LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Annual Meeting Was Held Yesterday in the Theatre of the Normal School.

PRESIDENT FORCED TO RESIGN
Interesting Reports of the Work Done During the Year—Lectures Given at Night.

The annual meeting of the Local Council of Women was held yesterday afternoon and evening in the Normal School, and despite the severe weather both meetings were largely attended. Much respect was expressed at the enforced absence of the president, Miss Carr, and in her absence the chair was taken by Mrs. Willoughby Cummings. Among those present were Lady Taylor, president of the National Council; Mrs. Bommer, London, vice-president for Ontario; Miss Wilson, corresponding secretary of the National Council; Lady Thompson, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. S. G. Wood, Mrs. H. B. Strathly, Mrs. Toomer, Mrs. Eastwood, Mrs. Little, Mrs. Edward Leitch, Mrs. Coult and Miss Cayley.

Sympathy for President.
After opening the meeting with prayer, Mrs. Cummings spoke feelingly of the sudden and serious illness of their president, and her enforced resignation. As they had only received word on Saturday last, it had been impossible for a new president to be elected. A resolution was then moved by Mrs. Thompson, and seconded by Mrs. George Kerr, that a cordial expression of sympathy be sent to their president, to get her with the assurance of their earnest wishes for her speedy and complete recovery.

Business Begun.
Business was then proceeded with, and the reports of the officers and affiliated societies received. Miss Cayley, corresponding secretary, presented the sixth annual report of the Council, giving an outline of the work done during the year. Two of their schemes had been successfully carried out during the year, namely, a Bureau of Associated Charities and a Hospital for Neglected Children. During the year two of the affiliated societies had held conventions, the Women's Art Association and the Women's Historical Society.

Outline of Work Done.
At the last annual meeting in January, the question of providing homes or hospitals for the cure of consumptives had been discussed, and later on resolutions to prevent expatriation on the streets and in the cars had been passed. In June the meeting of the entire National Council of Women was held in London, at which Miss Taylor, president of the National Council, was present. In October the annual meeting of the National Council of Women was held in Hamilton, at which the vice-president, Lady Aberdeen, was present. At that meeting one of the most important items of business was how best to keep the consumptive women. In December a deputation waited on the Executive of the National Council, and it was possible to have better facilities placed on the cars, and also to prevent expatriation on the streets. The National Council had also been made to the annual clearing attention to the posters which were allowed to be put on the street fences.

During the year the Council had an open meeting under the patronage of Lord W. Ross and Hon. Alexander Macdonald, in connection with the educational position in the home and state. The National Council this year, being the secretary of the National Council of Women's Medical Association.

Money Reported on Hand.
The treasurer's report showed a receipt of $114 and expenditures of $102. Reports from the affiliated societies were then presented. Committees on the Care of Aged Poor, Emigration, Women's Art Association, King's Daughters and Sons, Female-Minded Women, Aberdeen Association, Industrial Home Societies, Ladies' Literary Society, Ladies' Monitors Benevolent Society, Women's Canadian Historical Society, W.C.T.U., Victorian Order of Nurses, Homeless League of School Children, Ministering Children's League, Victoria Teachers' Association and Women's Art Association.

Of these the Victorian Order of Nurses was one of the most important. It showed that during the year they had had 240 patients, had made 241 visits, had over 200 doctors on their list, and had sent out five nurses to take charge of districts.

What Would Be Done.
After the adoption of the reports Mrs. Cummings gave a general outline of the work the Council had accomplished during the year. The two schemes they had introduced in their efforts to where the conditions of cooking and serving in the schools and a suitable provision for children and after luncheon by a Magistrate and before their entrance into an institution. Mrs. Cummings said cases were kept in jail for months before room in an asylum could be procured.

Patriotic Miss Fitzgibbon.
In a speech full of emotion Miss Fitzgibbon outlined a resolution embodying the well wishes of the Council for the Canadian soldiers of the second contingent for South Africa. The ladies wished to send a speedy resolution favoring the renewal of efforts to have cooking, sewing and other branches of domestic science taught in Public schools was carried. Another expression of sympathy for Mrs. A. D. Benjamin in her recent and bereavement.

Working Committee.
Mrs. George A. Kerr, Mrs. H. S. Strathly, Mrs. Leitch, Miss Hart, Miss Cayley and Mrs. Stevens were appointed to look into the matter of temporary shelter for the needy, other than the shelter before they are admitted to the asylum for the night. Lady Aberdeen was thanked for a portrait of herself that she has given the Council. Miss Defries was appointed a life member of the Council and Mrs. George Dixon honorary member of the National Council.

Vice-Presidents Named.
A ballot was taken for vice-presidents and the election resulted in Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. George Kerr, Mrs. Torrington, Lady Thompson and Dr. A. Stowe Gillen being chosen.

The Council assembled again at 8 p.m. and the evening session resulted in Mrs. Cummings showing the work they had been doing for the Donkooker women, for whom a good sum of money had been pressed. A good sum of money had been pressed and had also been given.

Different Countries Described.
After the conclusion of business, an interesting paper was read by Miss Wilson on the different National Councils. In a quite humorous manner, she described the progress of the struggle of the world, particularly mentioning those in the United States, France, Germany, Scandinavia, Holland and Great Britain.

Transvaal 24 Years Ago.
Another very pleasing address, or rather talk, was given by Mrs. Bommer on the Transvaal 24 years ago. It was her fortune to have visited that country twenty-four years ago, and the roughness of the region and the roughness of the people were still vividly remembered. Some of her descriptions of the country were very vivid, particularly those of the English who were now being carried on. She thought it people knew more about the difficulties the English have to contend with there would be less criticism. The inconveniences she had to put up with in the way of board and lodging, a 5 o'clock tea, and a Dutch courtesy were very humorously pictured. Two very pleasing solos were rendered by Miss MacLennan.

AFRICA, THE BOERS, THE WAR
Rev. William Patterson Gives a Lecture to a Large Audience in Cooke's Church.

GLADSTONE'S POLICY IS BLAMED.
His Action Gave Boers Confidence to Think They Could Defeat a Britain in Battle.

Cooke's Church was packed to the doors last night, when Rev. William Patterson delivered his lecture on "Africa, the Boers, and the War." It was an interesting subject, clearly and graphically presented, and the vast crowd present were greatly enthused by the speaker's remarks.

Introductory Remarks.
In the beginning Mr. Patterson explained to a few of the many physical peculiarities of Africa, and sketched briefly the characteristic traits of some of its inhabitants. The history of the Boers, from the time they first landed in Africa up to the present day, and Great Britain's relations to them were next taken up.

Gladstone's Policy Blamed.
As to the causes which led up to the war which is now going on, the speaker thought that the policy of Mr. Gladstone in withdrawing the troops from the Transvaal after their defeat at Majuba Hill was largely to blame. His action gave the Boers encouragement, and they gained such evidence in themselves that they really thought they could defeat Great Britain in a war.

England Not Grasping.
Speaking of the charge made that England is forever forgetting grabbing land whenever she gets a chance, Mr. Patterson said that England was not a grasping nation, and she never annexed territory except where it was absolutely necessary or where it was forced upon her. The speaker thought that the Boers were not a grasping nation, and she never annexed territory except where it was absolutely necessary or where it was forced upon her.

SICK AND WOUNDED IN WAR

How They Are Cared for on the Field of Battle and Later in the Hospital.

WONDERFUL CHANGES NOW MADE.

A Military Correspondent Describes in Detail the Work of the Royal Army Medical Corps.

When the English army was at Varan in 1854 it suffered fearfully from cholera.

Suddenly the order came to embark for the Crimea, and every man capable of bearing arms was to go, thus including the hospital orderlies, who were then effective soldiers, belonging to regiments.

The principal medical officer at once went to Sir George Brown, and said: "What an I do for attendants on my sick if the orderlies were all embarked?"

"The sick" was the reply, and every orderly was taken away from the hospitals to accompany the army, while the cholera patients were left to rot after each other.

What a change. What a change between 1854 and 1900, and how that short anecdote throws a light on the vast improvement that has taken place in less than 50 years in the sentiments with regard to our army's sick and wounded, and the methods of tending and caring for them!

In our present war there is no military department that has shown itself to be so perfectly organized, so completely prepared to undertake all its responsibilities, as that which is now engaged in the surgical and medical work of the Royal Army Medical Corps.

Its present war there is no military department that has shown itself to be so perfectly organized, so completely prepared to undertake all its responsibilities, as that which is now engaged in the surgical and medical work of the Royal Army Medical Corps.

It will naturally be understood in interest to those who are eagerly watching the excellent efforts of our soldiers to know something of the system by which they receive the best medical attendance when they are sick or wounded, and the country recovers the service of many which would be otherwise lost.

1000 in the Corps. The number of officers in the Royal Army Medical Corps is something under 1000, for the few for the work that they have to perform, but this is a matter that has often been represented, and is a question for the consideration of those who hold the nation's purse strings.

The total strength, nearly half are now in South Africa, the remainder being stationed in India, in colonial garrisons, and in administration and teaching at home.

The officers who are at the seat of war represent very completely the methods of medical provision for an army in the field. In the front rank and nearest to the enemy are the individual surgeons, who are attached to units (each regiment, battalion, or brigade) and who follow them. These men accompany their units wherever they go, and attend to them in camp and in the field.

"First Aid" Administered. In action, the medical officer, followed by his orderly, is always at hand, even under the hottest fire, in order to administer "first aid" to any soldier who is wounded. The regimental stretcher-bearers then carry the wounded to the dressing stations or field hospitals.

Obviously in a great battle more assistance will be needed, and here the stretcher-bearers take the victims of war from the field and attend to them afterwards. This is given by the "healer" companies, which are one for every brigade. Each healer company consists of four stretcher-bearers, non-commissioned officers, and forty-five men of the R.A.M.C., and thirty-eight men of the Army Service Corps. These collect the wounded in a spot sheltered from fire, and in a building, and a supply of water and every requisite for immediately resuscitating operations, or for restoring exhausted strength.

At the Dressing Station. At the dressing station the wounded are given the first careful examination and treatment of wounded men, and thence he is passed on to one of the "field hospitals." These are movable organizations, containing 100 or more beds, which, however, are divided into sections of 25 beds, and it follows its brigade on the march, so it is prepared for movement as well as for remaining for a considerable time in one spot.

Patients are removed from the field hospital as soon as possible, and are then transferred to one of the "general" hospitals at the line of operations. These general hospitals are established in the least dangerous places, and are capable of holding 1000 patients. They are staffed by a colonel and 500 officers, having a staff of civilian surgeons, a number of nurses, and about 150 non-commissioned officers. In civilian hospitals, a number of them are four general hospitals, now in South Africa, near Cape Town, and in the West Indies, near St. John's, and in the West Indies, near St. John's.

It will be clear to everyone that the requirements of the R.A.M.C. are not sufficiently numerous to equip all the surgeons, so a large number of civilian surgeons have been temporarily engaged, and these gentlemen will receive the same pay and allowances as the regular officers. It is marvellous with what eagerness the best men in the medical profession have responded to the offer of employment. In 4000 services only a few hundreds have been accepted by him. And it is no common thing for the hospitals to be completely filled. These gallant volunteers are anxious to practice their noble profession in the most

PREMIER ROSS WAS AT THORNDALE

When He Refused to Speak Before A. W. Wright—Conservative Candidate of Winning.

London, Ont., Jan. 26.—(Special).—The Eastern Middlesex campaign is now at fever heat, both parties are holding about half a dozen meetings nightly.

Mr. Whitney spoke at Belmont to-night. He was accompanied by T. W. Crothers of St. Thomas.

Premier Ross was at Thorndale in support of Dr. McWilliams.

A peculiarity of the campaign is that, while the Conservative speakers attend the Liberal meetings, the Liberals apparently have no stomach for discussion and refuse to face their opponents at these meetings.

George R. Campbell of West Middlesex met both Mr. Dryden and Mr. Davis, and gave the two Ministers a couple of uncomfortable hours.

Mr. Marter held a number of highly successful meetings, and so has Col. Matheson. Mr. Whitney, Dr. Montague and Mr. Carscallen of Hamilton speak here to-morrow afternoon in the Opera House, while the Premier will speak in the City Hall, Conservative feel confident of winning, in spite of the operations of the threshing machine, which is here in full force.

WHEAT FUTURES STRONGER

Small Speculative Advance at Liverpool and Paris.

Chicago Took the Cue—Various Reports on Wheat Crop Prospects—Local Grain, Produce and Live Stock Market Quotations—Corn and Oats—Notes and Gossip.

World Office, Friday Evening, Jan. 26.

Wheat futures showed a buoyant tendency to-day, advancing about 1/4 per cent in Liverpool and making following in Paris.

The strong cable advices from Liverpool and Paris resulted in an advance of 1/4 per cent for London, and 1/2 per cent for Liverpool.

Liverpool wheat receipts the past three days 250,000 bushels, American, 100,000; same time, 288,000 bushels.

Danish wheat shipments the past week made 44,000 quarters.

Argentine wheat shipments to United Kingdom 80,000 quarters, to France 10,000 quarters, to Continent, 40,000 quarters.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth to-day 922 cars, and 227 cars respectively.

London wheat market is quiet, but requirements for the first seven months of this year will be 22,000,000 bushels, of which 12,000,000 bushels will have to be contributed by America.

At the rate of 4,000,000 bushels a week to be supplied by America. Apparently the requirements for the year will be 22,000,000 bushels.

Beberhohn does not believe in a large crop, but the fact that a large part of France's surplus will go to South Africa.

Will Wheat Advance? This is one of the leading questions of the hour in the grain trade, and one in which quite a number of business men are interested, especially as reports from Liverpool and Paris at the beginning of the week were of a decidedly optimistic nature.

It is said, to the reports which claim a considerable damage to the wheat crop in the South Russian and French crops, and the close of last week and beginning of this week's advices that there was considerable local and foreign buying, which is not to be taken as a sign of a large crop, as expected in the visible supply in Canada and the United States. The receipts in the Northwest continue comparatively small.

Definiteness has been noted in the market for a time, but a good deal of wheat at the commencement of the present week, believing that the turning point had come, and a rapid growth of a decidedly optimistic nature. The lack of snow covering so far the only significance of the cold weather in the south of Canada, has been the great importance was attached to these reports, and the market has been very quiet for a few days ago a period of dry cold weather was desired, a fair winter weather would wet weather, which caused a too rapid growth of a decidedly optimistic nature.

ket's action confirms the fact that large quantities of wheat have been taken out of the market the past three days.

Coro—This market was inclined to hold back, and had it not been for the influence of wheat, would have sold lower.

The chief influence was the increased country offerings, and the want of a short interest in wheat. Weather conditions are favorable for a country movement, and indications point to an increase in receipts.

Coro—This market has not shown much change. Trade light and long interest good. Provisional demand continues good.
