Are Your Glasses Right

Vision changes as all things do with the years particularly in old folk and the glasses that were just right a few years ago may be all wrong to-day. If they have outlived their usefulness, you are doing your eyes an injury by wearing them and you are bringing on headaches and nervous disorders. Better let us test your eyes and see whether your present glasses are suited to them.

We have many styles of both Eyeglasses and Spectacles

To show you, and can fit either with frames or without as preferred. We keep a record of thousands of tests made by us, and it is a great pleasure sometimes on referring to our book to find a person's eyes have considerably improved since first testing and fitting.

Should your Spectacles need truing up bring them in and have them done, which we like to do without charge.

We have just opened some very handsome Silverware suitable for Wedding or New Year Gifts.

The Need of Good Manners.

But if you should happen to be of a doubting turn of mind, accept an invitation to dinner from some person for whose social standing you have much respect, and then if your hostess in the kindness of her heart serves pie, take half of it in your right hand, close your eyes, bite a morsel of it in your best manner, and observe the effect on the other guests. You may be quite certain that if you desire not to be invited again to that house you will have your wish. Society in this country is becoming more and more civilized and exacting every year; and you will simply put a mark of inferiority on yourself in its eyes if you disregard rules which are trifles in themselves, but very important in their effect.

A young man's fate in life may be decided by a badly-written letter or a well-written one, by a rough gesture, by an oath or an unpolite phrase uttered when he thinks no one is listening. But let us remember that there is always some one looking or hearing; for, and this is an axiom, there are no secrets in life.

Emerson says, writing of "Behavior": "Nature tells every secret over. Yes; but in man she tells it all the time, by form, attitude, gesture, mien, face and parts of the machine. The visible carriage or motion of the individual, as resulting from his organization and his will combined, we call manners. What are they but thought entering the hands and feet, controlling the movements of the body, the speech and behavior?"

Cardinal Newman, in his definition of a gentleman, does not forget manners, though he lays less stress on their power for worldly advancement than Emerson does. Good manners are, in the opinion of the great Cardinal, the outward signs of true Christianity. Etiquette is the extreme of good manners. A man may be a good Christian and expectorate, spit, sprinkle, spray, diffuse tobacco-juice right and left. But the man who will do that, though he have a good heart and an unimpeachable character, is not a gentleman in the world's meaning of the term, for with the world it is not the heart that counts, but the manners. You may keep your hat on your head if you choose when you meet a clergyman or a lady. You need not examine your conscience about it, and you will find nothing against it in the Constitution of the United States; you may be on your way to give your last five dollars to the poor, or to visit a sick neighbor, but by that omission, you stamp yourself at once as being outside the sacred circle in which society includes gentlemen.—From "A Gentleman," by Maurice Francis Egan.

The Romans' Vow.

"Veritas" Roman correspondent of the Catholic Standard and Times, contributes this among other items: Probably few individuals of the many foreign colonies residing permanently in Rome knew why Thursday last (February 1) was a day of fast and abstinence. But did they go to the trouble of inquiring from the courteous attendants in the Sistine Chapel what caused the great, ugly crack that disfigures "The Last Judgment" of Michael Angelo, they should be referred back to the good old days when the Pope had his own.

At 9 o'clock on February 2, 1703, the city of Rome was visited by an earthquake of an unusually violent nature. The greater part of the population, who were in the churches celebrating the feast of the Purification, were suddenly thrown from their seats, while the church furniture littered the floor, to their great consternation. Pope Clement XI, who was presiding in the Sistine Chapel at the ceremony of blessing the candles, was startled at seeing a rent in the wall on which "The Last Judgment" is painted. Obtruding an Italian writer of 1704 tells us that the Pope and Cardinals immediately fell upon their knees to pray for Rome, and then the Pope went down into St. Peter's. The canons of St. Peter's seeing the Pontiff endangering his life by going under the copula, which was still trembling, advised him to refrain from entering. To the Holy Father, however, intrepidly walked to St. Peter's tomb to pray for his people. Then, with the Sacred College, he started on foot for St. John Lateran, where he again besought heaven to stay its anger.

As the people were still in a state of consternation, owing to repeated shocks, the Pontiff went to the Church of the Holy Sairs. He was dressed in a simple habit of black woolen stuff, as a sign of affliction. Leaving his Cardinals and guards at the foot of the stairs, the Pope climbed the steps sanctified by his Saviour's feet on his knees.

During this time penitential processions were organized through the streets, and soon all Rome resounded with the chanting of litanies and ories to the Madonna for protection. Soon, however, shortly after Clement XI, had completed his work of piety, all appearance of the late commotion had passed.

Next morning the grateful people met and solemnly vowed that they and their posterity should ever observe the vigil of the Purification as a day of fast and abstinence in gratitude for the succor given them by Mary Immaculate. Marobio to the Vatican, they begged their Pope King to receive their vow, and to make its observance bind their posterity under sin while Rome should last. And thus this precept came into being, and so it shall remain while Catholic Rome stands.

Tells of Pope's Decree.

A special despatch from Washington to the Baltimore "Sun," on February 4, says:

Fresh from an audience with Pope Pius X., at the Vatican in Rome, Rev. Dr. Norman Holly, professor of church music at Danwood Seminary, of the Archdiocese of New York, and consultant to the Pontifical commission for the Vatican edition of liturgical books, at the 11 o'clock Mass to-day at the Holy Trinity Church, Georgetown, the oldest church in the District of Columbia, spoke on the subject of reform in church music.

Dr. Holly, who is probably the foremost American authority on this subject, now agitating the Catholic world, while in Rome participated in the work of the Papal commission in editing the revised edition of the Gregorian chants, being the only American member of the commission.

In speaking of the Papal document, the "Motu Proprio," on the subject of reform in church music, Dr. Holly left no doubt in the minds of his hearers that the order of the Pope must not be trifled with, saying that it was a law rather than a mere order. The requirements of the "Motu Proprio," he said, were chiefly the resumption of the Gregorian chant, the formation of liturgical choirs and congregational singing, that is, active participation by the people in the solemn services of the Church.

"In all of this, however, the benign heart of Pius X., is full of consideration for our weakness," said Dr. Holly. "He does not require the impossible; he wishes this reform carried out quam primum, as soon as possible. Provided we do the best we can and ever strive to do better yet, we shall satisfy the Holy Father. 'He who loveth his brother hath fulfilled the law.' For those who show themselves proud and contemptuous, he has condign punishment in reserve."

In the opening remarks of his sermon Dr. Holly said that it was with a great and peculiar pleasure that he found himself at Holy Trinity, for it was seldom that he had been so edified by the liturgical services of a parish church. The ceremonies of the Mass, he said, were performed with a fullness and gravity quite unequal in an obituary of such relatively small resources, and it was peculiarly fitting, he thought, that the oldest parish in the District should be the pioneer in the movement toward the reform in church music so constantly desired by the Holy Church. He complimented the congregation that it supported its pastor in his courageous attempt at remodeling the church services even before the publication of the wishes of the Pope.

"The reform of church music is the constant desire of the Holy Church," Dr. Holly said. "The 'Motu Proprio' of Pius X., is but one of a series of such juridical codes extending back to the time of the Apostles. St. Paul says, 'Therefore I will confess to Thee, O Lord, among the gentiles, and I will sing to Thy name.' And again 'Praise the Lord, all ye gentiles, and glorify Him, all ye people, and everywhere he tells us to sing together in hymns and spiritual canticles. Later on we find St. Ambrose reforming the music in his day. St. Gelasius and St. Gregory, the great Pope, also reformed both liturgy and music, Gregory IX., Pius V., Benedict XIV., Pius IX., Leo XIII., and finally Pius X., our Holy Father, gloriously reigning; all these and many other Popes have acted vigorously in this important matter. Shall we then doubt of the mind of the Holy Church? I say the Church constantly desires reform in church music as in other things, because reform is constantly necessary. Our tendency is ever toward worldliness, and we have ever a need to be reminded of our duty to praise the Lord in a fitting manner."

The style of music which you have so courageously abandoned is unquestionably beautiful in many of its forms, but in all manner of beauty desirable in our sanctuaries?

"Our Holy Father has been a lover and student of church music ever since his childhood. As a young parish priest, as a Bishop, Archbishop and Patriarch he was ever on the alert to suppress all music that was unfitting in the churches over which he ruled, and now he has but extended to the Catholic world the reforms which he so fearlessly and wisely carried out at Treves, Mantua and Venice. "In its nature the 'Motu Proprio' is a strict law, binding upon all in such a manner that no one is free to set for mere pleasure in any way contradictory to it."

To offset the anxieties which some of the oldest children of the Church are causing the Holy Father, he is receiving much consolation from the affectionate devotion of some of his younger peoples. The Vicar Apostolic of Zanzibar is in Rome, and so is the Vicar Apostolic of Uganda, neighbors on the east coast of Africa, and they both come with hopeful reports of the progress of Christ's Kingdom among the Mohammedan peoples of these rich islands.

The Vicar Apostolic of Uganda, Mgr. Haalon, has been in Rome for some time, and he speaks very warmly of the generous aid the British authorities give to the Catholic missionaries. Whatever we may think of the rights (or wrongs) of the British East Africa Company and the British occupation of these rich coasts, our missionaries are taking advantage of their protection and cultivating the faith that the Portuguese planted long years ago among the Arabs and negroes of the region.

The Vicar Apostolic of Zanzibar, Mgr. Allgeyer, had a long and very happy week. Zanzibar is not as populous as Uganda, but it is the gate to all that part of Africa. It is the home of the coral and the clove and many other natural gifts, and though it is now a shining mark for British traders, as it was formerly for German, and, earlier still, Portuguese it had never the chance it has now of Christian teaching through the numbers of Irish missionaries that are there, and who in time will make their impress on it spiritually and temporarily.

The Sultan and his ministers sent very friendly messages to the Holy Father through Mgr. Allgeyer, and he in turn will bring back to them tokens of the Pope's love and solicitude for them and their people.

The eminent French litterateur, M. Francois Coppes, one of the most devoted adherents, interviewed by the Paris correspondent of the "Fall Mall Gazette," expressed himself as follows on the subject of the recent disturbances in French churches: "These things are a striking proof that the faith has not died in France. I consider the moral effect of these manifestations will be very great. Of course, we are bound to be beaten in a material sense—we have all the forces against us. But what of that? The Church must not complain if it has to suffer. There have always been disturbances, persecution, civil war. Yet the Church has endured; the Church is eternal. Consider, it has lasted nineteen centuries." Replying to a further question, M. Coppes said: "I am no prophet, of course, but I think the Church will be stronger morally than before, though I am under no illusion as to our numerical position. We are bound to be in the minority under the present demagogic regime, and with universal suffrage we must wait, however, for twenty years for the full effect to be seen. A new race of clergy will then have sprung up. Remember that for a hundred years the Church and State have been joined. The priesthood has been accustomed to look to the Government for assistance. Now habits of independence must be learned. The material difficulties will be overcome. Rich people will come forward. The Catholics in France have always been devoted and generous. Let us suppose that out of forty millions of Frenchmen, in the mother country and the colonies, four millions, one tenth, are practicing Catholics. Well, you have merely to get each person to subscribe ten francs a year, and forty millions of francs, representing the sum received under the Concordat, is immediately raised. There are cases of hardship, but this question of means will be arranged."

By the side of a certain portion of a suburban railway stands a glue factory which sometimes gives out a particularly offensive smell. A lady who was obliged to travel on this line quite often always carried with her a bottle of lavender salts. One morning an old farmer took the seat beside her. As the train neared the factory the lady opened her bottle of salts. Soon the whole car was filled with the horrible odor of the glue. The farmer put up with it as long as he could, then shouted: "Madam, would you mind putting the cork in that 'ere bottle?"

The father replied by letter saying:—"Friend Henry,—You don't need a wife. You need a spelling-book. Get one and study it for a year. Then write me again."

On February 28th, the Canadian Pacific Railway forwarded to the Treasurer of the Province of Quebec a check for seven million dollars. This represents the balance due on the price of the Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa and Occidental Railway, running between Montreal and Quebec, which the Chapleau government sold to the company in 1882, and on which the company has been paying interest ever since.

MILITARY circles at Vienna are much interested in the recent invention of a Hungarian which, it is asserted, will revolutionize naval warfare. It consists of an electrical device enabling the laying of guns with perfect accuracy on any target in any kind of weather.

The grain and flour section of the Toronto Board of Trade, have passed a resolution urging upon the government the desirability of offering liberal terms for the annexation of Newfoundland and the West India Islands to the Canadian Confederation.

THE Public Accounts of the Province of Ontario submitted to the Legislature by Hon. Mr. Hanna on Feb. 28th, show a balance in favor of the Province on last year's financial transactions, of $620,159.68. The receipts were $6,016,173.42 and the expenditure $5,396,016.74.

A LARGE audience assembled in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Queen Street last evening to listen to a lecture by Rev. Terence Campbell of St. Joseph's, Kelly's Cross. The lecture was preceded by a musical programme, excellently rendered by Mrs. W. J. O'Rielly, Master Elzear Arsenault, Mrs. James Byrne, Dr. Caven and Austin Trainor in the order named.

and vitiating reading so largely indulged in these days he deserves the praise and thanks of all lovers of sound healthy literature. Those who have much leisure for reading will have much to answer for if they waste their time in poring over cheap trashy novels.

The Misonneuve Result.

(Montreal Gazette.)

There is a wider than local meaning to this election. It gives points to what was said the other day about the effect of making the Governments a Laurier instead of a Liberal party. The followers of a man rather than the advocates of a principle. A principle does not suffer from a foolish advocate's failure; a man is as weak as his weakness.

Schooner Stranded.

Swept from steam to stern by mountainous seas in the teeth of a sixty-mile gale, an unknown four-masted schooner was hard aground some thousands yards off shore near Norfolk, Va., on Feb. 28th. The life savers at Cape Henry were powerless to aid the crew aboard the standard vessel.

Germany and France Will now be Compelled to Show Their Aims.

Advice of the 3rd, from Algiers says—The conference on Moroccan reforms took a most important step today by deciding on the initiative of Great Britain to proceed to the immediate discussion of the police question. After Sir Arthur Nicolson, chief of the British delegation, had submitted this proposition, the Marquis Viscount Yoofoa, head of the Italian mission, actively seconded it, eloquently appealing for conciliation and asking for the abandonment of the absolute and unbending standpoint taken by France and Germany.

bonus of two thousand pounds a year and has five years more to run. All of the details of the agreement of transfer have not yet been made public. It is understood, however, that Canada is to maintain the facilities at Halifax to a reasonable degree of repair and make use of them for marine purposes. They will be available for the use of the British war vessels when they are required. The property which is thus turned over to Canada comprises all the equipment of a dockyard. It includes wharves, anchorages, graving dock, repair shops, barracks, hospitals and residences. The area of water front occupied is most extensive. The facilities were constructed at the cost of many millions of dollars. The admiral's residence alone is valued at fifty thousand dollars.

In the Imperial Parliament.

A bill has been introduced in the Commons to remove the embargo on Canadian cattle. It is in charge of Thomas Cairns, of Newcastle, Green-wood, York. The debate on the second reading is expected on April 6. It is said all the members from Scotland pledged their support. Even should it pass the Commons it may be killed in the Lords. In the meantime those favoring the embargo are preparing for a big deputation to wait on Lord Carrington on March 6. Sir Howard Vincent has introduced an amendment to the Merchandise Marks Act, with the object of distinguishing colonial from foreign imports.

News from Moncton.

Joseph Perrigo, a pit foreman in the I. O. C., roundhouse, sustained a painful but not serious scalds Wednesday afternoon. He, with other employees, was working around a locomotive in the shops when he went under the engine to look after some work. Under the engine was a pit full of boiling water and in this the unfortunate man was in an instant submerged to his hips. He quickly pulled himself out, but not before his boots and clothing had been filled with scalding water.

New Canadian Demurrage Rules.

The new car demurrage rules recently announced by the Board of Railway Commissioners become effective throughout Canada on March 1st. Twenty-four hours is allowed for loading a car and a charge of a dollar a day thereafter is made for delay caused by the shipper. A consignee is given twenty-four hours after notice in which to pay charges and directing the placing of cars for unloading. Forty-eight hours more are allowed for unloading coal, coke and lime and for loading or unloading lumber. At sidewater ports five is allowed in which to unload lumber or hay for export.

About Niagara Falls.

An Ottawa despatch of Feb. 29th says: Before Canada adopts any policy with respect to the proposed Niagara Falls, the Minister of Public Works, Hon. C. S. Hyman, feels that the fullest official data should be obtained as to the extent to which the scenic beauty of the Falls, will be impaired by the operations of power development companies, having authority to generate electric energy. Accordingly, he has made the suggestion that the International Waterways Commission should appoint experts to make surveys, and compile the necessary information, and pronounce authoritatively whether, and what extent the Falls are being damaged or injured.

Concerning a despatch to a London newspaper from Washington in effect that Emperor William contemplated a dramatic stroke by announcing to the world that France and Germany had agreed, the delegates declare, that they do not suppress information warranting such a statement. The voting at Algiers Saturday on the proposition of Arthur Nicolson, chief of the British delegation, to proceed to the immediate discussion of the Moroccan police question, gives great satisfaction in Paris chiefly because France has ranged with her a large majority of the powers, while Germany is among the small minority. The officials had even considered Austria as a doubtful, and had Austria balked in the affirmative the entire vote of Europe and America would have ranged on the side of France.

Rumors of a Russian Revolution.

St. Petersburg advices of the 4th inst. say: The reactionary cabinet at Tzarcozelo, headed by Count Ignatieff, General Treppoff, commander of the palace, and Gen. Prince Putiatin made a last ditch fight at the recent meeting of the special council to defeat the decision of the emperor to incorporate in the fundamental laws of the empire the provision that hereafter no law shall be effective without the consent of the national assembly, and the council of the empire. According to some reports their efforts were not without the sympathy of the emperor. When it became apparent that Premier Witte and the emperor's councillors, who argued that only such a renunciation of the imperial power as could oppose the sentiment of the country, would carry the day, Count Ignatieff made a last personal appeal to the emperor warning him bluntly that on the eve of the assembling of the national assembly such an irrevocable step would put an end forever to the autocracy. The emperor, however, remained firm and ordered a vote to be taken, and when the proposition was carried his majesty formally confirmed the decision. The cabinet is represented to have been driven to desperation by the defeat and there are sinister rumors of an attempt at a palace revolution. In high quarters, however, such a possibility is scoffed. The emperor's determination to abide by his promises of Oct. 30 was announced finally and resolutely in answer to a reactionary delegation from Ivanovo-Vosnessensk, which asked him to withdraw his manifesto and to govern the country as his fathers had done.

King Edward in Paris.

King Edward's visit to Paris is attracting great attention, enormous crowds cheering his every appearance on the streets. The cordiality of the greetings exchanged between the king and President Fallieres during his majesty's official call at the Elysee Palace was much remarked. The conversation between the two lasted half an hour. Later the president returned the call at the British embassy, where a state dinner was held in the evening, at which President Fallieres and Premier Rouvier with their wives, were among the guests.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS

In consequence of good roads there was a fairly large attendance at the market yesterday. With the exception of eggs, which sold for 15 and 16 cents a dozen, the prices were the same as last week.

Saturday was a busy day for the various officials at the Deep Water Terminals, Halifax. The 1396 passengers who landed from the Allan Mail steamer Thelma, together with their baggage, which amounted to considerable, were handled most expeditiously, and by the evening all were "westward bound."

While a van full of prisoners was on its way from the jail to the court house in Montreal a few days ago, it was struck by a street car on St. Denis street and three attendants who were in charge were thrown to the pavement by the shock and badly injured. Although the van was badly wrecked, the nine prisoners made no effort to escape, and were taken to the court in cabs.

Another was added on the list, in fact, to the long list of big hotels, with the formal opening of the new Marlborough-Blenheim at Atlantic City, N. J. The new structure has attracted the attention of builders and architects all over the country because of the fact that it is the largest building of reinforced concrete in the world, the architecture coming down from 27 B. C. The main structure is 12 stories high and with the annex contains accommodations for 1,100 guests. The sumptuous parlor overlooking the Boardwalk accommodates 2,000 persons.

As a matter of precaution Mobile, Alabama, on the 1st, inst., put into effect a modified form of quarantine against Havana and other tropical ports. All it was discovered that the modified quarantine will be maintained at quarantine inspection, the length of time to be determined by the health officers. Every passenger will undergo examination. If there is any suspicious sickness on board the patients or patients will be isolated and the steamer and passengers held the required period. Through passengers from points beyond Mobile are not affected by the quarantine regulations.

A bad fire occurred in the store of Nelson Brothers, Merchants, Richmond Street, between six and seven o'clock last evening. The fire, which responded to the call and got the fire under control in a short time; but not before a great amount of damage had been done to the store and goods. The fire and water damage to the goods must be very great. The most regrettable feature is that they had no insurance on their stock, and but $500,000 on the building.

The Imperial troops completely evacuated Halifax when, at eight Monday evening, the Royal Engineers, the last Imperial unit, left their barracks and, played Huzzah and other patriotic songs to the call and got the fire under control in a short time; but not before a great amount of damage had been done to the store and goods. The fire and water damage to the goods must be very great. The most regrettable feature is that they had no insurance on their stock, and but $500,000 on the building.

A rumor comes to Toronto from Calgary to the effect that William Hayward, on a charge of murdering, whom Charles King was hanged in Edmonton last summer, was recently seen alive in the Northern wilds where the tragedy is believed to have taken place. King was convicted on a second trial—the evidence, though strong and incriminating, being entirely circumstantial. It is understood that the Imperial authorities are not at all interested in the case, although a few pat officers were in the rumor which has become widespread. The evidence was so strong that there could be but a slight possibility of such a terrible mistake occurring, although King died protesting that he was innocent.

The War Department at Washington has under consideration a suggestion to employ the Philippine scouts should there be any occasion to use troops in China. There are now about 5,000 of these scouts distributed through the archipelago, and some of the army here who have commanded them in the Philippines are strongly of the opinion that, properly officered by Americans, these Philippine scouts would be admirably suited for Chinese service if any United States forces were ever needed there. It is recalled that the Spaniards employed Philippine scouts with great success in the conquest of the Philippines, and that, who had been in the French acquisition of Tonquin. Points urged in favor of that scheme are: first, economy; for the scouts are much cheaper to maintain in the service than American troops, drawing less pay and subsisting on a much less expensive ration; and secondly, they are really of little use at present and might not be depended upon to fire upon their own people in case of insurrection; hence they may be replaced by white troops.

According to a Halifax despatch of the 4th, inst., the story comes from Paris of a wonderful new variety of potatoes which is being introduced into France. In 1901 there was brought to that country a few of the native potatoes of Uruguay, which were very small in size and too bitter for use as food. They were cultivated and developed till now it is claimed they are of surpassing productivity and excellence. They produce from 1000 to 1300 bushels per acre, of excellent quality and grow best on wet boggy soil. The tubers frequently are from two to four pounds in weight and cluster closely about the stalk near or partly above the surface of the ground. Though being to a greenish color when thus exposed to the sun they do not acquire a bitter taste or poisonous quality as our potatoes do under these conditions. No disease affects the new potato and the stalks are excellent food for cattle. There are still other high claims for the new potato, but let these suffice.

Important Decision on Bequests for Masses.

A decision just handed down by the Court of Appeal in Dublin, on the subject of bequests for Masses, settles satisfactorily what has hitherto been a great grievance to Irish Catholics.

Cardinal First Proposed Counting the Pulse.

Writing in a recent issue of the Catholic Times of Liverpool, J. C. McWalter, M. D., says: In the Fitzpatrick lectures delivered at the Royal College of Physicians in London, Dr. Norman Moore made the following reference to a famous Cardinal: "Nicholas of Cusa was a man of varied learning and of a scientific habit of mind. He

Lord Justice Fitzgibbon, a Protestant, said:

"Speaking with all reverence of a faith which I do not hold, touching the mystery of Godliness, I could not impute to any individual professing the Roman Catholic religion that he regarded a gift of money for Masses as a means of securing a private and exclusive benefit for himself alone from such a sacrifice as being much, if at all, short of blasphemous, and as I understand the proved doctrine of the Church, it would certainly be heresy."

Lord Justice Holmes, also a Protestant, said:

"If I were obliged to arrive at a judicial conclusion as to whether the public celebration of the Mass confers a public benefit on those who hear it, I must consider the doctrine that is embodied in the rite. I might adopt the declaration of the Council of Trent regarding the sacrifice of the Mass, or I might adopt the strong language of the thirty-first Article of Religion in the English Book of Common Prayer. In the one case it would necessarily follow that the celebration, whether in public or private, would confer a public benefit; in the other case it would just as necessarily follow that no such benefit is possible. No court of justice in this country can be called on to decide such a question as this. What we can determine with certainty is this, that it is part of the creed of the most ancient Church in Western Christendom, of which the testator was a member, that the Mass is a true sacrifice offered to God by the priest in the name of the Church whose minister he is; that every Mass, whether public or private, is believed to bring down blessings to the world, and that all the faithful, present or absent, alive or dead, participate in those blessings. Now, if this be true, there can, I think, be no doubt that a bequest for the purpose of having private Masses celebrated would be charitable, and a temporal court in Ireland, having no authority to decide for itself whether it is true or not, must take as its guide the belief of the Church of which the testator is a member. I understand this to be the law, and on this ground I concur in holding that the appeal ought to be allowed."

In Maine and in Brittany

As a striking contrast to the charges of looting shipwrecked vessels which Mr. Wasson alleges against certain Maine coast dwellers, in his book, "The Green Sbay," let us consider the wreck some months ago of the British steamer St. Hilda in sight of St. Malo in Brittany, and the conduct of the Catholic Bretons toward the ill-fated vessel and its unfortunate sailors and passengers. The New Zealand Tablet thus tells the story:

Cardinal First Proposed Counting the Pulse.

Parish, in the capital of Norway, he won brilliant reputation, not only in his own country, but in Sweden, Denmark and Germany, being known not only as an eloquent preacher, but as a man of profound and varied learning.

His great treatise on dogmatic theology, in five volumes, won a speedy place as the standard work on that subject throughout the Lutheran church, and it is probable that, since the conversion of John Henry Newman, just sixty years ago, no similar event has caused such commotion in Protestant circles as the news that Dr. Krogh-Tønning has been received into the Catholic Church by a Jesuit Father at Aarhus, in Denmark.

Writers in the religious press and the learned reviews of Northern Europe have endeavored to disguise the general dismay at the desertion of the Lutheran ranks by the most learned theologian of that church, by finding that in all his later dogmatic writings he has shown a marked tendency towards Catholicism, and that, in his final step he was only logically following out the principles which he had long before adopted as his own. This is very likely true, but it does not make his actual conversion a less noteworthy event.

Dr. Krogh-Tønning was long ago marked for advancement to a bishopric in the Norwegian Lutheran Church, and his loss to that body has been a very serious one. His theological works, published while he was a Protestant, are written in the German language, but he has brought out in Latin, since his conversion, a singularly beautiful treatise, as luminous as it is profound, on grace and free-will. The actual title of this work, which should be in the hands of every student of theology, is "De Gratia Christi et Libero Arbitrio," and it is published by Dybded & Brugger, of Christiania.—Missionary.

How the Jesuits Mind Their Own Business.

A daily paper, noting some changes of appointment among the Jesuits, says: "The orders transferring both Jesuit Fathers were attended by the secrecy which usually characterized the transaction of business of the Jesuit order." The Catholic Transcript remarks: "That's so. It is curious that the members of a religious community should wish to conduct their own business without taking the inquisitive reporter into their confidence. The mystery of it all is that the average Jesuit is blessed with a faculty of adjusting himself to any condition that may arise. Today in the full blaze of publicity, tomorrow hidden away in a country mission. One year a college president, another a curate in a city parish. These are the 'secret Romans' that have spoken the word and will not falter."

In Maine and in Brittany

As a striking contrast to the charges of looting shipwrecked vessels which Mr. Wasson alleges against certain Maine coast dwellers, in his book, "The Green Sbay," let us consider the wreck some months ago of the British steamer St. Hilda in sight of St. Malo in Brittany, and the conduct of the Catholic Bretons toward the ill-fated vessel and its unfortunate sailors and passengers. The New Zealand Tablet thus tells the story:

Cardinal First Proposed Counting the Pulse.

Writing in a recent issue of the Catholic Times of Liverpool, J. C. McWalter, M. D., says: In the Fitzpatrick lectures delivered at the Royal College of Physicians in London, Dr. Norman Moore made the following reference to a famous Cardinal: "Nicholas of Cusa was a man of varied learning and of a scientific habit of mind. He

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

It will nourish and strengthen the body when milk and cream fail to do it. Scott's Emulsion is always the same; always palatable and always beneficial where the body is wasting from any cause, either in children or adults.

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

are mild, sure and safe, and are a perfect regulator of the system. They gently unlock the secretions, clear away all effluvia and waste matter from the system, and give tone and vitality to the whole intestinal tract, curing Constipation, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Coated Tongue, Foul Breath, Jaundice, Heartburn, and Water Braak. Mrs. R. S. Ogden, Woodstock, N.B., writes: "My husband and myself have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for a number of years. We think we cannot do without them. They are the only pills we ever take."

"Will you grant me one last favor before I go?" asked the rejected suitor. "Yes, George, I will," she said, dropping her eyelashes and getting her lips into shape. "What is the favor I can grant you?" "Only a little song at the piano, please. I am afraid there is a dog outside waiting for me, and I want you to scare him away."

Castor Oil or other Cathartic is not needed after giving Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup. This remedy contains its own purgative and not only destroys but carries off the worms. Price 25c.

"What has become of the big man who used to beat the brass drum?" asked the private of the drum-major. "He left us about three months ago."

"Good drummer, too, wasn't he?" "Yes, very good. But he got so fat that when he marched he couldn't hit the drum in the middle."

Hoarseness.

Helene Decker, Jordan Ferry, N. S., writes: "A few months ago I had a severe cold in my throat and chest and became quite hoarse. A bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup soon relieved the hoarseness and cured the cold."

"How long is it going to take to get through with this case?" asked the client, who was under suspicion of housebreaking. "Well," replied the young lawyer, thoughtfully, "it'll take me about two weeks to get through with it, but I'm afraid it's going to take you about four years."

USED MEN AT THE OFFICE AND WOMEN IN THE HOME CHILDREN AT SCHOOL

Every day in the week and every week in the year men, women and children feel all used up and tired out. The strain of business, the cares of home and social life and the task of study cause terrible suffering from heart and nerve troubles. The efforts put forth to keep up to the modern "high pressure" mode of life in this age soon wears out the strongest system, shatters the nerves and weakens the heart. Thousands find life a burden and others an early grave. The strain on the system causes nervousness, paleness of the face, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faint and dizzy spells, skip beats, weak and irregular pulse, smothering and sinking spells, etc. The blood becomes weak and watery and eventually causes decline.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

Hall, Kelson, Ont., writes: "For the past two or three years I have been troubled with nervousness and heart failure, and the doctors failed to give me any relief. I decided at last to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial, and I would not now be without them if they cost twice as much. I have recommended them to my neighbors and friends.
