LORD BEAVERBROOK CONDEMNS IN STRONGEST LANGUAGE SPREADERS OF SINN FEINERS' PROPAGANDA

Well-Known Canadian, Now Member of British House of Lords, Says Some Canadian Newspapers Devote Lots of Space in Sympathy of MacSwiney, But Fail To Mention Widows and Orphans of Loyal Policemen Murdered by Misguided Irish Radicals—Sir Hamar Greenwood Lauded For His Work As Secretary For Ireland.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—"Ireland is rapidly assuming a new face, it's now civil war," declared Lord Beaverbrook, the well-known Canadian member of the British House of Lords, who is at the King Edward Hotel today with Lady Beaverbrook, on a visit to the city. Lord Beaverbrook has strong, definite opinions on the Irish problem. The North American continent will begin to realize," he declared, "that the granting of that measure of government that Sinn Fein demands was so simple. It will be clear from this time forward that the two nations engaged in mortal conflict were quite irreconcilable.

"I cannot understand those Canadian newspapers that devote many columns of obvious propaganda—obvious Sinn Fein propaganda—in recounting the sufferings of Mayor MacSwiney with hardly a word for the devastated houses, desolate widows and helpless orphans, of the policemen who have been done down in cold blood by those who say that killing is not murder."

"It's all very well for the American newspapers, they have their public to serve. A very small proportion of the American public make an amazingly loud noise, but America will never quarrel with us in political issues. Economic issues, that's another matter."

Sir Hamar Greenwood, the Canadian secretary for Ireland, has been a great success, having in view the nature of his duties, in the opinion of Lord Beaverbrook.

SAYS ELEVATED TRACKS ONLY SOLUTION OF LEVEL CROSSINGS

Noulan Cauchon Discusses City's Railways Problem At the Civic Luncheon Tendered To Ontario Architects — Other Civic Improvements Are Suggested.

Following addresses of welcome by Mayor E. S. Little and George H. Belton of the London Chamber of Commerce at the dinner at the Tecumseh House tendered the delegates to the Ontario architects' convention, Noulan Cauchon of Ottawa explained in detail his plan for rebuilding London and solving the local railway problem. Mr. Cauchon was introduced by J. P. Hynes, chairman of the Ontario legislative committee on town planning.

Track elevation is the only feasible solution of the local problem, said Mr. Cauchon, since subways and other schemes would be practically blocked and tied up by litigation and property damage claims. Since 1900, 28 people have been killed and 70 injured in level crossing accidents. The toll of life is too heavy to permit it to continue indefinitely.

Civic Centre.

Should his plan for a civic centre at Waterloo and Dundas streets be adopted, and an elevated crosstown railway line, with a station and city hall built above Dundas street be carried out, Waterloo street should be widened, but Dundas street should not be broken by a park or other grass plots. This would break the contunuity of business on Dundas street, and the business district might jump several blocks as a result. A square for public congregation should be made around on Colborne street, where crowds would not interfere with street car traffic.

Remodel Armories.

It might be possible to get the Government to remodel the Armories into a postoffice building and erect a new drill shed at some less central place.

W. D. Cromarty and other speakers will discuss town planning at a public meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium this evening. The addresses will be illustrated with moving pictures, and everybody is freely invited.

CHANGES HELP BUSINESSMEN

Important Rulings Regarding Division Court Procedure Effective Tomorrow.

Important changes in connection with the division court become effective September 1. Under the new regulations, many cases will be taken away from the county court in order to greatly expedite their handling.

Judge J. C. Judd stated to The Advertiser today that from the standpoint of businessmen the new procedure will enable collections to be made more speedily. Instead of being limited to $60, as formerly, under the new ruling the amount has been raised to $120.

The amount which may be sued for on contracts is now $200, instead of $100, as formerly. On promissory notes and documents signed by the debtor, the sum of $400 may be sued for, instead of $200, as previously.

The division court in the city will sit once a month, and in the county every two months. While the county court only sits twice a year.

GOVERNMENT IS SUED FOR MILLIONS FOR STEEL RAILS ORDER

The Dominion Iron and Steel Company Seeks To Recover Big Sum.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—(Canadian Press).—A suit involving several million dollars, the point at issue being the value of steel rails which the Dominion Government under the authority of the war measures act compelled the Dominion Iron and Steel Company to roll during the war period for the use of Canadian railways, will be heard by the exchequer court at a sitting which opens on September 7. The amount involved is $8,727,617 less cash already advanced to the extent of $5,500,000. This makes the actual amount in dispute upwards of three and one-quarter millions of dollars with interest.

The amount of rails rolled under the Government's order was something in excess of 100,000 tons, for which the company seeks payment at the rate of $75 per ton. As the Government considered the price too high, provision was made by order-in-council for a reference of the dispute to the exchequer court. The rails were delivered under the Government order to the Grand Trunk, Canadian Pacific and other roads. These railways have been made parties to the proceedings before the exchequer court, the purpose being to have the court declare that the railways must pay for the rails received the amount the court finds to be fair and reasonable.

LOSS IS $10,000 IN BLAZE AT BRIGDEN

Brigden, Aug. 31.—Fire of unknown origin, which broke out about 4 o'clock this morning in the implement warehouse of John Sinclair, completely destroyed that building and also the office of the Brigden Progress, next door. The telephone system is temporarily out of commission. Three autos in the building of Mr. Sinclair were burned. The loss is estimated at $10,000.

CITY FIRE LOSS WAS ONLY $5

New Record Is Made by the Figures For August.

London's fire loss for the month of August is a record for any month since this municipality became a city. That is to say it is a record in the "Safety First" direction, the loss for the month being less than five dollars, according to Fire Chief John Aitken. There were but three fires during the month, and the damage totalled for the trio was very slight, being less than the amount quoted above.

In addition to the three blazes extinguished by the department there were three false alarms turned in, bringing the total number of calls for the city during the month up to six. No complaints have been voiced by members of the fire department during the month as a result of working extra hours or arduous duties.

More Baby Girls Than Boys Born

Stork During Month Made 143 Visits To London Homes.

According to city hall statistics the stork visited 143 homes in London in August. At 71 of these he left a baby boy and 72 girls were included on his list. In August, 1919, there were but 75 births registered in London, or about one-half of this year's total for August. Of the 143 babies born here this month five were illegitimate.

During the month there were 66 deaths here in contrast to 74 of August, 1919. Young couples united in matrimony locally numbered 56 for August, compared to 70 in the same month of last year, showing a decrease of 14 marriages.

INGERSOLL COUNCIL OBJECTS TO ORDER OF RAILWAY BOARD

Ingersoll, Aug. 30.—The Wonham street crossing was again the subject of much debate by the town council, following a recent order of the railway board that the town share the expense of the protection of the railway crossing at that street. The order of the board was the result of an accident at the crossing about a year ago, in which a man was killed.

In 1892 a similar order was made on the council, but never acted upon, and the council decided to again protest any responsibility for the safeguarding of the crossing. Mayor James Henderson, Councillors A. S. Gibson and Scott, Town Solicitor J. C. Heggie and the town clerk, W. R. Smith, were named a deputation to go to Toronto on Saturday, and ask the railway board to rescind its order.

ATTEMPT MADE TO ASSASSINATE HEAD OF TURK REBELS

Constantinople, Aug. 31.—An attempt has been made to assassinate Mustapha Kemal Pasha, leader of the Turkish Nationalists, near Tokat, a town 58 miles northwest of Sivas, according to an unconfirmed report received here.

NINE DEAD AS A RESULT OF DAY'S RIOTING IN BELFAST

Twenty Have Been Killed Since Disorders Started Last Wednesday.

MORE TROUBLE FEARED

Martial Law May Be Declared in Irish City At Any Time.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—A special cable from Belfast to the Toronto Star says:

Martial law was declared in Belfast at noon today. Reports received here indicated that disorders, growing out of political religious differences, were spreading throughout Ireland.

Belfast, Aug. 31.—Nine persons are dead as a result of yesterday's rioting in this city, another man being killed last night, and two of those wounded in yesterday's disorders dying. Revised reports as to casualties show that since the rioting began last Wednesday, 20 have been killed. Two hundred have been injured.

Knots of soldiers held strategic points in the affected areas during the night, and it was stated this morning that troops occupy virtually all the police barracks in the city.

Ominous signs of further trouble ushered in the new day in riot-torn Belfast. The only actual outbreak reported early this forenoon was the stoning of employees of Mackie's foundry in the notorious Kashmir road district, but groups of men collected at many corners along Falls road, King street and Royal avenue, giving unmistakable indications that trouble might come.

The campaign of incendiarism against Nationalist saloons in various sections was continued by Unionist youths. Mid-afternoon arrived with the city comparatively calm, however, excepting for these attacks. Some of the military posts were withdrawn from the Falls and Shankhill districts, but were to be re-established at the curfew hour tonight.

Never in the history of Belfast was there such disorders as prevailed yesterday. Mobs fought with wild fury in different sections of the town, women mingling with the men in the melees that developed wherever the opposing factions met. Girl workers fought like wildcats in one clash yesterday morning, parties attacking each other as they were going to work. Unionist women charged on a number of Nationalist girls in Cork street, while the Nationalists made an attack on Unionists in the Falls road district.

The city was placed under the curfew ordinance last night, and there were rumors that martial law would be declared, but nothing definite was done by the authorities.

HIGHLANDERS ARE BELIEVED ON WAY TO BELFAST CITY

Dublin, Aug. 31.—Cameron Highlander troops—the 1st Scottish Rifles—went on board special trains here this morning, and it was believed they were being sent to Belfast.

SCORES OF FIRES RAGE IN BELFAST DURING RIOTS

BELFAST, Aug. 0.—The Shankhill district of Belfast late tonight was a blazing inferno. Nearly a score of fires had been started, and virtually all the grocery stores and public houses owned by Catholics in the district were being destroyed.

The police fired on the crowd during the disturbances, inflicting several casualties.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon a minor battle started in Royal avenue, with the Belfast Telegraph office as its centre. A crowd of Sinn Feiners crept down Liberty street from Carrick Hill and opened a revolver fusillade on the

DATE OF REFERENDUM IS NOT LIKELY TO BE CHANGED, SAYS RANEY

Ontario Premier in Ottawa To Speak Before the Bar Association.

Ottawa, Aug 31.—Hon. W. E. Raney, attorney-general for Ontario is in the city. Accompanied by Mrs. Raney, his visit to the capital is coincidental with the fall meeting of Connaught Park Jockey Club, but he is not here for the races, he jocularly told a reporter, who asked him if he were going to the track.

"I often receive badges from the jockey clubs," said Mr. Raney, "but I haven't received one yet from Connaught Park."

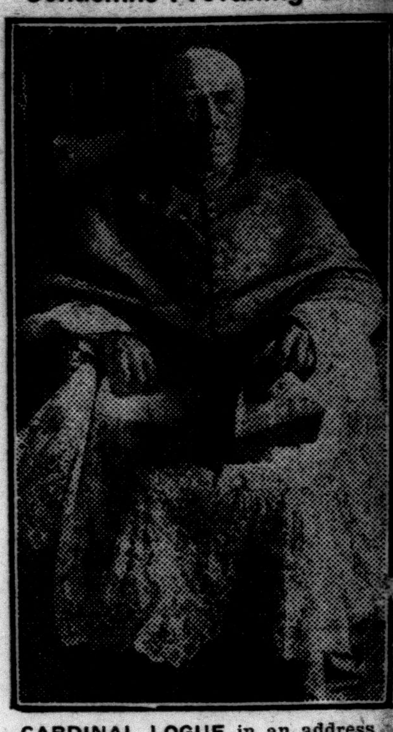

Mr. Raney is here for the meeting of the Canadian Bar Association. He will speak on Wednesday evening.

Questioned if there had been any change in the illicit liquor situation in the Essex peninsula recently, Mr. Raney said that in the last fortnight there had been an appreciable change for the better. There is little likelihood of the Dominion Government changing the date of the provincial referendum from April to January, as has been urged by the Ontario referendum committee, Mr. Raney thought. The Provincial Government would not take any action, "Will the Drury Government take any further action affecting race tracks, in the near future?" Mr. Raney was asked. "That is in the hands of the prophets," replied the attorney-general.

CONDEMNS WORLD LEAGUE.

Bangor, Me., Aug. 31.—The league of nations was characterized as a treaty of vengeful force and economic imperialism, containing the seeds of future wars more than any convention in the world's history, in a speech by Raymond Robins, Chicago, chairman of the Progressive national convention of 1916, at a Republican rally here last night.

Venerable Irish Prelate Condemns Prevailing Crime

CARDINAL LOGUE in an address to the churches, vigorously and impartially denounces the crimes and the reprisals by the forces of the crown. The shooting of policemen, he declares, is cold and deliberate murder and anyone who encourages it participates in the guilt before God. Adding that crime does not excuse crime he says regarding reprisals: "I know we are living under the harsh, tyrannical regime of militarism and brute force which invites and stimulates crime."

MACSWINEY IS STILL ALIVE BUT GROWING WEAKER

Lord Mayor of Cork Expected To Expire At Any Time.

London, Aug. 31.—Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, who has been on a hunger strike since August 12, was still alive this morning but his sister Mary who visited him, said he was growing weaker and that "the end may come at any moment."

MacSwiney spent a restful night, and his sister remained near Brixton Prison, where he is confined, throughout the night, thinking she might be called for.

An official who saw MacSwiney early today described his condition as being like that of a "man on a precipice" adding that "the slightest breeze might blow him over at any time."

POPE IS URGED TO APPEAL ON BEHALF OF MAYOR MACSWINEY

Rome, Aug. 31.—Premier Giolitti has received a telegram from Sean O'Ceallaigh, delegate of the "Irish Republic" in Rome, urging him to bring to bear the influence of the Italian Government and people in favor of Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, who is believed to be near death in Brixton Prison, London, as the result of a hunger strike.

Pope Benedict has been sent many telegrams, letters and addresses by Irish bishops, clergymen and civilians, describing the situation in Ireland, and asking him to intercede for that country with the British Government.

BANK CLEARINGS TAKE BIG JUMP

Business Is Reported Excellent All Over London District.

Bank clearings for the month of August totaled $14,878,915, an increase of $1,562,356 over the figures for August, 1919, when the total was $13,316,559.

Business in general has been very good in London and district, and with one of the greatest harvests in the history of Western Ontario now being gathered, general prosperity is looked for. While many merchants, owing to the uncertainty of the markets, are buying only for immediate requirements, not wishing to be caught on a falling market with high-priced stock, they are looking for continued active buying on the part of the public. Both farmers and city people have plenty of money and are spending it freely. This year will see record purchases of new autos, and railway officials state that all previous traffic records are being smashed. While there is a large amount of building going on, there is quite a considerable volume that is held up, especially of housework. In the meantime there is unquestionably a shortage of dwellings to rent, and a great many builders are considering erecting one or more on speculation.

FAVOR UNIFORM DIVORCE LAWS

Dominion Bar Association May Make Recommendation At Coming Meeting.

According to a prominent local barrister the Dominion Bar Association of Canada, which meets in September, will consider a recommendation to be forwarded to parliament urging uniform divorce laws for Ontario. The Ontario Bar Association has already favorably considered this proposal, and sent out circulars to all county associations asking them to bring the matter up.

The Middlesex Bar Association has recommended uniform divorce laws similar to those in force in the western provinces, whereby the workingman is not denied divorce privileges accorded the rich, and lack of funds is no barrier to divorce.

"Why should an Ontario citizen be compelled to give up his business in the province and take up residence in the west in order that he may secure a divorce," said the lawyer. "We are losing fine young people of both sexes this way, and many of them go to the United States to obtain a legitimate divorce, where they remain permanently, to the loss of Ontario."

German Tricksters Newest Game To Unload Their Goods

Washington, Aug. 31.—Germany is dumping its surplus of inferior goods in Great Britain and the United States, and is marking its exports to Great Britain "Made in America" and its exports to the United States "Made in England," official advices received here today state.

German exporters are following this practice, the advices said, in an effort to regain their former foreign trade and to realize quickly large sums on manufactured articles, which otherwise might not be sold because of popular prejudice. Such tactics are discrediting United States manufacturers in Great Britain and British manufacturers in the United States, the advices declared.

POLISH DELEGATES SUFFER INDIGNITIES AT HANDS OF REDS

Members of Peace Mission Arrive From Minsk.

RELATE EXPERIENCES

Forced To Ride On Train With All Shades Drawn.

Warsaw, Aug. 31.—Both the Polish and Russian Soviet delegates plan to resume the peace negotiations within a week, probably at Riga, Letvia, says a wireless message from Minsk last night.

London, Aug. 31.—Representatives of both soviet and Polish peace delegations at Minsk have been sent to their respective capitals to consult their governments regarding any proposed transfer of the negotiations to another place, according to a wireless dispatch received here today from Moscow.

The Bolshevik delegates had suggested Esthonia, the message notes, and the Polish delegates proposed Riga.

Brest-Litovsk, Poland, Aug. 31.—Tired, dirty and disgusted, M. Domski, M. Grabski, and several others, members of the Polish peace delegation, arrived here from Minsk last midnight and were received by Prince Sapieha, the Polish foreign minister, at army divisional headquarters.

Prince Sapieha and M. Domski immediately held a one-hour conversation, in which the treatment accorded the Polish delegation at Minsk by the Soviet officials occupied no small part. This morning Prince Sapieha told the correspondent of the Associated Press that the delegates remaining in Minsk would be recalled immediately, as it had been definitely decided to hold no further negotiations in Minsk and to go to a neutral city from Warsaw. The foreign minister said that had he known sooner of the indignities suffered by the Polish delegates they would have been recalled long ago.

The Polish representatives reached Brest-Litovsk after being on a Bolshevik train from 8 o'clock Friday evening till 9 o'clock Sunday evening, although the distance covered was only 140 kilometres (approximately 87 miles). They were unable to leave their compartments, the shades of which were closed whenever the train was at a standstill.

The train reached Zabinka, near Kobrin, 30 miles northeast of Brest-Litovsk, where it was the intention to motor across the lines Sunday morning. It remained at Zabinka until 8 o'clock Sunday evening on one excuse or another, the Bolshevists at first saying the bridges were down and then declaring it was unsafe for the delegates to start. Later developments indicated that the cause of delay was the inability of the Bolshevists to locate the Polish advance guard, but had it not been for the Bolshevists delaying the delegation would have been in the Polish lines Saturday morning.

SOVIET TROOPS OCCUPY NUMBER OF VILLAGES

London, Aug. 31.—Russian Bolsheviki forces, fighting against Polish forces north of Brest-Litovsk, have occupied a number of villages from 10 to 20 miles south of Bialystok, says a wireless dispatch from Moscow, quoting an official statement issued there yesterday. The fighting which is declared to be favorable to the soviet armies, continues in the vicinity of Lemberg and Perelysl in Galicia, while in the Oriekhov region, further south the Bolsheviki have been successful, it is said.

Further north, near Vladimi Volhynsk soviet troops have occupied the town of Bielz and a number of villages north of there. In the neighborhood of Brest-Litovsk, where the Bolsheviki claimed yesterday to have captured several towns, from the Poles, only local fighting is going on, the statement declares.

SEMENOFF ASKS PERMISSION TO JOIN REDS' ARMY

Copenhagen, Aug. 31.—Gen. Semenoff, the anti-Bolshevik Cossack leader in Eastern Siberia, has applied to Leon Trotzky, Bolshevik minister of war and marine, for permission to join the Russian Soviet army, says a Moscow dispatch, quoting reports printed in the newspaper Isvestia of this city.

LETVIA AGREES TO PEACE CONFERENCE BEING HELD IN RIGA

Warsaw, Aug. 31.—Letvia has agreed to let Poland and Soviet to transfer the Minsk peace conference to Riga. This was done on request of the Poles.

NEGOTIATIONS INTERRUPTED.

Warsaw, Aug. 31.—Peace negotiations between the Polish and Russian delegations at Minsk have been interrupted, according to a wireless dispatch received here. Most of the Polish delegates have left Minsk for Brest-Litovsk, while the Bolshevik representatives have gone to Moscow, both sides planning to resume the conference within a week, probably at Riga.

REDS PUSHING FORWARD.

Constantinople, Aug. 31.—Russian soviet forces are reported to be succeeding in their attempt to reach the Perekop Isthmus and cut off some of the forces of Gen. Wrangel from the Crimea.

LOCAL TEMPERATURES.

Following were the highest and lowest temperatures recorded in London during the 24 hours previous to 8 o'clock last night: Highest, 82; lowest, 65.

The official temperatures for the 12 hours previous to 8 a.m. today were: Highest, 67; lowest, 60.

INTERNATIONAL LABOR UNIONS DOING MUCH TO CHECK BOLSHEVISM

Minister of Labor Pays Tribute To Big Organization.

SCORES RADICALS

Large Majority of Workers Belong To Saner Elements in Trade Unionism.

Ottawa, Aug 31.—A striking tribute to the saner elements of trade unionism, as represented by the American Federation of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, was paid by Hon. Sir Gideon Robertson, minister of labor, at a private luncheon at the Rideau Club yesterday, given to the commissioners attending the conference on the uniformity of legislation in Canada. After speaking of the work accomplished by the international unions toward harmony between the workmen and the employers, commonly described as capital, Senator Robertson declared that if the labor situation was not stabilized in the near future, it would not be the fault of those organizations. He pointed to the international unions as being one of the strongest factors in combating Bolshevism in the North American continent. The fact that out of 380,000 organized workingmen in Canada, 260,000 were members of international trade unions gave the speaker grounds to hope that the saner element would assert itself sufficiently to bring stability to the labor situation.

Against the work of the international unions in this direction, Senator Robertson said that there were two factors. Between 50,000 and 100,000 workers of the revolutionary social element, and a number of larger employers, who during the war, tacitly co-operated with labor in improving conditions, while it was necessary to have full production, but who, since the termination of the conflict were endeavoring to "get out from under" their promises and concessions.

BRITISH MINERS TO RENEW NEGOTIATIONS WITH GOVERNMENT

Threatened Coal Strike May Be Postponed.

MEN TO GO SLOW

Officials of Unions To Interview Government Ministers.

London, Aug. 31.—Demands in support of which a majority of the miners of Great Britain have voted to strike, were considered here today at a meeting of the executive committee of the miners' federation, the transport workers' union and the national union of railwaymen. Belief is expressed that as a result of the meeting efforts will be made to resume negotiations with the government.

Many manufacturers have decided to close their plants immediately if a miners' strike is declared, says the Daily Mail.

AWARD OF COMMISSION STRONGLY CONDEMNED BY MINERS' OFFICIAL

Washington, Aug. 31.—The award of the anthracite coal commission, approved by President Wilson yesterday, is characterized as "the most reactionary decision that has been made by an industrial tribunal during the reconstruction period." by W. Jett Lauck, consulting economist for the United Mine Workers, in a statement made public today, predicting trouble in the anthracite field as a result of the findings.

The union, he said, would undertake in all good faith to accept and enforce the award, although the commission declined to grant it "the power and authority it should have to control the situation."

"The price of anthracite coal to the consumer should be reduced as a result of the award," Mr. Lauck declared. "When the case was submitted to arbitration with an agreement that the award should date from April 1 last, the anthracite operators advanced the price of coal at the mines $1 per ton, effective April 1, to protect themselves against any wage increase the commission might make."

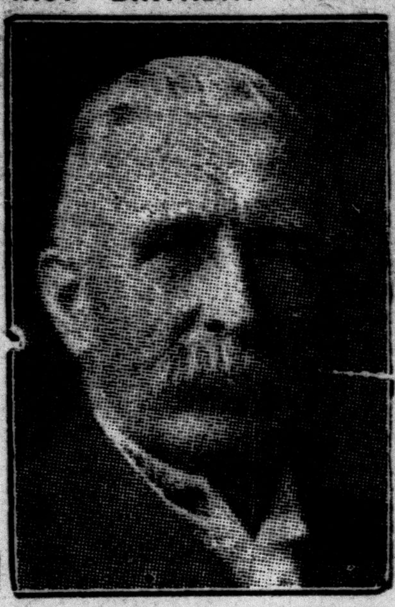

The wage increases granted by the commission, he said, amounted to 50 cents a ton, and on a basis of 90,000,000 tons a year production the operators have collected $30,000,000 during the last

CELEBRATING HIS EIGHTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY TODAY

COL. GEORGE T. DENISON, chief police magistrate of Toronto since 1877. Vigorous in body and keen of mind, the colonel who for twenty years was the only police magistrate in Toronto, and in the last twenty-three years has been the chief magistrate of the city, carries on his duties with all the alertness of a man of middle age. Since his appointment 650,000 cases have been dealt with in Toronto police court, most of them by Col. Denison himself. In the forty odd years during which he has occupied the position Colonel Denison has never once been late for court. Until the last year or two he always walked from his residence to the court, a distance of about three miles. Now he rides occasionally. He makes it a point to be in his office ahead of time, and as the city hall clock strikes the hour for court to open he takes his seat on the bench. Col. Denison is the author of a number of books on military and other subjects.

LIBERAL LEADER TO START TOUR OF WEST SOON

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King Completes Engagements in East.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—Canadian Press.—Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, who has returned to the city after addressing meetings in different parts of Ontario, has completed his list of engagements in the east.

Mr. King is at present in the city, and will likely remain here until the middle of September, when he leaves for Denver, and from there will go to Victoria, B. C., to open a six weeks' tour of the western provinces.

Safety Pins Are Removed From Child's Throat

New York, Aug. 31.—Relieved of an open safety pin and two closed ones, which lodged in her throat two years ago, 4-year-old Clara Kucher began to taken an interest in eating again today.

The pins were removed yesterday by a surgeon, to whom Clara's mother took her, suffering from malnutrition. The mother expressed surprise, saying an X-ray examination had failed to locate the pins in Clara's stomach, and physicians had concluded she had coughed them up.

NEW PLANT TO EMPLOY 1,000

Work On Motor Truck Factory To Be Started Shortly.

Plans for the new Ruggles Motor Truck plant, which is locating in this city, have been approved, and it is expected that construction work on the first unit of the buildings to be erected will be started as soon as the steel and other building materials can be secured. The plant is to be located in East London on Dundas street, in the vicinity of the McCormick factory.

According to one of the officials of the firm, the land has been purchased and is already being cleared. Production will be started shortly in temporary quarters which have been secured.

It was stated to The Advertiser today that at least 1,000 men will eventually be employed in the plant.

Although the officials of the company would say nothing regarding the nature of the buildings nor their size, prefering to wait until definite announcements could be made, it is generally conceded that they will be of considerable dimensions. Nearly $225,000 local capital has been invested in the company a member of the firm stated.

It is the plan of the company to seek foreign business chiefly, as F. W. Ruggles, who is to be president and general manager of the new plant, built up an extensive foreign trade while connected with the Republic Motor Company. Mr. Ruggles and his associates are now in London.

PREDICTS FALL IN PRICES OF ALL KINDS OF COMMODITIES

Robert Dollar, Head of Steamship Company, Sees a General Slump.

OCEAN FREIGHT RATES LESS

Believes High Figures Have Reached Top Notch, Must Soon Drop.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—"Prices are coming down in almost all commodities," said Robert Dollar, president of the Robert Dollar Steamship Company of the Pacific coast. This statement was made from his knowledge of the carrying trade of the oceans of the world.

"At the present time," he said, "ships can be obtained twice as cheaply on the Clyde as they can be built in the United States or in Canada. I am not as familiar with Canadian prices as I am with the United States ones, but there is no question as to facts. Cargo boats can be bought on the Clyde and brought over here with a great saving over having them built here.

"Ocean freights are coming down materially. At the present time charters are being made from the lower provinces in Canada to the United Kingdom at 100 shillings. A year and a half ago the rate was 300 shillings. There are ten million tons more shipping today than there was in existence at the beginning of the war, according to Lloyd's last statement.

"The moral of this is that freights, like all other commodities, are going away down in price. All businessmen, doing trade in a large way, are in perfect agreement that prices are not go- ing to remain away up out of [illegible] as they have been in the past.

"This slump has already take[illegible] in a number of commodities. [illegible] question is a question of sup[illegible] mand, which is something [illegible] forget."

Meanwhile, Brooklyn's two million residents still struggled with improvised means of conveyance.

That sentiment among the strikers was growing more bitter became evident early today, when a trolley inspector was beaten to unconsciousness by six alleged strikers, all of whom were arrested. As a precautionary measure against disorder, 4,500 policemen were on duty in the borough, and a large force of reserves was held in readiness for possible trouble.

The company made plans to materially increase during the day the number of subway and elevated trains with the aid of strike breakers. Only 61 two-car trains were operated yesterday. It was reported from reliable sources that plans were completed to put into operation 500 surface cars, protected by heavy wire screens, manned by strike breakers and special police. This report could not be officially confirmed early today.

Judge Julius M. Mayer, legal custodian for the system, continued firm in his stand against arbitration, reserving his prerogative to scale down any award to a figure commensurate with the ability of the company to pay. He consented, however, to hold a conference with Mayor Hylan.

Attempts at intimidation of workers by the strikers and their sympathizers was reported at the East New York depot. Motormen, members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, were urged to refrain from taking out subway and elevated trains because strike breakers were said to have been employed.

Volleys of stones and bricks greeted a bus load of 50 men, being conveyed to the East New York and Halsey street barns, where 200 had been recruited to take out cars. No one was reported injured.

PLANS FOR GREATER LONDON LAID BEFORE ORGANIZATION HERE

Noulan Couchon Explains With Aid of Lantern Slides—Many Ideas.

PROTECT GRADES

Is His Advice—Just As Important As Railways To City.

London as seen through the vision of an expert town planner was pictured by Noulan Couchon of Ottawa at a meeting of the Town Planners held at the city hall last night. Supplemented by lantern slides the local situation was explained thoroughly by this expert with a wealth of ideas for the future, following which a formal discussion took place with those present querying Mr. Couchon regarding his plans.

"London has physical limitations," he declared, "situated as it is in a valley, rising to the east, and more abruptly to the west. The railway grades must be preserved and they are just as important to the city as to the railways. We must protect the grades of our streets just as much. It is only a question of more expense. The only drawback in grading streets is the damage to property owners."

"In making my report the basic thing is the power of the railway commission. It is allowed to deviate a railway one mile from its location, but the C. P. R. and G. T. R entering London on the west are one mile and a quarter apart. Therefore, they cannot be forced to get together. There is no doubt about it that if you keep your level crossings you will keep on killing people. These death traps are not fool proof."

Two Issues.

"There are two distinct railway issues here," he continued, "namely, grade separation and union termination. You have to get grade separation, but union termination is not needed, but if decided upon, the one I recommend I claim to be the best. Grade separation is absolutely a question of track elevation. The trains coming down into the city from the east go out climbing to the west. You cannot put them under the streets, because you will spoil the grade. You cannot leave them on the level, therefore you must put them in the air. Carry your elevation to Egerton street, not Rectory, as planned by the Grand Trunk. The same applies to the C. P. R. tracks.

"Have no subways excepting at Adelaide, Rectory and Egerton streets. With regard to a union terminal, ask the railway commission to send an engineer here to look over the plans and visit. It does not commit you. Publish report if you wish in pamphlet and enlist public sympathy.

"Cities last forever, and we must plan for the future," said Mr. Cauchon, who pointed out errors made in planning other cities, and improvements in Hamilton and Ottawa, urging London to profit thereby. M. Hines, a prominent architect from Toronto, in attendance at the Ontario Architects' convention here, spoke briefly on civic pride and the value of Mr. Cauchon in his enthusiastic town planning methods.

ARCHITECTS HOLD BANQUET AT PORT STANLEY ON FIRST NIGHT OF ONT. CONVENTION

Several Prominent Speakers—Annual Open Council Meeting Urged For Four Main Cities Outside of Toronto—General Public Admitted To Y. M. C. A. Tonight.

Closing the first day's session in London of their 31st annual convention, the "registered architects," comprising the Ontario Association of Architects, held an enjoyable banquet in the L. and P. S. cafeteria at Port Stanley Monday night. President H. E. Moore of Toronto was toastmaster and proposed the toast to "The Profession," which was responded to by C. H. Acton Bond of Toronto, and W. D. Cromarty of Ottawa.

R. J. Shepard of Toronto proposed the toast to "The Building Industries," replied to by C. Blake Jackson of Toronto, and William Walker of Windsor. Mr. Walker expressing the hope that the architects would hold next year's convention in the border cities, stated that since January 1, 1,040 building permits have been issued there, totalling in amount of building value over $4,000,000.

Stanley T. J. Fryer of Hamilton proposed the toast to "The Press," responded to by H. Tuteloff of the editorial staff of "Construction," Toronto. Cheers for John M. Watt of London, who made the banquet arrangements, evoked a brief speech in reply by Mr. Watt.

Afternoon Session.

At the afternoon session Mr. Watt, speaking on "The Service and Value of the Association to the Public," urged that one open council meeting be held annually in each of the four main cities outside of Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton, London and Windsor. This would help to remove the misapprehension held by some that the association was principally an organization for Toronto architects.

C. Blake Jackson, who is president of the Builders' Exchange of Toronto, spoke on "The General Relations of the Contractor and the Architect."

Among advantages pointed out in having construction work undertaken by a general contractor were, gain in speed of construction, and better co-ordination of the various divisions or parts of the work performed by different trades and the different sub-contractors. The latter knew that the general contractor had to have the work finished within a specified time limit, and worked with him to facilitate the completion of the work.

Discussing estimates and estimating costs, Mr. Jackson declared these to constitute a big part of a contractor's overhead expenses. Buildings actually constructed had to pay for buildings only planned, or estimated upon.

Open Meeting.

Tonight the convention will be closed by a big open meeting, to which the general public is freely invited in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium. W. D. Cromarty of Ottawa will speak on "The Inter-Allied Housing and Town Planning Congress of 1920," and his address will be illustrated by moving pictures and lantern slides.

E. Moore of Toronto enunciated as the principal aims of the association "the promoting of good architecture, keeping high the standards of Canadian architecture, and rendering for the public a service commensurate with the best service to be obtained anywhere in the world. The public needs to be educated concerning the practice of architecture, he said, and the policy of the association is, in part, to conduct a campaign for a better-informed and more sympathetic public.

This is the first occasion on which the association has met in London, the majority of previous meetings having been held in Toronto and Ottawa, and credit was given to John M. Watt of London for securing the convention for London this year.

To Extend Work.

The work of the association, in part, will be, Mr. Moore said, to organize its offices to insure good architecture suited to the country and national character, to secure the co-operation and sympathy of the public, and to encourage its members to take a more active interest in affairs of the nation. Governments should be brought to realize that the resources of a country ought to be conserved for the development of its brain power.

Architecture is both an art and a business. Architects are master builders, as well as artists. Architects are naturally conservative, but their conservatism should be sprinkled with flexibility and readiness to adapt themselves to new conditions. A committee to study changed conditions in architectural practice was proposed.

Made in Canada.

There was a greater use being made of Canadian building materials, and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association was reciprocating by encouraging the employment more widely of Canadian architects.

The universities should be equipped to produce good designers and constructionists, and the technical schools and industrial concerns should co-operate in whatever ways possible.

A very favorable treasurer's report was presented by Gordon M. West of Toronto, who suggested ways and means for further increasing the associations.

The report of the registrar, J. P. Hynes, the chairman of the board of admission, Andrew Sharp, showed that since 1911, when the association had only 104 members, its membership has increased to 150 at the present time.

R. K. Shepard reported for the editing and publishing committee, and Joseph Banigan, described the results of an advertising and publicity campaign, which the association had conducted. The Manitoba Association, he said, favored united action in a Dominion-wide campaign.

Canada For Canadians.

Discussing the report, President Moore declared: "Our country should be built by Canadians; if not, we are not going to have any Canadian character." C. H. Acton Bond and C. P. Meredith of Toronto moved the adoption of the report.

J. P. Hynes and J. M. Watt moved that non-members present be invited to take part in the discussion, upon which W. D. Cromarty of Ottawa introduced the question of war memorials. This matter will be discussed again, and Mr. Cromarty will himself address a public meeting, to which all citizens are invited in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium Tuesday evening.

C. H. Acton Bond and C. E. Langley spoke in connection with the Canadian National Exhibition, and J. P. Hynes reported on the work of the Toronto Industrial Council of the building trade.

Instead of tying up work in the busy season, builders, contractors and trades unions commence negotiating September 15 on the next season's wage scale. If they cannot decide by November 15, the industrial council fixes the scales, and announces its decision before the end of the old year. There is then plenty of time for builders to figure in the increased cost of labor on the new year's contracts.

LARGER PERMITS YET TO COME

Building Inspector Predicts Figures Will Surpass Those of Last Year.

Building permits issued here for the month of August total $236,040, in contrast to August, 1919, when they reached a total of $867,420. This year 120 permits were issued during the month, while 132 were issued for the same month in 1919. For eight months in 1920, Building Inspector Piper has issued 827 permits, reaching a total of $1,249,340. For the same period in 1919 there were 856 permits issued, totalling $1,586,656.

Recent permits include a three-story brick warehouse on Richmond street, to be erected by John Willis, $18,000. Remodeling a dwelling on Cheapside street by W. J. Wilkey, $1,200; erection of garage and office for Dr. R. Routledge on Maitland street, $4,200; addition to dwelling on Wortley road for W. Colbert, $5,000. Two houses on Wortley road for Thomas Janes, $4,200 each; one story school on Quebec street for board of education, $14,000, and a two-story brick veneer dwelling on Wellington street for Mrs. R. Gibson, $5,000.

Building Inspector Piper predicts that figures for 1920 will surpass those of 1919 for construction work here, although present comparisons favor last year. However, several large permits are expected to be taken out in the near future, including the new London and Western Trusts building on Richmond street to cost about $100,000, and the building program for the board of education.

PENINSULAR FAIR TO BE BIGGER THAN EVER

The prize list this year surpasses that of any other year. There are additional prizes for needlework and home-made cooking, together with many other departments.

The exhibit of rabbits which will include between 150 and 200 entries will be under the management of the local branch of the Rabbit Breeders' Association.

An immense dancing floor will be constructed inside the racetrack near the west end and dances will be held every evening while the fair is on.

Change Main Road.

The Kent County Council is in special session here today to discuss the equalization of the county assessment between the various townships. Among other items to be discussed will be a petition from the residents of Raleigh Township asking that the main road of the county road systems in that section be transferred from the 5th concession to the 8th concession.

Ed. Lance, secretary of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, is at Port Stanley today directing the work of tearing down the tents and cleaning up the grounds of the S. A. C. camp, which has been held at the lakeside for nearly two months.

This is the first year the Soldiers' Aid Commission held camp, and it has proven so successful that plans will be made next year to accommodate all the soldiers' wives and families in the city. Only about three-quarters of the families were taken to Port Stanley for two weeks' holidays this year.

MANY APPLICATIONS FOR DAY CLASSES

All Available Room Will Be Required At Technical School.

Principal Beal of the London Technical School, reports that the large number of applications for the day high school classes, which open on Tuesday, September 7, has necessitated the taking over of the entire building for technical school purposes. Arrangements have accordingly been made with the soldiers' civil re-establishment board to remove from the rooms they have been occupying, and the workmen are now busy putting things back into shape for the incoming technical classes.

Three courses are offered, for which an entrance certificate is required: The general technical high school classes, the classes leading to matriculation and the general industrial classes. Two new teachers have been added to the staff—Mr. W. A. Robertson, specialist in mathematics, and Miss Cobb, specialist in domestic arts.

Principal Beal announces that for the convenience of parents or others wishing to secure information on courses, etc., he will be in his office at the Technical School every night this week from 8 to 9.

PEDDLER WAS VICTIM OF YOUNG PROFITEER

A local junk peddler was the victim of profiteering this morning at the hands of a small boy, while on his rounds on Nelson street. The victim purchased a bag of rags from the young profiteer and placed them on his wagon. While busily engaged purchasing junk at the house next door the youth visited the peddler's wagon, and proceeded to remove therefrom the rags he had just sold.

He accomplished his mission and took the rags into his house, locking the door. The peddler returning to his wagon was astonished when he missed his recent purchase and his suspicions being aroused he rushed to the house of the boy and loudly banged on the door. After much persistent knocking the lad came to the door. By dint of persuasion the peddler recovered his goods. He drove away rapidly, apparently distrustful of the entire neighborhood.

GLADYS BLUETT IS SCHOLARSHIP WINNER

In Honor Matric Exams—Dorothy Janes, Helen Hardy Also Win.

Miss Gladys Bluett, 870 Wellington street, a student from the London Collegiate Institute, was the winner of the Western University honor matriculation scholarship in mathematics and physics, according to announcements made today by the Western University. The two winners of the pass matriculation scholarships were Miss Dorothy Janes and Miss Helen Hardy, both of this city.

While the scholarship for the honor matriculation was awarded for physics and mathematics only, the scholarships for pass matriculation were awarded for general proficiency in twelve subjects. The other honor matriculation scholarships were not awarded because none of the conditions were complied with by any of the students.

Miss Dorothy Janes secured the highest marks in the pass matriculation, while Miss Helen Hardy was a close second.

Each of the scholarships have a cash value of $100 with free tuition in the Western University's College of Arts for two years, which is equivalent to the sum of $100, giving the scholarships a total value of $200.

The field was open to the whole province, but the majority of the applicants were from Western Ontario.

FOG AND LOW WATER DELAYS LAKE SHIPPING

Over 100 Steamers Held Several Hours at Port Lambton.

PORT LAMBTON, Aug. 30. — The heavy fog which hung over the river here on Saturday night and Sunday morning necessitated the laying to of a large number of boats at this port. About 9 a.m. Sunday morning when the fog cleared, about 124 large freighters and passenger steamers could be counted lying at anchor in the river within a radius of half a mile, the majority of which were bound down, but were unable to proceed over the St. Clair Flats because of the heavy fog and low water. This is the first time for years that so many boats were seen in the river at one time, and traffic on the river during the day was much greater than usual.

ARCHITECTS OFFER TO AID GOVERNMENT WITH WAR MEMORIAL

Full Co-operation Will Be Given by Ontario Association Members.

"Business Conduct of the Architect's Office," a paper read by A. H. Gregg of Toronto, and the resulting discussion largely occupied this morning's session of the convention of the Ontario Association of Architects in the Tecumseh House.

Among the business considered was a proposal to increase the payment per member to the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada, and to undertake closer and more extensive co-operation with the architectural societies of the provinces of the Dominion. At the present time the members of the Ontario Association pay $15 membership fee, from which $2 is turned over to the Royal Architectural Institute. Most of the members were of the opinion that a larger contribution might with advantage be made to the Canadian society. The advantage of a permanent office at Ottawa and a traveling secretary was noted.

Discuss Memorial.

The war memorial building which the Canadian Government proposes to erect in Ottawa was discussed at some length, and the convention passed a resolution assuring the committee in charge of the erection of the building of the association's support and readiness to co-operate and assist in all ways possible. It was suggested by the resolution that the advisory arts committee and the Great War Veterans' Association should be represented on the war memorial building committee.

"An architect," said Mr. Gregg in his address, "should not hesitate to employ the advice or assistance of technical experts in any parts of his work in which he himself lacks knowledge. For instance, if he is not sure how his plans harmonize with the possibility of insuring good heating arrangements, he should not hesitate to call in a good heating engineer.

"An architect should not be interested in any manufacturing company, marketing building materials, or have other business connections which would bias his architectural judgment.

"While the client's interest is the architect's first consideration, the contractor should always be given fair treatment.

While an architect should feel free to advertise personally as he sees fit, sometimes group advertising may get better results. Group advertising is one of the best ways of combatting the encroachment of contractors, engineers and the contracting companies on the legitimate field of the architects.

Be Businesslike.

"The architect should be business-like, and one old idea that must be rooted out is that "the architect is an artistic dilettante, utterly impossible as a man of affairs."

Greater encouragement for draughtsmen and junior members of the staff was urged. Office systems were discussed at some length. In brief, Mr. Gregg urged that the office system in an architect's office should be business-like but of the simplest character possible.

Too much system appeared to be advocated by Mr. Gregg and others in the discussion to suit Victor D. Horsburg, F.R.I.B.A., of Toronto, who rose to remark that the architects were "not running sausage factories," and could not systematize their work like a manufacturer.

Takes Exception.

Larger office space and longer drawing tables had been advocated for draughtsmen by one or two of the speakers. W. R. Gregg of Toronto took exception to this, pointing out that it was necessary for the architects to cut down their floor space. While they frequently had two or three students in their offices using floor space and table space, the municipal tax officers disregarded the educational character of their offices and gauged their business tax by the amount of floor space in their premises.

C. Blake Jackson of Toronto and William Walker of Windsor, both contractors, discussed the paper from the contractor's standpoint.

Andrew Sharp of Toronto also took part in the discussion.

DOWN FORTY FEET WITH TEST WELLS

Drillers Will Soon Know If They Have a Supply of Water.

Drilling operations in an effort to obtain further supplies of water for London are in full swing at Carling Heights, the operators having reached a depth of 40 feet in two days, which progress is considered excellent by General Manager E. V. Buchanan, of the public utilities commission. The strata encountered so far are composed of sand and loam, although gravel will likely be struck today.

As the engineers expect to locate water at a depth of 80 feet, it will be known this week whether Carling Heights is to furnish the city with a portion of the drinking water required. Private wells at 80 feet in the vicinity have yielded water, but in no large quantity. If aqua pura is not located at the present well being sunk east of Wolseley Barracks, near the Oxford street gate, drilling will be resumed at a point on the heights further east. The well drillers in charge of the operations came to this city from the Petrolea oil fields and are experts in the work.

WILL APPEAL ORDER.

Winnipeg, Aug. 31.—Acting on the advice of Jules Prudhomme, city solicitor, and after speeches condemning the judgment of the public utilities commissioner in raising street car fares, the city council last night decided to appeal the order.

The chief reasons for the council deciding to appeal were declared to be the action of the public utilities commissioners in abrogating a contract; the abolition of workmen's tickets, and the ruling that the citizens must guarantee an 8 per cent return on the stockholders' investment.

JAILED FOR DRIVING TAXI WHILE DRUNK

Local Man Is Also Ordered To Pay a Fine of $5.

Garnett Broderick, a local taxi driver, was charged in police court today with driving his motor car while under the influence of liquor, and was sentenced to serve seven days in jail and fined $5 and casts. In case he does not pay his fine the magistrate ruled that he spend another five days in jail, which will make his sentence twelve days for driving a car while in an intoxicated condition and endangering the lives of citizens.

It was stated by P. C. Thomas Fish, who took the police patrol to the corner of Dundas and Eva streets, that a complaint had been received at the station that a drunken man was attempting to start a car at that point. He went out and arrested accused.

Nicholas Shea was fined $2 and costs. He asked a local taxi driver for directions to a house, and went to the wrong place, and attempted to engage in conversation a young woman who answered the door. Shea stood in front of the house, looking at the upstairs windows, and remained there until he was arrested.

Probably because she did not think London lively enough, and that she could assist in making it like the Great White Way in New York, where she hailed from, one of the show girls of a big company playing in the city imbibed too much Canadian whiskey. This resulted in her having a short ride in the police car, and she paid $10 and costs before regaining her freedom, to appear behind the footlights.

Two drunks were fined $10 and costs or ten days. One of them claimed he was in very bad shape, which could not be denied, as he had to be assisted by a police constable when taken from the courtroom.

The name of George Robins echoed and re-echoed through the courtroom today, but the said George Robins was not present to answer the call. The complainant, George Beadly, was on hand, but without the defendant the charge of trespass which was laid against him could not be heard. The case was adjourned for two days.

George Chantler, Charles Madley, William Wilcox and John Taylor contributed small fines for breaches of city bylaws and the motor vehicle act.

COAL EXPORTS FROM BRITAIN TO U. S. ARE VIRTUALLY AT END

Washington, Aug. 31.—Almost complete stoppage of coal exports from Great Britain has resulted from the Government's restrictions on coal movements in anticipation of a miners' strike, according to a cable to the department of commerce today from Consul-General Hollis at London.

An unusual shortage of bunker coal exists, the consul reported, and as a result 375 vessels are tied up in British ports. Considerable unemployment among dock-workers also was reported.

MANY GOOD POINTS IN CAUCHON REPORT, SAY CITY OFFICIALS

Generally Agreed That More Attention Must Be Given Town Planning.

Local civic officials interviewed by The Advertiser today are practically unanimous in declaring the town planning measures of Noulan Cauchon, expert engineer, who has drafted a report covering London to be excellent. While not agreeing in every detail with Mr. Cauchon they stated that London must plan for the future in regard to railway terminals and civic buildings.

"His report is visionary," declared Mayor E. S. Little, "but men without widen our main streets is a good one. widen our main streets is a good one, and I am in favor of a bylaw being passed by the council prohibiting property owners on Dundas street, between Talbot and Richmond street, building new structures abutting the present city line unless they do it on the understanding that the buildings must be torn down and moved back when sufficient notice is given to widen the street. There are only two or three buildings in existence now which would be affected when the street is to be widened. The city of Toronto made the mistake of not passing a similar bylaw for Yonge street twenty years ago, which is realized, now that the thoroughfare cannot be widened, owing to new business blocks."

"I do not agree with Mr. Cauchon, who declares our residential streets to be too wide, with the burden falling on the property owners, keeping up their taxes on the street. It is worth more to them to have wide boulevards and shade trees, for which London is noted, and 75 per cent of the London people own their own homes, which, I think, is a record for any Canadian city. We are working on a survey of the city now, which is our first step in modern town planning. There would not be much difficulty or expense involved in widening Dundas street east of Waterloo, because the buildings are faced back from the sidewalk, which could be moved back to them."

"I do not see why London should not come to it," declared City Clerk Samuel Baker, discussing the Cauchon report. "These problems must be faced and grade separation must be preserved."

"It is not too big for London," said City Engineer Brazier, "but it is too big for some Londoners who would like to run the city. I agree with Engineer Cauchon in some things in his report, but in others I do not."

Rust Is Affecting Potato Crop of New Brunswick

Average Yield of Tubers Is Not Expected.

Fredericton, N. B., Aug. 31.—Hon. J. F. Tweedie, provincial minister of agriculture, stated this morning that the harvesting in Victoria and Carleton Counties was getting along well, the grain had in some cases been cut and was already stored. It was of excellent quality, and there would be a good yield.

The potatoes were in some sections injured by rust, and while they were not showing any rot as yet in the tubers, Hon. Mr. Tweedie did not think that they would produce an average yield.

Cobblers are being shipped from nearly every station in the two counties into the United States at $3 a barrel by the car. The minister stated that if the weather conditions proved favorable, the rust might not reach the tubers of the later varieties, which were as yet unaffected.

BRITISH MINERS

four months, of which they must return to the miners only $15,000,000.

MINERS LIKELY TO CONSIDER WELL BEFORE STRIKING

London, Aug. 31.—Canadian Associated Press.—The result of the miners' ballot definitely confirms the forecast that the executive would get the necessary two-thirds majority for a strike. The Yorkshire vote, though comprising the third largest coal field of the kingdom, shows a very slight strike majority, due, doubtless, to the Yorkshire Association being almost without funds. South Wales, too, which is usually decidedly truculent, shows substantial minorities against a strike. Lancashire, which gives majorities of 10 to 1 for a strike, voted 50 to 1 for a strike in 1922.

It is plain, therefore, that there is no whole-hearted enthusiasm among the general body of miners themselves for extreme action. The labor leaders of other industries stoutly deny any cut-and-dried scheme for mediation between the miners and the Government and Sir Robert Horne, president of the board of trade, who has the Government's case in hand, remains as silent as possible. The newspapers, without exception, give what may be called a qualified impression that conciliation is in the air. The miners, railwaymen and transport workers meet tonight, and it is not unlikely that the upshot will be that a deputation will go to Downing street to meet Mr. Balfour or Mr. Bonar Law, as temporarily representing the Government, in company with Sir Robert Horne. It is understood that the Government is willing to discuss the wages increase conditionally on a promise from the men of increased output, but to this course many miners are hostile. Experienced observers, both masters and men in all trades, declare there is going to be an extremely hard winter, and the prospect of a coal strike, therefore, is likely to deter the most obstinate. Coal prices in London are rising by 2s 10d per ton tomorrow.

HERE ON OFFICIAL VISIT.

General Superintendent W. H. Sample of the car and locomotive department of the G. T. R., paid an official visit to the shops in this city today. He left at noon for Hamilton.

When asked if there was any truth in the rumors in circulation for some time that the staffs in the carshops of London and at other points were to be cut down, Mr. Sample said he knew of no such plans on the part of the company.

"The staffs here may be reduced at any time, or they may be increased. I see no reason why they should be reduced as all the shops are being kept busy. We have much work to do to our own equipment, as well as to our neighbors.

"The rolling stock of the American roads are in an extremely bad shape and we do much work for them. When anything goes wrong with their cars while they are on our line we send them to our shops for repairs. If the trouble is caused by some fault which is not ours of course the American roads pay us for the work."

CONGESTION RELIEVED.

The congestion of freight cars in the G. T. R. London division was entirely cleaned up today. Nearly 800 cars were tied up east of Sarnia less than one week ago. The embargo on Port Huron is still in force.

NO WORD RECEIVED.

No word had been received up till noon today in local C. P. R. circles concerning a report emanating from Montreal this morning regarding an alleged announcemnt by an official of the company there that the clerks and freight handlers in certain offices east of Fort William were to receive the award granted on the American roads. Neither the local officials of the company or the officials of the men's organization had received any communication.

TRAFFIC AGAIN NORMAL.

All transportation trouble which a week or so ago threatened to tie up fruit shipments between the Niagara district and Montreal and thereby disrupt the whole fruit market, has been cleared away, according to Superintendent C. F. Forrester of the local division of the G. T. R. Mr. Forrester explained that the trouble was not in the local division, but occurred somewhere east of Toronto.

DATE OF ARBITRATION PROCEEDINGS TO BE DECIDED UPON SOON

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—Canadian Press.—It is probable that the date of the arbitration proceedings to fix the price the Government will pay for the Grand Trunk Railway will be decided upon here this week. Sir Walter Cassels, chief justice of the exchequer court who was named chairman of a committee of Parliament: Sir Thomas White, former minister of finance, and ex-President Taft of the United States. The other commissioners will all be in the capital tomorrow, and it is expected that the three commissioners will get together and decide when it will be possible to open the formal inquiry for the taking of evidence. Sir Walter Cassels has been spending the legal holiday at Cacouna, and is expected to arrive here tonight. It is thought possible that the formal hearing of evidence may be commenced about the middle of September and that the arbitration proceedings will be conducted in Montreal, where the Grand Trunk head offices are located.

It was at his father's bidding that the boy fired the shot, suspecting that Morrissette was his mother's lover. When the father was tried the jury brought in a verdict of murder, and Judge Desy sentenced him to hang.

DEMOCRATS CLAIM CAMPAIGN FUNDS TOTAL ONLY $67,000

Committee Treasurers Present Reports Before Senate Investigators.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Treasurers of the Republican and Democratic committees today followed up the committee chairmen in answering queries of the senate committee about campaign contributions and expenditures. Chairman G. S. White of the Democratic national committee was on hand today to supplement the information given the committee yesterday by former Chairman Home S. Cummings. Democratic campaign contributions to date total only $67,000, Mr. White said he would tell the committee.

"Actually the Democratic committee is so poor I almost hate to confess it," Mr. White said. "We have already spent practically all the $67,000 subscribed."

Wilbur W. Marshall, Democratic national treasurer, and Frederick W. Upham, Republican national treasurer, were today's chief witnesses before the committee. Charges by leaders of each party that the other was raising a huge campaign fund led the committee to summon the treasurers for examination of the exact records.

Representative Fred W. Britton of Illinois also will be called, the committee announced, to explain his published charge that an "entertainment" fund of $87,500 had been used by the British embassy at Washington in the interest of the Democratic political campaign.

NINE DEAD

Unionists in the avenue, who replied vigorously. The windows adjacent to the fighting were crowded with spectators. The scene was unique in the city's history.

Today's rioting was the worst in the city's history, and was probably the first to take place in broad daylight. The victims again were numerous, and brought the dead up to 16. In excess of 100 persons have been more or less seriously injured during the disorders, and there have been 130 fires since last Wednesday.

The lord mayor after strong pressure today made representations to the authorities as a result of which Gen. Bainbridge and Commissioner Gelston have given the customary 24 hours' notice of the enforcement of the curfew order Therefore, Belfast was expecting a wild night tonight before the curfew comes into force.

Two men killed Saturday and Sunday were declared to be Sinn Feiners, while those killed today were virtually all Unionists. The mills and factories and the schools were closed today, and most of the shops in the disturbed areas also were shut tight.

MACSWINEY MAY DIE AT ANY MOMENT

LONDON, Aug. 30.—No word had been received from Lucerne, Switzerland tonight indicating that there had been any change in the policy of Premier Lloyd George with regard to Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, who is in a precarious condition in the Brixton Prison here as the result of an extended hunger strike.

Father Dominick spent more than an hour in the prison tonight. When he left at 9 o'clock he reported that Mr. MacSwiney was weaker and expressed the belief that he might die at any moment. The priest said MacSwiney was showing an indomitable will.

Mr. MacSwiney's sister spent two hours in the prison this afternoon. She said she found her brother so weak that he was unable to give her several messages he desired her to convey for him.

Four hunger strikers in Cork Jail today completed their twentieth day of fasting and were reported tonight to be at the point of death.

At midnight MacSwiney was still alive. He was conscious, but unable to speak.

SEES AN EARLY END TO INSURGENT MOVE AMONG U. S. MINERS

Wilson's Forceful Language Had Quieting Effect On Radicals.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 31.—Although expressing dissatisfaction with the award of the anthracite coal commission, made public yesterday by President Wilson, strike talk was not so general today among loyal members of the United Mine Workers of America. The award gives general wage increases of 17 and 20 per cent. They asked for at least 27 per cent. President Wilson's forceful language in his telegram to a group of miners that if their communication to him not to approve the award was a threat to strike that the challenge would be accepted, is expected to cause dissatisfied workers to act slowly, according to leaders of the miners' union. This group of miners who are not acting in harmony with the officers of the union, have been conducting what the union leaders declare to be an "unofficial" strike in closing down the collieries of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, involving nearly 10,000 men, because the company refuses to abolish contract mining.

They will hold a meeting here tomorrow to consider the award. At a meeting last Saturday night they urged the calling of a general strike when they learned from unofficial sources the main points in the award.

Union leaders, including John Dempsey, president of District No. 1, expressed the opinion that the so-called "insurgent" movement would not spread among other membeers of the union.

SWEDEN LIKELY TO PUT LIQUOR ISSUE BEFORE THE VOTERS

Stockholm, Aug. 31.—Prohibition of all drinks having an alcoholic content exceeding 2.8 per cent is recommended in a report of a Government committee appointed in 1911 to consider the liquor question. In addition, the committee proposes that absolute prohibition be submitted to a vote of the people and made effective if three-fifths of the electorate favors it. Among the thirteen members of the committee were eight avowed prohibitionists.

WHY CAN CHATHAM GET GAS AND NOT WINDSOR, ASKS MAYOR

Figures Show Former City Losing An Increasing Quantity of Gas.

WINDSOR, Aug. 30.—In compliance with a request of Mayor Winter made at the Chatham gas conference on Friday, E. S. Estlin, natural gas commissioner, has furnished the mayor with figures showing the amount of gas supplied to industrial concerns in Chatham for the first six months of this year.

Mayor Winter pointed out in discussing the matter last night that in May, 1919, the amount of gas distributed to Chatham manufacturers was 22,851,000, as compared with 26,576,000 in May of this year. In June, 1919, 25,781,000 was supplied, and in June of this year 26,838,000. The mayor felt that it was a strange thing that local industries were cut off from the gas supply by order of the Government, but that Chatham manufacturers are allowed to continue using it in increasing quantities, as shown by the figures submitted by the commissioner.

CUTTING IS PRACTICALLY FINISHED IN SASKATCHEWAN; RAIN RETARDS HARVESTING

Provincial Bureau of Statistics Reports That Threshing Has Commenced in Several Districts—Grain of Good Grade, Estimated At 14.3 Bushels To An Acre.

REGINA, Sask., Aug. 30.—Cutting is practically completed in Saskatchewan, according to reports received by the bureau of statistics of the provincial department of agriculture. Threshing has commenced in several districts. Frosts do not appear to have damaged the crops to any material extent. All reports indicate that the grain is of good grade. Rain has been general over the province during the week and has somewhat retarded harvesting operations, but with warm weather and wind will do no damage except in fields which have not been stooked.

From reports received from three hundred correspondents, the bureau makes a preliminary estimate of 14.3 bushels to the acre.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 30.—The resignation of Cyril Cole as assistant superintendent of the local hydro plant and warterworks has been accepted by the heat, light and water committee. Mr. Cole has accepted a position as superintendent of the hydro and water plant at St. Marys, and leaves shortly to take up his new duties.

Transformers Burn Out.

A suspension of power at the local hydro station this morning from 7:10 till 12:30, resulting from two transformers being burned out, caused considerable inconvenience throughout the city. The four knitting mills, which use the hydro power exclusively, and the Thames Valley and Electric Railway suffered to the greatest extent, and all work had to be shut down until the afternoon. The flour mills and other factories were partially affected, but did not have to shut down completely.

Hired Help Problem.

The problem of securing hired help still confronts the local hotelkeepers. Some time ago some of the hotels dispensed with their dining-room service. The situation has, however, been sufficiently relieved that the Buckingham Hotel announces that it will reopen the dining-room on September 1.

Coal Dealers State That Price At Mines Is $14 a Ton.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 30.—Anthracite coal will sell here at $22.50 a ton, it is stated, if the jobbers' present quotations are accepted. This morning a local company received a quotation from a large Pennsylvania coal company, offering egg, stove and chestnut at $14 a ton, f.o.b. at the mines. When transportation costs are included, it is claimed the cost of this coal to the local dealers would be $18.82 a ton at the track at Brantford, less shrinkage. The local company stated that the selling price of such coal to the consumer would need to be $22.50.

Police Issue Warning.

The police today issued a warning against a fake telephone inspector, who has been making calls around the north ward. In two cases the alleged inspector called at residences, looked over the telephone, dropped down to the cellar, and then departed. Inquiry at the Bell office revealed the information that the company has had no inspectors out since last April. The fake inspector seemed to have a penchant for getting into the cellars where he called, and in one case a companion was seen outside waiting for him.

HEAVY SHELLING FORCES NATIVES TO FALL BACK

British War Office Announces Recent Defeat of 1,500 Tribesmen.

RESTLESSNESS GROWS

Residents of Ramadi-Fallujah Area Definitely Hostile To British.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Another attack against Hillah, west of the Euphrates River in Mesopotamia, was launched by a force of 1,500 rebellious tribesmen last Thursday, but the attackers fell back under heavy shell fire, says an official statement issued by the war office tonight.

"The situation in the Muntefik area of Mesopotamia, that is, between the lower Tigris and the lower Euphrates, grows more ominous," the statement continues. "A violent holy war is being preached, and this tribe is expected shortly to throw in its lot with the insurgents. The situation around Samawen also gives rise to anxiety. Movements of rebel bands have been observed and renewed attacks on our posts are expected."

HOSTILE TO BRITISH.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The tribesmen in the Ramadi-Fallujah area of Mesopotamia have become definitely hostile to the British, but British communication between the two places is still open, says a war office statement issued this evening.

There are signs of increasing restlessness in the Samarra division. The Sulimariyes division is in the main still steady, although some of the tribes are showing restlessness.

The communication says it is reported that in both the Diyala and Kirup areas the disturbances are disjointed, and that except in Kakula they show no religious or nationalist color, but are dictated almost wholly by opportunities for looting.

BUSH FIRES MENACE SOLDIER SETTLEMENT

PRINCE ALBERT, Aug. 30.—That the Porcupine soldier settlement is menaced by two great bush firec which are converging on it, is the information brought to the city this morning by the wife of the administrator. She arrived from Prairie River to ask the soldiers' settlement board for a safe, as it was feared that the documents of the headquarters there would be destroyed. The soldier settlers are out fighting the flames, which have been ranging in that area for nearly two weeks, and are very close to their homes. Steps are being taken to send assistance on the first train.

Fires are now raging from Birch River to Star City along the line of the Canadian National Railway. It is feared that quite a number of settlers in this area are already burned out.

FRANCE DENIES ALLEGED PACT WITH WRANGEL

French Foreign Office Repudiates Agreement Published in London.

RUSSIANS MAKE GAIN

General Budenny's Drive To Cut Polish Front Shows Further Progress.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—The foreign office gives formal denial to an alleged agreement between France and General Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevik leader in Southern Russia, made public yesterday by the London Daily Herald, the labor organ.

The purported agreement in question was sent to the Daily Herald by its Stockholm correspondent. Among its terms was one engaging to give priority to all debt due France by Russia in return for official recognition of General Wrangel's Government by France. With the overthrow of the Soviet Government France was to convert all the Russian debts into a new loan at 6½ per cent.

BOLSHEVIKI AIM TO RALLY AT MINSK

WARSAW, Aug. 30.—Bolshevik officers taken prisoner by the Poles say that the Polish army will not meet serious resistance until it reaches the line running through the railroad points of Vilna, Lida, Baranovichy and Luninietz, it was learned here today.

Wireless messages have been sent broadcast to scattered units of the Bolshevik army remaining in Polish territory, asking them to try and rally at Minsk and outlining the work of reorganizing these Soviet troops, according to a wireless message of the Bolsheviki, which has been intercepted by the Polish general staff. It is urged that this reorganization be pushed at all possible speed. This intercepted message also quotes the complaint of Bolshevik division commanders, because they had received unarmed soldiers as reinforcements.

The messge indicoted that the remnants of the Bolshevik troops operating in Poland, as well as the recruits, will be divided into two armies. A northern headquarters would be established at Minsk and a southern headquarters at Rovno. Leon Trotzky, the Soviet minister of war, is expected to take personal superior command of both parties.

C. P. R. PAYS INCREASED WAGES TO CLERKS

MONTREAL, Aug. 30.—Negotiations have been in progres for some time between the Canadian Pacific Railway and its employees in respect to the adoption of the American wage award, and it was stated today by an official of the company that the negotiations have now resulted in the clerks and freight handlers in certain freight offices and freight sheds east of Fort William being granted these increased wages. He stated that it had been agree with these men that the basis of the award should be accepted and that the men would get back pay, dating in some cases as far back as May last.

FERGUSON CHARGES FARMERS' LEADERS USED INTIMIDATION

Former Conservative Minister Submits Counter Petition.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Particulars of the election protest entered by G. A. Payne, the U. F. O. candidate in Grenville in the last provincial general election, against Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, N. M., Grenville, former minister of lands, forests and mines, and particulars also in the cross petition entered by Hon. Mr. Ferguson against Mr. Payne, were filed at Osgoode Hall here today. The election trial will take place at Prescott on October 13 next before Judges McGee and Sutherland. This will be the first election protest to come before a court in Ontario since 1909, when the Burnham,Stratton case was heard at Peterboro.

Mr. Payne makes 54 charges of bribery. Most of the charges are that sums of money ranging from $2 to $5 or $6 were paid through agents to secure votes for the Hon Mr. Ferguson, or to induce persons to abstain from voting where there was a possibility of an adverse vote. Not only were male votes bartered for, according to Mr. Payne's charges, but also votes of women, through husbands, brothers or friends. In one case it is alleged that $25 was paid to influence a certain elector and five members of his family to vote for the then minister in the Ontario Government. A bandmaster is alleged to have received $30 to get the members of the band to vote for Mr. Ferguson. One cause for the voidance of the election, according to Mr. Payne, was the taking of Government advertising by the Kemptville Advance, a paper owned by Mr. Ferguson.

Counter Charges.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson's counter charges appear to strike at the basis of the United Farmers of Ontario and there are 67 paragraphs in the ex-minister's petition.

The first paragraph recites that in 1917, 1918 and 1919 "certain farmers of Ontario determined on political action and cast about for means of organizing a concerted movement with the object of permitting their class to dominate the Legislatures of the Dominion of Canada, and the province of Ontario. With this object in view they seized hold of the non-partisan farmers' clubs which had been organized in many townships of the province with legislative approval and assistance."

The document then goes on:

Directing Genius.

"The directing genius of the organization was the secretary, J. J. Morrison, who wrongfully and with corrupt intent gathered together certain farmers from many parts of Ontario to dictate to farmers' clubs in the various ridings where elections would be held what they should do politically and threatening and intimidating the members of the said farmers' clubs with dire consequences and discrimination if they did not adopt the policy and support the candidates of the United Farmers of Ontario."

In another paragraph it says where no grievance could be raised against a standing candidate, reliance would be had "on raising a class cry and appeals to prejudice, duress and intimidation, drive the farmers to vote for the U. F. O. candidates."

In the county of Grenville, it is alleged that the local members of the U. F. O. were threatened with "penalties in trade and supplies and otherwise if they did not actively support the candidates of the United Farmers party, such action having a corrupting influence on a tremendous scale."

As a means of enforcing this intimidation, it is alleged, the U. F. O. cooperative stores were used.

POLICE FIND BODY OF MAN FOLLOWING ADMISSIONS OF WIFE

Remains of Victim of Bridgeport Murder Discovered As Result of Investigation.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 30.—Police and fire department searchers late tonight found the body of George H. Nott in a swamp at Sport Hill, Trumbull, following admissions made upon examination at police headquarters of Mrs. Nott, Elwood B. Wade and John Johnston, of a murder at the Nott home Sunday morning.

According to the charges of the police, Wade, who admits having intimate relations with Mrs. Nott, removed Nott's body from the Nott home in a trunk last night. Mrs. Nott has alleged, according to the police, that Nott beat her. With serious injuries, said to be inflicted by her husband, Mrs. Nott is under treatment at the Bridgeport Hospital under police guard tonight.

Mrs. Nott is 28 years of age.

Nott and a friend, Daniel Ferguson, had been spying upon Wade and Mrs. Nott for several weeks, it is understood.

Sunday morning Wade, who posed as a broker, came home at 4 o'clock in the morning accompanied by Ferguson. As they parted at the Nott home he made arrangements to meet Ferguson at 1 o'clock that afternoon. According to the story told the police, Wade, who is a milk dealer, and Johnston, his helper, entered the Nott home at about 7:45 o'clock Sunday morning by a rear entrance. Thirty minutes later, according to neighbors, four shots were heard. No one investigated until a child from a neighboring house informed Ferguson at 11 o'clock that she suspected some trouble in the Nott home.

Ferguson went to the Nott house and was admitted by Mrs. Nott. Mrs. Nott accompanied him through the flat. He found nothing. Nott had disappeared, and Wade was not about the house. Ferguson left, failing to look into the attic room, now admitted to be the sceen of the murder, and the probable hiding place of Wade and the trunk with its gruesome contents, while Ferguson was searching the house.

UNIFORM LEGISLATION COMMISSION REOPENS SESSION AT OTTAWA

Robertson Says Strikes and Warfare Will Not Secure Prosperity.

OTTAWA, Aug. 30.—The conference of the provincial commissioners to achieve uniform provincial legislation did much hard work in the reopening meeting in Ottawa today.

At the luncheon in the Rideau Club in the afternoon, the Hon. Mr. Gideon Robertson, minister of labor, discussed the difficulties in the way of achieving uniformity in labor legislation of the different provinces in view of the fact that constitutionally, matters respecting property and civil rights are matters within the jurisdiction of the provinces and not of the Dominion.

If uniform labor legislation were passed by all the provinces covering the same ground as already had been covered by the Dominion Government then the difficulties would disappear.

"If we are to continue in the future along the path of industrial peace and prosperity," said Hon. Mr. Robertson, "then we must realize that such cannot be obtained by continued strikes, opposition and warfare between capital and labor."

At the afternoon session of the conference resolutions were passed expressing regret at the death of the late Commissioner Matthew Wilson, K.C., of Chatham, Ont., and also of sympathy with John W. Falconbridge, K.C., in the recent death of his wife.

Tomorrow morning a uniform insurance act will be discussed and invitations have been extended to various prominent insurance men to be present and give the commission the assistance of their experience.

N. L. TRAINING SHIP PINTA AT WINDSOR

Will Leave That Port For Sarnia Wednesday Morning.

WINDSOR, Aug. 30.—Capt. Redfern, in command of Navy League's training ship Pinta, which arrived at Windsor yesterday morning with 72 lads from London and #18 from Port Arthur on board, announced tonight that the vessel would not leave here until Wednesday morning. Representatives of the local branch of the Navy League visited the schooner this evening and were shown over the boat by the officers in charge.

Fine Bugle Band.

What is reputed to be one of the finest bugle bands in Canada is accompanying the Pinta; it comes from London and is made up of 17 members of the Boys' Naval Brigade of that city. It is under the leadership of A. W. Nanfan, a veteran of the Soudanese wars. The next point at which the Pinta will touch will be Sarnia.

Death of John Cray.

John Cray, well known in Essex County, died at his home in this city last night, aged 86 years. He was born at Ballyporeen; Ireland, in 1834, and came to this country in 1855. For 40 years he resided at Belle River, removing to Windsor 16 years ago. He was superintendent of construction when the Great Western Railway was built through this part of the province. His wife, a son and two daughters survive.

GOVT. ANNOUNCES PRICES OF VICTORY LOAN BONDS REDUCED

OTTAWA, Aug. 30.—It is officially announced that the prices for Canada's Victory Loan bonds have been reduced to the following levels:

1922—$98.00 and interest, yielding 6.37%
1923—$98.00 and interest, yielding 6.15%
1927—$97.00 and interest, yielding 6.00%
1933—$98.50 and interest, yielding 5.88%
1937—$98.00 and interest, yielding 5.68%
1924—$97.00 and interest, yielding 6.27%
1934—$93.00 and interest, yielding 6.24%

The above prices bring all the Canadian Government issues well into line with world conditions, even considering the abnormal financial demands of the crop movement period. It is felt at the new prices the demand will quickly absorb any floating supply of bonds. Over one hundred and thirty-five million of Canada's victory bonds have been redistributed among investors since the close of the last loan, thus affording an outlet for bonds which subscribers have required to sell from time to time.

INGERSOLL'S NIGHT CONSTABLE PROBLEM

Men Only Stay Brief Time—Complain of Petty Complaints.

INGERSOLL, Aug. 30.—Heated discussion arose at a special council meeting tonight over the temporary appointment of the night constable. A number of men have been appointed since John Jackson of Ingersoll resigned, after holding the position for a year, claiming that there were too many petty complaints being handed in, but none have stayed with the job.

Councillor M. E. Scott, who has just returned after being absent from the town for three months, tried to get some information from Mayor James Henderson, which resulted in a tilt between them.

Mr. Scott wanted to know, why, if the man had only been appointed temporarily, had a suit of clothes been ordered for him and who ordered it? No one knew who had ordered the new uniform for the night constable, and Chairman Walker Lampkin, of the police committee, stated that he did not, up until a few days ago, know that the constable had a new uniform. The mystery of who ordered the outfit is still unsolved, but will likely be settled later, as Councillor Scott stated that he intended to get to the bottom of the affair.

Mayor Henderson stated that he appointed the man, but knew nothing of the uniform ordered. Richard Gilling is at present holding the position of night constable.

This makes the maximum salary $155 a month for Morse operators and $105 a month for automatic operators. Overtime rates, holidays and working conditions remains as before.

OFFER POTATOES AT ONE DOLLAR A BAG, MONTREAL REPORT

MONTREAL, Aug. 30.—Reports reaching the city from outlying districts state that the farmers are offering potatoes to brokers at $1 a bag, but that the supply exceeds the demand. Local wholesalers are quoting $1.75 to $2.25 a bag.

One dealer, seen this morning, stated that in his opinion potatoes would not go as low as $1 a bag, but that they would be cheap and decidely plentiful. Reports from the Maritime Provinces indicate that the crop is likewise in excellent condition, and that there is little dry rot. There is a possibility of a further material drop in the near future.

RADIAL PROBE BACKED BY FRONTENAC U. F. O.

KINGSTON, Aug. 30.—The United Farmers of Frontenac, at a meeting in this city indorsed the action of the Drury Government in calling a halt to the hydro-electric radial policy, and voiced strong opposition to the good roads program owing to the heavy tax which would have to be levied upon the townships to meet their share of the expense.

DROWNED AT DEPOT HARBOR.

He was one of the crew of the steamer Glenorchy. No particulars have been received as to how the accident happened. Powell was a student at the Dental College in Toronto, and had finished his first year. He also was overseas, and had seen active service. The funeral takes place Wednesday afternoon to Maitland Cemetery.

THE WRECKERS.

Mr. Meighen is now fairly installed in his new position of prime minister, and has given a pretty plain indication of the line which he and his party intend to take in appealing to the people of Canada. He asks them whether they are builders or wreckers, and intimates plainly that he and his associates are the only builders in Canada, and that all others are bent upon wrecking the institutions and destroying the prosperity of the country. Furthermore in the announcement that has been given to the press of the establishment of a national bureau of political information for the National Liberal-Conservative party, it is declared that all that is necessary to combat the forces of unrest is to educate the electorate in regard to the achievements, principles and aims of that party. It is said also that the party will war unceasingly upon agitators and others who have been mobilizing unrest.

The claim is absurd in the extreme, and reminds one of the saying that "all gall is divided into three parts," and that the Meighen combination has two of them. The fact that the Liberal party is a constructive, not a destructive, party is amply proved by the record, composition and leadership of the party.

In the first place, its leader, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, is a man whose life has been spent, not in stirring up unrest and strife between employer and employee, but in settling labor disputes.

In the second place, there is not a single provincial government in Canada which is now in the hands of the party now arrogating to itself the monopoly of constructive aims. Ontario is governed by a combination of farm and labor groups, and all the other governments are under the Liberal banner. It will hardly be contended seriously that the provincial governments of Canada are acting in such a way as to show a disposition toward wrecking the institutions of the country and destroying its prosperity.

Two governments in particular may be mentioned, because they have been recently a great deal in the public eye. The Government of Quebec is praised by all sorts and conditions of men, irrespective of party, for its sanity and for pursuing a policy which has made Quebec one of the most prosperous provinces in the Dominion. It is said that Quebec is a bulwark against Bolshevism. Investors have been advised to put their money into Quebec enterprises with a perfect assurance of safety. In Nova Scotia Mr. Murray has just won a great victory, which has been ascribed not entirely to party preference, but to the merits of Mr. Murray's administration and to the highly satisfactory and prosperous condition of the province. The bulk of Liberal strength in the House of Commons comes from the provinces east of the Ottawa River, and nobody alleges that in these provinces wild ideas of any kind are prevalent.

In the third place the electors of the Dominion have had an experience of Liberal rule, and that experience absolutely contradicts the notion that Liberalism is a destructive force. Before the change of government in 1896 Canada was sunk in the depths of depression under the party which now claims itself a monbpoly of constructive aims. The moment the Laurier Government was placed in power, all Canada felt the stirrings of new life. The tariff revision that was made in 1897 was thorough and yet careful, relieving the consumer, removing burdens upon industry, and establishing the British preference. A vigorous immigration policy was adopted. Immigrants poured into Canada in enormous numbers. The fertile lands of the west, which had long gone begging, filled up with settlers. New towns arose, old towns grew to the proportions of cities. An immense addition was made to the grain-raising area of Canada, and the west took its rightful place as one of the chief granaries of the world. Not only agricultural, but manufacturing industries advanced by leaps and bounds. Revenue came in abundance. Surpluses took the place of deficits, which had occurred under Conservative rule. In the decade between 1901 and 1911, the increase in the population of Canada was about as great as in the previous three decades.

It was not only in regard to material prosperity that the new Government showed itself as a Government of builders, not of wreckers. Its leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, was the most distinguished and ardent advocate of Canadian unity. His life was devoted to unity and harmony, to the promotion of goodwill and to the removal of race and political prejudice. The Liberal party cherishes this tradition and remains today as it was then, the party of goodwill and unity.

In contrast with this policy we find the Meighen party in recent years constantly playing upon racial and religious and international prejudice, regardless of the effect upon the happiness and unity of the Canadian people. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the great apostle of Canadian unity, was continually assailed by race and religious cries. In Quebec he was said to be too British; in Ontario he was said to be not British enough. In 1911 the party which made continual appeals to anti-French prejudice suddenly became enamored of Quebec and joined hands with Mr. Bourassa and the Nationalists. In Ontario the naval policy of the Laurier Government was denounced as a scheme for separating Canada from the British Empire. In Quebec the same policy was denounced as a British imperial plan for dragging Canadians into the navy to be slaughtered in British wars. An alliance was formed between Conservatives and Nationalists and the Government formed by Sir Robert Borden in 1911 was a coalition between Conservatives and Nationalists. Everything was done to fan the flames of prejudice and passion in Ontario and Quebec, and to widen the cleavage between the two provinces and the two races.

During the same campaign there was a fierce anti-American propaganda, in which everything possible was done to excite hatred and prejudice against our neighbors to the south. Yet not long afterwards the Borden Government itself adopted the Liberal policy of reciprocity in wheat and wheat flour. The Government entered into intimate relations with the United States and apparently became disciples of Anglo-Saxon brotherhood. Last session it was announced that there would be a Canadian ambassador at Washington. The anti-American prejudice was used for a partisan purpose during the campaign of 1911, and thrown away when it could no longer serve a party purpose.

In 1911, as we have said, the Government allied itself with the Quebec Nationalists. In 1917 it harked back to its old policy of harrying Quebec, and formed its second coalition on the cry, "Shall Quebec rule?" Now it has switched around again and is ardently wooing the province which it insulted in 1917.

What a record for a party which claims to be constructive, to have unity for its aim, and denounces its opponents as wreckers. It has again and again shown its willingness to wreck the happiness, unity and goodwill of Canadians for the sake of gaining or keeping office.

ATTACKING THE VICIOUS CIRCLE.

Canada might take a hint from the attempt being made in England to destroy the vicious circle due to the advance in wages that follows every increase in the cost of living, or vice versa. Hitherto it has been the rule of the labor unions of the old country to demand higher wages with every increase in prices, regardless of the fact that an industry might not be able to add another cent to the labor end of production and avoid disaster. Now the workers of England, Scotland and Ireland are realizing that they are only making living more difficult by forcing increases of wages. That policy would soon, it is now realized, send countless industries to the scrap heap. That is the way the arbitration court now views the industrial situation in England, and as a result has refused to concur in the continual boosting of wages. Commenting on this change in the attitude of old country labor towards increased costs, the Hamilton Spectator says:

> These side lights thrown on labor conditions in Great Britain are of value to Canada, as we are now confronted with demands on the part of railway employees for increased wages, while requests from other labor organizations for more pay are being contemplated. There is undoubtedly a limit to what industry can pay out in the form of wages. If an article sells in the open market for $1, it is obviously impossible to pay wages for its manufacture or transport amounting to more than the selling price of the commodity. It is impossible to produce $1.50 in wages from articles which only bring $1 in the open market. You cannot get a quart out of a pint measure.
>
> The effect of these increased wages and the increased freight rates upon the cost of living has not been sufficiently emphasized.
>
> The Board of Commerce has already established the right of the merchant to add a profit of 33 1-3 per cent as his share of doing business. The merchant receives foodstuffs or manufactured articles on which the railways have added 40 per cent increase in freight rates. The merchant adds his 33 1-3 per cent to the total cost of the goods, and every wholesaler, retailer or other party handling the commodity adds his percentage to the cost, with the result that by the time the food or clothing reaches the consumer the enhanced cost is not 40 per cent, but nearly 100 per cent.

THIS BEAUTIFUL CITY.

A world containing many useful things but nothing beautiful would be a terrible place to live in. The beautiful is a promise, a forecasting of the perfect world to come, wherein the ideal and the real are always one. As that future world is our real home we would find life insupportable on this planet if there were no beautiful objects around us, to be an assurance of our ideal nature and of a God-governed universe.

And so it is, that every city that plants an avenue of trees and every citizen that plants a fine garden in front of his house is a public benefactor, and, to some degree, are succeeding in making this earth less like a kingdom of ugliness, hate, utilitarianism, and immorality, and more like a Kingdom of God, for immorality is ugliness. An Englishman remarked to us the other day that he found more pleasure in walking around some of our London streets and avenues than in travelling through the open country. There is much to be said for such a preference. Owing to the continual automobile traffic the country verdure is lined with dust. Large woods are getting fewer and fewer, whereas, in this city the trees are free from dust all the year round, the lawns are beautifully fresh and green, in contrast to the ragged, dusty country fields, and one can walk for miles in the shade of fine young trees.

Our English friend also remarked that he missed the beautiful singing birds of Europe, there being nothing comparable to them in North America unless it were the wood dove, which rivals the English cuckoo. He added, however, that there was one great Canadian singer which, in its way, might fairly compete with the British lark, robin or thrush, and that is the humble tree toad, whose pervasive and romantic trills he considered most fascinating.

He characterized the frog voices as being only grand opera chorus, but the tree toad as the soloist. Perhaps we Canadians have never rated our operatic tenor at his true worth, but it was ever thus with great artists.

WORTH SHOWING UP FOR.

[Montreal Gazette.]

Members of Parliament must be on duty 50 days to secure the full sessional allowance of $4,000. The earnest deputies will not be affected by the order, as they attend to their business regardless of the money attached to the honorable position. But the indifferent one may not like it. They should be consoled, however, in the thought that $4,000 is worth putting in an appearance for in the House of Commons on 50 occasions. It means $80 a day, rather good remuneration.

Considering that Spargo had never gone through the experience of searching a man before, he made sharp and creditable work of seeing what the prisoner carried. And he forthwith drew out and exhibited a revolver while Myerst, finding his tongue, cursed them both, heartily and with profusion.

"Excellent!" said Breton, laughing again. "Sure he's got nothing else on him that dangerous, Spargo? All right. Now, Mr. Myerst, right about face! Walk into the cottage, hands up, and remember there are two revolvers behind your back. March!"

Myerst obeyed this peremptory order with more curses. The three walked into the cottage. Breton kept his eye on his captive; Spargo gave a glance at the two old men. Cardlestone, white and shaking, was lying back in his chair; Elphick, scarcely less alarmed, had risen and was coming forward with trembling limbs.

"Wait a moment," said Breton soothingly. "Don't alarm yourself. We'll deal with Mr. Myerst here first. Now, Myerst, my man, sit down in that chair—it's the heaviest the place affords. Into it, now! Spargo, you see that coil of rope there. Tie Myerst up—hand and foot—to that chair. And tie him well. All the knots to be double, Spargo, and behind him."

Myerst suddenly laughed. "You damned young bully!" he exclaimed. "If you put a rope around me, you're only putting ropes around the necks of these two old villains. Mark that, my fine fellows!"

"We'll see about that later," answered Breton. He kept Myerst covered while Spargo made play with the rope. "Don't be afraid of hurting him, Spargo," he said. "Tie him well and strong. He won't shift that chair in a hurry."

Spargo spliced his man to the chair in a fashion that would have done credit to a sailor. He left Myerst literally unable to move either hand or foot, and Myerst cursed him from crown to heel for his pains. "That'll do," said Breton at last. He dropped his revolver into his pocket and turned to the two old men. Elphick averted his eyes and sank into a chair in the darkest corner of the room; old Cardlestone shook as with palsy, and muttered words which the two old men could not catch. "Guardian," continued Breton, "don't be frightened. And don't you be frightened, either, Mr. Cardlestone. There's nothing to be afraid of, just yet, whatever there may be later on. It seems to me that Mr. Spargo and I came just in time. Now, guardian, what was this fellow after?"

Old Elphick lifted his head and shook it; he was plainly on the verge of tears. As for Cardlestone, it was evident that his nerve was completely gone. And Breton pointed Spargo to an old corner cupboard.

"Spargo," he said, "I'm pretty sure you'll find whiskey in there. Give them both a stiff dose; they're broken up. Now, guardian," he continued, when Spargo had carried out this order, "what was he after? Shall I suggest it? Was it blackmail?"

Cardlestone began to whimper; Elphick nodded his head. "Yes, yes!" he muttered. "Blackmail! That was it—blackmail. He—he got money—papers—from us. They're on him."

Breton turned on the captive with a look of contempt.

"I thought as much, Mr. Myerst," he said. "Spargo, let's see what he has on him."

Spargo began to search the prisoner's pockets. He laid out everything on the table as he found it. It was plain that Myerst had contemplated some sort of flight or a long, long journey. There was a quantity of loose gold; a number of banknotes of the more easily negotiated denominations; various foreign securities, realizable in Paris. And there was an open check, signed by Cardlestone, for £10,000, and another, with Elphick's name at the foot, also open, for half that amount. Breton examined all these matters as Spargo handed them out. He turned to old Elphick.

"Guardian," he said, "why have you and Mr. Cardlestone given this man these checks and securities? What hold has he on you?"

Old Cardlestone began to whimper afresh; Elphick turned a troubled face on his ward.

"He—he threatened to accuse us of the murder of Marbury," he faltered. "We—we didn't see that we had a chance."

"What does he know of the murder of Marbury and of your connection with it?" demanded Breton. "Come, tell me the truth now."

"He's been investigating—so he says," answered Elphick. "He lives in that house in Middle Temple lane, you know, in the top-floor rooms above Cardlestone's. And—and he says he's the fullest evidence against Cardlestone—and against me as an accessory after the fact."

"And—it's a lie?" asked Breton.

"A lie!" answered Elphick. "Of course it's a lie. But he's so clever that—that——"

"That you don't know how you could prove it otherwise," said Breton. "Ah; And so this fellow lives over Mr. Cardlestone there, does he? That may account for a good many things. Now we must have the police here. He sat down at the table and drew the writing materials to him. "Look here, Spargo," he continued, "I'm going to write a note to the superintendent of police at Hawes; there's a farm half a mile from here, where I can get a man to ride down to Hawes with the note. Now, if you want to send a wire to the Watchman, draft it out, and he'll take it with him."

Elphick began to move in his corner. "Must the police come?" he said. "Must——"

"The police must come," answered Breton firmly. "God ahead with your wire, Spargo, while I write this note."

Three-quarters of an hour later, when Breton came back from the farm, he sat down at Elphick's side and laid his hand on the old man's.

"Now, guardian," he said quietly, "you've got to tell us the truth."

CHAPTER XXXV.
Myerst Explains.

It had been apparent to Spargo, from the moment of his entering the cottage, that the two old men were suffering badly from shock and fright; Cardlestone still sat in his corner shivering and trembling; he looked incapable of explaining anything; Elphick was scarcely more fitted to speak. And when Breton issued his peremptory invitation to his guardian to tell the truth, Spargo intervened.

"Far better leave him alone, Breton," he said in a low voice. "Don't you see the old chap's done up? They're both done up. We don't know what they've gone through with this fellow before we came, and it's certain they've had no sleep. Leave it all till later—after all, we've found them and we've found him." He jerked his thumb over his shoulder in Myerst's direction, and Breton, involuntarily followed the movement. He caught the prisoner's eye, and Myerst laughed.

"I daresay you two young men think yourselves very clever," he said sneeringly. "Don't you, now?"

"We've been clever enough to catch you, anyway," retorted Breton. "And now we've got you we'll keep you until the police can relieve us of you."

"Oh!" said Myerst, with another sneering laugh. "And on what charge do you propose to hand me over to the police? It strikes me you'll have some difficulty in formulating one, Mr. Breton."

"We'll see about that later," said Breton. "You've extorted money by menaces from these gentlemen, at any rate."

"Have I? How do you know they didn't intrust me with these checks as their agent?" exclaimed Myerst. "Answer me that! Or, rather, let them answer if they dare. Here, you, Cardlestone, didn't you give me these checks as your agent? Speak up, now, and quick!"

Spargo, watching the two old men, saw them both shiver at the sound of Myerst's voice; Cardlestone, indeed, began to whimper softly.

ROOSEVELT ON BOYS.

["Talks With T. R."]

One day Roosevelt expressed himself on the subject of sons.

"Some of the most splendid fellows I know have boys that if they were mine I'd want to choke them—pretty boys who know all of the latest tango steps and the small talk, and the latest things in socks and ties—tame cats, mollycoddles, and their fathers real men, and their mothers most excellent women. Throwbacks, I suppose. I'd feel disgraced beyond redemption had I such boys.

"Mine, thank God, have been good boys, a bit mischievous at times, all of them, but every boy is. Honestly, if I had to take my choice I'd rather have a boy that I'd have to go to the police station and bail out for beating a cab driver or a policeman, than one of the mollycoddle type. He might worry me, but he wouldn't disgrace me."

THE WHEEL.

[D. A. S.]

Bound on the wheel of life, we turn and turn
Ixion-like for ever. From our birth
No rest have we; the child with childish mirth
Sets the ball rolling, which his youth will spurn
For other cycles, ere—a man—he learn
Man's round to run, and suffer mother Earth
To school her Sisyphus mid drought and dearth
The rebel stone to push—a grave to earn . . .

Still the same round, yet not the same, for Fate
Weaving the magic circle of the year
With light and darkness, spring and harvest-time,
Wheel within wheel renews, early and late—
Daring the headlong dark at curfew-chime,
At morn on high fresh rainbows to uprear.

A TRANSMIGRATION OF SOULS.

[Ellen Thornycroft Fowler.]

It was whispered by the sages
Of the prehistoric ages,
When all telegrams and newspapers and letters were unknown,
That the heathen gods felt jealous—
So the ancient legends tell us—
When the happiness of mortals was more perfect than their own.

In the days that I have quoted,
You and I, dear, were devoted
To each other with a fervor which we never, never see.
In this age of shams and shoddies,
For our souls wore Grecian bodies,
And found life a very pleasant thing in sunny Arcady.

Then the heathen gods grew spiteful,
As our lot was so delightful,
And they said: "These twain shall live again when worldliness is rife,
And when we are out of fashion
They shall nurse a hopeless passion,
And shall learn that love counts nothing in the game of human life."

But we love again today, dear,
In the old ecstatic way, dear,
Though we see each other rarely and our paths lie far apart;
Ancient gods and modern London
Have been overthrown and undone,
When they tried alike their utmost to expel you from my heart.

And my people ask politely
How a friend I know so slightly
Can be more to me than others I have liked a year or so?
But they cannot solve the mystery
Of our transmigration's history,
For they've no idea I loved you those millenniums ago.

A FRIENDLY (?) HINT.

THE SONG OF BROTHER WILLIAMS

[Frank L. Stanton.]

Brother Williams was a singer—he could beat 'em all at that—
An' he always sang the loudest when they passed around the hat;
Then he'd shet his eyes, throw back his head, unconscious as could oe,
An' shake the roof an' rafters with "I'm Glad Salvation's Free!"

"We're a-needin' a subscription," says the preacher, "fer the poor,
An' the onregenerit heathen on the missionary shore;
Takes cash to send the gospil to give 'em light to see."
Then Brother Williams raised the tune, "I'm Glad Salvation's Free."

No matter what the cause was—if cash was in demand,
From Greenland's icy mountains, or India's coral strand,
He'd always shet his eyes an' sing as loud as loud could be,
That same old-time convenient song, "I'm Glad Salvation's Free."

An' I feckon when at last he passed an' reached the shinin' shore,
Where there'll never be no sighin' an' no sorrow any more,
As they let him in the Gates of Gold, as happy as could be,
He shook the Walls of Glory with "I'm Glad Salvation's Free."

WHILE HE WAS AT IT.

"Have you said your prayers?" asked Willie's mother.

"Of course," replied the child.

"And did you ask to be made a better little boy?"

"Yes, and I put in a word for you and father too."

A WEAVING SONG.

[Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler.]

The weaver weaves with many a color,
And some are dark and some are gay;
But while the seamy side grows duller
The pattern brightens day by day.
We learn, as we perceive him taking
The different threads liversely dyed,
Designs the darkest in the making
Are brightest on the other side.

The web of life with threads is furnished
Which trace a picture in the loom;
And some like gold are brightly burnished,
And some are deeply tinged with gloom.
Through chance and change we pass believing
That whatsoever ills betide,
The pattern darkest in the weaving
Is brightest on the other side.

A Cross-Arm Brace— And Your Telephone!

"WELL" you may say, "What is a cross-arm brace?"

"What has it to do with me? What do I care if——"

A cross-arm brace is an uninteresting-looking piece of iron. One end is fastened to the telephone pole, the other to the cross-piece to hold it firmly at right angles across the pole.

We use at least two on every pole, and they have increased in price 249% since 1913.

A small item! But only one of scores of the vital parts of a telephone system the costs of which have advanced in like manner.

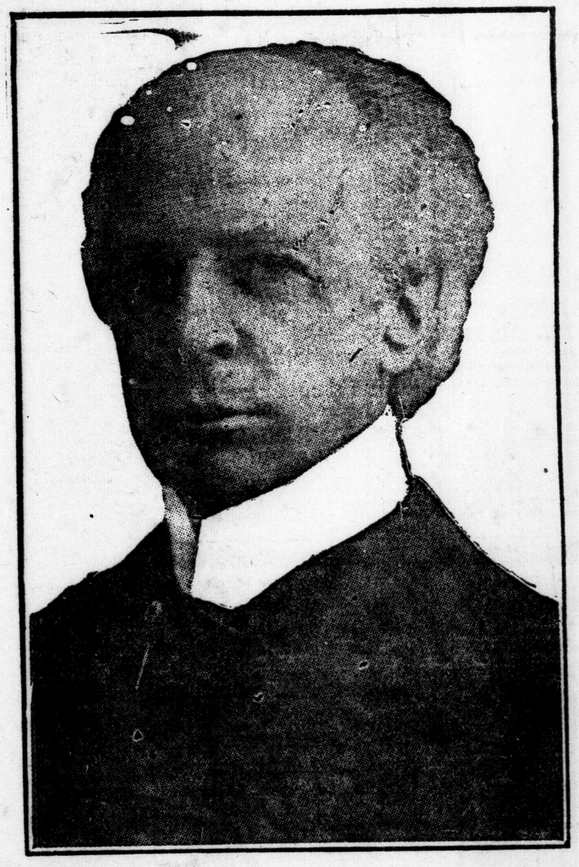

Here are a few other items:

Batteries	121%
Pole line brackets	275%
Insulators	359%
Poles	136%
Transmitters	257%
Top Pins	204%
Cross-arms	151%
Ground Line	247%

This is but another reason why telephone rates must be increased.

MRS. ELIZABETH KENT, MacDONALD COLLEGE.

INDIVIDUALITY IN DRESS.

By Mrs. Elizabeth Kent.

Before being able to dress well, whether with much or with little money, a woman must study what it suited to herself as an individual. She has to become familiar with the principles of design, color and proportion, and after that apply them to her own case.

A tall, thin woman must dress so that she will seem shorter and not so thin. Therefore, she may wear gowns with horizontal lines. If she has a very short waist, she may correct it by the lines at the waist of her gown, running them lower, but if her waist is too long in proportion, she may raise the waistline of her gown to make a good balance. Only slender and fairly tall figures may wear plaids of striking color broken up into large areas.

A short, stout woman has a more difficult task in trying to appear taller and more slender. Every line should be chosen to give the effect of height and slenderness. There should be no emphasized waistline, and all curves should approach the straight line. Many stout women wear their clothes tight trying to look slender, but while the lines should be firm and well-fitted, they should give the effect of going unbroken from shoulder to ankle. A narrow front panel in the skirt of a stout woman accentuates her breadth; she cannot have ruffles running around her skirt, nor large girdles, nor yokes on the skirt, nor bands of trimming round the bottom. Indeed, she must avoid any trimming on horizontal lines.

The line and color around the throat often determine the beauty and becomingness of a gown. They are points to be especially considered. Tall people need round lines, generally, and short people get better effects with a narrow V for color. It is only the very exceptional beauty who is not improved by some form of white throat decoration.

TALKS ON HEALTH

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D., Noted Physician and Author.

Heart Muscle Degeneration.

Myocarditis (myo, muscle; card, heart; itis, inflammation) is a general name which physicians apply to numerous insidious degenerative changes involving the wall of the heart. It includes the muscle weakening which occurs in the course of numerous infectious diseases, as well as the more permanent or progressive degenerations of the heart muscle, which occur with advancing arterial hardening, neglected syphilis, old age or premature old age, pernicious anemia, Bright's disease, chronic alcoholism and chronic tobaccoism. Myocarditis or heart muscle degeneration includes the impairments commonly known as fatty degeneration and "neuralgia of the heart" (angina pectoris or breast pang) which isn't neuralgia.

Although I have carefully refrained from detailing symptoms of heart disease here, I find that it is impossible to refer to the subject without receiving many letters from readers who lightly conclude they have heart "trouble," and will I kindly send advice for the treatment of the trouble. So I am going to skip the chapter on symptoms. Might as well skip it, anyhow, because there are no characteristic symptoms by which a layman may know that he has heart muscle degeneration. Only the physician can determine whether the heart is diseased by physical examination and by applying functional tests.

Here are some indications which, though certainly not warranting a diagnosis of heart muscle degeneration or heart weakness, do, nevertheless, call for an examination by the physician:

Gradually increasing breathlessness or undue difficulty in getting breath under slight exertion, such as skipping up a flight of stairs or running to catch a car. A persistent or frequently recurring cough without apparent cause. An unwonted weariness coming on with prolonged mental effort. An impairment of a previously good memory. Very transient giddiness in an individual not usually subject to dizziness. Air hunger, shown by inability to hold the breath more than 30 seconds; a healthy individual can hold the breath 40 seconds. I repeat that such indications as these may be due to factors other than weakened heart and only a physician can determine their significance in the individual case.

Contrary to a popular notion pain in the region of the heart or consciousness of irregular or labored or rapid heart beat is not commonly complained of by persons with heart disease; and symptoms like these, when present, usually do not signify heart disease.

In short, it is impossible for the victim of beginning myocarditis or myocardial degeneration to recognize, from his own sensations, the cause of his impaired health or diminishing efficiency, but if he is not a gambler he will at least recognize that his health is impaired or his efficiency diminishing long, long before any disaster is likely to occur and seek the counsel and guidance of his physician, instead of intrusting his health and life to the tender mercies of Tom, Dick and Harry.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Diet of Nursing Infant.

You will confer a favor by recommending the proper diet for a nursing infant of six months. Three ounces of diluted prune juice and one or two graham crackers have already been added to the daily diet, but am in doubt as to what other nourishment should be given at this age. (J. T. L.)

ANSWER—A breast-fed baby requires no other food until weaned. If, for any reason, there is a question that the baby is receiving sufficient nourishment from the breast, do not supplement the nursing by anything without the advice of your physician.

Brief Course in Auto-Surgery.

Will you please tell me what I can do to draw out a particle of glass or tin which entered my finger? (Mrs. R. B.)

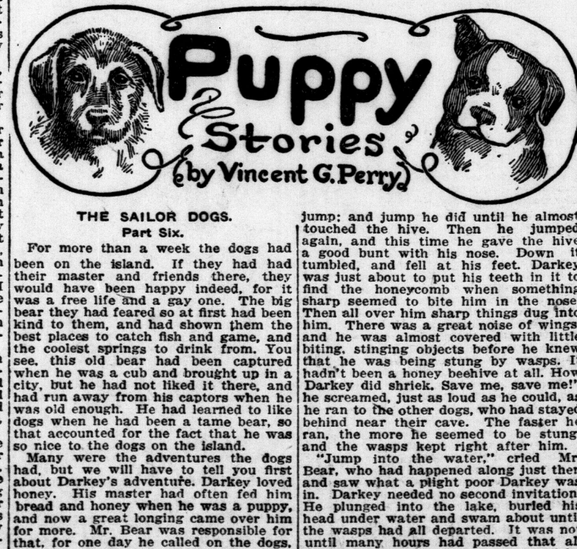

ANSWER—You will forgive me, but your question is a foolish one. Why not consult a doctor? Possibly you labor under the impression that some salve or poultice or something "draws." It doesn't.

Tony's Natural Diet.

A statement has been made to me to the effect that bread constitutes 90 per cent of the diet of the people in Italy and only 60 per cent in France and less than 30 per cent in America. Is it true that we could profitably increase our consumption of bread, making it 50 per cent of our diet, with continued health, strength and energy? (C. Q. M.)

ANSWER—If it were honest, undenaturized staff of life, yes. But the ultra-refined imitations which we call bread is robbed of much of the necessary mineral salts, most of the vitamins of the wheat kernel, and all of the valuable bran. The Italian peasant consumes a large amount of leafy vegetables, greens, etc., which supplement the wholesome bread he eats. The bread of the Frenchman, too, is much more wholesome than the pale imitation we use.

THE SAILOR DOGS.

Part Six.

For more than a week the dogs had been on the island. If they had had their master and friends there, they would have been happy indeed, for it was a free life and a gay one. The big bear they had feared so at first had been kind to them, and had shown them the best places to catch fish and game, and the coolest springs to drink from. You see, this old bear had been captured when he was a cub and brought up in a city, but he had not liked it there, and had run away from his captors when he was old enough. He had learned to like dogs when he had been a tame bear, so that accounted for the fact that he was so nice to the dogs on the island.

Many were the adventures the dogs had, but we will have to tell you first about Darkey's adventure. Darkey loved honey. His master had often fed him bread and honey when he was a puppy, and now a great longing came over him for more. Mr. Bear was responsible for that, for one day he called on the dogs, and his coat was all sticky with honey, for he had attacked a honey-bee hive while its owners were off on a search for sweets to make more honey from. He had told the dogs all about it, and that had made Darkey wish he could find a beehive, too. So off early one morning Darkey went in search of a honey breakfast. Just when he had about given up hope of finding a hive, he spied one in a tree quite close to the ground. Darkey was not very big, but he could jump; and jump he did until he almost touched the hive. Then he jumped again, and this time he gave the hive a good bunt with his nose. Down it tumbled, and fell at his feet. Darkey was just about to put his teeth in it to find the honeycomb when something sharp seemed to bite him in the nose. Then all over him sharp things dug into him. There was a great noise of wings, and he was almost covered with little biting, stinging objects before he knew that he was being stung by wasps. It hadn't been a honey beehive at all. How Darkey did shriek. Save me, save me!" he screamed, just as loud as he could, as he ran to the other dogs, who had stayed behind near their cave. The faster he ran, the more he seemed to be stung, and the wasps kept right after him.

"Jump into the water," cried Mr. Bear, who had happened along just then and saw what a plight poor Darkey was in. Darkey needed no second invitation. He plunged into the lake, buried his head under water and swam about until the wasps had all departed. It was not until many hours had passed that all Darkey's stings stopped hurting, and he was so swollen up he was a funny sight to behold. Just the same, he had learned his lesson, and had decided to let hunting rest with those who were more learned than himself—especially did he think this when Mr. Bear brought him a nice, juicy honeycomb that satisfied his longing for the delicious sweet stuff.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Constant complaints never get pity.

Attention of Fluffy Ruffles.

Dear Miss Grey,—Wrote the Mail-Box about three weeks ago, inclosed Mrs. Shipton's prophesy, also recipe for elderberry wine, all for English Mother, also sent addressed envelope for stocking-foot pattern, 10 cents for Hospital Fund and have watched the paper every day and have seen nothing signed Fluffy Ruffles. Also sent butterfly patterns for English Mother.

May not have addressed it properly I put "Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box, Advertiser, London, Ont." Kindly let me know if you received it. I inclose a stamp for reply. I like your corner very much and read it every day.

FLUFFY RUFFLES.

Ans.—But you did not inclose your name and address, Fluffy Ruffles, and it does not seem to be on my list. I fail to find your letter in the files of the last month, but cannot understand why it should not reach me addressed as it was. Send me your name and address and I shall be pleased to mail stocking-foot pattern at once.

Zelma's Pickle Recipes.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my first letter to the Mail-Box, but I enjoy reading the page, also have used several of the recipes and found them excellent. Thanks, Mother of Six, for your pickle recipe. I have eaten them made that way, but the lady would not give me the recipe.

I am inclosing two of our favorite pickle recipes. Hope someone will find them good recipes.

Inclosed you will find some crochet patterns, one medallion and two for lace. Have several patterns for pillow cases and yokes if anyone cares for them.

Am sending a mite for the S. C. H. Fund. Would you kindly send me the famous stocking-foot pattern if there are any left? Inclosed find stamped and self-addressed envelope.

As my letter is getting rather long will send my best wishes to all Boxites and sign myself ZELMA.

Nine-Day Sweet Pickle—4 quarts of cucumbers, sliced an inch thick. Put them in strong brine for three days, then put in clear water for three days, change daily. Then stew slowly in weak vinegar with piece of alum for three hours, then drain. Boil together and pour into pickles for three days in succession. 3 pints vinegar, 3 pounds white sugar, 1 ounce allspice buds, 1 ounce celery seed. Boil a little longer on the third day.

Cucumber Salad—3 dozen cucumbers, 1 pint of onions, teaspoon celery seed, 1 teaspoon mustard seed, 4 teaspoons turmeric powder, 1 tablespoon mustard, 1 good cup brown sugar, 1 quart vinegar. Slice the cucumbers and onions then sprinkle with salt and let stand over night. In the morning drain. Put vinegar on stove, mix turmeric and mustard with the sugar, add spices and boil in vinegar. Put in cucumbers and let them simmer 20 minutes. Do not boil. Add little cayenne pepper if not hot enough. Have quite small cucumbers. Don't peel. Slice thin and seal hot. These are fine. ZELMA.

Ans.—Thank you very much, Zelma, for your favorite pickle recipes—and four your Hospital gift. S. F. P. has been mailed to you.

Veranda Chats.

This being my first letter to your Mail-Box, I would like to express my feelings of gratitude. I certainly enjoy your column in The Advertiser very much.

We have not taken The Advertiser till just lately, but I can say those who don't take it miss a great deal of comfort and good reading from your columns. I would like if someone would send me a pattern of lace for pillow-cases. Hope I have not been any trouble. I inclose 25c for the S. C. H.

PUSSY FOOT.

Ans.—Such a kind little visit, Pussy Foot, but who are you, and where do you live, because someone will be sure to want to send you a pretty pattern. Thank you very much for your hospital gift and your generous words of praise.

Here's thanking you for the crochet patterns you so kindly forwarded to me. I am inclosing a pattern for edging for curtains, which might be sent to some of the others interested in crochet work. I am returning the patterns lent me. Thank you. CHIRPY.

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you explain in your valuable columns about the new pensions act for mothers? Is it for all mothers, or just certain mothers? Could you give me the address of where to write for full information and application? Thanking you in advance, I am A CANADIAN.

Ans.—Address inquiries to Labor Department, Queen's Park, Toronto, and you will receive full information.

Bulletin.

Will the Boxite who asked for verses entitled "A Package of Old Letters," lines reading:

"In a little rosewood casket
That is resting on the stand"— please send in stamped, addressed envelope, repeating request for same? Teirrah Tenrub has kindly has sent them in. CYNTHIA GREY.

Where is Mammy Dinah?

Dear Miss Grey,—Have been going to write to your cosy corner for some time, but we are always so busy. I wish you could see our garden of flowers and vegetables. I certainly enjoy your corner of the paper, and have received some fine help and such good recipes.

Wonder if Mammy Dinah would mind telling me how to make those paper-bead portieres? I would love to have one. And some time may I have the loan of the hooked mat patterns? Would like to make some mats this winter; will return them as soon as I can copy them.

Will send you my corn relish.

Hoping you receive this safely. Will inclose addressed envelope. C. F. H.

Sweet Corn Relish—Eighteen ears of green corn, 8 onions, small cabbage, 3 green peppers, ½ cup of salt, 3 cups of sugar, 2 quarts of vinegar, 1 small can of mustard. Chop cabbage, onions and peppers fine, shave corn into 1 quart of vinegar, take the other quart, mix with mustard, salt and sugar, put in a kettle together, and let boil slowly until corn is cooked then bottle, stir constantly.

Cucumber Relish—Take 2 dozen large cucumbers, 1 dozen onions, slice with salt as for table use, over night; in the morning strain well, put vinegar enough to cover them in a kettle with a little pepper and mustard seed, a small bottle of olive oil. Let warm, put in your cucumbers and onions and 2 bunches of celery cut up fine, stir for a few minutes till all is warm. Put in jars with plenty of vinegar to cover. C. F. H.

Ans.—Thank you very much for your good recipes, C. F. H. I have your name on the list for the rug patterns. I wish there were several sets of them for Mail-Box use, so that the requests might be filled quickly, but will do the best I can with them. Mammy Dinah must be very busy, as there have been many appeals made through the Mail-Box for her help, and as yet she has not sent in her name and address. Perhaps she will see this letter and write us.

Making Christmas Presents.

Dear Miss Grey,—May I come in? It is some time since last I wrote to the Mail-Box, but I wish to thank "Nun" for sending me the pattern last May. I was ill when it arrived, and her address disappeared, so I could not write to her personally. How many readers are preparing Christmas gifts. I completed my first last week and would like some crochet patterns for centrepiece and baby bonnet, which I will return when copied, and, as I am a shut-in, I have lots of time to crochet.

I am sending my receipe for grape wine, which I found very good.

My address is with Miss Grey if someone will send me patterns. RIELLEY.

Grape Wine—Clean and stem grapes until you have twenty pounds, then pour over them six quarts of boiling water; when cool enough to handle, mash thoroughly with the hands and let stand tree days. Press out the juice and add ten pounds of granulated sugar. Let this remain a week. Skim, strain and bottle. Don't cork too tight until done fermenting. Wrap each bottle in paper and keep in a dark place. RIELLEY.

Ans.—Your idea of starting Christmas presents early is excellent, Rielley. Am mailing you the little bonnet. Thank you for recipe.

Teeth Do Not Stain

It is Film that Clouds Their Whiteness

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

Free

A Ten-Day Tube of Pepsodent to show you its effects. See coupon.

Learn the Cause of Decay

Dental science has now traced most tooth troubles to a film. To that slimy film which you can feel.

That is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

The film is clinging. It enters crevices and stays. No ordinary tooth paste can dissolve it. A soapy tooth paste makes it more viscous.

So, despite your brushing, much film stays. Night and day it does its damage. It is the great tooth wrecker.

Science now has found a way to combat that film. The fact has been proved by many clinical tests. The method is now advocated by leading dentists everywhere.

For daily use it is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And we are mailing 10-Day Tubes so that every home may try it.

Do This and See

We urge you for your own sake to write for this 10-Day Tube. See the results for yourself.

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

Pepsin must be activated, and science has discovered a harmless activating method. The usual method is an acid, harmful to the teeth, so pepsin long seemed impossible. Now everyone may apply it, morning, noon and night. And the evidence is that this invention brings a new dental era.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

Compare results with the methods you use now. Then judge for yourself what is best. Cut out the coupon now.

Look in 10 Days

Note how the teeth glisten. You can see that the film is gone.

HOW IT WILL END.

If Tennessee ratifies the suffrage amendment and 27,000,000 women may march to the polls in November, a story told in the British Parliament when votes for women was under discussion will become of current interest in the United States. An M. P. in opposition to suffrage said he had that morning overheard a conversation between two charwomen.

"Wot's this 'ere talk about 'votes for women'?" asked Scrublady No. 1. "Is the men to have votes, too?"

"Yes, at first, dearie," replied Scrublady No. 2.

NUT WAITER WANTED.

An old lady, after waiting in a confectionary store for about ten minutes, grew grossly impatient at the lack of service.

Finally she rapped sharply on the counter.

"Here, young lady," she called, "who waits on the nuts?"

Custers Used Three Hurlers, However—Flinters Lose Again.

KITCHENER, Aug. 30.—The Hamilton Tigers and the Beavers split even here this afternoon in the duble-header, the Tigers winning the first fixture by 9 to 1 and the locals getting the verdict in the second game by 2 to 0.

Schwab was unable to locate the plate, and the curves that did pass over the rubber were batted to all corners of the playing field. His support was also erratic, and four errors helped the Tigers to score.

Reddy pitched a steady game, holding the Beavers runless until the ninth inning, when Morgan hit for two bases and Ray Dunn singled.

In the second game Matt Kirley had the Tigers in submission, three hits being the sum total gathered during the seven innings. The Beavers were able to bunch hits off Schwartje to tally in the first and fifth innings.

The official umpires, Doolin and Reilly, were in charge of the games, which were well attended.

President "Pop" Williams of the Kitchener club has been suspended by President Maines of the Michigan-Ontario League for threatening to assess the league $50 for the non-appearance of umpires here last week.

HALLIGAN'S DISCIPLINE

FLINT, Aug. 30.—The Vehics lost to Bay City again today by 9 to 7, owing to errors of Johnson and Landry. Hayford's homer was of no importance. During the game President Tom Halligan, who was in the grandstand, shouted to Catcher Carl Johnson to chase up a foul ball between the plate and the bleachers. Johnson's answer was designating Halligan to warmer climates than Flint, and for the offence the local club boss imposed a fine of $50 tonight. Halligan also fined Pitcher Lefty Landry $10 for failing to cover first base, while Ted Anderson was fielding a line drive. These are the first fines imposed by the local management on team players this year, but Halligan stated tonight that he finds he must do something to curb the know-it-all spirit of some of his boys. More fines are expected to follow:

A TRAGIC DEATH

Albert "Lefty" Newman, former London first sacker, but this season with the Bay City Wolves, died yesterday in a Chicago hospital, following an operation for a fractured skull. He was taken to the institution on the night of August 18 in an unconscious condition, the victim apparently of an attack by bandits.

Newman jumped the Bay City team some time ago after the imposition of a $50 fine, when he refused to go out on the field, having received word that a big league scout wished to see him play, and he did not wish to perform on the Battle Creek diamond, a poor one, on that account.

He was a gentlemanly player, and carried it in his private life. During his stay here last season he made many friends who will hear of his death with great sorrow. He was highly respected also amongst the ball players of the circuit, and to these his death comes as a great shock.

Secretary Walker of O. B. A. A. Has Resigned From Post

GUELPH, Aug. 30.—The resignation of George O. Walker as secretary of the Ontario Amateur Baseball Association was received and dealt with at a meeting of the sub-committee held today. Mr. Walker informed the committee that it was impossible for him to continue in office, as he had accepted a position at Detroit and must report there at once, and his resignation was accepted with regret. The duties of secretary for the balance of the season and until the next annual meeting will be performed by M. B. Dulmage, second vice-president of the O. B. A. A. and a member of the sub-committee. All clubs desiring to communicate with Mr. Dulmage will address in care of the Guelph Herald, or telephone 72 and 861. The committee dealt with several other matters of importance in connection with the semi-final games which are now in progress in different parts of Ontario.

SOCCER KICK-OFFS

Tomorrow night the presentation of the cup and medals will be made to the Grand Trunks, champions of the City Soccer League, and also to the runners-up, at the adjourned meeting of the league's executive at 8 o'clock in the Richmond Hotel.

All the players of the league, umpires and members of the clubs are cordially invited to the meeting, and it is expected there will be a large turnout.

The cup, which has been on display in The Advertiser window, is a splendid trophy, made more attractive by the addition of a memorial base and top in honor of those players of former football clubs of London who died in France.

A letter has been received from the Princess Pats, formally resigning from the league and thanking the executive and officers for the splendid treatment received, and at the same time wishing them every success.

Tomorrow night's meeting will complete the cup tie arrangements, as all entries are expected in by that time.

Tribe Lose and Tie Game in 9th and Win 3-2 in 10th

Ad Thomas Twirls Great Come-Back, Allowing Knotty Lee's Crew But Six Hits—Wenzel, New Red Leg, Good.

The Londoners had to go into the tenth frame to get the one run that brought a 3—2 verdict over Knotty Lee's Red Legs after they had been sewed up in the ninth.

Ad. Thomas provided a great come-back after his long lay-off and showed the fans who have been wondering why he was still kept on the roster, the reason, signed on the dotted line. Adlon allowed but six hits, and three of these were the first men to face him. After this rather discouraging start he steadied down and hurled great ball, threatening to slip only in the sixth, when two walks followed a hit and an error and the bases ran Red. Two were gone, however, and the next popped out.

Wenzel made his first appearance here for the Sox and pitched steady ball, though combed for eight hits, two of them two-ply knocks, sired by Kennedy and a third one by Shay. Three misplays behind him kept him in touch with trouble, combined with the hits for most of the session.

The Tribe got three hits in the first two cantos, but after that jogged along until the sixth without creating any stir. Shay's double commenced trouble in this chorus and when Calbert popped out, Kuhn singled to centre, scoring Walter. Witry fouled out, making it two gone, and though Crichlow scratched through with a hit to the mound, Pitt grounded out.

Outside Dowling making a loud howl about a decision against him at second base in the seventh, when Bill opined the play was too close for him to see it O'Hearne's way, nothing much happened to stir things up until the fateful ninth. Murphy banged out a single to right in this half and Babe Dye sacrificed him along. Pitt gummed up Werre's hot stuff. While Thomas and Witry were working over Clarke for a second out a passed ball rolled to the stands and Murphy came in and tied the score, while the Chief Werre at third. Clarke's pesky sacrifice scored Werre and the game had to be won all over again.

Witry walked to start off the London ninth, was sacrificed by Crichlow along the line and Pitt grounded out. Neitzke was slipped in to hit for Dowling, but didn't, Estelle's error on his fly going as good as a swat would have and the game was tightly bound up again.

Thomas made a trio of the Red Legs ground out to the infield for his contribution and then left it to the big boys to do. Kennedy drove his second two-bagger out to centre and Shay sacrificed him to third. Calbert, who had not garnered a hit in the previous four times up, banged out a long fly to left, which was lengthy enough for Kennedy to beat the relay in with the winning run. Score:

JOHN HENRY WINS ONLY FINISHED RACE AT BOSTON

Valentine Drives Bogalusa Colt in 2:08 in Heat.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 30.—The fastest mile trotted by a 2-year-old this year was made at the opening of the grand circuit races at Readville today when the Ohio trainer, Charles Valentine, drove the chestnut colt, Bogalusa, in 2:08, in the second heat of the Horse Breeder Futurity. Valentine's colt finished first in the initial heat, but on account of running under the wire was set back to second place and the heat awarded to Nelson Dillon.

The historic Neponset Stake for 2:06 pacers was the only event finished on today's program, rain falling in torrents just after Will Crozier, substituting for Tom Murphy, won the deciding heat with John Henry.

Hornsby Batting in Nice Total of Runs; Has 84 in 110 Games

BY ERNEST J. LANIGAN.

Rogers Hornsby, who would bring a Babe Ruth price if Branch Rickey would sell him, is rapidly nearing the century mark in batting in runs and ought to go over the three-figure notch early next month. The clouting Cardinal knocked in 84 markers in the first 110 games in which he played, all but five of these tallies being shoved over the plate on safe blows. The Thumping Texan only sacrificed flied three of his associates in and but two of them registered while an infielder was retiring the most valuable asset of the St. Louis National League Club.

Hornsby's hitting has been very even this year, and he ought to lead the Heydler organization in percentage of hits and in batting in runs. Rogers has been careful to avoid any hitting slumps, three games being the longest stretch he has gone without striking a safety. Gavvy Cravath, by a long shot, does not boss the best hurling staff in the National League, but it was Philadelphia pitchers, who, in three successive contests, denied Hornsby hits. In the trio of combats in St. Louis on July 17, 18 and 19, Hornsby went hitless against Cecil Algernon Causey, George Albert Smith and Eppa J. Rixey (in collaboration) and Henry Lee Meadows. His record in each game was the same—three at bats, no runs, no hits.

Despite his batting slump of those three days, Hornsby was able to drive in 21 runs in July. May was his best month in timely hitting, with a total of 23 tallies driven in. In April he hit in 10, in June 17, and in the first 16 games this month he has added the finishing touches to 13.

Hornsby batted in one or more runs in 51 of his first 110 contests, failing to drive in any in 59—58, rather, for in one of these scraps he retired after having played only in one inning because of receiving a spike wound from Frank Francis Frisch, the Fordham Flash.

Rogers generally hits with men on, and it is seldom he leaves a packed house when the opposition only has to get one more man to retire the side. Just thrice this season has Hornsby, making the third out, left three Cards on the sacks—once against Cincinnati, once against New York, and once against Philadelphia.

Giant, Phil and Pirate pitchers will bear testimony to the fact that Hornsby is more likely to clean house than to leave a packed one marooned. Rogers thrice this year has either doubled or tripled and sent in three men. The curvers who suffered were Causey of Philadelphia, on May 19; Barnes of New York, on May 23, and Hamilton of Pittsburg, on June 1.

In the game in which the left-hander was among those present, Hornsby batted in four runs—a stunt he has since repeated twice, with Giants and Superba pitchers suffering. The Cards, on August 2, won from Brooklyn, 4 to 1, Hornsby knocking in each and every run.

Hornsby, in this fray, tripled in two runs in the fifth, doubled in one in the seventh, and singled in one in the ninth, the pitchers he faced being Marquard and Smith. Evidently Rogers can hit southpaws.

He can hit northpaws, too, as Jack Scott of the Braves discovered a few days later, when he pitched Boston to a 7-to-3 victory over St. Louis. Hornsby then singled four times and three of his four one spots enabled Cardinals to register.

Hornsby will draw about 70 passes this year. He has 42 now, the most gratuities heaped on him in one game being three. These he received from Lee Meadows and John Enzmann of the Phillies on August 11, in which these mound artists were practically beaten to a pulp.

Games in which Hornsby has batted in three and four runs and the winning run this year:

Batted in Three Runs.
May 19, against Philadelphia, 6 to 2.
May 23, against New York, 6 to 4.
May 26, against Cincinnati, 10 to 8.

July 6, against Chicago, 8 to 12.
August 6, against Boston, 3 to 7.

Batted in Four Runs.
June 1, against Pittsburg, 5 to 4.
July 30, against New York, 7 to 8.
August 2, against Brooklyn, 4 to 1.

Batted in Winning Run.
April 24, against Pittsburg, first inning, 6 to 0.

June 4, against Chicago, third inning, 5 to 1.
August 2, against Brooklyn, fifth inning, 4 to 1.
August 14, against Pittsburg, third inning, 1 to 0.

There are more Hornsbys needed in the pastime, but the scouts can't find them.

TOM ESTELLE GOES TO LOUISVILLE COLONELS

Tom Estelle, the big blond pitching ace of the Brantford Red Sox, was this morning sold to Louisville, Kentucky. The scout here last week from Louisville saw enough Saturday to convince him that Estelle would make good in his class "A" organization, and it is understood that a good price was paid. The agreement was drawn up this morning, and the papers sent to Secretary Farrell. Estelle will go to Louisville at the close of the Mint League season. Both Werre and Clark can also be disposed of in the South, but Clark will go direct to the Chicago Nationals, where if he makes good, a substantial price will be paid for him. His work on the infield has attracted notice far and wide.

SARNIA INDEPENDENTS BADLY BEATEN BY FAST TILBURYS

TILBURY, Aug. 30.—Tilbury Baseball Club defeated Sarnia on Memorial Park last Saturday by a score of 9 to 2. Port Huron Club was billed for a game in Tilbury on that date, but on Friday evening they sent word they were unable to make the trip, and the Sarnia Club was secured to fill the gap. London Assured of O.F.A. Soccer for 1921 Season

Word From Toronto Headquarters Says London Association Will Extend Westward—Is Tribute To Strides Soccer Has Made This Year.

The climax to London's greatest soccer season has come in the granting of an association group to London in the O. F. A.

In a letter received by football officials yesterday Secretary Muir of the O. F. A. indicated that all plans were ready for London's inclusion in the association groups.

London has long been loyal to the W. F. A., and the two will part on friendly terms, but football men here apparently wish a change—perhaps for luck, as London's jinxes in the local organization have been notoriously many and varied.

The London Association will include everything west of London and will mean the inner councils of the O. F. A. and a larger field all the way through.

London's City League has produced some very fine players this year, and the London Association may look high if proper organization work is done for the opening of next season. Recognition by the O. F. A. has not been tardy, following the success of soccer in the city this summer, and is a tribute to those who have contributed so much time and work on boosting the game.

STRATFORD BEATS ZURICK NINE IN FIRST SEMI-FINALS

STRATFORD, Aug. 30.—In a game that was the best seen here this year Stratford took the first semi-final from Zurich in the North wellington Baseball League. The score was 13 to 5. The game was featured by heavy hitting on both sides. The eighth was fatal for the visitors, with the score a tie Stratford slipped across eight runs. The teams:

MINT PATTER

"Babe" Wenzel had lots of stuff on the ball and undoubtdly would have turned in a win for the Red Legs had it not been for the blonde ace of Knotty's making the error that tied the score.

* * *

O'Hearne watched Wenzel running the bases yesterday and called him out twice for using the turf instead of the path. However, nothing resulted, as the Tribe has to win and he reported collected two hits the first two times at bat.

* * *

Bill Dowling got kind of peeved when Mr. O'Hearne called him out at second. Bill says Brady didn't touch him and Bill generally knows when he is out.

* * *

Buzz figured up the number of games the Tribe was to win and he reported that only two more are necessary.

* * *

Somebody mentioned the fact that Doc. Shay was not superstitious, but whoever said this is entirely wrong, and this was shown yesterday, when in the Tribe's half of the ninth Walter scattered the bats around and said "Let's go get 'em." It is a well-known fact among ball players that when bats are scattered in this manner luck is bound to come in some manner. The Rabbit did the same thing when the locals got their run that chalked a defeat for the Red Sox.

* * *

When the score was tied in the ninth Knotty amused the crowd by doing the highland fling. This was probably meant for a Scotchman who kept conversing with the manager throughout the game.

* * *

Doc. Shay says that the report that he will join the benedicts in the middle of September are confirmed by him. This means that Walter will become a resident of the city.

* * *

Ernie Neitzke still sticks to the fact that matrimony is catching among the London players and intends to join the Red Sox as soon as he can get away.

* * *

The players are anxious to get a series on with the Toronto Leafs after the close of the series with the Grand Rapids Club for the pennant of class B. ball. If this is arranged both teams will fight it out for the championship of Canada and the London nine stands a good chance of bringing that flag to the city.

* * *

Pitt, Dowling, Kennedy, Calbert, Shay and Neitzke played semi-pro ball in Port Huron Sunday. A series of seven games has been arranged by sporting men of Port Huron, and the boys said that a big crowd resulted in Sunday's game. Dowling and Shay were on the side that lost, while Ernie did the hurling for the winning team. He only allowed them six hits. Speck got three hits at four times to bat. They will play in Port Huron next Sunday.

* * *

At the close of yesterday's game Buzz Wetzel was in conference with Hank Downs, the local amateur hurler. Buzz says he will give both him and Barney Clark a try-out in about a week's time. Hank at present is suffering from a sprained ankle, so it is thought that "Lefty" Clark will be given the first chance.

* * *

Ernie Neitzke will likely take up the hurling duties for the local nine this afternoon.

NORWEGIAN BREAKS DIST. TRACK CANADIAN RECORD

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—In a thrilling speed trial in the auto races at the Canadian National Exhibition here this afternoon the five-mile Canadian record for a dirt track was broken and the world's record almost equalled by Sig Haugdahl.

Piloting a Fiat special, the Norwegian negotiated ten laps of the half-mile track in five minutes, 26 2-5 seconds. The best previous Canadian time for the distance was 5:27 2-5, which Haughdahl himself made at Edmonton, Alberta. The world's record is an average of 1:05 1-5 per mile for the five miles. Haugdahl's time by laps was: :32, 1:05, 1:37 3-5, 2:11, 2:43 1-5, 3:15 1-5, 3:48 2-5, 4:20, 4:53 1-5 and 5:26 2-5.

FRANCE SEES SLIM HOPE OF COST CUTS

Prediction Made Price of Beefsteak Will Be Ten Francs a Pound Before Christmas.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—There is little hope of the high cost of living coming down very much, according to French economic experts, who are predicting that the price of beefsteak will be 10 francs a pound before next Christmas, with choicest cuts 50 per cent higher than this figure.

The Central Market is frankly alarmed at the situation, and declares that unless the French people can be induced to eat frozen meats there will be danger of a famine here next winter.

"Of course, there is always fish to be had as a last resource," it was stated, "but even the supply of fish will be diminished after November, resulting in sending prices skyward, while the gardens of Southern France cannot supply enough vegetables for the whole nation."

With regard to clothing and footwear all hopes of bringing down the price of suits and shoes to within reach of the worker's purse has been abandoned.

Lille textile workers, despite the fact that they have received numerous wage increases since the signing of the armistice, declare they are unable to meet their expenses of living under the existing wage schedule and are demanding another raise of 30 per cent, which will bring the ordinary suit of clothes to something like 700 francs.

In the shoe market the fight between manufacturers and dealers was settled recently, the manufacturers agreeing to market their product at a profit not exceeding 40 per cent. Before this arrangement manufacturers' profits on shoes amounted to between 100 and 300 per cent. Now these manufacturers are finding that an epizootic is spreading among cattle throughout France, and that hides are not suitable for dressing, thus creating a shortage of leather for shoes. One of the results of this condition is that wooden soles and heels are appearing in Paris, although there is as yet no sign that the sabots of the northern housewife will appear in Paris dance halls.

NAIRN

NAIRN, Aug. 30.—Oat harvest is almost finished here and the crop is the best for years. Yields of 40 to 50 bushels an acre are common, and in some instances as high as 76 bushels to the acre are reported. Outstanding features of the crop this season are the high average and general good quality of the grain. All land gave a good crop this year, both fertilized and unfertilized.

Entirely new methods are in vogue now in threshing and marketing grain. Quite a few farmers have finished threshing and the grain is already in the elevator and the cash in the bank. One farmer near Nairn had not a sheaf shocked on Monday morning, but by Wednesday evening the product of 23 acres (800 bushels) was threshed, sacked and delivered to the elevator and the check in the bank. Another farmer stooked and threshed 26 acres of oats between 9:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m., and delivered his grain, 1,190 bushels, to the elevator the same day. Barley is the only crop that has not shown a high record this season. Everything else that grows on the farm, with perhaps the exception of hay, has established a record that will be hard to

VIENNA APATHETIC TO PROBABLE FATE OF DYING CAPITAL

Populace Sees No Hope of Better Days, But Maintains a Spirit of Gaiety in Face of Disaster — Peasants To Determine City's Future.

Vienna, Aug. 30.—Berlin is frankly pessimistic, but Vienna is frankly despondent. This former capital of the Austro-Hungarian empire is regarded as a doomed city by the majority of its 2,000,000 or more inhabitants.

This atmosphere of despondency is not as noticeable to the foreign visitor as the pessimism in Berlin. Vienna is not shrouded in gloom as is the capital of the German republic. This is due to the fact that the Viennese are a gayer, more carefree people than the Prussians. Outwardly, in fact, the capital of the republic of Austria is much livelier than any city in Germany. There is music and laughter on every side. The people know it can't last, but they prefer to go down gayly rather than await the inevitable collapse in gloom.

Government in Radical Hands.

One has only to spend a few days in Vienna studying the situation to appreciate the fact that this beautiful city—with the exception of Paris the most beautiful in Europe—is doomed unless the treaty of Versailles is revised and outside aid is provided to re-establish its bankrupt people.

Because of the arbitrary action of the peace conference, Vienna finds itself the capital of a country with less than 6,500,000 people can support a capital of 2,500,000 is impossible on the face of it, and the situation is further complicated by the fact that the majority of the peasants in German-Austria would rather see their produce rot on the ground than sell it to Vienna, which is practically under the rule of the Socialists. In fact, the Government in Vienna is so near Bolshevik that there is no appreciable difference.

Vienna's radical element, which was kept in check under the monarchy, is politically stronger than in any large city in central Europe. The Sunday I arrived in Vienna several thousand former officers paraded the Ring streets for hours in silent protest against those in control of the present Government. The officers, of course, were unarmed and there was no trouble, but these demonstrations which are becoming more numerous are bound to result in grave disorders.

Peasants to Determine Fate.

I set forth this situation to show how difficult it is for anyone to settle the problems of German-Austria. As everywhere else in Central Europe there are bitter racial hatreds that no decree can set aside. The fate of Vienna rests in the hands of the peasants in German-Austria. America and the Allies cannot go on feeding its citizens forever. And yet this attitude of the peasants, which in Hungary crushed Bolshevism forever, may in the end save Central Europe. By refusing to feed the radicals who obtain control of the cities, they can starve them into submission and bring about the establishment of a more conservative Government. Six-hour days and five-day weeks—with greatly increased pay—are beyond the comprehension of the peasants of any land. And the worthless paper money that the Central European governments want to exchange for their crops does not appeal to them either.

Of course, this is only one of the many problems that confront bankrupt German-Austria. The bulk of the industrial resources and mineral wealth of the old empire having been given to Czecho-Slovakia, it has no coal to operate the few remaining factories. Even part of its agricultural districts—the South Tyrol—have been given to Italy and Hungary, its great granary is now a separate country. The majority of the aristocrats who plunged the old empire into the mad adventure with Serbia are in Hungary or Switzerland and the people of Vienna are left to get out of their difficulties as best they may. So the fact that they have allowed the radical Socialists to get control of the Government is not surprising.

Population Indifferent to Fate.

The bulk of the population is indifferent to whatever may happen to it. For while anyone with plenty of money can get anything he wants, the greater part of the population is undernourished, owing to the high prices of all kinds of foodstuffs. And as for coal, even at the Hotel Bristol, the finest hotel in the city, there is hot water but twice a month.

A traveler with American dollars naturally finds living in Vienna very cheap, for with 150 to 160 crowns for a dollar, a room with a (cold) bath at the Bristol costs but 65 cents a day, and a very good luncheon or dinner with a bottle of wine does not cost much more, even at the best restaurants. A few months ago, when the dollar brought 350 crowns, life was ridiculously cheap for Americans and Englishmen. But it must be remembered that a luncheon or dinner costing, say, 150 crowns, is on the same basis as a single meal at $30 for an American. While the cost of living has only doubled in Detroit, quadrupled in Paris and is ten times as great in Berlin as before the war, it has increased at least twentyfold in Vienna, with the result that only the very rich and the "schiebers," or war profiteers, are able to maintain anything like their former standard of living.

Of course, wages has risen enormously, too, but they have not kept pace with the inflation of the crown, as they have for many classes of labor in America. It is that the laboring class is better off, relatively, than any other class of people in Vienna, except the "schiebers," and it is equally true that the great middle class is suffering the most.

American Regarded Deliverer.

Conditions generally speaking, are far worse than they are in Berlin, where—heaven knows—conditions are bad enough. But here in Vienna the people are apathetic to everything. Any Government that would give them food would be welcomed. The former emperor, who is living in Switzerland, would be hailed as a savior if he rode in on a food train. If they thought bolshevism would feed them they would go openly bolsheviki tomorrow, but the radical Socialists failed to make good their promises of more food and so there is general apathy in all quarters.

Several prominent Viennese suggested to me that it would be a fine thing to make German-Austria a "crown colony" of the United States! Others, more intelligent, would welcome an American mandate or union with Germany. And it has been suggested more than once that the people of this so-called republic elect an American multi-millionaire as its president or king, in order to rehabilitate the fallen fortunes of the unhappy country. It would be humorous if it were not pathetic—this attitude of the Viennese toward America and Americans. In Germany an American is treated with outward respect, but in German-Austria he is welcomed as a possible deliverer. The difference between the two countries is this: Given half a chance Germany will get on her feet, but the Allies will have to put German-Austria on her feet if she is to survive.

Vienna is too far gone to do anything for itself. For it is a city without hope.

CZECHO-SLOVAK VETERANS GREATLY IMPRESSED WITH SIGHTS OF THE DOMINION

Ottawa, Aug 30.—Canadians generally are not aware of the recent passing through the Dominion of some 10,000 representatives of a new republic in Central Europe—the little republic of Czecho-Slovakia, which is bordered on the north by Germany and Poland, on the east by Russia and Rumania, on the south by the state of the Magyars and German-Austria, and on the west again by Germany, a republic carved by the victorious allies in 1919 out of the provinces of Bohemia, Silesia, Moravia and Slovakia.

These were 10,000 troops that had been fighting on foreign soil for more than six years, and who sailed from Vladivostok last May, arriving at Vancouver on the steamships Ixion, Proteselaus and Dollar early in June. They were transported across Canada by Canadian National Railways in fifteen special trains to Valcartier Camp, where they remained until about the middle of July, when they sailed for their homes in Europe. Some Canadians, there had an excellent opportunity of studying at first-hand these typical representatives of the races of Central Europe within the borders of our own country.

Canadians have had in the past scant occasion to study the Czecho-Slovaks or their history. Somehow we had the idea that they were of a race somewhat inferior to ours. Many of us even imagined they were an uncivilized people with whom we should scarcely care to associate, while as to their educational attainments we scarcely thought of them at all.

But when the Blue Funnel liner Ixion docked at Vancouver on June 6, some 3,000 Czecho-Slovaks passed in orderly array down the gang planks, a fine looking body of smart khaki-clad troops, not unlike Canadian soldiers in appearance. Indeed with the exceptions of a few typical Slav types and of their uniforms they might easily have been mistaken for Canadians. As they paraded from the docks to the C. N. R. station, rifle over shoulder, people in the coast metropolis commented favorably on their fine soldierly appearance as they swung along to the music of the "Storm Battalion" band.

At Valcartier Camp.

Later in the month the steamships Proteselaus and Dollar arrived with more Czechs, who, like the first, were transported across Canada by Canadian National Railways, whose officials could not speak highly enough of them. It was remarked that their trains, on arrival at Valcartier, had the appearance of just having come out of the terminal, instead of having crossed the continent, for the troops had scrubbed out the cars before leaving them. Each man also kept a little box on the window sill into which he threw matches, ashes, etc., to keep the cars from getting littered. Another railway representative stated that he had never had charge of a finer body of men. "They were well-behaved, well-read and scrupulously clean."

It was at Valcartier Camp, however, that their national characteristics were seen to best advantage. Although they remained in camp for a few weeks only, every tent was surrounded by an artistic garden outlined with white-washed stones, and so beautiful was the effect that a visiting general from Quebec inquired if they had brought a landscape gardener with them. It was merely an expression of the aesthetic nature of these people. Of course all the flowers and shrubs in their gardens had been transplanted from the woods and fields. Often at either side of the entrance to a tent, stood a small fir daisies and other wild flowers. Here and there, worked out in different shades of soil, or in flowers, were mottoes in the Czech language or a map illustrative of their journey home. Often where a ditch ran in front of a tent a little rustic bridge and arch of attractive design was built, while at tree, while beautifully arranged around and behind the tent were clumps of one side of a tent stood a miniature castle surrounded by a wall and moat with a typical draw-bridge.

Music-Loving People.

That they were a music-loving people could not be doubted, for among them were ten fine brass bands and several orchestras, one of which gave a concert in Quebec City on July 5; there were also a number of well-trained choirs. In the evening, passing down the road between the tents, one could hear snatches of Slavic song, the singing notes of a violin, or some other string instrument being played, in individual tents, or by a band somewhere in the distance. But why not, for with such musical exponents as Frederick Snetenaki, Antonin Dovrak, Zdenek Fibic, Novak, Suk and Foerster, Czecho-Slovak music holds a place of honor in the music of the world. Indeed all the fine arts were well represented. Here at the camp an artist was busy on a portrait of Professor Masaryk, of their new republic, or a battlefield scene. There a sculptor patted and modeled clay, a war memorial to his fallen comrades, while over in another tent a poet was writing a sonnet on the misty blue hills about Valcartier and so on. One of the pieces of sculpture done by a man of the ranks was presented to the Garrison Club of Quebec City by the troops.

They had a moving picture machine and an official photographer, a library of 10,000 volumes, together with a supply of magazines and newspapers, and a mimeograph machine on which their daily army newspaper was produced.

Compulsory Education.

Compulsory education having been in effect for some time in the provinces from which these republicans came, they are well-read and speak several different languages. The officers speak English well, along with French, Russian, Czech, Polish, Serbian and German. Many were students at the University of Prague, Vienna, or some other middle-European centre at the outbreak of war. Even among the ranks were to be found Academicians in arts and music, and teachers and writers.

The rank and file, even gave many evidences of a fine "National" sense. Wherever they had the opportunity it was not the casual enjoyment that claimed their attention first, but the thought that, perhaps somewhere about there might be some fact the learning of which by them might be of advantage back in the homeland. Niagara Falls, taken too much for granted, perhaps, by most Canadians, was a natural phenomena of the first rank. The great bridge across the St. Lawrence, near Quebec, was another. And the great industries of the cities were potent in their appeal to such of the Slovaks who had the chance to visit. Altogether there seemed to be a widespread feeling of regret that they had not been privileged to know Canada and Canadians more intimately than they have, and many will go back to the harassed little republic in the heart of old Europe with the germ of a vigorous desire to come once more to this virile dominion across which they had raced at high speed to the steamers carrying them across the Atlantic and to home.

FRAUD-PROOF WILL MADE BY LAWYER ON TALKING-MACHINE

Iowa Barrister Records His Testament Vocally in Wax.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 30.—What he says he believes to be a "fraud proof" will has been made and filed in the office of the clerk of Polk County, Iowa, by Theodore Mantz, a Des Moines lawyer. Mr. Mantz dictated his will into a talking machine and had it recorded in wax.

At the end of the dictation C. H. Miller, a lawyer, and H. W. Brandt, a court reporter, testified into the machine they were witnesses to the "making" of the will, and spelled their names out in full as the witnesses. The record then was put on a machine and reproduced the voices. Being pronounced correct by Mr. Mantz he took it to the clerk's office, had the box containing it sealed in wax, and filed.

Mr. Mantz has instructed Mrs. Mantz to take the case to the highest court of the country if the validity of the will should be questioned.

The will on a record is believed by its maker to be the first of its kind in the country. Lawyers say a possible objection to wills on talking machine records is an Iowa statute which says conveyances of property worth more than $200 must be in writing. Mantz says he will go before the next session of the Iowa legislature and endeavor to get a bill through which will legalize spoken wills when recorded as his is.

Mantz says he believes the future will see greater uses of talking machines and records, and in his opinion it would be much more difficult to "tamper with" a spoken will than a written one.

BIG BREAKFASTS OF BRITONS ARE DOOMED

Toast and Tea Replacing Steak and Chops.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The big British breakfast is doomed. Steaks and chops as an early morning meal, which Frenchmen regarded as a horrible British habit, disappeared some time ago, and now it is rare to find anyone ready to tackle the old regulation porridge, fish, ham and eggs and marmalade. Smaller breakfasts and bigger luncheons are the order of the day with both workers and leisured people.

The restaurants and clubs cater for big luncheon eaters. Many of them provide a four or five course luncheon—soup, fish, joint, sweets and cheese—at a comparatively modern price.

Busy men find they work better on a light breakfast, a boiled egg, or a thin rasher of bacon or ham, and many have formed the habit of taking nothing more than toast and tea. But they make up for it at luncheon, and find it pays better to give themselves an hour or more at midday to enjoy their food in comfort and leisure.

London clubs do big business at luncheon. The cold table is particularly popular. Members like to come up and, with critical eye, choose their dishes. Instead of the old idea of a snack or a cut from the joint, it is usual to start with fish.

With women, too, the big luncheon is becoming popular. The cup of coffee and buttered scone business is going out. The business girl takes a substantial meal of meat and pudding. She has probably done a good morning's work on a cup of tea and slice of bread and butter, and she has learned to appreciate the benefit of proper food at luncheon.

FRONT PORCH WON OTHER ELECTIONS

Five Presidents Conducted Quiet Home Campaigns.

Washington, Aug. 30.—"Front porch" campaigners may not, in the strictest sense of the phrase, "bring home the bacon," but in a majority of instances "the bacon" has been brought to them, according to the conclusions of political wiseacres here who have been investigating the relative merits of "stay-at-home" and "swing-around-the-circle" methods of campaign, as exemplified in past performances.

Statistics compiled by these gentlemen show that on at least five notable occasions presidential candidates who remained quietly at home were victorious over opponents who made extensive speaking tours of the country prior to elections.

In 1852 General Winfield Scott, heading the Whig ticket, toured the country. His rival, Franklin Pierce, remained at home and won the election.

In 1860 Stephen A. Douglas made an extensive speaking tour. Lincoln did not go far from home and was elected.

In 1872 Horace Greeley "swung round the circle" with a velocity that left both himself and the country a bit dizzy. He was defeated by General Grant, who remained quietly on his front porch at home.

In 1884 James G. Blaine appeared on the campaign course. Grover Cleveland his rival, went fishing in the north woods, leaving his fate in the hands of his friends. He won the election.

In 1896 William Jennings Bryan drew the plaudits of thousands by his campaign eloquence, but McKinley, who did not leave his front porch in Canton, was the victor.

Presidents Roosevelt and Wilson, the statistical gentlemen say, employed both methods.

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, Aug. 31.—October wheat opened unchanged and December 1c higher.

October oats opened ¼c higher, ⅛c higher for December, and unchanged for May.

October barley opened unchanged to ⅛c higher, and ¼c higher for December.

October flax opened unchanged.

October rye unchanged.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Opening: Wheat—December, $2 32; March, $2 29.

Corn—Sept., $1 39; Dec., $1 17⅝.

Oats—Sept., 66¼c; Dec., 66⅝c.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Fresh declines in the value of wheat took place today, chiefly on account of hedging pressure from cash houses here. Buying was only of a scottered sort, with but little demand from the seaboard. Opening prices, which ranged from ½c to 1c lower, were followed by a moderate rally and then by a down turn much under initial figures.

Corn descended with wheat. Deferred futures touched the lowest level yet this season. After opening unchanged to 1¼c lower, the market reacted a little and then dropped lower than at first.

Support was lacking in oats as in other grains, prices starting ⅛c tto ⅝c down, and continuing to show weakness.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

New Yok, Aug. 31—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Further confusion of sentiment on the part of traders was indicated by the uncertain trend of prices at the opening of today's stock market. Rails were the only shares to reflect a consistent tone, Pacifics and some of the grain carriers extending their recent advances with New Haven and Erie. Rails and motors were irregularly lower with secondary stels and equipments, and shippings also inclined downward.

1:30 p.m.—Shorts created a division of interests at midday by renewing attacks upon motor, oil and shipping shares, which sustained losses of 1 to 3 points. The reaction did not affect rails, in which most gains were fully maintained.

DEATH OF H. J. FRANKUM.

HARRISTON, Aug. 30.—After an illness of two weeks Henry J. Frankum died at an early hour this morning at his home on John street from pneumonia. Deceased, who was born in England 78 years ago, came to Canada when a boy of 16, settling at Picton, where he worked at his trade of leather dresser, also working in the large tanneries at Acton and Southampton. He removed with his family from Acton to this town three years ago, and being an invalid from rheumatism, very seldom left his home. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Wallace of Wood Bridge, and Harry T., druggist, Harriston, and one daughter, Miss Lily, at home. Rev. Mr. Poole of Waterdown will conduct funeral services at Harriston Cemetery on Wednesday afternoon.

ANCIENT ISMID NOW REFUGEES' HAVEN

Fresh Evidence Is Found of Atrocities in Which Armenians Suffered.

ISMID, Turkey, Aug. 30.—With the British troops camped among the ruins of the old Roman and Byzantine walls on the mountainside, which now bristle with barbed wire entanglements and are converted into machine gun shelters. Shabby Turkish soldiers, the onrush of Turkish Nationalists toward the Gulf of Ismid, this historic old city was filled to overflowing with Greek and Armenian refugees, who were being shipped on to Constantinople as fast as transportation was available. Tales of the incoming refugees recalled the terrors through which the local Christians passed in 1917, when all the Armenian section was burned, thousands of Christians were slaughtered and others fled into the mountains.

This ancient city, which was called Nicomedia in Biblical times, was the capital of Bithynia, and under the Roman Empire became one of the chief cities of Asia Minor. Pliny described it in his letters to Trajan as having a senate house, an aqueduct, a forum and many temples and other public buildings. Diocletian made Ismid his residence and began the persecution of Christians, which the Osmanli continued when they came into possession in the fourteenth century.

At the time of writing its population has been swelled by crowds fleeing before the Nationalist advance and by remnants of the sultan's forces which remained loyal to the Constantinople Government, kilted Scots and turbaned Sikhs drag ammunition carts through the streets and make ready for the forces of Mustapha Kemal, which occupy the mountains which inclose the head of the Gulf of Ismid on three sides.

Many of the Armenian orphanages established by the Americans and British in interior cities have been evacuated through Ismid to points between here and Constantinople less liable to attack by the Nationalists. There is no peace for the Armenian and Greek children. Many of them have been moved across scores of times since they were rescued from the Moslems, and the stories of their sufferings are almost incredible. Official figures show that 88,000 Armenian children have been recovered up to date, and about 66,800 are still in the hands of the Turks or Arabs.

Many of the Armenian girls who passed through Ismid were tattoed on the forehead, cheeks and chin in such a manner that their faces will always bear the marks. Some of the older girls were taken as wives by the Turks and Arabs, and the refusal of their Armenian associates to forgive their shame makes their rescue seem almost as great a tragedy as their life in the harem.

Armenian children captured as Turks were so thoroughly frightened by the Moslems into denial of their nationality that many of them still insist they are Mohammedans. Frequently they have been provided with falsified birth certificates and family records, so skillful was the effort to Islamize the Christian children.

A Pompeiian swimming pool, which will be a feature of R. A. Walsh's forthcoming production, is serving a very practical purpose during the hot weather at Mayflower's New York studio. Several week-end swimming tournaments have been arranged by General-Manager John W. McKay, and Mayflower has put up a silver cup as trophy to the winner of this unique meet.

KENT COUNTY COUNCIL HOLDS SPECIAL SESSION

CHATHAM, Aug. 30.—The equalization of the assessment and the changing of the county road in Raleigh from the fifth to the eighth concession, were brought up today at a special meeting of the county council. The change in the county road was made desirable through the fact that the provincial highway has been designated along the fourth concession in this township. The question was referred to the county roads committee for consideration.

Wallaceburg asked for assistance for a pavement being constructed in that place connecting the two provincial county highways, and this assistance will likely be granted before the end of the present session.

Several bylaws were presented and read a first time, including one equalizing the assessment, and another providing for the payment of the pavement and good road work at present in progress in the county.

LIQUOR FINES IN IMPERIAL CITY TO JOIN H. C. L. BRIGADE

SARNIA, Aug. 30. — Liquor cases featured in the police court proceedings today and fines ran up over $500 for this week's starter, with the result that the magistrate intimated that fines in moist goods cases would in the near future follow the popular trend of events and join the "going-up" class.

Andrew Pozak of Sarnia's Little Russia, convicted on two charges of selling a bottle of the cup that cheers, paid a fine of $400 and costs. Clifford Patterson and Robert Stofferd each donated $100 and costs for a breach of the O. T. A.

Word was received here tonight that Arthur C. Ashby, formerly a Salvation Army ensign in this city, is leaving for an army post in South Africa.

Could I but hear your voice again.
Anchored by love, death cannot sever,
Sadly I miss you and will forever;
Some day, some time, I hope to see
The dear face I hold in sweet memory;
Sleep on, dear daddy, and take your rest,
We miss you most that loved you best.

BROOKLYNITES RIDE TRUCKS AND VANS AS CARS STAND STILL

Strike Cripples Transportation—Only Sixty-One Trains Operate.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—With the strike-bound Brooklyn Rapid Transit system only able to operate 61 two-car elevated subway trains and no surface cars at all, great throngs of Brooklynites went home tonight on motor trucks, furniture vans, buses and vehicles of every description. Other thousands walked across the East River bridges, which were a mass of hurrying humanity.

Extra municipal ferryboat service assisted others to cross from Manhattan who otherwise would have been delayed for hours in getting home. Many business concerns sent their employees home in trucks.

No attempt will be made to run surface cars in Brooklyn tomorrow, B. R. T. officials said tonight, but they hoped to have them moving soon with new men.

LIQUOR FOUND IN RAID ON HOTEL AT BRESLAU

Wife of Proprietor Throws Bag Out of Upstairs Window.

GUELPH, Aug. 30.—The result of an unexpected raid made by License Inspector James O'Brien at the Breslau Hotel, the proprietor of the hotel will have to answer a charge under the O. T. A.

Inspector O'Brien organized his little expedition quite hurriedly, and accompanied by Detective Greenaway and Sergt. Morrison of the Guelph police force, motored to Breslau via a back route, the inspector and the two officers slipped into the crowded bar unnoticed, but as soon as the proprietor of the hotel realized that his place was being raided there was great commotion, and the mistress of the house made a hasty retreat upstairs with two of the raiding part close on her heels.

She entered a room and locked the door behind her, but when the officers threatened to break down the door she allowed them to enter, only to find that she had tossed a bag out of the window. In her excitement the woman rushed down stairs again to recover the bag, but before she succeeded in rescuing it one of the officers took it in charge, and an examination found that it contained one sealed bottle of whiskey which had gone through the fall unbroken, and the remnants of the three other bottles which had been smashed to atoms.

Several previous attempts had been made to raid these premises, but without success. A charge of having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling has been laid against the proprietor of the hotel, and he will be brought before Magistrate Blake in the Galt police court this week.

STORM SEWERS STILL MATTER OF DEBATE BY BOARD OF WORKS

Chairman Hill Objects To Fireman Also Being a Bandsman.

St. Thomas Youth, Alleged Auto Thief, Believed To Be in U. S.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 30.—The special committee appointed by the board of works to consider the storm sewer proposition had a conference with representatives of the board of health. The board of works is anxious to construct a system on the streets where there is an overflow of water, and under the section the work cannot be proceeded with until the undertaking is concurred in by a vote of the people charged to frontage where improvements on the street are being made, or the storm sewer is laid down on sanitary grounds. The latter scheme has suggested itself to the committee, and on resolution the whole question was referred to the board of health for action. There were present Aldermen Curtis, Lemon, Penhale, Meehan, Chairman Hookway and J. Lang of the board of health.

Still in Darkness.

The end of Margaret street is still in darkness, although it is some weeks, declared a member of No. 3 committee tonight, since the order was issued to have a light placed in that locality. Chairman Hill read a letter from the hydro-electric commission, excusing the delay on account of the trees and the telephone poles, and the commission also desired someone to designate a site for the lamp. To accommodate the commission, Chairman Hill, the city engineer and Supt. Roberts examined the location and had the obstacles removed, and yet, declared the chairman, that end of the street is still dark.

No Authority To Wire.

The committee objected to the wiring of the fire hall by a local firm to connect with the sprinkler at its place of business without first consulting the municipal authorities. The chief was reprimanded for allowing the wire to be placed in the hall when no permit was issued by the chairman or city official. The chief understood that the merchant had permission, and he did not care to interfere. The committee directed that the wire be not connected until the consent of the chairman or committee is obtained.

Firemen on Other Jobs.

Chairman Hill objected to the men of the fire department being engaged in other occupations while they were in the service of the city. He had reference to a member of the Kilties who is away from the department at intervals. The chairman thought that the men should give all their time to the department.

The chief told the chairman that when the man complained of had joined the staff, there was an understanding that he should be allowed to join the band when it was engaged in the city or outside. A substitute was always found when the man was away. The chairman still insisted that when a man was engaged as a fireman he should give all his time to the service of the city.

The Chief's Report.

Chief Henderson reported that the department was called out eight times during the month. The damage amounted to $1,000, the insurance being $800. The blazes were confined to two autos, that of Mrs. Foss, $800, and Mr. De Groat, $200. There was no insurance on the latter.

The Auto and the Ladies.

The theft of the Dodge car from the garage of John Leach has been traced to a local youth who is thought to have reached the United States by way of Niagara Falls. The young man, after breaking the lock of the garage, smashed the fastenings on the pump and stole nine gallons of gasoline, as well as the contents of Mr. Leach's cash drawer.

The boy burglar was accompanied by a couple of girls who looked over the city, but a short way out in the country were dumped out and came back home again. The car, the girls said, had got weary of its occupants, and was resting in the ditch somewhere in the countryside.

London Still Leads.

A London merchant charged with being drunk at Port Stanley and committing an indecent act, was found not guilty this morning by the county magistrate. His companion, an employee of the firm, was fined $20 and costs for being intoxicated on the board walk.

An auto found on Hincks street at 2 o'clock this morning by Sergt. Ketchabaw was without light, and the owner was fined $5 and costs. A lady paid $3 and $2.50 costs for permitting her dog to run at large. Charges were laid today by Chief McIntosh of Port Stanley against a couple of London visitors to the lakeside for a breach of the O. T. A.

Alleged Deserter Arrested.

An alleged deserter, Pte. Rose Alwin, was arrested tonight on Talbot street by Sergt. Hacking of the barracks, London, and locked up in the local jail. Alwin is described as having enlisted in Vancouver, B.C., December, 1919, and is an electrician, 21 years old. He joined the Princess Patricias at London and had been absent for about a month. His arrest brought a big crowd to the city building, as the young fellow put up a stiff fight before he was landed in the cells.

Dies of Injuries.

Joseph Black, first concession, Yarmouth, who was injured in an accident when working on the farm of Levi Robins a few days ago, died last evening at the Amasa Wood Hospital. Mr. Black fell from a ladder on which he was descending from a stack, and falling about thirty feet, was internally injured and broke his leg in several places. He was born in Yarmouth, and leaves a wife, son and daughter.

Items of Interest.

Miss Frances Horton, daughter of ex-Mayor and Mrs. Horton, has passed her probationary examinations at Toronto General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Lake, St. Thomas, spent the week-end with Dr. Lake at his cottage at Rondeau.

City Solicitor Doherty, Mayor Brinkman, County Clerk McKay and several members of the county council are attending the meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association, Toronto.

The holidays given the children of the Yarmouth Heights schools will be extended to Wednesday, September 7.

The increase in the wages of the Grand Trunk men, which go into effect on September 1, affect a number of local employees. It will mean much for several of the men.

John P. Smith, a former roadmaster of the old C. S. R., died on Sunday at Fort Smith, Kansas. The remains will be brought to St. Thomas.

WILL DISCUSS PHONE RATES WITH COMPANY

Sarnia City Council Decides To Delay Decision On Rates.

SARNIA, Aug. 30.—The city council tonight considered the suggestion from Toronto that Sarnia share in the opposition to the proposals of the Bell Telephone Company for increased rates, but, while the majority of the members of the council are opposed to the idea of any increase, it was decided to adjourn any action on the matter until after a meeting has been held with the representatives of the company and their side of the matater heard. A special meeting of the council will likely be held later in the week to decide on Sarnia's course of action.

Ald. George Crawford was tonight appointed to represent Sarnia on the Municipal Gas Consumers' Association recently organized.

It was announced that only $25,000 worth of debentures in connection with the municipal building scheme will be issued this year.

Ald. Kirby will represent the city at Toronto in the case between the street railway and the city in regard to grades and crossings.

A bylaw was passed to provide funds for the pavement construction.

HARBOR COMMISSION CHAIRMAN ASKS KING TO REMOVE TITLE

Sir James Long Protests Against Treatment Given MacSwiney.

BELFAST, Aug. 30. — Sir James Long, chairman of the Cork harbor commission and member of the governing body of University College, Cork, today sent the following telegram to King George at Buckingham Palace:

"As a protest against the treatment meted out to the lord mayor of Cork and his fellow hunger strikers by your majesty's Government, I would respectfully ask that your majesty remove the title conferred on me in 1910."

Baron Stamfordham, private secretary to the King, replied that the matter was one for the attention of the premier, to whom the question had been referred.

SANDWICH POLICE FORCE TO BE INCREASED SOON

Council Will Adopt Suggestion Made in Reeve McKee's Report.

WINDSOR, Aug. 30.—Sandwich town Council held a quiet meeting last night, which was in startling contrast to some of the recent sessions of the town fathers of the county town. Reeve McKee submitted his long-expected report upon the Spracklin charges at the last regular meeting, and the much discussed question was not even referred to last night. It is understood that in accordance with the recommendation contained in the report of the police committee that the police force of the town will be increased.

When asked whether he intended to drop the matter Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin returned a non-committal answer, explaining that his time was so much occupied by his duties as license inspector that he had not had time to give the matter the attention it merited.

No Need for All Night Cars.

Asked about an agitation which has arisen in some quarters for an all-night street car service here, Superintendent A. F. McGill of the local street railway, said last night that night traffic records did not in the opinion of the officials warrant such a departure, as there were no trains to meet and the last ferry docked at 12:30 a.m.

Short Weight in Coal.

Acting upon orders issued by Mayor Winter, the city police have been stopping coal drays and taking them to have their loads reweighed for verification. In two cases the loads were found to be short in weight. One load lacked 250 pounds of the 2,000, and the other was 230 pounds underweight. Both dealers have been summonsed to appear in police court.

HAMILTON FIREMEN SEVERELY BURNED

HAMILTON, Aug. 30.—Chief Teneyck of the Hamilton fire department, and Fireman John Miller were burned in the varnish room of the Canadian Westinghouse Company here today. Fireman Miller was badly burned about the arms and legs through sliding down a red-hot steampipe, and is in the General Hospital here. Chief Teneyck's hands were burned on the steampipe while he was trying to enter the room where the fire started. The blaze was started through a can of benzine having become ignited. Little material damage was caused by the fire.

In China one takes off one's spectacles, instead of one's hat, in meeting friends on the street.

Chinese spectacles are so disfiguring that they are afraid their friends would not recognize them if they were not removed.

BROTHERHOOD PLANS LARGE BANQUET TO BE HELD SEPT. 23

Aim To Get in Touch With Those Not Attending Church.

To get the citizens more interested in the men's brotherhood work and to bring them in closer contact with what the brotherhoods are doing for the welfare of mankind, it was decided to hold a banquet on September 23 in the city, where everyone will be invited. The main feature of the big get-together idea will, however, be the addresses by many eminent personages from all over the world, who are gathering in America to attend the World Brotherhood Congress to be held in Washington on October 9 to 13. There are about 25 eminent people coming to the congress and out of this number the local men's brotherhoods will attempt to get some of the most noted. Among those who are scheduled to attend the conference are: Lady Astor, M. P.; Mrs. Lloyd George, Commissioner William Ward, of London, Eng., William Jennings Bryan, Lincoln, Neb., the Rev. Dr. John Timothy Stone, Chicago, and others.

For this convention it was reported that fifteen members of the men's brotherhoods in Sarnia have given their assurances that they will go. It is hoped that at least 50 delegates from London will attend.

Largest Yet.

The banquet which was proposed will probably be the largest banquet ever held in London. It is the hope of the officers and those who attended last night's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. that it will help to get the men together, and have them mingle more with men who are interested in their welfare.

It was claimed by one of the speakers that there is a large number who have never read the Bible, and who very seldom go to church. These are the men, it was pointed out, whom the brotherhoods wish to get in touch with, their object being to make them better citizens. It was also pointed out that many of these men probably do not attend because they believe that there will be some expense attached to it. This is the main object of the free banquet. Tickets will be distributed, and it will get the men in closer contact with each other and show them the benefit that can be derived from them being a member of the brotherhood of some church.

There are always good speakers at the meetings of the brotherhoods, it was claimed, and the men upon joining soon grasp the meaning of the word brotherhood. Many are skeptical, believing it to be some club where amusements are the only things offered. It was pointed out that the church brotherhoods have done a great deal of good by getting the men together and discussing different current topics. By the engaging of speakers for some of their meetings, it also gives the members the view of different questions from an outsider's standpoint.

The officers of the brotherhood are attempting and succeeding in making the federated men's brotherhood of London the largest in Canda.

Men Appointed.

R. R. Smith, president; Fred Wanless, secretary, and Percy Schott, were appointed to select capable men from the brotherhoods to act on the banquet. It is expected that the donations that will be received will cover the expenses. The majority of big firms and citizens are interested in the brotherhood movement, and little trouble is expected in making this one of the most successful banquets ever held by any brotherhood association.

The officers of the federated association men's brotherhoods are: R. R. Smith, president; T. H. Yull, first vice-president; E. J. Penny, second vice-president; Fred Wanless, secretary; A. E. Barbour, treasurer.

TWO TRUCKS STRUCK AT LEVEL CROSSING

Both Drivers Narrowly Escape Death—Conductor Says Engine Whistle Blown.

Two motor trucks were badly damaged and their drivers, Arthur Leff and Arthur Clemens, of this city, narrowly escaped death when a G. T. R. work train crashed into them at the William street crossing Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The truck, owned by Leff & Co., was completely demolished, while the truck driven by Clemens, and owned by Tune & Co., had the two front wheels smashed.

The two trucks were proceeding south on William street. As they approached the tracks the drivers saw no watchmen standing on the crossing to signal them, so thinking the way was clear, they started across the tracks.

The G. T. R. work train approached at a slow rate of speed from the east at that moment. It struck the truck owned by Leff & Co. amidships, rolling it over against Tune's truck, which was also crossing, but on the right side of the road. The impact broke the two wheels from the body of Tune's truck.

Despite the fact the trucks were so badly damaged, both drivers escaped with slight injuries. Arthur Leff was badly shaken and slightly bruised.

The conductor of the train stated that the whistle of the engine was blown for the crossing, but both of the men said that they did not hear it.

PARTY NETS $300.

The garden part at Brook Farm, the Priddis residence, on Wednesday last netted over $300 for the London Township cot in the proposed Children's Hospital. Complete returns have not been made as yet. The committee specially wishes to thank Miss May Walker of the London Conservatory of Music for having so kindly trained the class of little girls for the maypole dance, also Mrs. J. W. Freeborn, Mayor Little and Lieut.-Col. Willetts for their generous donations, and most especially the Messrs. and Miss Priddis for the use of their grounds and their assistance in general.

ORIGIN OF MEDICINES

The agents employed for the treatment of diseases are taken from the three kingdoms of nature, the vegetable, animal and mineral. Most medicinal substances are taken from the vegetable kingdom and consist of leaves, flowers, seeds, barks and roots. The old-fashioned root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which owes its success to the vegetable kingdom, has constantly grown in popularity and favor until it is now recognized as the standard remedy for female ills.

At The Theaters

AT THE PATRICIA.

Bathed in a delightful English atmosphere, with picturesque English settings and true British types, a marvelously absorbing story unfolds itself in a play called "The White Dove," which is being shown at the Patricia Theatre during the first half of this week. The picture, with all its gripping simplicity, has been called "the safety valve" of the moving picture world, for it is devoid of all that is crude and lowering. There are no gun fights, no fallen women. Its very quietness creates a vivid intensity, and built as it is around a most unusual angle of human relations, it is more than spectacular.

But the half has not yet been written, because undoubtedly the greatest charm of the picture lies in the acting of H. B. Warner, the well-known actor from the British stage. The quiet, gentlemanly but masterful role of the young English physician suited Mr. Warner to perfection. The acting of this outstanding actor is, indeed, a treat. He is supported by an excellent cast.

In "The White Dove" Mr. Warner plays the part of an English physician living in a quiet way in a small English town. From a dying friend he learns of the unfaithfulness of his dead wife. This breaks down the confidence he has had in women, and he goes to London to pursue his scientific work and to try to forget his troubles. There he learns of a greater secret which concerns himself even more intimately and which leads up to the tremendous scenes which mark the denouement of the unusual story.

The vaudeville feature is a musical novelty. Bob and Dolly Chambers delighted Monday evening's large crowd by producing no small amount of music from a xylophone.

To complete the program there is a western drama, "The Great Round-Up," and a Rainbow comedy called "Won by a Nose." The bill will be repeated today and tomorrow.

LOEW'S.

William Faversham, who plays the lead in the feature film, "The Man Who Lost Himself," showing at Loew's the first half of this week, is a real actor. That is he does not require to have a play or picture built around his personality in order to win repeated successes. Londoners who have seen his brilliant acting in the spoken drama recognize his ability to throw himself into a part. He is excellent in the dual role of the Earl of Rochester, a discouraged English aristocrat, and Victor Jones of New York City, whose personality the earl first assumes, then transfers to policemen to make up a hilarious ensemble. The Pathe News completes the picture program.

The vaudeville is composed of three greatly varying acts. The first, "Swain's Cats and Rats" is one of the cleverest animal acts that was ever staged. Athletic stunts by the rats and cats are followed by a sensational boxing match of three rounds between two nimble felines, Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard, Jass taking the count, according to schedule.

The De Lite Sisters are pretty girls who dance most daintily, and sing several songs in a bright and sparkling manner.

Mumford and Stanley put on a comedy act which delights the audience. We have had rather a run of funny stagehands lately, but the specimen in this act does not suffer by the contrast. Both players have excellent voices and vary their act with some good singing.

AT THE ALLEN.

When Rex Beach turned from the raw red meat school of fiction to farce-comedy in "Going Some," he laid the foundation for a successful stage and film farce-comedy. The headliner at Allen's the first half of this week deals with a college cheer leader and champion of the reception committee, who is taken at his own boast, made to impress his lady love, by a lot of cowboys for a champion sprint, and is compelled to race a real champion for high stakes. Cullen Landes as the hero is clever in his characterization, and Willard Louis as Larry Glass, his trainer, is one of the best farce characters that has appeared to date. The plot is one wild and joyful series of those complications which make farce-comedy what it is.

The short comedy film shows the excitements of moving day and the trials of a young husband whose wife wants to move simply that she may find a suitable spot to put the pretty lamp mamma gave her. A set of moving men, such as the caption states, "are found only in the movies" add to the development of the story in a most unexpected way.

A charming overture "The Golden Girl," by the Allen concert orchestra, a news film and "The Illiterate Digest" complete the bill, which will be repeated today and Wednesday.

AT THE GRAND.

"The greatest treat in years" was the unanimous verdict of an audience that packed the Grand Opera House to capacity last night for the musical extravaganza, "Hello Alexander."

McIntyre and Heath, the veteran minstrels, had the stellar roles. They had a big evening's work to do, and it was done in a way that kept the audience enthusiastically applauding. James McIntyre took the role of Alexander, man of all work and former minstrel, while Thomas K. Heath had the part of Henry Clay Jones, proprietor of the Everyday Colored Minstrels.

Their work was of the clean-cut snappy variety that invariably makes a hit. Their humor was sparkling and was never forced. While there was a good dea of horseplay it was genuinely funny, and for minutes at a time the audience was kept rocking with laughter.

The stars were supported by a thoroughly capable company.

The music was of the catchy variety that kept the gallery humming the choruses and clapping for more, a sure test of popularity. In many cases perhaps the music was better than the singers. The outstanding work of the evening as far as singing went was that of the Misses Holt and Rosedale. Their pieces, "Hiawatha's Melody of Love" and "Sweet and Low," were given an especially cordial reception.

The chorus took one back to pre-war days, both in regards to numbers, costume and scenic effects. Several novelties were introduced, one of the most effective being a running board which extended out from the stage to the fourth row of seats. In the second act a number of dainty little chorus girls made a big hit in their song, "Pretty Baby," by coming out on the running board and kneeling down and powdering the faces of various youths in the audience. Evidently the boys liked it, and the audience also as the girlies were brought back several times.

An unusually artistic dancing number was that put on by Walter Brazil. Dan Quinlan, in a little curtain speech, made the announcement that Mr. Brazil was one of the most apt pupils of the late George Primrose, who, he said, had brought fame and honor to London from the entire world by his work. Mr. Brazil is exceptionally light on his toes and graceful, and won rounds of applause.

Throughout, the show, the staging, scenic effects and costumes were thoroughly representative of a high-class company. Many of the effects were elaborate and novel, and some of them strikingly beautiful.

Manager Minhinnick received many congratulations during the evening on the excellence of the offering.

"MADEMOISELLE OF BULLY GRENAY" AT THE GRAND TOMORROW NIGHT.

"The P. B. I." or Mademoiselle of Bully Grenay" shows a little bit of Flanders with love among the ruins and Boche spies a la mode. But the intrigues of the Hun agents, the flirtations of Julie and the love affair of Suzanne serve only as a background for the adventures and misadventures of Lieut. Edward Brock Green, a bumptious young sub, who has just joined a fighting battalion, and who commences to teach a platoon of old-timers how to soldier in the Boxhill manner, but he soon is exposed by his troops to a rigorous course of intensive training in the art of war as practiced in France.

Private Herbert Hawkins, a grousing and ludicrously amusing little cockney, is the chief of the volunteer instructors, but his efforts are ably backed up by Mr. Harris, the loquacious batman, Jarge, the Sommolent dud, Abel Drinkwater, the scrounging lea-swinger, and other members of the platoon—to say nothing of Brigadier-General Wellington Montagu-Smythe, the pompous and blustering old dug-out.

Despite its wonderful realism and the occasional touch of pathos, "The P. B. I." as a rollicking, roaring comedy, heavily reinforced by snatches tomorrow night and Thursday and trench parodies. Come to the Grand tomorrow, Tonight and Thursday and have all the fun of going to war with none of the discomforts. Seats now on sale.

EDNA GOODRICH IN "SLEEPING PARTNERS" AT GRAND NEXT FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

"Sleeping Partners" with Edna Goodrich will be the attraction at the Grand next Friday and Saturday with Saturday matinee.

Miss Goodrich will probably best be remembered here as leading lady and co-star with Nat C. Goodwin. The play is a translation of a French comedy by Sacha Guitry. Though new to this country, Guitry has won renown in Paris as the most truly original and the most daring of the men now writing for the French theatre. It was adapted from the French by Seymour Hicks, who produced it in London, where it ran for a solid year, and in this country it enjoyed a successful run of seven months at the Bijou Theatre in New York. The story is of a young American lawyer in Paris, who philanders with the beautiful and youthful wife of a man who is described by the humorous program as "just a husband with a beard." Knowing her husband is off for an adventure she agrees to visit the American at his apartment for a virtuous half-hour. She comes, a dazzling temptation, one kiss, and she faints, and in attempting to revive her he gives a sleeping potion instead of aromatic spirits of ammonia. Watching over her, he—but what is the use in spoiling a good story by telling it all here. None but a continental dramatist could have handled this little story with such complete finesse. "Sleeping Partners" could best be described as a comedy of the Parisian Boulevards. Seats now.

"CHU CHIN CHOW" COMING TO THE GRAND SEPT. 16, 17 AND 18.

"Chu Chin Chow," the big musical extravaganza of the Orient, which has enjoyed nearly five years of London triumphs and which played an entire season in New York, will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at the Grand Sept. 16, 17, 18 and a Saturday matinee.

"Chu Chin Chow" is a story of ancient Bagdad, told in 14 scenes, with 18 musical numbers and a wealth of scenic and colorful beauty that defies descriptions. The costumes and the color schemes are said to be richly ornate and brilliant. The company numbers 300 people, including many well-known principals, and a ballet of 60 dancers. Seats by mail now if accompanied by check, postal or express order, including tax.

TONE IN A PIANO.

A piano that is wanting in tone is really wanting in all that goes to make a satisfactory piano. Tone in a piano made by Ye Olde Firme, Heintzman & Co., Limited, 242 Dundas street, London, is the great outstanding figure of those world-famed Canadian-made pianos. During their long history of seventy years, every emphasis has been put on tone. b

SAYS DAIRY EXHIBITS WERE NEVER BETTER

Frank Herns, secretary of the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association, has returned from Toronto Exhibition, where he assisted in installing a big refrigerated dairy exhibit under the auspices of the dairy branch of the Ontario department of agriculture. The exhibit occupied a space 14 by 60 feet, and would be an ideal attraction for the Western Fair, but for the cost, probably $1,500, in providing a similar refrigerator space. Cheese and buttter exhibits at the Toronto fair never were better, Mr. Herns declares. Milk and cream testing demonstrations are a part of the dairy program at Toronto, and these demonstrations will also be made at the Western Fair. An instructive brochure, "The Ushe of Milk and Its Products," largely compiled by Mr. Herns, is being distributed in connection with the demonstrations.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

BOLSHEVISM.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I have read your editorial of a few days ago, "The Menace," and also the pointed and pithy remarks anent the same subject by the front page writer in Toronto Saturday Night last week. They present a pleasing and illuminating contrast with the warped and one-sided effusions of Mrs. Harriet Dunlop Prenter of Toronto. It is a pity that a woman of outstanding literary ability like Mrs. Prenter should be so carried away by the insidious red propaganda that unfortunately is spreading even in Canada, as to distort and misrepresent the Russian situation.

Mrs. Prenter whines: "My whole contention was and is that we have no possible warrant for interference with Russia." Oh! not even, I suppose, if the very existence of the British Empire and civilization was at stake? What about the insidious and diabolical propaganda the dictators, Lenine and Trotsky, are carrying on in nearly all civilized countries to tear down the structure of public law and order, the work of centuries, and substitute anarchy and a ruthless military dictatorship everywhere, such as has brought Russia to the verge of moral and commercial bankruptcy and made her cities and towns a public shambles. Has England, France and the United States no right to stay this plague of political and moral leprosy even at its source? It was indeed a master stroke of political villainy for the German military staff to spread the virus of the deadly "Bolshevism"—which Mrs. Prenter, in sarcastic terms, seeks to defend—among the Russian armies in order to get them out of the war, using as paid agents the disreputable Trotsky and Lenine, which traitors sold their country for German gold and made Russia a laughing stock and a byword alike among her friends and enemies! Yes, and when the same "Bolshevism" came home to roost in Germany and reared its ugly head in the "Spartacan" movement, it was quickly put down with an iron hand. What was polson for an enemy could not be medicine for themselves. Extreme Socialists—and we have them right here in London—prate about "Bolshevism" in terms of the "Brotherhood of man," etc. Instead it is moral degradation, enslavement of the masses, and military tyranny of the sternest and most ruthless kind. It is like Thompson's wolves of the Appenines:

"Boney and gaunt and grim.
Cruel as death, and hungry as the grave."

It is evident that such a hideous communal tyranny could not exist long in any one country, as it is so apparently a plague spot and blot on the world's civilization, and its only hope is by lying propaganda to set the world on fire with the flames of red revolution, and thus the abject failure of the Russian original would be lost in the general conflagration. "Bolshevism" is no true "brotherhood of man," neither is it an upward evolution, but a reversion to the law of the jungle and to barbarism. The scripture exhortation: "We who are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak," etc., indicates the true basis for the "Brotherhood of Man." Here love patterned after the divine, parts company with nature and the jungle.

MAGISTRATE NEVER LATE IN FORTY YEARS ASCENDING BENCH

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—Lieutenant-Colonel George Taylor Denison, police magistrate of Toronto, who will celebrate his 81st birthday tomorrow and has published a book of "Recollections," states that in more than 40 years as magistrate he has never been one second late in going to the bench. He was appointed by the late Sir Oliver Mowat in June, 1877, since which time about 650,000 cases have been handled in the police court here, the most of them by the colonel himself. Of late years he has had three assistants, but still appears daily as chief dispenser of justice at the police court.
