conditions will prevail.

Tragedies in Niagara Falls

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 15.—Two men suicided in Niagara Falls yesterday. An unidentified man, about twenty years old, who told Reservation Officer Knapp he was from New York, drove into the rapids above the Horse Shoe falls and was carried to death over the cataraet.

Patrolman Charles Smith, of the city police force of Niagara Falls, New York, was on this side of the river, sight seeing with a party of friends, and declares that he and his friends plainly saw a man leap from Prospect Point to the ice covered rocks below the American Falls. A search of the rocks failed to disclose the body. Smith and several others are emphatic in their statements that they saw the man take the leap.

UNHEALTHY TALK

The ordinarily intelligent man has no sympathy with those who decry a change in our manners simply because it is a change. Our grandfathers, for example, were in the habit of kissing the hands of their lady friends, but instead of kissing hands we have learned to shake them, a change, it is true, from the graceful to the graceless, but not one that we need deplore. The only changes that we need deplore are those that imply some loss of kindness, or some thickening and coarsening of the mental fibre.

Mr. Henry Cabot Lodge indicates some of these in the current issue of "Scribner's Magazine." He tells us that when he was young he was taught, and very vigorously taught, that it was not good manners to discuss physical ailments in general society, and that it was the height of vulgarity to talk of the cost of things, whether your own things or those of other people. But we have changed all that nowadays. Mr. Lodge tells us that he now hears surgical operations, physical functions, disease and its remedies freely and fully discussed at dinner and on all other occasions by the ingenious youth of both sexes, while a few moments of talk of such an extent that polite conversations now resemble nothing so much as a tariff debate.

Now these are changes that it is well to deplore, because they do imply a vulgarly so general that there is no one to rebuke it. The avoidance of health topics is not a mere convention. It is due to the fact that these topics are usually disgusting. If my stomach is out of order, with all the usual implications of symptoms and remedies, I have no more right to say so to any one but a doctor, than I should have a right to display my sore toe at the dinner table, supposing I had the distinction of possessing a sore toe. Both subjects are equally repulsive. Everything relating, even by inference, to the inside of the body is repulsive, and when the said inside is diseased the topic becomes not only repulsive but nauseating. And yet we talk about it. We talk about it to such an extent that decent people almost dread to use the conventional greeting of "How are you?" for fear of calling forth a flood of filthy pathological details that would sicken a crocodile.

Of course the people who talk in this way are not wholly to blame. They only reflect the spirit of the day. Preachers and doctors are in an unholy league to persuade us that health is the most important consideration in life instead of being one of the least important. There is hardly a newspaper without its medical page. Books about health appear in one unending and ill-smelling flood. Health organizations bombard us for subscriptions, votes, and sympathy. All of which we might endure even to the loathsome conversations at the dinner table, in the street-car, and wherever else two or three are gathered together, if only the agitation was likely to do any good. But that, of course, is impossible. It would be fairly safe to predict that no one who talks about his health at improper times can live to an old age. There is nothing the body resents so much as being thought about.

A MAN AND HIS MOTHER.

These words are written for some one particular man who sees this page. I do not know his name, but I know his story.

He is a middle-aged man, married, prosperous. He is a good man, highly respected, and has an idea that he is doing his full duty by his old mother, who lives in his home and whom he supports. He supplies her wants. She eats at his table, is sheltered by his roof, is warmed by his fire, is decently clothed by his hands, but that is all. He neglects her. He never says a word of affection to her. He never pays her any attention. When she ventures an opinion he cuts it short with curt comment. When she tells her garrulous old stories, as old people will, he does not even try to conceal how much he is bored. Under this coldness and neglect the poor old mother's heart is breaking, and in a letter, written in a trembling and feeble handwriting, she asks me if I cannot say something that her son will read and may make him think. Ah, if I only could! If I could only say to him: "Man, man, give love as well as duty to your mother. Give her the wine of life as well as the bread. Don't forget the woman who never forgets you."

Of course the man will say, and truly, that he is busy, overworked, care-burdened; that he has the claims of wife and children upon him, that he is often irritated through sheer physical weariness and overstrain. Granted. But your mother's life has not been easy. Your father was a poor man, and from the day she married him she stood by his side, fighting the wolf from the door with her naked hands, as a woman must fight.

She worked not the eight or ten hour day of the union, but the twenty-four hour of the poor wife and mother. She cooked and cleaned and scrubbed and patched and nursed from dawn until bedtime, and in the night was up and down getting drinks for thirsty lips, covering restless little sleepers, listening for croupy coughs. She had time to listen to your stories of Loyalism and frolic and triumph. She had time to say the things that spurred your ambition on. She never forgot to cook the little dishes you liked. She did without the dress she needed that you might not be ashamed of your clothes before your fellows. Stop, man, and think what would life have been to you if she had treated you in your childhood as you are treating her in her old age. Suppose there had been no warm, caressing mother's love. Suppose there had been no soft breast on which you could weep at your childish sorrows, no clinging arm to enfold you and comfort you when the things of your little world went wrong.

Would it not take away from you the memory of all that is best and sweetest in life? Is there anything else so pitiful on earth as the little child that is motherless—that is an alien in a strange home—that has no one to love it?

Yes, there is just one other figure more forlorn than the little unloved child, and that is the old mother who is unloved by the children she has raised, and who is doomed to spend the last years of her life in a placid atmosphere of neglect, her devotion, her labors, her sacrifices forgotten.

BIRTHDAYS.

(Abbie Mills, A. M.)

In my Lord's pavilion hiding,
With the Comforter abiding,
Blessed years are swiftly gliding;
Years and birthdays.

Off in memory backward glancing
Where youth's rosy lights were dancing,
Then recalling, while advancing,
Vanished birthdays.

More and more the upper glory,
Shines along earth's pathway hoary.
Peace weaves, in and out, the story
Of the birthdays.

Birthdays less'n'ing, heaven nearer
Each one leaves the pathway clearer
Things unseen are growing dearer
Every birthday.

Foregleams tell of dawn eternal,
Where the fields are ever vernal,
Time, submerged in the supernal,
And the birthdays.

—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

It is very certain that no man is fit for everything; but it is almost as certain, too, that there is scarce any one who is not fit for something. Nature points out to him by giving him a tendency and propensity to it.

EYES OF A PORTRAIT.

Why They Seem to Follow Observers Moving To and Fro.

The fact that the eyes of some portraits follow the observer as he moves to different positions has always been looked upon as a triumph of realism. Although the phenomenon has been exaggerated in some instances, it is not a myth. If the eyes of the portrait look at the observer in a favorable position they will continue to do so within a wide angle extending to any situation where a view is possible. Contrarily, if the eyes do not intentionally look at the observer they will not do so even though he take his station at a point where the painted gaze is seemingly directed.

Suppose that the portrait head is in three-quarter face turned to our left, with the eyes turned toward the spectator. If we move to the right we do not obtain another view of the head—that is, we do not move into the profile view that would be the case in real life. We see the same three-quarter head, but lessened in perspective. The picture itself is on a flat canvas and becomes narrowed in perspective, as does any flat surface beheld at less than a right angle. A square seen at less than a right angle tends toward the projection of an oblong. Under these conditions the face of the portrait becomes elongated proportionally. It still looks at the spectator because it possesses all the drawing that was seen in the front view, narrow now because viewed from an acute angle.

This fact will be more readily understood by the spectator if he will half close his eyes until unable to appreciate the surroundings of the picture and the acute angle which the painted surface bears to him. The contraction of the features will be apparent at once. The photograph of a portrait at an acute angle would show the perspective narrowing more plainly. It is this contracted portrait that is seen when moving to the right or left of it. The principle would be the same if the spectator take a station higher or lower than the picture, except that the head would then appear to be widened instead of narrowed. Whatever the position of the spectator, the eyes will look at him if they do so in the first place because there is no other place for them to look.—Harper's Weekly.

THEY DID NOT RETURN.

The Four Men That Handled a Hearse in South Africa.

"Talking about omens," said the Canadian soldier, "a queer thing happened in the Boer war.

"A troop of mounted rifles were returning after a hard day's scouting to our camp near Middleburg, in the eastern part of the Transvaal. On our way back we had to pass the town cemetery, which was on the side of a hill. Near the gate of the cemetery stood a shed in which was kept the town hearse.

"The doors of this building were open as we were riding past, and in some manner the blocks which were usually kept under the wheels of the hearse must have become dislodged, for the hearse slowly moved out of the shed and rolled down the hill into the middle of our party, who scattered in all directions.

"The officer in charge of the troop ordered four men to dismount and take the hearse back. Now comes the queer part. Soon after this we went to Cape Town and took ship for home. Every man of that scouting party returned alive and well to Canada except the four men who handled that hearse. Not a man of that four returned."

The former warrior paused and heaved a sigh.

"Good men, true comrades, they were," said he. "The reason they did not come back was because two of them got good jobs in Cape Town; the other two married Boer widows and settled down on farms," he said.—New York Sun.

One Thing He Remembered.

He was standing near one of the stann windows in the general post office. His face was flushed and his features distorted while he gazed with his teeth at a knot in his handkerchief. When the knot gave way a friend who had been watching the unusual performance stepped up and asked, "What was the knot for—to remember something?" "Yes, to have my wife's umbrella mended." "Did you have it done?" "No; forgot the blamed thing in the subway. But I remembered the knot all right."—New York Tribune.

When Solid Iron Floats.

Experiments show that if a ball of solid iron is lowered into a mass of liquid iron by means of a metal fork the ball at first sinks to the bottom with the fork. But in a few seconds it leaves the prongs and rises to the surface, where it continues to float until it melts. The rising is explained by the expansion of the ball to heating, whereby it becomes bulk for bulk, less dense than the molten metal.

Her Reasons.

"So you want to interest yourself in politics?"

"Well," replied the energetic woman, "I kind of thought maybe that if I could tend to the politics for the family John would find time to stay home and put up some shelves in the pantry."—Washington Star.
