WILD STORM SUNDAY MORNING

Wind Did Damage—Rain Fell in Torrents.

A severe wind and rain storm prevailed at an early hour Sunday morning. The wind blew a gale and trees and fences were blown down and other damage done. The rain fell in torrents for a time, but cleared up after daylight, although the wind continued all day. At Chatham a heavy wind storm raged and much damage was done. The schooner Ada, belonging to Snowball Co., was riding out the storm in the river, when her anchor began to drag. A large crowd watched the vessel, as it was expected to be driven ashore, but after some work by the crew the anchor got a firm hold and the vessel rode out the gale in safety. The J. B. Snowball Co. lost between 60,000 and 70,000 feet of lumber from booms at their mill here. The steam ferry could not make a trip during the day, so heavy was the run of sea in the river.

LIGHTS NOW AT BRIDGETOWN

Connections Made Saturday and Everything Satisfactory.

The extension of the electric lights system to Bridgetown, which has been delayed by the non-arrival of copper wire has at last been completed and light was turned Saturday evening. Everything was highly satisfactory and it is now up to the residents along the line to have their houses wired and use this light.

COLLISION ON C. B. RAILWAY.

Glance Bay, N. S., Oct. 8.—The worst collision in the history of the Sydney and Louisburg Railway, owned by the Dominion Coal Company, happened near Glance Bay tonight and one man is dead, another dying and nine others are injured.

The accident was caused by a collision in a deep cut of the road between a construction train and a train of empties coming from Louisburg.

lastown recently shot a nice moose. It had a spread of 43 inches.

Messrs. F. W. Osgood of New York and B. A. Eastman, of Baner, Vermont, returned Friday from a hunting trip to Duaktown. They had the good luck to shoot a moose and a bear. Mr. Daniel Storey was guide for the party.

Mr. Charles E. Bridges of Shelburne, Ont., who was on the South-west Miramichi a few days ago, with antlers spreading fifty-three inches.

Mr. John McKane and party who spent a week in the woods with Edward Menzies had very good sport. Mr. C. N. Eaton of New York succeeded in killing a very nice head, while Mr. Oliver Wren got a nice deer.

T. W. Butler Barrister of Newcastle still holds the record for killing his moose in short time. Last year with the well known and popular young guide, Wm. McKay he had his moose killed and dressed and was on his way home in one hour and fifty minutes.

This year he was guided by Jasf Way, one of Miramichi's best guides. They left Newcastle, Friday at 5 o'clock, drove to Way's camp on Trout Brook meadows. He killed a moose, four partridge and an eagle, and was home at noon on Sunday.

Mr. Butler, while well versed in the habits of game and experienced in woodcraft claims that it is useless to go out for big game without a Miramichi guide, and he always takes one, for then he is assured no other hunter is going to shoot him in mistake for game. Our guides each have their own traps and no two men are out at the same time.

TELEPHONE CO. MAKING TROUBLE

Town Officials Claim the Telephone Co. is Exceeding Rights

NOTICE GIVEN.

And Injunction Will be Placed on Company if Necessary.

The town officials who are looking after the interests of the citizens in regard to the placing of telephone poles and wires on the streets are having their work cut out for them, and at the present time something near a rupture has taken place.

The town officials claim that the Telephone Company is endeavoring to do pretty much as it sees fit, and in several instances the instructions as to where poles and guys should be placed have not been followed. Also on a portion of Pleasant street the company is erecting another line of poles, while it already has a line on this street. There is also the matter of the way the guys are secured and other matters which are not being done to the satisfaction of the town and there is talk of placing an injunction on the company. We trust the matter will be amicably settled and thus allow the much needed telephone improvements to be made.

MONSTER HEAD ON EXHIBITION

Largest Ever Killed in this Province Now at Fredericton.

The head of the monster moose shot on Young's Brook, by Mr. Roy Robinson, of Marysville, was brought to the city Thursday afternoon, and for a time was on exhibition at Emack Bros's establishment, where it attracted much attention. The antlers were measured with a steel tape and showed a spread of sixty-seven inches straight across. The blades are not overly large, considering the extraordinary spread, but are of good formation and well palminated. They seem to have grown straight out from the skull, and are well matched, each blade having thirteen distinct points.

The largest moose ever shot in New Brunswick, of which there is any record, was taken on the Gullique, a tributary of the Tobique, in 1904, by Mr. H. W. Phillips, C. P. R. agent at Edmundston. The antlers had a spread of sixty-eight inches and carried thirty points.

Two years ago, Mr. George Brown of Boiestown, shot a moose at Indian Lake on the Little South-west Miramichi, with antlers spreading sixty-seven inches, and having twenty-six points. This head was mounted by Emack Bros. and afterwards sold to Mr. Chas. Mallory of New York.—Fredericton Herald.

TILLSONS MAKE IT

RECONIZE WHAT GREAT GAME LAND THIS IS

Good Words from Outside About New Brunswick's Attractions for Sportsmen.

The Boston and Maine Messenger in an article on the hunting has the following:

"New Brunswick, which is practically a continuation of the Maine big game country, is becoming exceedingly popular with hunters, and some wonderful stories of the size and number of the moose and deer seen in that province are printed every year. In the Dunganven district last fall, two Massachusetts men each got a moose weighing 1,400 pounds, with an antler spread of fifty inches. These gentlemen and their party saw 125 moose while they were in the woods, and this game is said to be multiplying very rapidly there.

"New Brunswick has the additional advantage over Maine that the shooting of caribou is allowed there. The animals appear to be very plentiful, too, something like 100 being killed last season. The New Brunswick record for moose last year was 350. The big game season opens a month earlier than in Maine the bulk of big game being killed during the latter part of September or the early part of October. The license fee for non-residents is $50."

You Need Strength.

Vitality is Lacking and You Must Have a Bracing Tonic at Once.

You're sick and need medicine. Not an emulsion to sicken the stomach, not a "dope" cure, nor bitters,—but a nourishing tonic that will increase weight, strength and spirits.

Try Ferrozone and watch the result. Because it gives instant effect and steadily builds up new flesh, it is used by thousands in ill-health.

No other medicine contains more nutriment, supplies better building material, makes you feel well and strong as quickly as it did Mrs. Charles Benny, of Clove, Ont.

HER STATEMENT
"I was sick. I was broken down, had no strength, couldn't eat. I was sleepless. My nerves were irritable. I was thin-blooded and continually unhappy. I tried Ferrozone. It gave me new energy, force, vim. It brought me comfort, strength—it made me well."

It's by making the appetite good, by instilling iron and ozone in the blood, by fortifying the system with reserve strength, that Ferrozone accomplishes so much. You'll have new life in a week, in a month you'll be like a new being. Try Ferrozone, it always justifies itself, 50c. per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers.

Best Kidney Remedy Known To Science

For pain in the back—scanty urine—highly colored urine—irritated bladder—irregular bowels—bad stomach—there is nothing that will bring such quick relief and so certain a cure as FRUIT-A-TIVES.

These marvelous tablets are nature's natural remedy for irritated or weakened kidneys. They act directly on the kidneys—soothe the irritated membranes—clean, heal and strengthen the organs—and help them to new vigor with their work.

Often kidney trouble is not due to any organic defect in the kidneys. If the bowels are constipated—if the skin does not throw off the tissue waste of the body—then these impurities are carried to the kidneys. In a vain endeavor to rid the system of impurities, the kidneys are overworked—the blood vessels are dilated—the nerves inflamed. That causes a host of kidney troubles.

Fruit-a-tives

not only heal and strengthen the kidneys but they also increase the action of the skin, and act directly on the liver, thus curing the constipation. FRUIT-A-TIVES are the natural and logical cure for all kidney troubles. They are made of fruit and tonic—are pleasant to take—and a guaranteed cure when faithfully used. See a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your druggist does not handle them.

DOES YOUR HEART FLUTTER

You know that heart fluttering means you're not as well as you should be. It's an evidence of impaired nerve and muscular power. To obtain cure, try Ferrozone; it has special action on the heart as seen in the case of Thos. Grover of Coles Harbor, N. S., who says: "If I exerted myself it would bring palpitation. To carry any heavy weight or go quickly upstairs completely knocked me out. When had attacks came on I lived in fear of sudden death. Ferrozone gave my heart the very assistance it needed, and now I am quite well." For heart or nerves it's hard to excel Ferrozone, 50c per box at all dealers.

TAKE NOTICE OF BOOM IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

Report of U. S. Consul at Moncton to His Government at Washington.

The Boston Herald published the following Tuesday:

Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—Industrial conditions are on the "boom" in New Brunswick, according to a recent report of Consul Gustave Bentspacher of Moncton. The building trades especially are active, although skilled labor is scarce owing to the fact that many of the young men are leaving for the Canadian North-west.

"Wages," says the consul, "are continually on the increase and the cost of living is very expensive, as the price of provisions almost doubled during the last few years. Statistics for foreign shipments for the calendar year 1905 show a slight gain in the total over 1904 though they were less than in 1903 when they reached $590,255. In 1905 the total trade of the district was $530,357. The plaster shipments at Hillsboro, all for the American market, show a remarkable gain, being 91,000 tons in 1894 and 132,233 tons in 1905. Great Britain took $281,151 worth of sawn lumber, and the United States took $46,059 worth, besides crude and calcined gypsum valued at $136,413 and $183,147, respectively.

"In the last ten years the dairy industry has made rapid strides. In 1896 the output of butter and cheese in New Brunswick amounted to $76,000 and in 1905 the value was $344,000. In some counties the factories are run on a co-operative plan and the returns show that the system is a good one. Very little butter and cheese went to Great Britain. The local market and the West Indies took most of the output. The average price for cheese was 12 cents and for butter 21 cents a pound. In 1905 there were 43 cheese factories in operation against 53 in 1904, turning out a product valued at $143,315 against $161,262 for the output in 1904. In creamery butter making there was an increase of 10,701 pounds.

"The shipments of fish from Moncton and the two agencies, Newcastle and Richibucto, to the United States for the last six months of 1905 were valued at $327,893, against $169,973 for the same period in 1904. The increase was chiefly in canned lobsters.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Laundry building, Tracadie, N. B.," will be received at this office until 20th October, 1906, inclusively, for the construction of a laundry building and a Septic tank at the Lazaret Tracadie, N. B.

Plans and specification can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and on application to Dr. A. C. Smith, Tracadie. Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

is better than other Soaps but is best when used in the Sunlight way. Follow directions.

SUNLIGHT WAY OF WASHING

FIRST.—Dip the article to be washed in a tub of lukewarm water; draw it out on a wash-board and rub the soap lightly over it. Be particular not to rub soaping and over. THEN roll it in a light roll, lay in the tub under the water, and go on the same way until all the pieces have the soap rubbed on, and are rolled up.

Then go away for thirty minutes to one hour and let the "Sunlight" Soap do its work. NEXT.—After soaking the full time rub the clothes lightly out on a wash-board, and the dirt will drop out; turn the garment inside out to get at the seams, but don't use any more soap; don't wash or beat a single piece, and don't wash through two soaps. If the water gets too dirty pour a little out and add fresh. If a streak is hard to wash, rub some more soap on it, and throw the piece back into the suds for a few minutes.

LASTLY COMES THE RINSING, which is to be done in lukewarm water, taking special care to get all the dirty suds away, then wring out and hang up to dry.

For Woolens and Flannels proceed as follows:—Shake the article free from dust. Cut a ball of SUNLIGHT SOAP into shavings, pour into a gallon of boiling water and sink into a tub. When just lukewarm, work article in the latter without rubbing. Squeeze out dirty water without twisting and rinse thoroughly in two changes of lukewarm water. Squeeze out water without twisting and hang in the open air.

The most delicate colors may be safely washed in the "Sunlight" way.

$5,000 REWARD will be paid to any person who proves that Sunlight Soap contains any injurious chemicals or any form of adulteration.

5c. Buy it and follow directions. 5c.

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY EXPANSION.

Apparently, the Minister of Railways has made up his mind that the time is rapidly approaching when it will be in the interests of the country to purchase the branch railway lines connecting with the Intercolonial. Before that matter can be considered, however, he has to show that the government railway can be run successfully, and to that end he is bending all his energies, reducing expenses wherever possible, and increasing the receipts. The result so far, as shown by the official returns, has been satisfactory. Addressing a meeting of liberal workers at Moncton on Friday evening, Mr. Emmerson said:

He had his eye for some time on the Intercolonial Railway absorbing every branch line that now connects with it. He had made his proposition with parliament, he would have been laughed at. But the very moment it is shown that the railway is being operated successfully the men of the West will say "yes, it is a good thing to have the I. C. R. take these roads over." The branch roads, subsidized as they were, meant thousands of dollars of the people's money, and in what condition were they? Some of them so bad you would not risk your life on them but little you had a very heavy accident policy. And what of the people living along the lines of these roads? Paying taxes for the maintenance of lines that gave them but little service. It was the policy of the I. C. R. to take hold of these roads and operate them successfully. The very moment the I. C. R. had a showing that convinced the people of the West that it was expedient to put these branch lines under Intercolonial management then such a thing would come to pass.—Ex.

Independent conservative papers, such as the Toronto News, Toronto Telegram and Ottawa Journal have had very successful criticisms of the conservative members of parliament who have been figuring in the transactions exposed before the Insurance Commission. Now the Toronto World, controlled and edited by a conservative member of parliament, is equally severe on the "Lefurgeys and the Posters and their other associates" who "got the tips they got only because they would be expected to give back votes in return." The records of parliament show, adds the World, that these gentlemen paid the debt.—Globe.

So judging from the sartorial indications Mr. Tweedie expects the governorship or a judgeship, and Mr. Blair is looking for a constituency. These indications of coming events may or may not be as trustworthy as "Onlooker's" sources of political information, but we commend them to his attention.—World.

BIG GAME PRESERVE AND THE GOVERNMENT

The newly organized New Brunswick Fish and Game Club will not be able to exclude the general public from the enjoyment of hunting rights on their land if the government can prevent it. At Wednesday night's meeting of the executive Premier Tweedie stated that the matter had been brought to his notice, and that he would inform the company that such action as proposed will be looked upon with great disfavor by the government and legislature, should they signify their intention of closing their land to the public. So far as hunting rights were concerned legislation would undoubtedly be sought to thwart them in such action.

DALHOUSIE TO HAVE NEW WATER SYSTEM WITHIN A YEAR

Dalhousie, N. B., Oct. 6.—Before twelve months Dalhousie will have a complete water system. At a special meeting of the town council held this week the tender of the well known Restigouche contractor Murdock G. Mann, for $37,500 was accepted. Water will be brought by gravitation a distance of two and a half miles. It is expected that the work from the town to the brook will be done this fall.

This contract does not include the reservoir and some other extras but the whole system will be executed at less cost than the estimate. It remains now with the owners of land in the town to offer building lots for sale at reasonable price for Dalhousie to advance.

Mrs. McLean was a daughter of Bernard Sewell deceased of Lower Caraqueet. She leaves a loving husband, 5 small children a widowed mother and 6 sisters and three brothers, and a large circle of friends to mourn the sad loss. She had her husband, two sisters, Sadie and Maggie Sewell at her bedside to see her die. When she became ill the Dr. was immediately sent for but before he reached her she had passed away to the glorious home where there is no more pain or sorrow.

B., passing away about thirteen years later. During the past fifteen years Mrs. Lyons had made her home in Fargo. Her surviving offspring are Joseph in St. Stephen, John in Boston, Thos. in Chile, Peter in London, Mrs. B. Meagher in Woodstock, Mrs. Beaton, Mrs. Porter, and Miss Lyons in Fargo. MANY KILLED IN R. R. WRECK.

Lansingburg, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Five passengers were killed outright and a score were more or less seriously injured in a rear-end collision between a regular passenger train and a military special on the Boston & Maine railroad, three miles north of Troy shortly before 5 o'clock today.

The wreck occurred directly in front of the Lansingburg station, three miles from Troy, and at a point where the grade is one of the deepest on the line of the road.

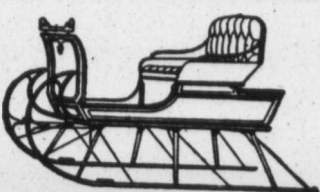

As near as can be ascertained the train was about one hour late today when it pulled up in front of the Lansingburg station to wait for a chance to get into the Troy depot.

The noise of a locomotive around the curve was the first intimation of the approaching special, which came thundering along with thirteen cars, on the steep grade, and in the fraction of a second had crashed into the rear end of the passenger train, smashing the last two cars, which were Pullmans, like eggshells.

Both these cars were swept from the track and rolled down the embankment into the back yards of tenement houses.

The engine of the special kept right on for a dozen yards, and then turned turtle. The tender was thrown into the car behind, and telescoped it. There was a sudden hush, and then through the gathering dusk rose the cries of the injured and dying. The place where the wreck occurred is difficult of approach, and it was some time before Lansingburgs realized the tragedy that had been enacted in their midst.

The special was drawing four of the 14th United States cavalry, from Fort Ethan Allen to Newport News, where they are to embark for Cuba. The soldiers quickly got to work to rescue the injured, whose cries for help could be heard above the din.

A. O. H. AT HOME WEDNESDAY EVENING

Splendid Musical Programme and Eloquent Speeches—Large Number Attended.

The "At Home" given by Division No. 4, A. O. H., Wednesday evening, to celebrate the opening of their new rooms, in the armoury building, was most successful in every way. Invitations had been sent to the other divisions in Chatham, Barnaby River, Nelson, and Douglastown, and a large number were present from those places, including several members of the ladies' auxiliary from Chatham. Altogether about one hundred and fifty were present, and spent a very enjoyable evening.

The hall and rooms were very tastefully decorated with autumn leaves, flags, and the Irish national color, and prominently displayed were the motto of the society, "Friendship, Unity, and Christian Charity," and the word "Welcome" over the platform, the letters being formed of autumn leaves interwoven. Much credit is due to the committee, composed of Wm. Harriman, T. H. Whalen, and Chas. Morrissey, who had charge of the arrangements, and who were ably assisted by the lady friends of the society.

The programme opened by the rendering of a medley of Irish airs by McEachern's orchestra. Mayor Hennessy, President of the Division, then gave a short address of welcome, followed by the Rev. P. W. Dixon, who was listened to with marked attention. The other addresses during the evening were by ex-Prof. Pres. Morrissey, and father Maguire. All the speeches were in the happiest vein, and the speakers congratulated the division upon its progress and growth. The eloquent speeches created much enthusiasm, and were punctuated by applause.

Mrs. Warren C. Winslow, Provincial President, and Mrs. James Connors, County President, of the Ladies' Auxiliary, when called upon, made a few congratulatory remarks.

The musical part of the programme was, to many, its most attractive part. After the overture the next musical number was an instrumental duet, "Qui Vive," by Misses Quinn and Morrissey, which was charmingly rendered. Miss Black sang a solo, "Avoureen," which was much admired, Miss Quinn playing the accompaniment. The Misses Hennessy, in their instrumental duet, "Piff Paff," and Mrs. P. J. McEvoy in her solo, "Face to Face," received hearty applause. Miss Dalton played the accompaniment for Mrs. McEvoy. Dr. Cox made a hit, in his reading of Drummond's "Johnny Courteau," and had to respond to an encore, for which he gave "The Habitant," by the same author. Miss Creaghan's elocutionary ability was well displayed in her reading, "The Old School Clock." The musical part of the programme closed with an instrumental duet by Misses Wheeler and Dalton, entitled, "To Arms." After an intermission, cake and coffee was served, and then dancing was indulged in, to excellent music furnished by the orchestra. The gathering broke up about 2 A. M.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT AT DOAKTOWN.

Son of Richard Attridge Shot there on Saturday and died in a Few Hours.

News of the accidental shooting of the fourteen year-old son of Mr. Richard Attridge of Doaktown was received here Monday. It appears that he and son of M. A. Kelly, were together on the road about half a mile from home. Attridge carried a gun on his shoulder, and in taking it from his shoulder it fell. The breech struck the ground and the cartridge exploded, the contents lodging in Attridge's abdomen. He died shortly after at his home.

FAVORS DEEP SEA FISHING

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—J. C. Cowie, the Scotch fish expert, who has been for the past two years giving the fishermen of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts instruction in improved methods of fish curing has reported that there are great possibilities in the Baie de Chaleur herring fisheries.

At the present time the fishermen there only seek the fish near the shore. During the summer Mr. Cowie has been using a small steamer and has been drifting in deep water, from twenty to forty miles from the coast with great success. In the spring he took about 240 barrels of fat herring from deep water before the fish had reached the inshore fishermen.

Not only this give a longer season but the fish were in a better condition than when they reached the shore. He advises fishermen to equip themselves for deep water work and begin fishing in April instead of May. In fall fishing similar results have been found, the fish then being even more abundant and of better quality. In fact he says the 272 barrels he took in the fall are the finest herring he ever saw, even better than the famous Scotch herring, which are supposed to be the finest in the world.

He also took mackerel in large quantities in deep water. He states every effort should be made to encourage deep sea fishing off the Baie de Chaleur and along the Gaspe Coast and that a permanent fish curing depot should be established by the government there.

DOCTOR WINS FROM PARISH.

Dr. W. H. Irvine Recovers $196 From Overseers of Poor in Stanley.

Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 6.—The case of Dr. W. H. Irvine vs. the overseers of the poor of the parish of Stanley was concluded in the county court this morning and the jury, after being out two hours, returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $196, being the full amount of his claim. The case was tried some months ago and resulted in a verdict for the defendants. The supreme court on appeal ordered a new trial. The action was to recover on professional services rendered to Fred Palmer, who was injured by an explosion of dynamite in the Miramichi woods in 1901. Palmer was unable to pay and Dr. Irvine was assured by an overseer of the poor that the parish would be responsible. O. S. Crockett for plaintiff; J. H. Barry, K. C., for defendants.

A. J. GORHAM'S BODY FOUND.

Moncton, Oct. 7.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of A. J. Gorham has been solved by the finding of his body in the Petitcodiac river this afternoon, about eight miles above Moncton. About 4 o'clock a young man named Geo. Hoar, son of William Hoar, who was at Manzel Steeves', went down on the marsh for his cows. It was high water, and he saw a body floating in the river back down. He sent word for assistance, and Stewart Steeves soon arrived and after following the body down the river for a mile, the high wind drove it ashore and it was secured. The body was brought by Steeves to the city about 9 o'clock to-night and taken to Undertaker Tuttle's rooms, where it was positively identified by friends.

Gorham's disappeared two weeks ago, yesterday, and search has been kept up ever since.

THE OPENING SESSION OF PARLIAMENT.

Expectation It Will Be Later Than First Announced.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—It looks now as if Parliament would not open until a little later than anticipated a month ago. The cabinet planned to have the session begin on November 15, and if possible, on November 7, but not later than Thursday, the 22nd. The ministers are now hoping they will be ready by November 29, and will be well satisfied if they are. The preparations for the session require more time than it was thought would be required, and it is possible Hon. Mr. Fielden will have to abandon tariff reform for election work within a few weeks. If the Queens-Shelburne contest is brought on at once the session is bound to be delayed.

The Adventurers

By H. B. MARRIOTT WATSON

CHAPTER XVII.

I PARTED from the vicar at the gates of the castle and hurried through the park in a lively state of anxiety. I had not yet conceived for myself what had happened in the interval of my absence. Sercombe to be sure, had thrown out hints, but I knew better than to put any faith in him. Still it was certain that anything might have happened, and we might even now be in possession of the treasure. But what gave me my first blow was the sight of the drawbridge peacefully spanning the waters of the moat, and the spikes of the portcullis protruding just below the archway. These appearances seemed to point in one direction and to acquaint me that the game was up.

Inside I met Mrs. Main, who started in alarm and pursued me with her excited inquiries—so that it was very plain whence the news of my disappearance had reached the police. She informed me that Mr. Sheppard and Mr. Montgomery were both within and seated, in fact, at lunch, in the dining room, therefore, I sought them and broke in upon them. I will not say with what delight I was welcomed, embraced affectionately by Sheppard and sturdily shaken by Montgomery's great fist. They had been anxious, and yet not alarmed, by my absence. Sheppard's wits were always quick, and said he:

"I knew that it was not worth their while to slaughter you, Ned, but what other devilment they might be up to I could not guess. On the whole, we decided finally in favor of what actually occurred." And then, "So you were taken?" he asked. "But how?"

"Give me food and wine and I will give you my story," I replied, sitting down to the table.

Sheppard laid his hand on my shoulder. "No," said he; "not yet. There is something further first." And, looking at him, I perceived a great gravity on his features. He showed a worn and troubled face, now that the excitement of my return was over.

"What is the matter?" I asked. "Is the treasure?"

"That is it," he said. "I want that key. We tried the door in vain. We could not break it down. It is adamant. God knows it was not for want of trying."

"I fear the key is no use to us now," I said quickly.

He regarded me seriously and with a pale face.

"You must forget, Ned," he said gently, "what you left there."

Montgomery's face had fallen, and he sat echoing Sheppard's consternation. Suddenly a light dawned on me. It was Hood they had in mind.

"Hood's not there," I said. Sheppard stared at me.

"Not a bit of it," I went on. "He's plump and live as ever, and a worse rascal."

"But how—how?" exclaimed Montgomery. "I thought the poor devil was dead and rotten by now. We tried all we could."

"Oh, I see I must hasten on to my story without more ado," I said, and accordingly began at once upon my narrative. Chagrin grew upon their faces as I proceeded, and I was interrupted only by the expressions of astonishment and anger which the various episodes of my adventure evoked from both. When it was over, Sheppard rose.

"With your leave, Ned," said he, "I will go down to the keep forthwith." And he left the room, with Montgomery at his heels. I, too, followed, for I was eager to know the worst without unnecessary delay.

My surmises were quite correct. The dungeon rested as it had done when I saw it last and apparently had suffered no trespass. The chests stood in the corner as before, but they were bare of every piece of gold, amulet or jewel. The thieves had made a clean job of their depredation. We stared at one another in dismay and retreated dismally to the upper regions of the house.

"Well, there's an end," said Montgomery, with a sigh, and I fancy we were all of the same opinion in that early blast of despair.

The treasure was gone, and he must be a sharp fellow indeed who could discover its hiding place throughout the district of the Gwent or maybe within the borders of the kingdom. Sheppard was the first to show us the way out of our deadly apathy.

"I am not going to see it stop here, Ned," he said, with determination, "and that's the truth. That treasure must be somewhere, and we've got to find it."

"I say 'ditto' to that," cried Montgomery stalwartly, heaving a sigh of resolution.

"If we could narrow the field," I said. "Pshaw!" said Sheppard. "They can't have got it far. How many days is it? Why, they can't have got the money out all at one shot; otherwise they would not have kept you locked up. I'll go bail that the last was fetched out only last night, if as early as that. And, if so, the treasure is not very far from the castle."

"Some of it may be in London," I answered moodily.

"Well, mind you, I don't admit it."

But say it is so, there must be something still about the Gwent, and we've got to run it down. I think, from what you say, you surprised them by your flitting with the vicar. It is evident that they wished to keep you a little longer, no doubt until they had disposed of the treasure under our noses."

"You are right, I believe," I replied. "Why did they want to keep me? Not because they had not the treasure, but to prevent an alarm. And yet the motive was not strong enough that they dared risk a misunderstanding with Morgan. Yes; you've hit it, Sheppard. But the Gwent is wide enough, heaven knows."

"Come, we have reached one point," said Sheppard. "Perhaps we can do more on reflection. Don't let us give it up. Is this treasure likely to be anywhere about the inn?"

"There is the barn," said I, "and the stable lofts, and there are the cellars."

"Oh, Ned, there is everywhere!" groaned Sheppard. "We might watch, if they haven't got it away," suggested Montgomery, with some hesitation. It was not often that he intervened in our counsels, but his intervention was now to the point.

"Good!" said Sheppard, smacking him on the shoulder.

"Watch is the word. We've hitherto kept our watches in the battlements. We must now merely transfer them to where the treasure has gone."

"Where is that?" I asked.

"Let us say the Woodman," replied Sheppard, smiling.

"A very much more dangerous duty," I said slowly.

"Dangerous! We thrive on danger," said Sheppard gayly. "Anyhow, let us break up the conference and take an airing. There's nothing to keep us in the castle, and hence we are in no need of drawbridges. It is we who are the assailants."

"That reminds me," I put in. "I found the drawbridge down when I came in just now."

Sheppard winked. "My dear boy, if you'd had to answer all the awkward questions I have had to during the last three days you would have let down the drawbridge in despair."

"Jones?" I queried.

"Jones is the majesty of the law, and an infernally suspicious law it is."

It was yet early in the afternoon, and there might be time to put a point upon our resolutions. This thought ran in our heads as, all three, we turned down the road that led to the Woodman.

Sercombe was sunning himself before the door of the inn, seated in a comfortable chair beneath the swinging sign. As we came abreast of him he looked up and greeted us.

"Good day, gentlemen," he said cheerfully. "I'm glad to see you back, Mr. Greotorex. We heard that you had disappeared, and were beginning to be anxious about you."

The amazing impudence of the man took away my breath, but I managed to recover and say:

"Yes; I have been taking a little holiday; private business, you know, captain."

"Ah!" said he, shaking his head. "I wish I had the time. But I find holidays must look after themselves. I've too much on hand."

"I sympathize with you, Captain Sercombe," said Sheppard. "For myself, I never could abide business. But I think I understand to what you refer—a bad business, a very bad business."

Sercombe studied him attentively. "You seem to know a great deal, my dear sir," he replied.

"I know, and you know that I know, that you have the heaviest team to drive uphill that ever man undertook," said Sheppard, watching him.

"Maybe," said the captain after a pause. "Life's not all beer and skittles, gentlemen. Perhaps you're right. I don't say you're wrong. But the fact is that I—well, it's a pity we couldn't have fixed an arrangement together earlier."

He spoke so freely that I inferred he was not any longer in the fear of Hood, which meant for us that Hood was absent.

Was he absent, looking after the treasure? Upon consideration I decided that this was unlikely; otherwise Sercombe would not be resting so comfortably in his chair. The two scoundrels dared not trust one another. In that case the odds were that the treasure lay in the Woodman, and here was Sercombe, and as likely as not a Greek or two, keeping guard upon it. This was all I wanted to know, and, having gained this information, I deemed it time to retire. You will think me rash in my conjectures, but you must conceive that in the game we were playing it was necessary to come to a conclusion quickly, and I had learned to come to a conclusion on the slightest evidence. Anyhow, I gave the signal for retreat, and back we went to the castle by a circuitous route, so as to avoid any suspicious on the part of the captain.

Night was the occasion I wanted, and it was for the fall of dark that we waited with great impatience. Sheppard agreed with me that the treasure lay in the inn and most probably in the cellars. The two thieves would secure it against one another. I admit that I entertained little hope of cutting out the treasure under the nose of the enemy. On the other hand, it would be difficult to say what I really did anticipate or aim at in this nocturnal expedition. I think we all felt that we could not compose our minds to rest and an imperturbable indifference. We must be upon our legs and bustling about some business, even though it should prove the veriest moonshine, and I believe, too, that a notion was current among us that we might by some felicitous chance or by some heroic effort accomplish something under the cover of darkness, if we might not in the world be better for nervous prostration than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.

Tired, Nervous Mothers

Make Unhappy Homes—Their Condition Irritates Both Husband and Children—How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysteria, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible for her to do anything calmly.

The ill of women act like a firebrand upon the nerves, consequently nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous dependency, "the blues," sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness, alternating with extreme irritability? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one minute you laugh, and the next minute you feel like crying?

Do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you; all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the abdominal region, and the shoulders; bearing-down pains; nervous dyspepsia, and almost continually cross and snappy?

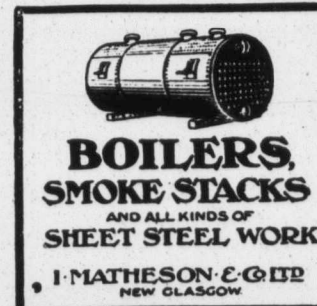

If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous prostration than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

pard agreed with me that the treasure lay in the inn and most probably in the cellars. The two thieves would secure it against one another. I admit that I entertained little hope of cutting out the treasure under the nose of the enemy. On the other hand, it would be difficult to say what I really did anticipate or aim at in this nocturnal expedition. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.

Within our coil of vantage we rested, peeping through the interstices of the foliage upon the Woodman. The windows gleamed with light, but beyond that there was no mark of life. Half an hour went by in this way, and then a sound of voices rose from the inn, and presently there emerged from the doorway two men, who stood in conversation for a few minutes before the house. It was too dark to make them out distinctly, but one I set down as Hood. After a time they separated, Hood, as I supposed him to be, returning into the inn and his companion walking down the road away from us. If we were to effect anything this man must be followed, and I whispered as much to the others, determining to take the duty on myself. Slipping through the copse, therefore, I struck downward through the fringe of wood that bordered the road. My progress was naturally slower than that of the man I was tracking, and soon I was surprised to lose the sound of his feet. But a moment's reflection convinced me that he had turned off the roadway and was proceeding, like myself, through the forest. This conviction became certainty a little later, when, pausing to resolve upon my direction, I heard the noise of breaking sticks ahead of me and a brushing among the foliage. Guided by these sounds, I shifted my path and went forward. I imagine now that the man must have heard me just as I had news of him in the wood and that he knew he was being followed. At the time I thought myself undiscovered, for I moved with slight noise. Yet what happened was this: I suddenly ceased once more to get tidings of him. I paused and waited, but the valley (for we were now winding into the bottom) was stagnant with silence, save for the purling stream in the distance. Slowly and cautiously I pushed on and came out into a more open space, where I stood silent, waiting again. I must have remained there, still and attentive to all the tiny raptures of the nocturnal quietude, for more than half an hour. But I heard nothing of my man, and so in some disgust I resolved to abandon the pursuit. Retracing my steps, I climbed up to the road and rejoined my companions in the thicket.

I found Sheppard in what for him was a bad temper.

"Our sport is being spoiled," he said impatiently, and to my questions added, "Jones."

"What is he about?" I asked.

"Apparently on the same errand as ourselves," he observed.

I considered. "We'd better go back," I said. "The less Jones sees of us the better, and, besides, he'll do our work for us."

I think we all welcomed the suggestion, for we were all mightily weary of the game, but we retreated to the castle in some chagrin. Sheppard pulled at his pipe for some time in silence.

"Well, what do you think of it?" he queried after a time.

I shook my head. "I felt better this afternoon," I said.

"And I?" he returned.

"You're not going to give up?" asked Montgomery.

We both laughed. "Not yet," I said. "There's plenty of time for despair."

"Well, we'll consider the position to-morrow," said Sheppard, yawning. With which we got to bed, and I for one slept like the graveyard dead.

I rode into Raymond next morning with Montgomery, taking the road upon the south side of the valley, away from the Woodman, upon which Sheppard promised to keep his eyes. I was anxious to discover what progress Jones had made in his investigations, and, moreover, I felt slightly uneasy as to our own posture in the affair. Had the law got wind of us? And

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Can Consumption be Cured?

There is plenty of indisputable evidence to prove that Consumption has been cured even after the symptoms were well defined and the lungs actually involved.

On the other hand, there has always been a point beyond which the disease has been considered incurable. Until a comparatively recent date this point had a place at a very early stage of the malady, but modern scientific discovery and common-sense methods of treatment have gradually moved the hopeless point further and further back, until now the Consumptive is not "given up" until the very last stage of the disease is reached.

Nothing in recent years has done so much to improve the chances of Consumptives as the advent of

FERROL

In fact, it is claimed that, with plenty of fresh air, sunlight and comfortable surroundings, FERROL has pushed the hopeless point to the limit, that is to say, where these fall the chances of cure are very slim indeed.

FERROL does not kill the germs of Consumption (anything that will do that will kill the patient), but FERROL does the work by repairing the waste tissue, enriching the blood, toning the nerves, in short, by building up the whole system and thus enabling nature to expel the disease.

The only possible chance of curing Consumption is by proper nutrition, and FERROL is the only perfect nutrient, because it combines in palatable and easily digested form the very essentials of life—Oil, Iron and Phosphorus.

We feel some diffidence in claiming that FERROL will cure Consumption, lest we be misunderstood, but we have not the slightest hesitation in stating that it is an infallible cure for BRONCHITIS, CHRONIC COUGHS, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, NERVOUS EXHAUSTION, SCROFULA and all wasting diseases.

For restoring lost weight and building up the run-down system FERROL is absolutely without an equal.

we were connected in Jones' mind with the mysterious transactions of the Gwent?

As luck had it, we did not find Jones, who had returned to Raymond very early in the morning, but had been hastily summoned back into the Gwent after breakfast. He had, my informant imagined, crossed us, but I accounted for not meeting him by the new route we had taken. Therefore, none the wiser for our excursion, we turned the horses homeward and, climbing the rise beyond the river, slattered down into the forest.

TROUT
MezzoWork

The undersigned have received from Mr. Nash of Maine the agency for New Brunswick for his famous trout mezzo work. A trout mezzo is one half the fish as mounted upon a convex elliptical panel
as to stand the fish out in bold relief, giving the effect of an oil painting of a trout in water, with the real thing to show it your prowess. The process of preserving fish in this artistic way was discovered by Mr. Nash in 1900, and patented by him.

MEETING OF KENT TEACHERS.

Well attended and highly Instructive Convention held at Harcourt.

Harcourt, Oct. 6.—Kent Co. Institute met here on the 4th inst.,
the following enrolling:—Inspector Chas. D. Herbert, president; A. E.
Pearson, Secretary-treas.; Bass River; H. H. Stuart, and Misses Minnie A. Buckley, M. Alethea Wa-
then and Marion Wathen. Harcourt; Geo. Douglass Steel, Jas. A. Edmonds, and Misses Mary Chrystal and Agne Ferguson, Richibucto; Misses M. Caulie McInerney, Kate
M. Keswick and Laura Mitchell of Rexton; Miss Grace K. Bailey, Grangeville; Misses Sadie Forster
and Kate P. Murphy, Upper Rex-ton; Mrs. John Barton, Pine Ridge
Mrs. Wm. Swift, Coal Branch;
Wilfred H. MacLean, East Galloway; Miss Mary R. MacLean, Jardinville; Miss Sophia Ferguson, Brown's Yards; Miss Catherine
Babiniau, Acadieville; Miss Nettie
A. Mundle, West Galloway; Miss
Emma Barron, Moulies River; Miss
M. Lynn Wright, Lower Brook;
Miss M. Ethel Cail, Lower Trout
Brook; Miss Margaret I. Fearon,
Emerson; Miss M. Elizabeth O'Connor, Coldbrook; Miss Nellie Rogers, Clairville; and J. N. Wathen and Miss Flora Powell, Harcourt.

The president, inspector Hebert delivered a specially good address.
Following are extracts from his speech:—In any business, the person who makes friends because of the knowledge of his foresight and adaptability to different personalities, is able to make the best use of his knowledge, is the one who is valuable to the employer.
Consciously or unconsciously, skillfully or unskillfully, every day, every hour, every minute, we are influencing their destiny. Educationally, teachers have the parting word with all who come in contact with them. The teacher must be a worker. He must keep up to date in his methods. He must use the daily newspaper, the magazine, and the professional journal. Work study and intelligent reading will never fail to produce a new sense of power and responsibility. The teacher should have a perfect grasp of the subject of study.

Only thus can he gain the confidence of his pupils. But the teacher should not allow his own expertness to be so apparent as to discourage the pupil. And in any line of business, energy is the necessary forerunner of success. Morally, the teacher must be the adviser and guardian of his pupils.
All pupils may become good citizens. Example goes further than precept. Act before the pupils as you'd desire him to act; and unconsciously he'll find that duty and truth are his own only. You duty is not my duty, nor your truth my truth. Do well that,
which lies nearest to your hand,
then rest content that your duty
has been done.

Miss M. Alethea Wathen gave an excellent paper on "Influence of music and why it should be taught in school".—Music is a discipline, a mistress of order and good manners. It makes the people milder and purifies the heart. Music is of great value in training the ear and voice and helps reading, improves the health and helps to maintain order. Its moral value cannot be estimated. Teach the youngest pupils music by note, and as soon as possible introduce singing by note. Young children should be taught singing while the voice is still flexible. Music is of considerable value as a breadwinner as well as a moral stimulant.

SECOND SESSION.

In the afternoon Miss Buckley, taught the idea of spherical form to a class of beginners in grade one, leading them in a few minutes to mould spheres from brick clay. Her lesson was very favorably criticized.
Principal Steel then read a carefully prepared paper on "Definite-ness in Teaching"—the prerequisite of success. Teachers are the surprised, on reviewing their pupils to find the latter remember so little.
This is partly due to lack of de-finiteness in the teaching. Every teacher should arrange all his work by a definite, plan have a good time-table. Definiteness should begin in lowest grade, where teacher should see that the pupil notices the spelling of words, correct use of words, &c. Most pupils are capable of exact observation, if rightly directed.

In the teaching of history is exactness of detail is necessary for beginners whose history is merely that of his own province;
but advanced pupils study history to determine the influence of, certain acts upon future national life, rather than to notice each date, &c.

The paper was discussed by Messrs. Pearson and Edmonds and
J. N. Wathen and Miss McInerney.
Adjourned till Friday.

At 4 o'clock on the 4th the Kent
Co. members of the N. B. Teachers' Association held their meeting, A.
E. Pearson presiding. The meeting decided to continue the present salary schedule until the Provincial Convention met at Easter. It is as follows:—For first and second class females, $175; second, $165;
and third $130.

The proceedings of last N. B. T.
A. Convention at Chatham, June 29th, 1906, were ratified, J. A. Edmonds was chosen delegate to Fredericton Convention next Easter, and H. H. Stuart alternate.
Of the 28 active teachers at Institute, all but six were union members. Adjourned.

The public meeting in the evening, addressed by Messrs. L. J. and J. N. Wathen, J. F. Dorothy, A.
E. Pearson and H. H. Stuart, with music, consisting of a chorus
two solos, two duets and a quartette, in which Messrs. J. A. Edmonds and J. N. Wathen and Kate Keswick and Mrs. J. B. Champion took part, was a pronounced success. The address of welcome was delivered by L. J. Wathen, J.
P., who said many nice things
the teaching profession.

J. N. Wathen, for twenty-five years a teacher, declared the faithful teacher could not be compared with the judge or clergyman, condemned the present readers among other text books; and advocated the teaching of more music.

J. F. Dorothy deprecated the growing use of bad English in the newspapers and on the street,
making it hard for the teacher.
Intellectual leadership was, all that lasted. Athens still rules the world though the political glory of Greece has long since departed.

The chairman, Mr. Pearson, strongly urged Parish school districts with paid secretaries and compulsory attendance as remedies for much evil of the present school boards would promote harmony between teacher and parents, maintain good schools in weak districts without materially increasing the salaries of teachers.
It would even up the salaries of teachers.

H. H. Stuart spoke of the annually decreasing number of schools maintained in the rural districts of N. B. and N. S. This condition was causing a decrease in the aerage intelligence of the land, was compelling farmers to remove from such places to centres where schools are maintained, or to the West, thereby depopulating the country, and, every decade, decreasing our representation and influence at Ottawa. The scarcity of teachers was due to popular unwillingness to pay taxes, which annually increasing cost of living accessitated, forcing the enterprising young teachers to go west.
If some districts could not pay more,
the remedy was consolidation schools and Parish school boards; the providing of houses for all teachers as in New Zealand, France and Sweden; a pension system as in New Zealand and France, and as in this country for certain classes, such as the clergymen, railway station masters and soldiers. The remedy for the increasing illiteracy, which threatens in fifteen years to produce a large proportion of illiterate voters, would be, after the schools were provided with teachers, to see that every child attended school.

On the morning of the 5th, the third session opened by a general and very helpful discussion on eaching Arithmetic, in which J.
A. Edmonds explained the best methods of teaching addition,
multiplication, division, decimals,
&c. Many teachers took part.
Miss Agnes Ferguson then gave a helpful paper on the teaching of spelling which brought out a lively and profitable discussion.

In the afternoon the first paper was on "The Educative Value of Geography," by H. H. Stuart, who with Messrs. Pearson and Edmonds and Rev. W. M. Townsend, who discussed the paper, claimed that a knowledge of Geography

was essential to a successful business career, to the understanding of history and to the attainment of good citizenship. The study of Geography lay at the basis of reading, History and Biography,
and all sciences, arts and industries.
Canada owes her greatness to fact of physical geography the inclination of the Earth's axis so as to produce the long days of the North ern summer. Messrs. Stuart and Pearson emphasized the importance of teaching the habits, customs and political systems of countries along with their geography.

Mr. Pearson read a paper on Ideality. In it he discussed the planting trees, decorating school grounds and houses, raising money by concerts, &c., to purchase apparatus and make repairs.

In discussing the paper, Inspector Herbert said that much improvement had been made in many Kent Co. school houses and grounds the past year.

The place and time of next meet-

The following officers were elected:—President, A. E. Pearson; Vice-pres Miss M. Caulie McInerney; Sec-treas., H. H. Stuart. Additional members of Executive,
Miss Agnes Ferguson and G. D.
Steel.

Votes of thanks were presented to the retiring president and secretary, to the Harcourt teachers and people, to the speakers and singers at public meeting and to the N. B. R.

One last hour or more of the Institute was one of the most important of all, being taken up by discussion on questions previously handed in. About all subjects were covered.

Field excursions in National history were recommended by Inspector. Discussion showed that all over the U. S. and Canada it was complained that youth had little knowledge of good English.
Some blamed the textbooks for this, others the intricacies of the ever changing English language.

The finances of the institute came out even.

Institute adjourned after a very successful convention.

PUBLIC NOTICE

—TO THE
FARMERS OF THE COUNTY.
We will have the French Fort Mill
READY TO GRIND, 1st WEEK OF OCTOBER.

Thanks to Hon. L. J. Tweedie there is a good road from the New Bridge Road to the mill. This together with the splendid reputation we gained last season, makes this the best located and most popular Grist Mill in the County. Mr. James Jones will again be in charge this season.

As it is impossible for us to operate this mill on the old Toll system, we charge 25 cents per 100 pounds of wheat brought to the mill. All grain sent by boat or Railway will be returned same way. We will probably have agencies down River of which we will give notice later.
