SOME SURPRISES IN UNITED STATES ELECTIONS

Democrats Are Defeated in New York and New Jersey—Socialists Make Great Gains, Elect Many Mayors, and Enter State Legislatures of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York.

New York, Nov. 7.—From a Democratic majority of 24 the New York State Assembly to-day turned overwhelmingly Republican, giving the latter 101 members, Democrats 48, and Socialists 1.

Boston, Nov. 7.—Returns from 734 out of 1,070 voting districts, representing 280 out of 321 towns and many districts in the thirty-three cities with Boston complete, give Foss, Democrat, 139,348; Frothingham, Republican, 130,696. The same districts last year gave Foss, Democrat, 151,761; Draper, Republican, 123,562. The returns showed a Democratic loss of about eight per cent. and a Republican ratio of gain of a little more than four per cent. and indicate a plurality for Foss of 7,000.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 7.—Returns at midnight indicate that the Republicans will control both branches of the Legislature next winter. The Assembly will be made up of approximately thirty-eight Republicans and twenty-two Democrats. Last year's Assembly consisted of forty-two Democrats and eighteen Republicans. The election is significant in the defeat of a number of men whose election was specifically advocated by Governor Woodrow Wilson in the tour he made of the State during the last few weeks.

Columbus, O., Nov. 7.—In Cincinnati Mayor Louis Schwab, running for re-election with the Republican endorsement, was defeated by Henry T. Hunt, Democrat, by probably 6,000.

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—With 145 election districts out of 1,197 to hear from, Geo. H. Earl, Republican for Mayor, has 6,355 majority over Blankenburg, the reform candidate. Senator Fenrose claims Earl's election by 13,000, while the other Republican leaders make the figure 7,500.

A DEMOCRATIC GAIN

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 7.—Kentucky for years considered in the balance between the Democrats and Republicans, to-day went back into the ranks of the former in a landslide victory. Returns up to 9:30 to-night indicated that James B. McCreary, Democratic candidate for Governor, had been elected by from 20,000 to 40,000 majority. His opponent was Judge Edward C. O'Rear.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 7.—Joseph A. Taggart, a Democrat was to-day elected to Congress, for the Second Kansas district by a majority estimated at 1,200 votes over his Republican opponent, Ulysses S. Guyer, to fill the unexpired term of the late Republican Congressman C. Mitchell.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 7.—Early indications to-night were that Governor Aram J. Pothier, a native of Quebec, the Republican candidate, had been re-elected for a fourth term, defeating Lewis A. Waterman, his Democratic opponent. Governor Pothier's plurality of 11,400 last year, it was believed, would be doubled. The remainder of the Republican State ticket was also thought to be elected. The voting was very heavy, especially in the cities.

SOCIALIST GAINS

Cleveland, O., Nov. 7.—Eight Ohio cities elected Socialist Mayors today. These cities are Lorain, St. Mary's, Martin's Ferry, Fostoria, Mount Vernon, Barberton, Cuyahoga Falls, and Salem.

In Canton it will take the official count to decide whether the Socialist candidate or Turnball, Democrat, is elected.

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 7.—For the first time in the history of this county, the Socialists have elected a Mayor, all but one city officer, and a majority of the county officers, which will make the Common Council, and probably the County Board of Supervisors, Socialistic. Rev. Dr. George R. Lunn, pastor of the United People's Church, and editor of The Citizen, a Socialist weekly, was elected Mayor by a plurality of 1,999, or practically two thirds of the total vote polled. The Republicans elected a city Judge by a plurality of less than fifty votes, but this was the result of no Socialist candidate being nominated. Herbert M. Merrill, Socialist, will represent this county in the Assembly. The platform of Dr. Lunn was one of thorough reform in municipal politics.

New York, Nov. 8.—Mississippi elected a Democratic governor. The Socialist candidate for lieutenant-governor ran strong.

New York, Nov. 9.—Socialist leaders here are jubilant over the showing made by their party in Tuesday's election throughout the country. Among the more important victories were the election of Assemblymen in Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New York; eleven mayors in Ohio; mayors in Pennsylvania, New York, Utah, Minnesota and Mississippi; and lesser municipal officers in many states of the west and south. The Socialist vote doubled in fifty eastern cities over that of last year, and in some instances the increase was over 600 per cent. In New York the jump was 42 per cent.

ANGLICAN SYNOD CLOSES SESSIONS

Minimum Stipend $900 and Free House—Strong Action Re Moral and Social Reform.

The Anglican Diocesan Synod met in Fredericton from Tuesday to Thursday last week.

It was decided to hold next meeting in St. John on the first Tuesday of next November.

A report was adopted recommending the establishment of a minimum stipend of $900 and a house, but they did not recommend the immediate appointment of a financial secretary to carry out the recommendation. It was suggested however, that Bishop Richardson at the Laymen's Missionary Congress to be held in St. John shortly, lay the matter before the layman of the church.

It was decided that the money to be raised for Kings College be retained and the interest paid over.

The notice of motion given by Rev. D. Conyers to the effect that no party to a marriage after a divorce, granted for cause arising after marriage, shall hold any office, parochial or diocesan, stands over until next session, there not being sufficient time to consider it. The grants from the widows and orphans special fund were increased from $150 to $250.

Changes in the forms of statistical returns were decided upon. The committee on Religious Instruction in schools reported satisfactory progress.

The report of the committee on Moral and Social Reform endorsed the General Synod's strong condemnation of, and opposition to, Betting and Gambling and the White Slave Trade; and the leniency of the law relating to seduction, prostitution, and the sale of obscene literature, cards or pictures; and also called upon the government to take measures to overcome the evils of drunkenness by doing everything possible to remove temptation from the path of the weak.

The Women's Auxiliary reported $422.50 cash and $350 worth of clothing sent to Campbellton, and $190.90 sent to China famine sufferers.

A motion to change the canon increasing the grant from one hundred and fifty to two hundred and fifty dollars to the Clergy Widows and Orphans' Fund, was passed without discussion.

Financial aid had been given to six missions.

ST. JOHN JAIL IN DISGRACEFUL CONDITION

Visiting Committee Find Sanitation is Impossible With Limited Number of Cells.

(St. John Standard, Nov. 11, 1911.) That owing to overcrowding conditions in the common jail are a disgrace to any civilized community, and that the police magistrate accentuates the difficulties by his practice of remanding prisoners and keeping them in jail, without determinate sentences, were the discoveries made by a committee of the county council which paid a visit of inspection to the jail yesterday. The committee found that 74 prisoners were crowded into 16 cells, that all the requirements of sanitation were wanting, as well as most of the conditions of decency and morality; and they decided to make a number of important recommendations to the council with a view to alleviating the evils. In one case they found a man and a boy locked in a cell, a condition which is contrary to all modern jail practice, and lends itself to the most frightful abuses.

The committee which inspected the jail consisted of the chairman, Coun. F. M. Cochrane, of St. Martins, and Councillors Codner and J. B. Jones, with the county secretary and the sheriff. They decided to recommend the council to install a laundry plant in the jail and to provide the prisoners with clothing. They decided also to ask the council to authorize the provision of shower baths, and to furnish iron bedsteads and mattresses. They came to the conclusion that the present system of cells was not in accordance with the requirements, and decided to recommend that arrangements be made in so far as possible, for the adoption of the dormitory or ward system. They will also recommend that the guardroom be removed to the room over the morgue which is more central, and that a morgue be established elsewhere. Another matter which they thought demanded attention was the provision of better ventilation for the cells and corridors.

DISGRACE TO COMMUNITY

The chairman of the committee when seen by a reporter, said the conditions in the jail at the present are the strongest kind of an argument for the immediate establishment of a prison farm. We need a prison farm and need it quick. The mere drunks and young fellows with no great harm in them are being brutalized there when they might be learning habits of industry on a prison farm without expense to the community.

Magistrate Finds For Defence in Meat case.

Chatham Gazette, Nov. 10.—The magistrate gave his decision yesterday in the civil case of Buckley vs. Morrison & Clark finding for the defendants.

The evidence briefly summarized was, for the defendants, that the meat delivered them was not good, the cook and cookee of the camp stating that fly blows had accumulated in large quantities and that the meat was diseased with either tuberculosis or tumour.

For the plaintiff the evidence given shows that the meat had been ordered from Mr. Buckley on Saturday evening, July 29th, when his store had been closed for two days by reason of the death of his little daughter. Mr. Buckley had taken the order over the phone and as he had part of a carcass in another butcher's refrigerator he had the meat sent up that evening. Nothing was heard from the cook until Monday morning when the meat was returned with the claim that it was diseased. Mr. Buckley refused to take it back as he declared the meat could not have been properly looked after and that it had been out of the refrigerator too long for him to be responsible for its condition. Evidence was given that the meat was in good condition when it left the refrigerator and further that the opposite quarter of the same animal was still in good condition on the following Tuesday.

MOTHERS PRAISE

BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Every mother who has once used Baby's Own Tablets readily admits that there is no other medicine to equal them. They are a never failing cure of all stomach and bowel complaints and many a precious little babe owes health and even life itself to their use. Concerning the Tablets Mrs. Fred Dove, Broadview, Sask., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my little girl and have found them of such great benefit I would not be without them. They are truly a wonderful remedy for little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The D. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TREASURE TROVE

It is reported that Leslie Vye, digging a ditch on the property of Mrs. Russell, Millerton, last week found a box of old coins. The value of the find has been variously estimated up to $3000.00.

N. B. Man to Lead Britain's Opposition

London, Nov. 13.—The Unionist caucus at the Carleton Club today unanimously appointed A. Bonar Law leader of the party in the House of Commons. Mr. Law is sitting for the Bootle district of Lancashire. He was born in Kent Co., in 1858.

A BARGAIN INDEED

Two cents a week is exactly what it costs to guarantee you the greatest treat you ever enjoyed. That small amount per week, or one dollar a year will secure you the greatest amount of newspaper reading to be had on this continent. We refer to the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, by long odds the best family and farm paper printed. In addition to the paper a most beautiful premium picture is included. It is entitled "Home Again" and is well worth the dollar alone. Name in Capital, No. 1, over to rich or ever so poor, can afford to be without this bargain.

LORD ROSEBERRY'S BET. How the Great English Politician Gave a Good Tip.

On one occasion Lord Roseberry was in a railway carriage on his way to a race meeting at Ayr. Opposite him sat a commercial traveller, who was rather inclined to be talkative. Seeing his lordship reading the Racing Calendar, he remarked: "Suppose you are going to the Ayr meeting?" "I am going as far as Ayr," replied his lordship. "Pity young swells get fleeced by the bookies. Some noblemen, I hear, drop fortunes on the turf." "Indeed!" "Do a bit myself sometimes—about a tanner or a pony is my cut. I know anything good for to-day worth my while touching?" "I am not a tipster."

"Be patient. Saw you reading the Racing Calendar?" so thought you might know. "Well," replied his lordship, "I give you the straight tip will it be of service to you?" "Depends if I fancy it."

"Put your tanner or pony on Lord Roseberry's horse. They say he's a regular chumpkin." "Indeed! Perhaps they're right. However, you asked me. I can only add that I heard Lord Roseberry himself tell what you term a chumpkin to back his horse." "Depend upon it, if it was all right, he would not let you overtake his conversation. Mum would soon be his game. Why, there's a lot in that race! I'll bet you a pony Lord Roseberry don't win it."

"Really! I am not accustomed to bet in railway carriages with strangers." "There's my card. Fact is, you ain't game to bet."

"I think you'll lose your money, but as you challenge me let it be a bet. You'll see me in the stewards' enclosure at the course. I have no cards with me."

"Agreed! It's a bet. I bet you an even pony against Cheveronel for the Welter Cup. But what's your name, young fellow?" "Primrose. Sometimes I'm otherwise addressed."

"All right, young Primrose; pay and receive after the race." The companions separated at the station. Cheveronel won in a canter, and the commercial received the following morning a short note by a messenger from the stewards' stand: "Mr. Primrose (Lord Roseberry) would feel obliged by Mr. Primrose's tip about his own horse, by which I was fool enough to lose £25? Anyway, he's a regular trump, and he's right—I'm the chumpkin after all!"

Dogs. Dogs were formerly indigenous to the indigent, but since the advent of dog licenses, whereby a dog, without a maid or a valet, is presumed to be guilty until it is proved innocent or shot, they have been grafted on family trees, with their own separate heraldry as substitutes for children, thereby furnishing considerable consolation for race suicide.

Dogs are divided into two great classes—pedigreed and verdigreed. Verdigreed are of two kinds—mad dogs and dogs. Pedigreed are of several kinds, chief among which are watch dogs and sheep-dogs. Watch-dogs are so called because they are small enough, and usually cranky enough, to be carried around in the place of watches by people who have plenty of time. Sheep-dogs are so called because they are led around by sheepish-looking people.

TORTURED FOR THIRTY FIVE YEARS

I really could not live without "Fruit-a-lives" FENACRIVALE, ONT. Jan. 29th, 1910. "For thirty-five years (and I am now a man over seventy) I have been a terrible sufferer from Constipation. No matter what remedy or physicians I employed, the result was always the same—impossible to get a cure. About two years ago, I read about 'Fruit-a-lives' and I decided to try them. I have used 'Fruit-a-lives' ever since. They are the first and only medicine that suited my case. If it were not for 'Fruit-a-lives' I am satisfied that I could not live!" JAMES PROUDFOOT.

The greatest remedy in the world for all forms of Indigestion and Dyspepsia, is "Fruit-a-lives". Doctors as well as hundreds of people proclaim it. "Fruit-a-lives" cures all stomach troubles because it makes the liver active, strengthens the kidneys, purifies the blood and keeps the stomach sweet and clean. "Fruit-a-lives" is the only remedy made of fruit juices. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

Canada and Great Britain.

Mr. Richard Grigg, His Majesty's Trade Commissioner to the Dominion of Canada, has some interesting things to say about the development of commercial relations of the Dominion and the Mother Country. The promotion of closer trade between Canada and Great Britain depends solely on the efforts of the British producer. It is obvious that certain responsibility rests also upon the merchants and the community at large in the Dominion. If British trade with Canada is to increase until it occupies the position which a true conception of Imperial interests seems to demand, it is necessary that from the Canadian side every opportunity should be afforded which equitable legislation and a sympathetic public opinion can offer.

Prestige and Irishmen.

A well known Railroad president, in his study of all classes of men who are under him, entertains a great admiration for the Irish foreman of a gang of laborers who went to any lengths to show his men that he was the real boss. One morning the foreman found that his gang had put a hand car on the track without his orders. "Who put that han' car-r-r on the track?" he asked. "We did, sars" one of the men answered respectfully. "Well," he said shortly, "take it off ag'in!" The laborers did so with some diffidence. "Now," said the foreman, "put in on ag'in!"

Monuments in Queer Places.

There are monuments in all sorts of out-of-the-way places, but one that is really unique is that erected in a river. It stands in the Parramatta River, New South Wales, a stream known the world over for the rowing events that have taken place upon it. This monument, which is in memory of the world-famed rower, Searle, is also unique from the fact that it has been used as the winning-post of the races for the world's championship, and is still used as such for local events.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT SHIVES ATHCL

Young Bathurst Man Loses His Life

A distressing accident occurred on Wednesday afternoon at the Messers Shives Lumber Co. Athol Mill where by Alphonse Picot aged 26 of Bathurst lost his life.

Deceased was working at an edging saw and a piece of scantling flying of the log struck him on the right breast killing him almost instantly. Dr. Martin the Coroner held an inquest on Wednesday evening when the jury returned a verdict of accidental death attaching no blame to the Company. Deceased's brother who is also an employee of Messrs Shives took the body to Bathurst on Thursday for interment. We are delighted to hear that our good friend Mr. J. I. McDonald has so far recovered as to be able to leave the hospital and is at present staying with his brother-in-law Mr. Howard Taylor.

WANTS $2000 FOR A TIP. For Giving Information About the Property in EROX.

Thirteen years ago, on a New York park bench, Thomas Corrigan told Patrick Goff about unclaimed property in the Bronx that belonged to a cousin, Henry Goff, who had been drowned leaving no immediate heirs. On the strength of the tip, Goff got possession of property worth $250,000. Corrigan is now suing for $10,000, which he says Goff promised him. Goff says he never promised any such thing, but gave Corrigan $50.

REAL GOLD BRICKS.

Gold bricks, real ones, may be the means of restoring the ancient temple of Golconda, near Hyderabad, in southern India, once known all the world over for its gold mines, but now a decayed city. The natural pigment from which many centuries ago the precious metal was extracted have in course of time filled up with water. A contractor recently obtained permission to make bricks near the mine and ten kilns were erected. The first finished bricks aroused curiosity by their yellowish tint, and analysis proved that they contained gold dust. On the basis of the yield of the sample bricks, the ten kilns will approximate in weight about 12,500 pounds of gold worth over $50,000,000. The site of the find belongs to the Nizam or native ruler.

A credulous man was the enumerator. When Brawney the blacksmith declared he was 60, he believed himself the blacksmith's robust appearance, for robust blacksmiths seldom show their age.

When Susan the spinster declared she was 23, he believed her also, despite her crow's-feet and greying hair; for spinsters do not care to show their age, either.

But when Isaac the idiot wrote the figures 120 under the heading "Father, if living," the Census enumerator rubbed his nose contemptuously and thought this was a little too much. "You don't mean to say," he exclaimed, "that your father is really 20 years old?" "No, of course 'e ain't," retorted Isaac complacently. "But 'e would 'eave 'e livin'!"

Her Habit. "What do you think the young wife of old Moneybags has developed into?" She is always crossing or recrossing the ocean. She certainly keeps the transatlantic line busy.

You know, she was formerly a telephone girl.

Swat That Fly. The transmission of disease by the fly is no longer a mere theory, but is a truth that has been scientifically established. Keep the flies out of your house. Get screens for the doors and the windows. Be on guard all the time. Keep screens over articles of food. Don't let flies get near the pantry, kitchen or dining-room.

Be doubly careful about keeping flies out of the sickroom. They are likely not only to bring complications of new diseases, but to carry the invalid's disease to many others.

Those who put in their screens promptly will be taking the best precaution against having disease germs introduced into their homes by flies. There is more health in a house well screened than in many a doctor's visit.

About 50 metals have been discovered in the last 200 years by chemist explorers, but some have been found for only a few of them. Recent explorations indicate that China has coal fields containing more fuel than those of all other countries in the world combined. A new safety razor shaving outfit, including soap and brush, packs into a case less than half an inch thick for carrying in the pocket.

CURIOSITY Prompted Many Women To Try PURITY FLOUR

THEY were curious to see exactly what results would be produced by flour consisting entirely of the high-grade portions of the best Western hard wheat. They were curious to know more about a flour that contained none of the low-grade portions, which are found in every wheat berry, but which are separated and excluded from the high-grade in the process of milling PURITY FLOUR.

THEY were curious to know whether an ALL HIGH-GRADE hard wheat flour was really superior to a mixed hard and soft wheat flour. They were curious to see and taste the kind of bread, buns, biscuits, cakes and pies PURITY FLOUR would make. Curiosity prompts you to seek the knowledge they discovered. It's urging you to try PURITY FLOUR.

REMINDER: On account of the extra strength and extra quality of PURITY FLOUR it is necessary, for best pastry-results, to add more shortening than you are accustomed to use with an ordinary flour. Add more water when making bread. Add PURITY FLOUR to your grocery list right now.

A. O. H. HONOR THEIR NATIONAL CHIEF Grand Pollies of Irishmen in Campbellton, Chatham, Fredericton, St. John and Moncton.--Bro. Regan's Speech.

For the first time in the history of the Ancient Order of Hibernians a national president of the organization has visited New Brunswick and his official visit will be described in letters of gold on the records of the A. O. H. of this province. In most befitting manner, the distinguished official was received by the different branches and entertained during his stay with each.

James J. Regan, Esq., National President of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in America, arrived in Campbellton on Saturday morning. He was met at the station by a delegation of the Hibernians of Campbellton, and Mr. John R. McCloskey, Provincial Secretary A. O. H. He was escorted to Hotel St. Louis, where rooms had been reserved for him. In the afternoon the visitors were given a drive through the town and places of interest were pointed out to them. They were also driven across the Restigouche River and shown the ancient Indian village of St. Anne de Restigouche.

Division No. 1 of the Ancient Order of Hibernians gave a banquet in the convent school building, on the 5th inst., in honor of National President James J. Regan, of St. Paul, Minn., and Provincial Secretary John R. McCloskey of St. John, N. B.

The meeting was called to order at 8.45 p. m. County President Wm. J. S. Welsh in the chair. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Chaplain.

Chairman Welsh in a few well chosen remarks thanked the National President and Provincial Secretary for the generous assistance extended to the members of the A. O. H. and the church at the disastrous fire of July 11th, 1910, and concluded his remarks by reading the following address to the guest of the evening.

Mr. James J. Regan, National President Ancient Order of Hibernians in America, Dear Sir and Brother:— The members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Restigouche County, bid you a hearty welcome on this, the occasion of your first official visit among us. We have noted with pleasure, that neither distance nor fatigue can lessen your activity in the interest of our Order, hence, your visit to Divisions throughout the States of the American Union—your adopted home—and throughout this Dominion—your former home.

Our meeting to-night is one of special interest to us all. It gives us an opportunity to express to you, the Chief Executive of our Order, in person, our appreciation and heartfelt thanks and to the Brothers of the Portland Convention for their generous attitude towards us after the devastating fire here, a year ago, in empowering your National Board to act. Our appeal was presented, the heart of the Convention was touched; the National Board acted; we felt the strong arm of support, and the tender clasp of Brother to Brother; you voted us a princely sum, and while meriting our gratitude, upheld the sacred traditions of the race, and taught us to walk in Friendship, Unity and true Christian Charity.

Your labors for church extension we heartily concurred in; and to the same generous spirit for the welfare of our holy religion, we are indebted by the generous vote of the Sydney Convention in our behalf.

brothers to dwell together in unity and concord! We trust that your visit and that of our devoted Provincial Secretary may be productive of lasting results for the welfare of our Order, and that you may bear away pleasant recollections of your visit among us.

On behalf of the Divisions of Restigouche County, we greet you, W. J. S. WELSH, County President

Campbellton, N. B., Nov. 5th, 1911. President Regan thanked the audience and members of the order for the kindness and good wishes extended to him on this occasion.

Twenty-eight years ago, he continued, I left my old Irish home and set sail for North America and the first place I set my foot on Canadian soil was Point L'avis, on the shore of that noble river the St. Lawrence. From there to Montreal where I made my home for 3 or 4 years and then moved to St. Paul, Minn. where I have been living ever since. He always had a strong feeling for Canada, and spoke at some length on the kindness shown him by the Canadian people on every occasion he had of coming to this beautiful Dominion of ours.

Brother Regan praised the spirit that animated the people of Campbellton after that dreadful calamity of a little over a year ago, and stated that the National Board of the A. O. H. had responded readily to the urgent appeal of Provincial Secretary McCloskey for assistance to the Division of the stricken town, and unanimously voted the sum of $1,500 in aid of the members.

J. J. REGAN.

He explained that the Ancient order of Hibernians was founded some 350 years ago in Ireland during the Penal Laws. Under these laws it was a crime for the Irish people to send their children to church, or engage in the manufacture of goods, but loving that religion and that church as they did their native land, these laws could not crush the National spirit, for which all true Irishmen are noted.

Three pictures decorated the walls of our humble homes and were found in almost every home, the first was that of "Ireland's Patron Saint" the glorious St. Patrick the second was that of Daniel O'Connor, one of the greatest men Ireland ever produced the third was a little picture that represented Mass on the day during the Penal laws when a priest was seen in the open where there was a gallows.

with men kneeling around to protect the priest from the representatives of the penal laws whose business it was to capture and imprison this priest.

There men loved that Priest and that Altar more than they did their own lives. These were the men who organized the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and you will find many Irishmen of that stamp in this great order today, men who are ready to lay down their lives if need be to protect their religion.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians in America was organized in New York seventy-five years ago this year and the president stated that he wanted every division to observe the Diamond Jubilee in a manner that would be most fitting and suggested that they set aside one day before December 31st and have a large number of new members initiated on that day.

Some two or three months ago the Division of Pittsburg set aside one day and they initiated nine hundred and fifty-three new members. What had been done in Pittsburg, New York, Detroit and Baltimore could be done in proportion in every locality where there was a division. Any practical Catholic who has a strain of Irish blood in him is eligible to become a member of this great order.

The A. O. H. is the recognized public representatives of the Irish race in America. The A. O. H. is first and foremost for the Catholic race and religion on this continent.

At the annual convention which was held in Portland, Oregon, a little more than a year ago, when the condition of the church was brought up, the convention without a dissenting voice appropriated the sum of $50,000 for the Catholic church extension fund for the churches throughout America.

It was with pardonable pride that he referred to the great sacrifice made by the Irish people. No people ever made greater sacrifice than did the Irish father and mother in order that they might give their children a good education and one based upon religious principles.

When the hint was dropped that the Catholic University in Washington might not be self sustaining the Ancient order of Hibernians were the first to respond with another grant of $50,000. Right here in your own province you have an example of the furtherance of education by the A. O. H. where they are educating eight young Hibernians so that they may be prepared to occupy positions of honor and responsibility in the future. The Irish race have been noted for their spirit of toleration, and the A. O. H. is sincere in its wish and always anxious to push any movement for the furtherance of the Catholic church.

The A. O. H. is first to respond in the cases of disaster and the only regrettable thing about responding is that these occasions are inevitable occurrences. They have the most supreme love for this or any other country where they are finding homes.

The A. O. H. asks its members and its friends to judge its future in the history of the past seventy-five years; and if they read the reports of generous donations that appear in the press from time to time they would find it was but only a small part of what they have done.

Father Wallace thanked the National President and Provincial Secretary for the magnificent gift of the A. O. H. to the Catholic Church in Campbellton.

The president then portrayed heartrending scenes of young Catholic men who had drifted away from their church and religion because they did not have the anchoring influence of this or some of the other great societies, at the time of leaving home to begin the battle of life.

The speaker then stated that we should be very careful and only pick the very best men in the Irish race (not using the expression as it is so often misused) when people think that we want only the wealthiest men of the Irish race. What I mean by the very best is that the A. O. H. pick their members from men who are loyal to their duty and to God. The Irishmen fought for centuries for Catholicity, Nationality and Fatherland: It was fidelity to these principles that made the Irish race suffer for years. This was the stamp of men that the Ancient order of Hibernians wanted as members.

When the National Board met in Baltimore February they had an audience with his Eminence Cardinal Gibbons who in the course of his remarks said that the Ancient Order of Hibernians was the best friend the church ever had. Well do I remember the words of the late Archbishop Feehan of Chicago when he said "I would rather my right arm be burned to the shoulder, than that that arm should be raised against the Ancient Order of Hibernians."

Some few years ago Catholics could not step into an Opera House without being greeted with gross and vile caricature of the Irish race or pass a stationery shop without seeing disgraceful St. Patrick's Day post cards leading the public to believe that they were caricatures of typical Irishmen. Then the A. O. H. took the matter up and he was pleased to state that in justice to the publisher they were always willing to meet our committee half way, and that in the course of a year or two at the most you would not see a vile caricature nor be able to buy a disgraceful post card in any stationery store in America.

When St. Patrick landed in Ireland he found the people in sympathy with the truths he taught and his command to them to accept Catholic teaching found altnet response, and Irish people always honored him and still continue to honor him as their patron Saint.

Bro. Regan said that it made no difference whether a man was a Frenchman or German, Scandinavian or Irishman; if he loved his own country and lived up to his religion he would make a good citizen of this great Dominion or of any other Country.

Let us make the children feel that they have nothing to be ashamed of, if they are Irish or Catholics. Columbus planted Catholicity on this Continent over four centuries ago and it has grown and prospered ever since.

Again thanking the members and their friends for the honor conferred upon him by being present at this great reception, he retired amid great applause.

Chairman Welsh then introduced the Provincial Chaplain Rev. E. P. Wallace.

Father Wallace thanked the National President and Provincial Secretary for the magnificent gift of the A. O. H. to the Catholic Church in Campbellton.

This evening the A. O. H. was assembled to do honor to the National President and he hoped that the A. O. H. would always continue their good work and that the society should pray that the Irish race remain true to their traditions and that they would still have brave hearts to shed their blood if necessary to prevent the downfall of the Catholic religion in this country.

He thanked the National President for coming here and addressing such a comparatively small audience, when he was used to addressing thousands, but that he put the same vim and energy in his address to-night just the same as he would if he were addressing thousands.

The chairman then introduced Provincial Secretary John R. McCloskey, of St. John.

On rising to speak Bro. McCloskey thanked the audience and members for the honor conferred upon him by having him here at this great reception tendered as it was to the highest officer in our great order, the National President.

Bro. McCloskey spoke feelingly on the great calamity of a year ago, and said that he was more than surprised at the rapid strides Campbellton had made, Campbellton he said would not be a town very long but was destined to become one of the greatest cities in New Brunswick.

The secretary during the course of his remarks paid high tribute to the National President, and said that the word of James J. Regan was as good as his bond. You have had the honor of hearing him in his eloquent plea for the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Chairman Welsh then adjourned the meeting to the next room, where a delicious turkey supper awaited them. About sixty guests sat down to partake of the sumptuous repast.

Supper over the following toasts were given:— The toast to the Church was responded to by Fathers Bouchie and Melans.

Canada—Mr. A. F. LeBlanc, Prov. Sec., A. O. H.—Brother J. R. McCloskey.

Our Sister Societies—Messrs F. A. Therberge and Alex. F. Arseneau—A. O. H. Officers, Brothers P. M. Shannon and John O'Keefe.

Old Ireland—Brother Patrick O'Leary.

National President—Our Guest Jas. J. Regan.

The Press—Brother W. J. McNeill, of the Campbellton Graphic.

A vote of thanks was tendered to President J. J. Regan and Brother J. R. McCloskey.

A vote of thanks was also tendered to the Sisters of Charity for their trouble in preparing the supper.

God Save Ireland.

During the evening songs were sung by Messrs. D. B. Currie and R. J. Lavoie.

IN NORTHUMBERLAND

National President Regan reached Newcastle Monday morning from Campbellton. He was accompanied by Provincial Secretary McCloskey. They were met by County President C. J. Morrissy who accompanied them to Chatham.

A meeting similar to, and as successful as that at Campbellton was held Monday night in Chatham Opera House.

Tuesday the National President was in Fredericton, Wednesday in St. John, and afterwards at Moncton.

ONTARIO POLITICS

There will be a Provincial general election in Ontario early in December, and the four parties—Conservative, Liberal, Independent Labor and Socialist—are lining up for the fray.

Premier Sir James Whitney continues to lead the Conservative party and appeals to the people on the record of his administration.

The Liberal leader, Hon. A. G. MacKay, has resigned and has been succeeded by N. W. Rowell, K. C., a well-known figure in religious activity and moral and social reform. He announces as part of his platform his intention to substitute for the present three-fifths clause a law making a simple majority vote sufficient for abolition of liquor licenses and to give each municipality the right to reduce or abolish taxes on improvements and make up the taxes so lost by increased taxation on land values. This, which is opposed by Whitney, is in line with the proposal adopted last month by the Union of N. B. Municipalities.

Otherwise, the Conservative and Liberal platforms are pretty much alike.

In the matter of election deposit Ontario is ahead of New Brunswick and other provinces. It is not necessary in Ontario for candidates for the legislature to deposit $100 each, to be forfeited in case the candidate fails to receive half as many votes as the winner. This deposit is most unfair and unjust, especially to the smaller and poorer parties and to candidates of small means, and should be abolished in all provinces.

THE FRANCO-GERMAN DISPUTE

Germany and France have, after months of negotiation, come to an agreement in regard to their spheres of influence in Africa.

Germany agrees that France shall have the political protectorate of Morocco, the most valuable unappropriated colonial territory that was left in any part of the world. She also cedes the disputed frontier districts of Togoland in West Africa and gives up to France a small district immediately south of Lake Tchad.

In return France cedes to Germany about 80,000 square miles of the Congo territory allowing Germany access to Belgian Congo and, but for a chain of islands, interrupting French communications between Algeria and the Congo coast. Germany will now be a neighbor to the great Congo Free State, which is administered by Belgium and which is now spoken of as likely soon to be partitioned between the bigger countries, Germany evidently having planned to be right at hand when the breakup occurs.

On the whole, France gets much the better of the bargain, as Morocco is suitable for white people and Congo is not, and Morocco is many times nearer to France than Congo is to Germany.

The Moroccan question is not, however, closed. Spain holds more territory there than is pleasing to France and shows no signs of being willing to withdraw. This will necessitate a more or less prolonged negotiation between these two countries. But Germany has retired from the North African region; and France again breathes freely.

CURLERS TO ORGANIZE

The Newcastle Curling Club will meet in annual session at the Town Hall on the evening of Monday, November 20 at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

THE CHINESE REVOLUTION

The revolution, which began in southwestern China against the Manchu dynasty a few months ago, is now successful in over half of China, and has forced the Government to grant a constitution of the British pattern, to abolish all special privileges of the Manchu nationality and even to offer to exclude members of the royal family from cabinet positions. On the other hand, the revolutionists, distrusting promises wrung from the Manchus in the hour of defeat, have declared for a republic.

Much bloodshed has occurred, although very much less than in any previous disturbance of like magnitude. Foreigners and foreign property have not been interfered with, and almost perfect order is being maintained in all sections under revolutionary control. The whole southern and middle sea coast is now lost to the Government, and the rebels are rapidly advancing on Peking. There are hopes of a settlement whereby the autocracy and the rule of the Manchus will go but the dynasty be retained under a liberal constitution guaranteeing justice to all concerned.

THE SHADOW OF POOR HEALTH

Dispelled Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

When the shadow of poor health falls on your life, when hope begins to fade, and friends look serious, then is the time you should remember that thousands just as hopeless have been cured and restored to the sunshine of health by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills actually make new, rich blood which brings a glow of health to anemic cheeks, cures indigestion, headaches and backaches, drives out the stinging pains of rheumatism and neuralgia, strengthens the nerves and relieves as no other medicine can do the aches and pains which only women folk suffer from. In any emergency of poor health give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and they will not disappoint you. Here is a case that will bring hope to many a weary sufferer. Mrs. F. K. Sanders, St. Thomas, Ont., says: "About four years ago I took a severe cold which I neglected, thinking that I would soon be all right again. But instead I found myself in a weak and run-down condition. I seemed to have no ambition to do anything and my heart and nerves became so bad I was forced to bed. The doctor who was called in said the trouble was chronic anaemia, but in spite of his skilled attendance I was unable to sit up and eat, but had to be fed with a spoon. One day a visiting friend suggested my trying Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I sent for a half dozen boxes. In a short while I began to eat better and feel better, and by the time the pills were used I felt altogether different; my heart did not bother me, my lips and cheeks regained their natural color, and everybody who saw me remarked on how well I was once more looking. I took two more boxes of the pills, which made a complete cure, as I have had neither ache nor pain since, and I now weigh 146 pounds. I always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I hope that this letter may be the means of suggesting relief to many of my sisters who suffer as I did."

Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

POST OFFICE EXTENSION
The people of Wilmot town want a rural mail route from Wilmot. The change is much needed.

Balfour Re-signs Opposition Leadership

London, Nov. 8.—The Unionist party is to swap horses while crossing the home Rule party stream. Arthur J. Balfour, at an emergency meeting of the city of London Conservative Association this afternoon, announced to his constituents his retirement from the leadership of the opposition.

Impaired health, increasing age and the desirability of the leadership passing into younger hands were the reasons which he gave for this step in a speech which was marked by much feeling. But no one doubts that the increasing attacks against him by the ambitious younger Conservatives, particularly the tariff reformers, were the principal factor inspiring his decision.

THE ROSARY

John Meehan, who comes to the Opera House, Saturday Nov. 18, in the leading role in "THE ROSARY," is a Canadian boy, born in Lindsay, Ontario, who has steadily worked his way to the front by hard work in his chosen profession. His stage career dates back about nine years, his first engagement being for a minor role with Robert Edson in "Soldiers of Fortune." During the season he met with some discouragements listened to the advice of one or two ancient actors who had a grievance against the world in general, decided that the stage offered no great inducement for a serious-minded, ambitious young man, and determined to give it up, which he did. He stood fast by this determination for nearly a year, meanwhile studying law in the office of an uncle. One day, however, Mr. Edson came to town with "Soldiers of Fortune" which he had revived after the failure of "The Rector's Garden." John attended the performance and speedily discovered that the stage still had strong attraction for him. His uncle, who had attended the performance with him, noticed his intense interest and agitation, and then and there advised him to go back, if he felt that way about it and so the law lost another shining light.

Since that time, Mr. Meehan has been connected with stock companies in Boston for three seasons, where he had good experience in a varied line of parts. A season on tour with David Belasco's Company in "The Girl of the Golden West" advanced him further and then came three seasons with a first class stock company in New England cities in the support of Miss Leigh DeLacy, where he played leading roles in such plays as "The Daughters of Men," "Janice Meredith," "The Climbers," "Strongheart," "The Man on the Box" and other plays of that class. During the last season Mr. Meehan starred in "The Man on the Box" on tour.

All through his stage career, Mr. Meehan has had a reputation for reliability and earnestness in his work, playing what parts came his way to the best of his ability, and whatever honors have come to him have been fairly earned. Asked recently what style of a part he liked best, he replied, "Well we all like to be the hero, of course, still, a good character part that one can study on and try to better at every performance is well worth while. More especially if you can so sink your identity in the character that the folks out front are made to wonder if it is really you. If its a good part or a bad part, get all you can out of it, and sooner or later you will get credit for what you do."

Off the stage, "Jack" as he is best known to his associates, with whom he is a staunch favorite, is a quiet, unassuming chap, quite unlike what the general public considers a leading actor to be. He is fond of outdoor sports and is an authority on baseball. A good part of his spare time is spent in a quiet little home near Brockville where two little ladies look up to him as their leading man and guiding spirit.

This year he has met with great success in the role of "Father Bona Kelly" in "THE ROSARY."

A WONDERFUL CASE

Three Months in Hospital And Came Out Cured.

Zam-Buk Cured Him in Few Weeks.

Mr. Fred Masin, the well-known upholsterer and mattress manufacturer of St. Andrews, N. B., says:—

"I had eczema on my knee, which caused me terrible pain and inconvenience. The sore parts would itch and burn and tingle, and when rubbed or scratched, would become very painful. When the knee got warm it burned worse, and the itching and burning and smarting were almost unbearable. I tried various remedies, but got no better, so I decided to go to Montreal and take special treatment. I received treatment at the Montreal General Hospital for thirteen weeks, but at the end of that time I was not cured, and almost gave in. A friend advised me to give Zam-Buk a trial.

"Almost as soon as applied Zam-Buk stopped the itching and the irritation. I persevered with the balm, and it was soon evident that it would do me good. Each day the pain was reduced, the sore spots began to heal, and by the time I had used a few boxes of Zam-Buk I was quite cured.

"Since then Zam-Buk has cured blood poison in my finger, and at a time when my finger was in such a terrible condition that I feared it would have to be amputated."

For eczema, blood poisoning, piles, ulcers, sores, abscesses, varicose ulcers, bad leg, cold sores, chapped hands, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin injuries and diseases, Zam-Buk is without equal.

Amatite ROOFING

A Modern View of the Roofing Question

Tin makes a good roof if you paint it.
Canvas makes a good roof if you paint it.
Any felt makes a good roof if you paint it.
Even paper makes a good roof if you paint it.
But Amatite makes a good roof if you DON'T paint it.

On a painted roof, the paint is what gives the real protection. The rest of it has no function except to provide a smooth unbroken surface with no seams or cracks, to which the paint can be applied. Anything which has strength enough to keep the wind from blowing it away or the rain from beating it in, will be waterproof if you use paint enough. Amatite Roofing, however, needs no painting. It is a real roofing—a roofing that can be left out in the rain without the slightest damage.

The wearing surface is mineral matter embedded into a heavy coating of pitch and never needs painting.

We shall be glad to send you a sample of Amatite free of charge if you will send a postal request for it to our nearest office. The sample will show you what the mineral surface is like.

WEDDING BELLS

CRAWFORD-MUNRO

There took place at noon on Nov. 1st, at 3 Jubilee road, a wedding which interested a wide circle, not, indeed, restricted to the city of Halifax, or the province of Nova Scotia...

Dr. Munro is a graduate of Dalhousie University, and a most valued member of its Alumnae Society, five years residence in India, where she was engaged in work as a medical missionary...

The drawing room bore effective decorative touches in honor of the ceremony—simple and for that reason beautiful.

Miss Munro, looking very lovely in a gown of white satin, and carrying a bouquet of white roses, was attended by her sister, Miss Alberta Munro, who wore a gown of cream crepe de chene and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford left by the Maritime Express, proposing to visit Montreal and Toronto before sailing for Scotland.

The collection of wedding gifts was large, beautiful and valuable. It included a silver tea service from the congregation of St. George's Presbyterian church, River John, the groom's old charge, and a cabinet of silver from the congregation of Chalmers church, Coburg road.

ALEXANDRA HENDERSON

There passed away suddenly and peacefully, on the morning of the 2nd inst a young woman, well known to many travellers and tourists, Miss Alexandra Henderson only daughter of Mrs Henderson of Bay Shore House, Charlottetown, N. B.

Her bright and cheerful spirit, her pleasing manner and winsome kind ness endeared her to all her acquaintances. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church, Charlottetown, and a general favorite in the community.

The Men's Missionary Congress to be held in St. John, Nov. 20th, to 22nd, serves to direct the attention anew to what someone has termed "the biggest thing in the world" certainly the greatest factor in recent years in the spiritual awakening of the manhood of our churches—the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Whatever attitude one may profess towards missions in general, the position of the Men's Missionary Movement is so fair as to challenge the most kindly consideration of every right-thinking man.

THE STANDING ALIBI OF H. STANLEIGH STORME

Storme, sir. I can swear to that. "Cross examine," said the state's attorney briefly. The counsel for the defense rose with a smile upon his face. "Mr. Burke," he began, in a suave voice, "you have seen Mr. Storme since that night, have you not?" "Yes, sir," replied Burke. "You know where he lives?" "I didn't then," returned Burke. "We don't keep track of everybody from headquarters, but I do know the lives at the Gouverneur up town."

CHAPTER VI

The Sheriff's Testimony.

The prisoner's attorney rose. A flickering ghost of a smile played around the corners of his mouth. He departed from the usual rule and made no opening statement to the jury. To him it seemed unnecessary. "I call the sheriff of the county," he announced. The sheriff—a stout, good-natured looking man, with a broad, genial, honest face—had been seated quietly in the body of the court room outside the railing, an unnoticed spectator. Now he rose and made his way, with some difficulty, through the crowd. As he went he nodded to the judge, the counsel, and some of the jurymen. He did not look at Storme, nor did Storme look at him. He took the stand, and was sworn. He settled himself comfortably in the chair, threw one leg over the other, and waited for the question. "Sheriff," began the counsel for the defense, carelessly, would you mind stating to the jury just where you were at 2 o'clock on Wednesday morning of the twenty-third of May last?" The sheriff looked around and smiled. "On Monday night, on Tuesday night and Wednesday night, the twenty-first, twenty-second and twenty-third of last month," he replied, deliberately and with an evident relish of the situation, "I was in the green room of the Montauk Club in this city—on each night from 2 o'clock in the evening until after 3 o'clock the next morning."

"Will you state just what you word doing?" "Certainly," responded the sheriff. "We were playing cards. We were disposing of some old scores that we had waited for some months to pay off." "Was anybody with you? If so, state to the jury just who it was." "Yes," returned the sheriff, leaning forward in his turn as all witnesses have a way of doing; "there were three people with me, making four altogether—three of us played each night, and the fourth man looked on and kept us company." "And these four—?" "These four," continued the sheriff, "were myself and John R. Cassidy, the hardware merchant, and H. Stanleigh Storme, the prisoner at the bar." "John R. Cassidy is here?" "He's here," assented the witness. "And the fourth man—who was he?" inquired the attorney. The sheriff was plainly embarrassed, but he nerved himself nevertheless for the ordeal. "The fourth man," he began, looking nervously around, "the fourth man was—the—the—the judge presiding at this trial." He blurted this out in a desperate sort of way, and yet with an apologetic air, too. There was a prolonged titter in the court room at the judge's expense. The judge rapped for order, but at the same time nodded in a dignified way in confirmation of the testimony. "His honor, then, was the man who was looking on?" inquired the counsel, anxious to place the court in the most favorable light, and expecting an affirmative answer to the question. The sheriff looked first at the counsel and then at the judge—at the judge and then at the lawyer again. He didn't know what to do. The judge turned red. "I don't think, Mr.—er—er—" he said to the counsel for the defendant, "that it's at all necessary to go into that. Proceed with the next question," he continued, pounding with his gavel to check the incipient merriment. The sheriff leaned back in his chair with a sigh of relief. Order was restored. "Was the prisoner there on each occasion?" resumed the counsel. "He was," returned the sheriff, still a bit rattled. "Every night?" "Every night," replied the sheriff. "He was the first man on hand, and the last man to leave. He was with us all the time." "How far is the Montauk Club from the Mordaunt bank?" "It's a good three miles," replied the sheriff. "Take the witness," concluded the counsel for the defense, as he settled back in his seat with satisfaction written on his face. The district attorney rose with a frown. There was a loud buzz of conversation in the court room, which his honor stopped with a few raps upon his desk. The district attorney was plainly non-plussed, and he showed it. Still he maintained his composure. "Sheriff," inquired he, looking at individual squarely in the eye, "how did you fix the night of May the twenty-second, or the morning of the twenty-third? By the way, which was it?" "Both," replied the sheriff, laconically. "Well, how do you fix it, then? Why do you remember it?" The sheriff returned the district attorney's stare with interest. The two men were politically opposed to each other, and there was no love lost between them. "I'll tell you how I fix it," said the sheriff, shaking his finger at the examiner. "I could fix it, anyway, by other things, but I know by one thing in particular. When I got there that night there were two men ahead of me—one of 'em was Storme, and the other Cassidy. It was a few minutes after ten when we started in, because they said I was late and I said I wasn't, and I found that my watch was about ten minutes slow."

two in the morning. And Storme was there—sat next to me. And I said to Storme, when the news came in 'Storme,' I said, 'Mordant's safe's been cracked, and there's a pile of money gone.' "And I called up headquarters then and there, and we found out all about it. That's how it was, and that's how I know, and his honor can tell you just what I tell you, too. That's all there is about it. "And I want to tell you," concluded the sheriff, officially, and for the benefit of the reporters who were taking down his testimony. "I want to tell you, counselor, that the county detectives would never have made a bull like this, either, and don't you forget it—never in God's world." The sheriff stepped down, and John R. Cassidy stepped up. His testimony was identical. It was the purpose of the prisoner's counsel to call the prisoner, but just as he was to do so, the prisoner plucked him by the sleeve. After a short conference, the attorney for the defence announced that the defence closed his case. The judge's charge was normal and formal in the extreme. At the close of it, the jury although invited to retire, declined to do so, and without stepping from the jury box returned a verdict of "not guilty." And then the crowd piled up on top of H. Stanleigh Storme and showered him with congratulations. This was the only precarious experience that Storme had suffered during the whole thing. Two-thirds, perhaps, of his friends and acquaintances were in the court room. Every individual among the number insisted upon shaking him by the hand. The crowd packed the aisles, waiting for him. Storme had his eye fixed wistfully upon the exit. For some reason he was anxious to get away. He thanked his counsel briefly, together with his witnesses, and then hurried along. Finally he reached the open air. But there still clung to him a little bevy of men and women. Suddenly he glanced down the street. "There," he explained to his friends, "is a man I want to see—a man I must see." And he hurried off. As he went he glanced at his watch. There was no man, but he simply wanted to get away, that's all. On the way he passed Officer O'Connell and Burke, the plain clothes man. As he did so he smiled upon them in a way that was childlike and bland. They returned the salutation with curt nods of their heads. "Well, Jim," said O'Connell to Burke, as Storme left them far in the rear, "what d'ye make of it, any way?" "Billy," returned Burke, solemnly, "I don't know what to make of it. The only solution I have arrived at is that the devil must have been stringing us that night. That's all I've got to say." O'Connell shook his head doubtfully. And they quickened their pace and followed Storme. Away up the street Storme forged ahead with rapid steps. "An alibi," he muttered to himself, "is a blamed good thing."

CHAPTER VII

The Showers and the Shadowed. It took Storme some time to escape entirely from the clutches of his over-enthusiastic friends. All the way along the street he met them. By means of one pretext and another, however, he finally eluded them and slipped down a quiet street. From this one he emerged into a more open thoroughfare, and finally stood before the Gouverneur, his bachelor apartment home. Once there, he glanced hastily up and down the street to make sure that no one saw him, then quickly unlocked the door and stepped inside. He ascended noiselessly to the second floor apartment. He entered it, and lastly passed through room after room. "Nobody here," he remarked with a sigh of relief. "I am all alone." He seated himself at a desk and began to write. "It is just as well," he said to himself, "to write once more, now that it's all over. It was just as well, too, to write before, when—the first—catastrophe occurred. It's safer if anything. It's taking chances—big chances perhaps—but in a safe quarter, after all." He wrote hastily as follows: My Dear Miss Dumont: It seems better to address you for the present. There are certain things to which I prefer to refer by letter alone. You will recall that I wrote you on the twenty-fourth of last month regarding you to make reference to my presence, or to me, to anything which might have happened. That request was not prompted by any desire to be spared humankind—it was a part of his peculiar circumstances which have constituted a part of my present life. "Now that I have been vindicated in your eyes and in the eyes of the world I ask you to make to me no reference to to-day's happenings, nor to such vindication, nor, indeed, to this letter or the other. I have many good reasons for making this request, which will appear later. I close with the expression of much regard. Sincerely, "H. STANLEIGH STORME." "A bit formal, perhaps," continued Storme, "but certainly imperative. This complication with Miss Dumont was certainly unlooked for—and yet"—he smiled to himself—"not altogether unfortunate, for me. I don't know after all, but that it is a good thing—a very good thing, perhaps after all."

He retraced his steps and re-entered the hall and, passing through to the rear of the apartment house, made his exit through an alleyway. Once clear of the place, he hastened towards the centre of the town and handed his message in at a local delivery office with instructions to send it out at once. In the meantime one of the two men who had stood outside sauntered up and accented the other. Did you see him then, Jim, when he stuck his head outside?" Burke nodded—for it was he. "He won't come out till dark, now," he replies, "you see if he does." "Well," returned the first man, "he saw us all right, all right—though he can't be sure just who we are since we're all togged out in this way. We might just as well stick together now for a while, anyway. Gimme a chew o' tobacco, will you? That's the ticket." There was a silence while he carefully adjusted the stuff to suit his taste. Suddenly he grasped the other man by the sleeve. "Geel!" he exclaimed. "Look a here. How the devil now did he get out? He gave us the slip, after all." He pointed down the street. Burke nodded his head. "He's been out—blamed if he ain't," assented he, "and now he's coming back. He's a slick one, all right. Went out the back way, probably, and now he's comin' back as bold as brass." The object of their remarks disappeared within the house. He looked neither to the right nor to the left. Most certainly he did not see the two plain clothes men, or, if he did, he gave no sign. It was now fairly late in the afternoon. "Stumpy," exclaimed Burke, "go around the corner there and 'phone headquarters. We may see another man. An' you keep that alleyway under yer eye, too." "We got this fellow now where we want him, an' it's a blame good thing I forgot something and had to come back. We'll camp on his trail; we'll follow him, no matter where he goes." "Stumpy," he continued, "let me tell you. I told it in court, an' I say that there man is the man who robbed that bank, and by George, I'm goin' to keep him in sight if it takes the whole force to do it. Understand! I am, so help me God!" The other man came up from headquarters. "Say, Burke," he exclaimed, "I saw some man downtown. What're you (To be Continued)

THE LIGHT-HOUSE KEEPER'S STORY. FROM the lighthouse at Lobster Cove Head, Bonne Bay, Newfoundland, Mrs. W. Young sends her experience of Zam-Buk. She says: "I suffered with eczema for seven years and to my great delight Zam-Buk has cured me. The disease started on my breast, and spread until it extended over my back. The itching and burning—especially when the affected parts were warm—was terrible; and yet when the eruption was scratched or rubbed, it turned to bad sores and caused great pain. I went to a doctor and tried various prescriptions, but seemed to get no benefit, so tried another doctor. Again I got no relief, so tried a third doctor, and then a fourth. "Seven years is a long time to suffer, and I had got used to the thought that I never would be cured, when I saw a report in the Family Herald, telling how beneficial Zam-Buk was in cases of skin disease. "I bought some Zam-Buk, and from the use of the very first box I saw it was going to do me good. I persevered with it, and the improvement it worked in my condition was really wonderful. "It eased the irritation, stopped the pain, and the sores began to dry up and disappear. In short, I found Zam-Buk all that was claimed for it and within a very short time it worked a complete cure in my case. "Since that time I have recommended it for several other cases, and in each it has proved its wonderful merit."
