Wrigh by Jury. We mentioned a few days ago that an admirable letter had appeared in the Montreal Gazette from the per of Mr. Arantam, in which he had pointed out the invasion of the rights of the subject inted by a Bill-brought in by Mr. Drummond, by which the Court of Queen's Bench is empowered, on application of the Crown, to change the venue in criminal cases from one Judicial District to another, or, in fact, to one in which there may be found a more accountrodating Jury. Thus it would buit suit the views of the Ministeof riot on the 25th of April, '49, to Three Rivers, for trial before a French Jury, or one of the St. Gregoire School obstructionists to Montreal, before an English Jury. It is just as if the Irish trial. Government were to be invested with power, at its pleasure, to send an Orangeman for trial to of the County Down. In England, the sense is never changed in criminal cases. We recollect, not many yours ago, that two persons, to be tried at the Exeter Assizes, (they had been seconds in a duel wherein one of the principals fell;) applied to the Court for a change of the sease, which was declared to be impossible by the Court, although it was proved that the public mind was frightfully excited on the matter, that the walls were covered with placards of the most violent character, and that there was every reason to fear that an impertial Jury could not be obtained in that County.

Now if in England it is not thought necessary to give to a Court of Criminal Justice power to change the senue, even on the application of the necessed how much more dangerous would it be in Canada to give the Caown, as Prosecutor, the power to change the senare, knowing that the DROWN here means the Ministry, and that Canadian Ministries entertain towards their political passion must be prevented for the future, (we vonder if Ministers are quietly contemplating any measure likely to lead to a fresh explosion,) her it be to secure the conviction of ram pageous Montreal British, or obstructive St. Gree Frenchmen, the palladium of British liberty is to be trampled on, and a violation of the liberty of the subject perpetrated, worthy of the worst days of Scroggs and Jefferies, but which even they yould not have dared to attempt.

It is an inherent part of Trial by Jury that the tries distill takes place within the jurisdiction wherein the crime is committed, and it is our firm belief that, as Mr. Assamas says, even should the Parliament pass an Act enabling the Crown to change the venue, as contemplated by this Bill, the Act fiself would be unconstitutional, and so of up affect.

DRAR SIR, - It is fitting in this note to you t express, at the outsus, my segret that, through a mental abstraction, for which I cannot account, i was led to the commission of an error in my ca-pacity as Judge on your behalf, which resulted, I must say, wrongfully and exceedingly unhandsomely, in the loss of the stakes in the third trial of your Engine with the Montreal yesterday hand unfortunate as the result was to you, and mortifying to me, the very error occurred from the supe riority of your Engine, for, being stationed at the Montreal, I state distinctly that your Engine flowed her over, or, in Fireman's language, flooded the Montreal for some seconds before I struck the bell. Mr. Daniel McNevin, who was stand-

From a broad aspersion cast on my honor b one of the Committee of Arrangements, I felt con ziai Action to be able to send James en, accused strained to have no voice in the decision regarding the last trial; but I conceive that the Judges should have decided that, as the mistake had occurred, the only way to decide it was by another

For fifty days one unbroken line of emigrants has been moving along the California trail, and there is no sign yet that there will be an end to their coming. The leading waggons are now within a short distance of the mines, while the hindmost ones have scarcely left the banks of the Missouri.

Several passenger trains from St. Louis have recently gone ulong; all srells.
