GREAT BRITAIN GOES TO WAR SAYS SIR EDWARD GREY

London, Aug. 3--Sir Edward Grey in the House of Commons this afternoon announced that orders for the mobilization of the army as well as the navy have been issued.

"At last," he said, "the suspense is at an end.

"We believe every Briton with any sort of manhood in him, will hear the news with relief.

"Since Germany will have it, she shall have it in full measure.

"No nation ever went into war with better heart or clearer conscience than Great Britain does now."

Brussels, Aug. 3--Belgium today cast her lot with France, against Germany. The government received from Berlin the proffer of an understanding provided Belgium would facilitate movement of German troops.

An answer was requested by 7 a. m.; the cabinet met in special session immediately upon receipt of Germany's proposal. The ministry refused to accept it.

ALL ENGLAND BACK OF ASQUITH WHATEVER DECISION IS REACHED

Pledge Support--Regarded as Certain That England Will be Involved--Germany Working Through Switzerland--Russia Presses England to Make Declaration

(Special to Times)

London, Aug. 3--Today's announcement by Premier Asquith in the House of Commons is anxiously awaited as an official proclamation of England's position in the Armageddon that is seemingly at hand. That Great Britain will back up Russia is not doubted, but it is learned today that dissension has arisen in the cabinet over the question of whether British armies and fleets should enter the conflict at once.

A special cabinet meeting was called early today. Leaders of the Unionists, the opposition party, visited the premier before the ministers were called, and pledged their support to the government in whatever decision might be reached.

All England, unquestionably, stands united behind the government. There is no wild excitement here, but only a grim resolve that every man will do his duty when called upon.

President Poincaré in his decree proclaiming a state of siege says that it is to be maintained throughout the duration of the war. It is the first time that the word war has officially been mentioned by the French republic.

The rapid and aggressive action taken by the German forces indicates that they are attempting to strike a decisive blow at France in order to be ready to meet the Russian armies, whose mobilization requires more time than those of France.

News that German troops had invaded Belgium came today a few minutes after Brussels had flashed an announcement that the Belgian government had refused a German offer of an entente provided the movement of Germany's troops into France was facilitated.

Then came a Paris despatch stating that Germany had seized Basel. These reports show that Germany is striking at France along the latter's northern and eastern frontiers. By putting Switzerland hors du combat immediately, Germany's troops will be able to make junction with those of Italy in case that country rescinds her announcement of neutrality and carries out the obligations imposed by the agreement of the Triple Alliance.

Gloom fills the city today. Everywhere there is a feeling of depression and apprehension, even the most optimistic feeling certain now that England will be involved in the war and that the strife involving all of Europe will last for many years.

This is the annual bank holiday here. Usually it is a day in which all London tries to leave the city and go to the country, but very few left here today. Food prices in many sections of the city have almost doubled in value. Despite this hundreds of thousands of persons here are laying in big stocks of provisions, feeling certain that prices will soon double and triple the present prices within a week.

The city of Liege, which the Kaiser's troops are approaching, is regarded as an Austro-Hungarian frontier guard. The Servians fired on their own river boats, killing and injuring many men.

Sumner Parliaments

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3--An Imperial Ukase has been issued summoning the duma to meet in extraordinary session on August 8.

Paris, Aug. 3--Late last night President Poincaré decided to postpone the meeting of parliament until Wednesday, owing to the inability of a number of deputies to reach Paris by Tuesday, the date originally set.

In Japan

Tokyo, Aug. 3--The Emperor has specially summoned the privy council to consider Japan's attitude with relation to the European war. The Emperor has asked Lieut. General Oka, the minister of war, to report to him on the condition of the army.

German merchant steamers, which were taking temporary refuge in Japanese ports, were ordered by Germany today to hurry to Tsing Tau.

Financial

Liverpool, Eng., Aug. 3--The directors of the Liverpool Cotton Association, at a meeting this morning, resolved that the cotton exchange be closed indefinitely. A resolution also was passed declaring that until further notice all trading in futures, and all tenders and settlements for future contracts be suspended, and that until arrangements to safeguard the interests of all concerned can be made no trading in spot cotton shall be allowed.

Vienna, Aug. 3--The Austro-Hungarian bank has raised its discount rate to eight per cent.

Athens, Aug. 3--The council of ministers decided today that Greece would maintain her neutrality through the Austro-Serbian conflict but if any Balkan States profited through the situation Greece would be compelled to take action.

Paris, Aug. 3--A German officer at Conchery, a frontier town, today killed a French corporal. Two German patrols subsequently attacked the town and the reports received at noon said that fighting was going on.

Helped Stranded Tourists

Washington, Aug. 3--Reassurances were given by Secretary of State Bryan that all Americans in distress in Europe for lack of money, or means to return home, would be assisted by the United States government through its diplomatic representatives abroad. This is one of the steps in the department's plans to afford relief to the thousands of stranded Americans abroad, who had found it practically impossible to cash checks or letters of credit because of the financial stringency resulting from the European war.

American Legislation

Washington, Aug. 3--Legislation to prevent suspension of trans-Atlantic shipping and an embargo on the movement of crops during hostilities in Europe, was considered in the house today, in the form of a proposal to amend the Panama Canal Act, so as to permit foreign ships to take American registry.

The amendment was to be pressed for immediate passage. Its chief feature would eliminate the requirement that ships must be five years old to qualify for American registration, authorize the president to suspend provision that all watch officers must be Americans and suspend the requirement for survey, inspection and measurements, by United States officers, of foreign built vessels admitted to American registry.

The amendment has been agreed upon by President Wilson and democratic leaders.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL ACCEPT WISHES OF PARLIAMENT FOR PEACE OR FOR WAR

Sir Edward Grey, British foreign secretary, stated in the House of Commons today that the house was free to decide what the British government action in the conflict should be. Sir Edward added that Great Britain had not committed herself to anything but diplomatic support.

Hundred Thousand Germans In Paris Can Not Get Home

Italians in French Capital Form Volunteer Corps to Fight For the French

London, Aug. 3--A Paris despatch to the Daily Telegraph says that all communication with Germany, either by telegraph or railway, has ceased, as well as all railway communication with Belgium. No French train proceeds further than the frontier towards Belgium and Holland. The Germans have blown up the lines at all frontier stations. No trains are running in Belgium, and more than 100,000 Germans in Paris are anxiously wondering how they are to return home. They seem to have no sense of their situation, but sit outside the cafes talking German.

Strong Declaration by the Czar

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3--The capital spent a historic day on Sunday. When it became known that a special service of prayer was to be celebrated at the Winter Palace, where the Emperor was to show himself to the people, an extraordinary wave of exaltation passed over the city.

The Emperor, in a brief speech, expressed the calm dignity with which Russia had received the declaration of war and the confidence of the nation that the war would be carried to the desired end.

"I here declare solemnly," the Emperor said, "that I will not make peace while a single soldier of the enemy remains on Russian soil."

KAISER SEEKS TO USE BELGIUM London, Aug. 3--Germany has sent an ultimatum to Belgium in which she offers an entente provided Belgium facilitates the movements of German troops.

BELGIUM REFUSES London, Aug. 3--A Brussels despatch to the Exchange Telegraph says that the Belgian cabinet's response to the German note, offering an entente if Belgium would facilitate the movement of German Troops, has been given and is in the nature of a formal refusal.

GERMANY SAYS FRENCH TROOPS HAVE CROSSED BORDER Berlin, Aug. 2--(Delayed)--French soldiers crossed the frontier last night at Laschutt, a small village in the Vosges Mountains. Shots were fired on the German post, but no damage was done.

MOVEMENT OF GERMAN FLEET London, Aug. 3--It is reported that the German fleet has passed through the Kiel Canal, and is steaming in a westerly direction.

THE NIOBE IS TO BE MANNED Ottawa, Aug. 3--Orders have been issued to all Canadian government steamers to stay in ports.

TODAY'S WAR FEATURES

London, Aug. 3--Violation of neutral territory by Germany, daring frontier raids by German, Russian and French troops, clashes between outposts, the bombardment of a Russian Baltic port by a German warship, and the seizure of merchant ships by Russia and Germany, constituted the striking features today of the war on which virtually the whole continent of Europe has started.

Russia Anxious For England's Aid The Russian Ambassador, Count Bouckendorf, is exerting every possible effort to force England into formal declaration of war alliance with the Czar. He called upon Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary of England, four times within the last twenty-four hours.

GERMANS MEET TWO DEFEATS; FRENCH BEAT OFF INVADERS

Paris, Aug. 3--Two defeats of German troops invading France were announced by a news agency here today. It is stated that in one engagement on the frontier a division of Uhlans, the famous cavalry of the Kaiser's army, was routed by French troops and 2,000 prisoners captured. A German patrol that crossed the border near Longwy was repelled. Two German officers and twenty soldiers were killed.

London, Aug. 3--A wireless despatch to the admiralty states that a German column, consisting of 20,000 men, were heavily repulsed while attempting to invade France near Nancy on Sunday.

GERMAN CRUISER BOMBARDS RUSSIAN PORT OF LIBAU ON BALTIC; PLAGE IN FLAMES

Berlin, Aug. 2--Via Brussels, Aug. 2--The small cruiser Augsburg has sent the following report to Berlin by wireless--

"Am bombarding the naval harbor at Libau, and am engaged with enemy's cruiser. The naval port of Libau is in flames.

Libau is one of the principal seaports of Russia, on the Baltic Sea, 100 miles or more north of the German coast. It is fortified and is used as an arsenal by the navy.

The German protected cruiser Augsburg is of 4,250 tons displacement and her chief armament consists of twelve 4.1 inch guns. Her crew aggregates about 400 men.

German Fleet Bottled Up?

London, Aug. 3--The German fleet in Kiel Harbor is reported to have been bottled up today. Wireless despatches say that heavy firing in the North Sea was heard last night, indicating that a naval engagement was going on.

The German embassy today denied that two British merchant vessels had been seized. It said that they had changed their destination because of the military operations.

London, Aug. 3--German cavalry today raided the French frontier near the Fortress of Belfort, and attempted to commandeer horses, according to despatches from Paris. German patrols also twice attacked Jonchery near Belfort.

EARLY MORNING NEWS OF THE WAR SITUATION

Germany and France Each Fencing To Force Other To Make First Declaration of War--Active Fighting Already--Russians Cross German Border--Local Officers Volunteer and Offer To Raise Regiments For Active Service

London, Aug. 2--Four great powers of Europe, Austria-Hungary, Russia, France and Germany, are now engaged in actual warfare, but the extraordinary position obtains that two of them, Germany and France, have not only not declared war against each other, as far as is known here, but have not suspended diplomatic relations, and this, despite the fact that Germany's ultimatum to France has either been ignored or rejected.

The explanation would appear to be that Germany and France are each seeking to throw upon the other the onus of beginning the war. In fact, while the nations of Europe are flying at each other's throats, they are vying with each other in protesting their desire to maintain peace, and they repudiate the responsibility for plunging the whole continent into bloodshed.

In this curious situation France, according to British opinion, has the strongest justification. She certainly was the last to mobilize and seems to have taken the greatest precautions to avoid frontier collisions.

On the other hand, Germany, in addition to invading French territory without making a formal declaration of war, has violated the neutrality of Luxembourg and declines to give any understanding in respect to Belgium's neutrality.

The efforts of the British ambassador at Berlin to secure such an understanding have been wasted. It is difficult to see how Great Britain can avoid being drawn into the conflict to protect Belgian and Dutch neutrality, and on this point Premier Asquith's official announcement in parliament is awaited with intense anxiety, the British public being no longer under any illusions as to the gravity of the crisis, which transcends anything in their experience.

The government took three measures for defense today, none of them inconsistent with the policy of remaining outside the conflict, if that should be her policy. The naval reserves and naval marine pensioners were called out by proclamation, the territorialists, who had just assembled at the training camps for annual practice, were ordered back to their headquarters; the Home Secretary prohibited flights over the entire kingdom, and territorial waters, except by military craft.

Lieut.-Colonel James L. McAvity, the commanding officer of the 62nd Fusiliers, sent the following telegram to Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia and Defence yesterday:

"Hon. Sam Hughes, Ottawa. "Offer my services and guarantee to have complete regiment of war strength at once."

"JAMES L. McAVITY, "Lieut.-Col. O. C. 62nd Fusiliers."

Lieut.-Col. McAvity said last evening that of course the 62nd Fusiliers could not volunteer as a regiment, but that he had volunteered personally and was ready to raise a regiment of volunteers for foreign service. He felt sure that many of his own command would volunteer as soon as they saw what was doing, and there would be many more. "The telegram I have sent the Minister of Militia speaks for itself," he said.

Col. H. H. McLean, senior military officer of New Brunswick, wired the Minister of Militia on Saturday personally volunteering for active service and offering to raise a regiment. Col. McLean is the commanding officer of the 28th New Brunswick Dragoons and yesterday he was in communication with the officers of his command in order to ascertain how many would volunteer for service at once.

Not only in the city but throughout the province has great interest been manifested in the coming struggle. There was hardly a place of any size in New Brunswick from which a telephone message did not come yesterday for the latest news. In giving the people the momentous news The Telegraph and Times set a new mark for local journalism. The editions of The Telegraph and Times at noon and 5.30 respectively were completely sold out although the combined editions amounted to more than 15,000 copies and complimentary references were made to the enterprise which enabled the St. John people to follow the world news so promptly the service being secured by special cable some ten or twelve hours ahead of the regular press service. Today's developments, the people will await with breathless suspense.

How Russia Broke With Germany. St. Petersburg, Aug. 2--The rupture of diplomatic relations between Russia and Germany took place under dramatic circumstances. It was midnight Friday when Count Von Pourtales, the German ambassador to Russia, visited Foreign Minister Sazanov and asked for an urgent interview. As soon as he was received he formally called upon Russia to cease her mobilization in twelve hours. The allotted period of time passed without an answer. At 7 o'clock Saturday evening Count Von Pourtales again called upon M. Sazanov and again asked if Russia would cease mobilizing her forces. Finally the Russian statesman replied: "Inasmuch as the Russian government has not answered the ultimatum you specified, it follows that Russia has decided to agree with your demands."

Three times Count Von Pourtales repeated the German ultimatum, and each time the Russian foreign minister met his statement with the same answer. Finally the count rose from his chair, bowed and left the room without another word. He and the members of his staff departed from St. Petersburg by way of Finland. The protection of Russians in countries at war with Russia has been entrusted to Spain. Germany's Challenge. London, Monday, Aug. 3--By invading and occupying the Neutral Duchy of Luxembourg yesterday, Germany has struck the first blow of the war on the continent, and she has aimed it directly at France.

The operation opens up the famous Tonn of Treves gap in the French fortified lines, which is approached by the Luxembourg railway. About this place apprehensions were expressed by military men in France a year ago. This gap, which may affect the course of the Franco-German operations in a vital manner, was made without a declaration of war upon France, so far as is known here.

Almost at the time with the news of the aggressive movement by Germany, word came of an actual violation of French territory in the vicinity of Cleve, near Nancy. One report, which seems to be well based, says German cavalry was reconnoitering there.

London, Aug. 2--The steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie, of the North German-Lloyd line, carrying $13,000,000 in gold and silver, has been intercepted by four British cruisers. They are said to be escorting her to Southampton.

paid taxes, to the tune of more than 100,000 crowns, some belongings of Prince Blucher, in his Silesian chateau of Lutzen. The objects include things inherited from his great-grandfather, the famous Marshal von Blucher, popularly known in Prussia as "Old Marshal von Blucher," the hero of the German War of Liberation of 100 years ago. Among them was the traveling carriage of Napoleon, and which was captured at the battle of Waterloo by a detachment of Prussian cavalry under the command of Major von Keller, immediately after the Emperor's flight from the field.

The contents of the carriage included a sword enriched with diamonds, one of the emperor's overcoats, with a large quantity of unmounted diamonds in its pockets, to the tune of several millions of dollars, some very valuable papers, and a superb sagra or brooch, of large Brazilian diamonds, which Napoleon occasionally wore on his chapeau, for the purpose of fastening the tricolor cockade. Everything was turned over to King Frederick William III. of Prussia, who retained possession of the sword, the papers, and all the diamonds, and latter on constituting the finest necklace worn by the German Empress on state occasions; while he presented the traveling carriage as a memento to Field Marshal Blucher, who was associated with the Duke of Wellington in the victory of Waterloo.

Many visitors to London, will recall seeing there at the Tassaud celebrated wax-work exhibition in Baker street a carriage which purports to be the traveling coach of Napoleon, captured at the battle of Waterloo. The real carriage is in the possession of the present head of the house of Blucher, Prince Gebhard, or rather was, until it was seized by Austrian treasury officials of Troppau for non-payment of taxes by the prince. Probably he will redeem it, as he did some time ago fifteen hundred guineas, which was seized by the Prussian authorities, for an unassisted judgment obtained against him from the Prussian tribunals by his two sons, the Counts Gustav and Gebhard Blucher. The prince, who is in bad odor, both in Germany and Austria, makes his home in the possession of the island of Herm, where he owns the island of Herm, within sight of the coast of France.

The Living Sphinx of Egypt
(London Tit-Bits)
Such was the title once bestowed upon Lord Cromer, the great pro-consul and maker of modern Egypt, who at the moment of writing is reported to be lying seriously ill at his London residence.
It was as Major Evelyn Baring that he began his work in Egypt, thirty-seven years ago. He was then in India, and duly died by his friends. On that occasion one of his hosts is said to have perpetrated the following witty impromptu—
The Egyptians some patience have shown;
But our Evelyn Baring is such
That they will live to own with a groan
There's an Evil-in-Baring too much!

Later the Khedive would probably have said "Amen" to all that. Lord Cromer's long duel with Abbas was a triumph of strategy. Once when his highness was more than usually restless, Lord Cromer led him to a window and silently pointed to the court yard of the palace below, which had suddenly filled with thousands of bayonets. Crude, perhaps, the hint was, but it was none the less successful.
Lord Cromer's quick and daring methods in dealing with an Egyptian rising are further illustrated by the following incident. There were rumors of a native rising. Cairo was almost openly disaffected, and the British garrison was small. His lordship however, caused it to be known that a regiment was on the way from India, but he was careful not to explain that it consisted of sick-leave and time-expired men and bandisemen.
All the able-bodied soldiers in garrison were ordered to parade all over the town in small parties, and the natives did not take to the fact that they were a sort of stage army—the same men over and over again. The last straw was when Lord Cromer coolly put on flannels and publicly played game after game of tennis. This final piece of bravado nipped the threatened rising in the bud.
The Assassin's Mistake.
Several times during his early days in Egypt Lord Cromer's life was in danger. An English visitor who resembled him was found stabbed to death, having been killed in mistake for the great pro-consul; while on another occasion a dervish was found to have a knife concealed in his petticoat which he was about to present to His Lordship. And it was because he was always a power in Egypt, which admitted of no rivalry, and, although in 1883, when he was chosen agent and consul-general, highly placed Egyptians told him it would be impossible to do away with bribery and the buying and selling of justice in the land, the answer was, "I am here to change all that."
Lord Cromer once went to the Khedive to demand the instant dismissal of a high official who was the Khedive's intimate friend. Enraged at the request the Khedive refused point-blank to dismiss him. "Well," Lord Cromer replied, quite coolly, "unless I have an order of dismissal in five minutes I will go and cable to England at once that I am coming home. That will mean your de-thronement." And before Lord Cromer left the palace he had in his pocket the order he had demanded from the despot Khedive.
"Modern Delilahs"
The only occasion on which Lord Cromer seems to have expressed his views with more than usual verbosity was when he gave his opinion some time ago regarding suffragettes, to whom he is strenuously opposed.
"My main objection to women's suffrage," he said, "is that women are not men. I think that covers the whole ground, though it admits of being amplified and illustrated. All the information I have goes to show that the cause of women's suffrage is going down hill rather than up-hill. The suffragettes seem to have bored the country."
"What I am afraid of, however, is that in the heat of contested elections weak-kneed candidates, in order to get votes, will give rash and half-hearted pledges, from which they will find it difficult to escape, and thus, having been shorn by a number of modern Delilahs of that strength which comes of independence, they will be unable to resist suffragette and suffragist Philistines."
The views are a little strong, perhaps, but they are typical of the man who never minces his words.

Six Fires Near Quaco
It is believed that incendiaries have been at work in the vicinity of Ryan's Settlement, near Quaco, for within a radius of three miles six buildings have been destroyed by flames, including the quaint old Catholic church, two dwelling houses, and three barns. One of the houses was owned by Thomas Ryan, and another by Frank Baxter of this city. Neither had been occupied for some time, which lends ground for the suggestion of incendiarism. The little Catholic church was more than sixty-five years old, and was quaintly beautiful. It is now a heap of ruins. The total loss of the buildings burned is about $4,000.

CANADIAN LOYALTY.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier once observed that to make a parade of the loyalty of a people was like the conduct of a man who would boast about the virtue of his wife and sisters.

Are there still a lot of people in Canada who are surprised at their own loyalty, or is the parade that is being made in certain quarters indicative of another "flag election" in the near future?

The Montreal Star on Friday last devoted nearly half a page to the following sentences, set in very large type with a Union Jack on either side:

"Stand by the flag. Disaster to British arms means dissolution of Canada. Australia and New Zealand stand by mother land. Canada's duty imperative."

Why should there be any suggestion that Canada will not stand by the flag? Why should it be necessary to indicate that Canadians are not conscious of their duty? From every province in the Dominion, and before Sir Robert Borden and his government had cabled to London their views on the matter, there had come the offer of groups of men and of regiments for active service in defence of the Empire. Prominent militia officers throughout the country had also tendered their services, and entirely without distinction as to politics.

"When England is at war Canada is at war," to quote again from Sir Wilfrid Laurier. All that it will be necessary for any Canadian newspaper to do in this crisis will be to give the public the news. Canadian patriotism will know, without any frantic appeals from the Montreal Star or any other newspaper, how to give an account of itself in a great Imperial crisis.

THE "EASTERN QUESTION"

To understand the relations between Russia, Austria and Serbia it is necessary to go back to the period prior to the Russo-Turkish war and the treaty of Berlin, and to consider also the effect of race and religious sympathy upon political affairs.

While Russia had great territorial ambitions and sought to secure an outlet for her fleet in the Mediterranean, she was also interested in the welfare of those peoples of Slavonic origin in the Balkan Peninsula, who are also members of the Orthodox Greek church. The people of Bulgaria, Serbia, Bosnia and some other portions of what was formerly the Turkish Empire in Europe belonged to the Orthodox Church and also claimed a national kinship with the Russian people. In Hungary, on the other hand, the Magyars, who formed the ruling race in that part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, have always been more in sympathy with the Turk than with the Serbian, Bulgarian or Russian. Freeman tells us that "the geographical position of the Magyar Empire has been to keep the two great groups of Slavonic nations apart, and to his coming more than to any other cause we may attribute the great historical gap which separates the Slav of the Baltic from his southern kinsfolk in the Balkans."

Russia has never forgiven Austria-Hungary and Germany for their attitude when the treaty of Berlin was formed in 1878, at the close of the Russo-Turkish war.

Russia has never forgiven Austria-Hungary and Germany for their attitude when the treaty of Berlin was formed in 1878, at the close of the Russo-Turkish war. Russia has never forgiven Austria-Hungary and Germany for their attitude when the treaty of Berlin was formed in 1878, at the close of the Russo-Turkish war. Russia has never forgiven Austria-Hungary and Germany for their attitude when the treaty of Berlin was formed in 1878, at the close of the Russo-Turkish war.

England and Austria-Hungary refused to recognize the treaty of San Stefano, and gained the support of Germany, France and Italy. The Congress of Berlin was therefore called, and after a month of deliberations the Treaty of Berlin was signed, modifying and making such changes in the treaty of San Stefano that Russia, while forced to yield with a good grace, was filled with bitterness that has never been overcome. The expected nothing from England, since the latter had always opposed her movement toward the Dardanelles, but she did expect something from Austria-Hungary, and much from Germany. We are told that at the congress progressed, and the treatment of the Slav cause at the hands of the Germans and Magyars became more apparent, an intensely angry feeling sprang up in Russia, and so violent became the manifestations of the feeling against Germany and Austria-Hungary that Bismarck deemed it prudent to form an alliance with the latter power. This alliance was joined by Italy three years later. By the Treaty of Berlin the area of Bulgaria was reduced by more than one-half. Bosnia and Herzegovina were placed under the control of Austria-Hungary, along with the Sanjak of Novi-Basar, and while Serbia and Montenegro were recognized as independent principalities they only received slight concessions of territory.

There have been many changes in the Balkans since 1878, and Turkey has been shorn of more and more of her power. Austria-Hungary, however, has continued to be jealous of the growing power of Serbia, while the Servians, perhaps encouraged by their consciousness of Russian sympathy, have been quick to resent any real or fancied grievance. The tension between the two countries has been all the greater because Bosnia and Herzegovina, which were handed over to Austria by the Treaty of Berlin, are inclined to be Serbian in sympathy, as many of the people are in race and religion. Indeed millions of Austrian subjects are of the Serb race, and Austria's ambition has been to absorb more and more of the territory to the south.

Behind all the racial feeling and local troubles lie the rival ambitions of the Austrian, German and Russian Empires, and if the present trouble between Serbia and her big neighbor cannot be localized, it will be because the great powers so long gathering their forces for a titanic struggle believe the hour has struck, and that a fitting pretext may be found in the smaller quarrel on the banks of the Danube.

GERMANY'S POSITION.

What can Germany hope to gain by making into war? What is behind her action in challenging Russia, France, and becoming even more belligerent than Austria-Hungary, whose quarrel with Serbia would probably not have embroiled Europe in a general war but for the attitude assumed by Germany?

The answer to these questions does not lie on the surface. The swiftness with which the present situation has developed baffles the enquirer who seeks for an adequate and justifiable cause. Neither is there any appearance of wisdom in the course pursued by Germany. The combined sea forces of Britain, France and Russia should not only be able to destroy the German fleet, but cripple her commerce. The combined armies of the same three powers and of Serbia should overmatch those of Germany and Austria-Hungary. In this war Russia will be fighting from her home base, and with her immense resources in men can keep her armies up to fighting strength for an almost unlimited period. Without in the least disparaging the fighting quality of the German forces on sea and land, and the added strength of Austria-Hungary, the ordinary observer can see no prospect of an outcome of this war that would compensate Germany for the losses she must sustain. It is therefore extremely difficult to assign a reason for the policy she has adopted. An awful responsibility rests upon Emperor William and his advisers. They seem to have deliberately chosen to deluge Europe with blood, when wiser counsels would have averted a catastrophe the extent of which no man can estimate.

The battle-cry of France will be—"Remember Alame-Lorraine."

What steps will our naval minister take to protect the trade of St. John in the event of war? We would be grateful for even a "tinpot navy" now.

Canadians now realize the real value of the Laurier naval policy of protection for Canadian coasts and trade routes. The abandonment of that policy was a crime against the country.

Not lightly nor wantonly will Britain enter upon this war; but, if the hour comes to strike, the blow will be swift and sure. It will not be for nothing when the world's greatest war-fleet seeks out its proud and bitter foe.

Would Canadian soldiers be willing to fight by the side of the despised Hindu—who is not deemed good enough to be admitted into this country? It is safe to assert that if their services are required His Majesty's Indian troops will prove their quality, if need be, to the death.

Preacher Makes Reference To Graft
In a strong sermon in the Congregational church last evening, the pastor, Rev. R. J. Haughton, decried the practice of graft among the men who are placed at the head of affairs in our country. He said that many men see in their country only an opportunity to make and keep money and among men in positions of honor and fame, the more cleverly one can conceal his wrongdoings, the greater man he is considered—and this in spite of the fact that God has commanded, "Thou shalt not steal."
"When the police who are supposed to protect the people, will rob and steal, why wonder at the great numbers of youthful criminals?" he asked.
The speaker said that although it was unwise for a preacher to discuss party politics, the political atmosphere had become pestiferous and it was time to denounce it.

LIGHTER VEIN.

Whistler was in a London shop one day when a customer came in who mistook him for a clerk.
"I say, this 'at doesn't fit!"
"Neither does your coat," observed the painter, after eyeing him critically.

Justin McCarthy used to tell a story of Henry Ward Beecher. Mr. Beecher entered Plymouth church one Sunday and found several letters awaiting him. He opened one and found it contained the single word "Fool." Quietly and with becoming seriousness he announced to the congregation the fact in these words:
"I have known many an instance of a man writing a letter and forgetting to sign his name, but this is the only instance I have ever known of a man signing his name and forgetting to write the letter."

Ben Foster was noted for his shiftness. If it had not been for his wife he would not have done a stroke of work on his little farm and garden. It was all his wife could do to get him to work, for he preferred to sit and read all day.

One evening, after he had been reading French history with deep interest, he closed the book and said to his wife: "Do you know, Marie, what I'd do if I had been Napoleon?"
"O, yes, I know well enough," she responded. "I'd have settled right down on a farm in Corsica and let it run itself."

Where Shall I Invest My Money?

This is a question that often bothers us when we have any surplus money. Some people are born rich and do not have to provide for independence, others are looking for investments that will bring them in good dividends. The Silver Black Fox Industry in P. E. Island has made thousands of investors wealthy. In 1913 alone, 30 companies paid to their shareholders an average cash dividend of 105 p. c. Is there any other industry that would do this? 1914 dividends will be even greater than before. Now is the time to invest. Send in your application today to the St. Lawrence Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd. Head Office—Charlottetown, P. E. Island

Foxes Capitalized at $17,000 P. E. I.

This capitalization included all expenses for the first year up to September 1, 1913. In other words, the breeding stock will be ranches, cared for, fed, and all expenses paid for the first year without any cost whatever to the shareholders. Instead of paying the 10 per cent to 15 per cent increase charge paid to most ranches this money will go directly into the pocket of the investor.

Your Investment is Protected

Each director is placing practically all his fox investments in this enterprise and the directors have their interests so involved in this ranch that they cannot afford to let their interest and watchful care lapse for a moment. The best breeding stock has been secured and one of the strongest, safest and most convenient ranches yet established is being erected and equipped.

Wm. Moran, Secretary-Treasurer
I hereby make application for _____ shares of the capital stock of the St. Lawrence Silver-Black Fox Co., Ltd., Char. Inchar. Char. (Incorporated in P. E. I.) being 20 per cent. of total amount and agree to pay the balance on or before the first of AUGUST, 1914.
Should stock not be allotted it is understood that all money paid by me will be returned in full.

The Amazing Land of the Argentine

(London Answers.) usual little red-shaded lamps on the tables, was busy, crowds of passengers were dining, and the usual waiters were scurrying, and there was the usual continental fare, and champagne and Moselle wines, and the usual mineral waters you get on the Nord express. That gleaming train in central South America was the symbol of what railway enterprise has done in Argentina.

The difference between life in Buenos Ayres and life only a few hundred miles up country, is probably, far greater than the difference between Buenos Ayres and London. In "B.A." as it is called, you will find luxury on an exaggerated scale—expensive shops, costly motor-cars, well-appointed hotels, magnificent restaurants, and all the other accompaniments of a golden civilization. But a few miles out you come upon the gaucho, who practically lives on his horse, and whose one idea of comfort is a "blow out" on meat roasted in the open air.

Mr. Fraser has many interesting things to say of the gauchos, though here some who have lived amongst them will not agree with all that he says. He describes the gaucho thus: Concerning the Gaucho. "He still wears his old, picturesque costume, the broad sombrero, the shirt, and wide Turkish trousers, which may be any color in the spectrum, tucked in to his boots. In cold weather he wears over his shoulders the poncho—a blanket which has as many varieties of hue as his trousers. His saddle is ornamented with silver, and he has fancy stirrups and glistening spurs. But the chief part of his equipment is the big knife—often a foot long, and usually of fancy pattern—stuck in his belt. This is used freely for defensive purposes or to avenge some real or imaginary insult; it also serves when eating his lunch."

Mr. Fraser might have added that the knife is also used for skinning dead animals, chopping firewood, cutting up raw hide when making lassos or harness, and also for the purposes usually confined to a toothpick. The "wide" Turkish trousers are called bombachos.

"I recall one night, when at a forgotten siding the engine drew out to get water, taking a sunter along the train side. It was brilliantly lit with electricity, and the restaurant car with the

AN ADVANCE MODEL

The truly fashionable woman must pay heed just now to hints of fashions that are to come. Any plans for the future that do not include the short bolero or some form of coat are sure to be futile in their results. This model is a messenger of early autumn, and, although developed in one of the silks suited to tailored effects, it will look well in serge or cloth later on. The Russian tunic skirt is hemmed with Roman silk and the reverse, collar and cuffs are of the same trimming. Three and one-half yards of 44-inch material are required to make the dress, with 2 yards of 34-inch silk for the decorative revers.

CONSTRUCTION GUIDE: small "o" perforations and fasten with buttons; if desired, pleats may be omitted. Fabrics—Fancy crepe, silk, or tulle. Pattern—1 inch inside of double "o" perforations; roll over on outside on perforations for revers. Center-front indicated by large "O" perforation at lower edge. Close cut seam as notched to small "o" perforation; sew to sleeve as notched. Sew either collar to neck edge as notched; roll director collar as desired. The coats may be finished in round or square effect at the back and with or without pleats in front.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE

(In verse that no other man speaking our language could match, Kipling celebrated the Anglo-French entente, the understanding that is now to be subjected to the white heat of war. The lines, entitled "France," follow here):

Broke to every known mischance, lifted over all By the light sane joy of life, the buckler of the Gaul. Furious in luxury, merciless in toil, Terrible with strength renewed from a tireless soil, Strictest judge of her own worth, gentlest of man's mind, First to follow Truth and last to leave old truths behind— France beloved of every soul that loves its fellow-kind! Ere our birth (rememberest thou?) side by side we lay Fretting in the womb of Rome to begin our fray. Ere men knew our tongues apart, our one task was known— Each must mould the other's fate as he wrought his own. To this end we stirred mankind till all Earth was ours, Till our world-old stiles begat wayside thrones and powers, Puppets that we made or broke to bar the other's path— Necessary, outpost folk, heralds of our wrath. To this end we stormed the seas, took tack, and burst Through the doorways of new worlds, doubtful which was first, Hand on hilt (rememberest thou?) ready for the blow, Sure whatever else we met we should meet our foe. Spurred or balked at every stride by the other's strength, So we rode the ages down and every ocean's length! Where did you refrain from us or we refrain from you? Ask the wave that has not watched war between us two. Others held us for a while, but with weaker charms, These we quitted at the call for each other's arms. Eager toward the known delight, equally we strove, Each the other's mystery, terror, need and love. To each other's open court with our proofs we came. Where could we find honor else or men to test our claim? From each other's throat we wrenched, valor's last reward. That extorted word of praise gasped "twixt lance and guard. In each other's cup we poured mingled blood and tears, Brutal joys, unmeasured hopes, intolerable fears, All that soiled or salted life for a thousand years. Proved beyond the need of proof, matched in every clime, O companion, we have lived greatly through all time!

Yoked in knowledge and remorse now we come to rest, Laughing at old villainies that Time has turned to jest; Pardoning old necessity no pardon can efface— That undying sin we shared in Rouen market-place. Now we watch the new years shape, wondering if they hold Firce lightning in their heart than we launched of old. Now we hear new voices rise, question, boast or gird, As we raged (rememberest thou?) when our crowds were stirred. New we count new deeds afloat, and new hosts on land, Massed like ours (rememberest thou?) when our strokes were planned.

FOOLISH AND FEARFUL
PATRONS OF SAVINGS BANK
 They Seem to Think the Dominion of Canada is Not a Safe Custodian of Their Funds—A Small Run on the Local Institution This Morning

One of the results of the war situation which would be amusing if it were not pathetic, was a small sized run on the Dominion Savings Bank. The announcement was made in the morning papers that the office of the deputy receiver might be removed from St. John as a precautionary measure in case of a general strike.

This seemed to have been interpreted by many of the depositors as an intimation that they would not be able to secure their cash when they wanted it. This notion was taken, and a number of their patrons to the bank with their pass books to withdraw their funds. All morning long the bank officials worked to serve the clients of the bank and people in the waiting line outside impatiently at those ahead of them, apparently nervous at the sources of the Dominion of Canada that they might be removed before they got their money out of the bank.

Officials of the bank were able to assure their patrons that there was no cause for uneasiness, as the bank will continue to do business at the same place as of old. Even if the office of the deputy receiver were removed it would have no effect on the savings bank. These two matters are entirely separate and distinct and have no bearing on each other and deposits will be received and withdrawals paid just as promptly as ever, no matter what else may happen.

Most patrons of the bank are not in a hysterical mood, and the bank received the deposits of many of these in the ordinary course of business today. One man, who looked as if he worked for every dollar he got, shoved a roll of $100 in the counter and chuckled as he glanced at the line of anxious women remarking as he did so, "Well, I guess the Dominion of Canada ain't got a chance on it."

A run on a government bank is something unique in the history of this country, and is generally regarded as a joke on the part of the anxious ones who have the chief reason to complain are the bank clerks who have the work of paying out the money. These few days, as soon as the fears of their patrons have been allayed, will have the honor of receiving the deposits again.

Exchange Rate Soars
Statement By Local Bankers as To The War Situation Here

Local bank managers talk in a reassuring way today regarding the Canadian financial situation. They say that there is nothing to cause alarm in present conditions, and that even in the event of war there is no reason to believe that the results would be disastrous to Canada.

In the meantime, however, the rates of exchange have advanced, so that today a sterling draft on London costs $6.75 for a pound of twenty shillings, while the usual price does not range far from the mark of $4.86.

As a precautionary measure the banks are also taking steps to limit credit to essential needs. While the managers give assurance that there will be no lack of cash to meet the ordinary needs of domestic business, nothing of a speculative nature will be encouraged.

It is said that the high rate of exchange is a measure to prevent draining the country of gold in order to preserve an ample margin for domestic requirements.

Local business men are inquiring whether the moratorium issued by His Majesty obviating the necessity of meeting payments for the present will affect Canadian business with Great Britain. If so, the high rate of exchange will not affect them, immediately at least, as it will extend the time before their obligations become legally due.

Russian Troops Invade Germany

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Russian troops are invading the eastern part of Germany in force. General minor conflicts have occurred near the border, according to official reports issued here, but no general conflict has yet been precipitated.

MR. FOSTER'S VIEW OF BUSINESS OUTLOOK

"I see nothing in the present situation to cause any disturbance in the commercial situation in Canada," said Mr. Foster this morning, when asked if the wholesalers in his line had yet felt any effect of the war situation. "There is nothing to upset the usual course of our business as I understand it, and I should expect anything of that nature to be met by the business community."

No further word was received from Ottawa today by any of the office commanding local units regarding the have as yet come to hand, and until such are received no further action will be taken. Many of the officers have volunteered their services, and large numbers of the men have expressed their willingness to be on the firing line.

LABOR MEN READY TO FIGHT

INCORPORATION

C. F. LANCASTER

In Lancaster, the folks of late, seem anxious to incorporate. That they may better governed be, but whether worse or not, we'll see.

Hearing of street talk not a little, it worried much old Sandy White who ignorant of dictionary. Desired information badly.

In search of this he hunted round until a Main street merchant found who much activity had shown. In making his ideas known.

Then timidly old Sandy asked, while his good stick he firmly grasped. The meaning of incorporation. Which caused him so much botheration.

Ahem, ah, the merchant started, then into explanations darted. Incorporation and corporation. Spells nothing but our whole salvation.

We then will have him rule right here. And like a big firm, can sell beer. Or anything that we desire. That doesn't make the taxes heavier.

A watering cart and concrete walks. A swell town hall, which no one knocks. An opera house and snow plough too. Are of advantages a few.

The town will then a mayor get. An he would manage things, you bet. Just like a firm on business lines. And his assistants would have minds.

No doubt about it, Sandy, man. As all about this town you scan. You see big rooms for change to good. And so incorporate we should.

"But merchant, Sir," old Sandy said, "A question has come in my head. Where will you get, high up, or low. The right man who would boss this show?"

"It has been hard this far I know. To get three councillors in row. Worth looking at election noon. Who could their duties well perform."

"Another thing, can we secure. These new improvements needed sore. Unless we pay from our own purse. More than at present we disburse."

"If we could get the proper boss. Who would not upward taxes toss. And give us some things that you name. I'd vote that way and more the same."

"But those who talk incorporation. Should further go in explanation. And offer for the public service. Such real and brains as they can give us."

"Then when the new machinery comes. We would not hand it over to drones. But have these men right on the job. And thus their previous statements prove."

As Sandy homeward turned his way. A neighbor heard him softly say. "We need good men, in price and pay. Let system be what'er it may."

His Honor Mr. Justice McKeown this morning delivered judgment in two cases brought against W. E. McIntyre, Ltd., for violation of the Canada Temperance Act at McAdams Junction. Mr. McIntyre was convicted in both cases by Police Magistrate Luke Lawson. The convictions were taken up on certiorari by H. O. McInerney, acting for Mr. McIntyre, C. F. Inches appearing for the magistrate. The principal ground taken against the validity of the convictions was that the place of return mentioned in the summons issued by the magistrate was uncertain. Upon these grounds Mr. Justice McKeown ordered that both convictions be quashed.

ARREST IN ROTHESEY

Something Unusual in Peaceful Suburb

Considerable excitement was caused in the park at Rothesay yesterday by the actions of a man said to have been the worse for liquor. The man, who is supposed to belong to St. John, arrived in Rothesay yesterday afternoon and called at a house where his wife is employed as a servant. Trouble followed and it was soon necessary to call upon the authorities. The man was placed under arrest by the village constable and conveyed in an automobile to Hampton where he was placed in the Kings county jail.

SANG NATIONAL ANTHEM

IN PORTLAND CHURCH

The solemnity of the feeling that the British Empire may be on the verge of war was given expression yesterday morning at the service in Portland Methodist church. The pastor, Rev. M. E. Conroy, dealt with the international situation in his sermon taking for his text the words: "The fruit of the spirit is peace." At the close of the service the entire congregation arose and joined in singing the National anthem.

LOCAL MAN TELLS OF GREAT BRITAIN'S NAVAL RESERVE

F. J. Punter Explains System Which Gives King a Powerful, Trained Body of Men To Call On

The following telegram was sent to the minister of militia this morning by Lieut.-Col. J. L. McAvity, commandant of the 62nd Regiment, St. John Fusiliers:—"Col. Sam. Hughes, Minister of Militia and Defence, Ottawa. "The under mentioned officers, 62nd Regiment, St. John Fusiliers, volunteer their services to go with a Regiment under my command for active service: (Signed) JAMES L. McAVITY, Lieut.-Col. O. C. 62nd Reg. Major J. S. Frost, Capt. L. W. Peters, Capt. E. J. Fleetwood, Capt. J. R. Miller, Capt. D. D. McArthur, Capt. F. F. May, Capt. C. I. Dunfield, Capt. H. E. C. Sturdee, Capt. T. M. McAvity, Capt. A. O. Dawson, Capt. Geo. Keefe, Capt. H. Elliott, Lieut. C. J. Morgan, Lieut. P. D. McAvity, Lieut. E. H. Welch, Lieut. A. E. Day, Lieut. W. G. Thomson, Lieut. R. F. MacLachlan, Capt. A. McMillan, Capt. R. A. McAvity. In these days of tense anxiety, while the empire awaits the word which may mean that Great Britain and her colonies may be plunged into a tremendous conflict the part the imperial navy will play either in preventing war or in a topic of absorbing interest. Many questions have been asked regarding Britain's naval resources, and particularly about the reserve lines regarding which there has been a general request for information. F. J. Punter, a former naval man, now resident in St. John, is in a position to give the facts and talk in an interesting manner on this subject. Describing the naval arrangements, he said that the service is composed of boys of fifteen and eighteen and then by the age of eighteen. The period of active service is twelve years and during this time it is possible to give the men a training far superior to that gained in navies where the term is only three or four years. At the end of their twelve years active service about ninety per cent of the men sign for a second term of ten years at the end of which they are entitled to a pension for the rest of their lives. A man who does not re-enlist may join the fleet reserve which forms the first line of reserves. Under this arrangement the men go up for additional training once a year to keep them abreast of the times and at all times, for a period of ten years are subject to call in case of need. During this time they draw six pence a day as a retainer and full pay and compensation during their annual training. Pensioners who do not sign for the fleet reserve are also liable to be called upon at any time they are needed until they have reached the age limit for their services would not be demanded until the other lines of reserves had been exhausted. In this way the empire has on call a body of thoroughly trained men at least equal in numbers to the men in active service in the navy. In addition to these there is the Royal Navy Reserve composed of officers and men in the merchant marine who undergo training once a year. As the right to sign R. N. R. after his name is a coveted distinction and an aid to promotion to positions of greater responsibility by the merchant service, great numbers of the men are enlisted in this branch and a highly efficient branch has been developed in this way. Then again there are the naval volunteers, consisting of organized handsmen who sign for naval service much as the militia are organized for training in land warfare. These men study the work of the navy on land and each year are given a cruise on war ships to develop their knowledge of actual service conditions. This system gives the empire a reserve which is at least as superior to the reserves of other nations as the British navy is to the foreign fleets, if not more so. William Thomson & Company have received notice from the North-German Lloyd Steamship Company that on account of the threatened conditions abroad no steamers of their lines will leave United States or Canadian ports until further notice.

FLOUR AND COAL DEARER

St. John Markets Early Begin to Feel Effects of the War

Wholesale grocery markets are disturbed because of the conditions in Europe, and the possibilities of a world-wide war. Today all quotations were called off on Manitoba and Ontario flour. Retail dealers were swamped with orders and supplied most of them up to nearly mid-day when deliveries became impossible owing to exhaustion of stocks. The retailers in turn applied to the wholesale houses but there were no quotations would be given, though an advance of 25 cents was sent out at an advance of 25 cents. Quotations were off on sugar today also, while middlings advanced 10 cents. No other staples have thus far affected. An advance of twenty-five cents in American coal was noted today, while all orders for Scotch coal were cancelled. Until more definite information is received it is thought that no coal steamers will cross the Atlantic and no supplies of Scotch coal can be had. Already greatly increased orders have been given for the local coal houses, and in fact the orders are heavier than the supply will be sufficient to cope with. An advance of 25 cents a ton was made in American nut, chestnut and egg today. It was rumored today that a meeting of the wholesale grocers had been held this morning and an agreement reached whereby no flour would be sold until the situation was better. Indeed, it was said that the truth of the matter was that they had none to sell. Almost every dealer had been waiting for a break in the market in order to buy, and the result was that stocks in St. John were practically short. Indeed, millers were even reluctant to fill orders given on Friday and Saturday. A despatch from New York brought the advice that European markets were offering almost any price for sugar.

THOUSAND CONTRIBUTED HERE IN LAST WEEK

Contributions totalling about $1,000 have been made by citizens of St. John during the last week towards the cost of the proposed students building in the store, the retailers in turn applied to the wholesale houses but there were no quotations would be given, though an advance of 25 cents was sent out at an advance of 25 cents. England Will Fight Germany; Asquith To Pronounce The Last Word Tonight; Bloody Fighting on Land and In Baltic

London, Aug. 3—Sir Edward Grey told the House of Commons today that he had given France the assurance that if the German fleet came into the English channel, or through the North Sea to undertake hostile operations against the French coast or shipping, the British fleet would give all the protection in its power.

London, Aug. 3—Sir Edward Grey in the House of Commons this afternoon announced that orders for the mobilization of the army as well as the navy have been issued.

“At last,” he said, “the suspense is at an end.

“We believe every Briton with any sort of manhood in him, will hear the news with relief.

“Since Germany will have it, she shall have it in full measure.

“No nation ever went into war with better heart or clearer conscience than Great Britain does now.”

ENGLAND TO DRAW SWORD

Belgium, Invaded by Germany, Britain Will Answer Her Appeal

British Navy Ready and Army Ordered to Mobilize—Bloody Fighting on Frontier, France So Far Has Advantage

The Latest

London, Aug. 3—(By United Press Staff Correspondent)—England will fight Germany. That was the construction placed on a remarkable speech by Sir Edward Grey in the house of commons this afternoon. In impassioned language he declared the empire had exhausted itself in an effort to maintain peace but had been frustrated. He plainly said England could not afford idly to stand by and see France subjugated, and the independence of Holland and Belgium ravished.

Tonight Premier Asquith will have the last word. He is expected to recite the failure of diplomacy; characterize German seizure of British shipping as acts of war, and declare that England, having been appealed to by Belgium after being invaded by Germany, must draw the sword in the latter's defence.

FRANCE SO FAR HAS BEST OF IT

The British army has been ordered to mobilize. The navy is ready for eventualities. Meanwhile bloody fighting is already in progress, between the French and German armies along the frontier. The advantage so far, seems to be with France, as it is not only holding its own, but a French army of 75,000 men is reported moving into Germany from a point north of Belfort.

Germany is invading Russia and the German troops have driven the Russian Cossacks who were raiding Northeastern Prussia back across the line.

Naval Victory For Germany Over Russia?

The first naval battle has been fought in the Baltic, according to news reaching Stockholm. Striking under cover of darkness, the German squadron is reported to have driven the Russian warships in confusion into the Gulf of Finland.

One large war craft was reported driven ashore on the Aland Islands at the head of the Gulf of Bothnia. The German fleet is said to have put a landing party on the Aland Islands and to hold them for the Kaiser.

News agency reports have a battle between the British and German fleet in which six German warships and two British were sunk but the report was not given credence by the Admiralty, were it was pointed out that Germany and England are not yet at war.

Germany's invasion of Belgium, in direct conflict with the latter's proclamation of neutrality, was a bitter disappointment to England. It proved conclusively that the Kaiser did not intend to permit any obligation to interfere with the well-laid plans for conquering France.

Brussels, Aug. 3—Belgium today cast her lot with France, against Germany. The government received from Berlin the proffer of an understanding provided Belgium would facilitate movement of German troops.

An answer was requested by 7 a. m.; the cabinet met in special session immediately upon receipt of Germany's proposal. The ministry refused to accept it.

Germany demanded the right to move troops through Belgian territory. The demand was refused but Germany rushed its Cologne army across the frontier, making three armies menacing France and all presumably headed for Paris.

MANITOBA FLOUR AVAILABLE

The local anxiety about flour was relieved this afternoon. Wholesalers are now able to quote Manitoba flour at an advance of thirty cents, their own orders on the millers being subject, however, to confirmation in the case of large lots. They are still unable to get offers of Ontario flours, even at an advance.

Sugar advanced ten cents this afternoon

TODAY'S WAR FEATURES

London, Aug. 3—Violation of neutral territory by Germany, daring frontier raids by German, Russian and French troops, clashes between outposts, the bombardment of a Russian Baltic port by a German warship, and the seizure of merchant ships by Russia and Germany, constituted the striking features today of the war on which virtually the whole continent of Europe has started.

Russia Anxious For England's Aid

The Russian Ambassador, Count Bouckendorf, is exerting every possible effort to force England into formal declaration of war alliance with the Czar. He called upon Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary of England, four times within the last twenty-four hours.

GERMANS MEET TWO DEFEATS; FRENCH BEAT OFF INVADERS

Paris, Aug. 3—Two defeats of German troops invading France were announced by a news agency here today. It is stated that in one engagement on the frontier a division of Uhlans, the famous cavalry of the Kaiser's army, was routed by French troops and 2,000 prisoners captured. A German patrol that crossed the border near Longwy was repelled. Two German officers and twenty soldiers were killed.

London, Aug. 3—A wireless despatch to the admiralty states that a German column, consisting of 20,000 men, were heavily repulsed while attempting to invade France near Nancy on Sunday.

Berlin, Aug. 2—Via Brussels, Aug. 2—The small cruiser Augsburg has sent the following report to Berlin by wireless:—“Am bombarding the naval harbor at Libau, and am engaged with enemy's cruiser. The naval port of Libau is in flames.

Libau is one of the principal seaports of Russia, on the Baltic Sea, 100 miles or more north of the German coast. It is fortified and is used as an arsenal by the navy.

The German protected cruiser Augsburg is of 4,250 tons displacement and her chief armament consists of twelve 4.1 inch guns. Her crew aggregates about 400 men.

Hundred Thousand Germans In Paris Can Not Get Home

Italians in French Capital Form Volunteer Corps to Fight For the French

London, Aug. 3—A Paris despatch to the Daily Telegraph says that all communication with Germany, either by telegraph or railway, has ceased, as well as all railway communication with Belgium. No French train proceeds further than the frontier towards Belgium and Holland. The Germans have blown up the lines at all frontier stations. No trains are running in Belgium, and more than 100,000 Germans in Paris are anxiously wondering how they are to return home. They seem to have no sense of their situation, but sit outside the cafes talking German.

The despatch continues, “makes a strong impression. The French mobilization began on Friday, notices being posted calling out the reserves. The word mobilization was scrupulously avoided.

“The spirit of the French army,” says the correspondent, “undoubtedly is excellent; there are no drawing room officers. The Italian residents of Paris are forming a volunteer corps to help the French.

“French liners at sea, are being ordered by wireless to return to the nearest French port. The dirigible Montgolfier passed over Paris proceeding to the German frontier.”

Strong Declaration by the Czar

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3—The capital spent a historic day on Sunday. When it became known that a special service of prayer was to be celebrated at the Winter Palace, where the Emperor was to show himself to the people, an extraordinary wave of exultation passed over the city.

The Emperor, in a brief speech, expressed the calm dignity with which Russia had received the declaration of war and the confidence of the nation that the war would be carried to the desired end.

“I here declare solemnly,” the Emperor said, “that I will not make peace while a single soldier of the enemy remains on Russian soil.”

GERMANY SAYS FRENCH TROOPS HAVE CROSSED BORDER

Berlin, Aug. 2—(Delayed)—French soldiers crossed the frontier last night at Laschrott, a small village in the Vosges Mountains. Shots were fired on the German post, but no damage was done.

MOVEMENT OF GERMAN FLEET

London, Aug. 3—It is reported that the German fleet has passed through the Kiel Canal, and is steaming in a westerly direction.

Despatches from all the British colonies report the proclamation of precautionary measures of various kinds, principally affecting the harbors and shipping.

THE NILOBE IS TO BE MANNED

Ottawa, Aug. 3—Orders have been issued to all Canadian government steamers to stay in ports.

Information received here is to the effect that two German cruisers are in the Atlantic, one off New York, another off Mexico. The admiral is in touch with their movements. The Niobe is to be manned and the Rainbow held on the Pacific coast.

Paris, Aug. 3—A German officer at Conchery, a frontier town, today killed a French corporal. Two German patrols subsequently attacked the town and reports received at noon said that fighting was going on.

Helped Stranded Tourists

Washington, Aug. 3—Reassurances were given by Secretary of State Bryan that all Americans in distress in Europe for lack of money, or means to return home, would be assisted by the United States government. The secretary had been advised by bankers who usually serve the state department abroad in normal times that hotels and steamship companies abroad would accept checks issued by authority of the United States government through its diplomatic representatives abroad. This is one of the steps in the department's plans to afford relief to the thousands of stranded Americans abroad, who had found it practically impossible to cash checks or letters of credit because of the financial stringency resulting from the European war.

American Legislation.

Washington, Aug. 3—Legislation to prevent suspension of trans-Atlantic shipping and an embargo on the movement of crops during hostilities in Europe, was considered in the house today, in the form of a proposal to amend the Panama Canal Act, so as to permit foreign ships to take American registry. The amendment was to be pressed for immediate passage. Its chief feature would eliminate the requirement that ships must be five years old to qualify for American registration, authorize the president to suspend provision that all ships officers must be Americans and suspend the requirement for survey, inspection and measurements, by United States officers, of foreign built vessels admitted to American registry. The amendment has been agreed upon by President Wilson and democratic lead-

CANADIAN LOYALTY.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier once observed that to make a parade of the loyalty of a people was like the conduct of a man who would boast about the virtue of his wife and sisters.

Are there still a lot of people in Canada who are surprised at their own loyalty, or is the parade that is being made in certain quarters indicative of another "flag election" in the near future?

The Montreal Star on Friday last devoted nearly half a page to the following sentences, set in very large type with a Union Jack on either side:

"Stand by the flag. Disaster to British arms means dissolution of Canada. Australia and New Zealand stand by mother land. Canada's duty imperative."

Why should there be any suggestion that Canada will not stand by the flag? Why should it be necessary to insinuate that Canadians are not conscious of their duty? From every province in the Dominion, and before Sir Robert Borden and his government had cabled to London their views on the matter, there had come the offer of groups of men and of regiments for active service in defence of the Empire. Prominent militia officers throughout the country had also tendered their services, and entirely without distinction as to politics.

"When England is at war Canada is at war," as quoted again from Sir Wilfrid Laurier. All that will be necessary for any Canadian newspaper to do in this crisis will be to give the public the news. Canadian patriotism will know, without any frantic appeals from the Montreal Star or any other newspaper, how to give an account of itself in a great Imperial crisis.

THE "EASTERN QUESTION"

To understand the relations between Russia, Austria and Serbia it is necessary to go back to the period prior to the Russo-Turkish war and the treaty of Berlin, and to consider also the effect of race and religious sympathy upon political affairs.

While Russia had great territorial ambitions and sought to secure an outlet for her fleet in the Mediterranean, she was also interested in the welfare of those peoples of Slavonic origin in the Balkan Peninsula, who were also members of the Orthodox Greek church. The people of Bulgaria, Servia, Bosnia and some other portions of what was formerly the Turkish Empire in Europe belonged to the Orthodox Church and also claimed a national kinship with the Russian people. In Hungary, on the other hand, the Magyars, who formed the ruling race in that part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, have always been more in sympathy with the Turk than with the Serbian, Bulgarian or Russian. Freeman tells us that "the geographical function of the Magyars has been to keep the two great groups of Slavonic nations apart, and to his coming more than to any other cause we may attribute the great historical gap which separates the Slav of the Baltic from his southern kinsfolk in the Balkans."

Russia has never forgiven Austria-Hungary and Germany for their attitude when the treaty of Berlin was formed in 1878, at the close of the Russo-Turkish war. Russia had entered upon this war partly no doubt to enlarge her own territory, but also to manipulate Bulgaria and Servia, and to set up in the Balkans buffer states which would regard Russia as their friend, and whose people were akin to her own in race and religion. After her victorious armies had arrived at the very gates of Constantinople, and were in a position to dictate the terms of peace, the other great powers intervened, and refused to ratify the treaty of San Stefano. By the terms of that treaty Turkey would have been compelled to recognize the independence of Roumania, Servia and Montenegro, all of which were to be increased in size, and there was also to be established the autonomous tributary principality of Bulgaria, extending from the Black Sea to Albania, and from the Danube in the north to the Aegean in the south. This would have practically blotted out Turkey as a European power. Bosnia and Herzegovina were to be granted extensive reforms.

England and Austria-Hungary refused to recognize the treaty of San Stefano, and gained the support of Germany, France and Italy. The Congress of Berlin was therefore called, and after a month of deliberations the Treaty of Berlin was signed, modifying and making such changes in the treaty of San Stefano that Russia, while forced to yield with a good grace, was filled with bitterness that has never been overcome. She expected nothing from England, since the latter had always opposed her movement toward the Danubians, but she did expect something from Austria-Hungary, and much from Germany.

We are told that as the congress progressed, and the treatment of the Slavie cause at the hands of the Germans and Magyars became more apparent, an intensely angry feeling sprang up in Russia, and so violent became the manifestations of the feeling against Germany and Austria-Hungary that Bismarck deemed it prudent to form an alliance with the latter power. This alliance was joined by Italy three years later. By the Treaty of Berlin the area of Bulgaria was reduced by more than one-half. Bosnia and Herzegovina were placed under the control of Austria-Hungary, along with the Sanjak of Novi-Bazar, and while Servia and Montenegro were recognized as independent principalities they only received slight accessions of territory.

There have been many changes in the Balkans since 1878, and Turkey has been shorn of more and more of her power. Austria-Hungary, however, has continued to be jealous of the growing power of Servia, while the Servians, perhaps encouraged by their consciousness of Russian sympathy, have been quick to resent any real or fancied preference. The tension between the two countries has been all the greater because Bosnia and Herzegovina, which were handed over to Austria by the Treaty of Berlin, are inclined to be Serbian in sympathy, as many of the people are in race and religion. Indeed millions of Austrian subjects are of the Serb race, and Austria's ambition has been to absorb more and more of the territory to the south.

Behind all the racial feeling and local troubles lie the rival ambitions of the Austrian, German and Russian Empires, and if the present trouble between Servia and her big neighbor cannot be localized, it will be because the great powers so long gathering their forces for a titanic struggle believe the hour has struck, and that a fitting pretext may be found in the smaller quarrel on the banks of the Danube.

GERMANY'S POSITION.

What can Germany hope to gain by rushing into war? What is behind her action in challenging Russia and France, and becoming even more belligerent than Austria-Hungary, whose quarrel with Servia would probably not have embroiled Europe in a general war but for the attitude assumed by Germany?

The answer to these questions does not lie on the surface. The swiftness with which the present situation has developed baffles the enquirer who seeks for an adequate and justifiable cause. Neither is there any appearance of wisdom in the course pursued by Germany. The combined sea forces of Britain, France and Russia should not only be able to destroy the German fleet, but cripple her commerce. The combined armies of the same three powers and of Servia and Austria-Hungary, in this war Russia will be fighting from her home base, and with her immense resources in men can keep her armies up to fighting strength for an almost unlimited period. Without in the least disparaging the fighting quality of the German forces on sea and land, and the added strength of Austria-Hungary, the ordinary observer can see no prospect of an outcome of this war that would compensate Germany for the losses she must sustain. It is therefore extremely difficult to assign a reason for the policy she has adopted. An awful responsibility rests upon Emperor William and his advisers. They seem to have deliberately chosen to deluge Europe with blood, when wiser counsel would have averted a catastrophe the extent of which no man can estimate.

The battle-cry of France will be: "Remember Alsace-Lorraine."

What steps will our naval minister take to protect the trade of St. John in the event of war? We would be grateful for even a "tinpot navy" now.

Canadians now realize the real value of the Laurier naval policy of protection for Canadian coasts and trade routes. The abandonment of that policy was a crime against the country.

Not lightly nor wantonly will Britain enter upon this war; but if the hour comes to strike, the blow will be swift and sure. It will not be for nothing when the world's greatest war-fleet seeks out its proud and bitter foe.

Would Canadian soldiers be willing to fight by the side of the despised Hindu—who is not deemed good enough to be admitted into this country? It is safe to assert that if their services are required His Majesty's Indian troops will prove their quality, if need be to the death.

Preacher Makes Reference To Graft

In a strong sermon in the Congregational church last evening, the pastor, Rev. R. J. Haugland, decried the practice of graft among the men who are placed at the head of affairs in our country. He said that many men in their country only an opportunity to make and keep money and among men in positions of honor and fame, the more cleverly one can conceal his wrongdoings, the greater man he is considered—and this in spite of the fact that God has commanded, "Thou shalt not steal."

"When the police who are supposed to protect the people, will rob and steal, why wonder at the great numbers of youthful criminals?" he asked.

The speaker said that although it was unwise for a preacher to discuss party politics, the political situation had become pestilential and was likely to clear the air.

"I say, this 'at doesn't fit?"

"Neither does your coat," observed the painter, after eyeing him critically.

Justin McCarthy used to tell a story of Henry Wood Beecher. Mr. Beecher entered Plymouth church one Sunday and found several letters awaiting him. He opened one and found it contained the single word "Fool." Quietly and with becoming seriousness he announced to the congregation the fact in these words:

"I have known many an instance of a man writing a letter and forgetting to sign his name, but this is the only instance I have ever known of a man signing his name and forgetting to write the letter."

Ben Foster was noted for his shiftlessness. If it had not been for his wife he would not have done a stroke of work on his little farm and garden. It was all his wife could do to get him to work, for he preferred to sit and read all day.

One evening, after he had been reading French history with deep interest, he closed the book and said to his wife: "Do you know, Marie, what I'd done if I had been Napoleon?"

"O, yes, I know well enough," his wife responded. "You'd have settled right down on a farm in Corsica and let it run itself!"

Where Shall I Invest My Money?

This is a question that often bothers us when we have any surplus money. Some people are born rich and do not have to provide for independence, others are looking for investments that will bring them in good dividends. The Silver Black Fox Industry in P. E. FOOLISH AND FEARFUL PATRONS OF SAVINGS BANK

They Seem to Think the Dominion of Canada is Not a Safe Custodian of Their Funds—A Small Run on the Local Institution This Morning

One of the results of the war situation which would be amusing if it were not pathetic, was a small sized run on the Dominion Savings Bank. The announcement was made in the morning papers that the office of the deputy receiver general might be removed from St. John as a precautionary measure in case of war. This seemed to have been interpreted by many of the depositors as an intimation that they would not be able to secure their cash when they wanted it if this action were taken, and a number of them rushed to the bank with their pass books to withdraw their funds. All morning long the bank officials worked to serve the clients of the bank and people in the waiting line glared impatiently at those ahead of them, apparently nervous lest the resources of the Dominion Savings Bank should be exhausted before they got their mite out of the vaults of the bank. Officially the bank were able to assure their patrons that there was no cause for uneasiness, as the bank will continue to do business at the same stand, war or no war. Even if the office of the deputy receiver were removed it would have no effect on the savings bank. These two matters are entirely separate and distinct and have no real bearing on each other and deposits will be received and withdrawals paid just as promptly as ever, no matter what else may happen.

NEW BRUNSWICK WAS THE LEADER

Miss Annie L. Stevens Marks at Summer School of Science One Short of Perfect

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Aug. 2.—The Summer School of Science for the maritime provinces, which has been in session here for three weeks, closed on Wednesday night with a public meeting at which addresses were delivered by Governor Rogers, Premier Matheson, H. Campbell, chief superintendent of education for Prince Edward Island; Professor Theodore Ross, honorary secretary of the school; Mr. Starratt, the president, and others. The attendance was the largest in the history of the institution. There were 518 students enrolled, 100 from Nova Scotia, fifty-one from New Brunswick, two from Quebec, nine from the United States, and the balance from Prince Edward Island.

The school this year was practically a union of the regular Maritime School of Science with the Summer School for Teachers for Prince Edward Island. The large attendance of island teachers this year is due no doubt to the fact that the government paid each teacher a bonus of $8 and also railway fare. The total cost of the school was about $6,000. Each of the three governments of the maritime provinces paid $100 and the balance was paid by the P. E. I. provincial government. The school was organized by the federal grant for agriculture. The instructors being paid by the government.

Nova Scotia and New Brunswick teachers took a large share of the scholarship and special prizes, the island teachers being handicapped by the fact that they were compelled to take all the subjects and could not "specialize," as the others could. The leader of the school this year was a New Brunswicker, Miss Annie L. Stevens, of Moncton, who secured 299 marks out of 300. She won the T. Eaton scholarship, she has been a scholarship holder three years consecutively. The oldest pupil was a man of sixty-eight, who entered with the work with all the zeal of a youngster.

In the meantime, however, the rates of exchange have advanced, so that today a sterling draft on London costs $8.75 for a pound of twenty shillings, while the usual price does not range far from the gold standard of $4.86.

As precautionary measure the banks are also taking steps to limit credit to actual needs. While the managers give assurance that there will be no lack of cash to meet the ordinary needs of domestic business, nothing of a speculative nature will be encouraged.

It is said that the high rate of exchange is a measure to prevent draining the country of gold in order to preserve an ample margin for domestic requirements.

Local business men are inquiring whether the moratorium issued by His Majesty obviating the necessity of meeting payments for the present will affect Canadian business with Great Britain. If so, the high rate of exchange will not affect them, immediately at least, as it will extend the time before their obligations become legally due.

That the umbrella in office when detected will receive justice and no favor, that the man who can go to his club and drink whiskey and play cards till he is in a beastly condition, will have the same punishment as he who maltreats wife and children because of his appetite for the cursed stuff; and then our appeals to men and women will have greater force and will find much better acceptance. All forms of youthfulness and vigor in society if it does its duty, must curb them, but there are many conditions to be given due weight, many influences prenatal and otherwise to be considered.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING. During a slight electrical storm about six o'clock this morning, the house and barn of J. M. Roche, in Lancaster, was struck and some damage was done. The only damage done to the house was the blowing out of all the electric fuses, but the barn was damaged to a greater extent. The lightning struck the roof of a great many shingles and one was carried about fifty feet through the air and forced solidly into the ground. The doors were splintered both inside and out, but fortunately no fire resulted. The loss is covered by insurance.

FRANK PITFIELD DEAD. Many friends in St. John will learn with regret of the death of Frank Pitfield, which occurred on Sunday in Pittsburg, Pa. He was a son of the late Oliver Pitfield of this city. When a young man he was bookkeeper for George Morrison, Jr., on the wharf, and left there to become accountant for his uncle, Ward C. Pitfield, when the latter bought out the dry goods business of the late Thomas B. Jones. He remained there until the Pitfield business was closed out, and shortly afterwards left St. John. This would be more than a dozen years ago. Mr. Pitfield was twice married. His second wife survives, but there are no children.

CONVICTIONS QUASHED. His Honor Mr. Justice McKewen this morning delivered judgment in two cases brought against W. E. McIntyre, Ltd., for violation of the Canada Temperance Act at McAdam Junction. Mr. McIntyre was convicted in both cases by Police Magistrate Louis Lawson. The convictions were taken up on certiorari by H. O. McInerney, acting for Mr. McIntyre. C. F. Inches appearing for the magistrate. The principal ground taken against the validity of the conviction was that the place mentioned in the summons issued by the magistrate was uncertain. Upon these grounds Mr. Justice McKewen ordered that both convictions be quashed.

ARREST IN ROTHEWAY. Something Unusual in Peaceful Suburb. Considerable excitement was caused in the park at Rotheway yesterday by the actions of a man said to have been the worse for liquor. The man, who is supposed to belong to St. John, arrived in Rotheway yesterday afternoon and called at a house where his wife is employed as a servant. Trouble followed, and it was soon necessary to call upon the authorities. The man was placed under arrest by the village constable and conveyed in an automobile to Hampton where he was placed in the Kings county jail.

INCORPORATION OF LANCASTER

In Lancaster, the folks of late, Seem anxious to incorporate That they may better governed be; But whether worse or not, we'll see.

Hearing of street talk not a little, It worried much old Sandy Whittle Who ignorant of dictionary, Desired information badly.

In search of this he hunted 'round Until a Main street merchant found Who much activity had shown In making his ideas known.

Then timidly old Sandy asked, While his good stick he firmly grasped The meaning of incorporation Which caused him so much botheration.

Ahem, ah, the merchant started, Then into explanations darted Incorporate and corporation Spells nothing but our whole salvation.

We then will have home rule right here And like a big firm, can sell beer Or anything that we desire. That doesn't make the taxes higher.

A watering cart and concrete walks A swell town hall, which no one knocks. An opera house and snow plough too, Are of advantages a few.

The town will then a mayor get, An he would manage things, you bet, Just like a firm on business lines, And his assistants would have minds.

No doubt about it, Sandy, man, As all about this town you scan, You see big room for change to good. And so incorporate we should.

"But merchant, Sir," old Sandy said, "A question has come in my head, Where will you get, high up, or low, The right man who would boss this show?"

"It has been hard this far I know - To get three councillors in row - Weeth looking at electric morn - Who could their duties well perform."

"Another thing, can we secure - These new improvements needed sore, - Unless we pay from out our purse - More than at present we disburse."

"If we could get the proper boss - Who would not upward taxes toss, - And give us some things that you name - 'Tis vote that way and more the same."

"But those who talk incorporation - Should further go in explanation, - And offer for the public service - Such seal and brains as they can give."

"Then when the new machinery comes - We would not hand it o'er to dromes, - Fred have these men right on the job - And thus their previous statements prove."

As Sandy homeward turned his way A neighbor heard him softly say "We need good men, and price must pay. Let system be what e'er it may."

RIOT CASE ARREST. Bedford L. Hines, a deaf mute, was before Magistrate Ritchie in the police court this morning, charged with riotous conduct on Thursday night, July 23. The charge was written out and shown to him and he was remanded to jail.

In these days of tense anxiety, while the empire awaits the word which may mean that Great Britain and her colonies may be plunged into a tremendous conflict the part the imperial navy will play either in preventing war or in fighting for the preservation of the nation is a topic of absorbing interest. Many questions have been asked regarding the reserve lines and particularly about the reserve lines regarding which there has been a general request for information.

F. J. Punter, a former naval man, now resident in St. John, is in a position to give the facts and talk in an interesting manner on this subject. Describing the naval arrangements, he said that the service is supplied by boys who may enlist for training between the ages of fifteen and eighteen and during the age of eighteen. The period of active service is twelve years and during this time it is possible to give the men a training far superior to that gained in navies where the term is only three or four years. At the end of their twelve years of active service about ninety per cent of the men sign for a second term of ten years at the end of which they are entitled to a pension for the rest of their lives. A man who does not re-enlist may join the fleet reserve which forms the first line of reserves. Under this arrangement the men go up for additional training once a year to keep them abreast of the times and at all times, for a period of ten years are subject to call in case of need. During this time they draw six pence a day and retain full pay and compensation during their annual training. Pensioners may also join the fleet reserve under the same terms and are subject to call in the same way. Pensioners who do not sign for the fleet reserve are also liable to be called upon at any time they are needed until they have reached the age limit but their services would not be demanded until the other lines of reserves had been exhausted. In this way the empire has on call a body of thoroughly trained men at least equal in numbers to the men in active service in the navy. In addition to these there is the Royal Navy Reserve composed of officers and men in the merchant marine who undergo training once a year. As the sign of N. R. after his name is a coveted distinction and an aid to promotion to positions of greater responsibility in the merchant service, great numbers of the men are enlisted in this branch and are highly interested in the branch and are highly efficient. Then again there are the naval volunteers, consisting of organized squadrons and men who sign for naval service much as the militia are organized for training in land warfare. These men study the work of the navy on land and each year are given a cruise on war ships to develop their knowledge of actual service conditions. This system gives the empire a reserve which is at least superior to that of the reserves of other nations as the British navy is to the foreign fleets, if not more so. William Thomson & Company have received notice from the North-German Lloyd Steamship Company that the terms of the Breton conditions abroad no steamers of their lines will leave United States or Canadian ports until further notice.

FLOUR AND COAL DEARER

St. John Markets Early Begin to Feel Effects of the War

Wholesale grocery markets are disturbed because of the conditions in Europe, and the possibilities of a world-wide war. Today all quotations were called off on Manitoba and Ontario flour. Retail dealers were swamped with orders, and supplied most of them up to nearly midnight when deliveries became impossible owing to exhaustion of stock. The retailers in turn applied to the wholesale houses but there no quotations would be given, though an odd barrel of Manitoba was sent out at an advance of 25 cents. Quotations were off on sugar today also, while middlings advanced 10 cents. No other staples have thus far affected. An advance of twenty-five cents in American coal was noted today, while quotations for British coal were cancelled. Until more definite information is received it is thought that no coal steamer will cross the Atlantic and no supplies of Scotch coal can be had. Already prices in the local coal business, and in fact in some cases the orders are heavier than ever. The situation is so serious that some of the dealers are beginning to look for a break in the market in order to buy, and the result was that stocks in St. John were particularly short. Indeed, millers were even now reluctant to fill orders given on Friday and Saturday. A despatch from New York brought the advice that European markets were offering almost any price for sugar.

THOUSAND CONTRIBUTED HERE IN LAST WEEK

Contributions totalling about $1,000 have been made by citizens of St. John during the last week towards the cost of the proposed students building in connection with Dalhousie University. F. D. Graham and R. J. Leslie, who have been collecting for the fund are gratified with the generous response but say that the amount would have been much larger if it had not been for the war which has made further efforts practically useless. From St. John they will go to Fredericton and thence to Moncton.

Dr. Smith. Those who upon liquor seized at the wharf was consigned failed to appear in the police court this morning, and the case was stood over.
