SERIES OF WILD SCENES FOLLOW CITY COUNCIL SESSION

Ald. Thompson and Stone, Say They Will Move for Ald. Austin's Disqualification—Latter Says he Wants Investigation of Ald. Stone's Election Methods—Old Assessors Re-appointed

The City Council session last night lasted only seven minutes—and was peaceful and business-like; the aftermath lasted nearly seven—and was wild and exciting. No sooner had the adjournment taken place than Ald. Thompson, Stone and Austin became entangled in a bitter wrangle in the cloak room, which lasted down the stairs and finished in a heated controversy between Ald. Austin and Stone in the City Clerk's office.

All the aldermen were present when Ald. Scullard and Austin briefly moved the third reading of the by-law appointing Messrs. Gouge and French as assessors.

Ald. Stone and Thompson moved in amendment that the Council go into committee on the matter.

The Mayor said there were some new applicants, among the number Messrs. Dunlop, Reed, Hutchison and Mitton, but the meeting was not to consider new applications.

The third and final reading was carried on the following vote:

Yeas—Ald. Austin, Scullard, Edmondson, Mansey and Potter—5.

Nays—Ald. Stone, Benson, Radley and Thompson—4.

Adjournment followed and the aldermen trooped from the Council Chamber some laughing comment was passed on the unsuccessful aldermen.

This annoyed Ald. Thompson and, like a flash, he turned on Ald. Austin with a sensational charge, in which he was vigorously backed up by Ald. Stone. The two aldermen stated they purposed asking an investigation into the conduct of Ald. Austin in relation to the rental of a portion of the city market building, following which they purposed asking for Ald. Austin's disqualification.

The charge, as outlined by Ald. Stone in the heated discussion, was to the effect that Ald. Austin, through an employee named Mr. Killop had secured the rental of furniture store and sales rooms in the market building at what the aldermen claimed was one-third of their regular rental value; that the deal was made through Mr. Killop, to whom Ald. Austin privately paid the money, to avoid public exposure and that Ald. Austin's transaction made him liable to a series of fines before the County Judge and disqualification.

Ald. Austin claimed he had acted in good faith and the attack was merely taking advantage of the various technicalities to harass and annoy him. He countered by vigorously attacking Ald. Stone's election methods and challenging an investigation as to how and by what methods the alderman got his big vote at the civic polls.

"We will show you up on that market building and the sneaking tactics you pursued to hide it from the public," declared Ald. Thompson heatedly.

"Yes, and you know the city was losing three times the amount to private enrich you," added Ald. Stone.

"If you want to put me out on a technicality, do it," challenged Ald. Austin. "I suppose you'll get the applause of the riff-raff and rooters for it."

"The people who elected me are not the low down and riff-raff. I'm proud of any citizen's vote be he rich or poor. I'm not like you sitting up high and mighty and unctious and not knowing my fellow men. I hope I know all my constituents every time I meet them."

"You are making an untruthful reflection and you know it," Ald. Austin responded warmly. "I never made any such reflection. I said that if you went ahead and had me disqualified you'd only got the applause of the rooters."

"I'm proud of my vote if it was the riff-raff and rag-tail," retorted Ald. Stone. "Let the people's next January be judges."

"Are you proud of the way you got it?" said Ald. Austin striding over to his opponent. "An investigation as to the election methods pursued by you, Ald. Stone, would make some very interesting and embarrassing disclosures. What methods did you adopt to get your vote? I think the people would like to know. I'm glad I didn't get my vote by the practices you used to get yours."

"Last year," was Ald. Stone's fiery response. "Mayor Cowan went ahead and disqualified three of our Public School trustees and you backed him up in it. And all the time sitting there right in front of him was a man—you, Ald. Austin—in the same position and blacker than ever they were! And you know it. You're a bright specimen of an honest man."

"My reputation's as good as yours—and I hope better," was Ald. Austin's stinging reply. "You can go right ahead with your technicalities."

"And I will, too. Rest assured that the whole ugly underhand game will be shown up."

"I have no fear of the exposure. I voted in good faith throughout and have nothing to be ashamed of."

"I'd be ashamed to run round the streets telling street corner stories about my colleagues. You went whispering around that I was trying to hold up the town. Why didn't you get up like a man and say it to my face, Ald. Austin?"

"I think people had little to do running to you with stories of what I said. But I want you to understand, Ald. Stone, that that's what I said and I would have said it at the Council had I got a chance."

In vain Mayor Marshall and Ald. Scullard sought to stem the heated controversy. Interested citizens hovered listening at the doors and it was some time ere the angry aldermen desisted and left for home.

Both aldermen declared that they would go ahead, Ald. Stone with the investigation and disqualification proceedings against Ald. Austin, the latter with the request that Ald. Stone's election methods be looked into.

FAVOR CAIRNS

Former Member of C. C. I. Staff Made Close Run for Liberal Candidacy in Saskatchewan

The Prince Albert Times, owned by Messrs. J. W. Young and R. Laurie, formerly of this city, says:

"The result of the Convention held here Tuesday was no surprise," said a Federal Liberal Wednesday morning.

"It was generally understood that the Attorney-General had to deliver the nomination to Mr. McCraney. It was feared for a while that Saskatoon would spoil the arrangement, as they were anxious to have J. F. Cairns placed in nomination. However, the Convention was fixed so as to preclude Saskatoon having any say and the nomination was handed over to Mr. McCraney as agreed upon. Mr. Cairns stated that he also had promises but the Saskatoon representative is young in Liberal politics yet and Mr. McCraney can give him pointers on how to secure the fulfillment of political promises."

TIME INSPECTOR

A. H. VonGuten, jeweller, has received the appointment of time inspector for the Chatham, Wallaceburg & Lake Erie Electric Railway. Mr. VonGuten's establishment will be the headquarters for the bench of work for this railroad. Mr. VonGuten is already local time inspector for the Pere Marquette Railroad. Standard clocks will have to be installed by Mr. VonGuten in all of the offices and cars of the company and he will also have the inspection of all watches carried by the company's employees.

It is safer to trust your eyes than your ears when a man accuses religion while his wife carries in the water.

NO OFFERS

The Records Show no Competition for Rental of Market Rooms—$200 Deposit Required

An examination of the civic records shows that no other offers were received for the tenancy of the rooms in the market building held by Ald. Austin, and the statement of Ald. Stone that three times the amount Ald. Austin pays could have been secured has no recorded or official justification.

In order to move before the judge for Ald. Austin's disqualification it will be necessary, under Section 220 of the Municipal Act, for the applicants to deposit $200 as guarantee of costs in event of their failing to prove their case. Some doubt that, with this consideration in view, the threatened proceedings will be continued.

CHILDREN'S FANCY DRESS BALL

To-morrow evening the energetic committee of ladies who are interesting themselves in the care of unfortunate children, will give a fancy dress ball in Elks' Hall at 7 o'clock. The object is one that commands itself to every citizen, and it is hoped the ball will be liberally patronized.

The indulgence of grief is the blunder of a life.

Some people conjure up trouble and then imagine that they are thus bearing up very heavy crosses.

EDITORIAL

AN ASSESSMENT COMMISSIONER.

The City Council are to be congratulated on at length securing a settlement of the much-versed question of the appointment of assessors—and it is generally thought that they made the best of existing circumstances.

The Planet, however, trusts that this will be the last time it will be necessary for Chatham to appoint temporary assessors. The aldermen should look around for the purpose of locating an efficient and energetic man to take up the duties of assessment commissioner. Such an appointment would be of great value to the city and give it the permanent services of a good and capable official. Besides his data and information will be the property of the city, in itself a valuable asset.

The Planet trusts the Council will give this matter their early and serious consideration.

NORMAL SCHOOL FOR CHATHAM.

The announcement that the Education Department purposes establishing three new Normal schools should set the people of Chatham busy.

The Maple City should have one. Chatham holds a premier position in educational affairs and it is satisfactory to know that Chairman Paxton and the members of the Public School Board are taking up the matter promptly.

Let everyone lend a hand.

ROOF CAVES

Canopy Supports of Market Building Give Way Under Weight of Snow

This morning citizens were startled to note that the canopy coverings on the sides of the new market shed had given way to the extent of 10 or 12 inches under the weight of the light snow fall. The accident has occasioned considerable comment. The fault appears to be in the construction of the brackets, which are not designed properly to cover the contingency of the weight they must carry. If the fall of snow had been heavy—or such as may be expected at any time now—the whole construction might have given way.

It is up to the Council to immediately investigate this matter and have it attended to. Brackets of sufficient strength to meet all requirements should be insisted on from designer and contractor, otherwise the city may get in for a serious, if not fatal, damage suit.

Just A Word ABOUT—

Toilet Paper

There are as many qualities and grades of Toilet Paper as there are of cloth or any other large articles of merchandise.

There is paper put into rolls and called toilet paper that is nothing but common manilla paper. Beware of that kind, it will clog the sewers and make an expensive job for the man of the house some day.

There is ONE grade however superior to all others; made by the J. C. Wilson Co. of Montreal, and it comes in plain and perforated rolls and flat pads. This is the only kind we sell, as 25 years' experience has demonstrated beyond a doubt that this is the best and most superior quality on the market.

ROOSEVELT AND RECIPROCITY.

President Roosevelt's message to Congress is characteristic of the man in its outspoken nature. He is emphatic on the regulation of railroad rates, of the conduct of insurance companies and of the campaign fund inquiry. On one thing alone is there any equivocation, and this the tariff—a question that nearly concerns this country. True he says:

"Having in view even larger considerations of policy than those of a purely economic nature, it would, in my judgment, be well to endeavor to bring about closer commercial connections with the other peoples of this continent."

This may mean Patagonia or it may mean Canada, but even if the allusion is hitherward, its force is neutralized by this:

"In time of peace the revenue must, on the average, taking a series of years, equal the expenditures or else the revenues must be increased. Last year there was a deficit. Unless our expenditures can be kept within the revenues then our revenue laws must be readjusted."

There is little encouragement here that there will be undertaken any revision of the tariff that will benefit this country. The nation has little sense of need for any easing of the tariff relations with Canada, and the president's brief reference to the subject is purely perfunctory as dealing with an issue into which it is impossible to galvanize any national interest.

SWORE THEM IN

Lt.-Col. J. B. Rankin, Adj. Col. and Capt. H. D. Smith, of the 24th Regiment, visited the Regiment Band in their rooms Tuesday evening and finished swearing them in, and completed arrangements for their uniforms.

The Band played over the program they will give at the Barrill benefit concert, and the officers were delighted and encouraged with the excellent music.

At the conclusion of the evening the Colonel addressed the Band and also presented them with a box of cigars. The hearty applause which greeted the Colonel's remarks testified to the great popularity of that gentleman among the members of the Band.

NORMAL TRAINING

Wilson Taylor, mathematical master of the C. C. I., addressed the Sunday School Teachers' Normal Training Class, which met in the Christ Church Sunday School Hall last Tuesday evening. His subject was, "Ideals of Teachers." He spoke of the requisites necessary in a good teacher and pointed out some ways of dealing with children and gave some practical methods which could be employed.

Mrs. Jex, an accomplished Maple City musician, gave a violin solo, and Miss White and Miss Wreng sang. Refreshments were served by the Teachers of Christ Church Sunday School.

DIDN'T UNDERSTAND IT.

Gentlemen, said the parliamentary candidate, you twit me with having turned my coat. Years ago I supported this measure. Then I had a reason. I have lost my reason. And he wondered at the deafening smile that pervaded the meeting.

Public School Board Held Inaugural Meeting For 1906 Last Evening

Standing Committees Appointed—Board Will Make Earnest Effort to Secure Normal School

The inaugural meeting of the Public School Board was held last evening, when Edward Paxton, a valued and faithful trustee, who has given excellent service on the Board for a number of years, was unanimously elected chairman for the coming year.

The business of the year was started off under very auspicious circumstances and a good year is looked for. Mr. Somerville, the Trustee-elect for Ward No. 2, promises to be a valuable acquisition to the Board. Harry Andrew, from Ward No. 4, also occupies an important seat. Every member of the Board welcomed the return of Dr. McKeough and William Robertson, who have been energetic and diligent trustees in years past.

A nominating committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Robertson, McArthur, Lenfestey, McKeough and Morley. They brought in the following draft of standing committees, which was adopted:—Finance—Messrs. McKeough, Morley and Brackin.

Model School—Messrs. Drader, Lenfestey and Somerville. Kindergarten—Messrs. McArthur, Drader and Andrew. Supply—Messrs. Robertson, McArthur, Morley, Andrew and Somerville. Heating Com.—Messrs. Morley, Robertson, Lenfestey, McArthur and Brackin.

Representative to Library Board—J. W. Humphrey.

Representative to C. C. I. Board—W. G. Richards.

It was decided to comply with the request from Miss Ella Arnold for a Letter of Recommendation from the Board.

At the conclusion of the meeting Dr. McKeough called the attention of the Board to an article which appeared in The Planet in reference to the proposed Educational Legislation mapped out by Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education. If it is proposed to establish three new Normal schools, the doctor thought the Board should make an earnest effort to secure one of these institutions for Chatham. There is no place more deserving of a Government institution of this kind than is Chatham.

The Board agreed with Dr. McKeough, and when the time comes an effort will be made to bring one of these Normal schools to Chatham. The Board adjourned to meet next Monday evening.

The following standing committees were struck for the year: Finance—Robert, Stephens and Doyle.

Education—McDonald, Welsh and Pinsonneault.

Supplies—Tschirhart, Deloge and Bloude.

Rev. Father James, O. S. F., was appointed local superintendent.

The first named on each committee is the chairman.

For Family Colds

A reliable cough and cold cure should be always in the house ready for use the moment the first symptoms appear.

It is always easier, cheaper and better to check a cold in the very beginning.

It is safer, too.

Shilo's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, has been tested for thirty-three years, and tens of thousands of homes in Canada and the United States to-day are never without it.

A dealer writes: "Shilo's Consumption Cure is without doubt the best remedy for Coughs and Colds on the market. Once used, my customers will buy no other."—L. Elder, Nanawaga, Ont.

If it were anything but the best would this be so? Try it on your own family. If it does not cure you, get back all it cost you. We take all the chances. Neither you nor your dealer can lose. Isn't that fair? 25c is the price. All dealers in medicine sell.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

At The Grand—Queen of the Convicts—Jan. 18.

(Supplied to The Planet by Press Agents.)

This season will go down in the annals of theatricals as one of the most successful productions. Never in the history of the stage has so much money, time and energy been spent in staging and equipping plays as has been done this season. The production which promises to be the peer of them all is "Queen of the Convicts," Theodore Krenner's newest offering to the public, which will be seen at the Grand Opera House tonight. Effects hitherto unknown to stage craft have been worked out and made practical. Properties comparing in magnitude to those used in "The Darling of the Gods" have been designed and built expressly for this play, which it is intended shall perfectly eclipse anything and everything ever attempted in the line of a popular priced attraction. The cast, which is headed by Selma Herman, will be an exceptionally strong one, and in the role of Queen Draga of Serbia, Miss Herman fills all requirements.

This attraction will hold the boards at the Grand this Thursday evening, Jan. 18th, and will undoubtedly be greeted by a bumper house. Prices—25, 35, 50 and 75 cents. Seats now on sale at Briscoes.

DEATH CALLS MARSHALL FIELD.

Millionaire Merchant and Leader in the Drygoods Trade of the World.

New York, Jan. 17.—Marshall Field of Chicago, millionaire merchant, and a leader in the drygoods trade of the world, died at the Holland House in this city at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon after an illness extending over more than a week, beginning with a severe cold and developing quickly into pneumonia, which affected both lungs.

Mr. Field, although 70 years old, made a fight against the disease, which the attending physicians characterized as being braver and stronger than would have been expected of a man many years his junior.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

is better than other Soaps but is best when used in the Sunlight way. Follow directions.

SUNLIGHT WAY OF WASHING

FIRST.—Dip the article to be washed in a tub of lukewarm water. Draw it out on a washboard and rub the soap lightly over it. Then roll it in a tight roll, lay in the tub under the water, and go on the same way until all the pieces have the soap rubbed on, and are rolled up.

Then go away for thirty minutes to one hour and let the "Sunlight" Soap do its work.

NEXT.—After soaking the full time rub the clothes lightly out on a washboard, and the dirt will come out; turn the garment inside out to get at the seams, but don't use any more soap; don't scold or boil in a single piece, and wash through two suds. If the water gets too dirty, pour a little out and add fresh. If a streak is hard to wash, rub some more soap on it, and throw the piece back into the suds for a few minutes.

LASTLY COMES THE RINSING, which is to be done in lukewarm water, taking special care to get all the dirty suds away, then wring out and hang up to dry.

For Woolens and Flannels proceed as follows:—Shake the articles free from dust. Cut a tablet of SUNLIGHT SOAP into shavings, pour into a bowl of boiling water and whisk into a lather. When just lukewarm, work articles in the lather without rubbing. Squeeze out thoroughly in two relays of lukewarm water. Squeeze out water without twisting and hang in the open air.

The most delicate colors may be safely washed in the "Sunlight" way.

SELECTIONS

BEANS IN BOSTON.

Some Striking Figures Which Show Their Amazing Popularity.

More money is spent each year in Boston buying baked beans than would buy the largest battleship in the United States navy.

In 1904 the gross receipts of beans in Boston were more than 68,000 barrels. In each barrel are five bushels. The average price at which these were sold by the wholesalers was $1.85 a bushel, and when these beans were sold again by retailers to their consumers they brought an average of 12 cents a pound, or a grand total of $8,598,272.

There are other places where beans are used, but they are not Boston beans and can never be unless the man who superintends their baking happens to have served an apprenticeship in some of the Boston bakeries.

So tremendous has the demand for baked beans become in Boston that two companies have been formed whose business is to bake beans for restaurants and quick lunch establishments. One of these companies uses an average of 4,000 quarts a week and the other 10,000, yet the beans that these companies bake are but a drop in the bucket compared with the consumption of the city.

The most remarkable feature of this remarkable consumption of beans is that the demand is steadily increasing and that 15,000 more barrels of beans were sold in Boston in 1904 than in 1903. There are seasons in which the demand for this staple is greater than others, notably the months from Thanksgiving to April.

Taking the receipts in Boston for 1904 of 68,732 barrels, that would give the number of bushels 343,660 or 10,907,120 quarts, weighing 21,944,240 pounds.

Accepting the population of Boston as approximately 553,000, this would give each inhabitant—men and women, boys, girls and babies—an average of thirty-seven quarts. These thirty-seven quarts of beans would weigh 148 pounds.—New England Grocer.

Evolution of Climates.

A theory of the gradual evolution of the climates of the earth which has at least the merit of being interesting was recently set forth before the Philosophical society of Washington by Mr. Marsden Manson. In early ages, he thinks, the globe was enveloped in an atmosphere dense with watery vapor, through which the sun's heat did not penetrate, but the internal heat of the earth itself, confined beneath the atmospheric blanket, produced a warm climate even in the polar regions.

Finally as the oceans gradually cooled the atmospheric vapors became less dense, the sun's rays broke through, and under solar influences the climates of the globe arranged themselves in zones. During the process of cooling and before the influence of the sun's heat became predominant on the earth's surface a period of glaciation intervened.—Youth's Companion.

Boys and Balloons.

The French schoolboys had recently to pass a government examination at the close of the primary course. The invention of balloons was the subject given. "Balloons were invented," wrote one boy, "by the brothers Montgolfier, who were paper makers. They took a large balloon and filled it with paper. They then set light to the paper, and the balloon went up." Another boy included a treatise on ballast in his essay, with disastrous consequences.

"When the aerostats, such being the name given to men who ride in balloons, wish to come down they fetch some sand and gravel and put it in the balloon. The latter is thus rendered heavier and more elongated." A pity statement made is. "The aeronaut places himself within the balloon, the basket being used for provisions."

A Strenuous College President.

The energy of President Harper of the University of Chicago is both the despair and the admiration of those who know him. His driving power is extraordinary. Said a member of the faculty: "Dr. Harper knows all about the 'eight hour day.' He puts in two of them every twenty-four hours." For years Dr. Harper went to bed at midnight and rose at 5. To a theological student downtown because he could arrange no hour to meet the president for advanced work Dr. Harper said, "Are you free at 5:30 in the morning?" "Yes," was the startled answer. "Then come every day at that hour." And the arrangement was concluded on that basis.—World's Work.

An Atmospheric Test.

A curious test of the atmosphere was tried in the French senate recently. General Billot complained of a headache at a recent session and attributed it to gas given off by the heating apparatus. The engineer was unable to find any defect in the apparatus. Recourse was had to a "bird test." Bengalee birds are reputed to be very easily asphyxiated. One was hung in a cage for eight hours over the furnace in which General Billot contracted the headache. As the bird was lively at the end of that period, the atmosphere was pronounced pure.

A Rare Bird in England.

The zoo has just received the first hummingbird which has reached the garden and the second which has ever arrived in England alive. It was brought from Venezuela by Captain Fain, and its food is syrup mixed with extract of beef. The bird is a dark green in color, with blue cheeks.—London Chronicle.

MacGowan of B. C. Legislature Makes a Startling Speech in the House.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 16.—Debating his honor's speech in the Legislature yesterday, Premier McBride supplemented the indefinite suggestion as to railways in the speech with the announcement that no legislation would be forthcoming hereafter contemplating land or money subsidies, the Government holding that railway construction should proceed as an unassisted business proposition. That the Government has not solid support in this was evidenced by the attitude of MacGowan (Vancouver), who, in seconding the reply, declared himself convinced of the legitimacy of the land grants properly safeguarded.

MacGowan showed great independence, and incidentally paid his compliments to the federal administration. Ironically analyzing the recent "victories" in the new provinces, he predicted such a victory of graft and corruption would have as reactive effect, spelling annihilation.

Discussing better terms, MacGowan created a sensation by urging an independent provincial demand for better terms from the Dominion, if necessary, by monster petitions to the throne, and, "falling better terms, a dissolution of the unfair ties, binding British Columbia to the confederation of provinces."

MacDonald, the Liberal leader, attacked the Government for destroying the free school system and granting the Kian Island site for Grand Trunk Pacific terminals, challenging the legality of making such a deal by order in council without Legislative consent.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

UP AND DOWN.

A Very Difficult Bottle Trick and How to Perform It.

Here we have the picture of a boy with a bottle standing on the back of his head. You will say, perhaps, that you can easily perform that little feat, and we do not doubt that you can. But that is only the first step in the amusing task that we are going to set for you.

We want you, if you please, to balance a bottle on the back of your head and then to stoop down and pick up a silver quarter from the floor with your lips and rise again, all without letting the bottle fall or touching it with your hand. If you think the experiment might be fatal to the integrity of the bottle—that, in other words, there might be a smash-up—use a tin canister or something of that kind instead of the bottle.

But the use of the bottle makes the feat decidedly more interesting, from the very fact that a smash-up is possible. The use of a tin vessel, therefore, would be too tame to suit most boys.

Now, if you will follow our directions closely, you may succeed in the feat and bring the bottle out safe and whole.

First, bend the head forward until the chin rests on the breast; then balance the bottle in its place, on the crown of the head. Be sure to do the beginning well, and the rest will be easier than it looks.

Bend the knees gently, coming to the floor on one knee. Then lower the hands to the floor and, thus supported, push the feet gradually and slowly back until the face is able to reach the quarter.

Resuming the first position is merely going through these movements in reverse order. Slow, steady, even, careful movement is the secret of success in the feat.—New York Mail.

INDOOR SPORT.

The Adverb Game Makes Fun, and Any Number May Play.

This is a simple little game, in which a player wins by noticing the manner in which the other players answer his questions.

The players take seats in a row, and one is sent out of the room, lots having been drawn to see who this one will be. When he is gone the other players agree on an adverb, and when he is called back he must ask each player a question—no matter what—and the answers are to be given in a manner expressive of the adverb.

Let us say that the adverb selected is "crossly," then every question that the recalled player asks is answered in a cross or snappish manner. If "mildly" be the adverb the answers are given accordingly. "Laughingly," "carelessly," "quickly," are other adverbs that might be used.

The player scores a point when he guesses the adverb, and then some one goes out in his place. If he fails to score he has to go out again, when another adverb is selected, and he comes back and tries a second time.

He continues going out and coming back until he guesses the word.

Atmospheric Pressure.

If you desire to obtain a vivid idea of the force of atmospheric pressure try the following simple experiment:

Place an ordinary wooden ruler on a table in such a manner that half of it will project beyond the edge of the table and then over the table and the portion of the ruler thereon lay a smooth sheet of paper.

Now, if you strike the exposed part of the ruler it will in nine cases out of ten break in half, and yet the sheet of paper on the table will neither be raised nor moved in the slightest from its position. The simple reason is because the atmospheric pressure exerted on the paper is more than sufficient to counterbalance the force of the blow which is struck at the ruler.

By means of simple experiments like these one can learn a great deal of science.

The Best Way.

If I make a face at Billy. He will make a face at me. That makes two ugly faces. And a quarrel, don't you see? And then I double up my fist. And hit him, and he'll pay me back by giving me a kick. Unless I run away.

But if I smile at Billy. "Be sure to make him laugh. You'd say, if you could see him. 'Twas jollier by half. Than kicks and ugly faces. I tell you, all the while. It's pleasanter for any boy (Or girl) to laugh and smile."

FALLIERES IS PRESIDENT.

French Senate Elects Him by Good Majority—His Political Career Began in 1876.

Paris, Jan. 18.—M. Fallieres was yesterday elected President of the republic. The vote was: M. Fallieres, 449; M. Doumer, 371; scattered, 28. The National Assembly met at one o'clock in the Congress Hall of the Royal Palace, Versailles. The Assembly consisted nominally of 521 deputies, and 300 Senators, but owing to death, illness and the passage of some of the deputies to the Senate, leaving their seats vacant, the number present was decreased to about 460, making 430 votes necessary to elect. The greatest interest was manifested in the proceedings, which were very prolonged, the members of the Assembly voting in alphabetical order.

M. Clement Armand Fallieres, the new President of France, is the son of a magistrate's clerk and the grandson of a blacksmith. He was born in 1841 at Mezin, in the Department of Lot-et-Garonne. He studied law and was called to the Bar at Merac, of which town he was afterwards mayor for many years. In 1876 he was elected to the Chamber of Deputies as a Republican. He allied himself with the left group in the Chamber, and in 1890 was named as Under Secretary to the Minister of the Interior. In 1892 he was made president of the Council and of interim Minister of Foreign Affairs. Successively he became successively Minister of Public Instruction, of the Interior and of Justice. He was elected Senator in 1890, and has been three times president of that body. M. Fallieres took an active part in the religious question at first, the proposition for the separation of church and state, but later energetically advocated the repression of the clergy.

SHOT DEAD BY NEPHEW.

Mr. Schryer Had Been Instructing Boy in Use of a Rifle.

Bridgeburg, Jan. 18.—Orange Schryer of Port Erie was shot and killed by Willie C. Dougal, his 16-year-old nephew, Tuesday at the home of the lad's father, W. M. Dougal, president of the Port Erie Board of Trade.

Mr. Schryer was showing the lad the working of a rifle in the yard, and, leaving his nephew, he went into an outhouse. In his absence the boy took aim at a target and fired. The bullet flew wild, and, peering the wall of the outhouse, struck Schryer in the abdomen, severing an artery. He died within twenty-five minutes.

Would Cost $20,000,000.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—The convention of the Ontario Association of Architects closed yesterday afternoon with a detailed address by W. A. Langton on the plan of the beautification of the city. He proposed a civic square to be built immediately in front of the City Hall, and another square between Osgoode Hall and the City Hall. City Engineer Rust figured yesterday that the improvements planned by the architects would cost $20,000,000.

Mr. Kent said that the aldermen had stipulated for union labor on nearly all city work. The case was adjourned.

Robbed a Switchman.

Niagara Falls, Jan. 18.—Arthur Roberts, a Grand Trunk switchman, drew his pay Tuesday and went to the American side. When he was returning home he was set upon by two footpads near the steel arch bridge and badly beaten and robbed of $21. There is no clue to the identity of his assailants.

The mermaid can never complain that she has one foot in the grave. Doubtless the inventor of the pen-oil sharpener made his point.

The LUST of HATE

BY GUY BOOTHBY

Author of "A Beautiful White Devil," "A Bid For Fortune," "The Marriage of Esther," "Dr. Nikola," Etc

"But there is still time for you to retrieve everything. Surely that must be the happiest thought in this frail world of ours. God, in His mercy, gives us a chance to atone for whatever we have done amiss. Believe me, I can quite realize what you feel about yourself. But at the same time, from what I have seen of you, I expect you make more of it than it really deserves."

"No, no; I can never paint what I have done in black enough colors. I am a man eternally disgraced. You try to comfort me in your infinite compassion, but you can never take away from me, try how you will, the awful skeleton that keeps me company night and day—I mean the recollection of the past."

"She looked at me with tears of compassion in her lovely eyes. I glanced at her face and then turned away and stared across the sea. Never in my life before had hope seemed so dead in my heart. Now, for the first time, I realized in all its naked horror the effect of the dastardly deed I had committed. Henceforward I was a social leper, condemned to walk the world, crying, 'Unclean! unclean!'"

"I am so sorry—so very sorry for you," Miss Maybourne said, after the little pause that followed my last speech. "You cannot guess how much your story has affected me. It is so very terrible to see a man so richly endowed as yourself cast down with such despair. You must fight against it, Mr. Wrexford. It cannot be as bad as you think."

"I am afraid I am past all fighting now, Miss Maybourne," I answered.

"But I will try, if you bid me do so." As I spoke I looked at her again. This time her eyes met mine fearlessly, but as they did so a faint blush suffused her face.

"I did you try," she said very softly. "God give you grace, and grant you may succeed where I fail."

"If anything can make me succeed," I replied, "it will be your good wishes. I will do my best, and my good wishes. You have cheered me up wonderfully, and I thank you from the bottom of my heart."

"You must not do that. I hope now I shall not see you looking any more across the sea in the same way that you were this morning. You are to cheer up and live every day. If I report progress to me every day, I shall not spare you, and my anger will be terrible. Now good-bye; I see the light signalling to me from the hurricane deck. It is time for me to read for him."

"Good-bye," I said, "and may God bless you for your kindness to one who really stood in want of it." After that more hopeful view of my situation, I told myself that, provided I managed to reach my destination undetected, I would work never man ever worked before to make an honest place for myself among those with whom my lot would be cast. The whole of the remainder of my life I vowed, God helping me, should be devoted to the service of my fellow creatures, and then on the strength of their respect and esteem I would be able to face whatever punishment Providence should decree as the result of my sin. In the strength of my firm resolve I found myself becoming a braver man than I had been for years past.

By this time we had left Madeira behind us, and were fast approaching Tenerife. In another day and a half, at the longest calculation, I should know my fate.

That night I had been smoking for some time on the fore-cabin, but after supper, feeling tired, had gone to my bunk at an earlier hour than usual. For some reason or other I was in a reverse of good, and more than once I woke in a fright, imagining myself in danger. To such a state of nervousness did this fright at last bring me, that I was unable to sleep any longer. I got out of bed and dressed myself. When I was fully attired I sought the deck, to discover a fine starlight night with a nice breeze blowing. I made my way to the usual spot forward, and leaning on the bulwark, looked down at the sea. We were now in the region of phosphorescent water, and the liquid round the boat's cutwater sparkled and glimmered as if decked with a million diamonds. In the apex of the bows the look-out stood like a sentry, and a silent behind him the great ship showed twice its real size in the darkness. The lamps shone brilliantly from the port and starboard light-houses, and I could just manage to distinguish the officer of the watch pacing up and down the bridge with the regularity of an automaton. There was something about the silence, and that swift rushing through the water—for we must have been doing a good many knots—that was most exhilarating. For some thing like an hour I stood and enjoyed it. My nervousness soon left me, and to my delight I found that I was beginning to feel sleepy again. At the end of the time stated I made my way towards the ladder leading from the topgallant fore-cabin to the spar deck, intending to go below, but just as I reached the alleyway, a shuddering and grinding crash forced the sudden stoppage and heeling over of the great craft, and after that a dead, ghastly silence, in which the beating of one's heart could be distinctly heard. The confusion of the next few minutes can be better imagined than described. The vessel had slipped off and cleared herself from the obstruction whatever it was that had caught her and was going on her way again, but at reduced speed. I heard the skipper open his cabin door and run up the ladder to the bridge shouting, "What has happened?" The officer of the watch replied, but at the same instant the sailors and firemen off duty came pouring out of the fore-cabin shouting, "She's sinking! She's sinking!" The engine-room telegraph had meanwhile been rung, and the ship was perceptibly stopping. I stood where I was wondering all the time what I had better do.

"Every man to his station," bellowed the skipper, coming to the rails of the bridge, and funneling his mouth with his hands so that his voice might be heard above the din. "Be steady, men, and remember that the first man who gives any trouble I shall shoot without warning." Then, turning to the chief officer, he signed to him to take the carpenter and hasten forward in an endeavor to ascertain the nature of the injuries the vessel had received.

By this time all the passengers were on deck, the women pale and trembling, and the men endeavoring to be calm and reassure them as well as they were able. I made my way up the ladder to the hurricane deck, and as I did so felt the vessel give a heavy lurch, and then sink a little deeper in the water. A moment later the chief officer and carpenter crossed the well and hurried up the ladder to the bridge. We all waited in silence for the verdict that meant life or death to everybody.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said the skipper, coming down from the bridge, after a short conversation with them, and approaching the anxious group by the chart room door, "I am sorry to have to tell you that the ship has struck a rock, and in a short time will be no longer habitable for us. I want, however, to reassure you. There is ample boat accommodation for twice the number of our ship's company, so that you need have no possible fear about leaving her. How long it will be before we must go I cannot say. There is a strong bulkhead between us and the water which may stand long enough for us to reach Tenerife, but it is only about a hundred miles distant. I think, however, it would be better for us to be prepared for any emergency. The ladies will therefore remain on deck, while the gentlemen go down to their cabins and bring such such warm clothing as they can find. The night is cold, and in case we may have to take to the boats before morning it will be well for everybody to make themselves as warm as possible."

Without more ado the male portion of the passengers gathered in a group on the saloon like so many rabbits, I following at their heels to see if I could be of assistance. Into the cabins we rushed at random, collecting such articles of apparel as we could find, and carrying them on deck with all possible haste. The necessity for speed was so great that we did not pause to make selection or to inquire as to ownership, but took what we could lay our hands on and were thankful for the find. In the cabin I entered I noticed a pair of cork jackets pushed under a bunk. I dragged them out, and heaped them on top of the other things I had collected. Then a sudden inspiration seized me. On the rack in the saloon I had noticed a large flask. I took possession of it, and then, collecting the other things I had found, ran on deck again. I could not have been gone a minute, but even in that short space of time a change had come over the ship. Her bows were lower in the water, and I trembled when I thought of the result of the strain on the bulkhead. I found Miss Maybourne standing just where I had first seen her, at a little distance from the others, aft of the chart-room and beside the engine-room skylight. She was fully dressed, and had a little girl of eight with her, the only daughter of a widow named Bailey, of whom she was very fond.

"Miss Maybourne," I cried, throwing down the things I had brought on the deck as I spoke, and selecting a thick jacket from the heap, "I don't know who they belong to, but you must put on as much as you can wear."

"She obeyed me willingly enough, and when I had buttoned the last garment up I insisted on her putting on one of the cork lifebelts. As soon as she was clothed I put another garment on the child, and then attached the second lifebelt to her body. It was too big for her to wear, but fastened round her shoulders I knew it would answer the same purpose."

"But yourself, Mr. Wrexford?" cried Miss Maybourne, who saw my condition. "You must find a cork jacket for yourself, or you will be drowned."

At the very instant that I was going to answer her the vessel gave a sudden pitch, and before the boats could be lowered or anything be done for the preservation of the passengers, she began to sink rapidly. Seeing that it was hopeless to wait for the boats, I dragged my two companions to the ladder leading to the after spar deck. When I reached it, I tore down the rail just at the spot where Miss Maybourne had fallen overboard, and this done, bade them jump into the sea without losing time. Miss Maybourne did so without a second thought; the child, however, hung back, and cried piteously for mercy. But, with the ship sinking so rapidly under us, to hesitate I knew was to be lost, so I caught her by the waist, and, regardless of her screams, threw her over the side. Then, without waiting to see her rise again, I dived myself. The whole business, from the moment of the first crash to the time of our springing overboard, had not lasted five minutes. One thing was self-evident—the bulkhead could not have possessed the strength with which it had been credited."

To Be Continued.

The faith is dead that knows no change.

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Mothers Should Watch the Development of Their Daughters Interesting Experiences of Misses Borman and Mills.

MATILDA BORMAN MYRTLE MILLS

Every mother possesses information which is of vital interest to her young daughter.

Too often this is never imparted or is withheld until serious harm has resulted to the growing girl through her ignorance of nature's mysterious and wonderful laws and penalties.

Girls' over-sensitiveness and modesty often puzzle their mothers and baffles physicians, as they so often withhold their confidence from their mothers and conceal the symptoms which ought to be told to their physician at this critical period.

When a girl's thoughts become sluggish, with headache, dizziness or a disposition to sleep, pains in back or lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude; when she is a mystery to herself and friends, her mother should come to her aid, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will at this time prepare the system for the coming change, and start the menstrual period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularity.

Hundreds of letters from young girls and from mothers, expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them, have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., at Lynn, Mass.

Miss Mills has written the two following letters to Mrs. Pinkham, which will be read with interest:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (First Letter.)
I am but fifteen years of age, am depressed, have dizzy spells, chills, headache and backache, and as I have heard that you can help advise to girls in my condition, I am writing you. —Myrtle Mills, Oquawka, Ill.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (Second Letter.)
It is with the feeling of utmost gratitude that I write to you to tell you what your valuable medicine has done for me. When I wrote you in regard to my condition I had consulted several doctors, but they failed to understand my case and I did not receive any benefit from their treatment. I followed your advice, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now healthy and well, and all the distressing symptoms which I had at that time have disappeared. —Myrtle Mills, Oquawka, Ill.

Miss Matilda Borman writes Mrs. Pinkham as follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my months were irregular and painful, and I always had such dreadful headaches. But since taking the Compound my head aches have entirely left me, my months are regular, and I am getting strong and well. I am telling all my girl friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. —Matilda Borman, Harrington, Iowa.

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice, ask her to address Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her every detail of her symptoms, and to keep nothing back. She will receive advice absolutely free, from a source that has no rival in the experience of woman's ills, and it will, if followed, put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of cures of female ills of any medicine that the world has ever known. Why don't you try it?

HEAVY HEADACHE
FOR FOUR YEARS

But Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cured

It—They Are Known By Their

Works All Over Canada.

"By their works ye shall know them," and if you know Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets by their works you must admit they are the greatest comfort producers of the present age.

Here is some of their work. Mrs.

A. Waddell, of 34 Simcoe street,

Hamilton, says:

"I was troubled with heavy headache for four years caused by Dyspepsia. I doctored with the best doctors, but they failed to help me. I got one box of Dodd's Dyspepsia

Tablets and after taking part of them I found I was cured. I can now eat in the morning; before I could not eat a bit."

Thousands of other Canadians relate similar experiences. In fact everybody who has used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets tells the same story.

Indigestion and Dyspepsia cannot live in the same body with them.

Irving and Thinness.

Sir Henry Irving was the first actor to make slenderness acceptable or tolerable on the English stage. He was very thin in his earlier middle age, and theater goers of that day wondered whether they could endure to see a long

then fatness had been obligatory. It is difficult to realize now the full convention of chest and shoulders and calves.

Comparatively lately a man of stage experience was engaged with a company of English amateurs that all the thin women and all the lean men should be made plump. "Nothing," he said, "is so impossible on the stage as thinness."

Irving changed all this because his genius was wedded to uncompromising thinness.

GROUP IS DEADLY.

It must be stopped quickly. Nothing so sure as Nervine. Give it in-steadily, and rub it on chest and throat—croup soon vanishes. No doctor can write a more efficient prescription than Polson's Nervine, which reaches the trouble and cures quickly. The marvelous power of Nervine will surprise you: it is the best household remedy for coughs, colds, sore chest, croup, and internal pain of every kind. Large bottles have been sold by all dealers for nearly fifty years at 25c.

Dies Aged 100 Years.

Port Hope, Jan. 17.—The death of Mrs. Helen Kyle, aged 100 years occurred yesterday morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. James Craik, King street. Until she became ill four months ago she was most active in both body and mind. She was born in Dysart, Scotland, in 1806.

Selkirk Elected.

Sandwich, Jan. 17.—James Selkirk

has been elected warden of Essex

County after one of the hottest fights ever witnessed in the county.

MORE DEADLY THAN FAMINE.

Neglected catarrh sooner or later causes consumption, which destroys more human beings than famine and war combined. The way "Catarrh-zone" cures catarrh is very simple;

it first kills the germs that cause

the irritation; then by soothing away the congestion and inflammation it cures the discharge, hawking and dropping in the throat. "I suffered so continually from nasal catarrh," writes Ernest R. Dakin, of Rosemont, "that I scarcely knew what it was to be free from headache and pain over the eyes. Catarrh-zone relieved me at once and made a thorough cure." No other remedy cures like Catarrhzone—try it for your next cold.

Father and Daughter Burned.

Kingston, Jan. 17.—Monday night a lamp exploded, and Charles Givens,

Beverly street, was burned. Miss

Givens tried to suppress the flames

when her clothing caught. Mr. Givens pulled the clothing from his daughter and then with his coat put out the fire. Miss Givens' head, chest and neck were scorched.

NOT SLEEPING WELL.

Without sleep there can be no bodily or mental vigor, consequently sleeplessness in a dangerous condition. Nothing so surely restores sleep as Ferrozone; it's harmless—just a nourishing, strengthening tonic. Ferrozone vitalizes every part of the body, makes the nerves hardy, completely rebuilds the system. The cause of sleeplessness is removed—health is restored—you can work, eat, sleep—feel like new after using

Ferrozone. Don't put off—Ferro-zone costs 50c. per box at all dealers; get it to-day.

Philippine Tariff Bill Passes.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—The Philippine tariff bill passed by the House yesterday, substantially as it came from the ways and means committee. The vote was 258 to 71. The bill admits goods, the growth or product of the Philippine Islands, into the United States free of duty, except sugar, tobacco and rice, on which a tariff of 25 per cent. of the Dingley rates is levied.
