Eastern Steamship Company Controls D. A. R. Route from Yarmouth to Boston.—New Company Formed Capitalized at $350,000.—Takes Over D. A. R. Steamers.

Formal announcement is made of the passing of the Dominion-Atlantic Steamship Company to the Eastern Steamship Corporation. It is understood that the parties who controlled the former company received in part for their holdings $300,000 common stock and $600,000 bonds of the Eastern Steamship Corporation, which takes over the Dominion-Atlantic fleet of three steamers, namely, the France George, the Prize Edward and the Boston. This latest acquisition by the Eastern Steamship Corporation has been financed through the creation of a new Canadian steamship company, which is known as the Boston & Yarmouth Steamship Company, Ltd. Articles of incorporation have been filed for this company under the laws of Canada with $350,000 capital stock, all of which will be held in the Eastern Steamship Corporation's treasury. It is stated that the new Canadian company which will have its head office in Montreal, will issue bonds in part payment for the three steamers of the Dominion-Atlantic line. Among the incorporators of the Boston & Yarmouth Steamship Company, Ltd., are representatives of the Eastern Steamship Corporation. The Dominion Atlantic line operates between Boston and Yarmouth. It is regarded as significant that strong and friendly relations have been established with Canadian-Pacific interests. The taking over of the Dominion-Atlantic line places the Eastern Steamship Corporation practically in complete control of the all-water route between New York and Maine points and between Boston and Maritime Provinces, as it now owns the Metropolitan Steamship line, the Maine Steamship Company and the Dominion Atlantic. Calvin Austin is president of the Eastern Steamship Corporation; Josiah W. Hayden, treasurer; O. H. Taylor, passenger traffic manager, and G. W. Sterling, freight traffic manager. This corporation was formed under laws of Maine in 1891, as a consolidation of the following companies; Boston & Bangor Steamship Co., International Steamship Co., Kennebec Steamboat Co., Portland Steamship Co., Rockland & Blue Hill Steamboat Co., and Portland & Rockland Steamboat Co. The company owns and operates twenty-one steamers running between Boston and other points in New England and St. John, New Brunswick.—Maritime Register.

Canada's Magnificent Distances

(St. John Globe.)

Up to the time at which they left Fredericton on Friday evening for Montreal there was one thing in regard to their trip which strongly impressed the English visitors, and that was the size of the country. One of them said, even in view of the St. John river, with all its natural beauty, and under the bright sunshine of a charming day, we can show you as beautiful scenery in Great Britain as any we have seen here, evidence of natural gifts and man's taste and skill in cultivation; we can show you in Ireland combinations of lakes and hills which have inspired the sweetest poetry and moved men to absolute worship of nature; but that which deeply impresses those of us who have never been in Canada before is the distances you can travel, which you have to travel. In a day and a night you can go from the southernmost point of England to the extreme north of England, and you have then covered the two extremes of our island. We have been going for a week; we have gone from Quebec to Sydney, from Sydney to Halifax and St. John, and now we are here on this large river, and are not yet over what may be described as the first stage of our journey; we have yet to cross the continent. "To me," said the observer, "the distances are stupendous; they are appalling. What you want is population. You want to gather in people from all quarters of the globe; you want industrious men and women; you want never-ceasing labor to develop all this land. You have before you country enough in which to plant men in nations. Your newspaper reports deceive us—some of us—men possessing great wealth and controlling enormous capital. You do not want us yet. We have something to sell. Fill up your lands with the industry of labor so that we may find here people who are ready to buy. So far we have had to supply the world with its necessities. Other nations are now helping us to do that. If you will develop your country by labor, we will sell to you, on credit if you like, to the fullest of your desires."

Supreme Court

W. A. Marshall vs. W. W. Graves. Last Wednesday was devoted to the slander case of Marshall vs. Graves, which had been in abeyance for so long, and long before the Court opened the room was crowded to its utmost limits.

Plaintiff was represented by Messrs Davidson and Parsons, while defendant's counsel were Messrs. Miller and Roscoe. The plaintiff's claim was for $1000 damages.

The defence was a plea in justification alleging that the statements made by defendant were true in substance and fact. The jury were absent a considerable time, and on their return to Court, found a verdict for the defendant. Judgment for defendant, dismissing the action with costs.

Thursday two cases were dealt with viz.—Frelove Gillis vs. David Joudrey and Thomas Harper vs. A. Russell Parmeter.

Frelove Gillis vs. David Joudrey was a case of slander, the allegation being that Gillis had stolen money from Joudrey. The plaintiff failed to prove his case, which was dismissed with costs.

The latter was a case of assault and battery in which damages were claimed, the plaintiff, a colored man, alleging that the defendant, a policeman at Middleton, after telling him to go home, had run at him and kicked him. After a patient hearing, and a lucid summing up by Judge Russell, the jury retired, and upon returning into Court found a verdict for defendant, dismissing the action with costs.

Friday was devoted to the suit brought against William DeBlois to recover claims from estate of his father, the late Rev. H. DeBlois, by the following:—O. S. Miller; E. H. Trimpey, H. Lynch, Rector, Warden and Vestry of Parish of Granville, Margaret M. Fullerton, J. F. Dittmars, George Robinson, John Gormley and George McClelland.

Various amounts were assessed to the above, but in the case of Gormley vs. Wm. DeBlois judgment was reserved.

Chipman vs. Whitman, a case in which the plaintiff sought to recover the sum of $29 paid to Whitman, which amount he alleged Whitman had collected from him as a fine for setting fire in woods without the leave of the forest ranger. Chipman's contention was that he (Whitman) had no authority under the Act to collect the fine; the only way the fine could be collected was under the Summary Conviction's Act. Chipman was seeking to recover the money back which he had paid to Whitman under mistake of fact. Judgment reserved.

Before closing Court Mr. O. S. Miller moved for a special term which was granted, and the cases of Herbert D. Starratt vs. D.A. Railway Co., John Hall vs. Caleb Siskumb, and Catherine Rafuse vs. Kenneth Milberry and a number of others were set down for trial and will be heard at Bridgetown on August 27th. The Court adjourned.

West Paradise.

West Paradise, June 25.—Mrs. Chas Daniels is visiting friends at Windsor. Miss Ethel Saunders, who has been engaged as milliner at Torbrook, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hines of Lynn, are spending a few days with Mr and Mrs. B.W. Saunders.

Mr. W. A. Poole, who has spent some years in United States, is home on a short vacation.

Miss Nettie Campbell of Dorchester, Mass., is enjoying a summer's visit at the home of Mr. Chas. Sabean.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenley Sproul of Clementsville made a short visit with Mrs. Sproule's sister, Mrs. Harry Trimmer.

The annual shoot for the various cups and medals presented by prominent men of this county, takes place on the West Paradise rifle range next Saturday.

June Weddings

PATTERSON--WADE. This was one of the pretty weddings which took place in Bridgetown on Wednesday last, the nuptials being celebrated at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Patterson of Carleton Corner, and Annie Hilda eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Wade, Washington street.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride, at noon in the presence of relatives and immediate friends, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. E. Underwood, rector of Bridgetown.

The double parlours, admirably suited to the occasion, had been transformed into a bower of green leaves and white blossoms, particular attention being given to the eastern bay, where the actual wedding took place beneath a cleverly executed bell of snow-white blossoms.

With Mrs. A.R. Bishop presiding at the organ, the bride entered on the arm of her father, who subsequently 'gave her away,' otherwise both she and the groom were unattended.

She wore a traveling suit of navy blue trimmed with black satin and fringes, with hat to match and carried an exquisite bouquet of cream roses, white carnations and maiden hair fern.

Immediately after the ceremony and signing of the registers, a recherche breakfast was served by three daintily-gowned young misses, Pearl Wade, sister of the bride, Kathleen Williams and Lorna Congdon, ably assisted by Mr. Eric Wade, cousin of the bride.

Breakfast over, favours were distributed by the bride from her bouquet, and then the happy couple were taken to the railway station by Chauffeur Beeler with his handsome auto lavishly decorated in true bridal fashion, whence they took the east-bound express en route for Truro and Moncton, where the honeymoon will be spent.

A godly number of presents testified the esteem in which this young couple is held and conspicuous amongst these were a number of well-lined envelopes, the combined contents of which form the equivalent of a handsome sum of money presented by those who preferred this method of expressing their good wishes.

On their return Mr and Mrs. Patterson will reside at Carleton Corner.

EWING--RICE.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. F.A. Rice, Carleton's Corner, on Wednesday last, at eleven-thirty, a very interesting event took place when their daughter, Mary Melvina, was united to Mr. Charles Ernest Ewing of Troy, New York, in the presence of about thirty-five guests, Rev. N.A. McNeill performing the ceremony.

The parlor was lavishly decorated with flowers and greenery and the happy pair stood under a beautiful arch, while the ceremony was performed. Miss Madeline Spurr rendered 'The Mendelssohn's Wedding March.'

The bride was most becomingly gowned in white silk with pearl and crystal trimming, wearing bridal veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of bridal flowers. The bridesmaid her sister, Miss Hazel Rice, wore a pretty gown of pink marquisette over pink silk, and carried a bouquet of white flowers. The groom was supported by Mr Everett Gormley of Annapolis.

After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served, following which the bride and groom took their departure on the afternoon express for a short trip to the eastward, returning on Friday and taking their departure again on the following day for their home in New York State.

The history of the engagement of this happy couple is rather romantic. Last autumn Mr. Ewing visited relatives here and on the afternoon preceding his return home he happened to meet the lady who has become his bride. He was so attracted to her that after his return home he arranged through a mutual friend to enter into correspondence with her, with the happy result here related, not having again met her until he came to claim his bride.

The best wishes and congratulations of many friends will accompany them to their new home. The bride was the recipient of many tokens of esteem and good-will from her numerous friends, principally in handsome pieces of silver and linen.

CANNING HAS BIG FIRE.

Suffers $100,000 Loss in Business Premises, Eight Buildings Destroyed with All Contents, Fire Started in Cornwallis Trading Company's Stores, and Had Good Headway When Discovered.

Canning, N.S., June 23.—The prosperous town of Canning had one of the most disastrous fires in its history early today. Eight buildings in the business section of the town, with all their contents, were burned, causing a loss estimated at nearly one hundred thousand dollars, and on which there was only about $30,000 insurance. During the progress of the fire one man was seriously injured.

The fire started in the stores of the Cornwallis Trading Company, and it was discovered about six o'clock. The fire then had good headway, and it is presumed that it had been burning some time before it was discovered.

THE BUILDINGS BURNED.

The buildings burned were:—Post Office. C. R. Dickey's flour and feed store. E.W. Beckwith's office building. R. W. North, hardware. S. Hatheway, shoemaker. Frederick Northop, grocer. A.D. Payzant, (three stores) furniture, dry goods, etc. Cornwallis Trading Co. (three stores) dry goods, meats and groceries.

The fire fighting apparatus of the town is limited, but the firemen, assisted by citizens and a good water supply, succeeded in checking the flames, and this prevented the whole town from being wiped out.

Everything was dry as tinder, and the stores of the Cornwallis Trading Company were soon a mass of flames. Some goods were removed, but the fire will be very heavy as the proportion was small. The building was soon doomed, and the flames parison with the value and the continued to march onward. The stores of A.D. Payzant were next. For the present the Post Office attacked, when Northup's grocery will be located in the Armouries. It Hatheway, shoemaker, and R. W. is not known yet whether any of North's hardware store, when those burned out will rebuild.

latter ignited the inflammable material burned fiercely, and this building was soon reduced to ashes. Before it went down, however, the flames licked up the side of E.M. Beckwith's office building, and the burning embers therefrom were carried to the store of C.R. Dickey.

CHECKED THE FIRE.

It was here that the firemen and citizens did heroic work, and checked the progress of the flames, which at times threatened to sweep away other buildings in the neighborhood.

Fortunately the wind was not very heavy, and the burning embers were not carried any great distance beyond the area above mentioned. J.E. Kennedy's grocery store was threatened, but it fortunately escaped.

While fighting the flames, Wiley Brewster fell from the roof of a barn, a distance of twenty feet, and he was very severely injured. It is expected, however, that he will recover. There were several tenants who occupied apartments over the stores that were burned, and most of these people lost nearly all of their effects. The fire burned so rapidly that there was scarcely time to get anything out.

A large number of boxes of boots and shoes were taken out of one of the stores, and piled up in the street but the heat was so intense that the boxes caught fire and the whole lot was destroyed. The loss to many of the victims of the fire will be very heavy as the proportion was small. The building was soon doomed, and the flames parison with the value and the continued to march onward. The stores of A.D. Payzant were next. For the present the Post Office attacked, when Northup's grocery will be located in the Armouries. It Hatheway, shoemaker, and R. W. is not known yet whether any of North's hardware store, when those burned out will rebuild.

HYMENEAL

CURRY--FREEMAN.

The marriage of Miss Mary Bent Freeman, daughter of Mrs. Allan T. Freeman, of Edmonton, Alta., and Mr. Mark Curry, of Amherst, took place at 6.30 a.m. Monday, June 19th at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. S.V. Freeman, Halifax. Rev. Dr. S. B. Kempton, of Dartmouth, officiated. The bride was becomingly attired in a travelling suit of white serge and picture hat trimmed with roses and lace. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. Immediately after the ceremony Mr and Mrs. Curry left for a tour through the Province. On their return they will spend the summer months in Milton, Queens.

Clever Young Man Enters Journalism

Mr. Leverett deV. Chipman, B.A. of Kentville, who was one of the most talented students and debaters at Kings College, has purchased the Annapolis Royal Spectator and will hereafter devote his time to journalism. Mr. Chipman is a young man of excellent qualifications for editorial work as he had much of that work while he was editor in chief of the Kings College Record. We feel sure that Annapolis town and County will benefit under Mr. Chipman's management.—Kentville Advertiser. The Spectator as yet has made no announcement as to change of proprietorship.—Ed.

Brought to Close Successful Year

The closing exercises at the Deaf and Dumb Institution were brought to a close yesterday, (Friday) afternoon, when the distribution of prizes took place. Mrs. George H. Murray, graciously performing the duty of awarding prizes to the pupils. Prior to this ceremony, the large attendance of visitors were conducted around the various class rooms, and saw the pupils being examined in their work, as was the case on Thursday. The teachers gave the visitors any information they required, and explained the methods they employed in instructing the deaf.

This year's departure from the previous method of conducting the closing exercises, has proved a great success, as it has given the public the opportunity of actually seeing how well they take in the instruction given to them, things about which heretofore the majority of the public knew little.

Principal Fearon, in introducing Mrs. Murray said that the public had the opportunity of obtaining any information they required, so far as to the means employed in educating the deaf under the closing plan which had been adopted this year, which was not convenient under the old system of holding the affair in the Assembly Hall. He expressed the thanks of the Institution to Mrs. Murray for her kindness in presenting the prizes, and to the many people who had visited the Institution and expressed their satisfaction with what they saw.

The physical drill display was repeated yesterday, both classes being warmly applauded for their splendid work. Little Jean Vienot, who promises to be a second Helen Keller, was the centre of attraction, and made many friends amongst the visitors, who were charmed by her quaint cleverness and the ready way in which she answered the questions put to her by her teachers.

A crayon drawing, beautifully executed by Miss Christie MacKinnon of Sydney, entitled "The Old Pensioner" was on view yesterday, and the young lady received many flattering compliments for this very fine work which she did at the Art School. If she is given the proper chance for improvement, she will become a successful crayon artist.—Chronicle.

Violate The Health Act

To the Editor of The Acadian:—

Sir—May I through your columns, say a word to those, and they are few, who violate the Health Act. There are those who keep pigs in the town without a permit from the Town Council. For some time past the Council have not granted permits to keep pigs in an area comprising the centre of the town. Yet some are doing so.

A large amount of money is being expended in the town to have the streets. The Council of last year and this have wisely concluded by making improved streets that the town will be greatly benefited commercially and sanitarially, that we will have a clean town by having less dust and the latter easier controlled. Dust and flies are known to be the carriers of disease. Keeping pigs in manure pens is a breeder and disseminator of flies. The town of Wolfville is a clean town as towns go; but we propose to make it the cleanest of towns. A word to the wise is sufficient. Those who keep pigs where they have not a right to do so kindly take notice and be governed accordingly.

G. E. DEWITT, M.D.
Health Inspector

Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition

September 11th to 19th.

The sixteenth Annual Exhibition of the Province of Nova Scotia will be held from the 11th of September to the 19th.

Preparations are well in hand to make this the most attractive fair yet held. The Prize List, which has been distributed, is larger than previous years, and should bring strong competition in each of the classes.

A special programme of amusements will be presented before the Grand Stand, including Horse Racing, Vaudeville and Fireworks display in the evening. A programme will be issued later, giving detailed account of each day's attractions.

In the meantime think over what you have to exhibit, and assist in making this a Provincial Fair in every sense.

May Lose Sight

Dartmouth Man in Critical Condition as a Result of Row Over Business Matter.

Dartmouth, June 20.—Ernest H. Hill, one of the most prominent manufacturers of Dartmouth, is reported to be in a very critical condition as the result of being struck by a well-known business man of the town, a few days ago, who is alleged to have hit Mr. Hill back of the ear and between the eyes. The blow Mr. Hill received between the eyes is responsible for his present alarming condition. Mr. Hill had glasses on at the time, and they were smashed in atoms, particles of which pierced both eyes.

Two specialists were in attendance yesterday. It was found that Mr. Hill is suffering from hemorrhages of the eyes, and it is believed that he will lose the sight of both. In fact, so badly injured are the eyes that there is a possibility that both will have to be removed.

The cause of the row is said to have been a somewhat heated business discussion. It is alleged that the assailant visited the Rolling Mills office, and converse with Mr. Hill about a delivery of iron some time in October.

The discussion lasted but a very few minutes and so did the fight, which, according to an eye witness, were all on one side. The assailant is alleged to have struck Mr. Hill unawares. One blow drove Mr. Hill through one of the office windows, and he might have been more seriously punished had it not been for the timely arrival of one of the employees, who quickly interfered.

The schooner C.D. Pickles, Captain Meiser, arrived at Yarmouth on Wednesday from Gulfport with a cargo of hard pine timber for the D.A.R. The Pickles had a long and hard voyage up, losing a portion of her deckload, and suffering much damage. She will repair at Yarmouth.

Advertising As a Guarantee

When a business concern invests a large sum of money in a handsome store and equipment for retail merchandising, the public feels a certain degree of confidence that the concern has goods worth examining. People argue that unless they had established a reputation for fair dealings and unless they had goods that they knew filled a need, they would not dare spend so much money.

Advertising, likewise, acts as a guarantee of substantial business character. When a firm spends money freely on this necessary form of salesmanship, the public concludes that it must have goods back of it that have demonstrated their worth of the firm would not have set apart this sum of money for selling them through the newspapers.

A concern that does not advertise impresses the public as merely an expectant. The fact that it may have been in existence for many years does not help it so very much. The public may even look at mere existence for a long term of years as a disqualification, indicating preference for old time methods. It takes advertising to prove that you have confidence in your goods.

NEVER TOO OLD TO LEARN.

Huxley was eighty when he began to study Greek.

Richardson was fifty when he published his first novel, "Fanny."

At seventy years of age Michael Angelo said, "I am still learning."

Milton in his blindness, when past fifty, completed "Paradise Lost."

Benjamin West was sixty-four when he commenced his series of paintings, one of which is "Christ Healing the Sick."

John Kemble wrote out "Hamlet" thirty times, and said on quitting the stage, "I am now beginning to understand my art."

At the age of eighty, Nemes, born in Valladolid in 1470, engaged in making a collection of Spanish proverbs, with explanations.

Sir Walter Scott resumed his pen at fifty-five to redeem an enormous liability. For a similar reason, but at a more advanced age, Mark Twain renewed his literary labors.

"SYNDICALISM."

Syndicalism is a new name for the most radical form of socialism, and its apostle and high priest is William D. Haywood, who was acquitted a few years ago after a sensational trial at Boise, Idaho, of the charge of assassinating Governor Steuneger, of Idaho. Haywood's gospel is the abolition of the wage system and of dividends on capital. Workers will receive all they earn and it will be impossible for a dollar to earn a dollar while the owner of that dollar idles. He does not indicate where the capital to establish great industries is to come from. He hopes to inaugurate his industrial democracy by a general strike of all the workers of the world. That there is need for reform in industrial conditions is apparent from the general unrest which prevails in almost every field of labor; but the remedy does not lie in utopian revolutions such as that which "syndicalism" proposes.—Witness.

A Souvenir Enforced

By Leslie Davis.

Mrs. Birchard looked up from her embroidery. "Henry," she announced, "I have been thinking about giving a ladies' luncheon."

"Well," responded her husband, encouragingly, "that would be nice."

"Yes," she pursued, meditatively, "as it is pleasant and card parties are exciting, but I don't think one really enjoys anything more than an informal luncheon. I believe I'll invite eleven, that will make twelve of us, and twelve is such an easy number to serve, a dozen of everything just goes around. Now, when would you have it? How would Tuesday do, the fourth?"

Judge Birchard placed a black six on a red seven in his game of solitaire, then he looked up with a laugh. "It seems to me, Bertha," he remarked, slyly, "that the fourth will just about be somebody's birthday."

His wife beamed upon him.

"Henry Birchard, you are the best husband I ever had," she said, "and the rarest of virtues. If you only knew how some women have to hint and maneuver in order to have any notice taken of their anniversaries! They are forced to be quite shameless about it. Yes it will be my birthday, but no one will know it, unless it is Sally Palmer; old school friends have dreadful memories. You see, Henry, I want to have the luncheon soon, because I have an uncertain feeling about this Anna of ours; I am so afraid she will leave, and she does serve beautifully. I needn't worry about faithful old Maggie, she will cook everything perfectly."

While the cards were being shuffled, Judge Birchard looked over at his wife inquiringly. "If I am satisfactory as a husband and Anna and Maggie are equal to their parts, why that anxious pucker in your forehead?" he asked.

"Oh, it's really nothing, Henry, at all; but I do wish I were more original! How do your hostess tries to have something a little different, a souvenir, or anything of that sort, and I have racked my brain, but I simply cannot think of a thing that hasn't been done before."

The Judge rose and looked down upon her affectionately. "I wouldn't worry about that, Bertha," he reassured her. "Give them a good luncheon, and I don't think they will miss the something different. Well, I have to go down town now. I agreed to meet Markham at the club."

But he did not go directly to the club. Instead he made straight for the glittering counters of Mann & Company; his resource in the annual struggle to find a suitable token with which to celebrate Bertha's natal day.

"A little something for my wife," he confided to the friendly salesman, who had assisted in the yearly rite many times previously.

"Ah, yes. Let me see. Mrs. Birchard is pretty well provided with the usual table silver, I believe. Here now is something a trifle out of the ordinary; small individual skewers in silver. How would they do?"

"Just the thing!" The Judge was delighted to have found his gift so easily. Bertha would be charmed, and she could use the skewers for the first time in her birds on Tuesday. A master stroke!

"There is a small space for engraving," the clerk suggested, amiably.

"The initials, as I remember, are B.L.B.?"

Judge Birchard hesitated. "I have always had the date on her presents," he considered. "As the place is so small, how would it do to omit the letters and simply put on the date?"

"Certainly, only a matter of choice," and that concern so easily adjusted, the Judge went complacently on to his club.

Perhaps no entertainment, however successful ultimately, ever glided smoothly toward completion without a hitch. In the morning of the appointed Tuesday, Mrs. Birchard was summoned to the telephone at the call of her friend, Mrs. Palmer.

"Oh, Bertha, I am so sorry, but I cannot come to your luncheon after all! Cousin Amelia has come down from Piedmont to spend the day with me."

"Sally! What a shame! Let me think a minute. Why, of course you must come and bring Cousin Amelia with you."

"That is perfectly sweet of you, Bertha, but have you considered? She would make thirteen at the table."

"So she would." Then after a pause, "Well, what if she does? I don't believe there is any one left on earth so belligerent that she would object to sitting thirteen. I'll tell you what I'll do, Sally. I'll call each one up and ask her and let you know the result."

A series of telephone talks elicited the agreeable information that none of the guests would feel uneasy in the least, so the matter was arranged and at the appointed hour the visitors, emancipated from superstition, greeted each other and Cousin Amelia at Mrs. Birchard's hospitable board.

It was a delightful luncheon. Gay bits of spirited chatter and waves of airy laughter filled the dining room, while on delicious dishes succeeded another, prepared by the gifted Maggie and served by the irreproachable Anna.

It was with pardonable pride that in due time Mrs. Birchard surveyed a row of plates, each adorned with a round, brown bird held firmly together by a little shining, silver skewer. Only a very keen observer would have noticed that the hostess' bird was unpaired.

Smilingly she watched her guests; each face reflected her own pleasure. A murmur of admiration went up from around the table; then—oh, could she believe her ears?

"What a perfectly original way of presenting souvenirs!" her left hand neighbor was exclaiming.

"Isn't it?" another guest claimed in. "Mrs. Birchard, you are too clever!"

"They have the date on! How cunning! It is the prettiest memento I have had all this autumn," declared a third. "I am going to pull mine out at once so that I will not forget to take it; you'd all better do the same," she advised gayly, and the others agreed and followed suit.

"How did you happen to think of giving them," asked Cousin Amelia, mildly.

Mrs. Birchard heard as in a nightmare. They were appropriating her birthday present and she was powerless even to speak! She must say something, she thought, and managed a feeble smile.

"The idea came to me quite suddenly," she answered at last, and they all nodded brightly at her and went on talking happily.

After this delightful incident the luncheon progressed as successfully as before. Suddenly Mrs. Palmer's voice came floating down the table.

"You needn't think I have forgotten it, Bertha; this is your birthday!" Another animated chorus. "Really! How delightful! Why didn't you tell us, we could have brought you a present!"

Insult to injury! What had she received, indeed!

Mrs. Birchard pulled herself up quickly and answered truthfully and proudly. "My boy at Harvard sent me a tea caddy and Elizabeth at Lala's made me a jacket of Irish croch between study hours."

"How nice! And the Judge?"

A shadow passed over Mrs. Birchard's face, quickly noticed by the tactful Sally Palmer.

"Oh, men never remember birthdays, that is too much to expect," she interrupted. "How is Elizabeth getting along, Bertha?"

But Mrs. Birchard's loyal soul rebelled and would not accept the offered diversion. "My husband did remember," she spluttered, stoutly.

"He gave me something!" and with this desperate answer she rose and led the way into the drawing room. The luncheon was over.

After the guests had gone happily away and the hostess found time and a breathing space in which to adjust herself to the odd turn which affairs had taken, her eyes began to dance, and when Judge Birchard reached home a little later she ran eagerly to meet him, wearing the happy smile he liked to see. More, she was radiant.

"Well," he exclaimed delightedly, "did the luncheon go so well?"

"It was perfect! Everything was lovely!" "Henry, you mustn't mind too much, but the skewers—"

"Didn't they skew?"

"Yes, but the ladies thought they were souvenirs and took them all away! Henry, do you think it is bad luck to sit thirteen at table? It was very hard to have to give up those skewers, and yet they made the most wonderful souvenirs. Still I was very fond of them. Do you suppose that some time I could have—"

"Hm," meditated the Judge. "I think it is bad luck for me when you sit thirteen at table."

Tariff Changes Announced by Government

Duty Has Been Reduced or Abolished on Many Articles—List of Items Includes Straw for Hats, Celluloid, Braided Fabrics and Explosive Components.

Ottawa, June 18.—The abolition of or reduction in duties on a number of articles entering into Canadian manufacture has been announced by the Government. The list includes straw for hats, celluloid, parts of musical instruments, silks, for neckties, component parts of explosive braided fabrics and some other items.

ON THE FREE LIST.

The Gazette announces that the following articles used as materials in Canadian manufactures are transferred to the list of goods which may be imported into Canada free of duty, until otherwise ordered:

- (a) Cane, reed, or rattan, not further manufactured than split, when used in Canadian manufactures.
- (b) Flat braids or plaits, of glazed cotton thread, not over one-quarter inch wide, when imported by manufacturers of hats for use only in the manufacture of hat bodies.
- (c) Celluloid, xylonite, or byolite, in sheets, jumps, blocks, cylinders, rods, or bars, not further manufactured than moulded or pressed, when used in Canadian manufactures.
- (d) Hard rubber in strips or rods, but not further manufactured, when for use in Canadian manufactures.
- (e) Artificial abrasives in bulk, crushed or ground, when imported for use in the manufacture of abrasive wheels and polishing composition.
- (f) Peroxide of barium, non-alcoholic, for use in the manufacture of peroxide, or hydrogen, when imported by manufacturers of peroxide of hydrogen.
- (g) Bhitrotolol, trinitrotolol, and perchlorate of ammonia, when imported by manufacturers of explosives for use exclusively in the manufacture of such articles in their own factories.
- (h) Glass plates or discs, rough cut or unworked, for use in the manufacture of optical instruments.
- (i) Yarns, threads, and filaments and artificial or imitation silk, produced from a form of cellulose obtained by chemical processes from a cotton or wood, when imported by manufacturers of knitted, woven or braided fabrics, for use only in their own factories in the manufacture of such knitted, woven, or braided fabrics.

NEW WORLD WONDER.

(Christian Science Monthly)

Across the fields near Rome the great aqueducts of old times stretch like some ponderous creature that is stepping in elephantine stride a slow path to the city. These reminders of the old Roman engineering achievements are regarded with wonder, but what modern men are accomplishing in the same line makes the Roman aqueducts seem a trivial effort indeed. The city of New York has long been discussing the possibility of bringing the delicious water of the Catskill region down to fill the city's need, but how to get it there was the great problem. At last the audacious idea of a tunnel under the Hudson, made in solid rock, if such a subterranean could be found, was broached. Testing the banks a place was found at Storm King Mountain where there was solid granite on both sides. Then two borings were made which seemed to show that at a depth of 1,000 feet there was a belt at least 500 feet deep in which a tunnel could be cut. A shaft over 1,000 feet deep was sunk in the rock on each side of the river, and then a straight tunnel seventeen feet in diameter and 3,000 feet long was bored connecting them. This is part of a ninety-two-mile aqueduct which will deliver to the city 500,000,000 gallons of water a day. The last blast in the rock section was fired January 30th. It is called by engineers the greatest achievement of their profession next to the Panama Canal.

CRUSADE AGAINST PROFANITY.

A very commendable society has been formed in Toronto, in connection with the Roman Catholic church. It is called the "Holy Name" society and its aim is to repress profanity. The members of the society pledge themselves to abstain from profanity and to influence others for good. Last week this society held its second annual rally, when seven thousand men and boys joined in the parade. All good people will sympathize with the objects of this society and wish it success. Profanity is one of the most disgusting and heinous of sins, and yet it is one of the most common. On our streets and wherever men and boys congregate will be heard offensive language. In many of our Sunday Schools, children are pledged not to use profane or obscene language; but the bad example set before them in some of their homes, and on the playground, neutralizes the teaching of the Sunday School.—Presbyterian Witness.

ENJOYING THE BEST OF HEALTH

"Fruit-a-lives" Cured His Rheumatism

Prof. J. F. DAVIS,
 563 Church St., Toronto.

I want to say to the people of Toronto and elsewhere that "Fruit-a-lives" is my only medicine and has been for the last four years. Previous to that, I had been very much troubled with Rheumatism and Kidney Disease, and had taken many remedies as well as employing hot applications of salt bags etc., without getting satisfactory results.

Noticing the advertisement of "Fruit-a-lives", I adopted this treatment altogether and, as everybody knows, since taking "Fruit-a-lives", I have been enjoying the very best health and find it a pleasure to follow my vocation of Dancing and Department Instruction."

Prof. Davis, the celebrated teacher of dancing and deportment in Toronto, is quite frank in stating that "Fruit-a-lives" alone cured him of distressing Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble. See a box, 5 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

THE EASIEST WAY

A farmer near Corning, Kan., whose son was an applicant for a position under the Government, but who had been repeatedly turned down, said:

"Well, it's hard luck, but John has missed that civil service again. It looks like they just won't have him."

"What was the trouble?" "Well he's short on spellin' and geography, and missed purty fur in mathematics."

"What is he going to do about it?" "I dunno. Times is mighty hard, and I reckon he'll have to go back to teaching school for a livin'."

"Ha! you a match, Sandy?" he queried. The match was forthcoming, but nothing more.

"I do believe," said Robbie, "I ha' left ma' tobacco at home."

"Then," said Sandy, after a silence "ye might git me back ma' match."

HONORS FOR SPEED.

To the automobile, one of man's latest playthings, belongs the premier honors for speed. Bob Burman, driving a motor car propelled by a gasoline fed engine, covered a mile in 25.4 seconds on Daytona Beach, Fla., March 22, 1911. Than which no car has ever travelled faster.

A close second comes the steam railroad engine. In March 1901, an engine on the plant line in Florida, drawing a short, light train, went from Fleming to Jackson, a distance of five miles, in two minutes thirty seconds. Had that pace been maintained for one hour the train would have covered one hundred and twenty miles.

The fastest mile ever recorded by a sculler was made by Dick Arndt, of Australia, the world's champion man, when he went the distance in six minutes, forty-four seconds.

There is no limit to the speed of aviation. It has been freely predicted that the time is only a short way off when man will fly faster than the auto that now holds the mark.

It is now well known that not more than one case of rheumatism in ten requires any internal treatment whatever. Last Her Life Attempting to Save Friend

Two Nurses Drowned While Bathing—Five Other Nurses Saw Death Struggle, Powerless to Help Them.

New York, June 15—After manifesting a spirit of heroism and unselfishness seldom witnessed, Miss Margaret Hughes, twenty-one years old, and her best friend, Miss Ella O'Rourke, twenty-five years old, nurses in the Manhattan State Hospital, on Ward Island, went down to death yesterday in the treacherous waters of Hell Gate, while five other nurses looked on, powerless to help them.

Miss Hughes and Miss O'Rourke went to the bathing pavilion used by the attendants, nurses and physicians. Miss O'Rourke and the other nurses would not go in to bathe, but Miss Hughes, who was a powerful swimmer, said she was going to take a swim. The others decided to stay and watch her.

The water was fairly calm, except for the occasional wash raised by the College Point ferry. Just before Miss Hughes ran into the water she turned to the other women and said the swim would do every one good, and she was going to enjoy it.

One hundred feet away from the spot where the bathers go in is Negro Point, which causes a swirl in the waters and a bad undertow for any swimmer to battle against. Miss Hughes was warned to be careful as she was about to make a dive. She turned and laughed at her sister nurses and then disappeared under the water.

The College Point Ferry was passing the point when Miss Hughes appeared, striking out in the direction of Manhattan. She was not far away from the shore, and now and again exchanged conversation with the other nurses.

SEIZED WITH CRAMPS.

An instant later one of the young women looked in the direction of the swimmer, who then was returning in the direction of the bathing pavilion, saw Miss Hughes' arm held up straight. It stayed like this for an unusual time, and it was then thought that Miss Hughes was signaling for help.

"I think Miss Hughes is having trouble," said one of the nurses. Miss O'Rourke looked at the swimmer, and all the nurses ran to the water's edge. Miss O'Rourke asked Miss Hughes if there was anything wrong and the swimmer replied:

"I've got a cramp." Her tons were perfectly calm, and the women wondered at it. Realizing, however, the danger of a cramp in those waters, all of them waded in up to their waists believing that they could possibly help Miss Hughes.

"You girls keep back," screamed Miss O'Rourke, "You can't do any good, as you can't swim. I'll go in and bring her back."

Miss O'Rourke tore off her big white sweater and her shoes, and then plunged into the water. "Keep up, Margaret," she told the other girl, "and I'll reach you in a few minutes."

Herself a fair swimmer, it did not take Miss O'Rourke long to get near her bosom friend. The nurses on the shore wrung their hands and wept hysterically. Two of them had walked far into the water, without knowing apparently they could do nothing to aid the girl with cramp.

Miss O'Rourke was nearing Miss Hughes, when the latter waved her back with amazing calm. Her words could be heard distinctly by the other nurses when she said to her friend:

BEGS FRIEND TO SAVE HERSELF.

"Ella, please keep away from me. Keep away, I tell you."

Miss O'Rourke did not hesitate an instant, however, and caught her friend by the arm and buoyed her up. She was out of breath and though she tried to call to the other nurses on the shore she could not find her voice. Miss O'Rourke valiantly tried to swim with her burden to the shore. The terrific struggle she had was apparent to those hoping to see the two women come to shore safe.

But the struggle was too much for Miss O'Rourke, and though they heard Miss Hughes beg her to go away and save herself, the courageous woman stuck to her friend and the two sank from sight before any male attendants arrived on the scene.

Miss Hughes' body was washed up about eight o'clock last night. The body of Miss O'Rourke was not recovered.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK ROOSEVELT'S SPECIAL TRAIN

Albany, N. Y., June 15—Early today the police had discovered no clue to the identity of the parties who yesterday placed on the New York Central Railway, in front of Colonel Roosevelt's flying Chicago special, a huge boulder that came within a hair's breadth of wrecking the train.

Near John D. Rockefeller's home in Tarrytown, as the train was sweeping around a curve, at a speed of about sixty miles an hour, the locomotive smashed into a boulder two feet in diameter. The cow-catcher of the train was crushed by the impact, and a fragment of the rock tore a hole in the pipe connecting the air brakes. As a result, the brakes on all the cars of the train, including that occupied by Col. Roosevelt and his party, were suddenly locked, and several of the passengers were thrown violently forward in their seats.

Colonel Roosevelt's car was fourth from the engine, and he was reading when the crash came. The book was all but jerked from his hands by the shock of the sudden stop. "I could not imagine what had happened," the Colonel said later.

That Colonel Roosevelt and the other passengers were in grave danger, and that the cutting of the air-brake pipe probably prevented the derailment of the train, was the opinion of the engineer, John McAuliffe, and the conductor. Colonel Roosevelt was probably the least perturbed of anyone on board.

CHURCH UNION REMAINS A LIVE ISSUE.

The Presbyterian General Assembly now in session at Edmonton, Alta., has practically determined by a unanimous vote to continue the efforts for organic union with the Methodists and Congregationalists. The attitude of the Assembly is that, while there will be losses when the union is consummated, the amount of the loss will be greatly lessened, if time is given for consideration and persuasion. In the meantime arrangements have been made for the closest co-operation in all departments of work, a co-operation which will gradually become closer until full organization has been reached. It is believed that much of the present opposition to the measure will disappear when the experiment of genuine operation is tried and that the final loss of congregations will be small.

NATURAL GAS FOR CITY OF ST. JOHN

New Area Will Soon be Opened up by Company.

(Toronto Globe)

A visitor to St. John on Saturday was Dr. Henderson, the English capitalist, who is head of the company now engaged in developing the Albert County gas and oil wells. Dr. Henderson's visit to St. John was preliminary to steps that are to be taken to bring natural gas to St. John. Talking with the Globe, Dr. Henderson's visit to St. John was development will be kept for Moncton and the towns in that vicinity. A new district, somewhat nearer St. John, would be opened up and Dr. Henderson is convinced it will prove as satisfactory. From the new area which will also be in Albert County, it is supposed to run a pipe line direct to St. John and so give this city new illumination and fuel. Dr. Henderson is confident that no difficulty will be experienced in securing an abundant gas supply and in bringing it to this city.

Moving Pictures for Public Schools

The staff correspondent of the Winnipeg Tribune, Harry Barron, has had an interview with that wonderful man, Thomas A. Edison, regarding his work to make the public schools interesting.

The story is told as published in the Tribune. Truly the child of the future will have pleasures that these of past ages could not have.

Mr. Edison will be a greater benefactor than any who has yet lived if he succeeds, as he probably will, in doing what he has now set his heart to do. This is the story:

I have just come from the studio of Thomas A. Edison at West Orange, where in an exclusive interview for The Tribune he said to me: "The most complete revolution in education which the world has ever seen—this is to be the really great work of my life."

What is this crowning victory of Tom Edison, white-haired sixty-five, and already crowned with the glories of the marvelous phonograph, the incandescent lamp and the storage battery?

He told me about it at length. It is the crystallization of a perfected system whereby the moving picture film will supplant books and charts in school rooms and make school-houses places of light instead of barracks of gloom. In other words, Edison plans to convert the schools into moving picture theatres.

"The thought is not a new one with me," smiled the wizard. "I have been working on it for years. I have known for long that our educational methods are all wrong. I knew that I hated going to school—I knew that my boy has hated to go to school. I know that most other children have hated to go to school. From this I decided that all the children could not be wrong, for God made them. So it must be the schools that are wrong, I concluded. And I have set out to remedy the schools."

"We can take the child into the most abstract realms of science by means of pictures—a thing which we could never do by means of the dead-dull books. We have worked out, for instance, here in our laboratory, a series of films which show exactly how the potter is made. We show the clay being dug; we show the workmen molding it in their wonderful expert way; we show it being baked and then we show it in the enameling process. When the child gets through seeing this picture we are sure that he understands the methods of pottery far better than any book could teach to him and how much easier and how much more entertaining it has all been.

"We are preparing all sorts of films—films that will teach the life history of the honey-bee, of the mosquito, the typhoid fly and of all the other creatures of the air, land and sea. We have photographers now in South America, in Europe and in Africa gathering material.

"But this is not all. We are going to teach history and geography, too, by means of moving picture books, as I call them. We are going to have correct representations made of all the big battles and scenes of history. And we are going to show the geography classes real scenes in the countries about which they are studying. When they get through studying the cotton fields of the South or the wheat fields of the north they will all know all about these things because they have really visited them—not just read about them.

"But even here the end of the moving picture as the greatest means of education in the world is not in sight. In fact it is only just begun! We will take the moving picture into the high schools and colleges and teach the wonders of physics and chemistry. By means of the moving picture film the most delicate experiment can be reproduced magnified a hundred times to show the most minute parts of it.

"The moving picture is the force in education—the greatest force that has yet been introduced into education. "There have been 219,000 cases of truancy in the New York public schools the last year. Books failed. Give me the right to introduce moving pictures into the schools of New York and I'll not have to report a single case of truancy."

"And what's more, I'll have all the parents down to the school houses at night to learn the things their children learned in the day-time. People want to learn—God put it in them to learn—but they want to learn in the natural way. Holding the mirror up to nature is the only natural way.

"And moving pictures are life's mirrors." When your child has whooping cough be careful to keep the cough loose and expectoration easy by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as may be required. This remedy will also soothe the throat and make it easier to expectorate. It has been used successfully in many epidemics and is safe and sure. For sale by druggists and dealers.

Wedding Bells

The Newark, New Jersey, News of June 13th, says:

At the Methodist Episcopal church of Hilton, last night, Miss Hazel Wright, sister of Rev. Charles W. Wright, pastor of the church, became the bride of Rev. Otis Cowles, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Arcola. The ceremony was performed in a bower of ferns and pink roses by the brother of the bride, assisted by Rev. Dr. Faulkner, of Drew Theological Seminary at Madison.

Miss Wright entered the church with her brother, Frederick Wright, of Brooklyn, by whom she was given in marriage. She was attended by Mrs. Frederick Wright, as matron of honor, and by two flower girls, Dorothy Halsey, of South Orange, and Miss Lois Brown, of Hilton. The best man was Rev. Charles Frct., of Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island, and the ushers Cecil Wright, brother of the bride, and her cousin, Lorran McNutt.

The bride wore a gown of hand-embroidered chiffon and lace and a tulle veil caught up with sprays of lilies of the valley. She carried a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore white silk veiled in pink tissue cloth and carried pink roses. The flower girl wore dresses of white batiste and lace, with pink sashes and ribbons. They carried large baskets of pink sweet peas and preceded the bridal party, scattering the aisle with rose petals.

The mother of the bride wore a gown of silver gray silk with trimmings of white lace. Miss Ida Brown, organist of the church, played the wedding music. A reception for the members of the bridal party and immediate family followed at the home of the bride's brother. The house was decorated in pink and white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowles left on a trip to Philadelphia, Washington and Atlantic City. They will live at Arcola. The bride is a graduate of Barnard College, class of 1911. The bridegroom is a graduate of Cornell University and of Drew Seminary, and was a classmate of his best man at both these institutions.

(The bride is a daughter of the late Rev. F.H. Wright, who died in Halifax in 1901, being at one time pastor of Providence Methodist, Bridgetown.)

PREACHING RIGHT AT THEM

Over at Denver, the Central Christian Church has got in Rev. I. G. Lansing a minister who seems likely to either to make his mark or lose his church. Here are some of the things he has been saying:

"It is a part of the religion of Christ to have pure milk, that every child may have a chance to live."

"It is a part of the religion of Christ that there shall be no over-worked mothers, that they may have the health and strength to keep their children pure."

"It is a part of the religion of Christ that there shall be a decent wage, so that a girl will not be compelled to sell her body and soul to gain food and clothing."

"It is a part of the religion of Christ that there shall be a sense of justice so determined and vigilant that there shall be a demand for justice for others as well as for ourselves."

Nowadays the preacher who insists on strikingly bringing the example of Christ into the daily lives of church members either gets a large congregation and a reputation as a true disciple of Christ, or a notice that the tone of his utterances leads some of the big financial supporters of his church to believe that his usefulness in that field is impaired. It is one thing to preach Christ and quite another to apply Christ to the daily practices of the leading supporters of some churches.—Winnipeg Tribune.

NOVA SCOTIA WINS RIFLE MATCH.

Halifax, June 14—Nova Scotia won the intermaritime rifle match at Bedford Thursday. The scores were Nova Scotia, 721, Prince Edward Island, 708, New Brunswick, 656.

"It Taft has enough delegates to nominate, and Teddy has enough to nominate, and La Follette has enough to keep either from being nominated, how old is Ann?" asks The Marion, Mo., Record. And the answer is she is old enough to know better.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26, 1912.

The Supreme Court of Canada has given its decision on the marriage law case, as submitted to it by the Dominion Government, to the effect that the Federal Parliament has no right to pass a uniform marriage law, this privilege being left to each individual province.

The Court also gave its decision that a marriage of a Roman Catholic and a Protestant, performed by a Protestant clergyman, was binding and legal, notwithstanding the "ne temere" decree in Quebec Province. A majority of the judges also agreed that a marriage by a Protestant clergyman was equally binding when performed between two Roman Catholics. The judgment will be referred to the Privy Council.

The Taft-Roosevelt contest is not yet over. Though Taft has received the Republican nomination, Roosevelt has declared his intention to lead a new party, and has been nominated as a candidate by a section of the Republican party. He will be a formidable opponent to the Republican nominee, and thus strengthen the chances of the Democratic party.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Handren

Mrs. John Handren passed away at her late home, Eastern Avenue, Lynn, Mass, Friday June 21st.
Mrs. Handren was about her household work as usual when she fell unconscious upon the floor. The noise of her fall was heard by her daughter Grace, who was in another room. The efforts of a physician to revive her were unavailing and she died three hours later without gaining consciousness. Death was caused by acute Bright's disease.
Mrs. Handren who was formerly Mary Dunn was born at Hampton, Annapolis County, forty-six years ago. She leaves a husband, one daughter and three sons.

Ruffianism at Port Williams

A case of ruffianism is reported from Port Williams which may have fatal results. Three rowdies by the name of Graves, while under the influence of liquor, attempted to enter the house of Kenneth Lee, a well-known farmer and apple dealer, demanding to see a girl living there. On being refused admittance the men attempted violence and Lee got his gun out but instead of offering to shoot he used the butt to strike his assailants, thus discharging the gun into his own thigh. The ruffians then set upon the man inflicting very serious injuries. It was necessary to take him to the Infirmary at Halifax for treatment. The men were arrested.

"The Seaside."

By the courtesy of Mrs. Reed Farnsworth of Hampton, visitors from Bridgetown on Thursday, 20th inst., had the privilege of looking over her boarding house "The Seaside" which opens to the public this week. Beautiful for situation this house has been enlarged and improved since last year and promises a comfortable and pleasant home for guests during the summer months. We recommend it as a quiet and wholesome resting place and bespeak for Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth a liberal patronage and profitable season.

Lawrencetown

ence at Amherst.
Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hales of Wolfville, accompanied by Mr. Hales' mother, Mrs. Steven Hales, also their daughters, Gwendolyn and Bernice, made an auto trip on Sunday last and were the guests of Mrs. Laura West for the day. Mr. W. B. Bishop was also a guest of his sister, Mrs.
West, over Sunday.

Mrs. W. W. Bent entertained as guests Mr. and Mrs. L. Messenger, Mr. E. Ewing and Miss Rice, of Bridgetown, quite recently. Her mother, Mrs. Patterson was a guest at the same time.
Carl Shaffer, of Middleton, is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. John Shaffer and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. E.
Shaffer.
Mrs. C. W. Phinney and son of Bear River, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. N. H.
Phinney and other relatives and before returning home will visit Mrs.
L. P. Shaffer of Middleton.

The ladies of the Baptist Sewing Circle will meet with Mrs. Ernest Whitman on Friday at the usual hour.
Mrs. H. H. Whitman went to St.
John last week to visit relatives and attend the wedding of her cousin.
Her son, Aubrey goes on Saturday to spend a few days and accompany his mother home.

Misses Lizzie and Winnie Feltus went to Amherst last week to be present at the marriage of their brother, Harry, which takes place next Wednesday. After which the bride and groom will visit St. John and other places. En route for their home in Amherst they will spend a few days at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Feltus.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lowell celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage on Saturday, 22nd.
Miss E. E. Clark of Wolfville was the guest of Mrs. Kenneth Bishop over Sunday.

A large number from here took the excursion to Truro last week.
A Rummage Sale under the auspices of Mrs. (Dr.) F. W. Young's S.S.
class will be held Saturday evening on the doctor's lawn. The band will be in attendance, and ice cream and Dumb Institute, Halifax, is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Foster.

Last week Mrs. Pollard had a sale of her household effects and has left the village. Mrs. Sanford has moved into her home, Monday, while welcoming the new-comer, will regret the departure of Mrs. Pollard from the town. Mrs. Pollard kept her house and premises in excellent condition.
She was a good neighbor and very public-spirited. During the fall and winter she has kept a street lamp burning at her own expense and has made provision for one during the next year. Many will wish Mrs.
Pollard success and happiness wherever her future lot may be cast.

Silver Wedding

Three Organizations Unite to Observe Anniversary of President of Burbank Corps.

Post 38 Hall was the scene Saturday evening of a pretty anniversary gathering, full of neighborly cordiality and tinged with the tender sentiment of long ago. Mr. and Mrs.
Archibald M. Brown of 154 Salem St. who twenty-five years ago had plighted their vows to one another, were the central figures in a silver wedding observance arranged in their honor by Mrs. Brown's fellow members of the W.C.T.U., the Woman's Relief Corps 84, and the M.O.H. class of the Sunday school of the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were assisted in receiving their guests, about seventy-five in number, by a brother-in-law and a sister of Mr. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Dixon, now of Milton. Mrs. Milton had been bridesmaid at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs.
Brown, which was solemnized by Rev.
A. J. Gordon of the Clarendon street Baptist church, Boston.

The pleasure of the evening was enhanced in no small measure by a musical programme, which was rendered by three vocalists, Miss Anna Everburg, Mrs. H. E. Williams, and Fercy Acosta, and by Wilbur Burleigh, accompanist. Refreshments were served, Mrs. Henrietta Dickinson being in charge. Rev. Emory B.
Williams, leading up to it in a great-ful speech, presented the host and hostess with a purse of gold. This the cordiality and good-will that marked this evening's festivity came to a climax, and the occasion became one of the memorable ones that have been recorded in the annals of post 38 hall. Mrs. Brown is at present the president of Burbank corps 84, W.R.C. to which she has belonged for sixteen years and of which she first became president some twelve years ago, serving three terms. She has likewise been president of the Woburn W.C.T.U. for going on seven years.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown are both from Nova Scotia, she being a native of the Annapolis Valley, he of Cornwallis. Mrs. Brown's maiden name was Annabelle Charlton. Mr. Brown has three sisters, Mrs. Dixon, already referred to, Mrs. William Graham of Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. George Oakes of Atlantic. Mrs. Brown has a brother, Daniel Charlton, of Middleton, N. S., and two sisters, Mrs.
Arthur Wheelock of Bridgetown, N.S. and Mrs. Froya Sanford of Berwick, N.S.—Woburn Paper.

William Gordon Goldsmith Defendant.

TO BE SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION
by the Sheriff of the County of Annapolis at the County Court House, Bridgetown, in the County of Annapolis on Saturday the 6th day of July, A. D. 1912, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, pursuant to an order of foreclosure and sale made herein, and dated Tuesday, the 25th day of May, A. D. 1912, unless before the date of the said sale the sum-amount due to the plaintiff on the mortgages sought to be foreclosed herein, together with interest to the day of sale, and his costs to be taxed, be paid to him or his solicitor or to the sheriff or into Court.

All the estate, right, title, interest and equity of redemption of the above named defendant, and of all persons claiming or entitled by, from or under the said defendant, of, in, and to, ALL and singular that certain piece or parcel of land situate lying and being in Bridgetown in the said County of Annapolis on the south side of the Annapolis River and on the east side of South Street so called and commencing at the northwest corner of lands of Mary A.
Fowler, thence running northwardly along said South Street so called eighty feet to a stake thence turning and running eastwardly in a line parallel with the said Mary A. Fowler's north line to a stake, thence turning and running southwardly in a straight line to a stake in the Dominion Atlantic Railway fence, thence turning and running westwardly along said railway fence to the aforesaid lands of Mary A. Fowler thence turning and running in a northwardly course along the east side of the said lands of Mary A. Fowler to the north-east angle thereof thence turning and running westwardly along the said lands of Mary A. Fowler to the place of commencement, containing one-quarter of an acre more or less.

Also all and singular that certain other piece or parcel of land situate adjacent to the above described lot of land bounded and described as follows, that is to say, commencing on the east side of South Street, so-called, at the north-west angle of the above described lot of land, thence running northwardly along said South Street so-called sixty-three enty-seven feet, thence turning and running southerly in a line parallel with the highway fence to the north-east corner of the above described lot of land thence turning and running westwardly along the above described lot of land to the place of commencement. The said pieces and parcels of land being the same lands as were conveyed to the said William Gordon Goldsmith by Allister A.

Taylor by deed dated June 25th, 1905, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds at Bridgetown in book 120 at page 180.

Also all that certain lot, tract, piece or parcel of land and premises, situate, lying and being on the east side of South Street so-called, in Bridgetown, in the County of Annapolis, bounded and described as follows, Beginning and described as follows, on the south line of lands now owned by W. Gordon Goldsmith, and

Notice to Teachers.

The Monitor is requested to state that when the April Journal of Education was published the Superintendent of Education was not able to predict that the 3rd of June would be proclaimed a holiday by the Lieutenant-Governor, which would make it a holiday in the public schools. The number of days in this half school year is thus reduced to 102 instead of 103. As in many parts of the County teachers may have been unaware of the proclamation, those who taught on that day, under the circumstances, may have the day allowed as a substitute for a day lost during the half year.

Notice to Orchardists

The native strawberries are in the market at two boxes for a quarter.

The Baptist church at Dalhousie West is holding a tea-meeting today.

The Boy Scouts are notified that there will be no "hike" on Saturday next.

New Glasgow, Moncton, Yarmouth are having "old home" celebrations this summer.

Have you seen Crowe, Elliott & Co.'s new store? Formal opening on Tuesday, July 2nd.

Don't forget the Tea Meeting at Port Lorne on Dominion Day. It stormy first fine day following.

Mr. Jacob B. Whitman, of the Forest Protection government service, is in the County on official business.

Public school examinations are being held this week, after which the schools will close for eight weeks' holidays.

Next Sunday being the fifth in the month, there will be a celebration of Holy Communion in St. James' church, at 8 a.m. with the usual services at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.

The wet weather, causing spot, and the pest of caterpillars has somewhat modified the expectations of the orchardists as to a bumper crop this season.

C. F. DeWitt has purchased a lot at Hampton adjoining the Gaskill place, a charming location, in which he is building a commodious summer camp. A. C. Charlton is the builder.

The big lumber mills of Bochner Bros. of West LaHave were destroyed by fire on Monday with wharves, warehouses and piles of lumber. A loss of over $50,000. No insurance.

The Monitor is requested to call the attention of the auto drivers to the necessity of sounding their horns before passing streets corners, especially where children are in the habit of playing.

Canning has been visited the second time by fire. Forty-four years ago fire swept its business centre. The present fire will be investigated some circumstance in connection with it being suspicious.

Dr. A. S. Burns of Bridgetown was in town recently, says the Kentville Orchardist, making arrangements for a dwelling or suitable rooms here. He expects to take up the practice of medicine about the first of July.

An entomological station is to be established at Bridgetown, at the request of the farmers of this section. Mr. Saunders of Round Hill has his portable building on the grounds of Mr. McCormick, next to Mr. Quirk's.

The two weddings on Wednesday last, of which detailed descriptions are given elsewhere, caused quite a pleasurable sensation about the town. A large crowd gathered at the station before the arrival of the afternoon express, to catch a glimpse of the happy couples.

Mr. Birchell of the firm of Birchell MacLean and Rolston, and two other gentlemen, have been in town investigating land titles to Halifax and South Western lands during the week. It is rumored that an important land deal with an Annapolis County lumber firm is about to be consummated.

Mr. Ralph Eaton, who has been on the staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia here for some time, has been transferred to Bridgetown, and left last week to assume his new duties. Ralph is an energetic, courteous young man, and his many friends will regret his departure from town.—Kentville Orchardist.

The railway commission in session at Windsor ordered the Dominion Atlantic Railway to install electric bells at Stannus, Albert and Chestnut street crossings, Windsor; a gate or bell at Gerish St. Crossing, Windsor; a bell at Prince street crossing, Hantsport; and to employ a watchman at the William St. crossing, Hantsport, while the Bluenose trains are in commission.

The household furniture of Mr. J. D. Shaffer was sold by auction on Saturday last. The house is now closed, awaiting the pleasure of the new owner, Mr. Charles Bent of Lynn, and Mr. Shaffer and family will soon leave for their new home in British Columbia. Much regret is felt at the loss of one of Bridgetown's most progressive citizens and his estimable family.

The Bell Ringers filled a return engagement here last Friday night, playing to a crowded house, and delighted all with their music. Bridgetown audiences are seldom favored with such musical performances as the bell harmonies in Calliph of Bigdad, Cavalleria Rusticana, Poet and Peasant and their other classical renditions. Primrose Theatre management deserves much credit for their successful endeavors to secure good entertainments for their patrons.

Mr. R. J. Messenger, Ex-president of the N.S.F.G.A. was in town yesterday, soliciting special prizes for the Nova Scotia Horticultural Exhibition to be held in Bridgetown, next September. Mr. Messenger says the apple crop in Lawrencetown will not be a heavy one, besides that he fears a spotted crop if the fruit growers do not spray continuously, owing to the wet season. Although he has himself sprayed four times he finds the black spot appearing upon the leaves of his fruit trees. His advice is to spray faithfully if clean apples are expected.—Kentville Orchardist.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Langley will shortly leave for Coquitlam, B.C., where Mr. Langley has business interests. It is understood their departure is not permanent, and it is hoped Bridgetown is only losing Mr. and Mrs. Langley as residents for a little while.

Mrs. (Rev.) A.E. Andrew with two children, is visiting her uncle, Dr. L. G. DeBlois en route for Grandville Ferry. Rev. Mr. Andrew with the other three children, is visiting his former home in P. E. Island. Mrs. Andrew will be remembered by many old friends as Miss Minnie Sinclair.

BURNED TO DEATH IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Hempstead, N. Y., June 23.—Albert Baumgartner, of Hempstead, was burned to death and six others injured in a collision today between a high power touring car and a runabout. The two machines were demolished, Baumgartner being pinned beneath the touring car. A moment later flames covered the wreck. The victim cried for help, but his companions were unable to aid him, and he was incinerated before their eyes.

CHARACTERISTICS FOR "IDEAL" MARRIAGE.

Grandson of Longfellow and Suffragist About to Wed Express Opinions on Ideal Husband and Wife.

Boston, June 15—There is to be a unique wedding out in Cambridge this afternoon—the most unique wedding Boston has ever known.

It is that of Edmund T. Dana, grandson of the poet Longfellow, and Miss Jessie Holliday, an English portrait painter and suffragist.

There's to be no minister, no bridesmaids, ushers or best man. The ceremony will be performed by Edmund M. Parker, a well-known Boston lawyer and friend of the family, out in the open air, under the historical trees of the Dana estate.

Dana, the son of Richard H. Dana, like the fiancée is a Socialist. He is a Harvard '09 man, and assistant in the Department of Philosophy at Harvard University.

The bride-elect in expressing her views on the requirements of a perfect husband, proclaimed perfect health to be the first requirement, including abstinence from tobacco, alcohol and meat. The next requirement was a mighty purpose in life, besides earning a living, that he believe in woman suffrage, and regard his wife as his equal; that he leave entirely in his wife's control the supreme function of motherhood, that he have a good life behind him, that he love his wife, not merely with a romantic idealization, but with a complete understanding of her character, its faults and qualities. He must take a real interest in the upbringing of children and that he must have a serene of humor.

Mr. Dana's opinion as to the ideal wife is given in a few words. She should have health, frankness, common sense, humor, a great conception of the universality and humanity. Should be a suffragist and possess courage, sympathy and patience.

TRAVESTY OF RELIGION.

New York, June 6—"The solemnity and mock religiosity atmosphere that apparently surrounded the electrocution of Clarence V. T. Richeson surely horrified even the most hardened, and if the Rev. Herbert S. Johnson really asked Richeson, 'Are you ready to die for Jesus' sake?' it was the worst travesty on the church and religion I ever heard," declared the Rev. Madison C. Peters, pastor of Pilgrim Congregational church today.

"Just such maudlin and sacrilegious things disgust all sensible people with the church and make them despise religion."

"Richeson did not die for Jesus' sake; that is mockery. He did not even die for Avis Linnell. He died to satisfy the demands of justice because the state of Massachusetts declared he had to."

"Such things only tend to glorify murder and attract sentiment to murderers, and if we persist in making heroes out of such men as Richeson we cannot expect to check crime."

"Of course I believe condemned man should have spiritual advisers and should have their chance for repentance, and I am not saying a man even like Richeson could not repent of his sins, but to ask him if he was ready to die for Jesus' sake is only disgusting."

ACCIDENT ON THE INTERCOLONIAL.

Truro, N. S., June 15—Lockhart's special going west last night jumped the track at Giles Siding, between Westchester and Wentworth, and a dozen cars are piled up on the main line. Wrecking trains from Truro and Moncton are on the scene. Meanwhile, trains to and from the west are going around by the short line today, the St. John express being five hours late on this account. None of the train hands sustained serious injury, although the van of the special was badly smashed.

A Cripple's Noble Life

(From the New York Sun)

Miss Sophie B. Wright, often referred to as "New Orleans' foremost citizen" and one of the most beloved women in the South, died of heart disease at her home recently.

Sophie Wright was a cripple and went around in a steel harness and on crutches. She was so poor that she taught all day in a private school to earn money to maintain her free school at night.

She was born in 1856. When she was three years old she fell and hurt her back and hips so badly that for six years she was strapped to a chair. At nine, she hobbled to a day school. At fourteen she opened a school for herself, and hung out a sign: "Day school for girls." In the afternoon she taught in a normal school to pay for her own lessons in languages.

When she was eighteen there came to her day school for girls a young man ashamed of his ignorance and unable to get into the crowded public schools of the city. Sophie Wright taught him. He opened her eyes to the mass of ignorance that was making the city sluggish. She determined to teach other young men out of working hours.

The day school for girls became the home institute and the care of the poor boys of New Orleans the peculiar task of Sophie Wright. She borrowed $10,000 at eight per cent. interest, hired a bigger building, started a night school got more teachers, with faith and good will as her sole capital.

Yellow fever closed her school in 1897 she reopened it as a depot of supplies for the sick and with her teachers she went up and down the town giving succor. Meanwhile the eight per cent. piled up. At the end of the epidemic she faced bankruptcy. A banker took her mortgage from the money lender and lent her $10,000 more at easy interest.

Before another year there were one thousand pupils in her night school. The school became the talk of the factories. When the whistles blew at night workers streamed toward Sophie Wright's. Bad boys from the streets went too. The Spasm Band, incurable by police methods, were converted into sober students by Sophie Wright.

The National Lumbermen's convention, meeting in New Orleans and hearing about her work, raised $4175 at a single meeting. The Picayune gave her a silver loving cup because she had on the preceding year done more than any other citizen for New Orleans. Women's societies raised and lifted her mortgage, and thousands and thousands of persons were in Audubon Park when the cancelled mortgage was handed to her along with the cup.

Sophie Wright for years was so racked by asthma that she scarcely spent two hours a night in bed, but she kept on working for her own keep by day and for the boys of the city at night.

JUST PLEASANTNESS.

"The habit of looking at the bright side of things is worth more than a thousand pounds a year."—Samuel Johnson.

"Perhaps just pleasantness has not a heroic sound, but the human heart, that knowing its own bitterness, can yet carry itself cheerfully is not without heroism. Indeed, if that human heart does no more than hold its tongue about its own aches and pains it has a certain moral value that the world cannot afford to lose. 'Pleasantness' does not sound so well as self-sacrifice or wisdom or spirituality, but it may include all these words. And certainly, just to start one's husband out to his work cheerfully, to make the hobbled body of a son feel a gentler and sweeter sentiment towards women because of his own mother's sound, sweet gaiety and strength, to help one's servants to put good humor and friendliness into their services these things make for righteousness in the world!"—Margaret Deland.

"I do not know of any way so sure of making others happy as of being so one's self."—Sir Arthur Helps.

TWENTY-SIX KILLED IN WESTERN STORM

Tornado Leaves Trail of Death and Destruction Through Central West-Missouri.

Kansas City, Mo., June 17—Twenty-six persons are known to have been killed and many injured by a storm, which passed over Central West Missouri, last Saturday, demolishing buildings tearing down wires and leaving the smaller towns and country homes completely wrecked.

A sprained ankle may as a rule be cured in from three to four days by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle. For sale by druggists and dealers.

FROM LONDON TO INDIA BY AIR ROUTE.

Ambitious Scheme is Being Worked Out for Next September and is Believed Feasible.

London, June 13—From London to India by air is the daring scheme which it is proposed to carry out this year. An advisory council has been formed in London for the purpose of making the necessary preliminary arrangements. Ernest Esdaile, a prominent Anglo-Indian, is acting as secretary.

It is expected that at least three British aviators will participate in the attempt, which will be made about next September. "The feat," said Mr. Esdaile, "is not as impossible as it appears, and I say with confidence that the flight will be accomplished this year."

"We are already negotiating with several British aviators, and our plans are already well advanced. The route is fairly clear as far as Vienna and after that the aviators will follow the course of the Danube, as far as Nikepon, and go over the Shipka Pass to Adrianople.

"From Constantinople the Anatolia railway will be followed to Bosanti, and the route afterwards lies by way of Parsus, Adana, Aleppo, Bagdad, the Euphrates, and Tigris, to Su-shir, along the coast of the Persian Gulf of Bunda Abbas, and thence along the Arabian Sea to Karachi, which is the first point that can be touched in India.

"The distance, roughly speaking, is about 4,500 miles. Some time before the flight takes place we shall establish posts and petrol stations. I am going over the route myself by motor-car to make the necessary arrangements.

"I have spoken to a number of British aviators on the subject, and I have got quite as many as I require at the moment. We want the whole thing to be all British, the machines as well.

"It is impossible to say how long the flight may take, but a start will not be made until after the monsoon season is over at the end of September. We mean to leave nothing whatever to chance."

"One thing that impresses me about the general run of Canadians I have met," said Mr. James Deuchar, President of James Deuchar, Ltd., a Scotch corporation capitalized at $4,000,000, "is that Canada does not require brains. What it needs is capital. Canadians have impressed me as being an exceptionally 'rainy' people."

LOYALTY.

If put to the pinch an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness.

THIRTEEN MONTHS TO MAKE A YEAR.

A Deputation Asks Premier Borden to Make This Change.

The Royal Society of Canada wants the calendar revised. A delegation waited upon Premier Borden last week and urged that he exercise his authority in Canada, and exert his influence with the British government to have the number of months in the year increased from twelve to thirteen, and that each month shall consist of twenty-eight days. This, it urged, would make them all the same and would also result in each day of the week coming every year on the same day of the month.

Premier Borden promised the learned delegation that their request would receive the serious attention of his government.

The deputation consisted of Sir Sandford Fleming, Sir James Grant, Benjamin Sulte, R. O. Denechot and W. D. Lesueur.

MARRIAGE JUDGMENT IS GIVEN.

Parliament Cannot Eject Lancaster Bill—Quebec Law and Mixed Marriages—An Appeal.

Ottawa, June 17—The Supreme Court this morning gave judgment on the marriage case referred to them by the government and rising out of the Lancaster marriage bill last session. The Supreme Court decided that parliament has not authority to pass the Lancaster bill, which means that jurisdiction is entirely with the provinces.

The Court also declares that the law of Quebec does not render null and void any mixed marriages whether performed before a Catholic priest or Protestant clergyman.

The government will immediately appeal to the privy council from the judgment rendered.

MOTOR BOATS SEIZED.

More than a dozen motor boats have been seized in the vicinity of Boston by Deputy United States Marshal Cameron because the owners have not paid penalties ranging between $1 and $5 each, with costs of about $10, for the failure to have proper fire extinguishers aboard.

Assistant United States Attorney Shea had filed informations against the boats for such violation of a federal law, but the owners have not yet paid. The boats will be sold to satisfy the penalties and costs unless the owners settle at once.

THE HOME

THE HUMAN WASP.

("Lady Gay" in Toronto Saturday Night.)

Do you know the mean-souled person who wants to tell you discreditable things about people you love? Such as one writes me today that she could tell me a rare tale about my friend So-and-So, a fascinating woman of whom I am very fond. Isn't it mean of her? The tale may be true, or it may be only colored by her jealous and petty nature, anyhow, if she is so misguided as to tell it to me, I am ready to swear I believe she made it up. That is the only way to confound such people. It is above all a wise way to meet the abominable wasp who repeats to you herid things others may or may not have said of you. Look her or square in the eyes, as sternly as you can and quietly give them this—"I believe that anyone who is mean enough to repeat a thing like that, to annoy and distress another is mean enough to invent it. I prefer to believe that you have invented it." It is altogether unlikely that you will receive many reports of unkind criticism if you have the self-control to handle them in that fashion. And it may give the mischief makers such a jar that they will hesitate before they try their nasty little things on anyone else. Really the only thing to do with a stinging wasp is to step on it good and heavy.

There are many persons who think it obligatory upon them to keep always the same frame of mind toward one who has displeased or injured them. True, there are certain offenders from whom one must protect oneself, even though they profess penitence. A slanderous and abusive person should be kept a little farther than arms length, so should one who abuses privileges and presumes upon kindness. But there are loads of smouldering feuds, cold looks, kept up for no reason but because these concerned don't possess the grace of forgetting, ignoring or rising superior to some old grievance and quarrel. It is a good thing to drop memories that ache and burn, and be friends again! It needs sang froid and savoir faire to meet a former enemy frankly and friendly with a pleasant word, a not too impressive hand shake, but one is the better for doing it. I sometimes think how if this man or woman lay dead how small would appear the grudge or grievance I hold against them, how small I myself would loom in the presence of the majestic silence of this my enemy! It is wise to think often of death, for nothing sorts our false and true values more authoritatively. There is no pang quite like in bitterness to the feeling that one might have been kinder or more forgiving, or patient, or understanding to one who has gone beyond the reach and the need of our help or friendship. Even the neglected answer to a letter comes back in regret, when no more little common-places uninteresting notes from the over-looked one will ever come pattering through the letter box! Death does this for us, among many other things.

DOING OVER THE OLD FURNITURE.

Some years ago it was no unusual thing to see woodwork and furniture, the finish of which had been scratched or cracked, covered over with coats of cheap varnish or paint to cover defects. Now the economical housewife has it in her power to transform, with her own hands what has grown unsightly into objects of beauty and usefulness.

It became necessary for us to close our home in the suburbs and take up a temporary residence in the city during the winter months. We decided to fit up an apartment with misfits from home, leaving the country house furnished so that we might go out at any time, for the week end and at holiday seasons. Then came the interesting search for things discarded. An adjustable chair was found to be good as to construction and springs, but the finish of the woodwork was cracked and broken off in places, and the upholstery threadbare. I used a good varnish remover, a preparation which can be purchased at any paint-store. It is all ready for us. This softened the old finish, and with a good putty knife I peeled it off to the wood, using a little fine steel wool (which comes in pound packages, wrapped around something like cotton batting) in the crevices and carvings. After the varnish was entirely off, and the wood showed clear, I gave the surface a little sandpapering with No. 60 sandpaper and it was ready for the new finish. This chair I found to be cherry, and on it I used a soft reddish-brown stain. When this was thoroughly dry, I gave the surface a coat of wax, and the result was a rich, soft finish. After getting the satisfactory tone in wood, I selected goods for upholstering, a rich toned brown velvet, with gimp and cord to match. The salesman from whom I purchased the goods gave me a curved upholstering needle. This is almost a necessity in sewing on cord where it must sometimes be used to cover a joint. Care must be taken in tacking on cloth, to hold it firm and tight, else it will not be a smooth finish.

The next find consisted of a number of old picture frames. These I put through the process of removing finish same as chair, and found them to be good and well-made.

An old dining-room table, whose top showed a map of white marks and stains, was made to look like new. This I waxed without staining.

Being in need of a mirror for one of the bedrooms, I resurrected an old one which dated to the war of the rebellion. The glass was loose but fairly good. The frame of walnut with an inner one of gilt, seemed at first impossible, but, after gluing the frame together and making all secure I covered the entire frame with a heavy coat of gilding. It hangs now in a yellow and white bedroom, and gives a cheerful note to the whole room, aside from its usefulness. A other old mirror was fitted in an old mahogany frame and hung in the hall.

An old mahogany writing table was made to look like new. This proved to be a French table of a design used a hundred year ago, and in perfect condition as to construction, but black with dirt and smoke. An enameled bed I re-enameled. A brass-trimmed bed had its brass cleaned by rubbing with banana oil. Another too far gone, was gilded. A bird's-eye maple chiffoniere, whose veneering was broken, was made good by re-moving the veneer, softening glue with warm water and finishing the wood beneath by sandpapering and waxing.

CONTROL YOUR MIND.

A woman compelled to spend many hours alone in her country home, developed a belief in a number of dangerous symptoms in her physical condition, and finally went to bed. The examining physician found no radical ailment. After a few days, the patient tried to get up, but finding her limbs weak and trembling, became immediately discouraged, notwithstanding explanations that the temporary weakness was simply the result of disuse. She is now in the hospital, in an apparently hopeless state of melancholia.

The very first salutary measure is to gain control over the working of the mind. An unhappy, depressed, or even apathetic mental condition can work havoc throughout the body. Unhappiness, anger, destructive thoughts are positive in their ill effects upon the body. A noted German scientist—Jaeger—was enterprising enough to capture and imprison some germs thrown off from the body of an individual in a rage; and he found their character to be virulently poisonous. If these germs have the vitality to attack outside of the body, they must certainly find more unhindered progress within the system of their creator; and conditions prove this to be the case in the nose, headache, weakness, sudden inactivity of the bowels, or the fainting spell that often follows an outburst of passion.

In apathy, the system is in a negative condition, and open to the attack of disease germs. In waking hours, the mental as well as the physical forces should be held in control at the center. The housekeeper who sits up a dust with slow, indifferent movements of the broom, her mind blank and listless, her lips perhaps cracked apart, is much more liable to little nagging indispositions, and sometimes the more serious ones whose germs she may stir up in her cleansing, than the woman who goes about her work energetically, with a busy, happy mind and closed lips. If destructive thoughts create agencies inimical to good health, happy, loving thoughts must create those which are of a healing, building character.

The little ailments and discomforts within oneself should not be taken too seriously. They are sometimes the result of a restless, unoccupied condition of mind. Instead of wandering about in a state of innocuous desuetude, read a book, interest yourself in it. Study a short time every day. When the mind is well under control, and is given some fodder upon which to grind, take a long walk breathing deeply, and enjoying every minute of it, making yourself as care-free as an irresponsible child. Do not be afraid to climb hills, and to fatigue yourself a bit. By the time your return it is most likely that all of your "symptoms" will have disappeared.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

Esther Harris, an eighteen year old girl who was placed in a heap of the lifeless in the triangle fire disaster at New York, but who was taken to a hospital instead of to the morgue when a faint sign of life was detected, and who suffered total paralysis for months afterwards, can walk again.

The girl slid down the elevator shaft, but was knocked down her head by a man who jumped down the shaft and she was hurled to the basement breaking her neck and back. On top of her fell twenty other girls, many of whom were killed. After she had lain in a hospital unconscious for fourteen weeks with her life despaired of, she regained her senses. The surgeons experimented with her by attaching weights to her head and legs to relieve the strain on the spinal cord of the fractured vertebrae, and to allow them a chance to knit together again. The operation was successful, and it was learned today that the young woman had been discharged as cured.

AUTO OWNERS ARRESTED.

Otto C. Bunch, a leading real estate man of Amherst, and A. A. Parker had rather a trying experience in Pictou county last week. They were in Pictou town on Wednesday with their motor, and it is reported that a valuable horse took fright at the machine, falling down and sustaining some injuries. Later the two Amherst men went to New Glasgow, not being aware of the fact that Wednesday was a closed day for motoring. They were arrested in New Glasgow on a warrant issued by a justice in Pictou and taken back to that town, where they were asked to deposit $50 for their appearance at trial this week and their motors were also held. The outcome of the trial is looked forward to with interest by motor men in Amherst.

HOPES TO RAISE FUNDS IN ENGLAND FOR ALL SAINTS' CATHEDRAL AND ORGANIZE PERMANENT COMMITTEE.

The Standard of Empire says:—The Bishop of Nova Scotia, the Right Rev. Clarendon Lamb Worrell, D.D., has arrived in England. Interviewed the other day, he explained that his visit had a double object, one being the foundation of a permanent committee of English Churchmen interested in the affairs of the Church in Canada, particularly in Nova Scotia, which would keep up a constant intercourse between the Church of the Mother Country and that of the Dominion, and the other being the raising of the sum of £9000 which is required to clear off a debt on All Saints' Cathedral at Halifax.

EXPRESS WRECKED ON SOUTH WESTERN

All the Cars of Train From Halifax Jumped the Rails.

A rather serious accident occurred on the H. & S. W. railway the other day. The express that left Halifax for Yarmouth left the rails at Hubley's Station, doing considerable damage to the roadbed. The engine and every car of the train left the track, the cause of the accident being assigned to spreading rails. No person was injured.

A plague known as the Isle of Wight disease has attacked the bees in England, and there are grave fears that a lack of pollination may cause the complete failure of the fruit crop. Unless there are bees to carry the pollen from the anthers to the stigmas there will be blossoms without fruit. In an effort to accomplish the work of the bees the fruit growers are busy with rabbit foot and camel hair brushes collecting pollen from one flower and planting it into another.

INVISIBLE LIGHT.

Only When it Strikes the Retina of the Eye Can it Be Seen.

What is the simplest demonstration of the fact that light is invisible? The blackness of a midnight sky demonstrates this fact most readily. We may see the planets brilliantly illuminated by the sun's rays, but the surrounding space is dark, although we know that light must be passing there. The passage of a beam of light through a darkened room is only visible on the dust in the air, and the cone of light seen when the gun shines through a small hole in a shutter is not visible, but only light reflected from the notes in the beam. This can be easily and simply demonstrated by placing in the beam a glass vessel from which the dust has been carefully removed. The beam then may be seen before and behind the vessel, but is invisible within. A Bunsen burner or a red-hot poker held so as to destroy the notes will also render the beam invisible at that spot.

Light is only visible when it strikes on the retina of the eye, and it can only do so when it reaches it in a direct line or is turned by a reflection or refraction into a direct line. Just as the bullets from a gun do a man no harm unless aimed or turned in their course toward his body, so light is without effect unless it is aimed or turned toward the retina.—Pearson's Weekly.

DUMAS AND HIS BARBER.

Origin of the Practice of Speculating in Theater Tickets.

The practice of speculating in theater tickets, strange as it may appear, was started by the elder Dumas. He patronized a Paris barber named Porcher, and one day this worthy while shaving the novelist asked him why he did not sell the tickets given him by the managers of the theaters where his plays were produced.

"To whom could I sell them?" asked the author of the "Three Musketeers." "Why, to me, if you like," replied Porcher. "And what would you do with them?" asked Dumas. "That's my business," replied the barber, continuing to lather the bronzed face of the famous story teller.

"But I give you tickets whenever you ask for them," said Dumas. "Ah! One or two are not sufficient for my purpose," responded Porcher. "I must have all your tickets, and every day too." "And you will pay for them?" said the dramatist. "Cash," was the simple yet practical reply. Dumas at that moment was very badly in need of money, so he at once concluded the bargain. Porcher, who shortly after this gave up shaving and cutting hair, made similar bargains with other authors and quickly became rich.

The Spread of Species. One of the problems that confront the naturalist is that of accounting for the distribution of identical forms of life through widely separated localities. Investigation frequently shows that this has been accomplished in many ways that appear quite simple when once discovered, although one would hardly have thought of them. Some interesting facts have been gleaned concerning the dispersion of fresh water mollusks, accounting for their appearance in remote and isolated ponds. Waterfowl play an important part in this work. Ducks have been known to carry mussels attached to their feet a hundred miles or more. Bivalve mollusks not infrequently cling to the toes of wading birds and are thus transported for considerable distances. Even aquatic insects have been known to carry small fresh water mollusks attached to their legs.—Harper's Weekly.

A Wonderful Instructor.

Over a door leading to one of the smaller lecture halls in the Sorbonne at Paris a notice was posted recently, which read: "Here the instructor does not pass when feet are shuffled, does not nod when he is applauded and does not single out the one who knows the least for the hardest work. Here the instructor never comes too late or too early, and one may say unparliamentary things without fear of offending. This wonderful instructor never sleeps, eats or drinks and, being absolutely bloodless and brainless and blind, must be carried to the rostrum from which the voice reaches the students." The door leads to a room where French officers receive instruction in the German language by means of a talking machine.

Eye Strain and Its Dangers.

Never allow children to read or do any form of fine work unless there is a bright, steady light, says a medical journal. Working by firelight or in the dusk causes such a strain on young eyes that they never quite recover, and weak or defective vision is the result. Notice whether a child holds books and work very close to the eyes, and if so consult an oculist, so that the child may be fitted with suitable spectacles.
