WHEN LOVE Came Too Late.

CHAPTER XXXVII

Before ten months had passed Olivia had received as many offers. One from a well-known nobleman, of so high a rank that he must be nameless in these pages, threw good Aunt Amelia into a flutter of excitement, which was turned into the agony of despair by Olivia's refusal.

"My dear," she exclaimed, with tearful indignation, "do you want to marry an emperor? Is that what you are waiting for?"

"I don't want to marry any one," returned Olivia; "and I am not waiting for any one."

"Well, I'm glad of it!" exclaimed Aunt Amelia, driven snappish by her disappointment. "Because if you are waiting for—"

"Well!" demanded Olivia, her eyes beginning to flash and her little foot to beat the carpet; by which sign the intelligent reader will understand how perfectly restored she was.

"Well, my dear, don't look as if you meant to eat me. All I meant to say was that he doesn't seem as if he were coming, or as if—if he meant to come."

"I—I don't know what you mean!" exclaimed Olivia.

Then she burst into tears, which seemed to indicate that after all she had been inking whom Aunt Amelia intended to be.

She dried her tears very quickly, and went to dress for a ball; quite a quiet affair, with only about two hundred guests.

She had never looked more lovely than she looked that night, and had never shone more brilliantly. The romantic story, the more than humored proposal of the prince, attracted all attention to her; and every body of note—and there were some famous personages there—begged for an introduction to the beautiful, young English girl.

Suddenly she grew tired, and sent her rejected suitor—who could not tear himself away from her, notwithstanding his rejection—for her father.

"Take me home, papa," she said in a low voice.

"Yes, yes; certainly, my dear," he said; and he took her upon his arm down the great staircase.

All the way home in the carriage she lay back silent and with her eyes closed.

"Are you tired, dear?" he asked. "You are not ill?" and he looked anxious.

"Mother—Made, Quick—Acting Cough Syrup"

Should be Kept Handy in Every Home—Easily Prepared and Costs Little.

Mothers, you'll never know what you are missing until you make up this inexpensive, quick-acting cough syrup and try it. Children love its pleasant taste and nothing else will loosen a cough or chest cold and heal the inflamed or swollen throat membranes with such ease and promptness. It is equally as good for grown-ups as for children.

This splendid cough syrup is made by pouring 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) into a 16-oz bottle and filling the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you 16 ounces—a family supply—of much better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50—a clear saving of $2.

The moment it touches the inflamed, cold-congested membranes that line the throat and air passages, the healing begins, the phlegm loosens, soreness leaves, cough spasms lessen and soon disappear altogether, thus ending a cough quicker than you ever thought possible. Hoarseness and ordinary coughs are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Excellent for bronchitis, whooping cough, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacal and is famous throughout the world for its quick healing effect on the membranes.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

CHAPTER I

The Dread Messenger.

"I did not know any one was here," and she turned to go.

"Stop—I beg—" he said, with a little hurried bow, whereas she was perfectly calm and self-possessed.

"You are Miss—Frere?"

"Yes," assented Norah, with a faint hesitation.

"I—I thought so," he said, struggling bravely to suppress all further signs of surprise. "Yes! My name is Petherick—Petherick & Gregson, of Gray's Inn, and I—er—in fact, Miss Frere, I have come down to see you."

"To see me?" said Norah, and the beautiful eyes grew larger.

"Yes—ahem," he drew a chair forward for her. "Will you not sit down? On business."

Norah sat down, and, with her hands clasped loosely on her lap, looked at him with grave patience.

"It's—it's nothing to be alarmed at," he hastened to remark, for the sweet gravity rather discomposed him.

"I am not alarmed," said Norah, a faint smile sweeping over her face like sunlight, causing the old lawyer to smutter:

"Heaven! The most lovely creature!"

"I'm—I'm glad to hear it," he said aloud. "Ladies, young ladies, especially, are generally frightened at the very sound of the word," and he laughed uneasily.

"Yes," she said, thoughtfully. "But I know nothing of business, and so—"

"Just so, just so," he broke in, with a little cough, his eyes still seeming dazzled by her beauty and her serenity. "You have never heard of me, Miss Frere?"

"I am afraid not," said Norah, after a moment's pause.

He coughed again.

"I thought perhaps that you might have done so, that Mrs. Hayes—"

Norah's lips quivered, and her eyes were veiled for a moment, and her slight wince upset Mr. Petherick terribly.

"I—I beg your pardon!" He glanced at the white dress and black sash. "You feel your loss—yes, yes; dear me, yes! Ahem! You were very much attached to her, Miss Frere?"

Norah made no reply, and he hurried on.

"Of course, of course. Yes. Poor woman! Most devoted to you, Mrs. Mrs. Jordan tells me! Sad loss, very, very!"

Norah waited in silence as he finished his condolence.

"And she never mentioned me to you?"

"No," said Norah, quietly.

"I see; and have grown attached to the place. It is very quiet."

"Yes, and very beautiful," she said, more to herself than to him, and her eyes wandered to the open window.

"I see; attached to Mrs. Jordan and fond of the place. Upon my word it is a pity."

The last sentence was not intended for Norah, but her ears were quick, and she turned her eyes upon him with a surprised questioning that made him cough again.

"I mean—dear me!—that—that perhaps it would be as well to let well alone. Certainly for your sake."

Norah still looked at him, puzzled and uncertain, and he hurried on.

"This—this life is a life of change, Miss Frere, a life of changes and surprises. You would say that you had not found it so, but yours is an exceptional, a very exceptional case, believe me. And you do not know the Earl of Arrowdale, to whom your nurse, Mrs. Hayes, wrote?" he asked, with sudden abruptness.

"No," said Norah, still more astonished by the question and its abruptness. "Until I saw his name upon the envelope of the letter, I did not know such a person existed."

Gin Pills

FOR THE KIDNEY'S MARTYR TO PAINS IN THE BACK

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 15, 1916.

About eight months ago I read your advertisement in one of the Halifax papers offering a free sample of Gin Pills for the Kidneys. I had been a martyr for years to intense pains across the back and decided to try Gin Pills. Before I had finished the third box I found myself free from pain.

Yours sincerely,

"And—ahem," he coughed again. It was evident that he experienced some difficulty in proceeding to the business he had alluded to. "And she did not tell you anything else?"

"Anything else?" repeated Norah, gently. "I don't understand—"

Mr. Petherick wiped his forehead with a perplexed and embarrassed air.

"I thought that she might have made some communication to you before she—died," he suggested.

Norah shook her head.

"No," she said; then as she recalled—ah, how vividly!—the dead woman's last words, she added, "No, she told me nothing. I—think—" she paused a moment—"I think that she wished to tell me something, and that she tried, but she did not."

"Dear me; yes, yes," said Mr. Petherick. "And a message now? Did she give you any message to deliver to—say, any one?"

"No," replied Norah. "She asked me to post a letter which she had written, that was all."

"A letter, yes," he said, seizing the opening thus afforded, and bending forward with a little less embarrassment.

"I thought that she wished to tell me something, and that she tried, but she did not."

DR. J. H. LINDSEY'S LINIMENT CURES GLEET IN COWS.

Near the Break on the West.

(By the Military Correspondent of the Westminster Gazette.)

A defensive, not on two but on three fronts, added to a defensive in Turkey, is a situation which no German prophet of The Next War in his boldest flights of speculation thought possible. It is for the enemy as portentous as it is novel, and assuredly no reflecting German can think with satisfaction of the political and military management of the war that has brought it about.

The Bulgarians need equipment, money and men. The Turks need most of all equipment and money. They have little of the one and none of the other. The war in Turkey already passing into its final phase—that of guerrilla fighting, it is not simply these demands for equipment and money which Germany has to meet from each and all of her confederates, but in the case of two of them the demand for men. In Europe seven-eighths of the enemy forces in the field are already German; one-eighth only are those of Germany's allies. The time is not very far off when the enemy forces in the field will be German alone.

Pressure Always Increasing. These demands, however, are coincident with a pressure, always increasing, which is wasting the forces of Germany herself at a rate not equalled before even in this war.

Now one of the dominant facts of the war is not merely the larger numbers of the Allied infantry, but the general ascendancy of that infantry in battle. On the Somme the Germans have been overwhelmed in the artillery duel. It would be quite in accord with their way of thinking to attribute their reverses to that particular inferiority, and to conclude that if they can again draw even with us in the combat of guns their defensive ought to hold. A grave flaw, however, vitiates this reasoning. Battles are not settled by artillery combats. Battles are decided by infantry. Assuming an equality in guns, the army in which the artillery arm fulfils its proper function of an adjunct to the infantry is a very different military body to that in which the infantry had performed to be reduced to a mere adjunct to the guns.

And on the East, though we hear in the meantime much less about it, the same thing is going on, and, allowing for geographical differences, at an equal speed. In these circumstances, remembering the demands of Germany's confederates, it is apposite to glance at the expedients which have been or are being resorted to. The first is the obvious expedient of "combing out" and sending to the front every man below or above a certain age who can be sent. This is said to have yielded an additional six divisions. Another and a remarkable expedient is that alluded to some little time ago by Mr. Stanley Washburn, the special correspondent of the Times on the Eastern front, of reducing the infantry strength of divisions one quarter. According to reports the reduction has been carried out in the case of some sixty divisions or thereabouts have been formed on the revised footing. These new divisions it must be presumed have to be found in artillery, partly, it may be, by redistribution, partly by additions. One effect, no doubt of this change, would be to make it easier on the whole to play forces about to meet emergency. But by far the more important effects is a further relative subordination of the infantry arm as compared with the artillery arm. In brief, the tendency seems to be to employ the infantry to a greater extent than hitherto as corps for the guns, and rather more than hitherto as supports for the machine guns. And, of course, if that hypothesis is correct, the tendency implies a larger reliance than before upon artillery and machine guns.

A Situation Never Contemplated. In view of the enemy's numerical inferiority such a development is just what we might expect. Here are the Germans in face of a situation never contemplated. They cannot multiply men, but they may multiply apparatus. Indeed, there appears to be no choice about the matter. If, however, they are to rely even more than they have done upon guns and machine guns, there must be a corresponding ability to supply them, and the munitions for them, and it looks as if this state of things affords the real explanation of the army order of von Falkenhayn. To assist the supply the "life" of existing guns must, as far as possible, be lengthened out, and munitions made to go as far as they can. Evidently there is little or no capability of expansion in present output.

To careful observers of events the consequences have never appeared doubtful. They are taking deep root in the achievements of the British and French armies on the Somme. Every succeeding blow is more telling. At every further step the strength of the Allies appears more towering and more irresistible. And it rests upon firm foundations. But let us not forget the prudent foresight which built it up.

Plans of the new Church for St. Joseph's Parish, were submitted and approved. A general discussion followed on the system of testing water wastages from the main. A full explanation was given by the City Engineer.

Councillor Tait presented a detailed plan with suggested improvements in the conduct of the health regulations of the city. Discussion was deferred. The meeting closed at 10 p.m.

DR. J. H. LINDSEY'S LINIMENT CURES GLEET IN COWS.

Our Volunteers.

Twenty young men presented themselves for enlistment during the last few days. Their names are: Thos. Carey, Cape Broyle, Gordon Thley, Sandy Point, Bay St. George. Joseph Thorne, Grand Bank. James Brown, Faouquet, N.S. Herbert Whitten, St. John's. William Gorman, St. John's. John Power, St. John's. John Williams, St. John's. William Boone, St. John's. Thos. Short, Cutwell Arm, N.D.B. Obel, Rideout, Cutwell Arm, N.D.B. Daniel Biles, St. Anthony. Roland Moulard, Grand Harbour. Willis Eastman, Musgrave Falls. Raymond Heffernan, Grand Falls. Garfield Way, Newtown. Heber Trask, Elliston. Neville Bugden, Trinity. James Brown, Faouquet. Edward Humby, St. Leonard's.

Both the reorganization of divisions and the modification of defensive strategy are efforts to stretch resources. The supreme object, of course, is to render the Allied offensive too costly to be persisted in, and at a first glance these measures may seem well judged. But there are at least three capital considerations opposed to such a conclusion. The first is the more equal division of her own forces between West and East which Germany has been obliged to make. It represented no small part of her military security that the bulk of her own forces remained until recently massed upon the West. And so long as her allies could afford any substantial aid that disposition might have been continued. The peril of decisive and irreparable defeat was lessened or at any rate postponed. With the crippling of Austria and the prospective crippling of Bulgaria, continuance of the disposition became impossible. Not to hinder words about it, the outcome of events. It was either that or letting her allies go. Next, together with this more risky but unavoidable splitting up, there is the heightened peril of defeat inherent in the military reorganization. That again, no doubt, has been inevitable in the circumstances. But it none the less decreases that essence of a strong defensive—the power to strike back. Thirdly, there is the question of reserves. In that respect the war has been conducted by Germany on the one side and by the Allies on the other on totally opposing principles. It was the aim of Germany to engage all her forces as rapidly as possible, and to bring matters to an issue as soon as possible. It has been the aim of the Allies to engage the forces needed to meet and counter the German onset, and to go on feeding them while the forces of Germany decline. In brief, the principle of pace has been opposed to that of staying power. In such a contest the first advantages were bound to accrue to the side which went in for pace. They were, however, dearly bought. This is why the checks suffered by Germany early in the war have been irreparable and have brought forth cumulative consequences.

Don't Neglect Your Cough.

A little cold may not seem a dangerous thing—you may feel inclined to let it go, hoping that to-morrow it will be better—but can you afford to take chances? Just as the little insignificant acorn grows if let alone, to the mighty giant oak, that cough if not stopped may grow to a very serious illness. When a Cough starts there's no telling where it will end. You know no doubt of cases right among people you have known, where serious complications and fatal illness have had their start from a neglected cough or cold. "Don't neglect your cough." Stafford's Phoronote Cough and Cold Cure is what you should take. For sale at Stafford's Drug Store, Theatre Hill, and Stafford's Pharmacy, Duckworth Street. Price 25c, postage 5c extra.

Will Fish Till End of Year.

The Board of Trade has just received this report: Oct. 14.—From W. White (English Harbor to Spaniard's Cove). The total catch is 27,800 quintals with 1,150 for last week. About 100 boats are fishing. All the Labrador vessels have returned home, and the shore fishery is practically ended. From the end of the year, and they may probably go from 1,500 to 2,000 quintals in the ensuing period, which will be settled until next spring, when it will be washed and dried. Prospects are for a good season, with weather, and there is plenty of squid for bait.

Killed, Wounded and Missing.

The latest Canadian casualty list received gives the names of the following Newfoundlanders: Lieut.-Colonel J. Clarke, Carbonear, killed in action; Private John K. Bown, Nfld., killed in action; Private Percy, the Grand Parish, previously reported missing, now admitted to hospital; Private A. Pike, St. Lawrence, wounded; Private E. Toback, St. John's, wounded; Private James Gear, Nfld., missing; Private James Wesley, Nfld., wounded.

PERVRSITY.

The doctor says that ples' a r e of what I found, I began ob-squating the fish of the village pond. The boys all had I was a winner, for where ice was mine, until I saw where ice was thinner, a big square "Danger" sign. I skated up to see it closer—you should have seen me sink! It took two blacksmiths and a grocer to drag me from the drink. Who cares a kopeck for a warning! Man to his doom inclines because he takes a pride in scoring all sorts of danger signs.

Hr. Grace Notes.

The S. S. Mary arrived at Carbonar on Saturday morning, with a number of workmen, including some from Harbor Grace. She came in here this morning and conveyed them to the island again.

The article on the four question in your issue of Saturday was very timely, and people around here think that the business men all over the island should read, mark, learn and thoroughly consider that article.

The fish on board the wrecked schooner Dorothy is being taken out and dumped in the harbor, as it is unfit for food. The vessel is now at the wharf to the east of the Coal Co's premises, and will no doubt soon be taken on dock for repairs.

Mr. Edward Parsons and family are receiving the congratulations of friends on the distinction awarded his son, Capt. W. H. Parsons—the Military Cross, for his gallant conduct in attending to the wounded soldiers in France lately. All Harbour Graceans, and no doubt every Newfoundlanders is proud of the genial and courageous doctor.

Miss Carrie Parsons left town on Saturday for Broad Cove. Bay de Verde district, where she will spend a couple of weeks with friends.

NEW YORK SHORT OF COAL.

NEW YORK, To-day. A shortage of coal is in prospect for this city this winter, according to dealers, who declare that their bins are being depleted and the outlook for immediate or eventual relief is poor. The shortage applies to both hard and soft coal.

GERMANS REPULSED.

LONDON, To-day. The Germans last night made a heavy attack on the newly won positions of the British in the vicinity of the Iohwaben redoubt on the Somme front. The war office announced that the Germans were repulsed with heavy loss.

THE "HATE" AGAIN.

NEW YORK, To-day. A cable from London to the Herald says an anti-British propaganda is now raging in the German press as never before, and also for the purpose of the propaganda the Prussians are issuing at Amsterdam a Deutsche Wochenzeitung, in the latest issue of which there is an article full of heroic incentive against the United States. Were it not for the fact that America is behind the Somme armies of the Allies, they allege that they would never be able to beat the Prussians.

FRENCH GAIN.

PARIS, To-day. Continuing their attacks on the Somme front last night the French penetrated the German positions at Sully-Saillist and Saillist, the war office announced to-day. They occupied houses on the edge of the road to Bapaume. The Germans made violent counter attacks.

WAR SUMMARY.

LONDON, To-day. While both the Vienna and Berlin war offices announce merely a continuation of the fighting on the Transylvanian front between the Austro-German forces and the Rumanians, the Rumanian army headquarters reports that in the Alt River region the troops of King Ferdinand have occupied several positions held by the Teutonic Allies. On all the other sectors of this front, according to Bucharest, attacks were repulsed by the Rumanians except in the Bursen Valley, where the Rumanians were compelled to withdraw slightly further south. Hard fighting is going on from west of Lutsk through Galicia to the Carpathians. In Volhynia, despite fierce attacks by both sides there is seemingly a stalemate. From the Petrograd reports neither the Austro-Germans nor the Russians have been able to gain an advantage in Galicia, where battles have taken place along the Tarnopol to Krassne railway, east of Lemberg and to the north of Stanislau. Several small successes for the Austro-Germans have been attained in the Carpathian mountains. The big guns on both sides of the Somme front did the greater part of the work on Monday. To the south of the river, however, in a small wood between Genemont and Ablaincourt, 110 prisoners and three guns fell into the hands of the French. A violent counter attack by the Germans east of Berny on the Somme was repulsed by the British. On the Macedonian front, British troops reached the village of Bursuk, eight miles southwest of Demir-Hissar. Along the Cerna River on the north ridge of the mountain the forces of the Entente Allied troops attacked the Teutonic Allies but were repulsed. The provisional Government of Greece formed on the Island of Crete has been formally recognized by the Entente Powers.

ATHLETIC GAMES AT STOCKHOLM.

STOCKHOLM, To-day. Twelve thousand people witnessed to-day the games in which a group of star American athletes competed in the 1,000 metres run in which 2 Swedes, Scander and Bolin, equalled the world's record of 2 minutes 31 2-10 seconds, finishing abreast well ahead of Ted Meredith, the former American quarter mile champion, who on Saturday won the 400 metres dash in fast time. Simon, an American sprinter, won the 110 metre hurdles in 34 8-10 seconds, which surpasses the Olympic record by one-fifth of a second. The American team won the 400 meter relay race in 43 3-10 seconds.

GETTING BUSY.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Most of the members of President Wilson's cabinet will be actively engaged in a campaign for his re-election from now until shortly before the election.

CULEBRA ISLAND STORM SWEEP.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Culebra Island, a station off the Puerto Rican coast, was almost completely destroyed last week by a hurricane which swept that vicinity. The station had been practically abandoned by the navy; only a few houses and supplies used by marines, who practice advance base manoeuvres there, were left. A despatch to the Navy Department to-day says these properties have been blown to pieces.

AN ECHO OF THE REBELLION.

LONDON, To-day. The commission appointed to inquire into the shooting of Sheehy Skeffington during the rebellion in Ireland last spring has reported that there was no good ground for the complaints against the action of Lieut Morris, who caused Skeffington to be detained and sent to barracks. Sir John Simon is chairman of the commission, which describes the action of Capt. Bowen Colthurst, who took Skeffington from barracks into the street as a hostage, as remarkable and almost meaningless. None of the evidence offered at the commission, it is reported, afforded any justification for the shooting of the boy Coady. Concerning the execution of Skeffington the report says it is a delusion to suppose that the proclamation of martial law confers upon an officer any right to take human life in circumstances where this would not be justified without such a proclamation, and this delusion had tragic consequences in the present case. Apart from the defence of insanity, the commissioners state that there can be no excuse or palliation for Capt. Bowen Colthurst's conduct from first to last. In addition to Skeffington, Fred McIntyre and Thos. Dickson were put to death by orders of Bowen Colthurst. The captain was later court martialled and found guilty but declared insane.

EXPECTS KEEN TRADE COMPETITION.

NEW YORK, To-day. American business must expect the keenest competition with European nations, especially Britain, in Latin American trade after the war, according to a statement issued to-night by John Barrett, Director General of the Pan-American Union, who returned to-day from Bordeaux on the French liner Lafayette after a trip to England and France. Barrett went abroad to ascertain the British and French viewpoint of the effect of the war upon commerce and commercial development of the American Republics.

HEROIC YOUNG AMERICAN HONORED.

PARIS, To-day. The Cross of the Legion of Honour was pinned on the breast of Norman Prince, a young American aviator, as he lay on his deathbed in the hospital at Gerardmer Vosges. Prince had taken part in the great aerial raids which had been followed by a stirring fight in the air between the Allies' aeroplanes and German machines. He suffered injuries to the head which apparently was the direct cause of death.

CAME ONCE TOO OFTEN.

BERLIN, To-day. The commander of Zeppelin L-32, one of the two destroyed in the raid on England of Sept. 23, was Lieut. Werner Peterson who in Sep. 1915 gave to the Associated Press an extended account of repeated visits of German airships to the British capital and coast towns.

RUTHLESS RUBBISH.

BERLIN, To-day. A largely attended meeting of the Independent Committee for German peace, one of the organizations conducting an agitation for a ruthless submarine war, was held here. According to the Tageblatt's report of the meeting unrestricted submarine war must be and should begin immediately. Count Von Reventlow, the editorial writer of Tages Zeitung, who was one of the prominent speakers, added Doctor Karl Helfferich, Secretary of the Interior, to the list of undesirable. He declared Helfferich to be more dangerous than the Imperial Chancellor Bethmann-Holweg.

Impounder in Court.

Two exciting and interesting cases were heard in the Central District Court to-day before Judge Hutchings. Arthur Dessert, City Impounder, was the complainant in each case, preferring charges of obstruction in the discharge of his duties, against Messrs. J. Cole and P. Murphy. Messrs. Higgins and Carter were the Counsel for complainant and defendant respectively. On the first count the evidence showed that Cole was looking after cattle owned by Mr. J. Coady. The counsel for the defendant argued that cattle under the control of an attendant was not at large, within the meaning of the act. This contention was upheld by the court and the case dismissed. This decision is of importance to farmers and live stock owners generally. During the hearing of the charge against defendant Murphy, the City Impounder was rather frantic in giving his evidence in the witness stand. He was repeatedly brought to order by the Judge and eventually threatened with more unbecoming surroundings if he did not cease his disorderly behaviour. His Honor intimated that he was surprised that the Municipal Council retained the complainant in such an important post. However, when all the evidence in the case had been taken it was shown that the Impounder had been after and had captured Murphy's live stock on two different occasions, once on Murphy's premises, but it was also disclosed that Murphy had acted injudiciously in rescuing his horse from Dessert. It was ordered that the defendant pay $2 the Impounder's fee.

Decorated With the Legion of Honor.

Dr. Menard Lost Two Fingers by Exposure to X-Ray Hospital Work—Splendid Results.

Paris, October 12.—Dr. Menard, of the Cochin Hospital, was decorated with the Legion of Honor as a recompense for the loss of two fingers by exposure to the X-Ray in hospital work. Dr. Menard, who has lost a finger from each hand, has accomplished admirable results in the location of projectiles in the bodies of wounded soldiers. The loss of his first finger did not deter Dr. Menard from following up his research work in the radiograph room. In the loss of his fingers he defied that tissue cells exposed to the action of the X-Ray are subjected to a localized disease of nutrition, and, in consequence, harden and rapidly deaden.

Through Dr. Menard's experiments at the Cochin hospital, a surgeon there was able a few days ago to locate and extract a shrapnel bullet lodged under the heart of a wounded soldier in ten minutes.

Notes From the Southward

Constable O'Flaherty and bride are at Fermeuse enjoying their honeymoon before taking up his abode in the city.

The returned heroes on their arrival at Renewa were given a hearty welcome, where they are enjoying full-length. The band was present at the station and discoursed lively airs, giving "Home Again," and winding up with "Tipperary." The harbour was en fête, and quite a number attended the reception.

The shore was resorted to by a number of agents advertising their wares. They wound up by reaping a rich harvest. They are looking forward this fall to something new and serviceable, and a visit from a dentist would not be out of place, as his visit would be most welcome.

Father McGrath is about to add to the seating capacity of the new school chapel at Caplin Bay by having a gallery erected to give room for divine worship. Many other improvements are looked forward to in the Parish in the future by the Rev. Dr. McGrath.—Com.

As the Mind is Set.

By RUTH CAMERON.

This fall I had every arrangement made (even to the buying of my tickets) to start on a vacation on a certain date.
Just two days before the day set I found I must postpone that vacation and go back to the routine of daily life. And never was anything so hard.
I had been doing double work to get ready for the vacation. Now I was only doing single work. And yet it seemed twice as hard.

I Had My Mind Set Vacationward
Why? Because I had set my mind vacationward, and it's the way your mind is set which makes things hard or easy.

I have a neighbor who has a great dread of company. Unfortunately her husband's position makes it necessary for her to do more or less entertaining. She will come into my house on a beautiful morning looking so lugubrious that she casts a shadow over the sunshine.

"What's the matter?" I say.
"Oh, So-and-so are coming to spend the week end."
"Don't you like them?"
"Yes, but I'm so afraid everything won't be just right, and then it's so confusing to have the house full of people all the time."

Her Mind is Set Against Company.
Now, if she were naturally unsociable or diffident, or inferior in education, if she didn't have proper facilities for entertaining, or couldn't afford it, one could understand.
But none of these obstacles exist, and from what I have seen of her when she forgets herself, I think she

A Famous Battleground

Picardy is Scene of British Victories of Agincourt and Crecy.

If historical associations inspire to brave deeds, the British forces in their offensive against the Germans along the Somme River should be heartened by extraordinary acts of valor by the thought that they are fighting in Picardy, says a war geography bulletin of the National Geographic Society.
This ancient province of France, now divided into four departments—the Somme, Oise, Pas-de-Calais, and Aisne—has two battlefields whose very names quickened the pulse of Englishmen, for it was at Crecy that the Black Prince won his spurs, and Agincourt that Henry V., commanding his yeomen with their cloth-yard bows, utterly overthrew the flower of French chivalry.

Picardy is a treasured name in romantic literature and in French history. It had a literature of its own in the twelfth century and its soldiers were among the most valiant in France, being known as the Gascons of the North.
The province was a natural battleground for the French and English during the Hundred Years' War, for its shores extend along the North Sea and the English Channel, from the River Aa, above Valais, to a point below Dieppe. Fifteen miles north of Abbeville, one of the principal cities of Picardy, is Crecy, where, until late in the nineteenth century, there still stood the old windmill from which Edward III. of England in 1346 watched his beloved son, the first Prince of Wales, at that time only 16 years of age, triumph over Philip of Valois. On this occasion the English were outnumbered four to one, and they wrought terrible havoc among the enemy, the losses of the vanquished being variously estimated at from 10,000 to 30,000. One of those who fell in this fight was the chivalrous John, King of Bohemia, who, although blind, led a heroic charge for his French ally. Some historians trace the Prince of Wales' crest of three ostrich feathers and the motto "Ich dien" (I serve), to this battle, the Black Prince adopting them from the fallen John in memory of the event.

Less than 20 miles northeast of Crecy is Agincourt, where English archers, nearly 70 years later, after letting fly their clouds of arrows against the heavily armored nobles, attacked them with hatchets as they floundered helplessly in mud. Five thousand Frenchmen of noble birth, including their commander, d'Albret, constable of France, fell in this battle, while the estimate of English losses was astonishingly low, some chroniclers giving only 15 men at arms and 100 foot soldiers.

Several towns of Picardy—Amiens, Soissons, and Beauvais—owe their names to the ancient tribes which inhabited this section, known as Belgica Secunda, when the Romans maintained armed camps along the valley of the Somme. In the third century Christianity was introduced, and St. Quentin, from whom the important town 20 miles east of Peronne gets its name, was martyred at that time.

Picardy was the heart of Merovingian France in the fifth century, for Clovis named Soissons as his capital, while Charlemagne designated Noyon as his principal city, and the lesser Carolingians in turn similarly honored Laon.

By the treaty of Arras in 1435 the royal towns of the Somme Valley were ceded to Burgundy, but 42 years later, after the death of Charles the Bold, Louis XI. regained them. During its brief eras of peace the province thrived as a centre of the weaving industry, Flemish immigrants having introduced the art.

Shot Many Germans, Made 62 Surrender

Canadian Private's Feat Had Vital Results in Midst of Critical Assault.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 6.—The exploit of a wounded Canadian private who leaped from his trench, killed and wounded many Germans, and compelled sixty-two others to surrender, is described in a dispatch received to-day from Canadian Headquarters in France. The communication states that the bravery of the unnamed private made it possible for his battalion to capture 250 yards of trench at a critical moment in the general attack. Since their offensive began, the dispatch says, the Canadians have wrested nearly three square miles of territory from the Germans.

Describing the deeds of the private, the dispatch says: "The most aggressive gallantry was displayed by a private belonging to an Edmonton battalion. He was taking part in a bombing attack when the advance was arrested and the supply of bombs was exhausted. Although one of his fingers had been blown away at the second joint by a German bomb, he jumped out of the trench and ran along the outside, firing at point blank range at the enemy, killing and wounding many of them. The remainder, sixty-two in number, thinking themselves about to be cut off, thereupon surrendered."
"He with two other men, escorted the prisoners across open ground under heavy fire to a support trench and then returned and reported himself for duty to his company commander, before his wound had been dressed."
"This action undoubtedly made it possible for the battalion to capture and hold 250 yards of trench at a critical moment in the general attack."

OFFICIAL.
LONDON, Oct. 16.
The Governor, St. John's:
On the Somme front there was no general British attack during the week. Our line was advanced at various points, and more prisoners captured.
The French made an important advance on Tuesday between Berny and Chaunay, taking 1,250 prisoners. The attack was renewed on Saturday, and further 1,100 prisoners were captured. Last night the French obtained a footing at Sally-Sallisel, where fighting is proceeding.
The Italians resumed the attack on Carso, making progress and capturing some 3,000 prisoners.
There is no change on the Russian front.

Why the Bar is Gone Forever.

(From the Toronto Globe.)

There can be no come-back for the barroom. So far as concerns Ontario it is gone. Gone once, it is gone forever. And the real reason is that public opinion against it, on economic grounds as well as on moral, is becoming positive and solid. From all parts of Ontario and from all sorts of people the same testimony comes. Yesterday's mail brought one letter from an outstanding officer of the law, another from an Irish washerwoman. Both now agree that prohibition can prohibit, and that to enforce the law means to end the traffic.

The legal gentleman tells his experience in these words:

"I was not keen on Prohibition, but I confess my observation converts me. For instance: a rural hotelkeeper told me he now takes in $5 a day, where formerly he took $25. Another takes $10 where formerly he took $50. They told me, too, that the farmer now stays at home and works, while the women folk do the shopping. A man is indeed blind who cannot figure up the saving in money and in time."

Not blind but thoughtless. And the thoughtlessness of thousands of citizens is being cured by Canada's war experiences. The extra $20 and $40 spent every day in the barroom went for liquor, and was worse than wasted. It was taken from the man's margin or from the family purse. The liquor it purchased made the men who drank it worse as fathers, as sons, as citizens, and as workmen. They could not do their "bit," because they could not do their best. And in their waste both their own homes and the community suffered loss.

In her letter the washerwoman says: "It is just like heaven in our home now, for my two boys never come home drunk." In her own way she told the story of the economic burden as well as the social tragedy of the barroom.

And it is because the barroom is together and everywhere a parasite that the barroom is doomed. The wine, the beer, and the whiskey are worse than wasted: they destroy the productive value of those who drink them. This is why the spokesmen for the liquor traffic talked economic nonsense. It is better for the community that men be idle than that their productive activity should waste the wealth and destroy the productivity of the country.

For the community it is best of all that the parasites themselves be turned into producers. This is what happened when the men who are fed and clothed by the service of others, be that service physical or mental, are made servants of the community and do their "bit." What Ontario people are now learning is that no man does his best. This is no time for the parasitic institution. The drink traffic has proved itself not a worker but a waster. Out it goes. And it can have no come-back.

Citizen's Committee on Sanitation.

The Citizens' Committee held their regular weekly meeting last night. Chairman Soper, who presided, was obliged to leave when the meeting was half through to attend to some urgent personal business. Vice-Chairman Kelly filling the office for the remainder of the evening. Considerable discussion arising out of the reading of the last minutes took place, and it was decided that the Committee recommend that Sections 190 and 191 under the heading of Sanitation be expunged. The Sections in question deal with the construction of main sewerage, in which the owner of any building-site are to pay the cost of installation. Some of the Committee thought the rule should apply to streets that may be built in future, but not to existing streets; it was also pointed out the measure would be quite unfair, inasmuch as the city would be forcing the new applicant for sewerage to pay a lump sum for the same privileges that others received out of the general funds.

Mr. Mews gave notice that at the next meeting he would propose a reconsideration of the method of discussing the new Bill. Sections 176 to 184 were discussed and some amendments made. Re section 184, dealing with the disposing of night soil, it was decided that the hours for depositing receptacles containing the same on the sidewalk be between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock midnight.

The Secretary was ordered to notify the absent members of the committee that their presence would be required at the next meeting, October 23, when important business will come up for discussion.

Into Death Pits Tied to Horses.

German barbarism has harked back to the historic case of Maseppa in devising methods of punishment for natives of "occupied" Belgium found guilty of offending against the Kaiser's Military laws, according to stories told by sixty-five Belgian refugees who arrived in New York on board the steamship Noordam, of the Holland-American line. The new punishment for offences is called the "Maseppa game," and consists of tying culprits to the backs of horses and running the animals to their death in deep pits, the story goes. Mrs. A. Frisque, one of the refugees, declared that she had witnessed several instances of this means of torture, which she described as horrifying. "Many Belgium youths have paid penalty in this way for minor infractions against German military regulations," she said. "I have seen pits filled in this diabolical way until you could see the arms and feet of slain youths sticking above the ground. In most cases the horses chosen to carry the offenders to death are decrepit war animals who have outlived their usefulness in dragging pieces or supply wagons."

Oldest Living Actress.

Whatever she may be in spirit, Miss Genevieve Ward is the oldest well-known actress still on the stage in point of years. She has just been celebrating her 78th birthday.

Born the year after Queen Victoria came to the throne, and ten years before Miss Ellen Terry, Miss Ward, who is at present playing a leading part in "The Baskers," with Sir George Alexander, has been acting since she was eighteen.

Italian grand opera was her first love, but after some years as an operatic singer she strained her voice so badly during a tour in Cuba that she was forced to abandon this work.

With that indomitable courage that has always been characteristic of her, Miss Ward turned to the "regular" stage. The first important part she succeeding in securing was that of Lady Macbeth, but it is for her performance in "Furze Me-Not" that she is best remembered.

She has played the part of Stephanie in this play over 2,000 times touring 50,000 miles with "Forget Me-Not."

By right of marriage Miss Ward is the Countess Cuelber of Russia, but she has never used the title.

Archbishop Roche

URNS FIRST SOD OF NEW CHURCH SITE.

The turning of the first sod in connection with the proposed new Church for St. Joseph's Parish, Holytown, was performed yesterday by His Grace Archbishop Roche. Though the ceremony was informal, it was witnessed by a large concourse of people, including Rev. Dr. Kitchen, Pastor of the Parish, several of the leading parishioners as well as the contractors, namely, Mr. J. C. Barter, Architect; Mr. J. Pidgeon, carpenter; and Messrs. W. Murphy and J. Coady, masons.

The initial work of construction commenced this morning and a gang of men are now engaged excavating. The new church, will be built of reinforced concrete, will cost over $20,000. The corner stone will be laid by His Grace the Archbishop at an early date and the edifice, it is expected, will be ready for occupancy several months hence.

The new church will be a lasting monument to the Rev. W. P. Kitchen, Ph. D., the zealous and unwearying Pastor, who, by his self-sacrificing and unselfish efforts, achieved such wonderful results within the comparatively short period since he assumed control of St. Joseph's Parish.

Harvest Festival Effort.

Dear Friends.—We are holding our Annual Harvest Festival Effort this week. There is no need of an explanation of the same. You have been helping us so long that you expect it to come to those in sorrow, in suffering, and in sin, and offers that hand of help to bring them out of their misery. The Army goes on doing this in all seasons of the year, in sixty countries of the World, like the rain that falls on the evil and the good, to all classes, creeds and nationalities. We need more this year than ever, because of the War. We have 80,000 Salvationists, Soldiers, Officers and Nurses, and twelve Motor Ambulances. We must look after them and with our local burdens, our need is great. How can you help us? Anything you wish to give, say a dozen apples, oranges, pears, tomatoes, a bunch of grapes, cabbage, potatoes, turnips, carrots, parsnips and beet. The Sisters can help us with painting, fancy work, and aprons. Anything that we can sell we will turn into cash. One cannot help many, but many can help one. St. John's Officers and Soldiers are doing their best to raise as much as possible for the work, to make the world better and happier. Don't think anything too small. Send us something, or let us know, and we will call. We are calling on the farmers this week.

Yours in the Master's Service,

Why Jones Was Pinched For Speeding.

Your Boys and Girls.

Children should be taught from the beginning the great moral law of cause and effect; not to look for wealth without work, for honor without honesty. Teach them that character stands above surroundings and that esteem should be bestowed where it is due, whether for mental endowment or material wealth.

It is not all of morals to moralize, and less precept and more example is to be commended. The living realization, the quiet suggestion, the favourable opportunity are the efficient teachers. Ignorance is responsible for a great deal of wickedness, but evil example and parental neglect are responsible for vastly more.

A sense of right and wrong should be cultivated early in a child's life and much may be accomplished in this direction before the child leaves the mother's nursery training.

General Mission Board, Toronto.

The Committee on Home Appropriations met on Thursday, the 5th inst. It is a small committee which meets in advance of the Board and decides the grants of the Home Missions. For many years Rev. Dr. S. F. Huestis was chairman. He was succeeded by Rev. Dr. Ryekman. Now, the Rev. T. Marshall has been made chairman. Mr. Marshall was elected to the Committee in the place of Rev. George Steel, D.D.

This year $100 will be allowed for Horse Keep, and this will bring all the different classes of circuits into line with the Discipline, but while $100 will be allowed for Horse Keep, it does not mean that the salaries will be increased by the difference between $75 and $100. So far as these conferences are concerned the allowances for its missionaries will be about the same as last year. What little difference there is will be in the nature of an improvement.

But an effort will be made by the representatives from these Conferences, so far as to bring the salaries as nearly as possible up to the disciplinary allowance. A few days will decide whether or not this is successful.—Wesleyan.

A Difference of Temperament.

Westminster Gazette: The difference of temperament between the French and the English "Tommy" at moments of crisis is aptly illustrated by a story I have from an officer at the front. Scene: Where the French and British join forces. French leading off at the double, with glorious élan, shouting dramatically: "La France! Vive la belle France! Pour la belle France!" British, at an easy jog trot, in support, with broad grin: "This way for the early door-silence extra!"—All in the passion and the grim joke, there was the same tremendous determination in each thrust forward.

Where is the German Base?

Providence Journal.—Has the U-54 a base not 50 miles from Newport? Months ago The Journal reported circumstantial evidence of a German submarine nest along the coast of Maine. It was established that sailing ships had left our ports with oil, arriving at their destinations with greatly reduced cargoes. At times an unaccountable drift of oil cans has been reported all the way up to the Maritime Provinces. The spectacular Sunday raid of the U-53—it would be surprising to learn that a sister boat is with her—should warn the Government at Washington of its duty to make sure that the operations are not being sustained from bases on our coasts.

Women as Preachers.

London Chronicle: With the dying away to nothingness of the controversy, "Should Women Preach?" which but for the war would have rivalled in feverishness of interest the older questions of "Is marriage a failure?" and "is life worth living?"—comes the reflection that the newspaper correspondent takes him and herself far more seriously nowadays than was the custom formerly. I don't remember seeing anything so light-hearted in the women preachers discussion as the epigram of a barrister contributed to the introduction of the surplice in place of the black gown. You may remember it:—

I do not know and do not care, What dress a parson ought to wear. A black dress or a white dress, Having a sorrow of my own, A wife who preaches in her gown, And lectures in her night dress.

Gruesome Find.

BODY OF MAN PICKED UP WITH FACE, HANDS AND FEET GONE.

Readers will remember the terrible storm of September 24th last which caused such destruction to property and loss of life, and in which the schr. Bonnie Lass, of Salmonier, was doomed with seven men on board while crossing Trepassay Bar. This morning Mr. R. J. Devereaux, M. H. A., received the following message from Trepassay:—

"Body of a man picked up this morning one mile and a half inside Mutton Head; face, hands and feet gone; supposed to be one of the crew of Bonnie Lass. Body will be confined and taken to Salmonier by boat Maggie." Deputy Minister of Justice Hutchings also received a message to-day from Magistrate Giovanetti at Trepassay stating that an unrecognizable body of a drowned man, six feet long was found there to-day, supposedly one of the crew of the schr. Bonnie Lass.

The Epic of Courcellette

(From the Canadian Gazette, London.)
Courcellette takes its place beside Ypres in the history of Canadian achievements. In the second battle of Ypres it was by Canada's valor and endurance that, in the words of Viscount French, the situation was saved, and the German road to Calais definitely barred. At Courcellette she crowned her effort on the Somme and completed her share in striking what Sir Douglas Haig calls "probably the most effective blow yet dealt to the enemy by British troops." The epic of Courcellette is no less brilliant than that of Ypres, and its first narration is made in our columns this week by the Canadian Official Representative at the front and by wounded officers now in London hospitals. It was a sudden eleventh-hour addition to the programme of attack. The Sugar Factory had been taken with splendid courage aided by the mysterious "tankers", and the trenches of the German third line had been secured. Thus Canadians had completed their allotted task and brought themselves abreast of other parts of the British army attacking on the six-mile front from Pozieres to Leuze Wood. The high ground between the Combles Valley and the Ancre was ours, and already the enemy was in the position of those who linger too long on a point of rock when a spring tide is racing in from the ocean. But with appetite unappetized the Canadians begged to be allowed to push beyond their objective. They did push on and carried the village of Courcellette in a famous rush, taking a German garrison of much greater strength. We shall think again and again of the dramatic little scene in the battered main street where the French-Canadians rounded up a Bavarian battalion commander—a real baron—to receive from him a truly outburst of rage when he saw that instead of three or four to one, as attacking troops should be, his captors were actually fewer in number than the troops he commanded. It was a German shrapnel that found out that Baron as he made his way back to the first British dressing station at the head of a string of wounded Bavarians. We shall think also of that Canadian boy coming up the steep staircase of a German dugout proudly leading a string of 32 Bavarians, all with their hands in the air. And so the crooked, wandering British line has been straightened and German salients smoothed away upon a new front. The German nerve has been severely shaken, especially by the overwhelming artillery fire, the astonishing air vigil of our flying men, the "tankers", and the complete surprise of such attacks as the Canadians made upon Courcellette. How much further the fall of Combles and Thiepval will develop the deterioration of the morale of German troops on the Somme we shall soon know. Our immediate duty is plain. It is to remember that in war the only safe motto is, "Men, men, and again men."

Germany's Tune Has Changed.

London Daily News.—We have long passed the time when the Reichstag used to echo with confident talk about indemnities. To-day the word is never mentioned. We have even passed the time when there was talk of annexation. The key has changed to the minor and even Hindenburg is found talking almost like a pessimist, and the Kaiser's chaplain, instead of the confident note of other days, is preaching sermons which seem designed to prepare the mind of the country for defeat. But most significant of all are the transparent attempts to keep up the illusions of victory in the face of defeat.

Total $291 84
N.B.—Of the above amount $294 has been raised for the maintenance of one bed for one year for our wounded men.

The Patriotic Committee of Barr'd Island and Joe Batt's Arm decided to use the balance, $31.84, for the following purpose, namely, to send a small parcel at Christmas to each of the men now serving in the Army and Navy, from the above settlements.

Twenty Babies on the Stephano.

James L. Taylor, of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., first cabin passenger on the Red Cross liner, formerly a newspaper man, stated that as the German submarine shelled the Stephano, through the evening, the American destroyers formed a ring about her "like a horse shoe."

Among the passengers on the Stephano were not less than 20 babies, ranging from a few weeks old to 3 and 4 years. On their mothers fell the severest nervous shock of the warning to leave the ship, conveyed by the German U-boat's commander in the form of shots across the Stephano's bow, of the hurried putting on of life belts, of the descent from the ship's rails by ladder to the life-boats, and of the tossing journey in the small boats, to the protecting side of a United States destroyer.

One young mother had two children. She was Mrs. M. Gushie, of Avondale, N.F. She had gone aboard the Stephano to join her husband, Chris. Cobb, who was in Brooklyn, and she had her household goods along. "I was moving," she said, "and lost everything, even the babies' clothes and all my own, except what I stand in. But I don't care—I saved the best of all, these. The rest doesn't count."

"My first thought when I heard that we were fired on was for the babies," she said. "I was at dinner and I rushed to get my little ones in the stateroom and get on a life belt; I didn't wait for anything else. When I got on deck I couldn't realize what had happened. It seemed like a nightmare."
"They led me along to the rail where there was a gangway and I went down it and jumped into a boat. Then they passed down my precious babies to me. It was a dreadful shock to my nerves, the fear that something might happen to them. I didn't breathe freely until I stood on the deck of the American destroyer."
"Another woman who told her experience in protecting her child was Mrs. E. Davis, of Trinity, Nfld. Like Mrs. Gushie, she was travelling alone, except for the company of her 3-year-old boy, Cyril.
"I had Cyril with me at the supper table when the ship was fired on," she said. "My first thought was to save him, and protect him from the weather. I took him in my arms and rushed for my stateroom. There I hurried on my hat and coat and his outside clothes. Then I rushed on deck and put on a life-preserver. When I got into the boat they passed my baby to me, and I hugged him tight as we rowed to the destroyer beach."
"When I got aboard the destroyer I felt all right, for I knew we were safe, he and I. It was an awful experience, the shock. I mean you cannot understand what it meant to think that in a moment you may be thrown into the water with a helpless little one in your arms."

"Cascarets" Best If Headachy, Bilious Sick, Constipated

Best for liver and bowels, bad breath, bad colds, sour stomach.
Get a 10-cent box.
Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.
Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.
Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.
A Cascarets to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your drug store means your head clear, stomach sweet, breath right, complexion rosy and your liver and bowels regular for months.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE.
"Is it considered bad form to use colored stationary?" queried Edith.
"It is not bad form to use colored stationary," replied her mother, "providing the colors are delicate, unobtrusive ones, though it is much less used than formerly. One is absolutely sure, however, of being in entirely correct form when using plain white linen paper; that is always in good taste."
