Mr. Patterson had intimated as much in his speech at Montreal a few weeks ago, but it remained for the new Minister of Militia to frankly own up that the weapons were not what had been expected. It appears that the rifles had been constructed from Martini blanks, that is the solid barrel, and bored to the Metford size, the bullet for which is considerably smaller than the Martini bullet, consequently the barrel is heavier than the ordinary Martini barrel. Among the measures preliminary to the reforms the note demands the appointment of a high commissioner, general am-desty for and release of all political prisoners, the revision of certain judgments, and the appointment of a commission to sit at Constantinople charged with the surveillance and application of the reforms, and working in concert with the high commissioner. The principal reforms demanded are that the governors and vice governors of Van, Erzeroum, Sivas, Bitlis, Kharoat and Trebizonde be Christian, or Mussulman, ac-

It is indeed a little difficult to understand exactly where Mr. McCarthy is or what he wants. He began his political career as an ardent Conservative. He was a staunch supporter of Sir John Macdonald for many years. He was in fact looked upon for some time as the most likely man in the party to succeed Sir John. But it was found that, for some reason or other, Mr. McCarthy's aptitude for politics was not so great as it was supposed to be, and he slipped out of the front rank of Conservative public men. It became evident that he had contracted an aversion to French Canadians. But he still remained a member of the Conformed that the opinion is gaining ground that the Asiatic cholera is becoming endemio in Europe, allusion to which is made in danger to this country thus becomes permanent and continuous, necessitating con-

A river runs through the property, and rainbow trout are plentiful and afford capital sport. Deer abound in considerable numbers. Bear, Wolf, Ocyote and other large game are to be found in the hills. There are two creeks recorded and belonging to the estate, one flows all the year round. Limestone and brick clay are to be had in the valley.

The Cattle are well bred; a much larger herd could be farmed with the place. The bunch grass on the hills in the vicinity covers many thousands of series, and is available to the few land owners in the valleys. The Climate is not severe, the station was for many years the winter quarter of the H. B. Co. s pack trains.

The Title is Crown Grant. Immediate possession can be given.

The South West Kootenay and Osoyoos Divisions of Yale judging from the actual ore products of the mines to date, are destined in the next year or two to be the richest and most important mineral centres in the world.

These localities are rapidly settling up and as farm land is limited great inducement is offered to any person or corporation having capital and knowledge necessary to develop and work these estates. A store, hotel and blacksmith shop could be run in connection with the farm.

VANCOUVER. VANCOUVER, May 18-An effort is being made to establish a new steamship service between British Columbia, Puget Sound and Oriental ports. It is understood that the Great Northern is interested to the extent, at any rate, of affording freight facilities.

The first vessel will be the steamship Preduce, which will shortly leave the rient for Vancouver, where she will take on board a return cargo and then proceed via Seattle, where further cargo will be taken aboard, to leading Oriental ports. The steamer Produce has been experimentally chartered for the year, and, if successful, other steamers will be put on the route. Determined efforts will be made to cut rates.

First return cargo has been secured.

The defence strenuously objected to such proceedings, and the judge decided that such evidence could not be heard. This is another hard blow for the prosecution as it was very anxious to introduce this evidence. The Hyams' greatly enjoyed the Crown's discomfiture and smiled at the American detectives when they left the building. The medical testimony was then gone on with and finished as far as the crown is con-

M. P., Granting What Is Asked For.

The following communication has been addressed by Hon. Mr. Costigan. Minister of Marine and Fisheries, to Mr. Thomas Earle, M.P., in reply to the petition signed by the representative canners of the province in regard to the objectionable features of the existing fishery regulations:

OTTAWA, 10th May, 1805. DEAR MR. EARLE :- The petition signed by representative canners of British Columbia was handed to me by Sir C. H. Tupper, picture which the Grits draw of their own numbers of Sniders and Martinis and large of a recent occurrence—of the power of an and since its receipt, the important points ation of my officers, and 1 have had their reports placed before me.

I note with satisfaction that in so many points the petitioners dissent but slightly from the law as it stands. On certain important points, however, alterations of the regulations are urged, in favor of which you ave placed before me such weighty considerations, that it is my intention to take steps for changing the regulations in accordance with the views urged by yourself and your colleagues, the Dominion members of parliament from British Columbia. The (1) The substitution of a clause permit-depositing fish offal in any water frequented by fish named in the act.

"2. Every person who causes or know-ingly permits to pass into or puts or know-ingly permits to be put, lime, chemical sub-stances, or drugs, poisonous matter, dead or decaying fish, or remnants thereof, mill rub-bish or sawdust, or any other deleterious substances, in any water frequented by any of the kinds of fish mentioned in this act, shall be liable for a first offence to a penalty of twenty dollars and costs; for the second offence to a penalty not exceeding forty dol-lars and costs; and also in addition thereto a further penalty not exceeding ten dollars for every day during which such offence is continued, and for the third or subsequent offence to a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars and costs, and also in addition thereto a further penalty not exceeding twenty dollars for every day during which such offence is continued. Provided always that the provisions of this section shall not apply until on and after the 1st of May, 1895, to the sawmill owners and employes of any sawmill situate on any stream which was wholly or partially exempt from the operation of said sub-section of section fif-

In view of the fact that proposals are before me for three or four fish fertilizer com-panies, and that one company has raised the necessary capital, and is prepared to deal with the fish offal on the Fraser river, it will suffice for the present season to in-struct the inspector of fisheries not to enforce the offal prohibition.

There are other matters referred to in the petition which have already to some extent been met, viz: the use of seines in certain localities and the licensing of pound nets on the sea coast.

Pound note were permitted last year in

Boundary Bay, and I have sanctioned the use of seines in certain localities, where the circumstances appeared to justify it.

The further question of the erection open season be not enforced, so that sockeye fishing is allowed this season from June 15, and the offal may be disposed of as in seasons prior to last year,

"Many religious organizations seem to conduct their business in a most careless and slipshod manner," the paper comment-ed. "The dominant idea often seems to be to get through the business as quickly as possible, regardless of consequences. While it is necessary to observe certain parliamentary rules, yet we should be careful and not let these rules monopolize all our time. Common sense will easily settle all this. The finances should receive most careful attention. Pay as you go, for there are few things so calculated to bring societies into disrepute as a failure to pay bills." The next matter of business was an open parliament on the "Work of the prayer meeting committee," opened by Mr. Lloyd, of Sapperton, who briefly outlined the work of the committee and then called for an expression of opinion from the delegates as to N. Richards, Q.C. what class of topics was most desirable. Several advocated the consideration of missionary topics at least once a month. The second point considered was leaders. The ideas brought out in this line were that all should be called upon to lead. One delegate said: While experienced leaders are valuable.

Rev. W. L. Clay, of St. Andrew's church, Victoria, then delivered an address on the Duties of the Society to the Church." "Christ's message to His disciples on leaving them was, Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature,' said the reverend speaker. God in His goodness has raised up one means of doing this in the Christian Endeavor societies. What are the duties every particular society owes to its particular church? First, obelience to the church and true loyalty to it.

This point is important and should be constantly borne in mind. Sometimes young people in the fullness of life and young spirit are inclined to look upon their elders in the church as being too conservative and lacking push. But I assure you that as time passes I am inclined more and more to look passes I am inclined more and more to look it.

unless there is a good excuse you can give to your Lord and Master. This brings upon your a vast responsibility, which is both solemn and serious in its import; and lastly, because all this has to do with individuals. Just a word to individuals. To be able to do all this you must live a life that shall be consecrated to God. By close contact with Him you will be able to do all and do it right. The Prince de Joinville gives a different version: "It appears that a little speech which I was to have delivered when I met my father, and also the answer he was to give me, had been drawn up in council, only the authorities had omitted to inform me concerning it. So when I arrived I simply saluted with my sword, and then stood aside. I saw indeed that this silent salute, followed by retreat, had thrown something out, but my father, after a moment's hesitation, improvised some quarts of rich, creamy milk, the yolks appropriate sentence, and the matter of 6 eggs and sugar to taste. And Bertrand, trembling with emotion, laid the sword reverently on his idel's coffin. The great audience watched the scene in deepest silence. The only sound which broke the stillness was the half stifled sobs of the gray haired soldiers of the Invalides, who stood in places of honor near the catafalque.

The king and the procession returned to their palaces, and then followed a majestic funeral mass.—Ida M. Tarbell in McClure's Magazine.

The Chief End of Man. Mr. Cuyler tells the story of a little boy, the son of good Presbyterian parents, who was asked the question in the catechism, "What is the chief end of man?" and answered it: "Man's chief end is to glorify God and annoy him forever."

"There are too many men," says Dr Cuyler, "who act as if that were their chief end. "-Ram's Horn.

GIRLS SUMMER FROCKS.

Ettle Change In Children's Styles Materials and Trimmings For Older Girls. Provident mothers are new planning the cotton frocks for their little girls. There appears but little change in children's styles for summer. White guimpes of feather stitched or tucked nainsook are made separate and worn by girls from I to 10 years of age. The leg of mutton sleeve, round "baby" waist, on St. Helena, as the place had come to cut with a low round neck, are worn 3 inch hem. The neck is universally finished with a narrow band of embroidery. When a guimpe is not worn, the high necked waist may be in three box plaits back and front, close fitting, or have an outside jacket attachment like a little zouave, which will be edged with embroidery. The authority quoted also tells that an attractive needlebook is made for the work bag or basket by cutting four heart shaped pieces of cardboard; cover with white linen and embroider with clover blossoms and leaves. The two portions for needles are provided with straps in which to place the packages and are arranged to fold in half by being buttonholed in sections down their center. The other two hold scissors and flannel respectively. The four hearts are joined at the bottom and are fastened together by means of buttons and loops, concealed by pink ribbon bows.

Medallion had left no stone unturned to clear him at the trial, had himself his eyes were all afire, for a strange hard facts remained there, and on a chain of circumstantial evidence Louis Converse, the young seigneur, was sent to prison for ten years for manslaughter. That was the compromise effected. Louis himself had said only that he didn't remember, but he could not believe he had committed the crime. Robbery? He shrugged his shoulders at that. He insisted that his lawyer should not reply to the insulting and foolish suggestion. But the evidence had shown that Vigot had all the winnings when the other members of the party left the two, and this very money had been found in Louis' pocket. There was only Louis' word that they had played cards again. Anger? Possibly. Louis could not remember, though he knew they had quarreled. The judge himself, charging the jury, said that he never before saw a prisoner so frank and outwardly honest, but warned them that they must not lose sight of the crime itself, the taking of a human life, whereby a woman was

"My poor boy! My poor boy!" she said, clasping his manacled hands. He kissed her on the cheek, without a word, and hurried on into his prison, and the good world was shut out. In prison he refused to see all visitors, even Medallion, the little chemist's wife, and the good Father Fabre. Letters, too, he refused to accept and read. He had no contact, wished no contact, with the outer world, but lived his hard, lonely life by himself, silent, brooding, studious, for now books were to him a pleasure. #### HON. J. H. TURNER.

The Premier of British Columbia on the Prospects of the Province.

He Points to Numerous Indications of Permanent Improvement in the Near Future.

The Colonies and India in its issue of the 4th inst. publishes a portrait of Hon. J. H. Turner, as also an interesting biographical Mainland of the union with Canada and the C. Spencer, T. Butler, W. Dunnington, D. Ballentyne and D. T. Fox. the article continues : "Vancouver Island did not lag behind.

Valparaise, being virtually shut off, whilat the Australian and Chinese markets also showed a heavy loss. The exports of salmon, though devalored in correct of salmon, though the salmon in the s mon, though developed in quantity-the rade for last year covering 400,000 cases of 48 lbs. each, to a value of some two million of dollars -showed a serious diminution in profits owing to low prices in England. There was naturally an accompanying falling off in the revenues of the province, though some of this is more nominal than real, owing to the reluctance of the gevernment to enforce with any undue harshness the payment of the land and other direct taxes which had fallen into arrears. Happily, this time of depression is now passing away, and Mr. Turner feels that he can confidently point out many indications of permanent improvement. For the timber eral. trade the Premier sees a great future, the Douglas pine and the cedar being especially adapted for the inevitable requirements of China for the fast approaching system of railways and tramways, whilst shipments are increasing to South America, Australia. France, Egypt and the Netherlands.

There is again a very bright change in the mining prospects of Cariboo and the sur-rounding Northern districts on the one hand, and throughout the Kootenay region on the other. In this latter direction especially, branch lines connecting the Nakusp and Slocan railway and the lakes throughout the valley with the Canadian Pacific line and the great American railways are rapidly approaching completion, whilst at the smelters about opening at Pilot Bay and shortly near Revelstoke many thousand tons of ore, averaging from $50 to $300 in value, will be profitably converted to bullion. New life has also been put into the Northern gold-mining districts through the advent of fresh capital with its introduction of machinery, which it was formerly beyond the power of the individual miner to employ. There is a probability of a very important work being carried out in British Columbia, which will add largely to the general prography of the

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

To THE EDITOR :- Regretting the delay caused by pressure of duty and sickness in my family, permit me to observe that I do not think there is any essential difference between your learned correspondent " Inns of Chancery," and myself in reference to the Church of England in this province. The arguments in my letter kindly republished y you on the 5th instant, were purely of the defensive kind. I have too much esteem for the members of the Anglican body and too sincere a desire for their good will, to impugn or dispute with them in any way what privileges they may justly claim in their church relation.

But as my arguments, though not opposed, have not been expressly admitted, I feel it due to myself and my flock to state them little more fully.

The words, "This is still a Church of England bishopric, a part of the Church of England itself," may carry to some minds a yet at liberty to divulge the name of the wider sense than your correspondent could himself have thought them to bear. For the bishop to be a "standing plaintiff," and for his ordinations to be as good as any English bishop's—the latter, allow me to observe, is involved in his own consecration inde-pendently of the letters patent—is far from implying that those who separate from him are dissenters from the Church of England.

Let it be granted that, by the eatent or otherwise, the Anglican bishopric is in some sense,—and it can be only in some sense,—a part of the Church of England, it is still easy to see that it is wanting in all that essentially constitutes a bish in England, and that makes such a bish different from all that can be called church iurisdiction in such a colony as ours,

For it carries no coercive authority ; it has to conge d'elire, involving inalienab leges of a pre-existing capitular body. Here is no pre-existent church with legal rights of such validity that every man, woman and child in the diocese can claim the ordinances of the church. It does not invest whoever will of the whole population with such rights. Let a cause be tried here of an ecolesiastical person refusing baptism, burial or communion, it would be decided not as a Church of England right, but as a right according from voluntary trusts, or syndical rules, requiring Church of England order to be initiated or followed, just as in the case of any other church.

of any other church. of any other church.

In my own case the trust deed preceded and presumably validated the jurisdiction. I speak not of the merits of the case in which myself and the congregation were involved; for it ought to be remembered that our cause has never been tried on its own merits, the separating body having acted throughout on the defensive, preferring to worship apart to pursuing a course of litigation and appeal.

I conceive, therefore, that the letters patent were abandoned because they were, with the exception of the two personal privileges above referred—found to be ultra vires; an act of the crown, without

WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS. Have Men Still a Few Rights That Women

In my judgment they have. Therefore I here take my stand for men's reserved rights. A young gentleman who has been to a church bazaar says he likes sometimes to make presents to lady friends when he is especially fond of them, but he does not like to be dragged up by the ears, so to speak, and openly and shamelessly nagged to buy gifts for girls he has no interest in. The young man is right. One of the clearest of masculine prerogatives is to make a present to a girl of his own free will without in any way being constrained or even hinted at Seriously, the girl who asks a man to buy her a present or accompany her to any place of amusement where it will cost him money commits a great error, to call it by a mild name. Such an incident is perhaps a consequence of the financial slavery in which women have been kept for ages, but that financial slavery was unspeakably degrading, and the results that flowed from it are degrading likewise. It really looks better and more delicate, if a woman wishes a gentleman to accompany her anywhere, for her to invite him and pay the bills herself than to invite him to involve himself in expense on her account. Oftentimes she is better able to stand such expense than ae is in these days, when girls' wages are constantly on the up grade and new Twenty-third street one day last week. It was a procession. Besides editing The Journalist this busy young woman is the correspondent of various newspapers. One of the best features of her work is that she constantly says kindly things about women.

The Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, in an adverisement, writes that he has some "very important things" to say to women. The man who opposes woman suffrage cannot possibly have anything of importance to say to women. He is not capable of it. Therefore I am at a loss to understand what the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst means.

The woman's column of a certain daily paper gives directions to women how to win a man's love and keep it. The directions are so tedious, wearing and difficult that a woman who had any sense would rather do without a man's love than try to retain it at such a cost.

It has cost her several years of painstaking labor, a labor of love truly. For every day in the year there is chronicled some event of Washington's life, accompanied by brief, fit-ting extracts from his letters or sayings. It is especially intended for a birthday book, and Miss Johnston dedicates it to the boys and girls of her country. THE DAYS AND THE YEAR.

What is the world, my little one? Our world belongs to that clock, the sun.
Steady it spins; while the clock beats true
Days and seasons for me and you.
And tick, tick, took, goes the mighty clock, While time swings on below, Now left, now right, now day, now night, with a tick, tock to and fro.

The pussy willow in coat of fur, A sweet pink rose in the wind astir, A maple leaf with a crimson blush, Then falling snowflakes and winter's hush. While tick, tick, tock, goes the mighty clock,
And the world swings on below. Budding, blowing, shining, snoving, With a tick, tock to and fro.

A little song when the heart is glad, A little sigh when the way is sad, Whether the shadows or sunbeams fall, Sweet rest and dreaming at last for all. While tick, tick, tock goes the mighty clock, And the world swings on below, Smiling, sighing, singing, crying, With a tick, tock to and fro.

So is the way, my own little one, Our world belongs to that clock, the sun, And the hand that somewhere keeps the key Is the same that holdeth you and me, While tick, tick, took goes the mighty clock, While tick, tick, took goes the mighty clock
And the world swings on below,
Now left, now right, now day, now night,
With a tick, tock to and fro.

A Long Road.

Farmers down in Dixie, like those in New England, have a very grim, but none the less indisputable, sense of humor on occasion, if this anecdote from Georgia is to be credited:

A farmer returning from town with an empty produce wagon overtook a young man plodding along with the disconraged air of a city man unused to dirt roads

"Hullo, Jersey," cried the stranger briskly. "Can a man get a lift to Vineland?

"I don't see why he can't," responded the farmer in a noncommittal way.
"Then I'll take a ride," said the stranger, vaulting into the wagon and making himself comfortable. After three or four miles had been traversed, the stranger paused in his in-consequential talk long enough to ob-

Sponge farming is now a successful industry, and hundreds of acres in the gulf of Mexico along the Florida coast are planted with "sponge cuttings" and seeds. The work is not dissimilar in many respects to oyster culture. The young sponges are planted in water along the coast varying from one to five

There are many acres of sponge farms near Key West, and others at Anclote, Fla., and near Tampa. These farms were first supplied with their seeds from the fish commissioners, but now they are obtained direct from the sponge fisheries. In the autumn of the year the various kinds of sponges are purchased by the sponge culturist, who generally takes an assortment that is sure to supply him

It may also be made to serve a further purpose by getting a carpenter to make for it a leaf, that can be secured to the chair, and thus form a continuous surface with the right arm, as shown by the sketch, making a most convenient table for writing, or for books and papers to rest upon.

To do this the outside edge of the arm must be sawed to a straight edge, and the leaf attached to it by means of hinges. It is secured to a horizontal position by a swinging arm, the same as the leaf of a table. It is fastened at one end to the under surface of the arm of the chair and swings out under it. The leaf may be folded down beside the chair when not in use.

The Chronicle announces that Lord Roberts, of Kandahar, has accepted the succession to Lord Wolsely in command of the forces in Ireland. This appointment was foreshadowed as being part of a plan involving the retirement of the Duke of Cambridge from the post of commander in chief and the making of Lord Wolseley chief of the staff at headquarters.

AMBRICAN FINANCE.

The fiscal year which ends on the 30th of June next has been for the United States. from a business point of view, a very unfortunate one. The depression has continned and it is by no means certain even now that it is passing away. There are indications of a revival, but so much depends upon the policy which the Government may adopt on the currency question that no one will be in a worse condition than ever.

The revenue has hitherto been very far from meeting the expenditure. At the end of very serious amount of $50,000,000. The and an offensive implication. The forces will be under the command of Admiral Stephenson. According to present expectations the defending force, commanded by Lieut. Col. Rawstorne, R.M A., will consist of the Royal Marine Artillery from Work Point barracks and the Royal Marine Light Infantry, upwards of 250 men, with the Victoria and Vancouver companies of the British Columbia Garrison Artillery, the latter, in the absence of Lt. Col. Prior, being in command of Lt. Col. Peters, D.A.G. These will occupy a position on Beacon Hill and will be attacked some time about 11 o'clock Saturday morning by the Naval brigade—practically the same, by the way, that so recently occupied Corinto and there replaced the Nicaraguan flag with the Union Jack—five hundred or more blue jackets un-der Captain Stokes, R.M., of H.M.S. Royal Arthur. After the sham battle there will be a general review of the forces by the Admiral, the display to conclude with the usual march past. Undoubtedly this will prove the great attraction of the Carnival.

PERFECTING PREPARATIONS.

The sports and games committee held their final meeting last evening, when per-mission was granted to V. H. Sutton, the champion long distance walker of Chicago, to exhibit at Beacon Hill, "provided that he does not obstruct the naval review." The application of the Victoria College Cricket Club for an appropriation to entertain a visiting club was refused, as no funds are available for the purpose. In visit of available for the purpose. ## SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Every member of the Victoria Wheelmen's Club is expected to be in attendance at the meeting this evening, as the club will take action upon matters of great import; ance to the individual members, and as large a vote as possible is desired. The new track at Oak Bay is rapidly nearing completion and the date of the opening meet will be named this evening. Already riders from Portland, Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma and Olympia, as well as the speedy men of the province, have promised to attend, and the club expect to have the best meet of the eason at the opening. It is expected that final action on the question of club uniform and club dues will be taken this evening, and arrangements made for the issuing of "season tickets" to all members who desire to use the track for training purposes. The committee in charge of the decorated parades on May 24 will meet at the clubroom at 7 pm. to complete arrangements that the new superintendent, Mr. M. China May Yet Repudiate the Treaty -Japan Now Looks to Britain for Support.

The fall of Count Ito's cabinet that has won for Japan the world's applause, is now a foregone conclusion, according to advices brought from Yokohama and Tokio by the Empress of India. The Progressionist party is gaining strength daily and its battle cry is condemnation of the government for weakness in abandoning at Russia's dictation what Japan's swords had won. In vain the ministry explains that it was powerless to act otherwise-Russia's 50,000 troops ashore and her powerful fleet afloat in Asiatic waters could not be opposed on terms even of partial equality, and Japan did not dare to trust herself to a congress of the powers,

THE POTLACH.

Fully a thousand visiting Indians are gathered on the Songhees reservation, partly to attend a potlach and have a celebratheir own and partly to attend a potlach which is to be given by an Indian named George. The attendant festivities will be shared in mostly by older Indians from outside places, many of the younger Indians having learned better, as one of them stated in talking upon the subject. The visiting Indians come from Nanaimo, Chemainus, Kuper island, Duncan, Cowichan, Saanich, Discovery island, Beechy Bay, the West Coast, and from La Conner, Snohomish and Lumi, on the American side. In all these places the whole Indian population has left everything behind at the summons to the potlach, for it is a great insult not to respond

To-day at daybreak the ceremonies begin by a gathering at the graveyard and dancing from there into the village. Indians will point out the graves of their dead relatives and after telling the story of the dead distribute clothes, or something in memory of the dead. In the village there will be scrambles for clothes, blankets, gans and other things, and dancing will go on. This will continue two days. The potlach proper, with George as presiding genius, will be held on either Saturday or Monday.

The Third Concert of the Arion Club's Third Season-A Feast of Melody.

Interesting Features of a Delightful Evening-Mrs. Trevelyan Sharp Renders Valuable Assistance.

The members of the ever-popular Arion club, assisted by a number of their lady friends, gave a delightful concert at Institute hall yesterday evening—a concert which many of those who attended pronounce the best for which Mr. Greig and his choir have yet been responsible. The audience was a fashionable as well as a thoroughly musical one, and its warm appreciation of the draft in front of the fire, tion of the gems of the programme which should be left open until all the coal has become ignited without being the club received valuable assistance from Miss Arrowemith, Miss Bowden, Mrs. Greig, Mrs. J. HOW TO LIGHT A FIRE. As Told In The Household by One Who Has Had Experience

In lighting a grate fire the best foundation to begin upon would be a few cinders which have been sifted from the ashes. Upon these should be placed a layer of paper and then some small bits of dry wood. The whole should be covered over, but not so closely as to entirely exclude the passage of air, with moderately sized pieces of coal. If these directions are strictly followed, the fire being properly laid, when the paper is lighted from below by means of a match, there will arise a stream of flame from the paper and wood which will be communicated to both coals and cinders and a bright fire the result.

Many people err in not building their fires well back in the grates, the consequence being a most disagreeable flood of smoke issuing into the room, instead of going up the chimney. Another and newer method of lighting a fire is sometimes practiced by reversing the order of things, the fire being lighted from above instead of below. This is arranged by laying some coal and a few cinders at the bottom, upon top of which is laid the wood, then another layer of coals and some paper over that. The paper is first lighted and soon burned down, naking a bright fire with a considerable economy of fuel.

The kitchen fire is somewhat more difficult to manage, as its demands are many and varied. Sometimes only a moderate degree of heat is required. while again the fire is required to be very hot. The degree of heat depends less upon the amount of coal that is used checks and drafts, which are easily managed if one is thoroughly acquainted with the mechanism of the kitchen stove or range. Every morning all cinders and ashes should be removed and the fire laid in a similar manner to that of the grate, which has already been described, allowing always for a free circulation of air by leaving hollow spaces between the fuel, chiefly toward the center.

All the drafts should then be opened and the fire lighted. After it has been allowed to burn for ten minutes all the dampers should be closed, with the excoal has become ignited without being redhot. Such a fire should remain in excellent condition for hours.

Flannels must be washed separately from the white clothes. Therefore when the other washing is out of the way cut into shreds a pound of good yellow soap. Put it into a clean saucepan with two quarts of water and set it on the fire until the soap has completely dissolved. Then put it aside until the following day, when it should be a jelly. Two large pans will be required, both of which must be filled with water as hot as the hands can bear. Into one put sufficient soap jelly to make the water feel soft and soapy. It should have the appearace of a creamy lather.

The flannel articles should be each one taken from the heap singly, well shaken and plunged into the lather. It must be lightly rubbed all over, but any portion likely to be soiled, such as I may mention a common mistake.

Then the flannel must be immediately plunged into the second water. Here it is rubbed through in just the same way, and turned in order that every part may receive its full share of rinsing. When cleared of soap, it should be wrung tightly with the hands or passed through an india rubber wringer, which will not break any pearl buttons there his commission having expired and he now may be in it. Wringing the article in than upon the regulation of the various a sheet or white cloth considerably absorbs the moisture. Shake the flannel well, then hang it immediately before the fire or in the sun to dry.

The secret of washing flannels without allowing them to shrink is to dry them quickly. While drying it is advisable to pull them into shape. After the labor of washing and drying is completed the flannels should be pressed with a Singapore now journeying to England, while Mr. E. H. Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. H. ed the flannels should be pressed with a must not be dried in the sun, as its rays are ruinous to their delicate shades. It is better to wash them in only one water as the quicker the process of washing and drying the brighter the color.

In washing little ones' flannels the greatest care should be taken. They must not be soaked in either hot or cold water, as both will thicken the material. Wash the soiled parts in a little heated soapy water. Then immerse the flannel in fresh water, as hot and soapy as before, and lightly rub it all over quickly. Wring carefully from this water and souse it in a clear one. Both waters may be just as hot as the hands can bear without discomfort. Squeeze it out, and if you have no wringer roll each aricle in a clean cloth, and wring it very dry. Shake it well, pull into

Through the delay caused by the accident to the machinery the Canadian Australian ateamship Miowera was five days late in leaving Victoria for Australia yesterday evening. On the trip down from Vancouver J. A. Thomson, steamboat inspector, was aboard and the steamer's machinery was found by him to work very smoothly and satisfactorily. Inclusive of 75 tons of gen-eral freight from Victoria the steamer's outward cargo amounts to 1,350 tons, made up of the usual items of manufactured articles, produce, etc. Leaving here on the vessel were about ten first and ten second saloon passengers, among the former being: N. H. Groves and family, Miss Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Oberteuffer and Mrs. Johnson. The ship carried also from Victoria the un-usually large quantity of 190 sacks of mail-

The first thing to-day will of course be the meeting and welcoming of the visitors by the civic reception committee and the rep-resentatives of the various athletic bodies. The carnival opens at 1 in the afternoon when the yacht races are to be started off Finlayson Point, Beacon Hill. No one should lose sight of the important fact that owing to the alteration of the course the yachts will be at no time distant more than a mile and a half from the Dallas road and the races can therefore be conveniently followed from start to finish by the spectators ashore. At 1.30 the athletic sports will commence at Beacon Hill, to be followed by the fancy drill of the cyclists, the band of the B.C.B. In the evening the opera burlesque "Injured Innocents" will be presented at the Victoria by Tacoma's talented amateurs, and the Victoria Cricket Club's fancy dress ball will attract hundreds to the Assembly hall. And all day long and through the night the Indian festivities will be in progress on the Songhees reservation.

THE SHOW OF SPEED.

Although there was some objection early in the day to the retention of the usual programme of athletic sports as part of the celbration, the committee at their final meetentration, the commission at their unai meeting decided that these contests of speed would be greatly missed, and the appended programme will accordingly be taken up

On April 22 the Royal Arthur, Satellite and Wild Swan, the last a screw sloop of 1,-130 tons, commissioned at Davenport December 6 and despatched for the Pacific station, sailed into Corinto harbor and took up, their position in front of the town. Corinto is a small place, not much better than a village, but is the seaport for the capital, Managua, situated further inland. Corinto, as everyone who has followed the course of events there knows, is on an island and is bridge. There were 100 soldiers in Corinto when the fleet appeared, but they speedily took to the woods as the four or five seven-pounder guns they possessed were not very formidable weapons to oppose to the big guns of the warships.

On next day Commander Stokes went ashore and presented his dispatches, the President being given to understand that the ships were there strictly on business, and urgent business at that. On the 25th, when the Nicaraguans became convince that they would have to pay up or allow the British to take possession of Corinto, they secretly, as they imagined, dismounted a seven pounder that was in position near the lighthouse, and placing it in their revenue cutter covered it over with gravel so as to hide it. The same day Senor G. Bravo, a high official of the government, came off to the Admiral and tried unsuccessfully to get an extension of time.

The Nicaraguan forces to the number of 2,000 were posted behind a gravel ridge on the mainland, and it was for a time thought that they would make an attack. The men from the fleet got along very well with the inhabitants of Corinto, and had strict orders to treat everyone kindly. It was found, however, that by some hidden influence, the storekeepers were prevailed upon to refuse to sell goods to the British. This resulted in the arrest of a man named Casamira, formerly mayor of the town, and a man of great influence. He had gone about intimidating the storekeepers by saying he would have them executed when the British left, if any provisions were sold to the invaders. No treuble of this kind was experienced afterwards. After the settle-ment of the trouble the Satellite was sent to sea on May 4, the occupation of the town terminating that day and the railway and telegraph lines having been repaired. A very regrettable occurrence was the death of Captain Trench, of the Royal Arthur, on May 10, when off the Mexican coast. He died of gastritis after an illness of 48 hours, and as it was in the tropics he was buried at sea with naval honors the same evening, in lat. 19° 41′ N., long. 106° 3′ W., off Cape Corrientes.

MAN AND HIS SURROUNDINGS.

Cerebral physiology has nothing to say about a future life; it shows, however, with the aid of molecular physics, that by no possibility can thought and feeling be in any sense the products of matter. The brain only appears to record the modifications to which it is subjected. What really goes on in the brain is a series of very complex molecular movements with which thought and feeling—human consciousness generally—are, in some unknown way, cor-related, not as effects, or as causes, but as We do not know what human conscious-

When Jewell was minister to Russia he played a Yankee trick upon the Russians, the benefits of which we are reaping even to this day in this country. Like every other American tanner, he had long wanted to know the secret of the process of manufacturing Russian leather. He had experimented with a few dollars himself, only to learn that the secret was not to be discovered.

'santipede' or 'santifee.' but I think Joe Galbraith, a Hibernian ranchman of New Mexico, should be credited with giving it the most remarkable twist from its dictionary pronunciation," said the topographer in a surveying party. "Joe camped alongside us one night on our way to Camp Grant. As two of our men in the morning were shaking a blanket which had been spread next the ground a centiped six inches long ran out from the under side of the blanket up the sleeve and face of one of the two men. The man's whiskers saved brushed the reptile off to the ground without sustaining injury. The centiped was killed, and the party gathered round to look at it, among them Joe, eager to air his knowledge.

"Don't you know what that is?' he said wisely. 'It's a Santa Fe. They say

MORTGAGE SALE

Tides and Storms.

When a tempest is approaching or passing out on the ocean, the tides are noticeably higher than usual, as if the water had been driven in a vast wave before the storm. The influence extends to a great distance from the cyclonic storm center, so that the possibility exists of foretelling the approach of a dangerous hurricane by means of indications furnished by tide gauges situated far away from the place then occupied by the whirling winds.

The fact that the tidal wave outstrips the advancing storm shows how extremely sensitive the surface of the sea is to the charges of pressure brought to bear upon it by the never resting atmosphere.
