Pastor Demands "Salt Antidote" For World Decay

REV. M'INTOSH ADVISES ALL TO FOREGO DANCE

Declares With World in State of Chaos Ballroom Should Be Forgotten.

CONSCIENCE SHOULD BE GUIDE FOR CHRISTIAN

Sees No Serious Objection to Social Event At Collegiate.

In the present state of world chaos, dancing should not be indulged in by Christians, yet in his opinion there should be no serious objection to the opening dance at the new high school, Rev. W. R. McIntosh informed his congregation at the King Street Presbyterian Church Sunday evening. He qualified this statement by pointing out that the student dance at the new high school will be under strict supervision, thereby eliminating any tendency to evil effects.

Mr. McIntosh took for his subject, "Should Christians Dance?" "It is one of the greatest problems we have at the present time," he began. "It is a question whether a Christian should dance or not. To a Christian people all these questions should be solved in the light of the teachings of Jesus Christ, by His spirit, His personality, His cross. Not what he did, but what he would do were he here now, because customs have changed."

He asserted that the consciences of the people have also changed, mentioning the fact that Christians used to enter a bar, order intoxicating liquor, and before drinking ask the Lord's blessing upon it. It could not be done now because the consciences of the people have been suspended. We warned his audience not to expect to find a code of rules to live by in the Bible, because the Master in His wisdom did not set them down. "We are the salt of the earth," continued the pastor, "and the world needs salt. I think the dance at its best is hardly salt. It preserves things from decay, and is an antidote to rottenness. There is a very crying need for salt right now, as there are lots of things going to decay. We have lived in a high temperature, socially and morally, during the last seven years, and in a high temperature we get rottenness and decay. Look around and you will find lots of things crying out for salt."

"There has been a disposition of fury directed against card playing and dancing and the theatre. I think it altogether out of proportion. In my opinion we should direct our attention to other things. I do not think the dress is proper, and our music is not very good. If our attitude toward the dance is calculated to promote modesty, let us speak. If there is any place that people should be conservative in dress and retiring it is at the dance, because the provocation is great. We should never fall away from the standards of home and the street."

Mr. McIntosh attributed the craze for the dance to the fact that greed for money has cut off the contemplation of marriage on the part of young people today, and they substitute this by following the terephorean art. He cited decay in business and "rotten politics," which he declared to be more subtle than in the old days. The business of the Christian is to cure this condition.

"In athletics they tell me it is rotten. Turn to Page 2, Column 4."

ORDERS PROBE IN MCDONALD'S CASE

Sir Lomer Gouin Informs Ed. Lance of Department's Decision.

Sir Lomer Gouin, Canada's Minister of Justice, has ordered an investigation into the case of William McDonald, the London man now in Kingston penitentiary. McDonald was sentenced to five years. It is contended that owing to mistaken identity, he is being wrongly imprisoned.

Secretary Ed. Lance, of the soldiers aid commission, who was appealed to by McDonald's wife, wrote to the minister of justice setting forth the facts of the case and urging that the matter be immediately investigated with a view to McDonald's early release from prison.

Mr. Lance has just received a letter in reply in which the minister stated that he has turned the matter over to the investigation department for immediate action and as soon as he receives a report he will notify Mr. Lance.

In the meantime the letter of McDonald's counsel, W. H. Furlong, containing an application for the ordering of a new trial, has been sent on and it should be in the hands of the minister now and it is believed will have the effect of hastening action.

DECLINES CALL TO MONTREAL CHURCH

Rev. G. A. Leichter announced Sunday evening that he had declined the call to Westmount Baptist Church, Montreal, which was extended to him last week, after a large meeting held in Montreal Tuesday. The pastor of Adelaide Street Church announced in the morning that he would give his decision next Sunday, but that he had been requested so urgently during the day to remain that he had changed his mind, and had sent the wire away Sunday night refusing the call.

The men at the special men's class, which is presided over and taught by Mr. Leichter, passed a resolution unanimously to request him to remain with them, promising to support and help him in everything he undertook.

HALIFAX BUILDING GUTTED. Halifax, N. S., Feb. 13.—The business district was threatened last evening by fire which broke out in the upper story of the building on Barrington street, occupied by the Maritime Dental Parlors and five other firms.

After some hard work, however, the fire was confined to the building, which was badly gutted.

STEPS TAKEN TO DESTROY CORN-BORER IN ONT.

Provincial Government Acts On Recommendation of Hon. Manning Doherty.

AREAS ARE QUARANTINED

Growers Are Prevented From Shipping in Banned Districts to Outside Points.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Drastic steps to eliminate the European corn borer from the province of Ontario have been taken by the government on the recommendation of the minister of agriculture.

Regulations passed provide for quarantining a large number of counties and townships of Western Ontario, and from these areas the removal of corn fodder or cornstalks, including broom corn, whether used for packing or other purposes, green sweet corn, roasting ears, corn on the cobs or corn cobs, is prohibited. The quarantine does not apply to the articles enumerated when they have been manufactured or processed in such a manner as to eliminate all risk of carriage of pest.

The areas under quarantine are listed as follows: Brant County, Elgin County, the townships of Godfrey South, Mersea and Pelee in Essex County; the townships of Goddard, Ray, Stanley, Stephen, Tuckersmith and Osborne, in Huron County; Haldimand County; the townships of Comden (including the Gore of Camden), Harwich, Howard, Oxford, Raleigh, Romney, Tilbury East and Zone, in Kent County; the townships of Brooke, Euphemia and Warwick, in Lambton; the townships of Clinton, Gainsborough, Grantham, Leamington, Lincoln; Middlesex County, Norfolk County, the township of Pickering in Ontario County, Oxford County; the townships of Oxford, Shredley, Galt, and Downie, in Elgin County; the township of Hope (North and South), Ellice, Fullerton, Hibbert, Logan and Mornington, in Perth County; Waterloo County, Wellington County; the township of Guelph, in Wellington County and the township of Ancaster in Wentworth County.

U. S. Markets Close For Lincoln's Birthday

To commemorate the birthday of Abraham Lincoln all American stock markets and banks are closed today, Feb. 13.

Abraham Lincoln, who was the sixteenth president of the United States, and perhaps the most outstanding figure in American history, was born in Kentucky, Feb. 12, 1809. He was assassinated on the 15th day of April, 1865.

BELIEVE KILLINGS TO BE TONG WAR

San Francisco, Feb. 13.—Chinese tong men throughout the west were reported under cover or on their guard today as the result of an apparent outbreak of a tong war last night, when two Chinese were killed and a third wounded in Seattle, one slain in Butte, Mont., and one shot, probably fatally, in San Jose, California.

In every instance the shootings were carried out in characteristic tong war fashion, police reports indicated. In Butte and in Seattle the Chinese said to have belonged to tongs, were shot down on the street. Seattle police made five arrests in connection with the shooting.

Admits Affection For Slain Director

MARY MILES MINTER

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 13.—There is "a grave and serious" doubt at present as to whether the murder of William Desmond Taylor, film director, will ever be apprehended, declared Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney, here late last night.

Mr. Woolwine made this declaration in a statement he issued, deploring what he termed "faked and fraudulent interviews" on the case, and particularly one purporting to have come from him.

Meantime public interest still centers on the admission of Mary Miles Minter, that she "loved the dead director with all the adoration and respect a young girl gives a man with the poise and culture of Mr. Taylor."

Miss Minter's home on North Hobart Boulevard is still surrounded by a cordon of private detectives, who halt all curious individuals seeking admission there.

HYDRO RADIAL ISSUE EXCITES MAIN INTEREST

Speculation Rife As Reopening of Ontario Parliament Draws Near.

DRURY PREPARING STAND

Toronto, Feb. 13.—The Ontario Legislature opens tomorrow afternoon. It will be the third session of the fifteenth parliament, and the first to be opened by Lieutenant-Governor Harry Cockshutt since his appointment. The M. L. A.'s from the more distant constituencies are many of them, here and others will reach this city this afternoon and tonight.

The legislation is to be forecasted by the speech from the throne, and prospect for early caucuses of the different parties, which make up the opposition are being considerably discussed in the corridors today, although Premier Drury's speech to be delivered at Hamilton tonight, when he is expected to give further facts in regard to the hydro-radial policy of the government, really over-shadowed everything else in the way of political prophecies and gossip is being built up.

Everything is in readiness at the parliament buildings for the opening, and the ceremony, while being impressive, will not be overly elaborate. There is always a big demand for tickets of admission to the floor and galleries of the legislative chamber, but the rush this season seems to be even greater than in previous sessions.

WILL TRY TO SELL RAILWAY TO GOVERNMENT

Hon. John Oliver Is On Way From British Columbia to Ottawa.

LINE COST 40 MILLIONS

[Special To London Advertiser.] Ottawa, Feb. 13.—Hon. John Oliver, premier of British Columbia, is on his way to Ottawa to sell the government a railway. The road in question is the Pacific Great Eastern, which at the present time is being run at heavy loss by the province. Mr. Oliver will also urge a general decrease in freight rates.

The railway which the British Columbia premier desires to dispose of cost in the neighborhood of forty million dollars, and has a yearly deficit. It runs from North Vancouver northward toward Howe Sound, and stops at Bouce Coupe, though it was intended that it should run into the Peace River country. Unfortunately the Canadian National Lines for a considerable portion of its length. It is very doubtful whether the government will consider the proposition seriously. Canada at the present time possesses about all the railway trackage which it is in the power of the taxpayer to back.

RED CROSS TO ISSUE POST-WAR WORK REPORT

London Branch of Canadian Society Decide To Publish Statement.

FOUNDED DAY NURSERY

Declares First and Chief Interest Is in the Soldier.

Following a meeting on Feb. 9 of the executive of the London branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, at which it was decided to prepare a detailed statement of the duties and activities of the society since the close of the war, a precise and explanatory account has been issued by that organization. In the preface to the statement it is explained that the publicity accorded the many requests for financial aid in carrying on relief work among soldiers' dependents is the cause that moved the society to make the report.

To explain the fact that the Red Cross Society is now dealing largely with after-war activities, the Red Cross statement sets forth: "Our war work is well known and requires no comment here." Immediately the war was finished, according to the statement, the society set to work to carry into the aftermath of war, the same charitable work that it did through the days of conflict. The statement continues: "Our peace work began practically with Armistice Day. As quickly as the hospitals for Canadian soldiers in France and England could be evacuated the wounded and sick soldiers of this district were sent back to London to undergo treatment in the various hospitals of Military District No. 1.

Recognize Magnitude of Work. "The magnitude of the work of bringing cheer and entertainment to these hundreds of invalid men was recognized by our president, the late Lady Beck, and plans were immediately made by our executive for carrying out this work in the most effective way. The military authorities had constituted our committees as the official visitors of the temporary and permanent hospitals, and by a new arrangement the late Lady Beck, not only with us in this work, a number of their members acting on all our committees.

"The extensive plans for this work included regular weekly visiting, concerts and entertainments of all sorts and a greatly increased list of requisitions which could be made on the committee, not only by the visiting committee, but also by the military doctors, hospital matrons and the sick men themselves. This greatly increased power to bring solace and comfort to our suffering soldiers and necessary aid to those who were helping to heal them was particularly the work of our late president, whose affectionate care for our soldiers overseas and at home was boundless, and who labored unceasingly to make our efforts on their behalf as effective and complete as possible."

Nearly Exhausted Finances. As our financial resources in 1918, a final appeal was made in January, 1919, for funds to enable us to carry on this extensive work for our soldiers in hospital. The response was generous and adequate. The actual collections for this fund were, as is usually the case, somewhat less than the subscriptions. One may read the total of $77,724.62 was paid into our account as the result of this campaign.

For three and one-half years we have administered this fund strictly for the purpose for which it was subscribed. Faithfully and in the spirit of devoted service our committees have carried out the generous policy of our late president and have done everything in their power to cheer and encourage those poor sufferers who, after three and a half years of

WOMEN PASTORS MAY BE ADMITTED

Proposed Innovation To Be Debated by Methodist Church.

Proposed general conference legislation will be dealt with the London district meeting of the Methodist Church to be held in Dundas Center Methodist Church, Thursday morning and afternoon. The advisability of extending the pastoral term of office will be one of the chief matters discussed. At present four years is the limit of the pastoral term. There is a tendency to extend the limit to six years or make it possible for a minister to be invited to officiate for another four years immediately following the expiration of his term.

The question of receiving women in the church as ministers may be discussed, and any matters may be discussed, which were discussed at a previous meeting. Both ministers and laymen from London and district are to be present at the meeting.

ARMY ORDERS CANCEL SAILING OF TROOPSHIPS

British Contingents Were Due To Embark for English Ports.

MILITARY OFFICIALS ARE RETICENT AS TO CAUSE

Popular Belief Fixes Killing of Four Ulster Constables As Reason.

Dublin, Feb. 13.—The evacuation of the British troops and other military forces from Dublin was unexpectedly suspended today. The sailing of the steamers due to leave for Holyhead and Liverpool with contingents on board was cancelled. It was thought the suspension might be due to the events in Ulster.

Officials at military general headquarters said they were unable to give any information on the subject, while Dublin Castle officials stated that they had nothing to do with the evacuation.

4 Ulster Constables Killed During Riot

Belfast, Feb. 12.—Four Ulster special constables were shot to death at the Clones railway station yesterday. Eight others were wounded and six are missing.

Matthew Fitzpatrick, a Sinn Feiner, was also slain.

The officers, on their way to Enniskillen, were waiting at Clones for the arrival of a train from Belfast to convey them to their destination. The train had entered the station, and some of the men were in the act of getting into the carriages, when a party of Irish republican army men with rifles and a machine gun came on the platform. They immediately opened fire on the specials with their rifles and machine gun, and four of the constables were shot dead, one of them having his head blown off.

Some of the others were wounded, some were taken prisoner, and the remainder escaped. The republican army men then fled.

Taken absolutely unawares, the specials had no opportunity to fire a single shot at the attacking party.

Clones is in that district of Ulster included in the free state territory. It is very near the border.

Belfast received its first intimation of the tragedy through a message to the station master at the Great Northern terminus, to the effect: "Send no more trains regular police or specials by train." Then followed the news of the shooting and the casualty list.

The Belfast police declare the specials were lined up against a wall and mowed down.

Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, has addressed an urgent remonstrance to Premier Lloyd George, Winston Churchill and Viscount Fitzalan, in which immediate action is demanded.

There are many versions of the affair current, but inquiries among the civilian passengers on the train from which the specials alighted showed that the constables had a 20-minute wait on the platform for the Dublin train, during which time they paraded quietly up and down the platform, on which there also were many civilians.

By A Wearer of the Pant.

TED, the once in a while perfect copy boy, came blushing to work last Monday wearing the long pant.

"Ah!" Aurelius Wigle said, surprised as it were. "And who may this little man be?"

"A-a-a-w!" threatened Ted, making a sort of sweeping gesture with his fist doubled. This gesture, which he has adopted as a sort of self-protective measure, is a warning to sophisticated reporters who kid him, that violence will follow any further levity on their part.

"It seems to be good goods," said Purdon Love, fingering a portion of the new coat with the earnest air of an art critic deciding that a fake Rembrandt is genuine.

"A-a-a-w!" said Ted again, swinging the mallet fist.

Little did this barefaced boy with lots of cheek realize as he stood there "aw-ing" his elders that he was at the beginning of one of the seven ages Shakespeare gives man. You recall them—the first tooth, the first cornsilk, the first long pant, the first bay rum cocktail, the first divorce, the second divorce, and the first attack of senile dementia.

We looked back upon our first long pant. At least we looked down at them; we hardly dare to look back at them these days, because they are no longer young, no more than we are, but they are the same, dear old long pants that we so proudly donned that bright September day in 1905. Ah, that was the day we wore them, at least it was the first day we wore them. Some time there will be a poem dashed off along that line—wore; torem.

Ask any first-class clothing salesman whether it is a pant or whether they are pants. Ask Uncle Bill Hawkins up in Goderich who every September the week before school opened used to sell mother a suit of knickerbockers for us, with her choice of a red and green necktie, or a pair of Alice blue suspenders thrown in.

Did he say, "Have the boy try these pants on," or did he say, "I guess this pant will about fit him?" He certainly did.

"You may be wearing the skirt instead of the pant before long," we said to Ted.

Rage suffused Ted's cheek as the dawn suffused the horizon, or practically so.

"Where d'y'get that skolt stuff?" he demanded. "Whatcha tryin' t'do, kid?"

The remark, however, was not made in jest nor with any attempt to obtain possession of Ted's goat. There is a movement afoot to unseat the pant.

This insidious, persistent propaganda has as its object the destruction of the garment now employed as they are pants. Ask Uncle Bill Hawkins up in Goderich who every September the week before school opened used to sell mother a suit of knickerbockers for us, with her choice of a red and green necktie, or a pair of Alice blue suspenders thrown in.

Every once in a while some evidence of this sly movement crops up in the daily press. One may read of a tailors' convention in Montreal at which a tailor rises to remark that the modern pant is a hideous thing; that it is and should be doomed to go, and that it will be supplanted by a graceful garment, a thing of beauty and a joy forever, namely, the skirt.

If this particular tailor doesn't mend the old-fashioned silk knee pant with lace ruffles, a skirt would be much better than that. Or he may favor the Grecian sheet, and want us all to go around looking like the hot room in a Turkish bath or Saturday night. They all agree on one point—the pant must go.

Now, it doesn't take a Class A Edison man to figure out that the tailor who makes this sort of speech is not a tailor at all, but a dressmaker in disguise! Yet certain newspaper editors and publishers, most of them indeed men, continue to print these things. What a power to cheer and encourage those poor sufferers who, after three and a half years of less as well.

We hold no particular brief for the pant. It needs none of our pleading. It is firmly enough established. There is no danger of any man salting forth on the streets of London or any other place in Western Ontario today without this garment. Modern history, that is, history since the time of the invention of the pant, records no instance of any man doing such a thing except in the case of a fire in a Turkish bath at Windsor at midnight, when twenty-seven men, more or less, rushed into the street and were excused because the fire was deemed a circumstance beyond the control of anyone except the proprietor.

The situation amounts to just this: the pant can get along without man, but man cannot get along without the pant. You can take his vest from him and he will laugh you to scorn. You can take his coat, and he will get another, but "who steals my pants gets 'em!" (Cicero de Senectute).

DISCUSS RURAL SCHOOL NEEDS OF MIDDLESEX

County Trustees Claim City Pupils Favored by Collegiate System.

WANTS DISTRICT NURSE

Welfare Worker Declares Many Children Suffer From Malnutrition.

Rural school problems, particularly concerning high and continuation schools, were considered at the morning and afternoon sessions of the conference of the Middlesex trustees and ratepayers, held in the London Normal School Saturday. An effort is to be made by the association to obtain legislation which will provide equal advantages for county and city pupils, give rural students easier access to high and continuation school training.

A resolution was passed to the effect that all information possible in connection with this problem should be gathered before the next conference, in order that at that date the question might be viewed from every angle and some definite steps be taken in the direction of improvement.

Discuss Bible Study.
The question of Bible study was the cause of lengthy discussion, and a resolution was passed to the effect that trustees should be authorized to request that a verse of the Bible be memorized every day by the students and encouragement be given to the greater use of the Bible as a text book.

The necessity of a district nurse to protect, not only the health of the child at school, but that of the mother as well, was greatly emphasized by Miss Smith of the London Child Welfare Association.

"Canada's greatest need is population," said Miss Smith, "and it is necessary to gain it by either immigration or natural increase of population. When we consider that the rate of infant mortality in Canada is 10 per cent, it is easily seen that this presents one of the great problems which Canada has to face."

District Nurse Needed.
"Not only must children be proected at school, but care must be taken of those who are too young to attend school. On that account a district nurse is an absolute necessity. There are far too many children in both county and city suffering from malnutrition.

"Inexperienced mothers do not properly appreciate food values and understand the care of children. A nurse, authorized by the government, and able to visit the homes could do an infinitely great work in seeing that children were properly nourished and grew up strong and healthy."

The presence of a district nurse in a town or village will go a long way toward the prevention of epidemics. She can look after the children at home as well as at school, and finding a child with any of the symptoms of contagious disease can see that he is immediately isolated. It was claimed.

R. A. Finn, of the department of agriculture, pointed out in a very definite manner the advantages of the classes now in session in various parts of the province under the authority of the department of agriculture.

Equipment Lacking.
"The classes give the student a start in some particular line, give him a foundation upon which to build a thorough knowledge of the subject, and confidence in his ability to succeed."

"We lack the equipment of the department of education, and our object is rather to lecture than to teach, but a student leaves our classes knowing how to go about the business and knowing the underlying principles. It needs only perseverance to accomplish the rest."

PAYS FINE OF $200 FOR LIQUOR SALES

Leonard Berry Has Still Another Charge To Face in Court.

Leonard Berry was found guilty of selling liquor to two Stratford men named Burke and Lillow, two weeks ago, and was fined $200 and costs by Deputy Police Magistrate P. H. Bartlett in police court Monday morning.

Mr. Berry is not through with the police for the week. Tuesday morning he will appear in court charged with having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling.

The case was heard before Mr. Bartlett last Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning, the court reserving judgment.

According to the evidence of Burke, a Stratford barber, he and Lillow came to London for a "good time" and in the course of their wanderings they were driven to the home of Berry, where Burke alleged he purchased drinks at 50 cents each.

In giving judgment, Mr. Bartlett declared that he preferred to take the evidence of the Stratford men, rather than that of Berry and his friends, who swore that the star witnesses of Chief Birrell did not get anything to drink at Berry's house. Prior, charged with drinking liquor in a place where it cannot lawfully be kept, was discharged, the magistrate holding that no conviction had been obtained against the house in which Prior was alleged to have been drinking. Burke and Lillow sided in their evidence last week that Prior had been a member of the party in the first house where they had purchased drinks. However, the exact locality of the residence was never stated in police court, and the case fell through.

HINDOO, CANADIAN, GIRLS MUCH ALIKE

Missionary Describes Worth-whileness of Her Work.

"Has it been worth while, is it worth while, will it be worth while?" These were the questions with regard to missionary work for "girls of other lands," and especially those in India, raised on Saturday afternoon by a fair, slender young woman, wearing the Hindoo costume, a graceful saree of exquisite pink brocade silk. The speaker was Miss Dorothy Kilpatrick, daughter of Professor Kilpatrick, a missionary in India for the past seven years, her audience, eagerly interested C. G. I. T. girls, meeting under the auspices of the London Girls' Cabinet, and the rich saree, the gift of the girls in her school to Miss Kilpatrick before she left to come home on furlough.

The fascinating and vividly-gripping stories she told implied an emphatic affirmative to the three closely-related queries she raised in opening her address.

"In the midst of the story-telling, 'You see,' said the young missionary, 'how schools, hospitals and the Bible all get mixed up there in giving the message that Jesus loves.'"

Wanted Look of Love.
Miss Kilpatrick's own particular field of service was in a school which grew in the years she was there from an attendance of twelve to 150, 80 girls, 40 boys and 30 babies. Of these, one-third were from outside villages, one-third little waifs and strays of humanity that had been taken in when parents or guardians died of famine or plague, especially the terrible influenza. The other third were ordinary boarders, children of parents who were second or third generation Christians.

A young Hindoo widow sought baptism, stating that she had been led to seek Christianity because of the expression of love on the faces of the children of the school, an expression missing in the faces of other Hindoo girls. She wanted that look of love for herself and her boys.

Many of the children had known by bitter experience what it meant to be hungry practically every day. "It is a touching thing to hear them say in India, not as we do, 'Give us this day our daily bread,' but, 'give us a full day's bread,' said the speaker.

When the news came, day after day, to the school, of the famine in China, the pupils revealed their understanding sympathy and spirit of service by requesting that they be allowed to help. They had little money to give. The head of the school devised ways by which they might make money. Still they were not satisfied. They petitioned that they might, themselves, be allowed to live on bread and water for a month and to use the money for the poor and other extras for them to be sent to feed the Chinese famine children.

"We have self-government in our school," Miss Kilpatrick told her audience, made up largely of school girls.

"You see, we are all for self-government in India. The older pupils form the council and administer punishment and mete out rewards, and so on. Amusing incidents of this were related, incidents revealing a very close kinship between the girls and boys of India and those of Canada."

Sacrifice For Famine Sufferers.
The girls, she stated and illustrated, are full of fond of sport, braving, have "officially" retained memories," when compared to Canadians, have great dramatic instinct, and love to stage everything.

The incident of the Chinese famine was an illustration of their responsiveness. Another, which also told of rarely fine feeling and instinctive good manners, was related by the speaker, an experience of her own. Telegrams frequently arrived in connection with missionary work, but during the war years, when the young missionary's only brother was on service, the messenger might at any time be bringing a dread cable instead of a business telegram.

"Though I quaked as I saw the boy coming," stated Miss Kilpatrick, "there was no need of my leaving the room until I read the message. The children, as one, dropped their eyes and did not raise them until I had finished reading what the yellow slip contained. Is it worth while to work and to represent Jesus to such responsive children as these?"

Miss Dorothy Wilson, president of the girls' cabinet, presided in a capable manner, and at the close of the meeting the girls crowded around Miss Kilpatrick to see curios she had brought from India.

BREAKS ANKLE IN FALL ON ICE

As she was on her way home from Chalmers' Presbyterian Church, Sunday evening, Miss Mabel Shepherd of Simcoe street slipped on the icy sidewalk, breaking her ankle.

Miss Shepherd was taken to Victoria Hospital as quickly as aid could be summoned. Dr. Black rendered medical attention. Late Sunday evening she was reported as doing nicely.

AS YOU GROW OLDER

Does your work tire your eyes? As you grow older will your eyes be in condition to do the same kind and quality of work as at present? It is a question of whether you look after your eyes now. Beware of eyestrain! At the first signs of blurred vision or dizziness, call and have them looked after by a thoroughly experienced optometrist of 16 years' experience. F. Your Income Tax

The Fourth of a Series of Five Articles.

More specimen income tax cases are cited and solved today in the following answers given to the questions below by John W. Plewes, assistant tax inspector for London district. Are any of these similar to your case?

Question 29—An unmarried individual receives during the year salary amounting to $900, dividends, $300, and insurance from his father's death of $5,000. Should he file a return?

Answer—The insurance is not taxable and need not appear on the return. His net income, however, is $1,200, and he must file a return. As the dividends are not subject to normal tax this leaves only $900 subject to normal tax, and his personal exemption is $1,000; therefore he has no tax to pay.

Q. 30—What is the basis of determining gain or loss from the sale of purchased property?

Q. (1) With respect to property purchased since Jan. 1, 1917, the basis is its cost. The difference between its sale price is either gain or loss.

(2) With respect to property purchased prior to Jan. 1, 1917, the fair market value at the date of purchase is the basis. The following examples illustrate how this basis is applied:

Where Jan. 1, 1917, value is greater than cost and less than sale price:
Property cost $1,000.00
Jan. 1, 1917, value 1,500.00
Sold subsequent to Jan. 1, 1917, for 1,700.00

Actual gain $ 700.00
Taxable gain (excess of sale price over Jan. 1, 1917, value), $200.

Where Jan. 1, 1917, value is less than cost, but greater than sale price:
Property cost $1,000.00
Jan. 1, 1917, value 1,500.00
Sold subsequent to Jan. 1, 1917, for 1,200.00

Actual gain 200 which gain is not returnable, as sale price is less than Jan. 1, 1917, value; therefore, no taxable gain accrued since that date.

Where Jan. 1, 1917, value is less than cost and less than sale price:
Property cost $1,000.00
Jan. 1, 1917, value 600.00
Sold subsequent to Jan. 1, 1917, for 800.00

Actual loss $ 200 which loss is not deductible, as such loss did not accrue since Jan. 1, 1917.

Q. 31. Why does the date Jan. 1, 1917, govern the basis?

A.—As this was the effective date of other income tax gains accumulated prior to that date, are not taxed, and likewise losses accumulated prior to that date are not allowable deductions.

Q. 32. What is meant by a class "A" income and a class "B" income?
A.—Class "A" income comprises your earned income, or your earnings from your profession, business or occupation. This income is reported in item Nos. 1, 2 and 4, on page 2 of your income tax report.

Class "B" income is your income from investments. If, however, you are a capitalist and your entire income is from all your income is termed Class "A."

Q.—How does this affect my tax?
A.—If your carrying charges and expenses in connection with your investments are greater than your net income, your class "B" income is deducted from your return, and your tax calculated on your class "A" income only.

For instance: If you received $3,000 from salaries, business or profession, this is your class "A" income. If you received $500 from rentals or interest on mortgages or dividends and carried charges, expenses, taxes, etc., on your class "B" income amounts to $500, the class "B" deficit of $500 is not allowed as a deduction from your class "A" income. You will be taxed on the $3,000 class "A" income, less your exemption of $1,000, or $2,000.

Q. 33. What is meant by net loss?
A.—This is a loss resulting from the operation of a trade or business, regularly carried on by the taxpayer, including loss in disposing of any of the capital assets of the business. The amount of this "net loss" may be deducted from the net income that excess may be deducted from the net income of the succeeding year.

Note Question 16 in Saturday's stated that personal living and family expenses were allowable deductions. This is an error, as such is not the case.

DEMANDS ANTIDOTE FOR WORLD DECAY

ted through by the lure of money," he said. "It is rotten and cries to heaven. The athlete must get something out of it. It is a very serious matter for a Christian to lose his savor. There is a time to dance and a time not to dance. My contention is that the latter time is now, when the world is on fire with more broken hearts and starvation than during the war."

"I do not think we should fiddle away our time and health now. We should be on the job to build up a broken world. Let's go to it and maintain our forces. The world is suffering from jangled nerves, and I do not think the dance helps it."

Appeals for Fair Play.
"I understand there is opposition to a dance in our high school. My own notion is that it is a poor place to start as it is to be well supervised by true Christian men. I pity the young man of today. If the girls ever expect to get married they had better shut down on dances because the young man will never have enough money to propose. I am in favor of courtship on the square."

"My contention is that all the world is off the track with all wheels off. This is no time to dance. Give us some salt, but not too much, which is as bad as too little. Let's play the game according to the standard of Jesus." Mr. McIntosh concluded with the plea that more interest be stimulated in the home and church as a betterment for present world conditions.

RED CROSS WILL ISSUE REPORT

peace, are still paying the terrible penalty of war. The tuberculous soldiers at Byron, the crippled and sick at Victoria, the pathetic victims of shell-shock who are being mercifully and skillfully helped back to normal health at Westminster—all of these our visitors bring comfort and good cheer, and though the numbers have greatly decreased, and many requisitions lessened, as conditions made the requirements of the soldier patients less, the Red Cross tries humbly to still carry on this work as it did during the war in a spirit of generosity and love.

Further Peace Policy.
By careful management we hope that this fund will enable us to carry on this work for several years still and, possibly, for as long as it is necessary and, unquestionably, as long as there are soldier-patients in the hospitals of this district the main work of this branch will be done for their benefit.

But the local branch is also actively engaged in furthering the peace policy of the Canadian Red Cross. With the cessation of hostilities it had been felt that the huge organization of the society which the world war had made necessary could be made a valuable asset in furthering the cause of public health, and by an act of parliament in 1920 the charter was enlarged in order to include all activities which might be beneficial to the health of the community. From a "Special Fund" which includes fees, and all contributions to the society from every source, except the subscriptions to the campaign fund in January 1919, we have been enabled to make several valuable contributions to this cause. We established and financed for its initial year at a total cost of $4,500 the day nursery which has proved both a necessity and a boon to working mothers. We are helping to finance at a cost to the society of $2,000 a year for three years the valuable course in public health nursing which Doctor Hill inaugurated in 1920 at the Western University similar to the one begun at the same time at the University of Toronto. We contributed $3,375 to the building fund of the new Children's memorial hospital through the united welfare fund in 1920.

There have been complaints that as the Red Cross funds were subscribed for returned men in general, they should be dispensed not only to soldiers in need of medical aid, but also those who though fit, yet through unemployment are in dire straits. Of this matter the issued statement sets forth an explanation.

"For relief work among the families of returned soldiers we have contributed since the war ended the total sum of $8,500, viz., $2,500 in 1919; $3,500 in 1920 and $2,500 in 1921.

Outside Scope of Work.
"Economic relief in any form is entirely outside the scope of Red Cross activities and is not included under either the original charter or the enlarged one. These contributions, therefore, amounting to $8,500, a sum which has seriously depleted our "Special Fund," but which has been totally inadequate for the purpose of relief-work among soldiers' dependants, have been in the nature of an attempt by our branch to give temporary help in this serious problem until the whole question could be placed upon a better basis.

"If, after three and a half years of peace, unemployment, and other economic reasons are making living conditions for many of our returned soldiers and their families so difficult that relief work among them on a large scale is still necessary and even imperative, the time has undoubtedly come when this whole problem should be solved."

"It is not a problem for the Red Cross Society. Our first and chief interest is, and always will be, in our soldiers—for them we have work to do and we pledge ourselves not to fail in it—but this other problem is one for the city and the province and the Dominion. The government has recognized this definitely, and under their just decision to refund 75 per cent of all money incurred in extending relief to unemployed veterans (federal 50 per cent, provincial 25 per cent, our municipalities have a splendid opportunity to put this whole matter on a basis that will be fair to our soldiers and a credit to the honor of Canada."

PLACE COLORS OF BATTALION IN CITY CHURCH

70th Veterans Return Regimental Standards to Cronyn Memorial Altar.

SERVICE IN PEACE URGED

Rev. Quintin Warner Appeals
For Effort To Create Divine Kingdom.

Sunday morning the colors of the 70th Battalion, C. E. F., which were organized in this city during the war, were deposited in Cronyn Memorial Church following a re-union of the battalion Saturday night.

The services opened with Lieut.-Col. R. I. Towers, officer commanding, reading three times on the door of the church with the light of his sword.

Warden Edwin Smith—"Who comes here?"

Lieut.-Col. Towers—"The officer commanding the 70th Battalion, C. E. F., desires to inform the authorities of this church that he is repaired here today with the old colors of the 70th Battalion, C. E. F., and desires admission to place them in the safe-keeping of this church."

Rev. Quintin Warner—"Admit them, that every facility may be afforded them in the execution of their most laudable purpose."

Then followed the processional hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

Lieut.-Col. Towers—"Reverend Sir, on behalf of the 70th Battalion, C. E. F., I hereby present to you these colors for safe-keeping in this house of God."

Rev. Mr. Warner—"On behalf of the congregation of the Cronyn Memorial Church, I accept these colors at your hands for safe-keeping in this church, where they shall remain a perpetual memorial and emblem of the loyalty and devotion which all true citizens owe their king, their country and their God."

Wrote in Westminster.

And so the colors of the 70th Battalion were deposited in Cronyn Memorial Church. During the war they were deposited in Westminster Abbey, London, England, but were brought back to Canada when the battalion returned from overseas.

Following the presentation of the colors to Rev. Mr. Warner, and after they had been placed at the altar, the first verse of the National Anthem was sung. Rev. Mr. Warner then led in prayer and "O Canada" was sung.

Rev. Mr. Warner chose for the text of his sermon the 9th verse of the 5th Chapter of St. Matthew. Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God.

In his opening remarks he declared it was a great honor to have the colors of the 70th Battalion deposited in the edifice. "Many of you worshipped here while you were in training," he asserted, "and we are glad to have you back."

"A service of this kind must create many serious things. First, what do we mean by depositing the colors? There are two natural impressions. The colors are resting, they are put in safe-keeping. They are done with, they played their part during the war and now they must rest. They are placed in the most prominent position in the church. This is the greatest distinction. Nothing more can matter."

Must Create Peace.

"Many will interpret this whole service wrong. By doing this is the only way we can remember the fine elements of the war. Canada produces a splendid quality of men. The war showed them up, and now we must not forget them. Everything that was of great value during the war is of greater value now that it is over. But to do this there must be struggle. Peace must be made, created, carved out of the rough passions of people. We must make it, and not wait for it to come. It requires the finest of men. Soldiering is not a personal profit, but it is a necessary means for the righting of wrong. If it is necessary to fight and shed blood we will do it. This was the spirit that won the war. Don't imagine that in disarmament that struggle is over. Struggle will never cease. We may stop killing people and ruining property. If we do, we will go back to the joy-loving people we were at the beginning of the war. But the greatest thing we can do with a little intense effort is to create a little more of the kingdom of God."

Peace an Active Service.

"The greatest difficulty in the days of peace is to get into man the spirit and enthusiasm he had during war. Blessed are they that make peace, for they are in the most active kind of service. They are the ones who will be picked out as the most divine thing we can lay claim to. We are not all here together today. Some could not join us because they are separated from the battalion in far parts of the world. The spirit that made men give their lives cannot die. The spirit of comradeship still lives in the men who are not with us."

The speaker closed his address by saying: "Blessed are they who make peace for God, and the world will recognize them as sons of God."

The music in connection with the service was most appropriate. The Royal Canadian Regiment and band accompanied the battalion. During the offertory the hand played "Andante Cantabile," by Tchaikovsky, and at the conclusion of this the choir sang, unaccompanied, the anthem "Souls of the Righteous," by Tertius Noble.

EXPOUNDS VALUE OF PSYCHOLOGY

"The Value of Psychology" was the subject of an address by Francis Watts before the members of the Unity New-Thought Society in De-Leon Hall, Higgins block, Sunday afternoon.

The importance of the study and practice of psychology was emphasized by Mr. Watts who claimed that many problems and worries, great and small, might be easily avoided in life and greater health and happiness enjoyed. If men and women would maintain a constructive, cheerful, and consequently more resourceful attitude towards the world, society and all external things.

Psychology enabled men to understand better both themselves and their fellowmen. Even a rudimentary knowledge of psychology, he claimed, would go a long way towards solving many social and other problems which appeared to destroy the harmony of the world today.

The affirmations and inspirational readings which form part of the services of New-Thought Societies, were led by the president, Dr. Hedley V. Caton.

URGES DEEPER DEVOTION FOR TASKS OF LIFE

W. E. Bilheimer Would Feed
Indolent On Bread and

ADDRESSES ROTARIANS

Appeals to Club Men to Take Interest in Boy
Welfare.

A plea for men to put every effort into their life work as the only solution of the present turmoil of the world was addressed to members of the Rotary Club at luncheon Monday by W. E. Bilheimer of St. Louis. Possessing gifted oratorical powers which greatly impressed his audience, Mr. Bilheimer appealed to the businessmen present to "accomplish something."

"Championship Stuff" was the subject of the address, and in his opening remarks the speaker announced that he would speak to the Rotarians present "as strong, red-blooded men interested in building up the world."

"There are two kinds of people in the world, and two kinds only," said Mr. Bilheimer. "Not the rich and poor, but the people who lift, and the people who lean. In which class are you?"

He then appealed to the Rotarians to interest themselves in the boys of the community and endeavor to better their respective futures.

Boys Are Material.

"Boys are the only raw material in the world from which you can make a man," he continued. "There is no better thing in life for a man to do than to write his name across the heart of a boy. You have boys in your community upon whose heads you can write your name, and it will last a whole lot longer than any fancy advertising that you can get on a tombstone. Plan for them. It is a simple thing; a thing that brings much happiness."

"No man has a real birthday until the day he finds himself. In every man there is a ton of championship stuff, but it is touched by a spark. The world needs championship stuff today as never before in its history. It has plenty of men but needs more men stuff. Whenever a man can lose a hard-fought game and turn around and congratulate the man who caused him to lose it, that man has championship stuff."

"If you can turn around to the man who beats you fair and square in business, and congratulate him, that's championship stuff. If men had more of it today the business of the world would not be so bad. There would not be such a thing as bad business. This world is all right."

Deplores Panic Talk.

"I have no patience with the man who walks up and down the world crying hard times, with the man who will not work, and who only got out of the war, a silk shirt. I was asked in Cleveland what I would do to take them down to the shore of the Atlantic, give them bread and water, and tell them to go home or to hell, and let their conscience be their guide."

"A man to live must have a passion," concluded Mr. Bilheimer, who illustrated his point by several illustrations of world incidents, depicting the results attained by development of "championship stuff." "Many prance up and down like they were going somewhere, but never go anywhere. There are both kinds in every community. Get your strength for opportunity by pulling at the hard tasks day by day."

"The man who does his life work well shall leave behind him influences for good that shall last longer than the sands that are yet to pass through the hour-glass of time. That man will know the world better because he has lived."

During the luncheon, Rotarian W. E. Saunders related a humorous story, and President Wendell acted as chairman.

300 VETERANS OF BATTALION HOLD REUNION

Officers and Men of 70th Overseas Unit Review
War Experiences.

MADE BRILLIANT RECORD

Lieut.-Col. Towers Lauds Heroism of Soldiers He Led in France.

More than 300 veterans of the 70th Battalion journeyed from all parts of Western Ontario Saturday to attend the second reunion held by the unit in the Masonic Hall.

Many were the acquaintances renewed among the officers and men, some of whom had not met for several years, and the experiences since that time reviewed.

The contingent from Windsor numbered about 80, while the other towns were well represented.

Lieut.-Col. R. I. Towers, commanding officer of the battalion, was received with loud applause when he addressed the men who had enlisted under him. The reason for holding the reunion, said the colonel, was for the express purpose of depositing the colors, presented to the battalion by the Sportsmen's Association, in the church that had been used for the regimental church parade when the battalion was in quarters at London during the training period. The reason that the colors had not been deposited on the former occasion of the battalion getting together was that they were still in England at Westminster Abbey, where they were placed while the men were in France.

Reviewed History.

This was the first opportunity that had presented itself and it was a great pleasure to come to London and meet the officers and men once more. The colonel reviewed the history of the battalion, saying that it was August, 1915, when recruiting commenced, and it left for overseas on April 24, 1916. During that time the number of men enlisted was 1,800, of which 500 were sent over as a special draft, one complete company sent to St. Thomas to form the basis of the 91st Battalion and the rest went to England as a battalion, and "the finest that ever left the shores of Canada," at least that was his opinion, said the colonel.

"I want the wives and lady friends of the members of the 70th present to know how proud I am of the men who made up the battalion. I never knew one of them to drink, or to play it low down; they played the game from start to finish," said Col. Towers.

Ranked Among Finest.

Major-General H. A. Panet spoke for a short time and said that he always thought of the 70th Battalion as ranking among the finest battalions raised in Canada. He outlined the work now being done throughout the province in recognizing the old militia units, and said that they did not expect the men who had played such a big part in the great war to join them, but they would like to look on them as their reserves.

Lieut.-Col. W. Beattie of the chaplain services, was called upon to address the meeting and said that the years spent overseas were years in which the chaplains had been able to get into touch with the lives of men. It had been the experience of the chaplains that they found that there was some good in the worst of men and some bad in the best.

After the speeches, a concert was held in the basement of the Masonic Temple, where all the old songs were revived and sung as the men used to sing them when out at rest in their billets. Refreshments were provided and a very enjoyable evening spent, which it was hoped by the men would be repeated every year.

Intoxicated Man Claims Alcohol He Had Was For External Use

Whether some pure alcohol of a drunk was for rubbing the outside instead of the inside of his "tummy" will be investigated by Chief of Police Robert Birrell, and Mr. Drunk will have to appear again in court Tuesday morning.

Monday he stated he had procured the alcohol on a permit from his doctor, and that he had used it according to directions. The chief, however, was not quite sure of this point and asked for a remand. The charge preferred is that of having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling, and if convicted the man is liable to a fine of $200 or three months in jail.

STREET RAILWAY
MEN TO FIGHT CUT

While the London street railway employees assert that at the present moment the next move should be by the company, they explain that should the company proceed to carry into effect its proposal to reduce wages March 1, certain action must be taken.

Monday morning John Colbert, president of the London Street Railwaymen's Union, stated that since the last move by the union events were practically at a standstill. He explained however, that should the company at the end of the month proceed to cut wages as announced, the matter would be taken to the courts by the employees.

Advertiser Features.

THE LONDON ADVERTISER has a feature that is unique in Canadian journalism, in its Cynthia Grey column. Western Ontario tells its troubles and its secrets to Cynthia Grey.

A family in distress is brought to the attention of Cynthia's host of friends—there is an immediate response and the need is looked after. A young girl wants the words or name of a song she heard some place. She tells Cynthia, and it is not very long before the words or music are forthcoming.

And seeds? Cynthia Grey handles enough samples and exchanges of seeds to start a young store in business. The Children's Hospital needs money, and the dimes and quarters and bills come to Cynthia.

Some fine, motherly person knows how to bake a cake that simply melts in the mouth and calls for a second helping. Others should know about this cake and just how it is put together. So this good motherly soul tells Cynthia, and Cynthia passes along the good word.

Up in the country a young girl has been wooed and won in the good, old-fashioned way. She is busy of course, on her green box or hope chest, or whatever they call them. She wants to know just how much she should have in the way of clothing, table linen, etc. Probably believes this is the only time she is going to get married. So she discloses the big secret to Cynthia, and Cynthia is all ears at once, and furnishes all the information and good wishes.

Just this week comes a letter from away up in the Peace River country, from a Western Ontario girl who has moved there with her parents. And through the Cynthia Grey columns in THE ADVERTISER she keeps in touch with all the things her friends are doing in this district.

It's real service to the readers—not silly, heart-throb material, but a get-together spot for the women and girl readers of THE ADVERTISER family.

East and West.

THIS PAPER has on more than one occasion referred to the fact that the surest way to build up Western Canada is to make it, as far as possible, a satisfactory place to live in, and one where the people who invest their money, brains and labor power can hope for a fair return.

THE ADVERTISER realizes that all classes and sections have their own problems, but at the same time we urge that the West presents the biggest claim right now, and there are plenty of concrete examples to prove it.

J. Woodward of Astwood, Sask., in sending in his subscription to MacLean's Magazine, writes the following letter:

Astwood, Sask.,
Jan. 27, 1922.
"No. 2 C.W. Oats is the principal crop in this district.
Threshing 8 c a bushel
Twine 1 1/2
Freight 9 1/2
Interest on capital invested, depreciation of machinery, taxes, labor costs, hauling to elevator.
Please figure this up for me

"Price to me at elevator, 24c
"I estimate I got clear 5c a bushel, after allowing for all these charges, so the $3 I am sending you herewith to renew my subscription to MacLean's represents to me 60 bushels of oats."

"Maybe next year you get the farm for my subscription."

"J. Woodward."
Fortunately that farmer has a sense of humor, but even that saving quality cannot possibly turn his farm into a gold mine under present circumstances.

Canada wants immigration. It has a wonderful acreage that has never been touched. The immigration that is going to help us is that which will go on the land when it reaches our shores.

But how can we expect a case like the above to be a magnet to draw others to the same business?

One might urge that it is foolishness to publish such material, as it is a bad advertisement for the country.

A plain statement of fact, favorable or unfavorable, is the only honest advertising any country dare do. It is for this reason that Alberta has made a mistake in not finding a seat in the cabinet for Hon. Mr. Stewart. The West has a big problem. Ottawa has a big government willing to do its best to bring in legislation that will help to remedy causes that bring about undesirable conditions.

If members from the industrial districts of Ontario can help solve the problem facing the West, they will be performing a great service for industrial Ontario, because a well-to-do Western Canada means a very large and willing buyer for the goods from the East.

Reasonable Security.

THE SESSION of the Ontario Legislature starts on Tuesday. Considerable speculation has been taking place as to the exact nature of the "blue sky" law that may be passed, and it is quite certain that no government under the sun can do the things that some of the boosters for such a law are claiming and advocating.

The Financial Post claims it is too much to look for legislation which will prevent the people from losing their money, nor do we want legislation which will discourage legitimate speculation in mining and oil development where there must always be an element of chance. What is particularly wanted is reasonable guarantee that money invested will be returned in actual development, and that there is no misrepresentation, and that if the project is successful the investor will share the profits. The best way to bring this about seems to be in the prompt prosecution of fraud; the improvement of the laws, if necessary, in that connection, and the appointment of a man with practical experience to guard the interests of investors.

The view of the Post is reasonable. All the legislative bodies in Canada could sit for a year and pass laws every day to protect the man with money that he wants to invest, and at the end of the year it would be found that money would be lost.

There is a new crop of people coming along all the time to whom the experience of others means nothing at all.

In the majority of cases, as soon as a man makes a lucky stab in the stock market, and walks out with a little easy money, he is at once transformed into a shrewd investor. Acting on this assumption, he proceeds to demonstrate how fast he can get rid of his wad.

If the Ontario Legislature can do something to make certain that the purchaser of stocks is getting a fair run for his money, and that the cash put up is used in an honest effort to develop a scheme that has some good reason to justify its existence, it will be doing very well.

Should Pay Way.

A RECENT bulletin, issued by the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada, a national citizen organization in affiliation with the Toronto Bureau of Municipal Research, takes the stand that a publicly-owned utility is paying its way when its revenue is sufficient to pay: Direct cost of operation, such as salaries and wages, heat, light and power, supplies other than heat, light and power, repairs and renewals of minor equipment.

Interest on borrowed capital and other fixed charges.

A reasonable amount for contingencies.

Depreciation on structures and major equipment.

Taxes on the same basis—no higher and no lower—as those which would be levied if such utility were privately owned.

The Wind Engine.

THAT THERE will be greater development in wind power in the future, is the contention of Edwin Newsum, in the Sanitary and Heating Journal, Toronto.

New types of wind engines are being brought out that are capable of developing large amounts of power at practically no cost at all, as far as fuel is concerned.

The unreliability of wind as a motive power is often urged, but those who have given close study to this question show some interesting figures for United States and Canada.

It is estimated that in Canada there is an average velocity of wind of 8 miles per hour for 5,000 to 6,000 hours per year, and approximately a 16-mile wind for about 3,000 hours, for roughly speaking, 10 hours per day. Wind power, it will be seen, is not, by any means, a power that should be overlooked.

Wind engines would be real converters of energy throughout the whole of the Dominion.

Windmills of the better type can operate in a wind blowing at 6 1/2 miles per hour. They can be used for every purpose where power is required. If a fair-sized engine were installed, and a generating unit fitted to the same, with storage batteries, it would then be possible to generate as much horse-power in electricity as horse-power by the wind engine, and the electric current could be used for both light, heat and power.

Here is a great source of power, open to all, penned up for none in particular. The wind-engine or wind-mill has gone past the experimental stage, and has already won its place.

LITTLE 'TISERS

They will have to hustle along with the Arbuckle case to make room for the next murder trial.

A number of townships, towns and cities are reporting fairly large tax arrears which shows beyond doubt that the tax payer is being ridden harder than he can stand.

An English actress says she divorced her husband because he was jealous of the large salary she earned. Moral: Don't marry a woman capable of earning a large salary.

A window "peeper" was brought in London court. The chief says he will apply for his deportation. There is small chance of the peeper type developing into a worth-while Canadian.

Some of the moonshine whiskey now made is so strong it will take ink stains off hardwood floors. Only trouble is that so many folks can't see the need or use of removing ink stains with it.

Wisconsin girls decide rather than not marry at all they would take a man with $2,500 a year. Dear Bless 'em, and a whole lot of them will fall for some dude with a pair of spats and $16.50 per week.

A mysterious story appears in a Toronto paper about the Ambrose Small case. Somebody has a mysterious letter from somebody else, and the contents are a dead secret. Interesting development, of course.

LLOYD GEORGE, according to reports, is on the horns of another dilemma. A brand new one this time. Said L. G. has been on the horns of many of these things in recent years, and always seems to land right side up and not much ruffled.

Reports indicate a willingness on the part of Australia to consider a tariff proposition with Canada. Why not? About a year ago Australia started building a tariff wall. Canada sells about $10,000,000 worth a year to Australia. Canada will be interested in what Australia has to propose in this regard.

This from the Ottawa Journal: "Specialists in anatomy may think differently, but Frederick O'Brien, author, quotes a South Sea Island cannibal chief as saying that a woman's neck makes the toughest eating."

We were just wondering if this epure was referring to before or since the hair was bobbed.

In the reorganization of the office of high commissioner for Canada in London, the idea uppermost should be that it is Canada's business office over there. Fortunately, P. C. LARSEN has been a successful businessman in his own line and no doubt will see that Canadians get value for their investment there in a very real way.

Commenting on the BUCHANAN case in Toronto, the Essex Free Press concludes it is about time people quit swallowing samples of pills and powders that are left at the door. The point is well taken. Some people seem to have a mania for stowing all sorts of pills, powders and quacks inside of them, without knowing what they are taking or whether or not it's good for what they think all this.

The five-year bonds of the 1917 issue of Victory Loan are coming due shortly, and may be retired by the issuing of others. There is quite an amount of available cash in the country at present and although the 1917 issues are tax free, it is likely that a bond, the interest on which would be taxable, could be disposed of readily. In this event the government would stand to gain by having the income from this issue as a source of taxation for income.

The charge is often made that a blunder at Washington becomes a blunder at Ottawa, meaning that Canadian officials have the fault of copying Washington methods. Right now rumors have it that the United States immigration plan will be followed which limits the number of immigrants of any nationality each year to 3 per cent of the number of said nationality already in the country. The plan has not given satisfaction in Washington.

The idea of a shortage of wood hardly comes to the brain of the average man as a thing likely to happen in an Ontario town, yet the Wingham Times of last week carries the following:

"A Times reporter dropped into an important business place on Tuesday morning and was told that the last stick was in the stove and unless a farmer brought in a load he would have to close up. Such is the effect of a week of storm and snow—ten feet deep, the farmers say."

READ YOUR CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

NO. 123—EXTRAVAGANT WRITING. Credit men ought to pay particular attention to the handwriting of their firms' customers, but mighty few of them do.

Not that it is always possible to tell from the writing of a man or woman whether he or she is extravagant and lacking in thrift, but that when you see a certain kind of writing you can make up your mind safely that the writer has these characteristics.

The kind of writing which betrays these tendencies is the kind that sprawls across the page. Usually, but not always, the letters are large. But whether they are or not, they are widely spaced, and the spacing between the words is also wide.

The credit man should watch such customers, not because they are dishonest. As a matter of fact, they are likely to be the opposite of this, and very good customers indeed. But they need watching, because they are continually in danger of "getting ahead of themselves" financially. They are too generous with themselves and others. They are not naturally thrifty, and though capable of thrift, they resort to it only when forced to. In short, they're likely to be a little too optimistic about their ability to pay everything for which they impulsively obligate themselves.

For the rest, they are alert and quick mentally, also impatient. They rebel the prospect of being confined by rules and regulations. They like to do things their own way and work out their own methods. They're inclined to be thoughtless and to lack mature judgment. They hate hard work, and as a result often possess what amounts to an admirable virtue, the ability to develop new ways of doing things which involve an economy of labor.

TO THE EDITOR

GO AHEAD SOUTHEAST LONDON. Editor Advertiser:

The excellent record already made in popular esteem by the public library branch inaugurated in the Bourne Block on the Hamilton road will be gratifying to those in charge and to the civic boards making provision for the service. Judging from the report recently published by The Advertiser, the patronage has surpassed anticipations both by adults and young folks.

On one of the afternoons devoted especially to the latter the room was found crowded to the door. Older patrons are showing a discriminating interest in the treasures of the book world found on the shelves, and it appears the problem will be to keep up the supply. Apart from recreation and the educational advantages of reading, the presence of the library where people often meet develops a community spirit in this rapidly-growing industrial and business part of the city. It will supplement public school work, which is a reminder of the growing need for school accommodation and increased playgrounds for pupils and park space for the people. In connection with out-of-doors recreation for summer the suggestion is also made that the time is now opportune for the commencement of a lawn bowling organization, with the necessary ground and equipment, for southeast London.

That this would be appreciated by businessmen and others seems a foregone conclusion, and besides being a wholesome recreation would develop a fine fraternal spirit and pride in the progress of this portion of the city. The suggestion has been received with favor, and all that appears necessary is to give the project an encouraging start to get the bowls a-rolling during the coming spring. London, Feb. 9, 1922. W. LIQUOR PRESCRIPTIONS.

Editor Advertiser: Sir—A few medical men have been loudly demanding the right to prescribe as much whiskey as they please. That might be reasonable if there was the slightest doubt of its being exceedingly harmful when used as medicine. But when doctors know that it lessens patients' chances of recovery, it is impossible to conceive why any honorable medical man should wish to prescribe it. There may be some who do not know, but ignorance is no excuse after all the investigations and discussions that have been taking place for years; when right in our province nearly a third of the doctors do not prescribe any; when eighty out of every hundred prescribe less than ten a month, a quantity so small as to justify the belief that they only do so under pressure from old patients and liquor addicts. Add to these the number who prescribe less than the law allows and it leaves a very few who show much desire to prescribe it. I think the evidence in the last report is sufficient to justify the belief that all but a very few would be glad if they were not allowed to prescribe it at all.

There is something wrong when a doctor charges a professional fee for merely signing his name to a form without examining his patient. There is something wrong when one says he had fifty or in some cases a thousand or more patients in a month all having the same disease, and all needing a quart of the same medicine for their cure. There is something wrong when a doctor with a previously small practice becomes wealthy signing these forms for intoxicating liquor, which even the British war office says increases liability to disease. There is something wrong when, after the people voting for

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL YOUR FOOD

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

WE are somewhat wont to minimize the responsibilities of the modern housewife and mother who is earnestly endeavoring to feed her family wisely from the standpoint both of health and economy. "What shall we have for dinner?" is the constant question.

Food is the most important of the necessities the home must provide. Without it, life cannot be sustained. With scanty provision normal growth is stunted. With abundance, it is possible to stuff the furnace so that the fires of life are choked with too much fuel.

By indiscreet and careless choice invaluable days of life may be lost due to minor, and oftentimes major, ailments.

Nature's great bank of energy is the sun, but it is impossible for us to get it directly from the sun in sufficient quantities. The sun's energy must first pass through a great clearing-house, the plant world, before it becomes available for human consumption.

Plant cells change light and heat into chemical energy and bind it with elements from the air and soil to make three great classes of energy-bearing substances man can use for his activities.

They are known as protein, fat and carbohydrates. These are the fuels in our food which supply energy to our bodies.

Gentlemen:—

In response to your request for an expression of our opinion as to the value of newspaper advertising, we are proud to be able to say that while The Imperial Life has used only a small amount of newspaper space, and that all within the past eight years, there is abundant evidence to show that this advertising has been a factor of no little importance in establishing for this Company the prestige and goodwill which it enjoys.

Yours very truly,

Everyone Is Welcome at Any of These Churches On the Sabbath Day

Challenges Claim That Peter Was First Roman Catholic Head

Rev. W. L. Armitage, in Sunday Evening Sermon, Takes Exception to Newspaper Heading That "The Mantle of St. Peter Falls Upon Cardinal Ratti."

"I speak concerning Christ and His church," Ephesians 5:32, was the text upon which the Rev. W. L. Armitage based his sermon Sunday evening in St. James' Church. His topic was in reference to a newspaper heading, "The Mantle of St. Peter Falls Upon Cardinal Ratti." The speaker declared it was an erroneous claim, and proceeded to show why he made such assertion. His first disclaimer was that there is no need for a visible head as the head of the church was Jesus Christ. In addition to this, the greatest branch of the church is that part now invisible, which consists of all the saints who have died since the Christian church was founded. The preacher met the claims of the Romanists, based on the text found in St. Matthew 16:18-19: "Thou art Peter," etc., explaining that the rock upon which Christ would build His church was the fact of Himself being "the Christ, the son of the living God," which is Peter's answer to Christ's question put to him previously, both question and answer being found in verses 15 and 16, respectively.

The keys to Peter were the authority to open the kingdom of God to the Gentiles when he preached his powerful sermon on Pentecost day, and being used of God to show Cornelius the way into the kingdom of God. Acts, chapters 2 and 10.

Was Vacillating Character. Peter was of a vacillating character in so much that St. Paul later on rebuked him for leaning to the Jews when they found fault with him for going in and eating with Gentile converts, because they were not circumcised. After the Jews found fault with him for it he withdrew himself from them, showing his weakness.

When the disciples wanted to know which was the greatest among them, Jesus took a child and placed him in their midst and said: "Whoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child the same is the greatest." There is no intimation given by or to the apostles of Peter's superiority, neither do the writings of the early fathers of the church. When Philip in Samaria had done great work, the apostles at Jerusalem did not give the order. Peter's own writings lay no claim to superiority of position. He calls himself an elder and refers to Jesus Christ as the Chief Shepherd.

No Proof Furnished. The pastor stated there is no proof that St. Peter ever was bishop of Rome. Ten years before the death of St. Peter, St. Paul wrote the epistle to the Romans contained in our Bible, and no reference is made to a head of the church. When St. Paul reached Rome two years later he called the elders of the Jews together for conference. No mention of Peter is made. The claim that St. Peter moved his see from Antioch

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE
Take Salts To Flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach aches, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delicious effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

DECLARES MIND TO BE SOURCE OF PAIN

Prof. E. Wood of India Delivers Talk at Theosophical Society.

That the human mind is the source of all pain, was the keynote of an address delivered before a meeting of the Theosophical Society on Sunday by Prof. Ernest Wood of the Sind National College, Hyderabad, India.

"Speaking on the subject, 'Pleasure Pain and Happiness,' Prof. Wood drew a comparison between men and animals. Animals who have no imagination, who do not dwell on pain or anticipate it, are comparatively happy. After satisfying the appetite, a sheep will sleep, but man, worrying about the past, present and future, stimulating his appetite by means of the mind, thereby brings more pain and sorrow upon himself.

In India all philosophies deal with the mind rather than with the body, as did also the ancient Greek and Roman philosophy.

The Epicurean said, 'Silence the mind, live in the present. Do not poison the present with thought of either past or future.' They believed that happiness could be gained only by silencing the mind.

Fundamentally a philosophy of this sort is equal to resorting to drugs or drinks to silence the mind. Both take us back to the animal state.

Source of Happiness. The Stoic battled with this attitude and maintained that as well as being the source of pain, the mind is also the source of happiness. By making the body subservient to the mind they believed that they could not only avoid pain, but bring upon themselves happiness. By a judicious stopping of the mind in certain directions only, the Stoics brought their philosophy to a very high degree of perfection.

Platonic philosophy tended toward a greater development of the mind, having as its goal a state of mind which would closely resemble that of a god, excluding nothing. In contact with the world, with beauty, truth, law, the mind grows and growing develops happiness.

Modern religion has a tendency towards consolation, teaching man to ignore his goal as of this world, to ignore all to heaven. Christ included sorrow in life as well as the happiness of looking toward the life eternal. The mind must experience every phase of life and use its own power to surmount the difficulties in order to reach the perfect condition.

Buddha wandered over the face of the earth, looking for a solution of the problem of pain, and reached illumination in the perfection of the mind.

Manifest in Pleasure. In the lives of the greatest of the human race there is no shirking or shrinking from life in its every phase. God manifests Himself in pleasure and pain, and though man might have, as a savage, prayed to God to release him from his disabilities, faced with dangers and problems he has used the power of his mind, and therefore stands now master of the world. This is God's world, and His power and love is working always, and the saint who believes in the true love of God and the scientist who puts his faith in the laws of God are equally rational. In a combination of devotion and understanding pain vanishes, resentment goes and peace of mind returns with wisdom.

REV. KELLY TALKS ON SCHOOL DANCE

In discussing Sunday night: "What Start Should a Father Give His Boy in Life?" Rev. M. Kelly, of the First Congregational Church, referred to education as one of the things that any boy might lay a just claim to, if he is to successfully face life. Of course, there are many men in history who have been eminently successful who have been denied attendance at any institution, said the minister, but that does not mean that they were wholly without education. "Such are only too ready to admit the handicap from which they suffer, and to acknowledge the aid of a 'sideline success.'"

Education means the exercise of the mental faculties in a way as to develop and render efficient the natural powers, the object of true education is not the storing of facts in the mind with facts and figures, it is the production of character in the student, the enrichment and development of his personality, Mr. Kelly said.

During the recent controversy over dancing at the opening of the new collegiate institute one of the students is reported as saying: "We are going to dance anyway." If we do not dance supervised, then we will dance without supervision." The statement was made prior to the action of the board of education when that body decided in favor of dancing, said the pastor. "This does not reveal the kind of spirit we might expect in an institution of learning such as our collegiate. There is at least, a suggestion of defiance or insubordination which does not seem to be in keeping with a spirit that has been disciplined by education."

One of the very first things that a man must learn in life if he ever expects to successfully lead others, is obedience for Solomon said: "He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty, and he that taketh a spirit better than he that taketh a city." Mr. Kelly asserted. If we all insist on having our own way nationally, society would be impossible. Democracy must teach us the value of accepting constitutional authority and faithfully carrying it out whether it is pleasing to us or not.

Detriot Pastor Extols Great Opportunities of Youth Today

Basing his subject, "Living Stones," on the fifth verse of the second chapter of I Peter, the pastor, Rev. A. E. M. Thompson, at the morning service at Centennial Church, depicted the building up of Christianity in a novel, illustrative way.

"In the construction of the temple," began the pastor, "David rejected a stone because of its shape being unsuitable to the immediate purpose; yet this very stone later was found of very great use in a different position." The pastor then proceeded to apply this to human lives.

"Again," continued Mr. Thompson, "the Jews regard Christianity as unstable because of their being no central temple. The answer to this comes at once: the individual beings in the Kingdom of God are the stones and the material combined that go to make up Christianity, the latter being the temple."

Then in a series of steps the speaker proceeded to build up, as it were, the Kingdom, stressing in turn the points—preparation, cleanliness and proper ideals. After dwelling at length on these phases he brought all to an impressive climax in his outline of the piecing of the temple.

The choir under the able direction of Bert Weir rendered the anthem, "The Roseate Hues of Early Dawn," by Marks. Mrs. A. E. Hayward sang with rich quality and pleasing volume the solo, "Abide With Me."

Dr. Healey Speaks. At the evening service the Rev. Dr. Healey of Detroit, welcomed by a large crowd in spite of the inclement weather, spoke on the text, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth," taken from Ecclesiastes, xlii:1.

Although the method of application of this passage was not made

URGES RESPECT FOR HOLY NAME

Sunday being the monthly Holy Name Sunday for the different branches of the society in the city, Father Brennan, the speaker at St. Peter's Cathedral chose the second commandment, "Thou shalt not take the name of God in vain," as the subject for his sermon.

The speaker first touched upon the veneration, respect and adoration for the Holy Name that has been shown throughout ages, right from the time of the apostles. But there were those who were continually using the name of God in a way which violated his commandment. Many said it thoughtlessly, many habit, but this did not excuse them.

There was an obligation on all to avoid sin and those who make it a habit of using the name of God in vain were in duty bound to take all steps and necessary means to destroy such a habit, said the speaker.

Will Power Needed. Father Brennan said that the exercise of will power was necessary, and he cautioned habitual offenders against the name of God, to examine their consciences and to follow its dictates whenever temptation beset them. Blaspheming and cursing are the language of hell, he declared.

It is the only act of faith of those who had an ample means for the salvation of their souls but did not take advantage of it, he said.

The speaker told his hearers that if they gave one-hundredth part of the attention which they gave to worldly affairs, the habit of taking the name of God in vain would soon be wiped out. A defect in a business, if not corrected, will ruin the business. With one's spiritual life it was the same. Evil must be rooted out or failure must be faced. It was necessary to prove stronger than temptation, more powerful than habit. He admonished his hearers to frequent the sacraments and fortify themselves in the grace of God and in this way remove the evils from their lives. Persuading they would soon find themselves able to express their thoughts intelligently to human beings without offending God.

At the 8:30 mass in the different churches the Holy Name Societies attended for their monthly communion. A good attendance was recorded at each church.

Refers to Father Wiley Rev. Father McLaughlin, the speaker at Redemptorist Church, St. Patrick's, Dundas street, east, touched upon the death during the past week of Father Wiley in New York city. Until a week or so ago Father Wiley was stationed at St. Patrick's.

STRESSES VALUE OF RIGHT ATTITUDE

Rev. Basil Thompson Claims Environment Not Main Life Factor.

Taking his text from the 24th verse, 9th chapter of St. Luke, "Whosoever shall save his life shall lose it," Rev. Basil Thompson, M. A., of Trinity Church, Toronto, preached an inspiring sermon entitled, "Gain Through Loss."

Mr. Thompson in the course of his sermon declared that this utterance of Jesus Christ would seem absurd to the ordinary man. A man could not save his life by losing it. But nevertheless it is true. There is one voice in human lives that is forever seeking utterance; it is the voice of the spirit.

The speaker believed that man was not brought to his fullest maturity or development by having ideals in the clouds. Men make their souls as they save their souls. It is only by having to do with the hard, ordinary, cruel things of everyday life that men can build the golden stairs that lead them up to achievement and the realization of their holy selves.

Right Attitude Counts. Mr. Thompson declared that it was not one's environment that determined one's destiny. It is the attitude that is assumed towards the environment that really counts. This is portrayed in the lives of two men starting out in identical circumstances and having the same opportunity, yet one will land up on the scrap heap and the other will reach to the highest pinnacle of success. It is not a case of whether one is born with a silver spoon in one's mouth or whether one is born in the slum that determines one's destiny, but it is whether one takes the right attitude towards life that counts.

The preacher said that when Jesus came to this life, he did not come to take the joy and ecstasy out of it, but to add joy and ecstasy to it, and if a man is going to have a more abundant life he must discover the great fundamental law of God. Jesus said, "Whoever would be great among you, let him be the least of all." No man will gain a larger life; no man will find added joy or peace, until he has learned the law of God, and the lesson of God to sink his own personality in the great current of humanity.

In this great struggle of life we all move up together. We cannot draw a circle around ourselves and say, let all the world go by. The higher a man climbs the higher he has to drag the world with him.

Save Someone Else. The speaker declared that one cannot save one's own soul unless he first save someone else. One is spiritually paralyzed until one has found the joy of bringing joy to someone else. Mr. Thompson declared it was a hard gospel to preach, but it was a harder one to practice. It is difficult because we have been taught wrongly. It has been said that man is instinctively selfish, but he is not when one goes down to the depths of his soul. He wants to share with others. Man's selfishness is gained through association.

Mr. Thompson declared that this utterance of Jesus Christ would seem absurd to the ordinary man. A man could not save his life by losing it. But nevertheless it is true. There is one voice in human lives that is forever seeking utterance; it is the voice of the spirit.

Rev. G. A. Lechlitter Preaches On "Redemption of the City"

In spite of the stormy weather, a large congregation gathered in Adelaide Street Baptist Church, where Rev. G. A. Lechlitter preached on "The Redemption of the City."

The text was chosen from Isaiah, xlii:12: "They shall call them, the holy people, the redeemed of the Lord, and thou shalt be called, sought out, a city not forsaken."

"This subject presupposes a condition that needs a radical change. The city is life and hope and defeat and righteousness and sin. The city weeps, laughs, labors and is burdened. The city lives, moves and has its being. The city is the ground of titanic battles fought and won or lost. The city is full of health and disease, full of faith and folly. Which is to predominate? That depends largely on us.

The redemption of the city will mean a high type of moral appreciation. We speak of soulless corporations, but not so the city. The corporation may express itself in the flywheels of production, the crank of the loom, etc., but the city expresses herself in a moving, breathing, laughing, sinning, sorrowing, dying crowd pressed by all the demands of an extraordinary generation.

Full of Distress. The city is individual life, sometimes full of distress and bewilderment and again full of buoyant hope. When populations move the city ceases to be.

So the redemption of the city is simply the problem of individual redemption. If morals are to be high for the city they must be high for the

CLAIMS POWER IS NEEDED IN CHURCH

Prof. Campbell of McMaster University, was the speaker at both services at Talbot Street Baptist Church on Sunday. "Power Needed" was the subject around which he built a forceful address in the morning.

"The spiritual atmosphere of any church depends on the people who go there. It is a distinct command of God that Christian people should be filled with the Holy Spirit. It is not even optional," urged the speaker. "At college we have optional subjects, but as far as the Christian is concerned, he has no option if he desires to follow His Master. It means all, the deacons, the pastor, the choir and the members. If you are not filled with the spirit of God you cannot do the work God wants you to do. When Paul wrote his letters he was filled with the Holy Spirit, and his letters live today as a result."

Prof. Campbell also claimed that there is no such thing as a once-for-all filling; it must be done again and again. Peter never knew the Master fully, nor did Peter do his greatest work until he was filled with the Holy Spirit. Power is what is needed in Christian work today, not education. The filling of the spirit gives that power, and it makes one sensitive to sin, or even the atmosphere of sin. Once a young life is filled with the spirit, there will be no need to ask "Shall I do this, or shall I go there?" It gives the power to resist and overcome all forces of evil, external and internal—in short, it is the secret to the triumphant life. Paul knew all about the battles he had with the flesh when he cried out "Wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me from sin and death?" But Paul learned, as thousands of others have learned, that when man comes to the end of his own power it gives God a chance to step in and go ahead. When Christ died on the cross He intended that His followers should live the victorious life.

In a Christian life there will be mistakes, but not a constant atmosphere of sin. "Sin shall not have dominion over you." The filling of a life with the spirit means control over sin, over the tongue, the temper and every evil passion.

Seeing Week-End Market With Aunt Maria's Eyes

The week-end market, despite the rain and pools of water, was making a brave attempt on Saturday to look gay and spring-like. From one inviting section of the open pavilion was wafted the perfume of spring flowers, which risked a chilling by standing right out in the open, unprotected even by a mantle of paper. There were fascinating pots of aquat Dutch tulips, gay parrots at that. In more low pots golden daffodillies nodded their golden heads among their "Moses-in-the-bushes" foliage. There were masses of exotically-perfumed freesias and hyacinths, pots of hyacinths a-bloom, and less distinctively seasonable, but scarcely less attractive, pots of brilliant-hued cyclamens. It paid to have one of these outdoor offerings wrapped up in a newspaper to carry home, they were so gratifyingly reasonable with regard to price. The tulips that positively looked as if they were chuckling, could be purchased for 35 cents a pot, the daffodills for the same amount.

Rhubarb was to be found in quantities, water-cress, 10 cents a bunch, lettuce, celery, for which the season is nearing the end. Sound, firm cabbages were 10 cents for the small, 20 cents for the big; beets, turnips, carrots, about the same as the previous week. And still the elusive parsnip was hard to find. Must be a hardy plant, judging from the statement of one market gardener. "We are going to dig up our parsnips and satisfy now and bring into market. In the ground all winter? Sure. And it will start to sprout, that is, the parsnips, if we don't get 'em out. They would grow this weather."

Churns and Hens Busy.
The hens of London district apparently had worked overtime during the preceding week, judging by the baskets, the shoals of eggs. These eggs proved real shoals in a number of cases to wreck the hopes of getting away early of the people who had brought them to market. The prices asked were pretty uniformly 45 cents a dozen, though some dealers were firm about getting 50 cents, while others who declared their eggs were strictly fresh, expressed a willingness to part with them at 40 cents.

Butter ranged in price from 35 cents to 50 cents for pound rolls, according to who was selling. Like the hens, the churns apparently had been imbued with a spirit of unwonted industry.

Not for some weeks had so much poultry been on exhibition. The range of prices was greater than on any other Saturday in months. A very worth-while fowl could have been purchased for $1; several for $1.10, $1.15, $1.25. A favorite price asked was $1.75. But, in paying the price, it was just as well to look before deciding. One excellent bargain was a plump bird, a bird that answered all the requirements for "choice chicken." It felt as if it weighed what the farmer said it did, seven pounds. The price he asked was $1.75. Birds weighing less and not presenting any better appearance were holding out for $2, $2.15 and as high as $2.50.

"Know what you want," and "look before you decide on your purchase" are two mottoes worth keeping in mind before going a marketing on a Saturday morning. But don't look too long before making up your mind. That seven-pound chicken, answered all the requirements for choice bird, wings beautifully picked and all, may be gone by the time you get back with your $1.75 in your hand, after inspecting every other poultry exhibit in sight.

Potatoes were $1.75 a bag. At least, that was the price asked where inquiries were made. And that was 10 or 15 cents more than the price that bought the nicest, big mealy potatoes the week before.

A few apples were in sight, 50 and 60 cents a basket. As high indeed as 75 cents a basket for Spies. "Oh, dear," sighed the housewife, who is a new visitor to the Saturday market, "it is so difficult to know what to buy at this time of the year." A basket of apples wouldn't go far in her family of boys, and as for variety in vegetables—she's just waiting for the day when she can get at her own garden.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

HAVE HAPPY SUBSTITUTE.
The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Southern Congregational Church arranged for a skating party for Thursday evening, but owing to the soft condition of the ice, were entertained instead at the home of Miss Claris, 343 Maitland street. About 35 members were present.

A Stitch in Time
Quick action is the only hope when kidney disease appears. There is a whole train of dreadfully painful and fatal ailments which soon follow any neglect to get the kidneys right. Among others are rheumatism, lumbago, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure.

In Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you will find a treatment which is both quick and thorough. Mr. C. E. Raymus, Lindale, Alta., writes:—

"I was a great sufferer from kidney disease and have back for more than a year. A friend of mine one day told me of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and acting upon his advice I tried them. After I had taken one box I felt better, so I continued until I had used five boxes. By this time I felt as well and strong as ever, and am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anyone suffering as I did."

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

SUCH A SCATTERED FAMILY!
Isn't it wonderful how diversified are our mail-box interests, how far and wide the members of our circle are scattered up and down throughout the length and breadth of Canada, away over in the United States, wherever "The Advertiser is read"? Doubtless, if we could take a wireless trip to China, Japan, India, we would find some friend of the Mail-Box turning first to the Cynthia Grey corner to see how friends were getting along in Canada.

Today we have Lonesome Lue to call upon us, all the way from that wonderful Peace River district which we have all heard so much about. I don't know how the rest of the Boxites feel about it, but to me it has always seemed like a region of romance where any kind of interesting things might happen. Wouldn't it be nice if Lonesome Lue would forget to be lonesome in writing to tell us more about the country and life up there?

Some place in the back of my mind there is a little bit of information pigeon-holed to the effect that wheat ripens earlier in the Peace River district than it does down around Edmonton. Is that true, Lonesome Lue? I believe the reason given for this was that there are long long days of direct sunshine in the summer months of the far-away north country. And someone predicted some years ago that some day another big city would be built 400 miles north of Edmonton.

To us who live down in the tropical region of London, where the mail-box letters are turned into print it seems almost unbelievable that such a thing is at all possible. Why, Edmonton seems almost like the North Pole, yet away beyond the capital of Alberta, one of our Boxites got all the benefit of our Christmas family reunion.

COMES FROM PEACE RIVER.
Dear Cynthia and All—I was very glad to see so many nice verses in the "Treasurer on Christmas." It was splendid to have a family reunion. Although I am a long distance away, I like to hear what is going on from those nearer. I hope you got the crochet edgings I returned. I found them very easy to do, so you have any more of hand please send them along, and I will return them as soon as I take the pattern off. How is the quilt getting along, and how much is bid on it? Oh, say, it was cold here Saturday and Sunday, 50 below zero.

LONESOME LUE.
It makes me cold to read your letter all the way from Peace River, Lonesome Lue. Why don't you write longer letters, and tell us more about your home, etc. I am sure it would be very interesting to hear all about your part of the country. Yes, I received the patterns, and am sending you more, which I hope will be equally as satisfactory as the first ones. The highest bid to date on the quilt is $35, made by "Dearie," and it looks as if she will be the proud possessor.

PEGGY BELIEVES IN EDUCATION.
Dear Cynthia Grey—"Tis a long time since I wrote to your interesting column, and glad you are still on the job. Your presence there certainly means a lot to The Advertiser and its many readers. Would like to hear the opinions of different correspondents aired in the Mail-Box, re the education of our boys past the age of fourteen. I received a knock lately, re us sending our boy to school, a party thinking it would be much more to our advantage to have him working. Miss Grey, how can people be so narrow-minded, and not able to see beyond the length of their own nose? I admire intelligent people, and believe in giving children every chance one possibly can, even in homes where money is scarce than here's teeth. There are so many ways to earn one's money, and thus give the boys and girls a chance. Some people's minds are so filled with the nickel and dime idea they fail to see the importance of education for their children. We believe in super-abundance of knowledge to begin life's journey on, and a simple faith in God in preference to super-abundance of wealth, while not denying that wealth has its many advantages, and great good can be done through a proper distribution of it. Inclosed find a note for the children's hospital. Many blessings on the work to be done here. Yours for simple living and high ideals.

PEGGY MARTIN.
I think a discussion on education would be very interesting and helpful. Do not be persuaded by people lacking vision, and deprive your son of a good education. Well educated men and women can hold their own in any walk of life. Thank you, Peggy, for the tribute to our Mail-Box, also for the "plaster."

JULY TRIED RECIPES.
Dear Miss Grey—It is some time since I wrote last to the Mail-Box. Since being a shut-in I have read some nice books, "The Anne Books," by L. M. Montgomery; Grace Richmond's "Red Pepper," "Mrs. Red Pepper" and "Red Pepper's Patients," are very wholesome reading, coming in under the name of "Red Pepper" in red named. Red Pepper is a red-haired doctor with a temper to match, but with a heart of gold, ready to sacrifice anything for the welfare of his patients. These are good reading for anyone who feels blue. Others I might name, but my letter would be too long. Have you any tatted edgings in the Mail-Box, or would some Boxite send me some? I am inclosing some cake recipes for Mrs. Hoople. I hope the Mail-Box continues to enlarge, as it is nice to have more letters again.

ORIGINAL JULY.
White Cake—Put into a mixing bowl one cup of white sugar, 1/2 cup of sifted flour, 1 large teaspoonful baking powder, pinch of salt. Into a cup put whites of two eggs, add soft butter to make the cup half full, then sweet milk to fill cup; the three ingredients make one cupful. Add this to flour and sugar. Flavor with vanilla. Bake in either loaf or layers.

LAYER CAKE.—One cup sugar, 2 eggs, 3/4 cup of milk, 1/2 cup butter, 2 level teaspoons baking powder, 2 cups flour, vanilla flavoring.

We are sorry to hear of your illness, July, and hope you will be fully recovered soon. The patterns are on their way to Scotty, and I am forwarding you a few samples as requested. Thank you for your special recipes, July.

Many readers will doubtless be interested to know of the books you recommended. I've eyesight a wonderful boon, especially when one is too sick to do anything but read. And aren't books a wonderful compensation for being shut in?

AN ALL-SEASON HAT

Such a hat is this Maria Guy model of taffeta and feathers. The taffeta hat is at home in almost any season—one sees it in even the coldest weather and on warm days. It is an economical purchase. Ostrich feathers contribute to the smartness of the hat. The rolling brim is edged with an ostrich band and the crown is covered with glycerined ostrich which trails gracefully off at the side.

GIRLS HAVE PLANNED SOCIAL SERVICE WEEK

A program admirably planned to give the C. G. I. T. groups and girls' organized classes of the city an insight into the meaning of social service has been planned for the social service study week to be held under the auspices of the London Girls' Cabinet, March 20-24, in Croyne Memorial Parish Hall.

Monday evening, March 20, Miss Hilda Keene will tell "How our city meets the need of its people" by such agencies as the public health department, child welfare, out-patients department, Victoria Hospital, school nurses, sanatorium aid, Victorian Order, juvenile court, mothers' pensions, institutions, etc., confidential exchange.

In the succeeding discussion it is intended to bring out the ways in which girls can help.

Tuesday evening a glimpse will be given of poverty, its causes and remedies, under the heading, "Ill-health, low wages, unemployment, physical, mental and moral defects, confidential exchange."

If You Were a Doctor

If you were a doctor who had studied diet most of your life, and had tried out your theories in the great hospitals and free dispensaries of the world, don't you think you could devise a better food than the most intelligent layman in the land, who knows only how to make foods appealing to the eye and taste? Of course you do!

ROMAN MEAL is devised by a physician with just such experience. It is made of whole wheat and rye cut into little granules (and thus porous to digestive fluids), blended with bran and flaxseed in proportions that make a balanced human food. It is delicious and nourishing, prevents indigestion and relieves constipation, and can be made into porridge, pancakes, puddings or anything that white flour makes. Try a package.

"Prodigal Judge" Leads "Bigger and Better" Films

BY JAMES W. DEAN.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Producers promised "bigger and better" pictures for 1922. With one month more, they are well on the way to keep their pledge.

The bigger and better pictures have predominated in the early releases. Among them are "Orphans of the Storm," "Foolish Wives," "Turn of the Mind," "Oro Glorious," "Three Live Ghosts" and "The Prodigal Judge."

The merit of some in the above list has been more in their "bigger-ness" than in their "betterness."

"The Prodigal Judge," the latest of the group is both bigger and better. It is replete with thrills—kidnapping, duelling, incendiary fire, house-boat caught in swirling rapids and other blood-tingling episodes.

The unusual feature of this is that the thrills seem to be woven into the natural pattern of the story without breaking into the romantic sequence. Several notable characterizations also claim attention.

All in all, Edward Jose has done an extraordinarily skillful bit of directing.

Maclyn Arbuckle in the title role proves himself a master of the mimetic art. There have been few performances in similar roles as completely and artistically done.

He is a renegade judge who slides into a morass of self-neglect when his best friend runs away with his child.

Despite the low estate to which he falls he retains his courtly manners and a certain air of dignity. He is Jean Paige, heroine, has the highest role of her career, and does it all justly. She seems to realize that a glance of the eye, a slight compression of the lip tell a story. If she is an actress she never burns her steak.

And all members of the cast seem to have met their moments, big and little, as they would meet them in real life. Thus there results a photograph blessed with a realism that makes it more than a series of moving pictures.

A moment later a naked boy sprang from the cane-brake and ran toward the blockhouse, with a bow and arrow in his left hand and his right stretched above his head, its pleading palm still outward.

"Let him in!" shouted Jerome, and as Dave opened the gates another arrow hurtled between the boy's upraised arm and his body and struck the boy dead through and stood panting, shrinking, wild-eyed.

At either end of the stockade a watch-tower of oak barked visible and in each a sleepy sentinel yawned and sniffed the welcome smell of trying venison below him.

A girl climbing the rude ladder to the tower stopped midway.

"Mornin', Dave!"

"Mornin', Polly!"

"I was comin' to wake you up," she smiled.

"I just waked up," he yawned, humming the jest.

"Lyddy!" cried Polly, "bring Dave's breakfast!"

At the fire a tall girl rose, pushed a mass of sunburned hair from her forehead, and a flush not from the fire fused with her smile.

"I reckon Dave can walk this far—he don't look very puny."

A voice vibrant with sarcasm rose from one of the women about the steaming kettle.

"Honor!" she cried, "Honor Sanders!"

In a doorway near, a third girl was framed—deep-eyed, deep-breasted.

"Honor!" cried the old woman, "stop wastin' yo' time with that weavin' in an' com out here an' help these two gals to git Dave his breakfast!" Dave Yandell laughed loudly.

Cow-bells began to clang at the edge of the forest.

"There they are," cried Polly, "Come on, Lyddy."

The two girls picked up piggins and squeezed through the opening between the heavy gates. The young hunter entered a door and within threw himself across a rude bed, face down.

"Honor!" cried one of the old women, "you go an' git a bucket of water."

A few minutes later she was at the spring and leading water into her pail with a gourd.

Honor dipped lazily.

"Boo!" cried Polly, startling her, and then teasingly:

"Are you in love with Dave, too, Honor?"

The girl reddened.

As Honor turned abruptly for the fort, a shot came from the woods followed by a war-whoop that stopped the blood shuddering in their veins.

"Oh, my God!" each cried, and catching at their wet skirts they fled in terror through the long grass.

They heard the quick commotion in the fort, heard sharp commands, cries of warning, frantic calls for them to hurry, saw strained faces at the gates, saw Dave bound through and rush toward them.

"Git in—everbody—git in—quick!" From a watch-tower, too, a rifle had cracked. A naked savage had bounded into a spot of sunlight that quivered on the buffalo trail a hundred yards deep in the forest and leaped lithely aside into the bushes—both rifles had missed.

From the tower old Jerome saw heads begin to shake in a cane-brake to the left of the spring.

"Look that!" he called, and three rifles, with his own, covered the spot. A small brown arm was thrust above the shaking reeds, with the palm of the hand toward the fort—the peace

They heard the quick commotion in the fort, heard sharp commands, cries of warning, frantic calls for them to hurry, saw strained faces at the gates, saw Dave bound through and rush toward them.

"Git in—everbody—git in—quick!" From a watch-tower, too, a rifle had cracked. A naked savage had bounded into a spot of sunlight that quivered on the buffalo trail a hundred yards deep in the forest and leaped lithely aside into the bushes—both rifles had missed.

From the tower old Jerome saw heads begin to shake in a cane-brake to the left of the spring.

"Look that!" he called, and three rifles, with his own, covered the spot. A small brown arm was thrust above the shaking reeds, with the palm of the hand toward the fort—the peace sign of the Indian.

A moment later a naked boy sprang from the cane-brake and ran toward the blockhouse, with a bow and arrow in his left hand and his right stretched above his head, its pleading palm still outward.

"Let him in!" shouted Jerome, and as Dave opened the gates another arrow hurtled between the boy's upraised arm and his body and struck the boy dead through and stood panting, shrinking, wild-eyed.

The arrow had grazed his skin, and when Dave lifted his arm and looked at the oozing drops of blood he gave a startled oath, for he saw a flash of white under the loosened

An hour before a red flare rose within the staked inclosure that was feared in the center of a little clearing. Before the first glimmer of day the gates yawned a little and three timidly moved leisurely for the lookers—each man with a long flint-wood rifle in the hollow of his arm, a hunting-knife in his belt and a spoon-knife on his head.

At either end of the stockade a watch-tower of oak barked visible and in each a sleepy sentinel yawned and sniffed the welcome smell of trying venison below him.

A girl climbing the rude ladder to the tower stopped midway.

"Mornin', Dave!"

"Mornin', Polly!"

"I was comin' to wake you up," she smiled.

"I just waked up," he yawned, humming the jest.

"Lyddy!" cried Polly, "bring Dave's breakfast!"

At the fire a tall girl rose, pushed a mass of sunburned hair from her forehead, and a flush not from the fire fused with her smile.

"I reckon Dave can walk this far—he don't look very puny."

A voice vibrant with sarcasm rose from one of the women about the steaming kettle.

"Honor!" she cried, "Honor Sanders!"

In a doorway near, a third girl was framed—deep-eyed, deep-breasted.

"Honor!" cried the old woman, "stop wastin' yo' time with that weavin' in an' com out here an' help these two gals to git Dave his breakfast!" Dave Yandell laughed loudly.

Cow-bells began to clang at the edge of the forest.

"There they are," cried Polly, "Come on, Lyddy."

The two girls picked up piggins and squeezed through the opening between the heavy gates. The young hunter entered a door and within threw himself across a rude bed, face down.

"Honor!" cried one of the old women, "you go an' git a bucket of water."

A few minutes later she was at the spring and leading water into her pail with a gourd.

Honor dipped lazily.

"Boo!" cried Polly, startling her, and then teasingly:

"Are you in love with Dave, too, Honor?"

The girl reddened.

As Honor turned abruptly for the fort, a shot came from the woods followed by a war-whoop that stopped the blood shuddering in their veins.

"Oh, my God!" each cried, and catching at their wet skirts they fled in terror through the long grass.

They heard the quick commotion in the fort, heard sharp commands, cries of warning, frantic calls for them to hurry, saw strained faces at the gates, saw Dave bound through and rush toward them.

LOCAL SOCCER PROGRAM LIKELY TO OUTLIVE 1921'S BIG BILL

WALLACEBURG, FOREST, TWO NEW TOWNS ADDED

Charles Hollins Elected President At Big Meeting in "Y" On Saturday—Matt Morgan Vice-President.

LONDON and District Football Association starts out on its second year with every indication of an increase in teams and players. At the Y. on Saturday afternoon, at which Charles Hollins was elected president, a strong executive to aid him in 1922 was elected.

Wallaceburg and Forest are certain additions to the London and District strongholds this year, and with Sarnia and St. Thomas back in the fold, the association bids fair to outlive its initial program of last year.

The meeting probably wasn't all harmony, but that fact didn't interfere with the enthusiasm displayed, which promises good strong co-operation to boost the association.

Widcombe Dropped Out.
J. Widcombe, strongly located for the presidency, refused to stand for the nomination, and that left the field to Charles Hollins and Tommy Hodgkinson, the former winning. Matt Morgan was elected to the vice-presidency. J. Day was elected secretary.

This year's council is composed of the following: J. Overton, H. Watkins, H. Haggis, M. Parker, Jimmy Peters, Mr. Birchall, St. Thomas; Roy Paisley, H. McVetter of Wallaceburg, who played with Chiswick when they won the English amateur cup, was a speaker at the meeting. He told how Wallaceburg had struggled along to get soccer started. There were three players in the burg in 1907, and a few years later they had been able to muster a team which had won a fine series of friendly games.

Twelve Teams Present.
Twelve teams were represented on Saturday. There were: G. T. R. West, Utilities, St. Thomas, C. R. Public, Hamilton Hospital, G. W. Y. Army and Navy, United Veterans, Wallaceburg, St. Andrew's Society, Forest A. A. and W. O. S. A. A.

A discussion over the trusteeship of the Free Press cup was ended with the suggestion that it be taken up at the next meeting.

A notice of motion regarding an amendment to the constitution, sponsored by Tommy Hodgkinson and relating to the question of home-and-home games for the cup semi-finals, was laid over for the next meeting.

It was suggested that a committee be appointed to arrange some sort of entertainment, at which the association members could get together. This will be done at an early date.

WOODSTOCK KIDS HAVE BIG CASUALTY LIST

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 12.—The announcement that the local juniors had been drawn with Aura Lee juniors in the third round of the C. H. A. junior championship race has set the fans all ablaze. The question now is, will the locals be up to strength by Wednesday night, when the first game will be played here?

The two defense men, Harrington and Lynch, are on the sick list. Lynch was out of the game at Paris and Harrington collapsed before the game was over. Saturday the latter interviewed a local doctor, and his ailment was located in the spine, where a ligament was found out of place. This has been fixed up, and the fans hope to see the stalwart in line by Wednesday night. Lynch is down with an attack of "flu," and doctors say it is altogether likely that he will be out in time to participate in the big series.

With the team up to strength, Woodstock fans hope to make a good showing against the Aura Lee. In fact, they feel that Bill Marsden will be a better team than Port Colborne, and as the Red and Whites are looked upon as a better team than Port Colborne, and there is a chance that Aura Lee may be slumped into the discard by Friday night, Woodstock fans are confident that Marsden will use his second goal, "Dinty" Dunlop, a Woodstock boy, here Wednesday night, for part of the game at least.

UNIONISTS PICK MARSHAL

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson has been adopted as the Unionist candidate for the vacancy in North Down in the Imperial Parliament.

HAD BAD COUGH AND SORE THROAT

Never neglect a cough or cold, however slight. If you do, it can have but one result; it leaves the throat or lungs or both affected. A single dose of will help to stop the cough, soothe the throat, and if the cough or cold has become settled on the lungs, the healing virtues of the Norway pine syrup, along with the soothing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs, roots and barks promptly eradicate the bad effects, and the persistent use cannot but help to bring about relief.

Mr. Albert March, Lower L'Ardoise, N. S. writes: "About a year ago I contracted a cold, accompanied by a very bad cough and sore throat. I sent for the doctor, but what he prescribed did me no little good. I began to get discouraged. A friend came to see me and asked me if I had ever used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I told him I had not and sent him right away to get me a bottle. I started using it, and after a couple of days I found I was getting relief, and after taking two bottles the soreness in my throat seemed to be leaving me, so I resolved to continue its use, and after I had used three bottles both my sore throat and cough were gone. I would not be without 'Dr. Wood's' for any money."

Hotspurs Win Over Manchester City

Both Meet Again Next Saturday in Cup Third Round.

The big feature of Saturday's games in the old Country leagues was the meeting of Tottenham Hotspurs and Manchester City on the former's ground in a dress rehearsal for next Saturday's third round tie on the same grounds. In the First Division match the Spurs outscored the visitors 3 goals to 1 and on the performance of the two teams should duplicate the result next Saturday.

In the First Division the home teams fared very well, seven of them taking both points, while two of the others drew with the visitors. Only Tottenham Hotspurs and Manchester City lost at home to Blackburn Rovers by the odd goal in three. The Bradford-West Bromwich Albion match was postponed. Liverpool increased the lead by scoring the orphan goal at home against Birmingham City, while the visitors were away by the Sheffield United and Aston Villa's at home against Sunderland. The Villans are in second place, with Bolton Wanderers and Cardiff City close behind.

PARIS PROTESTS JUNIOR GAME

PARIS, Feb. 11.—Woodstock is the nature of their sound yet. The Paris club has wired protest to the O. H. The referee was wired to disqualify the goal before the end of the game. Paris scored another goal, together with the one in dispute, making it 3 to 2 according to the referee, but 4 to 0 according to a newspaper reporter, the Paris fans only able to get their fingers up to his hand, but this was not seen by the referee.

HAMILTON, Feb. 12.—Percy Thompson's hired help offered but little assistance to Canadians here Saturday night in a National League fixture, and the flying Frenchmen walked off with a 3 to 1 verdict. The score was a poor indication of the play, for aside from the first period the visitors were all over Malone and company, but had poor luck with their shots from inside the outer defence.

The showing of Canadians was far superior to that of any team seen here in some time, and Hamiltonians were willing to wager that with an even break in luck they will out Toronto St. Patricks from second place.

They showed an attack that the Hamilton defence could not cope with. Time and again they went down on Hamilton's outer defence two and three abreast and experienced no trouble in getting right in on Lockhart, but their over-anxiety robbed them of many counter, as the majority of their shots went flapping over the net four inches outside the posts, while many found resting-places on Lockhart's pads.

Lalonde and Boucher were the Canadian forwards who made life unpleasant for local fans.

The line-up:

Hamilton: Lockhart, Vezina, Mummy, Reize, S. Coghlan, Malone, Lalonde, Bertram, Prodger, Bouché, Roché, Wilson, Carey, O. Coghlan, Carey.

PRO SKATE TITLE WON BY McLEAN

CLEVELAND, Feb. 12.—Bobby McLean of Chicago is the new indoor speed skating professional champion, winning the title here last night with 210 points to his credit, 70 points over Norval Papp of Minneapolis, runner-up in the two days' racing with a score of 140 points to his credit.

Ben O'Slekey of Cleveland and Everett McGowan of St. Paul split fourth money, each scoring 120 points. McLean won two firsts and a third 440-yard dash and the half-mile race, losing the two-mile event by inches to McGowan. The time for the two-mile event was 6:25.5, said to be close to a world's record for a twelve-lap track.

need there be any lessening of the dramatic and the spectacular.

Because of the movies many boys and girls who never have been a mile from home know more about the geography of their country than their elders did after spending fortunes in travel. Think how many folks know what Niagara Falls really looks like and the Grand Canyon. And yet this field has hardly been touched. I've often wondered if the "Ghosts" Causeway, near Port-rush, in Ireland, has ever been filmed, or a harvest scene on an Alberta farm, or a possum hunt in the Southland.

Many Varieties of Comedy.
There are thousands of varieties of good comedy films. It's a fine thing to make folks laugh, and nothing is more popular than genuine humor. If any fun on the face of the earth love clean fun it is Canadians.

I believe the movement to bring pictures into the schools is an admirable one. A child absorbs information through the eyes far quicker than any other sense. Lack of complete understanding is most often the cause of strife between various social scales, and the movies, quicker and better than any other agency, can tell one-half the world how the other half lives. It can help us get acquainted with our neighbor, and share his joys and sorrows as he shares ours.

I keep in close touch with the progress of the stage and screen, and I realize their power to affect the lives of the people.
I wonder why they do not film
more stories like Pilgrim's Progress, Ben Hur, the Waverley novels, Robinson Crusoe, the Last Days of Pompeii, the Deserted Village, Poe's stories and plays like the Old Homestead, Rip Van Winkle, Virgilinus and Charlie's Aunt.

Lauds Use of Pictures.
I never have known a boy or girl

OUR BOARDING HOUSE.

who did not enjoy pictures. They think in pictures before they speak in words. We have the best authority for the use of pictures. God spoke through the Old Testament by means of pictures. That is the way Christ taught, because without a parable He spoke not to any man.

A parable was a picture.
When a Frenchman talks he ges-ticulates so that you will see the picture as he does, and the Indian suggests more by signs than he does by words.

The Bible is the greatest picture-book in the world.
It is an inexhaustible supply of tragedy, pathos and drama, and the time will come when the movies will present these stories reverently and faithfully, and when that is done examination of college students on the English Bible will not furnish such a supply of crass ignorance and poppycock nonsense as it does today.

The clean movie is one of the great institutions in the future of the world. It must be taken into account whenever consideration is given to the things that vitally affect the well-being of the nation. My hope and prayer is that its progress in the

INVALID SLAYS SELF IN HOME

James Shrewsbury of Chatham Summons Granddaughter To Witness Tragedy.

[Special To London Advertiser.]

CHATHAM, Feb. 12.—Calling his young granddaughter into a bedroom tonight, James Shrewsbury, 62 years old, uttered a fond farewell, and,
picking up a .32-calibre revolver which lay on the dresser, placed it against the pit of his stomach and fired.

He was dead before medical aid arrived.

For some time the suicide had been in ill-health, but had never attempted or hinted at doing away with himself.

Shrewsbury, who lived at 4 Daniels Place, showed more affection for his granddaughter than for any other of his relatives, it is alleged, and it was this, it is claimed, that prompted him to call her to his side before he killed himself.

All day the victim had been complaining that he was not feeling well, but at no time did he indicate his intentions.

As he said good-by to the girl she screamed, and almost simultaneously he fired. His wife rushed into the room, and noting his condition, hurried to the telephone and summoned doctors.

In answer to her call, Drs. F. W.
Hall and J. W. Coulter arrived. They, however, were too late to render any assistance, but called Coroner (Dr.) Birtche. He declared Shrewsbury a suicide, and announced that an inquest was unnecessary.

Despondency is believed to have prompted the victim to take his life.
The granddaughter is still suffering from the shock of the ordeal through which she was compelled to go.

Shrewsbury was well known and popular in the district in which he lived.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

CLAIM INDIAN RAILWAY STRIKE GROWS SERIOUS

LONDON, Feb. 12.—A dispatch to the London Times from Allahabad, British India, says the railway strike
there is assuming most serious proportions.

Between Allahabad and Cawnpore, several stations where Indians were in charge have been entirely deserted by their staffs.

LABOR GROUP TO PICK CONVENER

Halcrow Declares He Intends
To Remain in Party Ranks.

TORONTO, Feb. 12.—Clearing up the situation regarding the house leadership of the Labor group in the Legislature occupied most of the conference held at the Labor Temple on Saturday between the provincial executive of the Independent Labor party and the six Labor M. L. A.s
who were able to attend.

According to an official statement issued following the meeting, however, the dispute surrounding George Halcrow, member for East Hamilton, was cleared up to the satisfaction of everyone, Mr. Halcrow resigning a position which he said was of "convener" and not "leader," and a decision was reached that a house leader for the group was not necessary at present, and that the members should select a new "convener."

Owing to the length of the discussion on this subject, the fact several members wanted to catch early trains, and a desire that all twelve Labor members should be present before definite action was taken, the work of mapping out a Labor policy regarding the hydro-railway question and other issues was deferred until a later meeting.

It is hoped to hold this second gathering during the present week.
Mr. Halcrow stated he wanted it to be distinctly understood that he proposed to remain a member of the Labor group.

The official statement declared that throughout the discussion "general good feeling prevailed," and the Labor representatives in the Legislature now was "more united than it had been since the party was organized."

HALCROW UNREPENTANT.

HAMILTON, Feb. 12.—Unshaken
by the fact that at Toronto yesterday afternoon he was asked to relinquish the leadership of the Labor group in the Ontario Legislature, and gladly did so, George C. Halcrow, M.L.A., stated tonight that his conviction on the question of hydro-railways were just as strong as ever were. No regret whatever is felt by Mr. Halcrow that he was deposed. He was asked if, in the future, he would remain aloof entirely from the Labor group.

"Of course, I shall sit on the other side of the house, but that does not mean that I will disassociate myself from it entirely. I hope to continue to consult its members regarding various questions," he replied.

MINISTER QUILTS CHINESE CABINET

PEKING, Feb. 12.—The resignation of Dr. W. W. Yen, foreign minister and acting premier, was presented to the cabinet last evening. Immediately afterwards the government announced that it had summoned home from Washington, Dr. Wei-lington Koo, Alfred Sze, the Chinese minister to the United States and Dr. Chung Hsi Wang, the delegates to the armaments conference.

The government called for the return of the delegates to hear their report on the conference and receive their advice regarding Far Eastern affairs, it was said.

U. S. SIGNS PACT WITH JAPANESE ON ISLE OF YAP

Ends Long Controversy in Accordance With Decree of Arms Parley.

GIVES TOKIO EQUAL RIGHTS

Considers Four-Power Pacific Treaty Submitted by Harding.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The long controversy between the United States and Japan relating to the Pacific island of Yap—the subject of many notes and other diplomatic exchanges—was formally and finally ended Saturday with the signature of a treaty by representatives of the two countries.

The treaty, which defines the rights of the United States in Yap and other islands mandated to Japan under the treaty of Versailles was signed by Secretary Hughes for the United States and Baron Kijuro Shidehara for Japan in the office of the former at the state department.

Negotiations Since June.
The signing was informal, and was witnessed only by the state department officials who prepared the treaty.

Negotiations for the treaty were instituted last June and the terms of settlement were agreed upon at the meeting of the conference on limitation of armaments. Final steps towards the treaty were completed early in December, and Dec. 12 Secretary Hughes made public the essential points of the agreement.

The secretary declared that under the treaty the United States is given free access to the island of Yap on a footing of entire equality with Japan or Great Britain or any other nation in all that relates to the landing and operation of the existing Yap-Guam cable or of any cable which may hereafter be laid by the United States or its nationals.

Equal Rights With Japan.
It was also agreed, according to Secretary Hughes, that the United States and its nationals were to be accorded the same rights and privileges with respect to radio telegraphic service as with regard to cables.

In relation to electrical communications, it was agreed that the United States should have rights of residence without restriction, and rights of acquisition, enjoyment and undisturbed possession, upon a footing of entire equality with Japan or any other nation or their respective nationals, of all property and interests, both personal and real, including lands, buildings, residences, offices, work
and appurtenances.

The treaty also provides that no permits or license shall be required for the enjoyment of any of those rights and privileges; that there should be no cable censorship or supervision of operating or of messages; that there should be free entry and exit for persons or property and that no taxes or exactions, either with respect to operation of cable, property, persons or vessels should be assessed.

Japanese Administration.
Japan agreed that it will use its power of expropriation to secure to the United States needed property and facilities for the electrical communication in the island if such property or facilities cannot otherwise be obtained.

For its part the United States commits to Japanese administration of the islands in the Pacific Ocean north of the equator, mandated Japan under the provisions of the treaty of Versailles subject to all the provisions with respect to the island of Yap, and also subject to certain other conditions. These latter are that the United States is to have the benefit of the engagements of Japanese as set forth in the mandate, and that Japan shall permit complete freedom of commerce and the free exercise of all forms of worship consistent with public order and morality.

Four-Power Treaty Taken Up.
Consideration of the four-power Pacific treaty, one of the seven laid before the Senate Friday by President Harding as the products of the Washington conference, was begun
Saturday by the Senate foreign relations committee, which, after a lengthy discussion of the pact, adjourned to meet again Tuesday.

SMUTS REQUESTS THAT MINERS COMPROMISE

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(By Canadian Press Cable).—In a statement calling on the striking coal and gold miners to return to work and leave the terms of settlement to the Parliament of South Africa, Premier Smuts, says a Reuter cable from Pretoria, emphasizes the great loss that will result from a protracted strike, and declares that victory itself for either side in such circumstances would become meaningless.
