MARITIME PROBLEMS BEFORE HOUSE

Hydro Electric Development and Future of Agricultural and Lumber Industry Among Measures to Find Important Place in Speech

(Special to The Times-Star.) FREDERICTON, N. B., March 11.—As usual the speech which will be delivered by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor at the opening of the fifth session of the eighth Legislative Assembly of the Province of New Brunswick, Thursday afternoon, will contain numerous matters of public interest, including a forecast of some of the measures which will be presented to the Legislative Assembly for consideration.

The exact text of the speech of His Honor will not be known until delivered, but the nature of some of the subject matter is rumored already.

One very important matter will be in connection with the Department of Education and free school books for the lower grades, with the prospect of extending the system to more advanced grades. Legislation on this matter will be introduced.

The increase in school enrollment and the advance in vocational and other branches will be referred to also together with the solution of the problem of supply of teachers. Free school books were forecast in the recent by-election campaigns and reference to the subject is not unexpected.

Hydro electric development, as would be expected, will receive attention in the speech both Grand Falls and Petitcodiac tidal developments being touched upon.

As the Petlicodiac data so far obtained is not sufficient for a decision to be reached and at Grand Falls the action of the International Waterways Commission is awaited.

Maritime problems is likely to refer in some manner to the recent movement for solution of Maritime problems and for the greater utilization of provincial wharves but the federal authorities.

Matters which will receive some mention are the excellent financial position of the province as illustrated by recent sale of bonds, the further negotiations with the federal government for the taking over of the St. John and Quebec Railway and the assuming control of additional provincial wharves but the federal authorities.

Immigration Question. The presence of representatives of the province in Europe and efforts to stimulate immigration of the proper kind are expected to be mentioned and the possible opening up of new districts for colonization.

Lack of definite assurance from Ottawa of further assistance in the construction of highways but the continuation of such work on the part of the province are likely to be mentioned together with the stimulating effect which good roads had on tourist trade in New Brunswick. In the same connection the advertising value of the great exhibition at Wembley will be recognized.

Public health, which has made great strides in the province in recent years, will undoubtedly be referred to by His Honor to some extent, emphasis being placed upon the fact that the mortality has been reduced, medical inspection in school taken over by the province and a traveling diagnostic for tubercular cases employed.

Lumber Markets. The speech also is likely to express hope of improvement in the lumber market for agriculture of the province and interest in the dairy industry and the use of the New Brunswick Agricultural School are expected to be mentioned.

The development of a market for potatoes in Great Britain unfortunately checked by the imposition of the embargo against the Colorado beetle and the later development of the potato business in Western Canada are probable subjects.

SAYS FRANCE MUST SECURE BIG LOAN

Needs Five Billion Francs to Pay Obligations Promptly, Declares Louchere

PARIS, March 11.—A foreign loan of four or five billions of francs to enable the treasury to pay its obligations promptly, is France's fundamental need in the present, and approaching financial crisis, says Louis Louchere, in a long interview published by Le Journal.

The paper had appealed to him as an outstanding expert in finance, to suggest a way out for the country, facing the maturity of 23,000,000,000 francs worth of securities this year.

"If the treasury had sufficient margin to enable it to meet promptly all demands for payment, everything would go smoothly," the former minister said. "Bond holders who demand reimbursement would be the first to back their money to the treasury if they saw the treasury was paying in fact a question of confidence."

Officials of the association have in the meantime, intimated that their reply will be strongly in the negative because such a promise would be to associate themselves with the provincial police which it was not their intention to do.

HYDRO DELEGATION AT FREDERICTON

Special to The Times-Star. FREDERICTON, N. B., March 11.—The Provincial Government met well into the afternoon today, preparatory to the opening of the Legislature on Thursday.

Hydro Legislation. Premier Veniot at the close of the Government meeting said that a delegation from the St. John Power Commission had not been before the Government, but that a committee of the Government had been in session. The Premier said he had nothing to announce concerning the delegation.

MONCTON BOARD SATISFIED WITH OTTAWA TRIP

Members Expect Much Good Will Come From Conference

LONE PESSIMIST FINDS NO SUPPORT

Mathew Lodge Makes Effective Reply to C. H. Blakey's Statements

Special to The Times-Star. MONCTON, March 11.—Despite the assurance of C. H. Blakey that the recent delegation to Ottawa had failed to accomplish anything of a concrete nature, the members of the Moncton Board of Trade, which met last night, expressed themselves as satisfied that much good would result from the visit.

While Mr. Blakey was a member of the delegation, he pointed out that his remarks were his "own personal views." He likened the Maritime Province to a "sick man, one who is sick of head, heart and body, but does not know what is the matter with him."

He suggested that we "diagnose our case, then set out to find the cure."

Mr. E. A. Fryers said he differed somewhat from Mr. Blakey, as he thought some good would accrue from the delegation.

Mathew Lodge also said he believed that the Maritime delegation had made a good impression at Ottawa. He pointed out, however, that the St. John delegation, which had gone to Ottawa some time ago with reference to the development of the Courtenay Bay unit, had gone after the Maritime unit, but had gone after the Maritime unit, but had gone after the Maritime unit.

Mr. Lodge took objection to Mr. Blakey's statements that nothing was being done for the Maritimes. He stated a great deal had been done. He said he had been over a great deal of country since he had been at the railway board, and he had found that the Maritimes were in no worse shape than any other part of the country, while some other parts were in worse shape.

Mr. Lodge pointed out that the old Grand Trunk people are still in charge of the lines through the United States, and that they seldom hear the Maritime line.

Mr. Lodge said that if it is needed, he said, is a campaign of education to make our part of the country better known. The recent delegation to Ottawa furnished a lot of publicity of the kind needed.

ULSTER TO VOTE IN SUPPORT OF PRESENT STATUS

Electorate Will Decide Against Union With Free State

If Commission Is Challenged Whole Question Again Becomes Imperial Matter

By HERBERT BAILEY, British United Press. LONDON, March 11.—With the dissolution of the Ulster Parliament set for next Saturday and an election campaign previous to polling, which will be on April 2nd, the people of Ulster are preparing to give an answer to whether they are still unwavering in their determination not to become a part of the Irish Free State or whether they will join forces with their southern brethren.

There is little doubt that Ulster wants the existing status to be continued. The authority of the boundary commission, however, may be challenged and this would have a disastrous and devastating effect since if any drastic recommendations are made the whole question will be opened up again and will come up once more into the field of imperial politics.

ASKS STEPS TO TAX C. N. R. BE TAKEN BY CITY

Chairman of Assessors Sends Letter to the Common Council

WILL DISCUSS IT
AT NEXT MEETING

Power Co. To Be Notified
Re Sand Point
Wires.

A suggestion that steps be taken by the City Council to secure the right to levy taxes on the property of the Canadian National Railway located in the city was contained in a letter from the chairman of the Board of Assessors and read yesterday afternoon before the council.

In the letter it was stated that the property of the C. N. R. was assessable and also that in other provinces of Canada component parts of the C. N. R. were liable to taxation, having formerly been under private control.

Commissioner Wigmore said this looked to him like a reasonable request and Mayor Potts said the matter would be taken up for discussion at the meeting of the committee of the whole on Thursday morning.

Notice To Power Co.

The committee of the whole recommended that notice be sent to the New Brunswick Power Company to remove its wires and masts from the city sheds and wharves, West St. John, within 10 days from the date of notice and this carried unanimously.

The recommendation of a committee that the permission given to E. J. Money in 1920 to operate a gasoline supply station at 39 King Square be cancelled was adopted.

Mayor Potts announced that the application of the Energy Electric Company for partial exemption from taxation would be taken up at 11:30 on Thursday morning.

PUBLIC MEETING.

A public meeting was held last night in Edith avenue hall under the auspices of Courtenay No. 8, L. O. L. Lorne MacFarlane, W.M., presided and the meeting was largely attended, among those present being members of Fairmont Lodge and members of the various city lodges. Rev. David Jones, provincial grand organizer, was the chief speaker and gave a vigorous address on "Romanism on the American Continent." Other speakers were Rev. W. J. Davis, Rev. William Lawson, Past County Master Magee and Mr. MacFarlane who expressed thanks to those who had taken part in the programme. Instrumental selections were given by Messrs. Green and Lewis and vocal solos by Miss Emily Highfield, Hayward Sparks and Mr. Munro. Miss Highfield was the accompanist for Mr. Sparks.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Searle, of St. Patrick street, last night celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary when friends assembled at their home and the evening was spent very pleasantly with games and music. Among the gifts which they received was a handsome silver coffee percolator. The birthday cake was much admired. A large English rose delicious to the taste was the central ornament of the cake. The supper tables were prettily arranged. Heartly congratulations were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Searle and good wishes for many more anniversaries.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN'S CLUB.

At an executive meeting of the University Women's Club held yesterday afternoon plans for the remaining meetings of the year were discussed. The meeting on Thursday of next week will be in the hands of Mrs. James F. Robertson; the topic, The Evolution of the Heroine in Fiction. At the April meeting Dr. Mabel Hainington will give a paper on The Feeble-minded.

Excellent Opportunity Coming to Purchase Clothing and Furnishings at Bankrupt Prices.

It is now definitely stated that The Oak Hall were the successful tenderers for the Bankrupt Stock of the Regate of H. Everett Hunt. It will be remembered that about a year ago The Oak Hall purchased the Bankrupt Toggery stock on King street and cleared it out in a few days at one of the largest Bankrupt Sales ever held in the city. The slaughter on prices which prevailed brought buyers from all over the country. The Oak Hall plan to do the same thing with the Hunt stock and further announcements of interest to buyers will be made very shortly.

HAVE TEA PARTY.

As one of the chain teas in aid of the Y.W.C.A. funds an old-fashioned tea party was held at the Y.W.C.A.

residence in King street east yesterday when the hostesses were Miss Alice Rising and Mrs. Porter, the matron. The time passed delightfully and the guests remained to spend the evening in the cosy sitting room. The residence accommodation has been fully occupied through the greater part of the winter but recently there have been some vacancies.

Tricked By Her Eyes

Her head ached and so she said—"It is a headache, nothing else, so I simply need an aspirin."

A good part of the headache went. Not all, but part. She wished she had taken two aspirins. And so she did.

But later her head ached harder than ever. More aspirins.

Day in and day out the headaches came and gradually aspirins did less and less to soothe the trouble.

She had heard that nine headaches in ten started from eyestrain, but she was afraid it cost money to agree that her case was like that. So it went right out of her mind.

Then her eye fell upon an Ad offering Glasses on dollar payments. Soon she learned the truth about those headaches. She has stopped having them and feels fine all the time.

Smooth it lavishly over your skin. Let its pure oils sink well down into the tiny throats of the pores, softening and bringing up to the surface the dust and soot, the excess oil, the powder and rouge which choke them. dy, sluggish skins are caused by the fact that the pores' throats are choked and stifled.

Take off all the cream and dirt with a soft cloth. Repeat the process. Finish with a dash of cold water or a rub with ice to close the pores.

THEN for a soft finish and protection, use Pond's Vanishing Cream. Smooth it lightly in a delicate film. Over it your rouge and powder blend so nicely now—and stay on so long! But best of all, this delicate vanishing cream protects your skin from dust, soot and the drying effects of wind. So always use it before going out.

Give your skin the rejuvenating cleansing and delicate protection these Two Creams afford. Buy your own Pond's in any drug or departmental store and use them every day. The Cold Cream comes in extra large jars and both creams in smaller jars and in tubes. The Pond's Extract Company, 146 Brock Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

TO-DAY'S YOUNG FOLK.

Miss Lillian Faithfull, the first woman to visit Canada under the auspices of the National Council of Education, in her address last night in St. John fully justified the reports of her ability which had preceded her. She traced impressively the changes that have been brought about by the education of women, by the war, and by the influence of the war and the period of reconstruction upon the minds, occupations, and habits of both men and women, particularly of the younger generation.

Miss Faithfull brings home to the thinking public the fact that it is not sufficient to criticize the young people of to-day, that no good can come from merely standing aloof and condemning the seeming frivolity and lack of reverence which youth displays. It is necessary, she insists, that the youth of to-day be understood and helped to take up its work of service and to acquire a better understanding of life's responsibilities. She believes that the young people of our day are the natural outcome of the extraordinary circumstances under which they have been brought up as compared with a generation ago. Her audience was reminded that if dress among the young is somewhat extraordinary at present, the dress of women of other times provoked no lack of comment. In seeking to understand the present generation it is necessary to remember that much of the grace and serenity of former days has been "hustled out of existence in the breathless rush of our time," and the speaker said that the girls of these years often "suffered because their elders did not set them an example. She gives the modern girl credit for her virtues which many of her elders lack, and for courage, endurance and loyalty.

SUPPORTING THE MARITIMES.

In supporting the contention of the Maritime Provinces that a much greater proportion of Canadian traffic should be kept in Canadian channels, and that this would benefit the country at large and not the Maritime Provinces alone, the Manitoba Free Press says that "traffic is essential both to the railways and to the country." The issue, in a word, is national, not merely provincial.

Parliament is soon to consider the general question of freight rates, as a result of the recent decision by the Supreme Court of Canada, and the Free Press says that it obviously will be necessary for the House to examine with care the recent report made by Mr. J. G. Scott of Quebec on the movement of grain, in which he urges that one remedy for existing conditions is the fixing of lower freight rates, permitting the National Transcontinental to be used for the chief purpose for which it was built, the movement of grain to the Atlantic ports of Canada. Figures quoted by the Free Press show that of the total export of grain by the Atlantic only six per cent. has been coming to St. John or Halifax, and one of the chief reasons for this, it says, is the rates now in force for hauling all-rail from the head of the lakes or parallel points on the Transcontinental to the seaboard. As late as 1916 wheat was carried over the Transcontinental to Quebec at six cents a bushel, and Hon. Dr. Reid, who is then Minister of Railways, said the Government was not losing any money on the business. But that rate soon disappeared, and the Free Press says "it is a remarkable thing that a rate, thus admitted to be a profitable one, was very short-lived. It disappeared, and the rate then ruling on the Canadian Pacific from the head of the lakes became the common tariff for both roads. The cost now is a trifle over twenty cents per bushel. No great difficulty will be experienced in guessing at the reason for the abolition of the six-cent charge."

Mr. J. E. Dalrymple, Vice-President of the C. N. R., when he testified before the Grain Commission, said that if a lower rate were given it would

Odds and Ends

"You never know what you'll find among the odds and ends."—From "Notes by a Wayfarer."

The Gloomy Dean.

(New York Times.)

As thousands of American keepers of ready-made statistic shops are telling us continually that everything and everybody in the United States are as Maine was when it went for Governor Kent, it is a little consolation to know that the English are in the same boat. The English physique is deteriorating. Examination of army recruits shows that large numbers of them are sans eyes, sans teeth, Shakespearean last staggers. Morally the English are just as decrepit. The Bishop of Chelmsford lifts up his voice and wails. There is a "recrudescence"—the recrudescence of recrudescence makes countless thousands mourn—"paganism" and "materialism," as usual. The Bishop proves his case. A young girl committed suicide after a dance. Meanwhile, London surpassed herself in fogs last month. The Marble Arch and Hyde Park Corner were black as ink. Along the Strand bobbies valiantly atoned their invisible forces against the high, unrelieved mountains of darkness. The unemployed got unearned expences by standing on the footboards of motor cars and pretending to direct drivers who could see as well and little as themselves. In St. Paul's churchyard, St. Paul's Dean sat, happy for him, and meditated congenially among the tombs and the night. When wild in woods, man was healthy. He had teeth equal to rending the toughest meat. The invention of knife and fork and cookery are making contemporary man "a toothless animal, and, perhaps responsible for such evils as appendicitis and cancer, from which savages hardly suffer at all." See what civilization has done! Look at the workman. What he all this talk about housing? The savage can build his own house; set to work on it at any time. He doesn't have to ask the Government to spend a thousand pounds on building a house for him. Look at the typewriter—we mean the machine. Not so long ago people used to have a pretty handwriting. The typewriter stroked the generation unable to write. Unable to handwrite, and what is the use of reading? It is too easy. That is the trouble everywhere. Life must be "easy, safe and fool-proof." The German type, the German sentence, made reading laborious, and therefore intellectually profitable. English prose of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries demands mental effort on the reader's part. Modern prose is always perfectly clear.

ONTARIO TAXATION.

Whatever be the merits or demerits of Ontario's new beer the Government evidently expects that an immense quantity of it will be demanded by a thirsty populace, for while a "nominal tax" on this beverage is proposed the Provincial Treasurer estimates that the additional revenue will amount to $2,800,000. From the new tax on gasoline he expects $2,200,000, so that Ontario people may now look forward to paying $4,000,000 through two new sources of taxation.

There was a deficit of $15,000,000, largely inherited in Ontario year before last, and of $8,000,000 last year, and the best that the Government is able to do is to reduce to about $3,000,000 during the present fiscal year, after collecting nearly $5,000,000 in new forms of taxation during the next seven months. There have been various statements as to Ontario's debt, but Hon. Mr. Price in his budget speech fixes the gross funded debt at $285,389,000, and the net debt at $118,500,000. The revenue for the current year is estimated at $46,000,000 and the expenditure at $49,000,000. The manner in which interest charges continue to increase both in the provincial and federal fields is well illustrated in Ontario, where at present only one-third of the ordinary expenditure is controllable. The ordinary expenditure for the current year is to be somewhat larger than last year, but the Government is making some decrease in controllable expenditure. The province paid $16,000,000 last year in interest alone. In spite of the deficit, the Government gets credit even from opposing newspapers for having effected considerable economies last year, and for having increased the public revenue by more than $6,000,000 through efficient collection, while at the same time reducing the expenditures in every department.

The situation in the Cape Breton coal mining area continues to be a source of anxiety throughout Canada. There is no excuse for the manner in which the employment of either local or outside men to keep the mines from being flooded, and so prevent immense damage which would injure the miners as well as the company by prolonging unemployment, gives no excuse for threats, not to speak of actual law-breaking.

The last session of the Legislature before a general election begins tomorrow, and it will be the more interesting because of the expected disclosure by both government and opposition of the principal issues upon which they propose to appeal to the electors. There have been differing reports as to the views of the opposition regarding Grand Falls development and government control of liquor sales, and it may well be that these will be cleared up as the session proceeds. It will not be surprising if a plebiscite on the question of continuing the existing law or introducing government control should be decided upon before the House concludes its labors.

Whiskers Again?

Whiskers are coming back in Britain, it is said. But there will be those who refuse to believe anything so awful could happen. Besides, shaving is now such a luxury that men cannot curb their pleasure-loving instincts—according to the shaving soap and the safety razor ad.

Decay of the Toothpick.

(W. L. Phelps, in Scribner's.)

Someone ought to write an essay on the Decay of the Toothpick. The public use of this implement, however common it still may be, damns its manipulator, and justly so, but for years. The toothpick was highly polished of olden times. In Elizabethan days, the young swells paraded in becomingly manipulating the toothpick as conspicuously as possible, in order to prove that they had dined, and even so late as a century ago, young men exhibited their gold toothpicks with pride. An individual used the same toothpick for years. I remember in one of Jane Austen's novels—it was either "Sense and Sensibility" or "Emma"—a highly polished gentleman entered a shop and bought a fancy toothpick. The thing must have been in addition to saying that, for I learn by the Detroit Press that some one has just discovered in the Lansing Law Library more than one hundred years old forgeries of the toothpick. The housewife can no longer bake her own bread "off her friends' house-brew wigs" as the latter remark, at least, the evil work of civilization has been slower in these United States. Look at the workman. What he all this talk about housing? The savage can build his own house; set to work on it at any time. He doesn't have to ask the Government to spend a thousand pounds on building a house for him. Look at the typewriter—we mean the machine. Not so long ago people used to have a pretty handwriting. The typewriter stroked the generation unable to write. Unable to handwrite, and what is the use of reading? It is too easy. That is the trouble everywhere. Life must be "easy, safe and fool-proof." The German type, the German sentence, made reading laborious, and therefore intellectually profitable. English prose of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries demands mental effort on the reader's part. Modern prose is always perfectly clear.

LIFE.

(Henry Van Dyke.)

Let me but live my life from year to year. With forward face and unreluctant gait; Not hurrying to, nor turning from the goal; Not mourning for the things that disappear. In the dim past, nor holding back in fear. From what the future veils; but with a whole And happy heart, that pays its toll. To Youth and Age, and travels on with cheer. So let the way wind up the hill or down, O'er rough or smooth, the journey will be joy; Still seeking what I sought when but a boy. New friendships, high adventure, and a crown, My heart will keep the courage of the quest. And hope the road's last turn will be the best.

ST. JOHN LADY WINS PRIZE IN BREAD CONTEST

Loaf by Mrs. Joseph Harrington, Cranston Avenue, Declared Best

JUDGES HAVE 756 FOR INSPECTION

Carleton County Woman Second and West St. John Bread Third.

After more than three hours concentrated attention to 30 loaves of bread the judges in The Telegraph-Journal and Times-Star and Sun-Maid Raisin baking contests selected the loaf of Mrs. Joseph Harrington, 41 Cranston Avenue, as the best of the 756 loaves submitted.

The work of the judges last evening was trying and the inspection of 756 loaves of bread was no mean task. After careful work the final selection was from 25 loaves and these were carefully examined as to texture and other attributes which go to make up a perfect loaf of raisin bread.

From Wide Area. From all parts of New Brunswick and from as far away as Round Hill, N.S., the loaves came and the interest shown in the contest indicates a wide circle of readers of The Telegraph-Journal and Times-Star.

Large loaves and small ones, round loaves and square ones, heavy and light and in all manner of containers the bread arrived in the office. All yesterday afternoon people with bundles were seen in Canterbury street.

While all could not win prizes the contestants will have the satisfaction of knowing that the bread is being distributed through charitable organizations to the needy of the city.

Honorable Mention. Honorable mention was made of the loaves submitted by the following: Mrs. E. Bowen, 570 Main street, 58 John; Mrs. Annie McDonald, 23 Clarence street; Mrs. John P. London, Bathurst; Mrs. J. Gallows, 14 Harding street; Mrs. Ernest L. Peterson, 98 Water street; St. John West; Mrs. W. L. Ellis, 222 Prince street, St. John West; Mrs. Gavin A. Brown, Division street; Woodstock, and Miss Jennie Buckley, 20 Castle street, John West.

The judges were: Miss Elizabeth Bonnell, chief dietitian General Public Hospital; Mrs. J. W. Y. Lawlor, Brookville, and Miss Grace Robertson.

Students of the U. N. B. Law School were guests of the local U. N. B. Club at the annual banquet given last evening in the Hotel Dunlop, with A. B. Gilkey, president, acting as toastmaster.

Consideration was given to purchasing a piece of equipment costing about $200 for the new Memorial building at the university, and it was finally decided the club would undertake that obligation.

The toast to the university was proposed by Lieut-Col. W. H. Harrison and replied to by Lieut-Col. E. C. Weyman, who traced the history of the university from its founding. Col. Weyman mentioned several distinguished sons of the university who had brought lustre to their Alma Mater, and made feeling reference to the passing of Hon. Dr. William Pugsley, '98. "Our Guests" was proposed by Geoffrey Stead and replied to by Gordon B. Nicholson, president of the Law School students' Society, and Dr. J. Roy Campbell, member of the faculty. D. Gordon Willet proposed the toast to the ladies, Miss Helen Corbett replying. During the evening, college songs were sung, Miss Alma Gale acting as pianist.

BELL CO. OFFICIAL IS KILLED IN FALL

Joseph Jones, 51, of Montreal, Drops to Death in Elevator Shaft.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Joseph Jones, 51, treasurer of the Bell Telephone Company, of Montreal, was instantly killed today when he jumped or fell into an elevator shaft from the eighth floor of a hotel where he was stopping. He had suffered a nervous breakdown, relatives said, and had been here visiting for several weeks.

Native of Montreal. MONTREAL, March 10.—The late Mr. Jones was born in Montreal 52 years ago, and had been with the Bell Telephone Company for 38 years, practically the entire period that he was engaged in business. For a number of years he was assistant treasurer of the company, and last year he was named general treasurer.

About a month ago the deceased was given an extended leave of absence to recuperate from strain; the death of R. F. Jones, his brother, recently, contributed to the rundown condition from which he was suffering.

EDUCATIONIST SPEAKS HERE OF YOUTH OF TRAY

Miss Lillian Faithfull Makes Plea For Understanding and Help

CONTRASTS PAST WITH PRESENT

English Visitor Pleads for Reverence by Young in Able Address.

Making an earnest plea that the youth of today might be benefited and helped to take up its work of service as well as to acquire that reverence which it sadly lacked, Miss Lillian Faithfull last night stirred deeply the large audience which assembled in the Pythian Castle to hear her address, given under the auspices of the National Council of Education. Chief Justice Sir Douglas Hazen, chairman of the local committee of the educationists, and in introducing Miss Faithfull he spoke of the outstanding place which she held in the educational life of England and of the great pleasure with which she was welcomed to Canada.

She believed she could justly claim to have a wider, closer and more intimate knowledge of the English girl than any even of those in her own profession and she wished to speak of the modern generation. But to judge the modern generation airtight she felt it was necessary to review the tremendous changes of the last 50 years.

Changes Come. Graphically and wittily she described these changes from the solid respectability and domesticity of the later Victorian times which had bred a generation of energy and robust health, through the days of the '70s when there was the great outburst of invention and the feeling was aroused that both men and women should be educated to enable them to take advantage of the new knowledge.

But Miss Faithfull pointed out that the education of women had brought a far greater change than had been contemplated. It had brought a new relationship between men and women, a new comradeship apart from emotion.

She described how the new social order had brought to woman a craving for freedom, something which she believed was very overrated. When women had entered the labor market and succeeded in having many doors opened to them there had come a great ambition for pleasure which change she attributed to the development of great rapidity of transit and the equality of communication typified in telephones and motors. Life became fast and furious, and the next generation was rather a sad one. It was born tired instead of coming into the world eager for everything life offered.

Women and War. Miss Faithfull paused for a moment before speaking of the war period which followed, then with deeply impressive tenderness she spoke of the marvellous courage and self-sacrifice with which the girls of England played their part in war time. It was not to be wondered at she said that these girls who carried bravely a responsibility that had never been asked of girls before, and had been charged with youth and jollity, were going to get that jollity now if they could, and were self-assertive and often defiant. It was the girls' fault if they had a heritage of bad habits.

Miss Faithfull believed the young people were often far greater philosophers than the older people, and she pleaded that they should be met on terms of friendship and equality. If their dress was sometimes undesirable she reminded her audience that the dress of women in other days had been very silly. If the girls lacked grace, was it not because the grace had been hustled out of existence by the breathless rush of today and because their elders did not show them an example to follow in this regard. She believed the modern girl had heroic virtues her elders had not, and with courage, endurance and loyalty had also a passionate sincerity.

What was needed Miss Faithfull held to be, not complaining or reproving, but a realization that it is very difficult and that the world is calling for a passionate service, that in face of many problems of homelessness and unemployment, and in face of every opportunity to train for service women must see that wrongs are righted and shoulder their equal responsibility with the men to raise the standard of life. She declared it was not wise to make things easy for the young people but was far better to make them sturdy citizens through development of their own powers. Above all she felt the young generation needed reverence, needed religion and humility, and women in general she challenged to correct their faults of rushing headlong into work without training for it, and of lack of care for details and lack of punctuality. She closed with the declaration that life was a very difficult engagement.

A note of thanks was moved by Police Magistrate Henderson and seconded by Mrs. James F. Robertson.

UNEMPLOYED CAUSE UNREST IN BRITAIN

R. E. Burnett, Furness, Withy Co., Vice-Chairman, Here, Speaks of Situation.

Restricted trade conditions in Great Britain are causing considerable unemployment there at present, according to R. E. Burnett, vice-chairman of the Furness, Withy Co. Mr. Burnett, who left England on Jan. 24 last, on a pleasure trip, declared that the army of the unemployed in England now numbered 1,224,000 with the majority subsisting on Government doles. With so many men and women idle unrest throughout the country was only natural, he added.

SEE MOVE TO SAVE GERMAN PACIFISTS

Diplomatic Circles Think Military Mission Will be Kept Secret.

Canadian Press Despatch. PARIS, March 10.—The report of the Allied Military Control Mission on its findings in Germany would, if published, expose German pacifists to prosecution by the Government of the Reich, it is thought in Allied circles, and the opinion was expressed today that it would be kept secret.

The whole matter of the Cologne evacuation, it is now anticipated in diplomatic circles, will await the decision of Germany as to whether she wants to go into the League of Nations. The question involves two points, namely the evacuation of the Cologne Bridgehead and transfer of the military control in Germany from the Allied mission to a League organization. Seven Scottish girls recently arrived at New York on one steamer. They were all met by fiancés and married the day of their arrival.

Sunbright Fashions Fill The Store

Everywhere you turn interesting new fashions meet your eye and make shopping a real delight. Fabrics, Dress Accessories, Novelties, Wearables all point out the style trend for the sunny season just ahead and are as bright and attractive as the spring itself. Do not wait until the freshest and best have been selected. Make your visit early and so, choose to best advantage.

NEW SPRING FROCKS ARE VERY ADAPTABLE

Skirts are given to flaring flounces, plaits are used extensively, new long necklines are strongly in evidence, shorter skirts are destined to become popular and such colors as rust, cranberry, almond green, and wood browns vie in popularity with the more conservative shades. You may choose from handsome satin backed crepes, soft ribbed silks, printed silks and soft woollen weaves. The ensemble dress, combining two frocks in one is a spring style feature high in favor.

COATS FOR SPRING ARE STRIKINGLY SLIM

The slim silhouette is strikingly prominent in smart spring coats of woollen twill, tweeds or soft velvety finished fabrics. Trimmings of light, fluffy fur are used on stylish standing collars, while contrasting bands of light material brighten the appearance of coats otherwise dark and very conservative. Tweeds adhere to tailored lines depending more upon cut than trimming to give them charm and distinction.

THE ENSEMBLE SUIT LEADS THE WAY

Every woman's mind turns to an ensemble suit with long coat and dress to match when she is planning the ideal spring and summer wardrobe. Dreams come true when they see the smart styles we have ready for them here. They are developed in novel and staple shades with dresses in many cases composed of same rich printed or plain silk crepe as used for coat lining. This being combined with bands or sleeves of wool material as in coat. Soft wool crepes and other fabrics which lend themselves to clever designing are used in their making.

PRACTICAL TWO-PIECE SUITS OF SMART TWEEDS

When choosing a suit for practical wear or for sports uses, nothing can take the place of a well tailored tweed suit. We have them here, with coats much longer than those worn last season, but like last season's suits, they favored strictly tailored lines. The simplicity of mode which the new season favors is greatly in evidence in these trim tweed suits. We feel sure you'll be interested in them when you see them. (Costume Dept., 2nd floor.)

A New Supply of Badminton Birds
Badminton players have been looking for these to arrive. We have them now. Reliable British make. $2.50 doz

Fables On Health

THE FOUR VITAMINS
VITAMINS are scattered through foods, Mrs. Mann learned. But heat destroys vitamins in some forms, and for this reason it is well to safeguard the health of the family by providing each day some uncooked vegetable, like cabbage, lettuce, onions, potatoes, spinach, etc.
Vitamin A is most abundant in butter, unskimmed milk, young, sprouting green leafy vegetables and egg-yolk.
Children grow exceptionally well when fed foods rich in vitamin A. Vitamin B helps in the control of the nerves, and in overcoming fatigue. Whole grain cereals and most vegetables are rich in vitamin B.
Vitamin C prevents scurvy, and aids very much in keeping the body fit and well. Fruits and vegetables are the best sources.
Vitamin D, the latest one to be discovered, is found in egg-yolk and cod liver oil. Physicians advise that

GRAY FOR SPRING

Spring costumes show a decided tendency to use gray, particularly combined in two tones such as silver and mole.

Adventures of the Twins

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON. MRS. CRACKNUTS' ROSE SHAWL.

Mrs. Cracknuts took the lovely red and blue shawl that the little peddler man handed her out of his pack and held it up with a little squeal of delight. "I never saw anything so gorgeous!" she cried. "If I buy this and wear it to Mrs. Bunney's birthday party, I shall certainly be the belle of the ball. How much is it, Mister Peg Leg? Not a million dollars, I hope."
"No," said the fairman. "A million dollars less nine hundred and ninety-nine thousand, nine hundred and ninety-nine dollars and no cents. I can't count that much," sighed Mrs. Cracknuts. "I never was any good at geography. But it sounds awful."
"It's only two dollars," Nancy hurried to tell the poor lady. "Mister Peg Leg was only joking."
"Laws a daisy! That's different," said Mrs. Cracknuts in relieved tone. "Then I'll take it. I'll just try it on to see how it matches my complexion."
And she threw it over her shoulders, and went over to a mirror.
"The roses just match the tip of my nose," she said proudly. "Now don't tell a soul I have it, please, as I want to surprise everybody."

FLAPPER FANNY

LOTS of folks think a dry town is all wet.

Spanish Air To This

Over the hills and far away, Tra dum de ay, tra dum de ay!"
Every little while she would go and look at the shawl and even lay it over her shoulder and walk up and down. Once she even walked out on to the porch to see how it would look with the sun shining on it.
At that very instant Mrs. Bunney happened to be out emptying garbage into her garbage can. And didn't she spy her neighbor in the bright shawl!
"Oh, dear!" she sighed. "I do wish that Ben would buy me a blue shawl with red roses on it." Then she repeated it quite loudly so that her husband could hear through the open window. "I do wish that Ben would buy me a bright red and blue shawl for my birthday."
When she went in she peeped to see how he had taken it.
But he went on reading his paper and never let on.
By and by the day of the party arrived.
Mrs. Cracknuts took her shawl out of her bureau drawer in the morning, and it was simply a mass of wrinkles. "I'll have to hang it out to air," she declared, "or it won't be fit to be seen. I'll hang it out while I go to market."
Mister Peg Leg and the Twins saw it there, and thought it was queer, but after all it was Mrs. Cracknuts' shawl and she had a right to hang it out if she chooses.

GIRL ELOPES FROM HOME IN CAPITAL

Fifteen Year Old High School Student is Married in Woodstock.

FREDERICTON, March 10.—Fears for the safety of Muriel Gordon, 15-year-old colored girl, who disappeared from her home here during the week-end, have been allayed by the receipt of information from Chief of Police Kelly at Woodstock announcing that she had been married there to Stanley Peters, a young colored man, formerly a native of Kingsclear.

The girl's disappearance from her home caused her relatives no little alarm. Failing to find any definite trace of her whereabouts they communicated their fears to the police department and a hunt for the missing girl was immediately instituted.

Found in Woodstock.

As a result of inquiries which were made in an effort to locate her the police department was informed yesterday afternoon that the couple were located in Woodstock where they had been married shortly after their arrival.

The bridegroom, formerly a resident of Kingsclear, had recently been a resident of Bangor, Me., where he has been living for some time. For the past few weeks he had been in Fredericton and had been in the Gordon girl's company frequently. The youthful bride was a pupil in the city schools.

THERE IS AN OLD and true saying in sportdom "fans are fickle." Only those who have been participants in one line or another can fully appreciate this, but that it is a fact goes without saying. It will be recalled that about a month ago the writer predicted that the people would tire of Paavo Nurmi and criticized his manager for allowing him to participate in so many races...

It may prove a serious handicap to the Home Run King for he will lose two valuable weeks during which he would have ample opportunity to get his eye on the ball. He will still be able to condition himself, but as his batting is his greatest asset as a player he may get away to a poor start when the pennant race begins.

PARIS, March 11.—Jack Taylor, negro light heavy-weight fighter, last night lost a bout to Charlie King of Australia. He was disqualified in the seventh round for fouling.

Porter McIntyre and George Horncaster Win Preliminaries

The boxing bouts, which were staged in the Armory last evening under the auspices of the Playfair A. C., were thoroughly enjoyed by those in attendance. The programme was carried out without a hitch and reflected credit on the management. The feature event of the evening, a 10 round bout between Roy Chisholm of Halifax and Donnie Mack of Toronto, was awarded to the former. The semi final went to Porter McIntyre and the preliminary was won by George Horncaster of Glace Bay.

Horncaster and Charlie Christensen appeared in the curtain raiser. The former was making his debut as a professional and his work was impressive. His opponent was a novice in the ring and although some of his frantic lunges landed the majority of them went wild. In the second round he stopped a terrific right in his mid-section and doubled up in pain. He decided he had enough and quit.

McIntyre Gets Decision. In the eight round semi-final between Al Hogan and Porter McIntyre, the latter was awarded a decision although many fans expressed an opinion that the worst Hogan should have received was a draw. He outboxed his opponent and repeatedly scored with a left jab, but apparently lost the decision as a result of allowing his opponent to land all of the leading. One up against him the bout and the other was to McIntyre. The referee gave the deciding vote in favour of the latter.

Had Precursor Style. In the final bout of the card fans were treated to a different type of mixing. Donnie Mack presented a style of his own. He was fast on his feet and kept up a terrific pace throughout the entire 10 rounds. He continuously bored in, and in this respect resembled George Field. He was exceptionally good natured and no matter what came his way he kept smiling and chattering to his opponent. For the first five rounds he outpointed Chisholm, who was either holding back or had lost out of the game so long that he had lost his judgment of distance, or found difficulty in getting used to the rushing, dashing tactics. In the sixth round, however, the Halifax boy got going and scored repeatedly with head rights and lefts to the face and body. He again outpointed his opponent in the seventh and from that on had a slight margin. The Toronto boy made a great hit with the fans and a draw would have met with general approval.

Both McLeod officiated as referee and his work was entirely satisfactory. The two judges were James Laidlaw and J. J. Mooney. Elmer R. Ingraham, D. J. Barrett and Dan Morrison were the timers and Barney Mooney was the announcer.

Along the Sport Trail

THERE IS AN OLD and true saying in sportdom "fans are fickle." Only those who have been participants in one line or another can fully appreciate this, but that it is a fact goes without saying. It will be recalled that about a month ago the writer predicted that the people would tire of Paavo Nurmi and criticized his manager for allowing him to participate in so many races...

WHOEVER SAYS there are not good sports in St. John is making a bad mistake. A few days ago it was announced that the Trojans would compete with the winners of the Ottawa Valley-Province of Quebec series in this city in the semi-finals for the basketball championship of Canada and a call was sent out for old timers to don their togs and help get the crack local quintette in condition for these great games...

It LOOKS AS IF Ralph Greenleaf, the world's pocket billiard champion, will get into trouble unless he is willing to concede to the demands of the National Championship Pocket Billiard League Greenleaf suffered a nervous breakdown about a month ago following a strenuous series with Taberski in Philadelphia and forthwith set off for Atlantic City...

FANS WILL REGRET that Babe Ruth has been so unfortunate, as to break a finger while getting in condition for the opening of the major league season. It may prove a serious handicap to the Home Run King for he will lose two valuable weeks during which he would have ample opportunity to get his eye on the ball. He will still be able to condition himself, but as his batting is his greatest asset as a player he may get away to a poor start when the pennant race begins.

Plans for the coming baseball season were discussed at a meeting of St. John The Baptist Young Men's Association last evening. FIND ANCIENT BATTLE FIELD IN THE ANDES

Place Where Monsters Met in Titanic Combat Is Discovered

BONES OF ANIMALS TELL HISTORIC TALE

Chicago Scientist Unearthed Valuable Data on Recent Expedition.

CHICAGO, March 11.—What is believed to have been a prehistoric battle-field of monsters, that died in titanic combat before the entrance of mankind upon the world scene, has been unearthed high in the Bolivian Andes. Professor Elmer Riggs, Chicago scientist, who discovered the great fossil beds in the Tarija valley, has found evidence that opposing migrations of North and South American animals met, fought and exterminated each other there.

Story of Migration.
Bones of hideous monsters that roamed the western hemisphere from 1,000,000 to 7,000,000 years ago are piled in confusion in the fossil beds. Such fossil beds are not uncommon but in the Tarija Valley skeletons of North American mastodons, llamas as large as camels, sabre-tooth tigers, mammoth bears and specie of the northern horse family were unearthed among those of South American glyptodonts and huge ground sloths, the megalatherium and mylodon.

In this fact the paleontologist senses the story of the great migration, the dead struggle before history's dawn. Once Had Spiked Tail.
In explaining the presence of the North American species in South America, Professor Riggs, who told his discoveries in a letter to Field Museum authorities here, advanced the geologic theory that at one time Patagonia, then the beginning of the South American continent, was separated from North America. Then some great earth movement created a land bridge between the two continents, probably by way of Florida, and over this bridge moved the North American animal migration seeking new hunting grounds and pasture.

WILL JOIN UNITED BAPTIST MINISTRY

Rev. P. J. Quigg Has Been Primitive Baptist Minister 14 Years.

The following items are from the fortnight Baptist—
Rev. P. J. Quigg, for 14 years a minister of the Primitive Baptist denomination, has been received into the membership of the Woodstock United Baptist Church, of which Rev. E. B. McLatchey is pastor. Mr. Quigg has been assisting Mr. McLatchey in evangelistic services with good results. Mr. Quigg proposes entering the ministry of our United Baptist churches, and has made application for recognition therein.

Union revival services in Cashmere, Wash. State, brought recruits and renewed activity to the First Baptist Church. Rev. J. A. Ford, pastor. By special request, Mr. Ford delivered his lecture on "The Land of the Heather," before a packed audience in the Baptist Church recently. Mr. Ford is vice-president of the County Ministers' Association, and delivers the address at the next meeting, subject, "Immigration—Is it a Menace or a Challenge?"
Rev. A. L. Tedlow of the Tabernacle Church, St. John, assisted Rev. F. A. Hubley, pastor at St. Martins, in evangelistic services last week. He continues this week. Mr. Hubley took the services at the Tabernacle, St. John on Sunday last.
The services at Main street, Saint John, where Dr. Hutcheson is being assisted by Rev. Harry Taylor and his daughter, Ruth, are so well attended with excellent promise. Mr. Taylor preaches a plain practical gospel. Miss Taylor renders gospel songs with a spiritual interpretation that is rare and which is very impressive.

Judge Says Entire Village Must be Moved to Clear Path for Oil Industry.
CHEYENNE, March 11.—The town of Layovo was literally wiped off the map of Wyoming and its 1,200 residents were deprived of their homes by a ruling of Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy, who ordered that the entire village and its populace must be moved to clear a path for the petroleum industry between the two continents, probably by way of Florida, and over this bridge moved the North American animal migration seeking new hunting grounds and pasture.

Public buildings, business houses, homes, all must go, for Judge Kennedy decreed that the Ohio Oil Company, which leased the land on which the town is situated from the Government for oil development, is entitled to full possession within sixty days from today, the town having been established without a legal basis.

IF RHEUMATIC BEGIN ON SALTS

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure, Eat No Sweets.
Stay out of the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.
Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.
At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove uric acids, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

SHOOTS SON THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

Port Huron Youth May Survive Attack by Demented Father.

PORT HURON, Mich., March 11.—After firing two bullets into the head of his son, Ronald, 20 years of age, William J. Hurley, local manager for an insurance company and secretary of the Hurley Tire Company, turned the weapon on himself and fired a bullet through his temple, dying instantly.
It is believed the elder Hurley was demented. Relatives informed the police he had made an attempt last week to end his life by electrocution.
Youth Stays Away.
Hurley, Jr., according to the police, remained away from home Wednesday night, and this appeared to enrage the father. Going to the tire shop, Hurley asked the youth to accompany him home, and there the father demanded to know why he had remained away from home.
"I might just as well end this trouble now," said Hurley, as he took a revolver from his coat pocket. He fired two shots at the son, and then turned the weapon on himself, firing a bullet through his right temple, dying instantly.
Hurley, the younger, has a wife and seven-week-old baby. He is expected to live.

INQUIRY HERE INTO BURNING OF STEAMSHIP

Court Tomorrow to Probe Loss of S. S. Canadian Navigator

FOUR LIVES LOST IN FLAMES IN HOLD

Officers and Crew in City to Give Evidence Re Barbados Disaster

An inquiry into the destruction of the C. G. M. M. steamer Canadian Navigator, which was burned to the water's edge at Barbados on Tuesday, Feb. 17, will be held here tomorrow by Captain L. A. Demers, Canadian Wreck Commissioner, Captain W. E. Baker and the officers and members of the crew of the ill-fated vessel arrived in St. John yesterday on the R. M. S. P. Chateau, which they will give evidence at the inquiry. They bring vivid tales of the loss of the steamship which has been a frequent visitor to this port. The fire was caused by an explosion in No. 2 hold and resulted in the death of four men.

Officer Tells of Fire.

Describing the scene, an officer of the vessel said this morning that they were loading raw sugar for this port when, soon after the noon hour, there was an explosion in No. 2 hold and he noticed a puff of smoke shoot skyward. Flames quickly followed and only four of eight colored longshoremen who were working in the hold, were able to climb to safety before that section of the ship was an inferno.

The crew of the Navigator made frantic efforts to stay the flames, but the raw sugar burned like tinder and the fire gained rapidly in spite of the crew's efforts, and soon spread to other parts of the vessel. The terrific heat forced the crew to take refuge in numerous small boats and lighters in the vicinity of the burning steamer. Tugs attached lines to the ship and the anchor was let go, as all vessels have to be loaded in the stream at Barbados, and the work of towing the vessel far enough away to eliminate danger to other vessels was commenced.

Sea Drift.

Finally, after the menace was removed from the immediate vicinity of the burning steamer, the Canadian Navigator was cast adrift. For more than 24 hours the burning hulk illuminated the sky and wireless reports from vessels far at sea told of seeing the reflection. Slowly but surely the flames burned themselves out as everything but the metal work was consumed, and then the hull sank gradually lower and lower until all that was left disappeared and only a widening circle of ripples marked the place where the vessel had been. A few short hours before a valuable steamer of Canada's merchant fleet.

Lost Belongings

The officers and crew of the steamer were landed at Barbados, having lost practically all their belongings except the clothing they wore. The Board of Trade there furnished them with some clothing but it was of the summer variety and additional had to be secured for the voyage here on the Chateau. The officers secured several splendid pictures showing the huge columns of smoke arising from the steamer, and have had them colored to depict the flames playing about the vessel. The pictures will in all probability be produced at the coming inquiry.

Members of the crew visited the shipping master this morning and several of them expect to secure berths within the next few days. Others will not endeavor to secure berths until after the official inquiry later this week.

The Officers.

The Canadian Navigator was under the command of Captain W. E. Baker of Halifax, and the other officers were: Chief officer, P. Fuller, of Halifax; second officer, P. Sawyer, of Liverpool; third officer, J. C. Castro, of Cape Breton; Chief Engineer, McDonald, of Scotland, and Engineer Edwards, of England; Engineer Scott, of Dartmouth, and Engineer Mears, of Montreal. In addition to the officers the Chateau also brought the vessel's three stewards, cook and 20 members of the crew.

Other Passengers.

The Chateau docked at Pettigill's wharf yesterday afternoon with 44 first, 12 second and 28 third-class passengers, and a pleasant voyage was reported. Among the people for the Maritime Provinces were Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Walker, Port Hawkesbury, N.S.; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. MacPherson, Stellerton, and Mrs. F. J. Morrison, New Waterford, N.S.; Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Johnson, Halifax, N.S.; Mrs. C. Newcomb, Walford, N.S.; A. Mayfield, St. John, N.B.; Miss K. Cahill, Halifax; Mrs. B. M. Smith and son, Sunbury County, N.B.; C. Gibson and V. Gibson, Sydney, N.S.

Hon. William Pugsley Died Without Having Made Will

That Hon. William Pugsley, whose death took place a few days ago in Toronto, had died without leaving a will was stated this morning when inquiry was made about the estate. He died intestate, it was said by one who had been in close touch with the late Dr. Pugsley and application would, in the customary form, have to be made to the Probate Court for administration of his estate.

A petition to the court here will be the first matter and, it is understood, will be presented as soon as Hon. H. O. McInerney, judge of the St. John Probate Court, when he has recovered from the illness from which he is suffering and returned to his office.
