GATHERING IN PARIS FOR PEACE CONFERENCE

French Capital is Filled to Overflowing; Cost of Hotel Accommodation Jump to High Figures as Demand Exceeds Supply

Paris, Dec. 4.—Paris is filled to overflowing. Prices of all hotel rooms, following the requisitioning of twenty-five hotels for peace conference purposes, have doubled and tripled and are still going up. Food in restaurants and cafes generally are similar mountings.

Paris, Dec. 4.—Premier Clemenceau, the Earl of Derby, British ambassador to France and Major General Mordecai, head of the military cabinet of the ministry of war, arrived here this evening from England. The crowd at the station greeted Clemenceau with enthusiastic cheers.

London, Dec. 5.—The substance of the discussions in London early this week between the representatives of the Great Britain, France and Italy with regard to the coming peace conference, were called to the United States government, and it is believed the messages reached President Wilson before he sailed for Europe yesterday, thus putting him in possession of full information regarding the conference.

Reuter's Limited says there is reason to believe the president's advisers are of the opinion that the views of the conference regarding former Emperor Wilhelm are likely to coincide with those of the president himself. Responsible opinion, says this news agency, holds that the former emperor and other persons guilty of breaches of international law during the progress of the war should be dealt with by a tribunal of the associated governments, including representatives of those countries which suffered most.

FORMER KAISER REFUSES TO MAKE ANY STATEMENT

Reserves Remarks Until He Faces Criminal Charges SEEMS TO EXPECT TRIAL

Admits Signing Kruger Telegram But Says He Did so Under Pressure—Delegation From Berlin Reaches the Hague

Amerongen, Holland, Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press)—"I am a private citizen and while in Holland will not make any statement whatever for publication."

"This was the former emperor's message to the Associated Press correspondent when he called at Count Von Benckendorff's castle again today. The German general acting as orderly, formerly governor of Metz, brought the message direct from William Hohenzollern, who last evening was inclined to make a public declaration, but today changed his mind. The message continued—

"You must fully realize my position. I am threatened on all sides with criminal charges, which, if brought I must face. Therefore, I must reserve any statement until charges are actually brought. Also, I owe a certain loyalty to the present German government and cannot make a declaration which might compromise them."

The correspondent requested the general to ask the emperor whether he would confirm the Crown Prince's assertion regarding the Kruger telegram, and the general brought back the answer—

"The Crown Prince is absolutely correct in his facts. The telegram, already written, was laid before me for signature. I refused to sign it for three days, but finally did so under pressure of the German diplomats and my political advisers, who advanced many reasons for sending the despatch. Of course, having signed it, I take full responsibility."

The former emperor and empress are leading a very quiet life. Negotiations in Progress. Copenhagen, Dec. 5.—A delegation from the Berlin soldiers' and workmen's council has arrived at the Hague, a Berlin despatch says. The message indicates that its presence at the Netherlands capital has to do with negotiations concerning former Emperor Wilhelm in progress at the German legation in the Hague, the nature of which is not stated.

A Berlin despatch on December 3, announced that a number of the soldiers and workmen's council in Germany had requested the government to have the former emperor tried by a German tribunal. It was added, however, that the government would submit the question to the national assembly, which body is not yet in being. The recent visit to Holland of a German emissary, Admiral Von Hintze, former foreign secretary, was said to be for the purpose of obtaining the formal abdication of William II, which has since taken place.

WANT DECISION ON BOUNDARY LINE OF UNGAVA

Quebec Province Pressing For a Settlement MAY GO TO PRIVY COUNCIL

Practical Issues Which Have Arisen Make Action Necessary in Dispute With Newfoundland

Montreal, Dec. 4.—A despatch to the Gazette from Ottawa says the task of determining the boundary line between Ungava, now a portion of the province of Quebec, and that part of the Labrador coast belonging to Newfoundland, may be referred to the judicial committee of the imperial privy council early next year.

Since UNGAVA was added to Quebec in 1912, the government of that province has been anxious that the line between its territory and that of the ancient colony should be defined. Several practical issues, moreover, have arisen to make a decision desirable. For instance, the Canadian and Newfoundland governments clashed when a Canadian customs officer proposed to collect duties at Port Barwick, which has asserted as Canadian territory. Again, the Quebec and Newfoundland authorities differed when the latter undertook to grant concessions on Hamilton Island.

The Negotiations. For some years past there have been at intervals negotiations between the Dominion government and the Quebec government on the one hand, and the Newfoundland government on the other, looking to a reference to the case to the privy council. Canada and Quebec proposed that a question based upon the statutes, order-in-council, and proclamations upon which were founded the respective claims of the parties should be propounded for the consideration of the imperial court. Newfoundland expressed the opinion that no order-in-council existed which could be evidence of a claim. Copies of certain orders were returned sent from Canada to the government of the ancient colony. Negotiations have since been suspended.

Quebec, however, has insisted upon a settlement of the dispute, and it is said, if a reply is not received within a reasonable time from Newfoundland, will submit the whole question to the privy council.

ANOTHER SENSATION IN POTATO INQUIRY

Supplementary Commission Issued to Enable Commissioner to Follow Sums Paid to C. B. Jones and W. B. Tennant

When the patriotic potato inquiry was resumed at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the court house, Commissioner J. A. McQueen sprung another surprise when he announced that a supplementary commission had been given him to investigate how G. B. Jones, M. P. F., had disposed of $81,500 paid to him by W. B. Tennant, $38,500 of which was paid to cover potato losses and other sums to persons in various parts of the province; also to inquire into the disposal of any part of the $100,000 paid to Mr. Tennant by the Nova Scotia Construction Company.

It will be remembered that at the last session of the inquiry Mr. Jones refused to give information as to how he disposed of the sum. The commission was dated November 5.

H. A. Powell, counsel for Hon. J. A. Murray, who is out of the city, it was stated, could not attend the inquiry before next week. Adjournment was made until 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning to get more definite information as to when he could attend.

NO FORMAL SURRENDER OF GERMAN AIRPLANES

London, Dec. 4.—There will be no formal surrender of German airplanes, as was expected, because a sufficient number of reliable pilots for that purpose. Hence, the first surrender in history of an air fleet is being effected by piecemeal. The Germans are shedding their wings in the course of retreat, and the advancing Allies are picking them up.

CLEVELAND STRIKE NEARING AN END

Cleveland, Dec. 5.—The 2,500 street car men who went on strike at five o'clock Tuesday morning because of the employment of women conductors and since which hour not a car has been operated, probably will return to work at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon with cars in operation on all lines. The strikers will assemble at one p.m. today to vote on terms that the union leaders have accepted for them. Women conductors are to be eliminated from the street car service, not later than March 1. That is the proposition union leaders will endorse to the strikers and it was evolved at a conference of all interested parties in the mayor's office that ended at eight a.m. today.

Britannia Must Rule The Waves

Will Submit To No Naval Restrictions In Peace Terms

But Naval Authorities Decide That They do Not Want Helgoland; Nationalization of Railways Decided Upon, Says Churchill

London, Dec. 4.—The British naval authorities have decided that it will be unnecessary to demand the return of Helgoland to Great Britain from Germany, Winston Churchill, the minister of munitions, announced in a speech at Dundee tonight.

Mr. Churchill also said the government has decided upon the nationalization of the railways.

"We enter the peace conference," said Mr. Churchill, during the course of his address, "with the determination that no limitation shall be imposed on our right to maintain our naval defence. We do not intend, no matter what arguments and appeals are addressed to us, to lend ourselves in any way to any fettering restrictions which will prevent the British navy maintaining its well-earned and well-deserved supremacy."

The Island's History. The Island of Helgoland, formerly Danzig, was ceded to Great Britain in 1814. In 1890 Great Britain ceded it to Germany, who began developing it into an extremely important naval base. It lies in the North Sea off the mouths of the Elbe and Weser and at the entrance to the Kiel Canal, which it dominates.

The island was a German naval stronghold throughout the great war. Its occupation by the Allies was under consideration shortly after the signing of the armistice when the German naval revolution made it appear doubtful if Germany would comply with the naval terms of the armistice. These, however, seem since to have been fulfilled nearly in their entirety.

Lands Work of Navy. London, Dec. 5.—The work of the British navy during the war was lauded by Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the admiralty, in his address opening the "sea power" exhibition of pictures and relics in London.

The sea power of the British navy from the very outbreak of the war, he declared, held all the fleets of the world in a silent grip, crushed the life out of the enemy countries and assured the freedom of the world by its efforts.

Sir Eric pointed out that it was the assistance of the navy which had enabled coal, food and munitions to be sent to Italy and France, while Great Britain's own munitions for the western front had been carried on the back of the navy. It was the navy which had enabled the British expeditionary force to be conveyed to France, in which operations more than 16,000,000 men all told, had been conveyed with a total loss from all causes of less than 5,000 men. It was the navy, he continued, which enabled the operations to be carried on in Mesopotamia, Macedonia and Palestine, and which had brought about a condition of things which resulted in the breakdown of Bulgaria, while he had the navy was the blockade which crushed the life out of the Central Powers and made them sue for peace.

From 1915 to 1917, Sir Eric stated, the tenth cruiser squadron had kept under guard a stretch of sea 800 miles long from the Orkney Islands to Ireland, and had intercepted 15,000 ships taking supplies to enemy countries. Although this work had been accomplished for the most part in the dead of night or in bad light, amid tempests and blizzards, less than four per cent of vessels succeeded in passing the lines of the blockade.

The British navy, British sea power, Sir Eric concluded, has been the pivot on which the fate, not only of the war, but of the world, had turned.

Pouring Into Halifax To Meet Returned Men

So Many Parents Arrive That Work of Disembarkation is Hampered

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 5.—Parents of home coming Canadian soldiers, pouring into Halifax from cities as far west as Vancouver, are unknowingly complicating the work of the disembarkation staff to the point where it may be necessary to still further restrict the conditions under which the members of Canada's victorious army are being returned to their homes, military authorities here announced today.

The clearing depot staff realize, it is stated, the paramount desire of families to be reunited as speedily as possible, and for this reason are bending all their efforts to return the men to their homes with the greatest possible despatch. But those who do come to Halifax for the purpose of accompanying their returning soldier relatives to their homes, necessitating their transfer to trains, other than the trains being provided for the purpose, are only complicating an elaborately worked out process for the speedy handling of way to this city. Their plea is that they may be impossible to consider application for modifications of the restrictions, based on extraordinary conditions.

THE FOE WITHIN THEIR GATES

Report of Attorney-General of United States Reveals Successful Efforts to Deal With Enemy Aliens

Washington, Dec. 5.—The story of how enemy agents have been caught, disloyally suppressed, draft slackers apprehended, dangerous Germans interned, explosions and other sabotage prevented, and enemy secrets ferreted out for use against their armies abroad, was given to the public today in Attorney-General Gregory's annual report. Through a great corps of department of justice inspectors, secret agents, and citizen volunteers, this big job of policing has been accomplished, said the attorney-general, with a minimum disturbance to normal life of communities and with constant effort to avoid encroaching on freedom of speech, action and political criticism.

The attorney-general disclosed that only six thousand enemy aliens have been arrested on presidential warrants and examined with a view to internment and that "a considerable number" of these have been placed in internment camps administered by the army. The balance were paroled. Most enemies interned were German men, and there were comparatively few German women or Austro-Hungarians.

About 460,000 Germans have been registered in the nation-wide census—260,000 men and 200,000 women.

GERMAN RESIDENTS RETURN TO PARIS

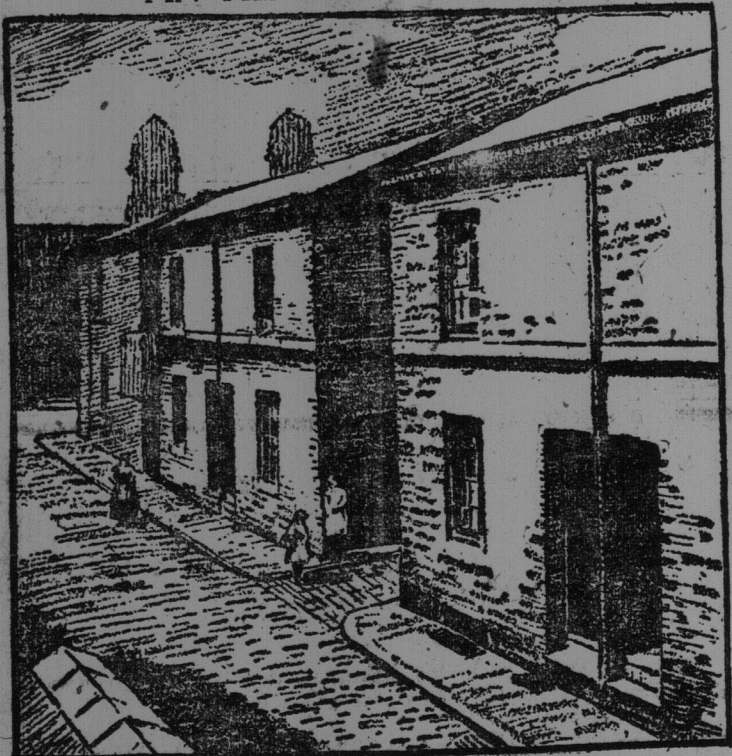

Paris, Dec. 5.—Seven Germans, one of them a woman, who formerly lived in Paris, have found means of returning here, but have been discovered and arrested. They had taken advantage of the homeward movement in prisoners and interned civilians from Germany to smuggle themselves into France and make their way to this city. Their plea was that they thought the existence of the armistice permitted their return.

KILLED IN ACTION

Moncton, Dec. 5.—W. J. Clarke of Corn Hill has received word that his son, Charles, was killed in action on Nov. 8. He was thirty-two years of age and enlisted in the 104th Battalion at Sussex. A brother, George, was recently severely wounded, which resulted in the amputation of a leg. Another brother, Herbert, is also serving in overseas forces.

HELIGOLAND

What Will the Peace Conference do With This German Stronghold?

(By La Marquise De Fontenoy.) Among the many difficult questions which will engage the attention of the peace conference at Versailles will be the disposal of Heligoland. The German, realizing that neither England nor France will ever consent to their retaining possession thereof, have already started an insidious campaign through a number of different channels with a view to its being restored to Denmark, to whom it belonged prior to its seizure by Great Britain in 1807, and its assignment to that power by the Congress of Vienna in 1814. The Germans point out that in olden times it was a fief of the Sovereign Dukes of Schleswig and Holstein, and that when these were brought to the throne of Denmark it passed into the ownership of that kingdom.

ment of armed defense of the German empire. And when one reflects on the role which it has played in the war, it becomes more difficult than ever to understand the blindness which led the late Lord Salisbury, as premier and foreign secretary, to cede it to Germany in 1890, in return for the abandonment of her purely mythical rights and baseless pretensions to a share in the British protectorate of Zanzibar. To this day no one can comprehend the action of Lord Salisbury in the matter, except on the basis that he was convinced that a war between England and Germany was beyond the bounds of possibility, that, in the words of Bismarck, it was "unthinkable" and that, anyhow, in his opinion the crumbling island was utterly valueless and useless for purposes of fortification or of naval warfare.

The portico his worship the mayor read an address of welcome to which His Excellency made a brief reply.

PARLIAMENT MAY NOT OPEN BEFORE FEBRUARY

Ottawa, Dec. 5.—Ministers of the crown state that the cabinet has not yet given serious consideration to the fixing of the date for the opening of parliament. As there is no necessity for giving members more than thirty days notice there is still time in which to summon the house for the despatch of business by the middle of January. The impression appears to be growing, however, that the house may not meet until towards the end of January and perhaps not until the early part of February.

SPECIAL CARE FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS

C. P. R. Circular Asks Employees to Care Like Fathers for Those Who Have Fought for Them

The Canadian Pacific Railway officials are looking forward to a heavy movement of returned soldiers, women and children through this port during the winter-peak season, and are arranging their plans accordingly. In order to facilitate transportation and furnish accommodation for the anticipated heavy travel, every official and employee who will come in contact with the troops and passengers has been given a circular of instructions.

These instructions point out that from now on the soldiers of Canada will be returning home in considerable numbers each week, and as they have endured dangers and suffered hardships, they are entitled to every care and attention in assisting them to reach their homes with all the despatch and comfort possible. Locomotives ordered for troop trains should be, if possible, even more closely inspected than ordinary, so as to guard against any breakdowns and consequent delay in transit. These troop trains are to be given every possible despatch and to be given preference over all other trains, including regular passenger trains. In the event of a troop train breaking down, the locomotive which can be made most quickly available, even if taken from a regular passenger train, is to be used to handle the troop train so that it will incur the least possible delay.

The circular adds that what is particularly desired is that all officers and employees concerned shall, in so far as possible, place themselves in the position of the father, mother, wife, sister or other relative of the returned soldier with whom they are to be dealt with under similar conditions. The circular is signed by the vice-president, A. D. MacFay.

Ottawa, Dec. 5.—Colonel William Hendrie of Hamilton and Major Andrews, M. A. through its dominion executive wishes to lay the very strongest emphasis upon the vital necessity of most careful demobilization in order that every reasonable provision and assurance of training and employment be given to the returned soldiers, that distress and unrest may be prevented during the coming winter months. In arriving at this conclusion, we are actuated by sincere consideration for our men and their relatives in Canada, that a further entrenchment of a few months would be fully compensated for, in returning to Canada when conditions would be more favorable."

GOVERNMENT IS READY TO HELP

Builders Pleased With Its Attitude on the Housing Question — Prices and Wages Will Stay Up

(Toronto Star) Owing to the difficulty of obtaining loans the feeling of the men who attended the first conference of Canadian building industries in Ottawa, was that the government should provide the money if necessary, according to Fred Armstrong, general manager of the Home Hope Sanitary Manufacturing Co., who has just returned to the city. This is outside the housing problem proper. This opinion was not presented to the government as it was considered a financial matter for them to handle themselves.

"The government, if I understood Hon. Frank Carvell," said Mr. Armstrong, "is not prepared to take any constructive suggestions of interest on the housing question. Mr. Carvell didn't exactly take us into his confidence, but I gather he is prepared to do something. I don't think the government will embark on any extravagant enterprise they won't build housing simply for the sake of building, but where the necessity for housing arises they may do so."

Mr. Armstrong stated that the government was prepared to go on with public works to tide over the readjustment period. Even where it would mean the expenditure of a little more money than he would have believed they would be started at once. He declared the contractors well pleased with the attitude of the members of the government. He spoke to the conference, Sir Thomas White, Hon. Frank Carvell, and Hon. Dr. J. D. Reid.

No Criticism to Offer. "I have no criticism to offer," was the reply. "They seemed to have a comprehensive view of the situation although details were not discussed. It is only fair to state that the government were very sympathetic to the idea of using only Canadian material in public building. The contractors felt that all the materials can be supplied at home. They knew it would be expensive to use some of the lack of a definite policy on the part of the government for the reconstruction period strike you" asked The Star.

Asked about the outlook in Canada generally, Mr. Armstrong said that in every city and town in Canada there was a great scarcity and insistent demand for houses. That situation had to be met, and, irrespective of prices obtained, it was absolutely necessary to proceed with a big building programme. The feeling of the conference was that the state itself should lend whatever assistance was necessary if the people were to be housed.

"I do not think there is anything to prevent building starting at once. My personal view is that there is no shortage of raw material, owing to the fact that no building has been going on during the war to any great extent, and the supplies have not been drawn on. There will be no difficulty in obtaining skilled workmen. The closing of the munitions plants will release all the building mechanics needed."

Price of Materials Won't Drop. "Do you foresee any reduction in the price of materials or the rate of wages now prevailing in the building trades?" The labor unions have asked the rate of wages. It was never suggested,

Present Aspects of Prohibition

(Christian Science Monitor) Fourteen states of the American Union, out of the thirty-six necessary, have already ratified the amendment to the federal constitution making the manufacture or sale of liquor within the boundaries of the republic illegal. More than enough of the state legislatures will assemble in January of the coming year to complete the ratification, if they shall decide so to do. It is, therefore, among the possibilities that before the spring is well advanced the amendment will have become a part of the organic law of the land. Not for one year after the last of the necessary three-fourths of the states shall have ratified the amendment, however, will prohibition of the liquor traffic go into effect.

What is known as the Jones nationwide, bone-dry rider to the food stimulation bill, approved by the president on the 21st of the present month, will become operative on July 1, 1919. It is remembered that the distillation of whiskey in the United States has been stopped for more than a year and that the brewing of beer is to be stopped in a short time, if the president shall exercise the power vested in him to issue a proclamation to this effect. The discontinuance of distilling and brewing, however, were war measures; the Jones rider will be effective until the United States war forces are demobilized. The terms of this rider are that the production and sale of all alcoholic stimulants shall be stopped "until the conclusion of the present war, and thereafter until the termination of demobilization, the date of which shall be determined and proclaimed by the president of the United States."

The statisticians have been hard at work computing the financial cost of the reform, and estimates a loss of $1,000,000 to the revenues of the nation. This, however, is only apparent. It has never been admitted by prohibitionists, nor by economists disposed to view the subject in a large way, that the public revenues would suffer from the extinction of the liquor traffic; they have held, rather, that there would be a large net gain. Not only will there be a great gain in expenditures, as they regard the matter, from the reduction of poverty, vice, and crime, under prohibition, but there will also be a great increase in the productive power of the people, as a consequence of the removal of all intoxicants.

So confident is the prohibition sentiment in the United States, at the present time, that it has recently given assent to the programme for world-wide prohibition adopted by a representative convention at Columbus, Ohio. This conference, as one of the principal results of a four days' sitting, resolved that the Anti-Saloon League of America should put in operation a movement looking to a world-wide fight for the extermination of the drinking place and the drinking habit. The plan as outlined will be, perhaps, to invite all the temperance organizations in the world to co-operate, first in a great convention, and then in a great campaign.

It would seem as if the coming year would show the largest gains ever recorded along lines of substantial reform, and the probabilities are that, in the United States, the liquor problem will have ceased to be an issue before 1919 shall have passed.

An enthusiastic meeting of the I. L. & B. Society was held last night in the rooms, Union street, to map out the programme of activities for the coming year. During the period of hostilities the society has confined its activities in keeping with the effort to divert no unnecessary attention from the prosecution of the war. During the reconstruction period, however, the society plans to jump into the movement. George Stafford presided and there was a good attendance. Included in next year's programme will be tournaments, debates and the intersociety gathering. A dramatic entertainment is planned for January. A committee including P. A. Coihlan, J. T. McGivern and E. J. Henneberry, was named to look after the season's programme.

SOME OBSERVATIONS ON PARTYSM IN CANADA

(Toronto Star.)

There is much talk of the revival of partyism. The Hon. Walter Scott of Saskatchewan, as a Liberal, declares his opposition to the Union government. The Hon. Robert Rogers at a banquet given in his honor raises the historic banner of Conservatism, and says that without partyism there will be "faction." The Mail and Empire applauds Mr. Rogers' speech, and points to the National Policy—in other words, the protective tariff—as the true source of Canada's greatness in the past and its hope for the future. The Globe celebrates the centenary of its founder, George Brown.

There is no clear distinction between partyism and faction. A political party may be factious, that is, bent merely upon disturbance, or constructive. The truth underlying Mr. Rogers' remark is that men who have the same aims, whether constructive or destructive, are likely to combine in order to carry out their aims. If they are not satisfied with merely "resolving" and if they repudiate physical violence they will seek to obtain a majority in parliament, form a government, and control legislation and administration.

Such a combination is in essence a political party, whether it goes under one of the old party names or a new one. It will exhibit the virtues and the vices of the party system. Those who compose it, in order to achieve the aims on which they agree, will have to compromise on matters as to which they differ. They will be tempted to condone the faults of their leaders upon the plea that if they vote against them they will "let the other fellows in." They will be tempted to use wrong methods of carrying elections upon the plea that their general aims are so good that they must not be imperilled by conscientious scruples. Sir Robert Borden is at the head of a government founded upon a party truce. Yet it was to party spirit that he appealed when he said that if the house of commons carried a resolution expressing views as to titles which he regarded as too radical he would resign. The champlions of the resolution surrendered, because they feared that the breaking up of the government would impair the efficiency of Canada in the war. That was an argument entitled to respect, but it was not different in essence from the argument of a man who surrenders certain convictions lest he should imperil the protective tariff, which he, like the Mail and Empire, regards as the bulwark of Canadian prosperity. In that broad sense there will always be partyism. The war being now practically over and the aim for which Union government was formed being achieved, it is contended that its reason for existence has ceased. The same question was raised when Confederation was accomplished. Some Liberals said that the coalition formed for the purpose of federation should be dissolved; others that it should be continued. The bulk of the Liberal party, following George Brown, withdrew their support of the coalition and went back to the old party lines. Those who remained in the government became in effect Conservatives, and before the next election all traces of the composite character of the government had disappeared. It is not necessary to assume that history will repeat itself, though history is a useful guide. The Unionist government, if it is to continue, must find some new basis of union to replace the basis of unity on the Military Service Act. The basis must be some policy of reconstruction. That policy being presented, stalwarts of the Rogers and Currie stamp must seek to propose some plan of reconstruction that will be better or more popular. The same remark applies to the Laurier Liberals and the United Farmers. The only intelligent basis of partyism is difference upon principles and policies.

A NOTABLE VISIT.

The brief visit of the Duke of Devonshire to St. John will have the effect of adding greater interest to a later visit in a less inclement season, when he may be accompanied by the Duchess.

His Excellency sounds an optimistic note in regard to the future, and tactfully suggests that his two years in Canada may have had something to do with that frame of mind.

Regarding the larger aspects of the situation arising out of the war, His Excellency rightly emphasizes the necessity of preserving those principles of liberty which lie at the base of the British Empire; and he insists that we must not only concede to other nations who deserve it equal freedom of self-expression, but help them to achieve their destiny.

Touching His Excellency's remarks about the British monarchy, there can be no doubt whatever that it is more strongly entrenched than ever in the affections of the people, who recognize that it does not limit but stabilizes the democracy of the Empire.

The governor-general's visit and his addresses have served to centre our thoughts upon questions of large moment, and his message is one of good cheer.

DEMOCRACY WINS.

"Germany," says the Christian Science Monitor, regarded democracy as a failure. It heaped ridicule upon the alleged inefficiency of the United States. It taunted for a generation before 1914, in its principal universities, that there could be no such thing as honor between nations; that no nation should trust another; that treaties were not safeguards and were made only to be broken; in short that everything the United States held to be essential to the peace and happiness of the world, to honor and justice among nations, to fraternity among men, was futile, non-sensical, weak, unworthy the consideration of a great and proud people.

Remembering this fact, our contemporary indulges in some reflections that are of great interest in view of the present world-situation. It says:—"It is not one of the least, but one of the greatest among the results of the war that the moralities woven into the declaration of independence and the constitution of the United States, drawn as they were from the experiences and struggles of the English people during centuries, are today recognized not only by the democracies of Europe, but by the nations until recently enamored of autocratic sway. It is not strange that Great Britain and France should invite, and offer unstinted welcome to the highest representative of the American democracy; but that in a hurried and clumsy fashion the disintegrated autocracies are striving to set up governments such as their rulers of yesterday ridiculed and contemned, is surely remarkable. No less remarkable is it that President Wilson should be going to Europe to participate in a world peace conference in which the destinies of the nations that, only yesterday, composed the most contemptuous and arrogant autocracies of modern times are to be determined. These things, and many others associated with the present day, constituting as they do the most extraordinary events in modern history, are too great to be viewed from any narrow standpoint. They concern the future of humanity far more than they do the interests of any nationality or group of nationalities."

The New Brunswick Temperance Alliance wisely urges that an educative campaign be carried on in this province. Reactionary tendencies must be met and overcome, and the prohibitory law needs behind it a solid body of public opinion that is willing to give itself vigorous expression in aiding the officers of the law.

Mr. Winston Churchill: Our British way of doing things is nowhere more admired than among the nations we have overthrown. Let us preserve our great and old renown as the first of free and liberal nations.

A BIT OF GOOD NEWS.

The appointment by the Ottawa government of "Good Roads Campbell" as special commissioner to advise on a plan for road improvement throughout Canada will be universally approved. It is said that $10,000,000 may be made available at the coming session of parliament to be apportioned to and spent by the provinces on works of which he approves.

Some years ago Mr. Campbell addressed the Canadian Club of St. John on good roads. He told of his early experiences in Ontario, when he was employed in the work in that province. He selected a stretch of nine miles and persuaded the people to pool all their road money and build each year a piece of really permanent road. They were not easy to persuade, and even after he had got a good start at one end of the nine mile stretch and the people saw the benefit there were some who wanted next year's work done opposite their farms. He persevered, however, and carried his point, and the nine-mile stretch was completed by working continuously from one end. When it was done the people wondered what they would do with their road money. Mr. Campbell suggested that they clean up the sides of the road and plant trees. They did so. Then the farmers felt that they must live up to their new highway, and plant and other improvements began to make themselves manifest. The road was kept in good condition, the trees grew and today there is no finer or more inviting stretch of road in the province. There is in this little story a lesson worth learning in New Brunswick, and if federal aid is added to the progressive road policy of the Foster government we may anticipate a great improvement in the highways of this province within a very few years.

If the report published in Kiev of the manner of the murder of the late Czar of Russia and his family is true, civilization should declare war against the Bolsheviks and bring to punishment the authors of this and many other horrible crimes that have stained recent Russian history. The world is not safe while Bolshevism is rampant anywhere. The people of the United States must be doing some hard thinking these days in regard to the anarchist element in some of the larger cities.

The appeal of the Red Triangle Club for books and magazines to be distributed among soldiers returning from overseas or in hospital should appeal to the sympathy of citizens, the more so that they often find themselves encumbered with such material for which they have no further use.

The Sinn Feiners have elected twenty-two members of the house of commons by acclamation. No doubt others will be elected. They will make things lively in the house. In the last house they had only six members.

Bangor Commercial—"Canada has adopted the thrift stamp idea and will be the gainer from the method of inculcating the young with the spirit of saving. The thrift stamp campaign in the United States has done much good."

The more the probe is applied the closer is found to have been the affiliation of the American brewers with pro-German activities in the United States. That will help the cause of prohibition.

The Kaiser says he refused for three days to sign the famous telegram to Kruger, but finally yielded to his political advisers. He was not the All Highest, after all, even in those days.

The British government has decided upon the nationalization of the railways. The Labor party wants many other things nationalized, and interesting developments may be expected within the next few years.

Canada would not profit greatly by a party led by a man with the political record of Hon. Robert Rogers. He is not a valuable asset to Canadian public life.

Ontario proposes with federal aid to embark on a great housing policy. All the provinces must face the same problem to some extent.

There are fourteen women among the candidates for the British house of commons. New Brunswick must at least give its women the franchise.

Mr. Winston Churchill does not think Heligoland will be of any particular use to Germany if left to her. But why not be sure about it?

Rev. F. H. Wentworth has tendered his resignation as pastor of Waterloo street Baptist church and accepted a call to the Baptist church in Quebec. Rev. Mr. Wentworth has been connected with the Waterloo street Baptist church for the last nine years and during that time worked faithfully in the interests of his flock. His departure will be keenly felt by his congregation as well as a host of friends.

CODFISH TALKS Issued by Canada Food Board. As a food cod is rich in protein and if properly cooked is palatable and delicious. There is no reason why it should not be used to a greater extent by the Canadian housewife. The Canada Food Board and the Marine and Fisheries Department strongly advocate the greater consumption of cod throughout the Dominion and have the strongest desire to stimulate the fishery. THE GERMAN COLONIES. Walter Hume Long, secretary of state for colonies, speaking at Bristol Sunday, disclosed the fact that he was a member of the committee mentioned in the premier on Nov. 29 to consider the terms that should be demanded from Germany. Therefore, he could emphasize that the empire need have no anxiety on the ground of undue tenderness on the part of Great Britain and the Allies. He said that although he did not desire to enlarge the British empire, he saw no alternative to the solution of the problem of the German colonies, save by their inclusion in the empire. Where the natives had been consulted they overwhelmingly favored that course, he said. MEDICAL HEAD HERE. Major-General Fotheringham, head of the Canadian medical services in Canada with headquarters at Ottawa, was in the city yesterday. General Fotheringham was in conference with Colonel Jost last evening.

MISSION MEETING. In St. Luke's church last evening a special missionary meeting was held, one of the mission institute services being conducted in the Anglican church. Harry Finch, chairman of the Laymen's Mission Committee, presided. Mr. Marley and Miss Rubins sang solos very acceptably and Rev. W. Tomalin gave a work among the Indians of the north-west, particularly in the Saskatchewan diocese. He spoke of the life there, of the difficulties of the work and of the great necessity for it. The lecture was nicely illustrated and was followed with keen interest by a very large gathering.

They leave to mourn, besides their parents, two sisters, Mrs. Frank Ryder, of Moncton, and Miss Bernice, at home.

The funeral arrangements will be announced in the evening papers.

LIBERALISM AND THE WAR

Liberalism who stood for conscription in the election of December last year, apologized to make. They are not upon the penitent bench, and have no intention of seeking a place there. They believed then, and believe now, that conscription was necessary to bring the slackers to time in all the provinces, and especially in the Province of Quebec, which had failed under the system of voluntary enlistment to provide its fair share of recruits for the Canadian army overseas. The evidence is altogether against the contention that sufficient reinforcements could have been secured by voluntary recruiting. Britain herself, having anything that lessens individual liberty, had to enforce compulsory service as Canada did. What the freedom-loving Breton of the Motherland submitted to in order that autocracy and militarism might be destroyed was not a burden too grievous to be borne by the Canadian people.

MEMORIALS OF THIS WAR

Tree-Lined Roadway is One Suggestion Adaptable for Every Country and Every Locality; Peculiarity Fitting for Canadian Communities

An English woman has suggested that memorial roadway lined with trees be built in every British country where by the heroes of this war will be kept in constant remembrance. She has undertaken to gain the interest of women in each section who might be influential in furthering this scheme. The idea is a fine one and should be carried out systematically. It has many points in its favor. For one thing the proposed memorial will be easily understood by every one. Those who stand unmoved and dumb before monuments of marble and bronze—and in the last analysis almost every one does—will respond to the lesson of the trees. "The groves were God's first temples" and their message penetrates into the densest understanding. Trees soothe or inspire, restrain or urge to action according to the need of the one who comes under their influence. Such an avenue would be peculiarly fitting for Canada. Forests are part of her birthright and nobly has she contributed to them for the empire's need. Trees and sturdy foresters have supplied ships and aeroplanes; no inconceivable "miracle" in this war has been contributed by trees. The idea of a tree-lined road is attractive because the road can be made so beautiful. Every tree indigenous to Canada can be used. Each province can become acquainted, perhaps for the first time with its own natural beauty. More than that, no child can learn to be indifferent to or wasteful of trees, destroying them wantonly or allowing them to go uncared for while this carefully selected and really sacred line of trees becomes more and more beautiful year after year. It is a great thing and a fine thing to love trees. This memorial road will teach that love. It happens more often than otherwise that monuments mean little to generations following that one which erected the monument. Localities change, styles of architecture change, centres of trade and social life move here and there, the elements get in their inevitable work and standards of art change. Within the course of a generation a monument which was considered imposing and elegant becomes an eye-sore. Its setting is destroyed or made incongruous, even its purpose loses its appeal. Not so with an avenue of trees. Their beauty can never die. They confer distinction on an otherwise unattractive spot and they go on increasing in beauty as long as they live. Every generation is kind to them and not one is capable of depriving the trees of beauty. The thing for which the road was made will never be forgotten, never lose its grandeur, its patios will never be diminished nor its magnificence dimmed because all these will be proclaimed in something that lives and grows. A memorial road is such an excellent idea, also, because all classes will be reached. High and low, rich and poor, city bred and country folk will all traverse the road and in some stage of the journey will think at least once of the work of sacrifice and love which is thus immortalized. The road might be a modest one leading to "God's acre" or it might be planned to finally become a long highway reaching from town to town, even from province to province. Why not? After this memorial road is well assured there are several other monuments which need to be made. One is to that pathic army—a veritable army—of boys who knew no home except that provided for "wails and strays." Canada has cared for hundreds. The pathetic loyalty of these homeless boys is one of the touching, inspiring things of this war. Many have laid down their lives well satisfied to repay in this way the care which British guardians have bestowed in place of father and mother. These boys should have a monument the most appealing and beautiful that any one can suggest. Their devotion should be immortalized in bronze and marble and also in something very human and appealing, something that will help other boys in like circumstances. And there should be a monument to the women who have lost sons or husbands, fathers or lovers. One stands abashed at the very thought of any sculptured pile that shall express adequately all that this monument must tell. Here, too, must be worked out something in marble and bronze but a greater something that touches the flesh and blood of every day living. Some great national monument, uplifting and fine, growing more beautiful with the years should be inaugurated and sustained in honor of Canada's bereaved but heroic and supremely noble women.

en members of the British educational mission were in attendance. President Hadley expressed the belief that exchange students should be allowed to go to the university of their own choice. He said the fundamental difficulty with the Rhodes scholarships was that they were subsidizing Oxford University. Exchange professors, also, he thought, should visit several universities. Dr. Arthur E. Shipley, vice-chancellor of Oxford, also thought that students should have freedom in deciding what university they should attend. The financial proposition might be taken care of by the universities themselves and some aid, he said, might be expected from the Rhodes trustees. He favored a paid secretary to oversee the plan. Sir Henry Myers, vice-chancellor of the University of Manchester, said he believed that few undergraduates in his country would come here for the present, but he believed the exchange idea offered a great opportunity for the American teacher to go to England.

MORE THAN 300,000 DEATHS FROM INFLUENZA

Washington, Dec. 4.—Between 800,000 and 900,000 deaths from influenza and pneumonia have occurred among the civilian population of the United States since Sept. 15, according to estimates today of the public health service. These calculations were based on reports from cities and states keeping accurate records and public health officials, but they are conservative.

No Mitigation of Armistice Terms

Copenhagen, Dec. 4.—The reply of Admiral Beatty, commander of the British Grand Fleet, to a request by Germany for mitigation of naval terms of the armistice, refuses any concessions regarding merchant shipping or fishing in the North Sea, the Berlin Wolff Bureau states.

Article XXVII of the armistice provided that all German merchant ships found at sea after the signing of the armistice would be liable to capture and that the Allied blockade would remain in force.

Article XXXIII declared that no German merchant shipping should be transferred to neutrals after the signing of the armistice.

CAPITAL AND LABOR JOIN IN MEMORIAL

Campaign of Optimism by Government Publicity Department One of Suggestions Made.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Organized labor and manufacturing interests joined this afternoon in a joint memorial to the government. Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Council, was there to represent organized labor. G. M. Murray, general secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association represented the manufacturers and S. W. MacLachlan represented the joint committee of technical organizations.

The memorial advocates among other things, the appointment of a bureau of public welfare; establishment of a bureau to take a survey of imports; refining and manufacture of Canadian raw materials in Canada; scientific and industrial researches and establishment of central empire authority on emigration; prompt commencement of necessary public works; co-operation between dominion and provinces in regard to technical education; a forward land settlement policy; creation of employment bureaus by the provinces in co-operation with the federal government; adoption by the dominion government of a comprehensive scheme for the development of water power. Further that the government publicity department should begin an optimistic campaign.

Of these suggestions, it is pointed out, a number have already been taken up by the dominion with the provincial governments and were in fact under discussion at the recent inter-provincial conference. These comprise such questions as technical education, land settlement and creation of employment bureaus. The government assured the delegation of full consideration of the recommendations made.

SCHOONER TO USE CRUDE OIL ENGINE

Ellsworth, Me., Dec. 4.—An auxiliary schooner, the first of its type to be built on the Atlantic coast, is now under construction at this place and the contract calls for its delivery Jan. 1. The vessel is being built for a Florida firm and Capt. W. F. McCoy, who designed the craft, is here superintending construction. Schooners of this type have been in use on the Pacific coast. The new craft will be for service between Miami, Florida, and Nassau. An auxiliary schooner is a sailing vessel with a gasoline engine to be used as an adjunct to sails. In the craft now building, the engine is a 10-horsepower, four-cylinder, vertical, water-cooled, and will depend upon a crude oil engine for its motive power. When there is a fair wind, advantage will be taken of it to help the engine, but at no time will sails be the dependency of the vessel. It will be 110 feet long, 21 feet beam. There will be a cargo capacity of 800 deadweight tons.

ARMENIANS SAY BRITISH ADVISED BAKU'S SURRENDER

National Union Seeks to Dispel "Unfavorable Opinion" Formed From This Incident of War.

New York, Dec. 4.—To dispel what its officers termed "a certain unfavorable opinion of the Armenians" as a result of the surrender of Baku to the Turks by the Armenian national union met last September the Armenian national union met public here tonight called reports of a British government statement declaring that the defense of the city had been abandoned with the approval of the British commander operating in that section of the eastern front.

The message, forwarded by the Armenian national delegation in Paris, quoted a statement by Lord Robert Cecil prior to his recent retirement as under secretary for foreign affairs.

The cablegram follows: "Lord Robert Cecil, on behalf of the government has made the following declaration: 'The British government has been informed that the negotiations which the Armenian commander at Baku conducted with the Turks with a view to surrendering the city were initiated at the instance of and with the full approval of the British commander. It is therefore unfair and unwarranted to blame the Armenians for that. There is not the slightest doubt that the cause of the Allies owes a debt of gratitude to the Armenians for all they have accomplished by fighting the Turks as bravely as they did under the most adverse conditions.'

DOMINION RUBBER SYSTEM AND ASSOCIATED COMPANIES

Why Dominion Belting Gives Superior Service

Over fifty years of practical belt making to meet special demands and conditions of Canadian Manufacturers has given us a fund of knowledge and experience that will prove invaluable to every user of belting.

We have determined to a scientific exactness the kind of fabric and rubber that gives the best service in each size of belt—the degree of temperature and the time necessary for proper curing and the correct construction of each belt for a given purpose.

We have developed our Dominion Friction Surface Belt to a point where it gives a pulley grip that has proved, in competitive tests, to be greater than that of any other belt made.

Before shipment is made every Dominion Rubber System Belt is tested in our laboratory for pulley grip—tensile strength—weight and cohesion of the plies.

This "proving up" process is the "safety first" measure that insures each belt meeting the high standard for quality and uniformity set by the Dominion Rubber System.

The superior service rendered by Dominion Rubber System Belting in actual use is only a part of the service rendered by the Dominion Rubber System—we maintain a free advisory department in charge of belting engineers—not merely salesmen but technical experts who know belting and machinery requirements thoroughly.

Through our service branches these experts and the facilities of Canada's largest rubber organization are at your service whether you are, at present, a customer or not.

If you are in trouble, phone, wire or write our nearest branch and test our emergency service.

Nominations in Great Britain

London, Dec. 4.—This was nomination day for candidates for parliament in the coming general election and among the surprises was the appearance of an opponent to Premier Lloyd George at Carnarvon, whom which district Lloyd George holds his seat.

Nominations in Great Britain

'That is a most disagreeable East wind. I nearly always catch cold in this kind of weather'

'WELL, I seldom have a cold, and you know that I go out, no matter what the weather is like.'

'How do you account for that?'

'For one thing I always try to dress to suit the season, and then I am careful to keep my general health in good condition.'

'As far as that goes, I am never very sick, but I do catch cold easily. I have always been inclined to be anemic. The doctor says the blood is thin and I lack the reserve force necessary to ward off disease.'

'That used to be my trouble, but a friend told me about using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to build up the blood and make it pure and rich, and I followed her advice.'

'How did that help you?'

'Well, as I understand it, the germs of disease cannot make much headway when the blood is rich and red. If they do get into the system the red corpuscles in the blood overcome them and good health is maintained.'

'There may be something in that.'

'My experience proves it, for I used to be easy prey for every cold or contagious disease that was about.'

'Well, what causes pneumonia?'

'Pneumonia, the doctors say, is usually the result of catching cold when you are tired and the system in an exhausted condition. That should be a warning to everybody to keep their vitality up to high-water mark.'

'I never just thought of it that way before, but I guess you have studied this thing out about right. What did you say you used?'

'Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. When I first used it I was pale and weak and much run-down in health. My head ached frequently, and I had spells of indigestion. It took about fifteen boxes of the Nerve Food to get my system in good healthy condition, but it changed my whole life, for I have been so healthy ever since.'

'How long ago was that?'

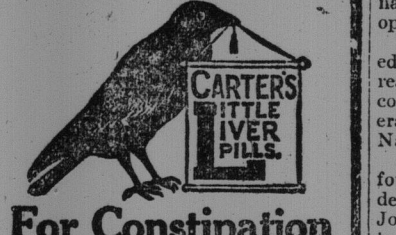

'Why, it must be ten years.'

'And have you never used any since?'

'Yes, I have used a few boxes at odd times. Sometimes in the spring I don't feel any too brisk and find the benefit of using some Nerve Food, but I think nearly everybody is the better for a little restorative treatment then.'

'Well, must say you make out a good case for Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. There are so many of the same opinion I believe I will go in for the 'red blood idea' and see if I cannot prevent colds and steer clear of the grippe and pneumonia.'

You can obtain Dr. Chase's Nerve Food from all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto, at 50 cents a box, or $2.75. You are protected from imitations by the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., which are on every box.

SHOCKING STORY OF ALLEGED MURDER OF THE ROMANOFFS

London, Dec. 5.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam says the Kiev newspaper published a story, given by the valet of the former Empress of Russia, of the murder of the Romanoff family by the Bolsheviks. According to the story the once royal family was compelled to live in a single room of a convent at Ekaterinburg for weeks before the murder, under guard of Bolshevik soldiers who insulted them shamefully.

The valet said on July 17 all the members of the family were taken to the cellar of the convent and placed against the wall and shot one after the other. According to the story the murderer granted the last request of the former Emperor Nicholas that his wife, who was ill, should die in his arms. According to the valet, the Grand Duchess Tatiana was only wounded by the shots of the riflemen and was killed by blows from their rifle butts. All the bodies were burned in the outskirts of Ekaterinburg.

The funeral will take place from her late residence on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock to Trinity church, where service will be held by Rev. Mansel Sheehan.

IN WALL STREET

New York, Dec. 5.—Stocks made a more indifferent response at the opening of today's trading to the action of a money committee in restoring margins to the twenty per cent. rate. Initial prices were irregular, stocks, copper, equipments and motors recording fractional recessions, but the list soon steadied on a moderate inquiry for rails and shippings; also specialties, including tobacco and sugar issues. Liberty fourth & 1-4's were again at the new low record of 96.14.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

THIS TRAY TABLE OFFERS SOMETHING NEW AND USEFUL AS A GIFT

Here we have an innovation that will attract the attention of every woman who wants something decidedly practical as a Christmas gift—a Tray-Table, serving at once as a tray and a table. For the man at a loss what to give his wife, this Tray-Table will prove just the thing.

TABLE FOLDED AS A TRAY

The Tray-Table Illustrated
A glance at the illustrations will show how the Tray-Table may be made to serve in its dual capacity. A mere touch of the thumbs and down drop four legs, making a table as firm and solid as though it were always a table. When ready to remove the dishes, another slight touch and immediately the four legs disappear—fold up snugly against the bottom of the tray.

The Tray-Table is a handsome piece, made of mahogany with brass handles; tray is of ample size and the table is of correct height.
