Pinned Through the Neck to Tree, Yet He Survived.

It was in the summer of 1859 that George Wainwright and Ben Spencer. each in charge of a train of freight wagons, were headed for the Missouri river to bring supplies back to Colora do points. The Indians were very troublesome in those days, and these two outfits always camped together for protection. One night they had arranged the camp, with the wagons forming a circle, and everybody the guards was to be inside. Wainwright preferred to sleep in a clump of cottonwoods about a quarter of mile off, and there he fixed himself with his negro servant as a bodyguard. Neither the camp nor Wainwright was disturbed during the night, but early the next morning while Wainwright was sitting on the ground with his back to a tree drinking his tin of coffee an arrow from an unseen foe en-tered his neck at the right of the jugular vein and was driven with such force as to impale the victim to the tree. The negro, believing his master was killed, ran to Spencer's camp and gave the alarm.

Spencer and some of his men rushed over to Wainwright. Instead of being dead Wainwright was not even seriously injured. Spencer cut the arrow off close to the point of entrance and then gently drew Wainwright's head forward until he was released. victim suffered but little inconveniepal. from the wound, and by the time trip was completed it was entiry healed.-Los Angeles Times

Foreigners Regarded as Egyptians and Treated Accordingly.

A resolan recident in Switzerland was fined 10 francs because an little girl had plucked three buttercups growing on a piece of land on which she and some half dozen Swiss children had for years been accustomed to play. The land had recently changed hands, and its new owner had out up a notice forbidding the pluck of flowers. A passing gendarme h found the children flagrante delicto and had forthwith instituted proceedings against the little foreigner, while letting the little natives go scot free. The child's father appealed against the sentence and by dint of hard fighting, forced the higher court to reduce the fine from 10 francs to 3-i. e., 1 franc for each buttercup.

When I tried to learn the whys and wherefores of this case I was told by a Swiss that one-half of every fine levied goes to the gendarwe who reports the offense for which it is levied, and also that Swiss gendarmes cannot fairly be expected to be waite so alert in taking proceedings against their own country people as against foreigners that in Switzerland all foreigners rank as Egyptians and that the one Scriptural injunction that is faithfully obeyed there is that which ordains that Egyptians shall be spolled .- From 'The Latter Day Swiss" in Cornhill Magazine.

Until pretty late in the eighteenth century mummies entered into a great variety of drugs, balms and other medicaments. As the genuine mummy was then expensive, recipes were giv en by many ancient writers for converting human flesh into mummy. Usually only certain partions of the body were used, and these were beaten, dried, macerated and spiced out of all likeness to their natural condition, ous allusions are made to the practice in ancient literature, and in an old play, "Bird In a Cage," are the directions, "Make mummy of my flesh What and sell me to the apothecaries.'

A Famous Opel.

The most famous opal in history was that which was worn in a ring by the Roman senator Nonius in the day of the triumvirate. Its size equaled that of a medium sized hazelnut, yet its beauty and brilliancy rendered it a marvel among the dilettanti of Rome especially when it was known that the goldsmiths and money changers had tony made overtures to Nonius for its purchase, intending, it is thought, to present it to Cleopatra, but the senator refused to part with it and for fear that it would be taken from him by sheer force sought safety in flight. Here history loses all trace of this famous gem, there being no record of its transference from Nonjus to any of his

What They Drank.

The Formosa Brewery have been puting a beverage on the market known as local option beer and during the Northern Exhibition and other events here this mixture was handed out to every little boy and girl who had five cents to held out for conviction, and declared spend for a cool drink. It tasted so much like the real beer that old topers fairly bathed in it, and the rising generation when the sun was high, simply slopped it into them. Mothers looked on as innocent turtle doves, and in some instances gave the boy an extra five asleep over his cane and when he went cents for another drink. The Formosa further into the Land of Nod the stick firm thought they were putting up a thought they were drinking it. Moth turn it, when they discovered it was fill. ers will now be moaning in their beds and kicking the blankets off themselves, for the Formosa local option beer has been found, according to Inspector Ay earist, to contain over 21 per cent. of proof spirits. The Formosa man, it seems, had been testing their "proxy" beer for alcohol, and not for proof spir its. But as Inspector Ayearist pointed out a beverage containing 21 per cent alcohol would contain between 4 and 5 per cent proof spirits. The department has construed it as an intoxicating beverage, but on account of the Formos firm making it in good faith under the Steve Weingart, who recently placed Deputy Reeve Tolton's turkeys in pound and which cost the owner some $2.50 to redeem, is reported to have made another attempt to lower the Deputy Reeve's cash account by impounding his sow, which was roaming at large on the highway last week. Fred Glintz, the pound-keeper for that settlement, was absent at the time the hog arrived, and on returning home later, found the pig in his yard. Surmising that it had coamed there, he innocently opened the gate and chased it out. He was horri-fled some hours later to discover that he had committed a serious official blunder, and it is said that the dusty old statutes are now being thumbed to find how great was the pound-keeper's error.

About Stray Cattle.

This is the time of the year that cattle wander off and a publication of the laws regarding stray cattle would not be amiss. The laws of Ontario on this matter are very definite. In cases where cattle run at large and wander onto the premises of one who is not their owner, there are two courses to pursue. So soon as an animal is found on a man's premises he may drive it to the pound and notify the clerk of the municipality, who will attend to its release or disposition or he may secure it on his premises and retain it while he is complying with statutory requirements, for its disposition which are these: He must first publish a notice of the presence of such a beast on his property in a newspaper issued in his locality and keep the same running for three consecutive weeks. If the owner fail to claim the animal its custodian must keep it for two months and if the value exceeds twenty dollars it must be sold and after all expenses of harboring and sale which must not exceed twenty dollars, have been deducted, the balance must be handed to the treasurer of the munipality in case the lawful owner of the animal has not been found. If the value of the animal is below twenty dollars it becomes the property of the man on premises it strayed after he has proper ly advertised its presence. When an animal is claimed and expenses of pas ture and feeding are determined the law charges. Any person harboring animakes provision against exorbitant

British Columbia Letter.

The day we went to Westminster was the day of the great lacrosse match be-tween the Nationals of Montreal and the world's champions of Westmin-

12,000 people. It was amusing to read the letters put in the paper by the Nationals explaining how they were going to take the Minto Cup back to Montreal, having a captain on their team who knew all the tactics of the Westminster team and would show them by their superior skill which they had acquired in the east how helpless their opponents would be in their hands.

Well, it is one thing to play on paper and another thing to face an opponent on the field. Before the game was half over their minds had changed considerable. Their passing of the ball was very poor in comparison with the other team, and they could not break the rushes that were forced against them and at the end of the game the score stood 7 to 3 in favor of the home team. The game was fast and furicus.

On the 24th of Sept. another game was played and the score was 11 to 1 in favor of Westminster, and on Oct. 1st another game resulting in the score of 6 to 2 in favor of the home team.

The manager of the Montreal team stated that they were fairly beaten by a stronger and much better team and that it was altogether likely that the Minto Cup would remain where it was for a good many years.

We also took in a trip to Home Sound, one of the most beautiful trips on the Pacific Coast. The steamer leaves Vancouver at 9.15 a. m. and the trip takes the whole day. They make calls at 12 different points on the way. At the Great Northern Canneries, Eagle Harbor cannery, and the Britannia mines and a number of smaller places on the way, they deliver mail and receive, and also take in supplies to the different camps.

We were out and in among the mounains and sailing around little islands all day long. The beautiful tints and coloring on the sides of the mountains make a very rich piece of scenery. The changing of the color of the leaves adds greatly to its beauty.

It takes till half past seven o'clock at night to get back to the city. We were just in splendid trim for a good meal and went to a restaurant and had a good meal of British Columbia salmon. After supper we went to the Chinese Mission and Mr. Connell had the privilege of teaching a few Chinese boys. This is run altogether by voluntary teachers. We took a car and got home a little after ten feeling we had filled up the day and we were well pleased with our

The next trip we took was to Steveston, a fishing station about 8 sewest of vancouver. It is largely a papanese town and there are several fish canneries there. We saw quite a few out placing their nets, the water was like a mirror, so mooth. We heard that the goats and sheep. A great lot of bears Rev. could not begin to describe the scenery, it simply inspires you with awe and wonder. It is a tiresome and dangerous trip. It is eight miles from Vancouver, but the scenery is so grand one does not mind it. We did not care to face the walk back, so we engaged an automobile to take us back to North Vancouver. The ferry and the Street car soon landed us home and all expressed themselves as having spent a very pleasant time.

The two weeks Mr. Connell spent with us passed very quickly and we certainly enjoyed his company very much. I took a trip with him as far as Victoria, the Capital City. We sailed on one of the C. P. R. boats, the Princess Victoria a very fine palatial steamer. As in all other parts of the Pacific Coast the scenery was very attractive. We arrived at half past three o'clock in the afternoon. There was a crowd of people got off the boat, it being Exhibition time at Victoria.

The Dominion Hotel we went to with its 135 rooms were all filled and some had to seek other quarters. After reg. istering at the Hotel we took a stroll around the water front. Too Many Hotels.

When in Walkerton recently we were surprised to find 7 hotels and a liquor store in a town with a population of 3090. This double the number required for a town the size of Walkerton. What is wanted in the county town is a campaign for license reduction. A prominent Walkertonian whose sympathies are opposed to temperance reform told us that some of Walkerton's hotels were no better thon groggeries. What else could one expect where there is a bar room or liquor store for fewer than every 400 of the population. Walkerton has some hotels that give excellent accommodation to the travelling public but there are others and where the busilic spirited citizens of Walkerton will take around a petition for presentation to the council to submit a by-law to be voted on at the next municipal elections for license reduction and we have no doubt the by-law would carry. Then it would be up to the license commissioners to select the hotels to be cut off and that wouldn't be a big contract. In Toronto the ratepayers would not for a moment entertain the thought of going back to 150 hotels. The reduction scheme gives general satisfaction, And tide his family over the winter, the if a reduction by-law carried in Walkerton, the citizens would in a few years wonder they ever put up so long with 7 men are exhibiting fittle joy over the hotels and a liquor store.—Chesley En. reduction.

Rules For Success.

I would advise every young man to make it the rule and practise of his life to set aside and save part of one half of every dollar he may earn or receive, one half if possible. This will enable him to take care of himself in old age, independent of relatives and friends or charitable institutions. Avoid debt, never buy anything you cannot pay for at once. Live temperately in all things, avoid the gilded palaces that now seem to be sofirmly established in the city, and the ruin of so many of our men. Avoid strong drink, the ill effects of it can be seeh every day: the tobacco habit is nasty and should not be indulged in. Read good books and papers and attend your church regularly and become interested in the work and upbuilding of your fellowman and work, work,

A Critical Period When Dr. Wil liams' Pink Fills are a Real Blessing.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are absolutely the finest medicine that ever a woman took. At special periods a woman needs a medicine to regulate her blood supply or her life will be a round of pain and suf-fering. then added, with open pleasure (There will be more bullets!) "And there were more. This time bullets and shots fell like hail through the window. 'I told you so! Hold up your appon!' my bros so! Hold up your apron!' my brother cried, and picking the leaden toys from the floor, he threw them into my apron, which I obediently lifted up, not altogether displeased with the contents."

It was only when, in a lull, she looked from the window and saw a wounded and dying man upon the pavement with his poor wife kneeling by his side, that the horror behind the excitement made itself felt; she clung, weeping, to her brother, and then both, answering their mother's calls, fled to the cellar. There at bedtime, with her good-night kiss, the mother murmured sadly, "Lie down and sleep; shut your eyes; you have seen too much to-day."

Rotten Eggs.

Complaints have been heard both this year and last from all parts of the country, regarding the sale of rotten eggs. It might seem severe to enact a law making the sale of such eggs illegal, but something should be done to overcome the present difficulty. A Queer Old World, This.

This is a sort of topsy turvy world. No one seems to be satisfied. One man is saving up to buy a house and another is trying hard to sell his dwelling for less than it cost to get rid of it. One man is spending all the money he can earn in taking a girl to the shows and sending her valuable presents in hopes that he may eventually make her his wife, and his neighbor is spending all the gold he has saved tryitg to get a divorce. One man keeps a pistol to protect himself aimself against burglars, while his neighbor doesn't keep one for fear of shooting himself or some member of family. One man pays for his pape advance because he can read it we greater relish, while another takes it a long time without paying one cand is enjoying it hugely all the whole surely a queer old world this is.
