Rev. C. W. Gordon on British Columbia Mines—Their Value Incalculable.

Conditions in Regard to Intemperance and Immorality—Crow's Nest Pass.

(From Toronto Globe.)

Rev. Charles W. Gordon of Winnipeg, who was sent out by the Home Mission Committee of the Presbyterian Church on four of inspection of the various mission fields along the line of the Crow's Nest Pass railway and in the lower Kootenays, is in Toronto at present, the guest of his brother, Dr. Gordon of Spadina avenue. Mr. Gordon visited the different points on the Crow's Nest Pass railway, calling at Placher Creek, Bull Head, Fernie, Cranbrook and Port Steele. From Cranbrook he travelled by construction train and hauled to the end of the steel, and from Moyie Lake he rode about 50 miles to Kuskanook on the Kootenay lake, which will be the western terminus of the line of the railway. From this point monster barges will convey the cars to connect with Nelson. In answer to a question as to the character of the country through which the line runs, Mr. Gordon said: "The gateway opens from the ranching country. The coal brought into those immense coal fields, perhaps the most magnificent in America, at Coal Creek, or Fernie, as the town is called. The mines are now being worked, and are supplying all the locomotives on that line and will be shipping fuel into the Kootenay this year. They are also establishing coke ovens. They are erecting 50 when I was there, and expect to have 100 very soon. After leaving this district you come right up the mountains, passing by the Crow's Nest. This is a very curious mountain, a peak that stands up by itself. Then you come into the valleys and wide and a good deal of ranching is going on. Herds of horses and cattle are grazed there, and some old settlers are raising crops and doing dairy work. Cranbrook is a divisional point on the railway, and bids fair to be an important town. There is no development here west of this and the Kootenay. The scenery along the line is not so overpowering as along the main line. The mountains are lower, but they are bits of scenery as beautiful or more beautiful than anything on the main line. The entrance to the Crow's Nest, for instance, surpasses even the finest scenery on the main line, and Goat river canyon at the east end, while it is not so terrible as the Fraser, is still a very remarkable bit of scenery. It is a sheer deep cut like a cleft through a mountain, and through this cut, which is only about 600 yards across from tip to tip, foams the torrent of the Goat river. As to the line itself, it will be easy to operate and keep open, as the gradients are low, never exceeding one per cent, chiefly owing to the ingenuity and cleverness of Mr. McLeod, the engineer."

Preserve the West.

On being asked his opinion as to the economic value of the road, Mr. Gordon said: "I think, first of all, it brings all eastern Canada nearer to the Kootenay country, which is a very important thing, because of the heavy competition from the south. If we can bring the merchants of Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg nearer to this country we shall have done a great deal to strengthen the lines of the east and west. Another important thing is that by this line you will furnish the Kootenays with the food products of the prairies, and furnish the smelters and all manufacturing operations with the very best of coal and coke. The building of the railway opens a new era of prosperity for South Kootenay. It is of the very greatest importance that the lines of trade running east and west should be developed rather than those running north and south. We are in danger of having British Columbia become an American province—America in its business methods, in its social customs and in its morality."

"Business men in the east, for their own sake and the sake of Canada, can not afford to lose sight of their own country, and to lose sight of the next few years of southern British Columbia. Its wealth is enormous, and the market for all kinds of trade goods is very great. The Americans are making enormous efforts to get it, and nothing was more striking than the solid progress made by such towns as Nelson and Rossland. The streets are being laid out, substantial business blocks and beautiful residences are being built, electric light and power established, first-class churches and schools erected, and altogether these two cities have every appearance of solid and sure commercial prosperity."

Illimitable Wealth.

"What opinion did you form of the wealth of the mines was the next question asked of Mr. Gordon, who replied:

"All the Slovan country is, of course, silver, and the value of these mines depends on the value of silver. If silver ever goes up to even 75 cents or 80 cents there will be a big rush to these mines, because while the grade of the ore is high, the ore is in large masses and can be got out with comparative ease. The gold-bearing mines in Rossland have, of course, long passed the stage of prospects. In the Le Roi, e.g., they are down to the 700 foot level, and three compressors are working side by side in the solid body of ore, and so free is this ore from worthless material that it is not even picked over, but simply piled into the trucks and carted away to the smelter. Of course in Rossland the opinion is that, important as the Le Roi is, it will be equalled and perhaps surpassed by the Centre Star. Then the third in the mountain is the War Eagle, which is also a sure and valuable mine. The Centre Star district the country is so rich in mines that the wildest calculation cannot properly estimate its value, and Canadians may accept any estimate that is made. One man, a railway man of wide experience, observing and conservative, said to me that if I per cent of the mines prospecting and partially developed in the Kootenays were proved to be valuable he would set down that region as the richest mining region in the world."

Intemperance and Immorality.

"What about the moral condition of the mining districts?" queried the reporter.

"There are," Mr. Gordon replied, "two great evils that are really one, intemperance and immorality. You know the class of men the miners are, reckless, warm-hearted and free-handed. They get big pay, and then the British Columbia government puts down in every little camp licensed saloons, which simply suck the miners dry. It seems to me an awful thing that during the construction of the railway there were 40 licensed places within the boundaries of British Columbia along the line. I cannot imagine what the British Columbia government were thinking of. These licenses were granted by the British Columbia government in opposition to the protest of the manager of construction and the contractors. One of the very great causes of trouble in that Crow's Nest construction, I believe, was the ease with which bad whiskey was obtained by the men. One of the contractors at this end of the line told me that there were two or three saloons in the main camp at Goat river. Crossing that he said that they would have been through with the work two months sooner if it had not been for the whiskey allowed there. The British Columbia government showed no sense of responsibility. In the most reckless way they handed out licenses to irresponsible men. Along with that you have immorality. While you have whiskey flowing you have immorality. In every town you have a recognized quarter of the town's equipment to have a quarter for immorality, and these women have been known to take in a single day $200 of a town of only a thousand people. In one saloon on a big race day there was taken over one bar over $1,000. British Columbia will never be a temperance country. It is its vice if it is going to have anything like prosperity. All the churches will be in a state of decay, and the only united work. I am saying this only about places I saw and things I saw with my own eyes."

IN AID OF THE SICK

Ladies of the Agnorian Society Have Accomplished Some Very Excellent Work.

At a cost of very nearly $1,000, two recovery rooms have been added to the Provincial Royal Jubilee hospital and electric lights installed throughout the building. This work, which has immeasurably gratified the directors, has been accomplished by the ladies of the Agnorian Society, and yesterday a very interesting ceremony took place at the hospital, when the directors formally received keys of the rooms and took over the electric lighting conveniences. The members of the board present were President Alex. Wilson, and Messrs. Helmcken, Flumerfelt, Shonheit, Braverman, and the secretary, Mr. Erworthy. Of the Agnorian Society, the president, Mrs. M. E. Eberts, and Miss Hall, the secretary, were accompanied by Mesdames W. S. Chambers, Kyeck, Goepel, Erb, J. R. Anderson, Heisterman, and Misses A. M. Chambers, Chamberlain, Chambers, Hall and Heisterman. President Wilson opened the proceedings by stating the object of the meeting, to formally thank the ladies of the Agnorian Society for the two rooms built and furnished by them and the health care with the electric light installed. Mrs. D. M. Eberts, as president of the Agnorian Society, in a few well-chosen words, tendered the keys of the rooms to the president, who, receiving them, called upon Mr. H. Dallas Helmcken to express thanks on behalf of the directors. Mr. Helmcken dwelt at some length upon the good work of the society, and incidentally directed attention to the fact that his father, Hon. J. S. Helmcken, is most anxious to see a maternity home established at the hospital. Mr. Helmcken concluded by moving a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies, and it was resolved that the same should be recorded in the minutes by the secretary. Mr. Flumerfelt seconded the motion in a particularly happy speech, and it was carried unanimously. The proceedings took place in the matron's room, and a move was then made to the recovery rooms, which were inspected, and then those present made a visit to the different wards, concluding a ceremony which will long be remembered by all who took part.

A LENGTHY SEARCH

After Touring the Globe in Search of Her Husband Mrs. Lewis Finds Him in Japan.

About a year and a half ago Albert E. Lewis, a Montreal real estate agent, fled from his home, leaving no trace of himself. His wife, Mrs. Lewis, has been completely from all who knew him as though he had emigrated. There was considerable mystery about his flight, and it was thought by the detectives commissioned to pursue him that he had been foully dealt with. The search for her husband, which was conducted by the Japanese, she covered the best part of the known world, and at last found the object of her search at Yokohama, Japan, from whence she arrived a few days ago on the R.M.S. Empress of Japan on her way to her home in Montreal. When interviewed by the press, she said: "I visited several Chinese and Japanese cities."

Mrs. Lewis seemed in excellent spirits in the contrast to her mood when here before. She was obviously overjoyed at the success of her mission. She had nothing whatever to say regarding her husband's reason for leaving, nor for the peculiar manner in which he attempted to make it appear that he had been murdered. The letter which was received under his signature and published in the press, she said, was authentic and correct.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION.

Over Five Thousand Men Employed Between Robson and Greenwood.

Over 5,000 men are now employed on the railway construction between Robson and Greenwood, the headquarters of which are at Brooklyn. During the last month laborers have continued to come in steadily and have been set to work at once.

Next Thursday is the monthly pay day of the contractors. Paymaster Woodman has found it necessary to put on a clerk to get out the large force employed.

The work is now all under way as far as Greenwood, and large forces of men can be seen all along the line. As far as the sub-contractors finish some of the easy work below here they are rushed to the front, where plenty of good weather has prevailed thus far, but the wet season is setting in, when the work cannot be pushed so fast. It is, therefore, safe to say that the headquarters will not be moved from Brooklyn till spring. This will mean a continuance of the good business now prevailing here until that time at least. The contractors will disburse over $200,000 this month all told.—Brooklyn News.

To Eradicate Marking Ink.

When linen is not marked before it is sent to the laundry, the washerwomen have a great failing for marking articles with great sprawling figures that are most unsightly upon dainty handkerchiefs and linen. To remove such characters, as soon as the garments come home soak the marked spots in a weak solution of chloride of lime and water, and finally wring out the linen in a solution of ammonia.

Wash Your Lemons.

The tiny black spots so often seen on the rind of lemons are the eggs of an insect, says the Canadian Home Journal. If the grated rind is used, and the lemon has not been washed, these eggs become an ingredient of the dish. Lemons should be dropped into water as soon as they come from the store, and should be carefully rubbed with a small brush kept for the purpose.

BLACKGUARD JOURNALISM.

"Don" on Tory Malice Towards Yukon Officials.

Judge McGuire was honest and he left the Arctic zone a year's unalpiness in the Arctic zone. Fred Wade, the prosecuting attorney, is as manly a man, as courageous and as honest as could have been found anywhere in Canada. He returned from the Yukon disheartened with the venom of those who seem to desire to destroy every Canadian reputation in the Arctic zone. He is known as a thoroughly upright man, yet the papers that praised him when he was only a surveyor and made his report for the government will be squinting fifth on him in a little while. Mr. Fawcett, the gold commissioner, is one of those oddly constituted men, who with the roughest surroundings, has been conspicuously religious without any touch or taint of cant. People know that he is a good man; they are thoroughly convinced that his religion is not a sham; yet nothing is too bad to be said by people who never knew the man or are in the slightest degree conversant with his daily walk and conversation, but who are delighted to do him harm.

Love and Conversation.

Conversation is the basis of all friendship and love, says H. de H. Haig, an Englishman who has just been trying to define for his countrywomen that indescribable quality in woman which makes all men her slaves. Many an embryo lover has been scared away, he says, by the initial difficulty of keeping the ball of conversation rolling; he does not know what to talk about to the strange creature by his side, and she on her side knows nothing of what interests him and is too shy to ask him.

It is in the art of keeping up a conversation that women so often fail—yes, and men, too—but many men get over the difficulty by not going into society.

Women never shut themselves up, and their want of conversation is therefore more marked. In every sentence there are what one may call leaders, or ideas which may lead one to further subjects, which, if judiciously selected, may be made to lead the conversation in any particular direction. To be able to guide the talk without lapses, abrupt changes, or apparent effort toward the subject, is a woman's art. Women who are what one may call leaders, or ideas which may lead one to further subjects, which, if judiciously selected, may be made to lead the conversation in any particular direction. To be able to guide the talk without lapses, abrupt changes, or apparent effort toward the subject, is a woman's art.

Unfortunatly, it is as unrecognized as it is rare in its fullest development; but this is the real solid foundation of charm in woman; it is the art for her to cultivate if she wishes to attract and win men. There are many other attractions which may add to and increase this charm, but there is nothing else that gives a woman so much hold over the other sex.

It is a very common idea among women that men like to be talked to amused. To a certain extent it is true; the merry prattle of a young girl has its charm, especially if she is pretty and innocent, and it may help an hour or two to pass pleasantly away; but there is nothing lasting in it, nothing that can hold a man and command his love and permanently retain. An outline from which the outer skin has been peeled, is an excellent thing to place in a sick room in which an infectious disease is running its course, as it collects many germs that might otherwise do in-

GAINED THIRTY-NINE POUNDS.

The Experience of Miss Flora Ferguson, of Sydney—For Five Years She Was An Almost Helpless Invalid.

From the Sydney, N.S., Reporter.

Many of our Cape Breton readers, especially those residing in Sydney and vicinity, will remember the subject of this article, and also Miss Flora Ferguson when residing at home on Harwood Hill, just on the borders of the town. From 1893 to 1895 sickness preyed upon Miss Ferguson, and from a bright and healthy girl she became an invalid, completely given up to weakness and despondency. In the spring of 1895 she left her home and went to the States, where she had a sister and friends, thinking that a change of climate might benefit her. While there she was attended by medical men, but without any improvement, in fact she gradually grew worse, until she used to spend the greater part of every day on the lounge at her sister's. Friends came to see her, only to go away with the sympathetic remark, "Poor Flora, she is not long for this world." From the beginning of her sickness up to the time when the first box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was taken, she had tried upwards of twenty different kinds of medicine—some from doctors and some of the many patent drugs or sale at drug stores. Hearing from a friend of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Miss Ferguson resolved to give them a trial, and requested her sister to get her a box. As day by day she began to feel better and her spirits to return, and in the course of a few weeks she walked to the postoffice and home again. Miss Ferguson continued taking the Pink Pills until she had completed the eighth box her weight had increased to 141 pounds. She had completed the above facts were told to Mr. Richardson, the editor, and with beaming countenance Miss Ferguson agreed to have him tell the people "How Dr. Williams' Pink Pills brought her from the gates of death to the enjoyment of the above facts were told to Mr. Richardson, the editor, and with beaming countenance Miss Ferguson agreed to have him tell the people "How Dr. Williams' Pink Pills brought her from the gates of death to the enjoyment when in Sydney, knowing how ill she was and seeing her a physically changed person, was enough to be amazed at the change.

AGONIZING PAINS OF SCIATICA.

Probably no trouble that afflicts mankind causes more intense agony than sciatica. Frequently the victim is utterly helpless, the least movement causes the most agonizing pains. To those who are suffering from this malady, the following statement from Mr. John Hayes, of Hayesville, York Co., N. B., will point the road to relief and cure. Mr. Hayes says:—"For upwards of twenty years I have suffered from weakness and pain in the back. Some four years ago my trouble was increased by a sciatic setting in my leg. What I suffered seems almost beyond description. I employed three doctors, but all to no purpose. I had to give up work entirely and almost despaired of life. This continued for two years—years filled with misery. At this time I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using six boxes both the sciatica and the weakness in the back which had troubled me so long, were gone. I was again a wellman and feeling fifteen years younger than I had before I began the pills. Nearly two years have passed since I discontinued the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in that time no symptom of the trouble has shown itself. Under God I thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for what they have done for me." Mr. Hayes voluntarily testifies to the truth of the above statement before Edward Whosead, Esq., J.P., and his statements are further vouched for by Rev. J. N. Barnes, of Stanley, N.B.

CONFERENCE

A Big Gathering of Men Objecting to Disfranchisement. The Clauses in the Bill Proposed.

The most important event of the week has been the meeting of the men objecting to the proposed disfranchisement bill. The gathering was held in the evening at the Hotel Victoria, and was attended by a large number of prominent citizens. The object of the meeting was to discuss the proposed bill and to formulate a plan of action.

The bill proposed by the government is a measure of extreme severity, and it is believed that it will have a disastrous effect on the colored population of the State. The men who are objecting to the bill are of various opinions, but they all agree that the bill is unjust and oppressive. They are determined to resist the bill by every means in their power.

The chairman of the meeting, Mr. J. H. Williams, stated that the bill was a direct attack on the rights of the colored people, and that it was a violation of the principles of justice and equality. He called on the men present to stand by their principles and to resist the bill by every means in their power. He also called on the men present to form a committee to investigate the bill and to report to the people.

The meeting adjourned at a late hour, and the men present were determined to continue their efforts to resist the bill. They are confident that they will be able to defeat the bill, and to secure the rights of the colored people. They are also confident that they will be able to secure the passage of a bill that will be just and equitable to all the people of the State.

The meeting was a success, and it is believed that it will have a great effect on the minds of the people.
