OR, THE
Countess of Basingwell

CHAPTER XVIII.

"My dear Countess of Basingwell," it began. "First let me congratulate you on your new title. I think you have fairly earned it, and I wish you joy of it. You will be surprised, perhaps, to know that I have taken up an occupation to distract my mind from its anguish. Of course you will understand why it suffers anguish. I have been investing my money recently in bonds and mortgages, and occasionally a note fell into my hands. Merely in the course of ordinary business, a note, signed by you and indorsed by your mother, in favor of one Simmons, has come into my hands; and as the time of its maturity has come—I think that is the business phrase—I have the honor to ask its immediate payment. Perhaps you have more than one. Such note, out and I therefore beg to inform you that this is for the sum of seven thousand five hundred pounds. If you should wish any more information in regard to it I would say that I shall be in the woods north of the castle at nine o'clock this evening. If I should not meet you there I shall take it for granted that the note is accepted as in good order, and will have it duly presented to your husband to-morrow.

Sincerely your friend,
G."

"Infamous! Infamous! Infamous!" she muttered. "This is the secret of his forbearance, then. Simmons has betrayed me to him. And I can see now why the settlement was not signed sooner. If it had been I could have defied both of them. Now they have me in their power. In their power! In their power! No. Do they think that I am to be played with so? Get out! Leave me!" and she turned with impotent fury on Marta, and almost thrust her into the parlor and shut the door.

Then she swept like an enraged queen up and down the boudoir, ruthlessly brushing ornaments and bric-a-brac of enormous value from whatever came in her way. Then she suddenly stopped.

"Trapped, trapped, trapped!" she hissed, as she sank moodily into her chair. "And I am powerless! Which ever way I turn something equally threatening confronts me. Oh, that I dared to go to Lionel and tell him everything! He could crush these hounds—he could crush them!"

And in that moment, when it was all too late, her consciousness told her that the man she had deceived and entrapped, and scorned for being entrapped, was far, far above—far, far stronger—than either the worldling she had preferred to him, or the money-lender with whom she had connived for his beguement. Being in the toils herself she could appreciate the honesty and honorable dealing of the man she had despised.

But she would not go to him now. She felt that it was too late for that. But she would not give up the fight because she could see nothing but defeat ahead of her.

"What do they want? What do they want?" she asked herself twenty times over, and then the answer slowly shaped itself in her head. "Simmons wants more money. He betrayed me for money. I have not him to deal with, but Lord Gree; and what does he want? What does he want? What did he say he wanted? He wanted me, and he wanted revenge on Lionel. Lionel! He cannot harm Lionel. Whatever comes Lionel will be the gainer by it. I shall be the sufferer. What does he want of me in the woods? Will he draw me there on the very night of my wedding and then betray me to Lionel? No, he will hardly do that. What does he want then? Is it my infamy, and so the dishonor of Lionel? My infamy! My infamy! I will kill him first—I will kill myself. But I must see him, I must see him!"

There came a timid knock at the door of the parlor. At first she thought it was Lionel, but reflection told her it could not be, and she bade whoever it was to enter. It was Marta.

"His lordship," said the maid, "has sent up to ask if you are too ill to go down to dinner, and would wish your meal served here?"

"Send word that I will be there in a few moments; that I have been resting, and am quite recovered now."

Marta did so, and then returned to her mistress and dressed her for dinner, and the quality of the courage of the entrapped woman showed in the moment of her extremity. She not only put on a gown that set off the splendid charms of her person; but she forced a new life into her heart, threw off the icy garment of reserve that had been growing on her for days past, and went down to Lionel so radiant with the glowing smiles and sparkling eyes that had fascinated him in the days of his recklessness, that the warmth communicated itself to him, and he advanced toward her with hands outstretched and something of his own gaiety on him.

"I was afraid you were ill," he said; "but I find you only staid to bathe in the fountain of beauty. It is hard to believe you are mortal," he added, as she put her hands in his and bent over and offered him the first kiss that had come from her.

"He is a thousand times better than the other," she said to herself, and to him she answered, with a gracious smile:

"It is the magic of your love, Lionel."

CHAPTER XIX.

Since they had been engaged Lionel had not seen Flora so full of sparkle and vivacity, so responsive to his efforts to please her. He had rather felt than recognized the lack before, but he felt its existence with a renewed happiness.

Through the dinner, and afterward in the drawing-room—the little west drawing-room, which seemed to be favorite—she satisfied his longing for nearer companionship, and no one could have suspected that all through the evening she was turning over in her mind how she should contrive to escape him, and go to the woods.

She never thought of evading the appointment Gree had made with her. She had entirely dismissed the thought of taking her husband into her confidence and confessing to him the fraud she had practiced on him. True, it would have killed his love for her, as she knew; but why did she not reason that his love would die anyhow under the coldness with which she would treat it; and that he would be certain to give her all that he had promised, even if he no longer loved her?

The truth was that, although she recognized his nobility, she could not comprehend that quality in him which would in very scorn have forced him to bestow on her all the worldly wealth she had schemed so hard to secure. She knew he would have crushed her enemies; and that she would have liked, but she could not trust him further, and so plunged headlong into a course which might at the best lead anywhere but to happiness.

She watched the hands of the clock with nervous anxiety as they crept around the jeweled face, and at a quarter to nine she turned suddenly to Lionel and said, with a faintness that was not assumed:

"Lionel, dear, I am tired. Let me go to my beautiful little boudoir, and rest a half-hour."

"My darling!" he cried, in alarm.

"It is nothing, dear. I must see more of the castle to-night, and I cannot do it without a little rest first. I must look on the old earl's and countesses of Basingwell, and I must see the library and the great drawing-room, and the halls and corridors."

He looked pleased. He had had the castle put in such order as he thought would please her, and he had been disappointed that she had not expressed any desire to go over it before.

"Are you sure you are not too tired? You look pale, my darling."

"It is nothing, I assure you, Lionel. And if you are not too tired, yourself, you may occupy yourself with having the light placed up for me. Oh, I should so like that! Would it be too much trouble, dear?"

Her thought was that she would keep him and the servants busy about the castle so that they should not be tempted to stray about while she was keeping her appointment.

"It will be only a pleasure," he said.

He kissed her hand as she left him, and she hurried up to her room and summoned her maid.

"Marta," she said, "I am dying for some fresh air. Is there any way I can go out of the castle without everybody knowing of it? I do not dare to ask Lord Basingwell, lest he should not think it proper."

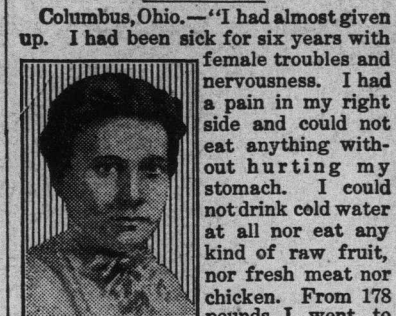

She made the excuse in a perfunctory way, knowing very well that Marta was not going to be deceived by it. And Marta was not, though she gave no evidence of any such knowledge.

"I don't know the castle very well yet, my lady; but I am pretty sure you could get out of what they call the bachelors' door, and not be seen by anybody."

"That is the very thing, Marta. Take me to the stairway. Stop! Give me your cloak and hat, Marta, lest I should be recognized. Hurry, now, like a good girl!"

AFTER SIX YEARS OF SUFFERING

Woman Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbus, Ohio.—"I had almost given up. I had been sick for six years with female troubles and nervousness. I had a pain in my right side and could not eat anything without hurting my stomach. I could not drink cold water at all nor eat any kind of raw fruit, nor fresh meat nor chicken. From 175 pounds I went to 115 and would get so weak at times that I fell over. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and ten days later I could eat and it did not hurt my stomach. I have taken the medicine ever since and I feel like a new woman. I now weigh 127 pounds so you can see what it has done for me already. My husband says he knows your medicine has saved my life."—Mrs. J. S. BARLOW, 1624 South 4th St., Columbus, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains just the virtues of roots and herbs needed to restore health and strength to the weakened organs of the body. That is why Mrs. Barlow, a chronic invalid, recovered so completely. It pays for women suffering from any female ailments to insist upon having Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

selves before the lady guests of the castle.

"Remain at the door, Marta, and warn me if there is any danger of being seen. I shall go as far as the north woods yonder. I shall be less likely to be seen there. Really, Marta, I don't think much of this hat and cloak. If I forget it remind me that I wish to buy you some new things. Now that you are maid to the Countess of Basingwell, you ought to be bravely dressed, my little Marta."

"Thank you, my lady," said Marta, gratefully, and laughed softly when she was left alone in the door-way.

"Does she think a little finery and a pleasant word will pay for this service? But I will take a walk in the woods myself. I need a bit of fresh air, too."

She waited until her mistress had glided into the shadow of the woods, and then stole over the lawn, keeping under the shade of the shrubbery, as her ladyship had done, until she was within sight of the tall, gliding form. Then she merely kept it in sight, until she heard the sound of a man's voice, pitched low, when she stole nearer.

Quite unaware of her follower, Lady Basingwell glided through the well-kept woods, peering about in the darkness for the figure of the man she had come to meet. Presently she saw it, and stood still, awaiting its approach.

"This is a great honor, indeed, Lady Basingwell," said the mocking voice of Lord Gree. "I came, hoping, but not expecting."

"That is untrue," said Lady Basingwell, coldly. "You were certain I should come in answer to your invitation, or I had better say your cowardly threat."

"-You do not seem to be in a festive frame of mind, my lady."

"I do not pretend to be. Why do you wish to see me?"

Drowning Fatality.

TWO FISHERMEN LOST. A message to Mr. H. W. LeMessurier from Mr. R. Furneaux, Sub-Collector of Customs, at Rose Blanche states that the schooner Ada Bishop had arrived there on Friday night last from the fishing grounds, reporting the loss of two members of her crew, Aaron Beazley and Caleb Beazley, by drowning. Both were married men and belonged to Baring. It was while the men were hauling their gear during the progress of a blinding snowstorm on Thursday night last that the fatality occurred.

Dutchman Here Short of Coal.

HAD STORMY VOYAGE—REPORTS HAVING SIGHTED CRAFT IN DISTRESS. Another tramp entered our harbor last evening. It was the S.S. Alkaid of Holland, Capt. Smoorenburg, from Rotterdam, bound to New York in sand ballast, short of coal. Rotterdam was left on January 18th, but boisterous weather was met. Because she was light, the ship was knocked about badly. Very slow headway was made.

HOVE TO TEN DAYS. So violent were the elements that the Alkaid did not make any progress during all that period in the vicinity of about five hundred miles off St. John's. Heavy seas repeatedly swept the decks and a quantity of sand which was carried on the forward deck, was washed overboard. Some slight damages were done to gear on the deck. The Alkaid is supposed to be one of a fleet of 27 steamers. At the same time, but the Alkaid is the only one reported since.

WHAT DOES IT SIGNIFY? Speaking to our reporter, Captain Smoorenburg, said that yesterday about twenty miles southward of St. John's he sighted a three-masted schooner, immediately the course of the Dutch steamer was altered and she bore down on the distressed craft to take

An Object Lesson For Newfoundland

The Daily News this morning strikes a note of warning, which should be heeded. The outrages perpetrated by the Huns in Canada and the United States may be attempted in Newfoundland. Almost without exception the enemy aliens have been rounded up and sent out of the country for internment abroad. But there still may be hostile persons here and there who may come here. While there is probably no ground for anxiety, for anxiety would be a giving way to German "rightfulness," precautions should be taken, and we have no doubt the police will do their utmost. But the police are handicapped by the smallness of their numbers and the frequent changes of the personnel in the ranks. There are, however, some thirty naval recruits on the island and nearly a hundred here in connection with the Newfoundland Regiment. These of course will be sent away in time, but every effort should be made to aid recruiting, so that there may be a body of soldiers and sailors always available for an emergency. Moreover, it might be well to raise a home defence force of those who from age, or having a wife, or children, or others dependent on them for support, are unable to volunteer for service abroad, but would be able to give their services for home defence and would be willing to do so.

The discoveries made in the examination of Von Papen's correspondence and that of others make it clear that the German authorities are fomenting plots on this side of the water, and the activities of the Canadian Secret Service agents in the United States, as well as newspaper investigations of the Providence Journal, and other newspapers makes it abundantly clear that plots are actually in existence to destroy public buildings, railways, docks, shipping and industrial plants. These agencies do not hesitate to state boldly that the firing of the Parliament Building was one of the objectives of German plotters. The Providence Journal, it will be remembered, claims that it gave notice to the Department of Justice at Washington three weeks ago, that a plot existed to destroy the Ottawa Parliament Building by fire. Whether it is possible to bring home to the plotters that crime, and the plot of an invasion by the Huns in the States to destroy Welland Canal, the future will show. Meanwhile it is but reasonable that precautions should be taken in Newfoundland to avert the destruction of our Cathedrals, Churches and public buildings.

Newfoundland Sympathy.

February 7, 1916.
Dear Sir,
I beg to forward you herewith copies of messages which have passed between His Excellency the Governor and His Royal Highness the Governor General of Canada respecting the destruction of the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa by fire. I shall be glad if you will publish these in the columns of your paper.
Yours truly,

A Big Plant To Open Here

Will Employ Hundreds of Hands.
Perhaps one of the largest plants to do business here for a long time will be established in the East End. This will be known as the American Nud. Packing Co., with Mr. J. W. Clouston as General Manager and Mr. E. St. John Howley as Vice-President and Managing Director. Speaking to one of the management this morning the Telegram was told that the plant would employ some hundreds of men and girls. The company is backed up by wealthy bankers on Wall Street. A big cold storage plant in connection with the St. John's house will be operated at Bay Bulls, and several other stations will be erected around the coast. This will mean a big thing for the outport fishermen who will be able to dispose of their catch to the local agents of the company at good prices. The building to be erected in St. John's will be of concrete and fitted with all up-to-date requirements. Work on the new company's buildings will commence in about two weeks' time.

Anxiety for S. S. Kite.

There is a deal of anxiety expressed for the s.s. Kite. Capt. Housell, which is now making a long run from South West Arm, Green Bay, having a 700 barrel herring on board for this port. At first she encountered a snow storm and put into Twillingate. She left there again on Tuesday last but has not been reported since. Messages have been sent from here enquiring about her, and replies have been received that she has not put in anywhere.

The Re-count.

The re-counting of the St. Barbe District, 1,507 ballots was finished this morning. The result is the same as the Election returns. For Prohibition, 1070; against Prohibition, 427. It was not known up to press hour, what district would be next to be counted.

LINES MADE FROM READING.
Did you ever observe yourself in a glass as you sit reading an absorbing story? Of course not, because your mind was on the story and not on yourself. But if you were to look up suddenly you would probably find that your face was a network of wrinkles and frowns.

Do not allow your reading of even the most exciting story to effect the serenity of your features. If the story is a sad one, try to remember that it is only a story after all, and that all the nervous energy you are wasting on it will never make the heroine happier, so why not enjoy it and smile? Hold the book erect and lay the head back in a comfortable position, keeping the line of vision on the page you are reading. Never bend over a book with your head in your hand. It is a ruinous position for the eyesight, the lungs and the chin. If you would possess a rippling double chin, this is the quickest way to attain it.

It is very injurious to read on trains and street cars. The constant jar-rings and changes of light irritate the eyes and, incidentally, use up a great deal of nerve force. Reading should be confined to the peace and quietude of the home. Relax and smile when you read and it will prove you physically as well as mentally.

THE KEY TO SAVING'S

This Sale, always a significant event in the Store year, takes added importance this season, because of the unsettled conditions and the steady increase in prices.

Many offerings in this Sale, having been bought before the rise, are marked at less than the present wholesale cost.

BUY HEAVILY! BUY FOR FUTURE NEEDS, for it is very doubtful if goods of equal quality can be sold for such low prices for a long time to come.

CUSTOM TAILORING

Save $4.00 to $5.00 on your Spring Suit

Every February during the Annual Sale we reduce prices on Custom Made Clothing for men.
We do it to keep our tailors always employed, as the business generally has a tendency to fall off at this time of the year.

We want to emphasize this. The cut in price doesn't mean "a cut in the quality of the tailoring, nor a cut in the quality of the fabric."

By selecting your suit now you save money and insure getting it when you want it.

Marshall Bros

A Much-Slighted Friend.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

An argument arose at a friend's house the other day in regard to the right use of the word "arbitrate."

"Let's look it up," said someone.

The hostess laughed, "You'll think we're terrible, I know," she said, "but we haven't such a thing as a dictionary in the house."

Just think of that! And they have been married eight years and have a boy who is almost big enough to be taught to use a dictionary!

It seems to me that a proper respect for the dictionary needs to be inculcated in every American home. Of course, comparatively few of us are so benighted as not to possess at least one dictionary, but frequently it is so large a copy and so cumbersome stored away that the very thought of getting it out is a burden.

A Get-at-able Dictionary Needed in Every Home.

A get-at-able dictionary ought to be part of the furnishings of every house. Get your boy a good abridged copy that is easy to handle, and contains seven-eighths of the words he will want to look up, or better still, get a little table or stand for your big dictionary so that you can easily refer to it.

I have a friend who has a dictionary so placed and she seldom discusses matters of any weight in her home without having recourse to it. Why such a constant use of the dictionary, you may ask? Because, to discuss anything intelligently you must use your words accurately, and to use your words accurately you must know just what they mean, and to know just what they mean you must occasionally have recourse to the foundation of all such knowledge, the dictionary.

We wanted the EXACT Meaning.

For instance, we were talking the other day about these phrases that, without having either metre or rhyme to be remembered by, nevertheless remain in our minds—for instance, such phrases as "Like the shadow of a great rock in a weary land." We had not talked two minutes before we found we should give ourselves better grounding for the discussion by looking up the word "rhythm."

Many a heated argument is caused by nothing more nor less than the fact that the parties to it are reading different meanings into the words they use.

Some People Never Use A Dictionary Except to Look up Words.

Practically all the business of life is transacted through language, spoken or written. It is obvious that it can be more skillfully transacted by those who must thoroughly understand this medium. The dictionary is the first foundation of all such knowledge. Yet many people muddle along through life without opening a dictionary more than once or twice a year, and then probably to determine the spelling of a word.

Tremendous labor has gone into compiling the dictionary. It makes one positively dizzy to try to conceive how much (almost like trying to conceive the fact that there wasn't any beginning to the Universe). If we had to pay a big price for it we should treasure it and use it. Let us not be so foolish as to hold it cheap because it is inexpensive.

DOGS.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Swash." The dog is an appendage which was given man in place of a tail. Wherever man is found there also the dog is found following faithfully behind. Man is as necessary to a dog as a dog is to a man. On man the dog lives and in man he places his hope and confidence, his love and his foolish faith. Follow any dog in any country until his meal time and you will find a man. You may not be sure of a meal yourself when you find the man, but the dog is.

The Creator in His wisdom has seen fit to make several hundred kinds of dogs. Some of these kinds are useful. Man has invented a use for many other varieties. Science, which conquers and understands almost all things earthly, has as yet been unable to discover any reason for the existence of the rest.

There are vast differences in detail between various kinds of dogs, but in essentials they are the same. The dog consists of a bark and a tail connected by a body of varying size, shape and color. A dog's tail is a sort of an auxiliary tongue and assists him greatly in conversation, just as a Frenchman's arms add to his eloquence.

Dogs are air-cooled and remain comfortable in summer by opening their faces, hanging their tongues over the dashboard and panting industriously. They vary strangely in numbers. Just before the assessor makes his rounds there are very few dogs in existence, but during the full moon the whole world is convulsed with dogs. They can be bought for prices varying from 25 cents to $10,000 depending upon the foolishness of the purchaser.

The use of dogs are widely varied. In the Arctic regions the dog takes the place of an automobile. In Belgium he is a dray horse. In England he is a hunter, in Switzerland a life-saver and in Germany a member of the standing army. In Scotland he is used by the shepherd as a substitute for brains. In the Southern States he is a detective and in China he is a dessert. In New York and Paris, however, the dog attains his greatest usefulness. In these cities he is one of the mediums by which the money of the unnaturally rich is separated from them and is restored to the channels of trade. It is possible to spend $5,000 a month on a dog in either city and yet to discover at almost any time that the poor little thing hasn't a rag to wear.

A Letter From One of Our Boys

IN COMPANY. Gallipoli. Firing Line. Dec. 10, 1915.

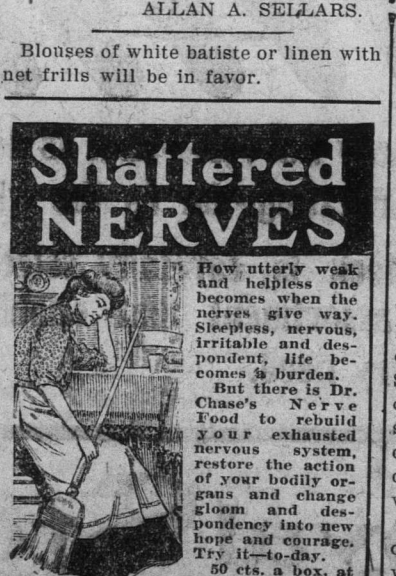

My Dear Mother—Just a line to say I am in good health. There was an awful storm last week, it was the biggest storm that ever I saw, we got flooded out, and I will never forget it. I will tell you all about it when I get back, but you will scarcely believe it. What I would like to say I am not allowed to mention, so I have to keep it all till I get home.

I suppose they are recruiting home more than ever now when the fellows know we are out here doing our bit. Our first draft of reserve came Nov. 30, 1915 from Scotland, about 90 of them. I think we are getting relieved soon as we are in the trenches for twenty-six days now, it's a long while. Last Tuesday night I saw one of my chums from the reserve. He says: "Hello, Allan!" And as I was shaking hands with him a bullet came and struck him in the head, he fell and left me standing, and he died not long after. He was not long on the Peninsula, was he? Its hard lines that our boys are getting such a cutting up; never mind, we are looking forward to a good time on Christmas. We got a parcel from Queen Alexandra, in it were a pair of socks, cake, carbolic soap, pipe and tobacco, one towel, one shirt, pair of boot laces, box of ointment for the feet, quarter lb. chocolate which I found the best of the whole lot.

It is very cold here now. Don't worry about me, but keep on writing. It is good to get news from home. Remember me to all my friends. From your loving boy in khaki. ALLAN A. SELLARS.

Blouses of white batiste or linen with net-trills will be in favor.

Old Glove Fund

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.

Mrs. F. W. Ayre has with great pleasure in acknowledging for the above Fund donations of gloves from—Mrs. H. Kendall, Miss Alice White, Mrs. M. Walsh, Miss Mabel LeMessurier, Rev. Henry, Miss Minnie Hemmings, Mrs. Eric Bowring, Mrs. and Miss Dicks, Mrs. Templeton, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. M. W. Furlong, Mrs. Robert Tetford (Harriet Grace), Mrs. D. C. Clement (Chanel), Mrs. James Ayre, Mrs. Harrington and three anonymous donations, also the following subscriptions towards the Fund: Mrs. James Ayre, $1.00; Mrs. A. Macpherson, $1; Mr. Gerald Ayre, $1; Mr. Ernest Watson, $5; Mr. Donald McLeod, $5. This consignment of gloves amounting to 577 in all was sent by the Durango and the money, $15.00, was mailed by the same boat. Altogether this winter approximately 1,000 gloves and 25, 175, have been collected and forwarded to the Ladies' Territorial Committee, Mrs. Ayre wishes to express her thanks to all those who so kindly assisted by donations of money and gloves.

The Fund is now closed for this season and by the time any gloves reached England, it would be too late to make them into waistcoats in time to be of value this year.

Acids in Stomach Sour the Food and Cause Indigestion

"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sour, gassy, upset stomachs in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you betch acids and create sour, indigestible food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes. Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, and you will be satisfied. Each fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS. When baby becomes a year old it's diet should begin to include fruit juices and the whites of eggs. Begin with a wing glass of chicken broth or bouillon fed from a spoon, and gradually decrease the amount of bottle food. Soon after it turns its first year the child should learn to drink from a small cup and its meals may be reduced to five a day with an occasional drink of orange juice and plenty of water.

The first and second meals should consist chiefly of modified milk to which half as much strained oatmeal had been added. Early in the afternoon a bit of chicken broth, or half as much beef juice, may be given, and this may be varied every few days with the white of an egg boiled for a minute. The two remaining meals should have milk as their mainstay.

Doctor Advised Operation As Only Cure for Piles

Who Objected to Use of Knife and Cure Was Effected by Use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Here is the affidavit of a well-known fruit grower, who was cured of bleeding piles some years ago by using Dr. Chase's Ointment.

His doctor could do nothing for him and recommended a surgical operation as the only means of cure. Luckily his wife had heard about Dr. Chase's Ointment and complete cure resulted from this treatment.

It is by the cure of extreme cases like this that Dr. Chase's Ointment has won the reputation of being about the only actual cure for piles—itching, bleeding and protruding piles.

Mr. Samuel Parker, fruit grower, Grimsby, Ont., has made the following declaration before Mr. W. W. Kidd, Notary Public, of the same place: "I do solemnly declare that I was troubled with bleeding Piles and was advised to go to the hospital to have an operation performed. My wife said 'No, get a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment

I did so and have used it according to directions while living in Manitoba and obtained a complete cure, for I have never been troubled with Piles since. I am now 70 years of age and want to recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to all sufferers from Piles. My wife has used it for itching skin and obtained complete cure."

Mrs. William Schettler, Spry Hill, Sask., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment with great success as a treatment for Piles. About 15 years ago I had this ailment very bad and suffered greatly. By using Dr. Chase's Ointment a complete cure was effected and I have never had a recurrence of the old trouble. It is undoubtedly the best Ointment made and so family should be without it."

Put Dr. Chase's Ointment to the test and it will not disappoint you. Sixty cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd. Toronto.

Liquid Catarrh Remedies Useless Only Relieve—Never Cure.

They go direct to the stomach, have very little effect on the linings of the nose and throat, and entirely fail to cure. Only by cleansing the air passages, by relieving the inflammation and killing the germs is cure possible. No combination of antiseptics is so successful as Catarrhoxone. In breathing it you send the richest pine balsams right to the seat of the disease. Irritating phlegm is cleared out, hoarseness, coughing and hacking are cured. For a permanent cure for Catarrh, nothing equals Catarrhoxone, get it to-day, but beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Catarrhoxone. All dealers sell Catarrhoxone, large size containing two months' treatment, costs $1.00; small size, 50c; sample size, 25c.

ONE MAN'S MEAT.

The snow is good for the winter wheat, but it isn't good for rheumatism. And that is the way with all things on earth; for some they're loaded with sterling worth; to some they're bringing a freight of woe—there's rheumatism in the sparkling snow! The wind is bitter and keen and cold, and it brings delight to the plumber bold, but it brings to us the forbidding frown, for pipes are bursting all over town. The ashes thrown on the icy walk saves many a man from a beastly shiver, but the surgeon sighs, "That's the way they rob a man like me of a first rate job!" The snow is good for all kinds of soils, but my feet feel like two third-rate bolts. The young man sings as he lightly treads, the kids exult as they tool their sleds; the birds sing odes to the "maute white," and find new charms in a wintry night; but I sit cursing my aching feet, and what I'm saying I won't repeat; the words I use have a dark green tint, the editor says they won't do to print.

The Bell Island Star of the Sea Association.

The Bell Island Star of the Sea Association which has been formed up here during the past year, held its first annual meeting on Sunday, January 30th, at 2:30 p.m., in St. Joseph's Hall. Notwithstanding the severe coldness of the weather an exceptionally large number attended, showing the enthusiasm that already is manifest amongst the members. Besides the appointment of officers that is usual in general organizations, two special appointments were made, that of Very Rev. J. J. McGrath, P. P., as spiritual director, and Dr. H. A. Giannetti, J. P., as medical adviser. Mr. P. F. Power, S. M., conducted the election with much skill, being assisted by Mr. J. M. Greene, as secretary, and Messrs. John Eagan, R. D. Walsh, R. T. Kent and John Davis as scrutineers and tellers. Several exciting and interesting contests took place and at the conclusion the following were duly declared elected as the first executive of the Bell Island Star of the Sea Association:— President, P. F. Power, S. M., J. P.; Vice-President, W. P. Billingsley; 1st Asst. Vice-President, D. J. Jackman; 2nd Asst. Vice-President, Daniel Steel; Medical Adviser, H. A. Giannetti, M. D., J. P.; Secretary, J. M. Greene; Treasurer, R. D. Walsh; Asst. Treasurer, Andrew Murphy; Chairman Building Committee, R. J. Costigan; Grand Marshal, John Connors; Deputy Grand Marshal, John J. Murphy; with the Very Rev. J. J. McGrath, P. P., as Spiritual Director.

Why Tolerate Catarrh?

You have noticed, no doubt, that any cold aggravates nasal catarrh, and the flow of mucous amazes you that such objectionable matter could find lodgment in your head. To ignore the catarrh when the cold subsides is wrong because it continues to slowly injure the delicate linings of the nasal passages and clog them up.

To correct catarrh, cleanse the nostrils frequently with a solution of warm water and salt, insert vaseline on retiring, and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals for one month. Scott's acts through the blood to feed the tissues, and contains soothing glycerine to check the inflammation and heal the sensitive membranes. Scott's is pleasant to take.

The Copper Market.

Walker's Copper letter in Saturday's Boston Commercial says: "Supplies of pot copper have been exhausted for some time past and none of the large producers are now able to quote prices on anything earlier than March deliveries. There are no longer two opinions regarding the position of the metal. All are now convinced that little short of a copper famine exists. The consumptive demands exceeds even the present large volume of production, and if the ammunition making requirements continue to grow copper must sell considerably higher."

SUPPOSED BOMB ON STEAMER. BORDEAUX, To-day.

A small tube supposed to be a bomb has been found on the British steamship Hammington, which arrived here last Friday, four laden from New York. The tube was concealed among some sacks of flour, where it is thought to have been placed after the steamer left New York. Investigation is being made.

THE LONDON BUDGET.

LONDON, To-day. The British are pressing the Germans hard in the Kamerun region of German West Equatorial Africa. A Spanish official communication says 600 Germans and 14,000 of their Colonial troops crossed the southwest border and sought refuge in Spanish Guinea, where they were disarmed and interned. Except on the western line in France and Belgium and on the Caucasus front little fighting of moment is in progress in any of the war theatres. In Northwest Russia there have been aerial raids by both Germans and Russians. In Galicia and Bukovina small infantry and grenade attacks at one point along the line, where Russian General Ivanoff in command of the Russians found a system of Teuton mines and having wired it, detonated the mines. The British and French in Belgium have shelled with destructive effect German trenches at Boesinghe. The French heavy guns have silenced the German batteries east of Boesinghe. Petrograd says the Russians continue to harass the Turks over the entire Caucasus region and that all attempts by the Turks at an offensive have been repulsed with heavy losses to them. In Mesopotamia, near Felahie small artillery infantry engagements have been going on between the Turks and British. At Kut-el-Amara where the British are besieged by the Turks, there is no change in the situation.

The Health Alarm

often sounds first in the doctor's office when some healthy looking specimen of humanity, undergoing examination for life insurance, is told that his blood pressure is too high.

Increased blood pressure is no longer confined to old age; it is frequently found in men in their 40's who are otherwise healthy. In such cases it points to approaching degeneration of the arteries—a condition which in turn indicates those errors of diet that often end in various diseases of the stomach, kidneys, liver, nerves and heart.

Among these errors of diet are tea and coffee drinking, because of their drug, caffeine, the constant use of which weakens the walls of the arteries. Medical authorities now insist that in all cases of high blood pressure there must be total abstinence from tea, coffee and other harmful beverages.

Hard to give up tea and coffee? Not at all, when one uses instead the pure food-drink—

Instant Postum

This delicious beverage is made of wheat, roasted with a little wholesome molasses. It is then reduced to a soluble powder, a level teaspoonful of which with hot water makes a perfect cup instantly.

Instant Postum has a delightful, snappy flavour, but is absolutely free from the drug, caffeine, or any harmful ingredient. It does contain those vitalizing elements of the grain which make for normal balance of the system.

GERMAN PLOT TO INVADE CANADA BY THE HYPHEN.

NEW YORK, To-day.

The Herald this morning prints a lengthy story to the effect that Canadian Secret Service Agents working on this side of the border, are reported by the Herald to have submitted these findings to their Government: That two hundred thousand Mauser rifles have been secretly purchased by German Agents and were being shipped to points along the Canadian border; that scores of German army officers, recently have arrived in the United States in the guise of Belgian refugees from the neutral ports of Europe with the object of heading the armed force for the invasion of Canada. That the principal object of this secret movement is the destruction of the Welland Canal and the crippling of the shipment of $900,000,000 of Canadian wheat to the Allies. That one-third the output of American munitions plants have been purchased by German Agents, masquerading as agents for the Allied Government; that these war supplies in greater part are composed of rifles, stored secretly; that the destruction of the Canadian Parliament Buildings at Ottawa last week and the attempted destruction of munitions plant in the same city on Feb. 5th were the work of German sympathizers.

ESTABLISHING GUN FACTORY IN RUSSIA.

PETROGRAD, To-day. The Germans have established a branch of the Krupp gun works at Shavli in Kovno, at which a large number of French prisoners are forced to work, according to statements made by German soldiers, who have been taken prisoners by the Russians. The movements of German military forces in Dvinsk region seem to be disorganized and lack all methods, says Rensky Invalide. This is ascribed by newspapers to an insufficiency of German forces and to the bad state of the roads.

GERMAN AERODROME DESTROYED.

GENEVA, Switzerland, To-day. Fire has virtually destroyed Johannthal aerodrome just outside Berlin, according to private telegrams from Munich and Stuttgart, received at Basel to-day. MESSAGES OF SYMPATHY FOR CANADA.

OTTAWA, To-day. Thursday night's disaster has stirred the whole Empire, and has brought to Sir Robert Borden messages of sympathy from every part of Canada, from the United States, from the sister Dominions and many from the Motherland. Premier Asquith cabled on Saturday as follows: "Deeply sympathize with you and the people of Canada over their great loss. The people of Britain are already bound to the Dominion by gratitude which they sacrifice to the Empire's cause and will be yet more firmly united to Canada by common grief. Earl Kitchener cabled the following message: "My sincere congratulations on your fortunate escape from the disastrous fire which, to our deep regret, has wrought such damage to your Parliament Buildings." Earl Grey, former Governor-General, cabled: "Filled with grief at the sad news. For seven years I made a daily inspection from the high and beautiful towers, but Lady Grey and I, while deeply mourning Canada's loss, know you will raise from the ashes a building worthy of the great destiny which sacrifices, in the cause of righteousness have already abundantly insured for the Canadian people." Right Hon. Bonar Law: "I heartily express my profound sympathy with your Government and the people of Canada in the disaster which they have suffered by the destruction by fire of the Parliament Buildings. Premier Massey, New Zealand: "The Government and people of New Zealand desire to express the warmest sympathy with the people of Canada in the destruction of their magnificent Parliament Buildings by fire and consequent loss of life. Telegrams indicate some doubt as to the cause of the disaster, and I will therefore not deal with this point until definite information is at hand." From Ferguson, Governor-General of Australia: "Would express to you and the Highness my deep regret at the loss sustained by the people of Canada at the destruction of the beautiful Parliament Buildings. From Governor Stanley of Victoria: "The Government of Victoria deeply sympathize with the Parliament and people of Canada over the great disaster which has befallen them by the destruction of the magnificent Parliament Buildings at Ottawa, and the consequent loss of life." Sir George Perley: "Deeply deplore the loss of life and the disastrous fire. Have received many expressions of sympathy and regret." From Hon. Harcourt: "Accept my deep sympathy in the great disaster. GERMAN WARSHIP SUNK.

COPENHAGEN, To-day. A large German warship has been sunk in the Cattegat between the island of Anholt and the Swedish coast, according to a Copenhagen despatch, quoting the newspaper Helsingner Avis. The despatch says the supposed vessel struck a mine. Wireless calls for help were heard but these ceased after a time.

GERMAN SPY ARRESTED.

WINGHAM, Ont., To-day. On the order of Col. Sherwood, Head of the Dominion Police, Adolphe Schatte, aged 38, a member of the Wingham band and an alleged German agent, was arrested last night by a detachment of soldiers. Schatte is to be wanted on charges of espionage. Reported drawings of buildings, bridges, etc., in different parts of Western Ontario, were found among his personal effects. HUNS THREATEN SWISS FACTORIES.

PARIS, To-day. A number of Swiss factories which have been supplying Entente Allies with munitions, have been threatened with destruction, says the Journal Du Juru. Notice of such intention has been given in letters received by the manufacturers and directors of the establishments.

COLONEL HOUSE, WILSON'S PERSONAL OBSERVER.

PARIS, To-day. George Clemenceau, former French Premier, commenting in his newspaper, L'homme Eclair, on Colonel House's mission, which he says seems to be characteristic of President Wilson's spirit of hesitation, writes, Europe has suddenly seen a dumb missionary disembark on its shores for a tour of inspection among combatants. He has passed everywhere, appearing and disappearing by turns like the flying Dutchman, in the mists of the horizon. He has said nothing. His whole mission evidently being to observe. His task he is supposed to report faithfully to the Presidential Candidate the one conclusion he draws from personal observation, personal observation as to the balance of force between the belligerents. "I know nothing about Colonel House," concluded Mr. Clemenceau, "but the fact that he has been chosen for this investigation by the first magistrate of the American Republic, leads me to infer that he has at least the qualities of observation, and good sense. This is enough to satisfy me as to the results of his investigation."

CONCENTRATING ON GREEK FRONTIER.

MILAN, To-day. A despatch from Athens says the French aviators report continued concentration of German reinforcements are advancing from Uskub to northwest of Ghevelin. Fresh German regiments have arrived at Monastir, and Austrian forces are concentrating around Kchevikovo. A Bulgarian division, says the despatch, finally had left Kustendil going south, and the transfer of heavy artillery from Nish to the Bulgarian front is confirmed.

THREATENING ROMANIA.

LONDON, To-day. The tension between Roumania and the Central Powers appears to be approaching a point, according to a despatch from Italy and Roumania, appearing in to-day's newspapers. The Daily Chronicle's Manonville, correspondent says Vienna and Berlin are adopting a threatening attitude toward Bucharest, and that there has been recent concentration of men and guns on the Bulgarian side of the Danube, while the Roumanians are entrenched on the western frontier. It is also stated, the correspondent said, that the Central Powers demanded "centrality" favorable to the Central Powers, as well as the demobilization of the Roumanian army.

PATROLS CLASH.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch from Salonika says, there was a skirmish on Sunday between the French and Bulgarian patrols on one of the Dolina front at Salient 227 about a kilometre south of the front lines. It resulted in two of the French being wounded. Bulgarian casualties are not known. This was the first clash since the Entente Allies retired to their new lines.

REDUCTION IN M.P.'S SALARIES.

LONDON, To-day. The Express says there is reason to believe that the coming report of the Public Service Retrenchment Committee will recommend that salaries of members of Parliament be reduced from four hundred to three hundred pounds.

SIR PERCY SCOTT GIVES UP COMMAND.

LONDON, To-day. The Times announces that Sir Percy Scott will relinquish the command of the air defences of London at the end of the week, and that they will be taken over by the staff of the home army, of which Lord French is Commander-in-Chief.

Committee at the end of each month. So now is your chance to help your boys at the front at absolutely no cost to yourself, as you must eat bread to live, and by asking your Grocer for Lynch's Bread you will be helping us to swell the fund to help either your husband, son, father, brother, uncle, cousin or friend. There are few of us but have some one at the front who is in need of us, and by asking your Grocer for Lynch's Bread you will be helping us to increase the fund for helping your soldier and sailor boys who are doing so much for us. So be patriotic and buy Lynch's Bread, for every loaf we sell means a little bit more for our boys.

The Eastern Trust Company.

A few reasons why an estate can be better administered by the Eastern Trust Company than by a personal executor or administrator:—
1. The Company affords the estate absolute security; it has a paid-up capital of $331,000.00, and a reserve fund of $223,300.00.

- 2. It has a long experience in the work of administering estates; it is incorporated for this business of acting as a trustee, and, unlike many other trust companies, it does so other.
3. Its existence is perpetual. Your estate, in the event of the death of a personal executor or administrator, must look around for a substitute, and the work of administration is impeded during that time, and the new executor is unfamiliar with the policy of his predecessor, and confusion results. This company's existence is perpetual, and there is a continuity of policy in its administration that the death of its officers does not break.
4. It possesses the confidence of governments, universities and prominent charities and administers their funds.
5. A number of other advantages which will appear in due course.

1509—A TRIM & BECOMING STYLE.

Plaid woolen in soft blue and brown tones would be nice for this, or shepherd check suiting with facings of white pique. For more dressy effect, one could choose poplin, taffeta or velveteen, with facings of silk or satin. Plaid silk with brown velvet, white satin with black taffeta, or messaline with poplin would all be equally attractive. The Pattern is cut with panel fronts, that join full skirt and waist portions. The waist back has no lines. It has a deep tuck at the sides, and is stitched over the skirt below the belt. The Pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 12, 14 and 16 years. It requires 5 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for a 14 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

1522—A SIMPLE BUT ATTRACTIVE STYLE FOR HOME OR BUSINESS WEAR.

Ladies' House or Home Dress, with Sleeve in Either of Two Lengths.

As here shown striped gingham, in blue and white was used, with white linene for trimming. The waist and skirt are cut on simple lines, with front closing; deep pockets trim the skirt, and a broad collar finishes the waist. The sleeve is dart fitted in wrist length, and is finished with a neat cuff. In short length a turn back cuff forms a suitable trimming. This style is good for all wash fabrics, also for taffeta, poplin, serge, corduroy, voile, and velvet. In Blue serge with facings of blue or black satin, it would make a splendid business dress. The Pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 inches bust measure. It requires 6 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for a 36 inch size. The skirt measures about 3 yards at its lower edge.

AN ATTEMPT TO WRECK THE IA BRIDGE.

MONTREAL, Feb. 7. What is believed to have been an attempt to wreck Victoria Bridge was frustrated by men of a company stationed on guard shortly before 6 o'clock this morning. Several shots were fired, when the figure of a man was seen creeping over the bridge towards the bridge. A searchlight on the city side picked him out and he was seen creeping over the stone pier, and was evident he had no right to be in such place at such an hour, and the guards opened fire. In a twinkling other guards were turned towards the bridge. Several more shots were fired, the man escaped.

ANOTHER FIRE AT OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, Feb. 7. Following the destruction of the House of Commons, an Ottawa garment factory is in ruins this morning. Another fire suspected of being originated through German plot, completely destroyed in the early hours to-day the clothing manufactory of Grant, Holden & Grant, which firm has contracts with the War Department for a supply of uniforms for the Canadian Expeditionary Force. The factory was completely gutted, entailing a loss of one hundred and twenty thousand dollars. No very valuable evidence exists of treacherous work of enemy agents originating the but suspicion at least points out because of the firm's business being making soldiers' equipment.

In the North Sea. The skipper would have liked to rescue the men, though they were enemies, but was unable to trust the Germans' word. Had he taken the Germans on his ship they might have attacked the crew, and the whole German press would have applauded the action as a clever piece of strategy. Therefore we ought to stand by the skipper. The Germans have killed chivalry in warfare.

MADRID, Feb. 6. Nine hundred Germans and fourteen thousand of their Colonial troops from the German Colony of Kamerun have crossed the border into Spanish Guinea, according to an official announcement made here to-day. PARIS OFFICIAL.

PARIS, Feb. 6. Official. A Bulgarian report forwarded from Athens to the Temps, says that 470 men were killed and more than 500 wounded during the recent attack by French aeroplanes on the Bulgars' camps. The attacks are said to have been made by seventeen aeroplanes. More than 200 bombs were dropped on the Bulgarian camps at Petrich in the Strumitza Valley. The bombardment was over in twenty minutes.

IN MESOPOTAMIA.

LONDON, Feb. 6. A correspondent of the British press in Mesopotamia, telegraphing from Basra, under date Feb. 2, emphasizes the hard task of the Kut of Amara relief force. He says that climatic conditions compare with the worst experienced in France in the winter of 1914. In few campaigns have the British and Indian forces been so severely tried. Lack of cover in a flat country exposes the advancing troops to rifle fire at 2,000 yards. At the present time, owing to the recent halt, conditions are becoming like those in France. Communication trenches have been cut and for the moment operations are confined to sniping and artillery fire.

EXPLOSION PARTLY DESTROYS AUSTRIAN FACTORIES.

ROME, Feb. 6. Austria's army factory at Skusa, and the works at Pilsen in Bohemia, have been partly destroyed as the result of an explosion, according to a despatch from Bucharest, Roumania, to the Messagero.

PRINCE LEOPOLD WILL ATTACK SUEZ CANAL.

GENEVA, Feb. 6. Prince Leopold, of Bavaria, who has studied Egypt thoroughly, will be appointed command of the German-Turkish army attack on the Suez Canal, according to the Kurier of Munich. The newspaper says that the expedition, it is reported, will set out early in the spring, and that it will be commanded by German officers who are making preparations at Constantinople.

KING GEORGE AGAIN IN PUBLIC.

LONDON, Feb. 6. King George to-day made his first public appearance since the accident which injured him from the accident while reviewing the British troops in France last October. His Majesty attended a performance of Verdi's Requiem in memory of the soldiers who have fallen in the war.

TAKING PRECAUTIONS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. A general police order, issued last night, assigning patrols to all stations on the subway system and the Hudson terminal building, led to reports that threats had been made to dynamite New York underground railroads, but no confirmation was obtainable of the assertion that a plot had been uncovered.

CinPills FOR THE KIDNEYS How They Help

St. Raphael, Ont. Four years ago I had such pains in my back that I could not work. The pains extended to my arms, sides and shoulders. I used many kinds of medicine for over a year, none of which did me very much good. I read about Cin Pills and sent for a sample and used them, and found the pains were lessening and that I was feeling better. So I bought one box, and before I used them all, the pains were almost gone and I could keep at work. After I had taken six other boxes of Cin Pills, I felt as well and strong as I did at the age of 30. I am a farmer, now 61 years old. FRANK LEALAND.

All druggists sell Cin Pills at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50. Sample free if you write to National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada Limited, Toronto.

LIGHT, HEAT, COMFORT!

The proprietor of one of the best known multiple shopping systems is credited with saying, "Give me any old shop, in any old street, and I'll guarantee to make it in twelve months the most widely known and best frequented shop in the district." He was asked to explain. Holding up three fingers he said, "I believe in the trinity of LIGHT, WARMTH, COMFORT. I should damn the moths until the candle drew them, I should bring them into a warm, comfortable shop, filled with a soft, pleasing radiance, and the rest is—well, mere child's play."

Mixed metaphors, perhaps, but expressive. Now we can more than imagine the kind of shop this well-known individual would open, for we pass it in almost every town—always a landmark to the street. No one fails to notice it. There is an indefinable air of welcome and invitation as one stands for a moment on the pathway and lets one's gaze travel inside it. The subdued, restful lighting effect that so charms because of its very unobtrusiveness, the absence of dark corners, the intangible feeling that if one would step inside one would be sure of experiencing a delicious sense of warmth and comfort and cheerfulness—all these are part of its appeal. Truly a shop with an individuality.

We cordially invite all progressive business men to visit our showroom and see our latest Lighting and Heating Appliances, by the adoption of which the ideal outline in the above extract from a London paper may be easily secured. Our new RADIO X Lamp and GASTHEAM Radiators fill all light and heat requirements.
