She softly closed and secured it; then crept upstairs, congratulating herself that she had early in the evening dismissed her maid. telling her that she should not be needed again. Quce in her room, she undressed hastily, and sat down to think over what had occured, her heart full of admiration for the courage and loyalty of her lover. Isabel had purposely retrained from telling Latouche of Matt's escapade and its consequences. She knew the romantic generosity of his character, and that he possessed a sense of honor extraordinarily keen and fine; and she feared that, had he known of his foster-brother's situation, he might have felt it incumbent upon him to give himself up. (To be continued.)

AN EX-ALDERMAN SPEAKS.

Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well-known ex-alderman of Kempiville, Ont. says: "For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired, worn out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my back has disappeared, and I teel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They re the best medicine I ever used,"
