RENEWAL OF WEST INDIES SERVICE SOUGHT

Halifax Trade Board Meeting Demands Restoration of Fortnightly Sailings

HALIFAX, Sept. 28.—That immediate steps should be taken by the Department of Trade and Commerce to re-establish fortnightly steamship service between Halifax, Saint John and the British West Indies and British Guiana was the gist of a resolution passed by the council of the local Board of Trade today.

It was pointed out that unless the Dominion Government takes some early action regarding this service there will be only one sailing a month to the West Indies, while some of the islands will be entirely cut off from Canada.

The Royal Mail Steam Packet Line, which has been operating two ships since the subsidy contract, under which they did business for a number of years, expired early in the season, has notified the Board of Trade that the sailing of the Chairer of their fleet from Halifax Oct. 8, would be the last sailing.

PROTESTS RECEIVED

The Board of Trade is in receipt of many protests from the people of the West Indies, pointing out the serious effect the present inadequate steamship service is having on Canadian West India trade relations, and the local body will request the federal authorities to extend the agreement with the Royal Mail Steam Packet Line so that the ships may be kept on the route until such time as it will be possible to put into effect the terms of the recent Canada-West India Treaty.

Sings As Vienna Regains Old Glory

Vienna, once the Paris of mid-Europe and recently the scene of bitter hard times, is regaining its spirit, its music and its dancing. And of the beautiful ladies who are helping in the renaissance, Lotte Sayer is one of the most lovely. She is a singer of unusual quality. In dress and manner, as in voice, she appeals particularly to those who admire deep, rich tones and flashing contrasts.

CONCERT FOR HOSPITAL HAS GREAT SUCCESS

William Heughan Entuses Large Audience Assembled in Imperial Theatre

At last William Heughan, probably the finest exponent of Scottish folk music, and for that matter the historic melodies of all British peoples, has been heard by a representative Saint John music loving audience. His former appearance in this city was by no means a criterion of the manner in which so discriminating a place greets so talented an artist, but last evening's concert in Imperial Theatre—a grand audience it was that hailed the visiting artists—made up for former shortcomings and did the golden-throated Scot real proud.

Miss Sayer as well was accorded a hearty reception. The entertainment was in aid of the fund being raised for a new maternity wing to the General Public Hospital, and the response to the appeal through the medium of the excellent concert was most generous.

Of ingratiating stage presence, lavishly with his vocal numbers, and possessor of a baritone that reverberated through the splendidly acoustical auditorium in thrilling tones, Mr. Heughan interpreted the storied songs of Scotch and provincial England with fine vocal artistry and an intelligent appreciation of the characters of the songs.

His old men were old men, his lovers were lovers, his soldiers full patriotic fighting men. At the piano Miss Sayer supplied harmonic setting for each number.

AUDIENCE ENTHUSED

The audience applauded and applauded again. Some of the numbers were received with what was almost an ovation. In this demonstration Miss Sayer shared. So varied were Mr. Heughan's selections—selected from a repertoire of hundreds—that it constituted a remarkably fine assembly of vocal numbers. His grand opera and martial ballads, his patriotic fighting men, the piano Miss Sayer supplied harmonic setting for each number.

MAYOR SPEAKS

His Worship Mayor Dr. W. W. White, introducing Miss Sayer and Mr. Heughan, paid a high tribute to the energies and constructive citizenship of the Women's Hospital Aid. He told of their work in having the numbers Home erected, their lively interest in the welfare of patients of the General Hospital, their gifts of money, and how they had succeeded in having their own department erected.

Dr. White in professional references sketched the necessity for such an addition to the hospital and spoke in an altruistic vein of motherhood, its risks and struggles, and how the proposed new wing at the hospital would improve conditions greatly for the poorer classes of the city.

At the meeting of the Saint John W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon some dissatisfaction was expressed that the Prohibition Act was not better enforced in New Brunswick and the members were urged to make greater efforts to save the young people from the drink evil.

Mrs. Robert Nichol led the opening devotions, for which the subject was "Prayer." The hymns and scripture portions all dealt with that subject.

THE WEST INDIES PROTEST.

The people of the British West Indies are showing dissatisfaction with the steamship service between the islands and Canada.

This is not the only matter of concern. The merchants of the islands complain that while they have curtailed their buying in the United States in Canada's favor the former country has increased its purchase of their goods very substantially while Canada has not done so.

One of yesterday's despatches shows how seriously this matter of steamship communication is regarded by the people of the Leeward and Windward Islands.

THE GLOOMY DEAN.

That venerable cleric, Dean Inge, the dean of St. Paul's, universally known as the Gloomy Dean has written in explanation and defence of his gloom.

Coming down to the particular, the Gloomy Dean says that the Reds are seeking to undermine orderly government. Since the beginning of time good has always been opposed by evil, order by disorder.

DINNER STORIES

SOME of those American soldiers who stopped off in England for a time were embittered in spirits that they refused to have them dampened even by the well-known and much advertised foggy weather.

"Now, then," he chided gruffly, "what is all this about?" "Please, sir," spoke up a small boy, "that's only my brother. He's crying because mama's eyesight ain't very good and she's deaf, too."

IRELAND HAPPY AND PROSPERING UNDER NEW REGIME

IRELAND is making good. She has laid the foundation for a sound industrial and agricultural development and is going about it with high spirit and with splendid hope.

The writer is far removed from full appreciation of the Scout spirit. Nevertheless it is pleasing to note yet another token of approval of a movement essentially British in origin and ethos.

POEMS I LOVE

"Love's Philosophy" by P. B. Shelley.

If this poem has not been set to music—and it may be ignorance on my part not to know—it certainly should be. A composer could hardly resist it. Shelley has often been called "the poet's poet," but I think his appeal is more universal than the critics imagine. Surely lines like these reach everyone.

The fountains mingle with the river And the rivers with the ocean, The winds of heaven mix forever With a sweet emotion;

See the mountains kiss high heaven And the sunlights kiss the earth, And the moonbeams kiss the sea— What are all these kissings worth, If thou kiss not me?

Just Fun VARIETY is the vice of life. IT IS EIGHTY-FIVE years since the first time-table was produced. All the trains mentioned in that volume are by now sitting down.

FOOTPRINTS on the sands of time are not made by sitting down. TWO years ago everybody was talking about MaJong and now they are all talking about Mr Ferguson.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE—IF A lion met a tiger. As they drank beside a pool, Said the tiger to the lion, "You're a roaring like a fool."

"That's not foolish," said the lion With a twinkle in his eyes, "They call me the king of beasts because I advertise."

A rabbit heard them talking, And ran like a streak, He thought he'd try the lion's plan, But his roar was a squeak.

A fox came to investigate, Had hunkered in the woods; So when you advertise my friend, Be sure you've got the goods.

IF A MAN is down in his cellar the chances are he is out. No Half-Hearted Effort (Peterson Examiner) Quebec is tackling the problem of securing safer driving conditions in no half-hearted manner, as is witnessed by the statement issued by Judge Choquette, of Montreal, that drunken drivers will be given a year's jail sentence. Already the licenses of several hundred motorists convicted of recklessness have been cancelled and the Quebec authorities are evidently determined that the only way to effectually eliminate careless driving is to chase the offenders away from the wheel.

HEROISM OF WOMEN

Boys Found Guilty

It may be the women in your own home who have to smile and make those around them comfortable and happy, while they themselves are racked with pain and misery caused by some woman's ailment about which they keep silent. Few men realize how common such heroism is. The best known remedy for this condition is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs. For over 50 years it has been making sick and ailing women well and strong.

HEROISM OF WOMEN

Boys Found Guilty

Two juveniles appeared before Magistrate Adams in the East Saint John court yesterday afternoon, and were found guilty of breaking and entering the store of G. E. Howard, East Saint John, Saturday night and stealing goods to the value of $28. Weddings

Bowman-Edwards. The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Edwards, 78 Queen street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 8 o'clock last evening when their daughter, Miss Helen Agnes Edwards, became the bride of Albert Joseph Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Bowman, of Edmonton, Alberta. Rev. H. A. Coady performed the marriage ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends. The bride party entered the drawing room to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin.

Hoyt-Craig. The following from Newburyport, Mass., is of interest to friends in Saint John and vicinity. A very pretty wedding took place at 7 Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ayers, 9 Collins street, when Miss Ayers' sister, Miss Annie E. Craig, daughter of Walter Craig, Sussex, N. B., became the bride of Russell Brown Hoyt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoyt, of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur C. Peabody, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The double ring service was used. The ceremony was performed under an arch of flowers and ferns.

Burgess-Carter. The marriage took place in Vancouver, B. C., on Aug. 31 of Miss Mary Carter, daughter of Frank B. Carter, of Barryville, N. B., and John Burgess, of Reading, England. Only relatives and immediate friends were present. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Walter Hume, and Albert Burgess, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. During the ceremony "Love's Coronation" was sung by Master Ralph Lear. Mr. and Mrs. Burgess left for a trip to Vancouver Island and will reside at Qualicum Beach, B. C.

Bennett-Teed. DORCHESTER, N. B., Sept. 28.—Holy Trinity church, at 8.30 o'clock this afternoon was the scene of a very pleasant event, when Miss Dorothy Isabel Teed, daughter of the late M. G. Teed, K. C., and Mrs. Teed, Saint John, became the bride of George Arthur Bennett, son of Mr. Joel Bates, Tillsonburg, Ontario. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Edgar Trueman and the choir of the church was in attendance. Given away by her brother, J. F. H. Teed, Saint John, the bride was charmingly attired in a French model dress of white satin with finely pleated georgette inset, outlined in pearl beading, a long court train of white draped from the bride's shoulders and she wore a veil of Brussels net with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and sweetpeas. She also wore a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. Four flower girls, Miss Peggy and Dorothy Palmer, Ottawa, and Hazel and Beth Teed, Saint John, all nieces of the bride, were in attendance. She was also attended by Miss Doris Shabbles, Quebec, maid of honor, and by her sister, Miss Constance Teed, bridesmaid. Acting as best man was Gerald Teed, brother of the bride. The ushers were

Dorothy Dix

"Everything That Makes Man Independent of Woman Reduces Her Chances of Marriage," Warns Dorothy Dix, While Deplored the Teaching of Sewing to Boys in Industrial Schools.

WHATEVER else women are, their worst enemy cannot accuse them of being long-sighted. They never look any further ahead than their noses, and then, when they are hoisted with their own petards, they are surprised.

A sad but pertinent example of this is afforded by the fact that women have been the main instruments in establishing industrial schools in which boys are taught to sew, and only a few days ago an exhibition was held in which the star feature was a lot of needlework done by youths.

There were piles and piles of dainty little garments, which were cut and basted and sewed by masculine fingers, and women not only beheld with equanimity this madam's spectacle of their waning sovereignty, but had actually investigated the crime!

OF COURSE, any one who has ever listened to a man trying to sew on a button, and witnessed his sufferings as he attempted to draw one end of a needle through a bit of cloth with his teeth, while he pressed the other end of the needle against the wall, has realized his need of expert teaching on the subject, but his very helplessness is woman's opportunity.

It is man's inability to cope with servants and landladies and holes in his socks that finally drives him into matrimony. With every man his own cook and seamstress, the marriage registrar could shut up shop and go out of business.

IT IS the young man out West, or in some frontier place, who has to eat his own stinkers and doughnuts and pin his clothes together with a horse-shoe nail, who is so enamored of femininity that he is willing to marry anything in petticoats that comes down the pike. The gilded youth whose club chef is an artist and whose valet knows his business has no need to marry for a home, and he is likely to remain single until late in life.

Everything that makes man independent of woman reduces woman's chances of marriage, and how these women who are teaching boys to sew will answer to the husbands' girls of the next generation is a question we must leave to their consciences to settle.

TO OFFSET the boy who does tanning, and who spends his evening studying out in the "Ladies Own" how to "drop two, put one and skip three," we have the strenuous young woman who is being taught how to do carpentry, and who is warranted to be able to drive a tack in the wall without catching her thumb and spoiling a square yard of wallpaper.

Theoretically, this cross-cross system of education may have much to recommend it.

No one can deny that men would be better employed spending their time knitting little Johnny socks or working a set of Battenburg dollars for a birthday present for their wives than in sitting about smoking and swapping race stories.

It would also be money in a man's pocket if his wife, when she is smitten with a mania for making an empire chair out of a cheesebox, could do the work herself instead of calling in a $10 a day carpenter to do it, but there is another and a practical side to the question that bodes no good for domestic happiness.

EVERY one knows that the most aggravating thing on earth is the perpetual critic on the "household." The moment when one sits down to their most fervent prayers for grace to endure her afflictions is when her husband begins to relate how he made coffee and broiled bacon when he was camping in the woods, and to institute a comparison between that nectar and ambrosia and the stuff he gets at home.

Now, the man who is a graduate of the cooking class and sewing school is not going to sew and cook at home. He will serve say, "Now, my dear, just sit down and read a novel while I get dinner, and make you a louse of a frock with so many tucks in it that it will make Mrs. Smith's look like a pawed-over, remnant on the bargain counter."

NO, HE will merely stand on the side line and call attention to everything that goes wrong and tell you how much better he could do it if he wanted to.

The woman who is an amateur carpenter will be just as obstinacious. She has cut down the whole vine-and-oak theory with her little hatchet.

IT WILL be even absurd to ask a young person who is handy with a chisel and plane and saw to lean upon you, and what is far worse, it shatters the last illusion of masculine superiority. A woman might know as much about looks as a man, but as long as he could drive a nail straight, and she couldn't, she was bound to look up to him.

When she, too, can set up a stove, and get the top off a box without packing it into toothpicks, she is as good a man as he is. She has climbed up the knowledge tree and eaten the last apple.

THERE is something wrong, anyway, with the modern fad of encouraging women in doing things they were never intended to do. When we hear of one running a buzz saw and breaking rocks on the street, we make a great ado over it, as if it were some notable achievement, but the wonder of it is the wonder of the dancing dog—not that she does it so well, but that she does it at all.

Men have been doing these things for ages without attracting the slightest attention, and it is a humiliating fact that it takes a woman of genius, when she breaks over her ropes that shut in her sex, to compete with a scruffy office boy in doing masculine work.

But in a world that is long on marriageables, and short on matrimony, there is some reason in providing girls with accomplishments that will render a husband about the house less of a necessity. No such argument can be offered for the other side of the question, and that woman should deliberately seek to render man independent of her ministrations is a piece of short-sighted policy that is simply flying in the face of Providence.

WHEN the young man of the future takes out himself a sewing basket and a darning board instead of a wife, women will have only themselves to blame for it.

VIVID PENCIL BLUE MAKES THIS DANCE FROCK OF TAFFETA

Soft taffeta in pencil blue is used for the smart little gown above. Such a frock is best adapted to the slender figure, which can carry the decorative puff to best advantage. The dress has an inset belt at the side above the puff only, the rest of the dress being perfectly straight. The unusual neckline adds to its smartness.

This would be effective also in black net, or in some bright color such as orange or red.

GOVERNOR VIC DONAHEY, of Ohio, has a hobby which has stood to good advantage on more than one occasion.

The Ohio executive can justify his claim to being an excellent cook. Governor Donahey can bake pies, cakes, cookies, and all other delicacies usually considered a woman's handiwork.

During the summer months when the governor and his family spend most of their time at their summer home, the governor holds full sway in the kitchen. So far, he has managed to appease the appetites of his family, consisting of his wife and 11 children.

It has become a party custom and almost a tradition, for Governor Donahey to "throw" a party for statehouse newspaper correspondents and their families.

Turtle soup has been the pièce de résistance at these dinners given by the governor. No one but the governor himself is allowed in the kitchen on these occasions.

He not only prepares the entire meal for the 50 odd visitors, but usually bakes the pies for dessert, and usually has some culinary surprise which he serves up for "immediate release" to the newspapermen.

Assisting in the Fair

There are few people who realize how many people are participating in the Orphan's Fair or that many and various are the methods of their co-operation.

First, a band of workers have been planning and working for months preparing for this effort and are now in many cases working night and day to make it go. Many of them at the rink until 11 and 12 o'clock, others even later every night. Manufacturers, merchants, farmers, housewives, clerks and mechanics have donated goods of their own production, even ladies over 80 years of age have gladly come forward with their gifts. Many others are buying or selling tickets each in their own way trying to make it a success. Probably five thousand people have visited the fair since its opening and contributed in that way. The class of goods donated has been equally varied in its character. A goat, 6 hens and two roosters, 2 Belgian hares, 1 or 2 dogs, etc., groceries, dry goods, fruit, vegetables, eggs, meats, dry goods, 8 stoves or ranges, 100 apples, brooks, lumber, quilts, aprons, fancy work, in fact all kinds of goods too numerous to mention, all of which are being nightly turned out to cash to feed and clothe the orphans.

Now there are many thousands equally able to help who so far have failed to assist in any way, it is asking too much of such to get into this movement at once in some way and show that the effort made by others meets your approval as it certainly does merit your co-operation. The need is pressing and the success or failure depends on the amount of voluntary support given from now on. Do not let it be said of you that you refused or even neglected to work for the orphans in the fair of 1926.

Thanks are extended to those who have and are assisting even in the slightest way. Wm. M. Campbell, chairman Orphanage Fair Committee, P. O. Box 12, Saint John, N. B.

SIGNS of approaching winter in Manhattan: Announcement in the newspapers of the Sunday night "concerts." Which are somewhat carelessly disguised evasions of the metropolitan "blue laws." Theatrical performances on the Sabbath are not tolerated, though movies are not merely along. Headliners of vaudeville and the stage are secured and appear in "concerts," which are allowed. Showing that anything can be accomplished, including amusements on the Sabbath. The oyster peddlers on the east side. Oysters at one cent each. All you can eat and plenty of diners. The increasing number of sweet potato vendors. Theatrical rehearsals in almost any vacant hall, and theater building. Actors looking as though they had landed a job. And wafting makers in the restaurant windows look haggard. Commuters moving in from Connecticut and way states. Backward garden cafes begin to pack up and move indoors. Particularly in Greenwich Village. No city in America likes to eat outdoors, more than Manhattan. Theatrical signs of winter in the city.

A Thought

If ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receive, what thank have ye? For sinners also lend to sinners, to receive as much again.—Luke 6:34.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

THE death of Rudolph Valentino brings a strange situation to light. Hereafter when a film actor dies demand for his pictures immediately ceased. Harold Lockwood and Wallace Reid were at the peak of their careers when they were taken, yet their pictures played to meager houses once they had passed away. Barbara La Marr's last picture, "The Girl from Montmartre," did small business after Barbara lost her tremendous battle to regain her health.

Norma Talmadge's next picture will be "Camille," a screen version of the famous stage play.

Fifteen miles at least is the actual distance covered by Colleen Moore in her role of a little dancer in "Twinkles." Four weeks, approximately, have been largely devoted to the dance sequences, and although Miss Moore has had no pedometer by which to gauge the miles she estimates it at that. As a ballet dancer in this Thomas Burke story which John McCormick is producing for First National Pictures, the star makes her debut at a theatre in the famous Limehouse district of London.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaels

HERE have been men who had too much of gold, too much of all that's splendid, costly things, so that their wealth and woodiness unfolded, made fetters binding down their spirit's wings. There have been men who had such pride of place with keen ambition ever gazing on, they had no eyes to see the oak tree's grace, no time to watch the budding rose of dawn. Be glad, then, if in humble ways you go in tune with all the loveliness of Earth. If in your fiftieth hour you still can know the lily's magic and the robin's mirth. Be glad of freedom from the thousand ties that can enchain a soul in veiling stress, be glad your thoughts have yet the power to rise as birds that soar to greet the wind's caress.

SAINT GEORGE'S OBSERVES 100TH ANNIVERSARY

CHURCH IN WEST END ACTUALLY 105 YEARS OLD

Celebration is in Honor of Consecration Ceremony of 1826

ONLY 7 RECTORS IN LONG SPAN OF YEARS

Congregation to Gather Tomorrow Night in Observance of Anniversary

TOMORROW evening will begin the celebration of the centenary of the oldest church in Saint John—St. George's Anglican church in West Saint John. Proud of the distinction that they worship in the most ancient of edifices erected to the glory of God in this city, the people of the congregation, together with their energetic young rector, Rev. John Unsworth, and his venerable predecessor, Rev. W. H. Sampson, who had been rector for the long span of 35 years in this one church, have been looking forward with keen anticipation to the observance of this notable event in the life of their church.

BUILT 105 YEARS AGO St. George's is really 105 years old but the special services now arranged are to mark rather the centenary of the consecration of the edifice. The commemoration is taking place not on the actual day of this ceremony, however. Had it been, July 28 would have seen pastor and people gathered together for worship with special thoughts in mind for the event of 100 years ago that day, of the struggles and heroism of the pioneer times, of the difficulties that were overcome, of the successes attained, and with hearts filled with gratitude for the many comforts and blessings enjoyed as the years sped on their way.

The July date was not suitable, however.

REV. W. H. SAMPSON Rector of St. George's for 35 years, from 1890 to 1925

Picture shows original St. George's church, built in 1821 and consecrated in July, 1826. Centenary now being celebrated.

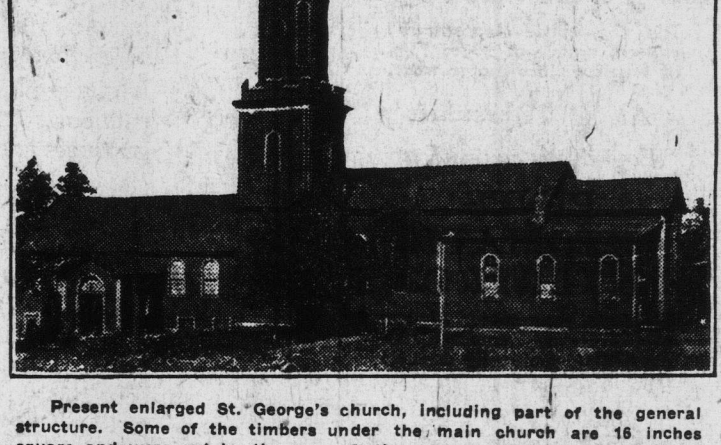

REV. JOHN UNSWORTH, Present rector of St. George's since last year

ever and the observance of the centenary was set for late September and the early days of October. The time is now at hand and tomorrow will mark the beginning of the special period, which will extend to Sunday evening.

AS CHAPEL OF EASE St. George's was built as a chapel of ease to the Trinity church of that day, now replaced by the fine structure covering the block between Charlotte and Germain streets. There the little church on the high hill overlooking much of the Carleton of olden days and the West Saint John of the present was built under the direction of Rev. Robert Willis, who was then rector of Trinity. The church was opened for worship on Nov. 6, 1821 and Rev. Mr. Willis preached the first sermons there.

FROM OLD RECORDS The following extract from the church minutes of the day will be read with interest after the lapse of 100 years.

"Sunday, 29th July, 1826—This day the Right Reverend Honorable John, Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia, exercising by His Majesty's letters patent, Episcopal jurisdiction over this province, was pleased in person to visit this church, and solemnly to consecrate and dedicate the same by the name of Saint George's church, to the service and the worship of Almighty God, or ever."

Present enlarged St. George's church, including part of the general structure. Some of the timbers under the main church are 16 inches square and were cut by the men of the church 100 years ago, from trees that grew near to where the West side Kirk now stands.

Jerusalem, became an archdeacon and died in Syria three years ago. Next to assume spiritual guidance of the church was Rev. LeBaron Fowler, who was rector from 1884 to 1886. Under his able leadership, said a member of the church to a Times-Star reporter, speaking of the centenary celebration, the church has flourished and he has left us a united and loyal band of workers. Perhaps the most notable achievement during his regime was the erection of the new St. George's Hall, costing $30,000, which has now been in use for five years.

ONLY SEVEN RECTORS It is a remarkable fact that in 100 years this church has had but seven rectors, but that is accounted for by the fact that one of them was in charge for 41 years and another 38. Rev. Mr. Coster began his duties there in 1826, and through two generations and now he was the beloved leader of his flock. During his time he brought waterworks into Carleton, engineered and financed the utility and put everything on a proper basis. That was fine community work apart from his duties to the church. He was succeeded by Rev. William W. Walker, who was rector from 1866 to 1871. Rev. Mr. Walker was a brother of the late Dr. Thomas Walker for so many years an outstanding citizen of Saint John.

PRESENT RECTOR The present rector, Rev. John Unsworth, who has been one year in charge, has continued there the good work he began while curate of St. John's Stone Church. He is a young man of marked qualities, who has quickly won his way into the affections of his people. He is particularly interested in the work among the young and is wielding a strong influence for good among them. Rev. Mr. Unsworth and his wife hold a high place in the esteem of the congregation. The rector was overseas in the Great War in a Canadian regiment. Speaking of the centenary, Rev. Mr. Unsworth said: "We are proud of this old church and trust it may become increasingly useful in the community it is trying to serve."

CENTENARY PROGRAM The centenary program will open tomorrow evening with a congregational social in the large hall. There will be services of commemoration and thanksgiving on Sunday, October 3, with special music by the choir. The services will be as follows: 11 a.m.—Morning prayer and Holy Communion, with sermon by the rector. 2:45 p.m.—Sunday school rally. Address by A. M. Gregg, general secretary of the Y. M. C. FISHERMEN FACE DEATH AS BOAT BURNS AT SEA

Thrilling Story of Escape in Channel Told by Vessel's Captain

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Trapped on a burning ship in mid-channel, and fighting heroically all night to subdue the flames, two sailor brothers were at length driven out on to the bowsprit...

At 11 o'clock last night, he said, "we were trawling in mid-channel, east by north of Beechy Head in some 16 fathoms of water. Our engine was running, as we had our trawl out. We were engaged clearing away our all-day's catch, which was still lying on deck, when suddenly we saw flames and smoke shoot up from the engine-room."

FLAMES SPREAD The fire spread rapidly until the whole of the ship was ablaze. We used a patent extinguisher, but it was no good. We threw water on the burning mass but still the fire beat us. Soon the whole of the ship was ablaze, and the large mainmast—which we had set—also caught fire. We were right in the track of the shipping and the fire—which must have resembled a huge beacon—lit up the sea for a considerable distance. We managed to lower our only boat but in the hurry and confusion, we forgot to secure it. My brother Arthur, with a rope which I quickly fastened under his shoulders, plunged under the water fully dressed, and swam to recover it, but the tide was running strongly, and he could not reach it. So I pulled him back by the rope, and helped him on board.

Insures Wife's Dimples; She Has Them Still But Loses Him

PARIS, Sept. 29.—An amazing story of how a husband insured his wife's dimples for $100,000 and then lost her, has just been told before the Paris courts. The man is Fred G. Nixon Nirdlinger, the wealthy theatre manager of Philadelphia, and from now on it looks as though his interest in his beautiful wife will be limited to her insured dimples. When they were married three years ago Mr. Nirdlinger insured the dimples for $100,000. He met her at a beauty competition where he was one of the judges. Another woman was awarded first prize, but Nirdlinger hotly dissented from this award and acclaimed the girl with the dimples to be the most beautiful in the world. To prove his belief, he married her. There were certain difficulties in the way in the form of other entanglements, lawsuits from previous wives and the like, but the marriage took place and the dimples were insured. It did not occur to him to get insurance on the permanence of the match. The wife filed suit for divorce against her wealthy husband and the decree has been granted to her. So Mr. Nirdlinger may one day hold a unique insurance policy on the dimples of another man's wife.

LEADERS' COUNCIL WILL TAKE CHARGE

Decision re Girls' Work in Saint John Reached Last Evening

It has been decided to have the Leaders' Council take charge as the local body governing the girls' work under the religious education council in Saint John during the coming season. The work of the former Girls' Work Board and of the Leaders' Council formed the subject of discussion at the meeting of the leaders' training school class last night in Centenary church parlour, when Miss Marjorie Trotter, Maritime girls' work secretary, was presiding. It was agreed that it might be more effective for the work to place the responsibility with the Leaders' Council and not to have the Girls' Work Board functioning this season. Arrangements were made for having the annual meeting of the Leaders' Council on Friday night at the closing session of the leaders' training course. There was a still larger attendance at the course last evening, and there were representatives present from two additional churches, Portland United and Carlton United. Miss Trotter led in the discussion of programs for the worship period in group meetings and how to organize a group. For tonight the subject of discussion will be what is required from a group that wishes to be classed as a recognized group.

WIFE RELATES PECULIARITIES OF JOS. CONRAD

Had Habit of Flicking Bread Pellets When Excited or Angry

(By Dominion News Service) LONDON, Sept. 29.—Flicking bread pellets about—occasionally to the embarrassment of his guests—was a queer habit of the late Joseph Conrad in moments of excitement or irritability. His widow makes the revelation in some intimate recollections of the famous author.

The habit was acquired at sea, and Mrs. Conrad explains that sometimes the pellets flew into the soup plates and glasses of guests, and those in line of fire would look apprehensively at their host.

"Once he had several American guests to lunch. I think we numbered 10 round the table. Something struck Mrs. Conrad's leg with a vengeance. Bread pellets flew in all directions and with a rapidity that was vastly disconcerting to the whole table. One or two actually struck the maids serving."

"At last I caught his eye, and said distinctly, 'Conrad, your tie is crooked.' He half started from his chair, slapped his hands sharply on the table, and frowning heavily, said in a tense whisper, 'This, my dear, let me tell you, is not the time or place to talk about my personal appearance.' Mrs. Conrad had a compact with her husband to draw his attention, by an irrelevant remark, to the fact that he was indulging in his 'repellent' habit; but on this occasion it was not until lunch was nearly over that a sudden smile showed that he had at last realized her object.

A "marked characteristic" was that he would allow no argument in his own family circle. "It is a curious fact," comments Mrs. Conrad, "that in all his dated statements he is unusually two years out." And when he repeatedly gave the date of his marriage as two years later than it was she at first interrupted, pointing out that the elder boy was born that year.

He would turn quickly towards me, frowning his displeasure: "You will allow me, my dear, to know as much about it as you do. After all, he is my son as well as your—besides, I never consider you as old as that." Though this was not a very cogent argument, I had recourse to hold my tongue.

SAVED 102 LIVES After 50 Years of Heroism, is Ordered to Give it up

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Life-saving has become a habit with Thomas Jackson, of Hackney in the north of London. He has just been ordered to give it up.

Fifty years of heroism has so impaired this veteran's health that another plunge would almost certainly be fatal. So his life-saving career ended with a rescue at Folkestone last month. Here is his record: Sixty, Regent's Canal; 10, Temple Mills, Lea Fields; 15, Lea, at Tottenham; 10, Victoria Park Waters; 3, Hastings; 2, Aldershot; 1, Bournemouth; 1, Folkestone.

58,000 SLAVES ARE SET FREE IN NORTHERN INDIA

Great Emancipation Is Carried Out at Total Cost of $1,250,000

LONDON, Sept. 29.—It is announced officially that the last trace of slavery has disappeared from Northern India. Altogether 57,888 slaves have been emancipated, at a cost to the Nepal Government of about $1,250,000. Preparatory laws were passed in 1924, and the work of emancipating the slaves began last year.

Anti-slavery feeling was aroused by the appeal of the Maharajah in 1924; and 1,200 out of nearly 16,000 owners volunteered to release their slaves without compensation. In the case of other owners, higher rates of compensation were paid for females than for males.

In the fight for abolition the Maharajah of Nepal, Sir Chandra Shumshere Jung, has not shied his own wealth. He has given about $1,000,000 to the cause of abolition. One of his appeals for human freedom in his state contained the words: "The Curse of Heaven rests on a trade which is overlaid with the tears of parents and children."

Nepal is an independent state in close friendly relations with British India, on the southern slopes of the Himalayas. Its area is greater than that of England; its population about 6,000,000. It is the land of the warlike Gurkhas, and of the Great Liberator of two and a half millenniums ago—the Gautama Buddha.

PRESENT OWNER OF ROMANOFF JEWEL UNKNOWN

Emerald, Reputed Cursed by Ancient Witch, Tali- man of Tragedy

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Where is the most accursed jewel in the world—the great emerald of Nikita Romanoff? Tragedy has followed tragedy, and now nobody knows who is the possessor of the stone that has brought nothing but desolation and death in its train, and is believed by many to have been the direct cause of the collapse of the Romanoff dynasty.

The emerald is said to have been cursed by a famous witch many years ago, when her aid was sought by a man, whose daughter had been wronged by Nikita Romanoff.

"This stone," said the old witch, "is accursed, and it will bring misfortune, suffering, and death to all those who possess it. Give it to Nikita Romanoff."

Nikita Romanoff was given the emerald, and then began a series of tragedies which, declared the peasants, culminated in the murder of the Tsar by the Bolsheviks.

CARRIED TO SIBERIA

Within a few hours of receiving the emerald, Nikita Romanoff was doomed. He was seized by a party of men who took him to the wastes of Siberia and flung him into a pit. For three years he died miserably until he was rescued by a new dynasty which began its reign.

The Tsarevna Sophia, sister of Peter the Great, suddenly remembered the mysterious disappearance of her kinsman, Nikita Romanoff, and a search was made in Siberia for his remains.

The body was found, and among the tattered clothing was discovered the accursed emerald.

Sophia was charmed with the jewel, and heeded not the legend wrapped around it. Then the emerald is said to have begun its spell on Sophia, for Peter the Great, her brother, desired to rule alone, and Sophia was plunged into a convent prison from which she never emerged alive.

Just before her death, however, the Tsarevna had managed to hand the emerald to Euxodol Lopotchina, the wife of Peter. Before long, Euxodol was banished by her husband. The emerald was then passed on to Alexis, her only son. This youth was tortured to death by his father, who dealt the death blow with the knout.

The jewel was taken from the dead boy, but Peter refused to touch, and it was locked in the treasury.

The next person to wear the jewel was Biren, who, shortly after his receipt of the emerald, was disgraced and sent into exile. Hoping to work back to his sovereign, but she did not care for it, and gave it to her nephew, who afterwards became Peter the Third.

PETER IS DEPOSED
Shortly after Peter succeeded to the throne he was deposed by his soldiers and strangled. The stone was then brought back to the treasury, and although at first the Empress Catherine refused to have anything to do with it, curiosity overcame her and the stone was ready to be set. Within 100 minutes Catherine died from an apopleptic fit.

Paul the first was the next person to wear the stone. He had it set in a sword handle, and while engaged in defending himself against conspirators who demanded his abdication, the jewel broke from its setting and Paul was mortally wounded.

The next two monarchs refused even to look at it, and it lay in the treasury until Alexander the Second, admiring its beauty, put it in his pocket to show to his cousin. On his way to the Winter Palace Alexander II was blown to pieces by bombs thrown by nihilist conspirators.

The jewel again went into retirement.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 28.—Hope that she may live after the world series baseball games is sustaining Mrs. M. D. Hornsby, aged mother of Rogers Hornsby, manager of the pennant winning St. Louis Cardinals, who will lead his club against the New York Yankees for the world title.

Mrs. Hornsby is seriously ill at the home of her sister here following a relapse yesterday. She has predicted her son's club will win.

McTIGUE FAVORED
"Mike" McTigue, former light heavyweight champion of the world, and Roy Mitchell, sensational young negro fighter, hooked up in an important ring bout in Halifax tonight, probably one of the most important in the Maritimes in years. McTigue en route through the city recently en route to Halifax, and told local men that he had every respect for Mitchell's ability, but expected to win handily. He is favored in the betting.

ment until the late Empress Alexandra persuaded Tsar Nicholas II to have it set into a pendant. This she wore when she went to exile, and eventually to her death in Siberia, and nobody has ever heard anything more of the Emerald of Death.

BERLIN RADIO TOWER OPENED WITH CEREMONY

Programmes Will Be Broad- cast From There During Winter Season

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—With music and due ceremonial there has recently been brought into operation the new "Radio Tower" of Berlin's broadcasting station. This is perhaps, the most remarkable structure associated with "wireless" in the world.

Built of very light steel bars, it is about 480 feet high. At the top is a "look-out gallery, and immediately underneath is a square room with slides of glass and appointments, including a bar of that very anti-prohibitionist type paradoxically known as "America" in Continental cities.

RESTAURANT PROVIDES
Lower down, but still about 200 feet above the ground, is a restaurant. This has accommodations for 200 people and is an integral part of the tower. A lift travels right up to the top, and for those who prefer walk from the restaurant there is a broad-staircase exterior staircase. An interior ladder, for use in emergency, has 650 rungs.

PLANS FOR WINTER
Adding to the tower are studios, large enough for the assembly of a full symphony orchestra, operatic company and chorus.

During the next winter season there will be broadcast from the tower 12 sets 20 operas, several musical comedies and a succession of plays, designed to illustrate the development

UNION, Me., Sept. 28.—The North Knox Fair started today with a good crowd and some interesting races started by Hon. H. C. Buzzell, president of the Maine Senate and candidate for Congress. Excitement was furnished when Copper Baron, a local horse, threw his driver and ran around the track five times. No one was injured.

TORONTO WON
TORONTO, Sept. 28.—Toronto took the first game of the Little World's series from the Louisville Colonels, champions of the American Association here this afternoon by a score of 2 to 0. Jess Doyle getting the verdict. Tincup only allowed three hits, was touched up for five, three of them scratch. Both teams fielded perfectly, with Layne and Miller featuring the Leafs' defensive work and Betsel and Webb being of great assistance to Tincup. The score:

WALTER BELL IS FREED IN CASE OVER BALL POOL

Court Holds No Criminal Action Lies Because of Lottery Feature

The case of the King vs. Walter Bell, charged with theft and obtaining money under circumstances which required an accounting, was dismissed this morning in the Circuit by Mr. Justice Byrne on grounds, submitted by defence counsel in argument yesterday, that the whole transaction was tainted with illegality from start to finish and that no criminal action could lie against the accused.

Justice Bell, crown prosecutor, said that he had read the authorities on the matter submitted by the defence, and felt that they covered the case in this instance, and did not oppose the dismissal of the case.

B. L. Gerow appeared for the defendant, and in his application for dismissal, maintained that the whole matter from its origin violated the law on lotteries, which were illegal under the code, and further that, even if the purposes were not illegal, and Bell and Williams, had had an agreement between them, no criminal action could lie against Bell for alleged violation of this agreement, the proper course being a civil action.

The case arose out of a complaint lodged by Benjamin Williams who alleged he was joint holder of a winning ticket, with Bell in a baseball pool, that the latter had obtained the prize money amounting to $800 and had refused to give Williams his share.

There being no further business before this session, court adjourned sine die.

SEE THE FALLS

At high tide the water of the Bay of Fundy reaches a higher level than the water of the Saint John River and forces its way through the gorge of the Falls, creating a "Falls" of water 100 feet high.

At low tide the water in the Bay becomes as much lower than that of the river, that the fall of water is reversed and flows down river into the Bay.

Half tide, when the level in the Bay and River are about equal, the water at the Falls becomes smooth and the appearance is of a lake.

To fully appreciate this wonder of nature it should be seen at all three stages.
