SHOW IN THEATRICAL CIRCLE

Comedy, Drama and Almost Tragedy Were Enacted Last Night, the Performance Taking Place in the Orpheum—Cast Was Attaches of Standard and New Savoy.

Yesterday afternoon, last night and the evening there was a merry war going on in theatrical circles about the Orpheum theatre, a war wherein the usual red fire, tin swords and tin canes were supplemented by paper cuts and right hand blows. The plot of the play, as the critics would say, is somewhat of the nature of a romantic comedy, and admits a heroine and plus several other characters, each bent upon occupying the stage at the same time. The action of the play is vigorous, notably the exit of Joe Knott through the back door of the Orpheum theatre, and the hand and foot. Hobgoblins, devils and sprites appear at various times, one of the latter, impersonated by a youthful individual called 'The Kid,' who has been the cause of many occasions through a skylight in the Orpheum theatre, and has been seen only to be thrown out at various times in succession by 'de gang.' The only thing necessary to complete the tout ensemble of the play is a young man, who yesterday morning, the Orpheum theatre, and has been seen only to be thrown out at various times in succession by 'de gang.' The only thing necessary to complete the tout ensemble of the play is a young man, who yesterday morning, the Orpheum theatre, and has been seen only to be thrown out at various times in succession by 'de gang.'

leading from the offices on the second floor to the boxes as a means of getting in and out and this was guarded by three or four husky looking men belonging to the Eads clan. This morning, Jackson in company with an officer and a waiter bearing a tray of dishes appeared at the door, desiring to pass a ted into his faithful followers remaining inside. After some little parley the waiter was allowed to pass, but the entrance of Jackson was barred. Following the disposal of their breakfast the men were told that if they did not leave peacefully they would be thrown out. "Sandy" Frue and a carpenter concluded discretion was the better part of valor and accordingly vanished, but the third man, Joe Knott, like his namesake, the historic Emma Knott, announced his intention of taking his time. The Eads force, gallantly led by Jack Cavanaugh, by a quick flank movement soon had Knott on his back. Ropes were brought and in a jiffy he was bound hand and foot, the back door leading into the alley was opened and with a comic opera heave-ho he was shoved out into the cold, cruel world much to the surprise of Levy, who was behind his Second avenue building splitting his linding in his night. Not wishing to leave Knott bound helpless, one of the Eads force stepped out and untied the ropes and no sooner were Knott's hands free than he handed his rescuer a jolt behind the ear which made him see several kinds of milky ways. With every entrance barricaded it looked as though the Jackson force was up against it, but at this time "The Kid," appeared with his fine Italian hand, effecting an entrance through a skylight in the roof and doing a slide for life down a ladder from the flies to the stage. He no sooner struck the stage than sing! out he went through the back door of "The Kid" Again the same performance was gone through and again did "The Kid" do twisters out in the alley. The third time he got in through the skylight he declared he was "Pat" Dunton and an officer went after him and while scuffling with the tenacious youth he broke through the ceiling directly over the orchestra and came very near falling to the floor below. He was finally gotten down on the stage where he had a mix-up with the policeman which resulted in him being carried out through the front entrance and taken to jail in an express wagon charged with fighting and resisting an officer. Knott then swore out a warrant against Murray Eads, Jack Cavanaugh and ten others, charging them with assault, and so going on the picnic way. The Eads faction is still in possession and declare they propose remaining where they are. In speaking of the matter today, Mr. Eads said:

"The way this thing appears to me it looks as though Levy was trying to beat me out of the $1000 rent I have already paid for the Orpheum for the months of June and July of next year. I am not behind in my rent, having tendered him this morning the amount due for the month of November. He refused to accept it, and I suppose we will have to fight it out in court. I have offered to sublet the Orpheum to Mr. Jackson and, in fact, did lease it to him with Mr. Levy's consent until April 1 at the same rent I am paying. The arrangement was made October 30, Mr. Jackson paying me $50 to bind the contract. The conditions were that he was to pay me $1000 in advance November 1, and then take possession. He failed to keep his agreement and now I understand holds a lease direct from Levy. My lease is still alive and I do not propose to be beaten out of the $1000 I have already paid out if there is any justice to be had in the territory."

Mr. Jackson stands in the light of a disinterested spectator in the legal fight which will doubtless take place, he claiming possession through Levy by virtue of his lease and he (Levy) having accepted from him money as rental for the premises. Attorney Hulme, representing Levy, contends that the Eads lease having been forfeited Levy is privileged to again lease the premises to anyone who may desire them. Suits and counter suits are being prepared today and the fight for possession promises to be a bitter one.

TOPEKA STRUCK

Ran Into a Big Iceberg on Saturday Night Last in Taku Inlet.

WAS TAKEN BACK TO JUNEAU

And Temporary Repairs Were Made at Treadwell.

SENATOR TAKES HER RUN

While Damaged Tessel Puts Back to Seattle—Mr. Stem Is Very Badly Injured.

Skagway, Nov. 6.—Steamer Flossie arrived last night bringing the news that the Topeka had struck a big iceberg on last Saturday in Taku inlet. The Topeka steamed to Juneau and beached at Treadwell. The injuries sustained by the vessel were temporarily repaired after which she sailed for Seattle. The damages will amount to a considerable sum, the steamer's stem being badly bent and several of her forward planks twisted and broken. The Senator now at Juneau has taken the Topeka's Sitka run.

Addition to Church. An extension 20x20 in size is being added to the west end of St. Paul's Episcopal church, which when completed will give additional room to the rather diminutive edifice. It is expected to be finished in time for services next Sunday.

CIVIL SERVICE HOCKEY TEAM

Will Meet Friday to Prepare a Game Schedule.

A meeting of the Civil Service hockey players is called for Friday evening for the purpose of organizing for play during the coming season. The assemblage will take place in the Bohemia Club rooms upstairs over the first door north of McLennan & McFeely. Last year the Civil Service team won the championship and it is thought that nearly if not quite as strong team can be mustered up this year. Welly Young, one of the club's star players, and in fact, one of the best in all Canada, will be greatly missed and his vacancy will be hard to fill. There is plenty of material to draw from, however, and the secretary of our Lady of Snows are confident they will be able to retain the pennant this year. The club expects to use the police rink for practice as well as play.

Grand Jury at Skagway Finds Nothing Against Judge Schibrede

PROSECUTING WITNESS WAS SCORED

Presiding Jurist Objects to Gambling and Other Evils

POPCORN KATE RAN AMUCK

Drunk and Naked Abandoned Woman Was Taken Off the Street in Skagway.

Skagway, Nov. 6.—The grand jury made its final report yesterday. Judge Schibrede and Deputy Marshal Snook were completed exonerated by the jury's report. The judge severely exonerated the complaining witness as a man entirely lacking in honor. In discharging the jury the judge called attention to the fact that no grand jury in Alaska had ever indicted a gambling house, a house of ill-fame or parties guilty of Sunday violation. The judge was led to make these remarks by the fact that a woman of the town known as "Popcorn Kate" was yesterday taken off the street stark naked and too drunk to stand alone.

Skagway, Nov. 6.—Steamers Amur and Seattle are both due.

ONLY SNOW IS NEEDED

To Make Hunker Creek Busy Its Entire Length.

Thomas Kirkpatrick who lately visited his Hunker creek claims, says that the ground is now in excellent condition for working, the freezing weather having taken up all the surface water. Mr. Kirkpatrick says the only present drawback to active work is the condition of the roads which precludes the transportation of heavy machinery and until it can be hauled out and put in position ready for operation many claims will remain idle. The Hunker road is in fairly good shape for freighting by wagon, but it is not possible to take a six ton boiler over the road on a wagon. The absence of snow will greatly affect the size of many Hunker dumps unless there is sufficient fall to make good roads very soon.

MAKING HEADWAY

Nora Due at Stewart—Forty-mile Jam Holds.

The prediction made in the Nugget Monday evening, that the approaching salute of the steamer Nora would probably be heard by the last of the week still holds good. The weather remains warm and balmy, more like the opening of spring than the beginning of winter, and the ice flowing by the city today is not so compact nor so heavy as it has been for some days. The floes are cut up here and does not present near so difficult an aspect as it did a week ago. ADVICES from up and down the river also indicates that the warm wave is not confined alone to Dawson. At Selkirk where two days ago the ice was reported thick, today the river is practically clear, while below it is heavier than usual. The jam at Fortymile holds and it is now the opinion of the old-timers that the river is closed at that point for the winter. The water has fallen four feet in the past 48 hours and the floating ice is passing underneath the jam. Eagle City reports the river wide open and but very little ice in sight. At 3 o'clock this afternoon the Nora had not as yet reported at Stewart, though was momentarily expected. The ice between Selwyn and Ogilvie being at present very thick, the Nora is doubtless unable to make headway other than by merely floating with the current. If she can fairly be able to make the 71 miles intervening between that point and Dawson by Friday evening, the telegraphic report of the river is as follows, no word having been received above Selkirk. Selkirk—Hardly any ice in the river now; weather mild all the way up. Selwyn—Ice very thick today; river full from bank to bank. Stewart—But little change in conditions since last report. Ice quite heavy. Ogilvie—The river closed last night at 7:15 for over a mile, but opened again this morning at 8. Channel is full of floes. Fortymile—Jam still holds and the old-timers are now of the belief that it is good for all winter. Eagle—The river is wide open and there is scarcely any ice to be seen. Nothing definite has been heard of any of the main now en route. One of the canoe carriers was reported to have passed Five Fingers at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but the rumor lacks confirmation.

RUDY IS THE BIG THING

Elected Arctic Chief of A. B.'s Last Night.

Last night the Arctic Brotherhood, Camp Dawson, No. 4, held its regular semi-annual election of officers, for the contest for the coveted honor of the Worthey Arctic Chief being more spirited than at any election ever previously held. There were six candidates for the position, R. A. Kalenborn, E. B. Condon, John Gilson, J. A. Greene, Emil Mohr and Charles Macdonald. Prior to the balloting Messrs. Mohr and Macdonald withdrew their names. The first ballot failed to elect, there being 76 votes cast and 39 being necessary to a choice. Messrs. Greene and Gilson then withdrew, narrowing the contest down to the two remaining candidates. Upon the second ballot Mr. Kalenborn won by a small majority and was duly declared elected. The election of the remaining officers was done principally by acclamation, there being but one candidate and the secretary being instructed to cast the vote of the camp. The complete list of the new officers is as follows:

Arctic Chief—R. A. Kalenborn. Vice Arctic Chief—E. Mohr. Arctic Recorder—Dr. Edwards. Keeper of Nuggets—John L. Sale. Chaplain—Wm. Sheridan. Alchemist—F. N. Atwood. Trustees—J. A. Greene, Wm. Sheridan, Jos. Segbers, John Gilson and George Hutchinson.

Married Last Night. Mr. Oliver Girabeau and Mrs. Reynolds both of Dawson, the former an extensive mine owner and operator, were united in marriage last evening at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Father Gendreau. Mr. and Mrs. Girabeau will make their home in Dawson.

Special Drive. On 1000 sacks of oats for a few days only. T. G. Wilson, brick warehouse, Third avenue.

WOMAN HELD PRISONER

In the Dawson Jail Owing to the Lack of Funds With Which to Pay a Small Judgment Hanging Over Her—Has Been Confined Ever Since October 21st.

Held in custody for over two weeks owing to lack of funds with which to settle a judgment. Such is the case of Mrs. M. Coolidge, who was arrested Oct. 21, just after returning from a trip to her home on the outside, on a capias issued in the early part of last June. In the summer of 1900 Mrs. Coolidge obtained a grant for a timber berth on the Yukon river, 24 miles in length by 1 mile in depth, for Mr. H. B. Richards, in consideration of which he was to give her a half interest. This berth, situated 7 miles below Stewart river, was at that time considered a very valuable piece of property and the owners fully expected to realize a large sum of money from it. In obtaining the grant Mrs. Coolidge considered that she had done her part towards the payment for the grant which amounted to $625, Richards advancing that amount. The decline in the price of wood last spring made a corresponding fall in the valuation of the property, so that instead of realizing the large amount anticipated it only brought at sale $2000. This amount was paid in gold dust by the purchaser, but after the papers had been signed Richards refused to accept the dust in payment of his share and demanded currency. Mrs. Coolidge in order to keep the sale from falling through, accepted the dust in payment of her share and also allowed the discount to make the full $1000 payment in currency for Mr. Richards' share to be taken from her share, leaving her a balance of something over $800. Part of this money Mrs. Coolidge sent to a school in California to pay for the tuition of her children, who were threatened with expulsion unless the amount was paid and she left shortly afterwards for a trip outside, considering that her affairs here were satisfactorily adjusted. On her return trip Mr. Richards' brother was a passenger on the same steamer from Seattle to Dawson, and although at that time mention was made of the fact, that Mr. Richards' brother still cherished an angry feeling towards Mrs. Coolidge on some matter of disagreement between them he had always told her not to worry about that because he would see that it was settled satisfactorily, without it causing her any inconvenience. Upon her arrival in Dawson Mr. Lon Richards, the brother who had arrived in Dawson at the same time, made several calls upon her and had spent the evening previous to her arrest at the residence of Mrs. Clark Henderson, where she was stopping, in company with several other gentlemen and ladies, but no word of the intended arrest was spoken.

The arrest was made on Monday, the 21st, on a capias issued by Mr. H. B. Richards, for the sum of $312.50, the amount he claimed as due for half of the payment for the grant. The capias had been issued in June after her departure for the outside, and had been held until her return when it was served on her and she was put into jail. As was before stated, she considered that her share towards payment for the grant had been paid by her obtaining the grant and therefore she considered herself free from liability of that amount.

Her husband and herself had stayed at the home of the Richards' and she admitted a board bill of $121 as due to him, but she considered that more than offset by nearly a hundred cords of wood which he had cut on the timber berth and sold at $5 to $410 per cord, so that in reality she considered him to be in her debt instead of she being in his. Such is the story of the case as told to a Nugget representative this morning by Mrs. Coolidge, who has been held in custody on a technicality of the law since the case was heard, pending a settlement of the judgment, which was given in favor of Richards for the full amount of both claims together with costs, which increase the amount to over $800. Her friends are working hard to raise the money and it is the expectation that her release will be obtained tonight or tomorrow.

MANY OUTFITS LOST TODAY

And Still the Big Silent Yukon Closeth Not.

Every ten minutes of today witnessed the losing of a complete winter outfit of wearing apparel to someone unfortunate individual who had dated his guess in Bersberg's contest as to the closing of the river, too early, for the day, hour and minute arrived in many instances, passed away and joined the list of things that were and still the mighty Yukon continues its silent but as yet irresistible journey to the frozen sea of the far northland.

It now looks as though the entire time limit covered by all guesses will expire before the bosom of the Yukon will rest in absolute repose, in which event the guesser who names the latest date will be entitled to the outfit. If all guesses are within the year 1901 and if the river does not close until after New Years, as the coarsest dough says was the case one winter, then will Heraberg be entitled to wear the outfit himself, in which event losers will have the satisfaction of knowing that they do not need it.

Cases of Men Arrested for Littering Oil of Gladness.

The trial of the three men—William and the two Larré brothers—who were arrested in connection with the capture of the wildcat boot factory up the Klondike last Friday night was postponed until tomorrow afternoon, which by the way, is also the date set for hearing the wholesale theatrical assault cases. Nothing is known as to what defence the alleged millers of hair started will make—it is less than a year since a similar but more extensive plant was captured near the mouth of Bonanza.

HABITORS KEPT HIS PROMISE

Presented the Boys With a Pet Bear... By Jacques Miller of Pioneer... Life in Oregon Where Wild Cattle are Numerous and Dangerous... When my father settled down at the foot of the Oregon sierras with his little family long, long years ago, he was 40 miles from our place to the nearest civilized settlement. People were very scarce in those days and bears were plentiful. Wild hogs and a good many wild cats and big headed yellow bellied marmots... The wild cattle, brought there from Mexico, next to the bear were most to be feared. They had sharp horns and keen sharp teeth. Nature had gradually helped them to these weapons of defense... Father and we three little boys had just got the last post set and solidly "tamped" in the ground as the sun was going down... Suddenly we heard a yell, then a yelling, then a bellowing. This yelling was heard in the high grass in the Camas valley below, and the bellowing of cattle came from the woody river banks far beyond... They are on the brown hills of the Oregon sierras above us came the wild answer of the wild black cattle of the hills, and a moment later, right and left, the long black lines began to widen out, then down they came, like a whirlwind, toward the black and surging line in the grass below. We were now almost in the center of what would in a little time be a complete circle and cyclone of furious Spanish cattle... And now here is something curious to relate. Our own cows, poor, weary, immigrant cows of only a year before, tossed their tails in the air, pawed the ground, bellowed and fairly went wild in the splendid excitement and tumult. One touch of nature made the whole cow world kin! Father clambered up on a "buck horse", and looked out over the stockade, and then he shouted and shook his hat and laughed as I had never heard him laugh before. For there, breathless, coatless, hatless, to relate the valley in the high grass in the Camas valley below, and the bellowing of cattle came from the woody river banks far beyond... The cattle stopped a few rods from the stockade. We let the coyotes go, but we kept the little bear and named him Bill Cross. Yet he was never a bit cross, despite his name—Jacques Miller.

J. Pierpont Morgan Believes in Keeping Busy... Curiosity continues to crane at J. Pierpont Morgan... Yesterday it was of interest to many to know that Mr. Morgan went to the morning services at Trinity Church and heard the sermon of the Rt. Rev. Edgar Jacob, Lord Bishop of Newcastle. In the afternoon the great financier attended the Y. M. C. A. meeting and heard Bishop Henry Codman Potter of New York. After the services Mr. Morgan made a few calls and then entertained at dinner a dozen guests, most of whom were convention deputies... Mr. Morgan believes in a good dinner. His morning meal is frugal. His luncheons are meager. Frequent

Last Friday, in discussing cable roads with some local financiers he was wondered by what oversight the late A. S. SECOND BEDROCK

Has Really Been Discovered on Eldorado Creek... Considerable excitement exists at the lower end of Eldorado over the excellent pay now being taken out of the fraction 3 A formerly owned by Mrs. Carboneau. The claim was bought this summer by a man named Thompson and three others. It will be remembered that it was on this claim worked under a lay by L. P. Protzman the latter part of last winter that the discovery of a new and second paybreak underlying the first bedrock was discovered, a find which started the Klondike mining world, upset many pet theories, and caused no end of controversies over the truth or falsity of the second bedrock proposition. Protzman had

The financier eats heartily and is jealous about the service of each of his guests... He has excellent health, and expects to be hale at three score and ten. His robustness he attributes to his habit of resting two days in the week instead of one. Generally speaking he cuts away from work on Saturday and lives that day in restful ease. Then on Sunday he is free for church and charity—and for charity he has a ready hand. He rests his stomach for two meals each day and his nerves for two days each week... The Episcopalians look up to him as a donor much as the Baptists regard John D. Rockefeller. Though good pay and worked the ground vigorously until the spring thaw set in and the water drove the miners out of the drifts. During the summer the claim, or that portion of it, lay idle, but with the beginning of the present season under new ownership an attempt was again made to get at the pay on the lower level. The drifts were full of water and to pump them out meant a task of some magnitude. Thompson and his partners secured a 30-horsepower engine, a large pump, and went to work two months ago. Within the past week they have managed to pump out the old drifts and today they are hoisting the identical same pay Protzman was in when driven out by the water last April. The shaft from which they are working is down 65 feet, over 30 feet lower than the so-called first bedrock. The pay is uniform, runs well mediator and avert a war... In looking over San Francisco Mr. Morgan has been quick to realize the overmastering importance of the cable road, which is a San Francisco investment. Last Friday, in discussing cable roads with some local financiers he was wondered by what oversight the late A. S. Halliday failed to patent the portion of the grip which runs in the slot, though everything else was patented... "There he threw away an immense fortune," said the great financier.

and a dump is being taken out for to remove them. If Stander strikes next year's sluicing... On the bench immediately adjoining the creek claim owned by Redmond and Olson a shaft is down 70 feet and they have the same pay possessed by the Thompson outfit. Stander on a just above, is also sinking with the expectation of meeting with the same success. The shaft on 2 A is but 13 feet below the level of 4 and Stander believes the paybreak will be found on his claim as well as on the fraction. In sink out upon argument was granted the shaft he has experienced considerable difficulty or account of running into a bed of large boulders requiring the use of powder in order

FOOTBALL AT NANAIMO

Organization Effected for Series of Games. Nanaimo, B. C., Oct. 16.—The Nanaimo District Rugby Football League met on Saturday evening and completed the work of organization. So far three clubs have entered, but Ladysmith, South Wellington, Extension and other places are yet to be heard from. Arrangements were made to procure a handsome silver trophy, which will be played for by the clubs, and something was done in the way of fixing the schedule of games which, however, is not yet complete. The first game of the season takes place on Saturday, when two local teams will try conclusions. The Thistles, the association champions, organized on Saturday evening the following officers being elected: Honorary president, S. Robbins, J. P.; president, Thos. Russell, vice presidents, Ralph Smith, M. P., Jas. Crossan, William Sloan, secretary, Thos. Booth, treasurer, A. Chalmon, captain, E. Gilmore, vice captain, W. Lockhart. The Thistles meet the Barracks team from Victoria on Saturday, October 18, in the first scheduled match of the season. The Nanaimo and Ladysmith baseball teams played an exhibition match on Saturday, which the former won by 13 to 10 runs. The proceeds went to the Extension relief fund. There was a good attendance.
