The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Library of the Public Archives of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \longrightarrow (meaning "CON-TINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'axemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

La bibliothèque des Archives publiques du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier ast imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminent soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'Impression ou d'Illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'Impression ou d'Illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon la cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbols V signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'Images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

SOME PARTICULARS OF THE VOYAGE OF SIR THOMAS BUTTON,

FOR THE

DISCOVERY OF A NORTH-WEST PASSAGE

TO CHINA, CATHAY, AND JAPAN, A.D. 1612.

[OF the voyage of Sir Thomas Button, Mr. Rundall remarks in his interesting Hakluyt volume, "Narrative of Voyages towards the Northwest," "The proceedings of this voyage are involved in what appears to be needless mystery. Purchas complains he could not obtain any information on the subject; M. Briggs was also kept, to a great degree, in the dark, although he was eminent for his scientific acquirements, deeply interested in the success of the enterprise, and intimately acquainted with the navigator. For what is known respecting the proceedings, thanks are due to the inquisitiveness and industry of Luke Fox, who sought and obtained information from some of the companions of Button, if not from the navigator himself, and also from Sir Thomas Roe, an energetic promoter of the North-west project. The information thus acquired was first printed in Northwest Foxe, A. D. 1635."—Voyages, etc., p. 81.

A few years ago, Mr. Hanrott appears to have obtained in a copy of Birch's Life of Prince Henry, a manuscript of Prince Henry's Instructions for this voyage, a few copies of which were taken off in facsimile, and from one of these, now in the Grenville Library in the British Museum, Mr. Rundall seems to have printed that which is found in his "Voyages to the North-west." Accidentally turning over the Athenæum for 1834, I found the same Instructions printed in it at page 204, preceded by King James' Letter of Credence, which neither appears in the facsimile, nor in Rundall. The editor of the Athenæum, speaking of these manus. "pts, says, "Both documents are beautifully written on vellum; th former is richly emblazoned, the latter has the seal and signature of the Prince affixed;" they belonged at that time " to a gentleman who had a rich collection of such treasures," but may we not ask, as they were probably the originals, where are they now ?

Knowing no other, I have followed the Athenaeum copy of King James' Letter, but Mr. Hanrott's facsimile of the Instructions. A few variations occur between the two; the Athenaeum copy dating the Instructions April 1. In paragraph 6, cominations is used for coniunctions; in p. 7, the 20 or 30 L. (leagues) is rendered 20° or 30°; in p. 10 after saluages, the words "and other Eastern people," are omitted. The other variations are of no importance.

Of the bighly important manuscript document entitled "Motives" &c., now first published, a few particulars will not be out of place. It is in the form of a broadside, dated at the back, anno 1610, and was found attached to a fine copy of Davis' Worldes Hydrographicall Description, 1593, which was sold by Messrs. Sotheby & Co., in December, 1851, for £21, having been purchased by Mr. H. Stevens for the Smithsonian Institution, at Washington, and is of course for ever lost to this country. That it had once belonged to the Royal Library I have no doubt, the royal arms being on the vellum covers, though the many years it must have lain in its former resting place precludes all idea of improper acquisition. Want of space precludes my giving further particulars now, but they shall appear on a future occasion.—ED.]

INDUCING A PROIECT FOR THE DISCOURSIE OF THE NORTH FOLE TERRESTRIALL: THE STREIGHTS OF ANIAN, INTO THE SOUTH SEA; AND COASTS THEREOF.

ALL those Kingdomes are most complete glorious, and doe best flourish wherevnto in abundance trade and traffique is performed. His Ma^{ties} Kingdomes being Islandes whose traffique is to be mainteyned by Navigation of strong fortified Shipps, with nomber of able Marriners being otherwise secluded from all comerce with those of the mayne continent from exporting and importing of Marchandize, the furniture of Shipping consisting in many things w^{ch} England wants, as Masts, Pitch, Tarr, Rosen, and Cordage, w^{ch} now we enjoy by y^e favo^r of forraigne Pottentates.

The life of Navigation consisteth in fishermen to begett Shipps and Marriners : in Marchauts to breed and mainteyne thom : and in Cheiftains to enable and encourage them : otherwise in Island Kingdomes, the Citties, Burrowes, Port Townes, and Havens decay wth all the whole people, where trade and traffique to profitt is neglected.

And most notoriously wee finde that trade and traffique with or neighb^{rg} countryes is in small request, the proffitt now seldome answering the Marchants aduenture whereby the poore ENGLISH Marchants, Artificers, and Laborers can scarce gayne meate to their bellyes, and clothes to their backs so cunningly and disdainefully doe or neighbo^g contryes reject or home commodities, to thend to sett their owne people awork and to impoverish o^{rs}.

MOTIVES FOR THE VOYAGE.

Wee shalpe of necessitie enforced to seeke out remote partes of y^e world to vent o^r Comodities of the Realmes at a higher rate than now we doe whereby o^r people may live by their labo^r, Shipping may be encreased, and that o^r marriners be not enforced for want of entertaynem^t to runn dayly into the service of other Nations to to imployed there, either their to zerue or at home to starue.

More better it is and honorable for our State to vent o^r Comodities in Remote Regions where wee may have great prizes for them and retourne nedefull Marchandizes at easy rates being had at the first hand; by the same encreasing o^r Shippes and Marriners to y^e good of all and not to be beholding to a bad neighbo^r or colde frende, from whome we receave nedeless wants for o^r Staple comodities, importing much more thereof then we export of o^{rs} giving o^r money to boote to the spoile of o^r land, mightily enriching o^r foresaide neighbo^{rs} and greatly impoverishing o^rselves, as doth manifestly appeare throughcut all the Kingdome by the decay thereof.

The people of the North pole terrestraall have but one day in the year. A glorious state and renowned great BRITTAYNE would be had the same discourred the North Pole and passage into y^e South Sea, unto the rich contryes of CHINA CATAYA and JAPON : with the Ilands of MOLUCCAS and PHILLIPPINAS, and many other bordering vpon the same Seas there to sett forth the name of JESUS CHRIST and preach the gospell of Joy where multitudes of people are not yet called and where plenty and abundance of many rich wares are to be had, at lowe prizes and at the first hand, where all o^r home Cemodities might be vented at a greate rate not only for the good and gaynes of the Gentleman, Marchant, Tradsman, Artificer, and Laborer of all Great BRITTAYNE, but also further would encrease Hundreths of Shippes and Thowsands of Marriners making this land the Storehouse to all EUROPA; a matter of wonderfull greate importance.

Over and above within y^e same passage doth growe in abundance all those thinges necessary for y^e furnishing of Shipping w^{eh} we now have out of POLONIA and RUSSIA, and there would be provided by the industry of such people as should be appointed therefore without y^e favo^r of those Pottentates aforesaide.

In the tyme of his Ma^{tics} Royall Progenitors the worthy Gentry of this land gaue themselues to famous actions and were encouraged thereunto by the gratious favo^{rs} of his Highnes Progenito¹⁸ respectively according unto their births estates and deserts and so were taken and reputed with all the people accordingly each man in his own ranck : by w^{ch} meanes honorable Justice and service was prosecuted to effect and civill meetinges celebrated with leue and good liking each man enioying his due wight and dignitie. But by mishap many of y^e foresaid have lost that w^{ch} rightfully apperteyned vnto them and so discouraged, although by no evell desert or dimerrit in themselves, but by error and impudent intrusion of some unworthy men that haue gotten aduantage to be place Δ in precedency at all publick meetinges hath for the execution of honorable seruices as also of frendly entertainments w^{ch} causeth neglect of seruice and justice and breedeth enuy disagrement and grievances in generall amongst the Gentry of the Kingdome both men and weomen.

The Kinges Ma^{tie} for y^e encouragement of worthy adventurers, and contentment unto the high Gentry of all his Kingdomes aforesaide would be pleased to grace them with that favo^r by erecting an order of dignitic precedent in Knighthood, or otherwise by what name or title shall seeme best to his Ma^{tie}. There are many of noble births greate livinges and due desent, desirous of this society and to be aduenturers, w^{ch} vpon their owne charges will prepare Shipps and men with victualles and munition for y^e discovery aforesaide.

By w^{ch} his Ma^{tie} shall not only give Royall contentment to the worthy Gentlemen descended from auncient houses of all his Kingdomes as JOHN the French King did in erecting the order of ST. OWEN : PHILLIPP Duke of Burgundy, by instituting the order of the GOLDEN FLECE and LEWES of Ffraunce the Eleaventh by the order of ST. MICHAELL, but in a higher degree eternized for that his intent is to aduaunce the glory of God, enlarge his Territoryes, inrich his subjectes, and make good prouision for the poore people of his Kingdomes, a work no doubt reserved of God for his Ma^{tie} to performe in this his most prosperous and peaceable reigne. As well the planting as the discovery of the Northwest passage, all w^{ch} is left unto his Ma^{ties} Prudency, with prayer to God for his highnes prosperitie.

> Ffrom out of his Ma^{ties} three Kingdomes, ENGLAND, SCOT-LAND and IRELAND theis Adventurers are to be selected, of noble birth descended, or else in high offices, and worthy deserving, or at the least of Two Thousand Poundes of yearly revennewes. Theis Adventurers in leiw of every hundreth poundes adventured shall have One Thowsand Acres of land

James by the Grace of the most High God Creator and only Guider of the Universal World, King of Great Brittaine France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c.

Right high, Right excellent and Right Mightie Prince, divers of our subjects delighting in navigation and finding out of unknowne countries and peoples, having heard of the fame of you and of your people have made a voyage thither of purpose to see your countries and with your people to exercise exchange of marchandize, bringing to you such things as our Realmes doe yeeld, and to receave from you such as yrs affoord and may bee of use for them, A matter agreeable to the nature of humane societye to have commerce and intercourse each with other. And because if they shalbe so happie as to arrive in yor Dominions that you may understand that they are not persons of ill condition or disposition but such as goe upon just and honest grounds of trade, Wee have thought good to recommende them and their Captain Thomas Button to your favor and protection desiring you to graunt them while they shalbe in yr country not only favor and protection but also such kindness and entertainment as may encourage them to continue their travailles and be the beginning of further amitie between you and us. And we shalbe ready to requite it with the like goodwill towards any of y" that shall have cause or desire to visite our Countries. Geven under or Signet at or Pallace of Westminster the twelveth day of Aprill in the yeare of or Lord God 1612 JAMES R.

> CERTAINE ORDERS AND INSTRUCCONS set downe by the most noble Prince Henry of Wales, this 5 of Aprill 1612, vnder his highnes signature and signe manuell and delivered vnto his Servant Captaine Thomas Button generall of the Company now imployed about y^e full and perfect discovery of the North-west passage for the better gouernment as well of the shipps committed to his charge as of the personns in them imployed vppon all occasions whatsoever.

1. TRAT it maie please Almightie God to preserve you and your charge from danger, and if it shall sceme good vnto his wisedome to give a blessing of successe vnto this hopefvll and important enterprize, LET there be a religious care dailie throughout your shippes to offer vnto his diuine Ma^{tie} the Sacrifice of praise and thanks-giving for his fatherlie goodnes and proteccon. Especiallie prouide that the blessed daies w^{ch} hee hath sanctified vnto his service be Christianlike observed with godlie meditacions.

2. Let not quarelling or prophane speeches, not swearing or blaspheming of his Holie name, not drunkennes or lewde behaviour pass vnpunished, for feare of his most heavie indignacon.

3. Let there be a perticuler note taken of all suche as shall shew themselves most willinglie obedient vnto you, most dilligent and industrious in their charges, most resolute and constant in the prosecution of this Accon: That thereby we being informed at your returne, maie esteeme accordinglie of their deservings.

4. Let there be faithfull and true registring everie daie of all the memorable accidents of the voyage and that by as many as shalbe willing especiallie by the most skilfull and discreete personnes, whome we would have once everie 10. or 12. daies to confer their Notes for the better perfecting a Jornall, w^{ch} we expect at your returne.

5. MORE perticularlie when you shall e cleare of the Landes end, be carefull to have kept a true accoumpt of y^r wayes to GROINLAND, and from thence to the STREIGHTS mouth, and to observe in what Latitude it lieth, what face the coast beareth, what Sea setteth into it, and when you are within it, howe the coast doth trend, the contynuance and course of the ebbe and fludd, what height it riseth.

from whence it cometh, and with what Moone, what Current, Eddie, or overfall you finde, what Islandes or Rockes, and howe bearing, and last of all your soundings w^{ch} you must trie with good store of faddome once at least everie flourth glasse, and oftener amongst broken landes Rocks Shole and white waters. Yet remembring that the waie is alreadie beaten to DIGGES ISLANDES, rather then lose tyme we would have you hasten thither, and leave the perfect observacon of theis thinges to the PINNACE in her returne.

6. As often as occation offers itselfe, especiallie when you shalbe forced to sende on lande, for we would not have that you your self should quitt your shippe, Let some skilfull man with good instrument, observe the ELEVATION, the DECLINATION, the VARIATION of the compasse, and if you arryve time enough, the begynning and ending of the ECLIPSE, that will happen on the 20th of May next. ESPECIALLIE if you should winter let there be carefull and painefull watching to observe the instant of the conjunctions of anie of the planets, or the distance of the Moone from anie fixed starre or starres of note : All w^{ch} we would have entred into a Booke, and presented me at your returne.

7. LET there be care by y^r order and direction for keeping of your shippes in consorte all your course, wherein we wishe you to make all the haste you can to the STREIGHTS MOUTH, but we think your surest way wilbe to stand vpp to ISELAND and soe over to GROINLAND in the heighte of 61 soe to fall downe with the current to the most Southerlie Cape of that land lyeing in about 59 called CAPE FAREWELL, w^{ch} pointe as the Ice will give you leave, you must double, and from thence, or rather from some 20 or 30 L to the Northward of it, you shall fall over DAVIS HIS STRAIGHTS to the western Maine; in the height of 62 degrees or thereabouts you shall finde HUDSONS STREIGHTS w^{ch} you maie knowe by the furious course of the Sea and Ice into it, and by certaine Islandes in the NORTHERNE side thereof as your Carde shewes.

8. BEING in: We holde it best for you to keepe the NORTHERNE SIDE as most free from the pester of Ice at least till you be past CAPE HENRY, from thence follow the leading Ice betweene KING JAMES and QUEEN ANNES FORELANDS, the distance of which two Capes observe if you can, and what harbour or Rode is near them, but yet make all the hast you maie to SALISBURY HIS ISLAND betweene w^{ch} and the Northerne continent you are like to meet a great and hollowe billowe from an opening and flowing Sea from thence. remembring that your end is West we would have you stand over to the opposite Maine in the Latitude of some 58 degrees, where riding at some headland observe well the flood of t come in Sournwest, then you maie be sure the passage is that waie, yf from the North or North West your course must be to stand vpp into it taking heed of following anie flood for feare of entring into BAIS INLETS, or SANDS, (? sounds) w^{ch} is but losse of time to noe purpose.

9. By the waie: if your SHIPPES within the STREIGHTS should sever, we think DIGGS ISLAND for the good Rodo and plentic of refreshing that is their wilbe your fittest RANDEVOUS. And if it should fall out that the WINTER growe vppon you before your finding a thoroughfare into the SOUTH SEA, we think your safest waie wilbe to seeke southward for some place to winter in, for we assure our self by Gods grace you will not returne, without either the good Newes of a passage, or sufficient assurance of an impossibility.

10. You must be careful to prevent all Mutynie amongst yo' people, and to preserve them as muche as maie be from the Treacherie and villanie of the SALUAGES, and other Easterne (?) people; where ever you arrive have as little to doe with them as maye be, onlie if the STREIGHTS it self afford noe sufficient strength (?), you shalbe happie in finding out some convenient parte on the back of AMERICA or some Island in the South Sea for a haven, or stacon for our shippes and marchandizes hereafter; but yet spend as little time as maie be in this or any other searche, saving of the passage till you have dispatched the PYNNACE wth advertisement of your entrie into the SOUTH SEA, w^{ch} must be done as sone as you shalbe thereof assured.

11. LAST of all: see that you and all vnder yo^r charge, doe faithfullie observe and followe all such further directions and instruccons as shalbe given by the ADUENTURERS. And to the end it may appeare what care we have of the Action and howe acceptable everie mannes good indevour and service therein wilbe to Vs, LET theis be perticerlie read once everie Moneth, if it can be, to your whole Companie. [OF THE CIRCVMFERENCE OF THE EARTH: OR A TREATISE OF THE NORTH-EAST PASSAGE,

[BY SIR DUDLEY DIGGES.]

Imprinted at London by W. W., for John Barnes, 1612.]

THOUGH our particular opinion of the probabilitie, that after the vn-blest indeauours of so manie of our Countrimen, sought for the North-west passage, were reason good enough for our Aduentures, to merite (at the worst) by making knowne th' impossibilitie, the thankes of future Ages: Yet now, when persons of more eminence are interested in the prosecution of that Action; least after good successe, as in like cases the enuie of the world, commend the Fortune rather than the Iudgement of the Vndertakers: we are aduised to show some such as you, a litle of our Reason; by the sufficience whereof, you (as we wish) will judge vs, and our Enterprize, though an vnlook'd for ill euent, should furnish other men with stronger Arguments than yet they haue against vs.

For yet (setting aside some one, It may be, and that fortified especially with this) the maine Objection is, that all our moderne Globes and Mappes doe either show no passage, or else so high into the North, and long into the West, that Cold and Ice, and Fogges, and so foorth, will make it of no vse.

To which we iustly might reply; that it hath euer been, the Custome of Describers of the World in remote partes to set downe Land or Sea out of their owne imagination with Giants, Pigmies, Monsters, and miraculous reportes of fabulous Authors. Or if wee list, to let them see how poore it is to trust in Pictures: could tell them of those Globes that make America and Asia all one continent, even vnder the Tropicke: Or of those Maps that seuer them by a small Fretum onely; that since is found to be a vaste and spatious Sea: Or of those that ioyne America and Grond-land, betweene which Dauis and other of our Countrimen, discouered a large Passage: Or of those that force the Backe of Brasill by the Streightes of Magellan, to trend so strangely Westward, when M. Cauendish found that Coast to turne immediately vp to the North, inclining to the East: Or of other as grosse errours, which later Voyages have mended.

By which, those men might be perswaded from ours, because it is a new Discouerie to rectifie their Cardes, that make no mention of our Streightes found in () a Latitude free from feare of danger, cutting through the body of America 200. or 300. Leagues, vnto an open Sea that shewed a great and hollow Billow, and brought a Flood that rose 5. Faddome. The rather, for that it agreeth iustly with the Portingal Card, taken in the late Queenes time out of a Carrieke And with the intelligence which Sir Martin Furbisher had long since from a Portingal in Gwinie, that sayd, hee had past it: And with the general confession of Pilots now at Lishbon, ycelding to the newes: And with vnpartiall Stories, telling that the Admirall of D. Garcia Geoffrey Loaysa of Cite-Real, in the time of Charles the fifth, by the coast of Bacalaos and Labrador, went to the Moluccaes.

But because some (that hold the place, at least of) good Sea-men, and Maisters in the studie of Cosmographie, deliuer their opinion without reasons, that there yet remaine, in the North of America, many hundred leagues for vs to passe: We hold it not amis to shew you why (besides our late experience) we thinke not so, in this succeeding short discourse.

Of the Circumference of the Earth.

VILEARNED men are now at length assured by the renowned Voyages of Sir Francis Drake and M. Cauendish, and other worthy persons, that in the last age compassed the world: as aunciently Mathematicians were by the roundnesse of the shadow in the Eclipse of the Moone. That the forme or figure which God gaue who the Sea and Earth, when his wisedome set the Waters and Dry Land apart, was Gloabe-like, or Spharicall.

Wherein it is agreed there are two Poynts, correspondent to the North and South Poles of the Heauens, of easie Creation in a Solide of that Nature, from which Centers by describing severall Circles, we derive our Paralells, whereof the largest in extent must of necessitie fall iust in the mid'st; the rest infallibly growing lesser and lesser, as they draw neerer and neerer to those Poles.

Whereas our Meridians being Circles that do ever meete in both those poyntes of North and South, and so devide the Orbe into just halfes, though they be not æqui-distant, yet are ever of one equall Circuite to the greatest Paralell, which we call the Æquinoctiall.

In which Line, all men observing that the Sunne in foure and twentie howers was carried round: and the most Learned, that one houre tooke up 300. Leagues, or 900. Miles. It was concluded, that the Sunnes whole course was 24. times so much: so that the common best opinion of the greatest Compasse of the World, became 7200. L. or 21600 M.

According to which Computation, Sea-men and Trauelers that goe directly North or South, doe find their Elevation to alter one Degree of the 360. for 20. L. of way, and having sure Meanes to tell how many Degrees or Partes of their Meridian they are gone N. or S. They can proportion well inough their Distaunce in Latitude, to be so many L. or Miles.

But in their course of Longitude, (which is from East to West) for want of Fixed helpes, they are constrayned to turne backward, and by reckoning their L. or M. of way, to make accompt of so many parts or Degrees of their Paralell. But having not had due consideration of the aboue saide lessening of Paralels, to distribute consequently fewer Miles or Leagues to each Degree, besides the too vncertaine ground; it hath fallen out that Lands sette foorth in Gloabes or Mappes, from such erroneous Cardes or Computations, as touching Longitude or Distance East and West, are most extreamely false, especially in new discouered Northerne or Southerne Countries.

For which cause (setting by the authority of Handy-workes) the true Circumference of the Earth is to be lookt for in the Historics of such as traueld to describe the Worlde: Among the which in auncient time, the men that layde the firmest and most Artificiall grounds, and neerest to the best of Moderns, were Ptolomæus Alexandrinus: And he whom Ptolemey confutes Marinus Tyrius, the one of them by a Heauenly way of Eclipses, most exact (if well obserued) thus argued. Such an Eclipse happened at M. hora 8. and at N. at 9. therefore M. and N. differ in Longitude one hower, that is, the 24. part of the Æquinoctiall, that is, 15. Degrees, contayning euery one some 60. Miles. But on the contrary, Marinus Tyrius proceeded thus: Such a man went from M. to N. Versus occasum, or from N.

OF THE CIRCVMFERENCE OF THE EARTH.

to M. Versus exortum 7500. Stadia, whereof 500. are about 60. Miles, or one Degree of the Æquinoctiall; from which experience he concluded, therefore M. and N. did differ 15. Degrees, that is one Hower in Longitude. Which course how ever Mechanicall as we say; and seldome or neuer exact: Yet on firme Land, by small helpes giuen to a Man of ordinary vnderstanding, may easily be freed from a grosse errour: Whereas wee must confesse Ptolomey his learned Method is of so much difficile observing, that errour soone creepes in, and every small one breeds a great mistaking.

And therefore seing (cyther way) Geographye depends on the reports of Trauellours (which Ptolemey cal's Historiam Peregrinationis) and Trauellours be seldome Mathematicians, but Mechants, Saylours, Souldiers, men that may vse common Rules and Instruments, not subtilties of nice and curious practise. There are that doe professe, they hold Ptolomey his way much fitter, from the relations of Learned men and Countries where good Artes are flourishing, to rectific precedent observations, then to delineate or set downe by heare-say, the distances from East to West, of farre remote newly discouered Countries. Nay, that confesse (vnder correction of the Learned World that hath received it) they are not yet so fully well perswaded of Ptolomey his bounding the olde World of Europe, Africa, and Asia, betweene a Meridian of the Fortunate Ilands, and 12. howers or 180. Degrees, but rather doe approvue Marinus Tyrius his extending Asia into the East, as farre as 15. Howers, and that for these reasons.

First,—If those men conceiue aright, that gesse that Ptolomey for his aboade in Alexandria, did Stile himself Alexandrinus, in emulation of Marinus, called Tyrius, from the Towne of Tyre. It cannot be denied but the Merchants of that Port were fellowes vnto Princes, and had in those dayes greater Trade then any, so that Marinus liuing there, was like to haue much better information then an other in an other corner; especially being more auncient, and neerer to the Assirian and Persian Monarchies, to the Iourneys of Alexander, Hercules, and Bacchus, and the businesse then most in the East. Hee could not but have better helpes than Ptolomey, that liued when all went Westward.

Secondly,—The Mcrchauntes then traueling ouer firme Land, through plaine and open Countries by directions of the Heauens, wherein the men of those Times and Territories were best read; they were the better able to make perfect Iournals of their way, and consequently Marinus truer Computation of the Longitude of Places.

OF THE CIRCYMFERENCE OF THE EARTH.

Thirdly,—Since Ptolomey himselfe confesseth, that the Landes from the Fortunate Islands, to the passage of the River Euphrates through Hierapolis, were rightly laide by Tyrius being gathered from the Mens voyages West-ward ouer Seas, and through the Wooddie, Mountanous, baren, and then Barbarous partes of Europe: why should we not thinke his information was as good, and more frequent from the Easterne richest Countries of the world; and so beleiue as well of his accompt Ad Turrim Lapideam, and thence Ad Sinarum Metropolim? Nothing doubting what ever Ptolomey coniecture, his care to examine mens Relations, ere hee gave them credite, since though his worke vnhappily appeare not, yet out of his Confuters mouth, we heare hee did reject Philemons forged tale of Irelands greatnesse.

Fourthly,—How confidently so ever Ptolomey, with stronger Arguments then those against his Longitude, condemned Marinus Tyrius for forcing Africa, as touching Latitude, to reach beyond the Tropicke of Capricorne; whereas he will allow it to extende to not full 17. partes: Yet now infallible experience hath taught vs, that Marinus on that then most difficult poynt, was much the better informed, a fayre occasion to doubt Ptolomey, and trust him in the other.

Fifthly,—That Ptolomey was strangely abused in his vnderstanding of those partes, appeareth plainly, by his making Asia to turne downe to the South, and winding round to ioyne with Africa, conceiving our great Sea of Zur, for that he heard but of a peece to be a Bay or Sinus, which indeed he tearmed Magnus; but reported to be lesse than either Gangeticus or Persicus.

Last of all, seeing that although Pomponius Mela, and other of the Ancient, besides the late discouered Trueth it selfe, make Asia to reach vnto the Sea; yet Ptolomey doth bound it East-ward Terra incognita: Why might not Marinus proportion more Degrees or Howers, were it but for that Land vnknowne; sure we are, Ptolomey his fardest Meridian doth leaue a great part of China East, his Sinus Magnus being but a peece of our South Sea, betweene Malacca and the Moluccaes, and his Aurea Chersonesus, in truth no other than the Moderne Sumatra, though by some Learned men mistaken for his Taprobane: and thus vnhappilly we fall vpon another Paradoxe; yet for the Trueths sake, can not but deliuer our opinion, that, that which hee cald Taprobane, was our now Ceilam. Not because Barrius, or Corsalus, or Varrerius, or at last Ortelius conceiued so; nor yet for the plentie of Elephants, and other Riches which Ptolomey gaue to his Taprobane, and are in truth in our Ceilam: Nor for the neernesse of the sound or name of the auncient Inhabitants of Taprobane, cald by him Salaj, and his opposite Promontory in India tearmed Cory, to our Ceilam, and the neighbour C. Comorie: but for these as we thinke vnanswerable reasons.

OF THE CIRCYMFERENCE OF THE EARTH.

First—The Latitude (wherein as Vadianus and other, rightly iudge Ptolomey err'd least) of our Ceilam being about 10. degrees Northerly, agreeth much better with Ptolomey his Taprobane, then Sumatra, that like his Aurca Chersonesus, lyeth under the Line.

Secondly—The Sholes and drowned I n ds about our Ceilam shew that perhaps it hath been greater, if any should too strickly vrge Plinis his Magnitude of Taprobane, which Ptolomey placeth but a few degrees East-ward from his River Indus, ouer against that part of India where the Braemanoj Magoj liu'd: and so is our Ceilam now situate, from that River, and opposite to the Indians; whose Priestes are called Bachmenes.

Thirdly—Before his Taprobane, Ptolomey placeth 1300. little Islands an vnusuall Seamarke, no where in the world but before our Ceilam, to wit the Isles of Maldiuar.

Fourthly—Ptolomey his Taprobane lay betweene the Mouths of the Rivers Indus, and Ganges almost indifferently, as our Ceilam now doeth, whereas Sumatra, not onely is beyond the River Ganges, but our Golpho de Bengala, his Sinus Gangetilus. I but the learned Mercator was of other minde, whose sentence Maginus and other Geographers approvue: Hee takes Sumatra to be Taprobane, and our Iapan for Aurea Chersonesus, §c.

The trueth is, in his Vniuersall Mappe, as in the quarter Cardes which Hondius drew from thence, the labour is so great to fitte the new discouered Countries in those Seas, to Ptolomeys olde names: That he that will but reade Iudiciously Ptolomey himselfe, be it of Mercators owne edition, shall soon perceiue the errors which were wish that learned Man had not committed: For, for a taste, what can be weaker, then to deny Sumatra to be Chersonesus, because it is not a Peninsula, although the broken Groundes about it, and the necesses to the Maine witnesse perhaps it was: And although the Latitude and other circumstances accord; when the same hand doth make Japan that hath no colour, no resemblance of an Istmos, lying farre from the Continent, in 36. Degrees, of N. Elevation to bee Ptolomey his Chrise or Chersonesus that was vnder the Æquinoctiall.

OF THE CIRCVMFERENCE OF THE EARTH.

I but according to Ptolomey Chersonesus, must lie beyond the River Ganges, as Taprobane on this side: and therefore Mercator finding the River Cantam to be Ganges, had reason to reconcile Ptolomey unto himself, &e.

Surely Mercator had small reason, besides will, so worse and worse to lime himself: The particular Narrations of Solinus, and other describers of those partes, from the Persicus Sinus and Island of the Sunne to Carmania, so to Indus, then India intra Gangem, then India extra Gangem, and so ad Seras, as well as Ptolomey his enumeration of the Rivers, Mountains, Townes, and Head-landes, with their distances shew plainely, that his River Ganges was nothing neere so farre from Indus, and if that mightie Continent betweene Indus and Cantam were but India intra Gangem, China itselfe must then be India extra Gangem; and so valesse the Sea have eate it up, we cannot guesse what is become of Sinarum Regio that Ptolomey so often mentions to lye Eastward from India extra Gangem. And surely if the River of Bengala (which Linschot sayes the Indians doe call Guenga) be not Ganges; falling out into a Sea so well knowne, and being of that breadth and deapth and length that the Indians superstitiously conceive it comes from Paradise, it had ill lucke to scape the mention of our M. Ptolemey.

In a word, the seuerall Mouths of Ptolomey his Ganges, especially the most distant, lay in the same Latitude, which is impossible for Cantam falling Eastward, and not full South into the Sea. Neither hath Cantam a Bay like Golpho de Bengala to answere Sinus Gangeticus; neither can there be, if Cantam were Ganges, beyond it Eastward any trending of Land (as Ptolomey writes) so farre to the South, that there were Æthiopes: Neither is there beyond Cantam any Towne within the Tropicke, whereas Ptolomey in his 8. Booke of Cælestiall Observations, or Rectifications, reckons all the Cities of India extra Gangem, and some of Sinarum Regio too, to have Solem vertice bis in anno: All which, doe well agree with our opinion. But why doe wee pursue Mercator any farther, whose first mistaking, notwithstanding all his witte and labour, brought him at last, to place Cattigara sinarum statio, in 60. degrees of Northerly Latitude, which Ptolomey expressely layes beyond the Æquinoctiall.

The clearer trueth is, that the River Indus, of Ptolomey, by the vniuersall consent, falles into the Ocean neere Cambaya, from whence proceeding Eastward, you come to his Promontory Cory, our Cape Comorj, ouer against which lay his Tuprobane ovr Ceilam, from thence to his Sinus Gangeticus our Golpho de Bengala, so to his River Ganges the Indian Guenga, then to our Sumatra, his Chrise or Chersonesus, and last of all to his Sinus Magnus, a peece of our South Sea betweene Pegu or Siam and the Islands of Spices, into some Port whereof, the comming of some Sinæ to trade, occasioned his conceit of Cattigara Sinarum Statio: all which against Maginus, and such as so easily swallow Mercators Conjectures, may be much better justified then their Positions.

Now then, by this that hath been sayd, it may appeare, that Ptolomeys Hemicsphere reacht litle beyonde Sumatra and Siam; so that not onely China, which by them that know it best, is sayd to trend from 22. Degrees of Nor: Latitude, 700. Leagues North-eastward, but a good part of Cauchin-China too, remaynes for Ptolomey his Terra incognita, to make vp the 3. Howers, or 45. Degrees more of Marinus Tyrius: upon whose Computation, Columbus especially did found his so happy and renowned enterprize.

I, but how commeth it to passe, that all our moderne Maps contract euen Ptolomeys Hemiesphere, and make Sumatra to extend to little above 150. Degrees?

Why surely by the generall mistaking of his Taprobane; and in particular, by a tricke of the Portir rales, the first and chiefe frequenters of those partes, they having by the Popes authoritie, fixt a Meridian at the Islands of Cape Verde, from which Westward the Castilians should have all to 180. Degrees as themselves, the other Movtie Eastward : It fell out that the riches of the Moluccaes cald the Islands of Spices, set them both at oddes, and the Castilians finding c short and easie passage from America thither, not onely chalenged those Islandes, but some part of India too, to fal within their limits: for prevention whereof, to bring the Moluccaes within their Hemiesphere, the Portingales in probabilitie shortned their Cardes : For at the meeting at Baios and Yelbes, betweene them, there was lost a 7th. parth of the world, and the Portingales were they that shun'd the triall. But the Emperours occasions compelling him to yeeld to them, that else, (as the recordes declare) had litle right: the World hath since receiu'd the delineation of those partes from Portingal accompt.

But there is reason to imagine, that ere long, our skilfull frequenters of the East Indies, by observation of some one Eclipse, will teach the truth; meane time, let vs agree with the Spaniards the maisters of those partes, and the Computation of our Maisters the old Geographers.

IF therefore from the Meridian of the Fortunate Islands, in the Paralell of 37. (which is chosen as most eminent and fit to reckon on) wee may accompt to the farthest partes of China, ouer against Iapan, lying in the same height 225. Degrees, or 15. howers, according to the Additions vnto Gemma Frisius Tables: there then remayne but 9. howers, or 135. Degrees to make up the Complement; which being ouer Seas, wee know both difficult and vncertaine: But the best experience, from the coast of China to the most Easterne part of Iapan, sets down 200. L. From thence to the Backe of America in $37\frac{1}{2}$. where Sir Francis Drake his Noua Albion should bee; you have, by the estimate of Fran. Gualle 900. more: in all 1100. L. whereof by the Dutch Computation 12: by the Spanish 14: by the English 16: in that Paralell make one Degree, which last as surest, though worst for us, we follow, and do find from China vnto Noua Albion 69. Degrees.

Now from the Meridian of the Canaries West-ward to Iamaica, or to keepe our Paralell to Virginia by severall Eclipses, observed by severall men, there hath been found a difference of neare 60. Degrees or 4 Howers: so that the Remainder of the 135. is about 6. Degrees, or 300. English Miles betweene Virginia and Noua Albion.

For Confirmation whereof, let vs remember that the Indians in Virginia continually assure our people, that 12. daies iournie westward from the Fals, they have a Sea, where they have some times seene such Shippes as ours. Let vs remember how Vasques de Coronado, sent to discouer the North of America by the Viceroy, Antonio de Mendoza, labouring in his letters to perswade the Emperour what a large and ample Continent there was to inhabite, writeth, that at Cibola, hee was 150. L. from the South Sea, and a litle more from the North. Let vs remember how plainely Sir Francis Drake his Iornal, produes that his Noua Albion can be very litle further Westward then Aquatuleo; whereby see but how great a part of the Backe of America is cleane wyp't away!

But if any yet doubt, let him looke into the Spanish Voyages, or Collections of Antonio de Herrera the Coronisia Maior for the King, and Contraction house, in whose description of those partes the particular distances and bounds of Guadalaiara, Zacatecas, Nueva Viscania, Cinaloa, Cibola, and the rest, from Compostela, Purification, S. Schastian, on the South Sea, as from Mexico, and from Panuco on the North, too long to sette down here doe plainely shew, that Continent is nothing broad, however it be painted.

Now if any iudge wee have not altogeather product Asia to extende as farre as 15. Howers, let him consider for a supplement, of what may want thereof, that the Spaniards reckon 20. Degrees more than we have done heere, to the West Indies, and on the other side, from Noua Spagna to the Philippinas 1700. L. as our Sir Francis Drake and Maister Cauendish doe about 2000. farre beyond ours of Francis Gualle.

If therefore our Streights had been discouered about Virginia, to runne Westward 200. or 300. L. vnto a flowing Sea, wee thinke it might have probably been indged the Mar del Zur: But lying in a Paralell more Northerly, (whereby those Leagues will take up more Degrees) the Northerne backe of America, by the Card of Antonia de Herrera; by the Voyage of Juan de Fuca, a Pilot that liu'd fourtie yeeres in those Countries; and by the relation of some Dutch men; besides the Mappe of Gemma Frisius, appearing to trend North Eastward.

And for anything wee yet can heare, no one Voyage to the contrary, wee see not but we may conclude, that the Fludde our People mette, came from the Southerne sea, and till we heare more Authenticall reasons than of feare, grounded on false Cardes; beleeue that our Industry, by God's grace, may this next Voyage manifest the Prophesic of Babtista Ramusius, touching the North-west Passage.

LETTER OF SIR THOMAS BUTTON ON THE NORTH-WEST PASSAGE.

[The following letter from Sir Thomas Button to Lord Dorchester, Secretary of State, reporting his opinion of the practicability of the North-West Passage, was discovered about the year 1834 by Mr. Lemon in a collection of domestic papers of the time of Charles I., in the State Paper Office. It is addressed, "For His Ma^{tis} especial Service. To the Right Honorable and my much honored good Lord, the Lord Viscount Dorchester, Principall Secretarye of State to His Ma^{tie} att Courte, or ells where—Hast these—Tho. Button," and is indorsed by Lord Dorchester, "S^r Th: Button, y^e 16 of Feb^{ry}—Re^d: y^e 27 At Newmarket 1629."]

Right Honorable, and my much honored good Lord.

Your Lordship's Letter of the 14th of Januarye, concerninge the North West Passadge, with the coppie of Luke Fox, his petition, and others, in that busines, cominge by the way of Bristoll, came to my hande but the 14th \uparrow f this present, att 6 of the clock att night; wherby findinge His Ma^{ties} pleasure and the contents of their petition, the next day, the better to inhable my selfe to give satisfaction, in a pointe of soc highe a nature, I overlooked my Journall, and those notes and papers that longe have laine by me, which I thought would never have bin made use on, consideringe that these later tymes, amonge our Nation, rather studies howe to forgett al thinges, that may conduce to the good of posteritye, by adventuring six pence, if they fynd not a great and presentt benefitt to insew thereof.

But in as much as yet, at lenght it pleaseth God to open the eies of som to looke after so importantt a busines, for the honor of His Ma^{ty}, and not only the comon good of this our Kingdome, but of all our neighbore Nations, I shall, in answer of your Lordship's Letter, and in most humble obedience to my most Royall Master's comaundes, deliver not only my opinion, but, under correction, my knowledge (gotten by the sharpest experience) of that designe, of any man of my coate, livinge not only in our owne Kingdome, but in any other in these neighboringe partes.

What Your Lordship writes off, that His Ma^{tic} requires to be informed of, by me, is

First, whether there be any likelyhood or probabilitye to compass the designe, —yea or noe.

To that I answer, that my opinion is nowe, as it ever hath bin, sithence my retorne thence, and as I then delivered it, with the perticuler reasons of it, to my Most Royall Master, of most famouse

memorye, that then was, Kinge James, that beinge undertaken in a fittinge waye, and a dewe season, I made, and doe make as full accoumpt of the feasiblenes of it, as I doe of any knowne chanell that is best knowne to us in these Norther partes, and to be performed with as little dainger, and was so approved by His Matio to be; whoe inforst as manye, and as important questions, for his owne satisfacfactions, as if all the best experienst marriners of the Christian World had convented them selves togeather, to have drawne the interogatories. The same reasons have I delivered to many most honorable and knowinge persons, and to our best Mathamaticians, as Mr. Briggs, Mr. Wells, and others, with all the best masters and mariners of our Kingdome, as also to others, both Hollanders and French; and in my discourse with any on of them all, they never went unsatisfied from me, of the probabilitie of it; and for farther accompt herein att presentt, I can give non; but if my Jornall, or any other my notes or papers (with ought ells in me) may give His Matie any farther or fuller satisfaction, when I waight on His Highnes, which I hope wil be much sooner then is fitt for them to advaunce (for to sett out too tymelye, is to faule too soone into that danger, that too late repentance cannot healpe them out on) I will doe my best, out of my auld experience, to affurther the good of it, and prevent the evells and inconveniencies that pretendinge men, of little experience, or non att all, may suddenly bring uppon it ;---for I will bowldlie saye, that whoe shal be fitt to have the manedginge of this unparaleld busines, ought first to be soe religiouse, as to hould his end the happiest, that dyes for the glorye of God, the honor of his Kinge, and the publique good of his Countrye; all which, in this designe, have their severall and perticuler interest; and therefore he must not looke backe for feare of the dainger of either unknowne coastes, hidcouse stormes, darke and longe continewed mistes, to lye amonge and all wayes to see more landes and ilands of Ice, than he can see of sea, and oft tymes rocks under him in sight, when he shall, within thrice his ships lenght, fynde twentye fathom water; and to incounter this, under favor, must he be well armed, that shall undergoe this busines; for thrice sithence my beinge there, hath it bin attempted, and for ought I here, little, or rather I may bouldlye saye noe advauncement given to the busines; therefore there cannot be too much curiositie used, to putt it into a good and choise hand; which I will heartilye praye may be most happilye lighted on; for wee live not in the adge to fynde, that they are the most perfitt, which makes the gloriosts shewe.

LETTER OF SIR T. BUTTON ON THE NORTH-WEST PASSAGE.

The seconde point required is, whether it may prove of such benefitt and advantadge, as is pretended.

To that, I must most humbly answer, that that received opinion of former adges, as well as of these moderne tymes, both in many other countryes abroade, as in our owne Kingdom, and amongst our owne marchants att home, maintaines and makes good that pointe; therefore to that I can say noe more, but that I will as hartily praye, that God may give a blessinge to the discoverye, which, in the first place, must be the imediate introduction to bringe on and perfitt the rest; of which honor, to be that most happic man, weare my yeares sutable to such an undertakeinge, or my purse answerable to what in hart I would be most willing to adventer, I would be loathe any man livingo should undertake it sooner than my selfe, or adventure more towards it, then I would; but beinge noe otherwise usefull in myne owne power, or abilitie, then in my wel wishinge, and what other affurthrance may lye in me, yet what I formerly suffred by my wyntringe, doth sufficientlye satisfie all reasonable and experienst men, that to ronn the hazard or charge of such a purpose, can be to noe other end then the inevitable hazard of all; and therefore either the Passage will be found, or not to be hoped for, the first Yeare; soe, by that assurance, the first chardge wil be much the less, and the course certaine, which will effect it the sooner :---for nowe there will be noe faulinge into Hudson's Baye, nor Button's Baye, to mispende tyme, as bothe he and I did, to noe purpose, and that only by instructions out of England; but as some as he comes to the Weste Parte, or Cape of Nottingham's Iland, where he is to anchor, and according to the sett of that tyde which he shall fynde there, to direct his course; which must be, and is the only waye to fynde that Passadge; which I doe as confidently beleave to be a Passadge, as I doe there is on, either between Calis and Dover, or betweene Holy Head and Ireland. This beinge all, att present, that I can doe, in answer to Your Lordship's Letter, or for His Majesty's information, in this busines, intendinge to bringe upp my Jornall, and such other notes as I have leaft, when I come upp my selfe, for His Ma^{tle} or Your Lordship's further satisfaction (but to noe other hands) I most humbly take my leave, assuring Your Lordship, on my faith, your letter came noe sooner than when I write, and if there be any error happens by it, the faulte is not myne, whoe am, and allwayes shalbe,

Your Lordship's respective, trew, thankefull,

and humble Servant,

From my House at Cardiffe, this 16th of Februarye, 1629. THO: BUTTON.

EDITOR'S REMARKS.

Since printing the documents relating to the Voyage of Sir Thomas Button, in No. I. of THE BIBLIOGRAPHICAL MISCELLANY, my attention has been directed to the catalogue of Mr. Hanrott's library, part 1, sold in 1833, which, in lot 783, Birch's Life of Prince Henry, contained them, and to which lot, Mr. Evans appended the following note:—

"At the end of this volume are inserted two curious ORIGINAL DOCUMENTS, ON VELLUM; the first the Instructions to Captain Thomas Button, on his Voyage for the Discovery of a North-West Passage, signed by Prince Henry; the second a Letter of Credence for Captain Button, signed by King James; beautiful specimens of penmanship. These documents are interesting, as evincing the honourable zeal of King James and Prince Henry for maritime discovery. Button was afterwards knighted, and his name and honours are recorded to posterity in the opening called Sir Thomas Button's Welcome."

This important lot was purchased by Mr. Thorpe, the bookseller, for £2 15s.; certainly not a tenth part of its present value. It is with regret that I am unable to trace these documents farther. The lithographic facsimile of the "Instructions," a few copies of which Mr. Hanrott caused to be struck off, would lead to the inference that these and the "Motives" were written by the same scribe.

I have before stated that the "Motives," on a broadside, was found attached to a copy of "Davis's Worldes Hydrographicall Description;" itself one of the ablest tracts ever written on the subject of the North-West Passage, and which, on some future occasion, I purpose to reprint entire, with an account of the author. The book and "Motives," I should think, must have been intended to prepare King James the First to consider and support the scheme, though it does not appear exactly whether they were addressed to the King personally, or to Prince Henry.

In addition to the "Motives" and Davis's work, Sir Dudley Digges, one of the principal promoters of Button's voyage, in 1611 issued anonymously, the little tract reprinted above, with the following title : "FATA MIHI TOTVM MEA SUNT AGITANDA PER ORBEM." The only copy of this with which I am acquainted, is in the possession of Dr. Bliss of Oxford, who kindly allowed me to make a transcript for publication. Some doubt appeared hitherto to exist as to the authorship, but it is cleared up by the following extract from the Birch MSS. in the British Museum, contained in a letter from John Chamberlaine to Sir Dudley Carleton, dated 11 March, 1611-12. "There is a little treatise of the North-West Passage written by Sir Dudley Digges: but I may say beatus qui intelligit, specially to the first period, which is a bad beginning to stumble at the threshold. Some of his good friends say he had better have given five hundred pounds than published such a pamphlet. But he is wonderfully possessed with the opinions and hopes of that passage." This letter probably refers to the second edition of the work, which also was issued anonymously in 1612, with the second title given above, "OF THE CIECYMFERENCE OF THE EARTH; OF A TREATISE OF THE NORTH-EAST

EDITOR'S REMARKS.

PASSAGE." The word east is evidently an error of the press, as the running title afterwards corrects it. From a careful comparison of the two editions there is no reason to doubt, that, though but few variations occur between them, the latter is a distinct impression, and not the same work with an English title substituted for the Latin. It is a little singular however, that both works should be so excessively scarce, for of the latter I can only refer at present to three copies; one in the Bodleian library, a second in the British Museum, and a third in Mr. Bright's library, sold in 1846.

There is another paragraph in a subsequent letter of Chamberlaine to Sir Dudley Carleton, which alludes to Sir Dudley Digges' interest in Button's projected voyage. "Sir Henry Wotton's friends give out, that he hath refused the employment to Brussels. And now Sir Dudley Digges is in consideration of this new discovery of this North-West passage, wherein he is a great undertaker, will give him leave to think of anything else, for it possesseth him wholly, and they are preparing ships against the spring, as if there were no doubt or difficulty at all in the matter, and the prince is become patron and protector of this new discovery."

It is remarkable that no further particulars of this scheme of eolonization should have come down to us; for, though it received the support of the Worshipful East India Fellowship, their records of the period are lost; and the only notice we can trace is, that in Dec. 1614, Sir Thomas Smith, the governor, took an opportunity to remind the Court of Committees, "that three years since this Coumpanie did aduenture £300 per annum for three yeares towards the discoury of the Norwest passage."—[Rundall, N.W. Voyages, 96.]

The pioneer expedition of Hudson in 1610, in the "Discovery," a vessel of fifty-five tons, and only victualled for six months, was in all likelihood intended to clear up any doubts respecting the passage. This voyage turned out disastrously, and for Hudson fatally. The "Discovery," instead of returning the same year, was frozen up in the iee on the 10th November, and could not be moved again till the 18th of June in the following year, and it was not until late in the same season that it was brought into harbour in a most disabled state. The allusion in the last paragraph of Digges's pamphlet, "The Fludde our people mette came from the Southerne sea," would seem to indicate that it was the unfortunate termination of Hudson's voyage which led him to issue his pamphlet, to reassure the subscribers and promoters of the projected voyage; and from the same cause also it might be that the extensive project shadowed out in the "Motives" was so badly sustained by the actual equipment of the expedition, and which, as is well known, led to no important The "Instructions" enjoin that a journal was to be results. kept: the letter of Sir Thomas Button, printed above, shows that it was kept, and was in his possession in 1629-30. It was no doubt from this journal and the other papers referred to in the same letter, that Luke Fox derived the particulars of Button's voyage, which he printed, with the results of his own voyage, in "North-West

EDITOR'S REMARKS.

Foxe," and with which, unless Button's own journal should some day turn up, we must at present rest satisfied. Dr. Birch, in his Life of Prince Henry, says that it was in consequence of the death of the Prince, Sir Thomas Button was prevented from making a second voyage of discovery; that "he came home perfectly satisfied that a North-West passage might be found, and he told Mr. Briggs, the famous Professor of Geometry at Gresham College, that he had convinced King James of the truth of his opinions."

But few particulars of the life of Sir Thomas Button appear to be known, and his very name is wanting in our Biographical Dictionaries. The short sketch in the Penny Cyclopædia, the only one I have met with, is confined to his Voyage of Discovery. The following is from the Pacata Hibernia, folio, 1633, pp. 203-4:--

"Captaine Thomas Button, who had the wafting of the victualls (22 Oct., 1601) with Munition from Dublin with the Queene's Pinnace, the Moone, arrived at Corke, and came to the Lord Deputie at the campe, signifying the rest of the shipping was comming from Dublin that had layen at Waterford. He was that night sent away to bring his ship about into the Harbour of Kinsale, and with Captaine Ward's ship, which was directed to accompany him, whom wee were inforced to make use of before to guard that Victuall and Munition in Oyster Haven, which wee had brought with us from Corke, they were willed to trie if they could annoy the Castle of Rincorran, seated close upon the Harbour, and possessed by the Spanyard. But after they had spent many shott upon the Castle, and found they did them little hurt, their Ordnance being but small, they lay still onely to keep the Harbour, that neither the Castle nor the Towne might be relieved by water, which was the chief cause of their sending thither, and which Captaine Thomas Button, notwithstanding many attempts made by the Spanyards and Natives, very valiantly to his high commendations performed."

There is a reference to Button in the MS. Life of Phineas Pette, [Harl. MS., 6279] which would lead us to suppose that he held a responsible appointment in the great naval ship yard at Woolwich, for certain charges were preferred against him in connection with Sir R. Mansell, Sir John Trevor, and others, by the Lord High Admiral, the Lord Northampton. The cause was heard before the king, occupying three days, but was eventually dismissed. On one occasion, Mr. Pette tells us, "Sir Robert Mansell, Sir John Trevor, Captain Button, and the rest of my good friends followed, amongst whom was the good old lady Mrs. Mansell, and Mrs. Button, who had taken the pains to attend the hearing in an inner room all day."

In Rymer's Fœdera, VIII. 1, 18, we find the Duke of Buckingham, the Earl of Pembroke, Sir Robert Mauneell, (Vice Admiral,) Sir Thomas Button, and others, nominated by Charles I., on the 14th April 1625, as a "Council of War, for securing our Realme of Ireland and the rest of our dominions, and for fitting and furnishing our Royall Navie, and putting the same into readines for our Service."—Ep.]

Songes, for fower, and five Voyces, composed and made by Thomas Whythorne, Gent., the which Songes be of sundry sortes, that is to say, some long, some short, some hard, some easie to be songe, and some betwene both: also some solemne, and some pleasant or mery: so that according to the skill of the Singers, (not being Musitians) and disposition or delite of the Hearers, they may here finde Songes for their contentation and liking. ¶ Now newly published, An. 1571. ¶ At London: Printed by John Daye, dwelling over Aldersgate.

The above is the full title of one of the rarest books in its class. No perfect copy of the work is known; nor am I aware of the existence of anything beyond a single "Contra-Tenor" part in my own library. Dr. Dibdin regretted his inability to give the correct title in his account of the works from the press of John Day. His words are these :—"I regret that I am not able to enlarge the following account by Herbert: which evidently proves that the book had never been examined by him. 'Tho. Whithorne, Gentleman, his Songs for 3, 4, and 5 voyces; which songs are of sundrie sorts, viz., some short, some easie, &e., solemne, some merry.'"—Typ. Antiq. vol. iv., p. 124.

The work consists of five small quarto volumes; the "Tenor" part contains the "Preface of the Author, wherein he declareth more at large the contentes of these his five bookes." At the back of the title-page of the "Contra-Tenor" part is a woodcut portrait of the author,—"Thomas Whithorn, anno ætatis suæ XL.," round the frame; and underneath, "Aspra ma non troppo." On sign A A a. ii., is the following :—

The above title in an ornamental border, with Day's rebus at the bottom. At the back is the Queen's Arms, with the initials, E. R. On the last page is Day's portrait, with a colophon, as in the titlepage. The work is complete in four parts, small folio, Medius, Contra-Tenor, Tenor, and Bassus. Copies are preserved in the Library of the Dean and Chapter, Westminster; and in the Douce Collection in the Bodleian. The latter copy belonged to Herbert; it has the Bassus of a former edition, dated 1560, bound up with it.

A description of the contents of this valuable collection of Church Music—the first that issued from the press, after the Reformation —will perhaps be interesting.

The first service is a Venite Exultemus, Te Deum, and Benedictus, by Thomas Causton (a gentleman of the Royal Chapel); next follows the Litany, the melody of which is still used in our Cathedrals. It concludes with the Lord's Prayer, and does not include the suffrages. The name of Stones (probably Robert Stones, also of the Royal Chapel) appears at the end of the prayer.

The Communion Service comes next, beginning with the Kyrie Eleison; then the Nicene Creed; the Offertory; (which is designated

OLD MUSIC BOOKS.

"a thankesgiving for the poore") the Sanctus; the Gloria in Excelsis, and a hymn or anthem, taken from the 4th chapter of Philippians, 4, 5, 6, 7 verses. All these, as well as two evening services, (each consisting of Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis,) are by Thomas Causton.

"A godly prayer" follows, the words of which do not appear in any liturgical work.

A Morning, and Communion Service, consisting of the same portions as the former one, next follows; this is by Heath.

• "A godly prayer" set by Robert Haselton, next occurs, and then two Evening Services, one by Whitbrok, the other by Knight. The names of these composers I cannot trace.

A Morning, Communion, and Evening Service, by Causton, completes this portion of the work. Next follow the "godly prayers" and anthems, of which I subjoin a list:—

NOTICES OF SUPPRESSED BOOKS.

[IT is intended in these Notices to use the word "suppressed" in its widest acceptation, and to include amongst such, books which have been destroyed, or for which the authors, printers, or publishers, have suffered any kind or degree of punishment. Of books, which by their authors or promulgators have been suppressed, either before or after publication; and of books, portions of which have in subsequent editions been cancelled or altered; rejecting only those which from their character may justly be considered exceptionable.

NOTICES OF SUPPRESSED BOOKS.

In every case it is desirable to give the information in the most authentic form, and therefore, whilst soliciting contributions from correspondents on this highly important subject, whatever verification is possible, should also be sent. The names of contributors will not be printed, if not desired; but the publisher naturally wishes to possess some authority to which to appeal in case of question.]

A PROCLAMATION CONCERNING A BOOK INTITULED Mare Clausum.

[A.D. 1636. Pat. 12, Car. I., Rymer's Fodera, vol. IX. ii. 8.]

WHEREAS there was heretofore by our express Command published in Print, a Book intituled Mare Clausum seu de Dominio Maris, for the manifesting of the Right and Dominion of Us and our Royal Progenitors in the Seas, which encompass these our Realms and Dominions of Great Britain and Ireland, and whereas since the publishing thereof, some Persons not well affected to us and our Proceedings, have caused the same Book to be Printed in some place beyond the Seas, and to the same Impression have added some other things as if they were parts of that, which was first printed here by our Command, and have falsly put the name of our City of London in the Title Page, for the place of the Impression, and have also therein made reference to the first Edition of the same Book, as if the said Foreign Impression had been done in our said City, as also as if those other things which are added, had been likewise a part of the said first Edition so commanded by Us, or added to the same by our allowance.

And whereas also very many Books of the said Foreign Edition, have of late been secretly brought into this our Realm of England, and there offered to sale by some Tradesmen, for whose speedy and severe punishment, as also for the suppressing of the said Books of the Foreign Edition so imported, We have already given strict Command; We have, by the Advice of the Lords of our Privy Council, thought fit to declare, and hereby do declare our express Will and Pleasure to be, That from henceforth no Person or Persons whatsoever, do, or shall import, publish, put to Sale, or in any kind Buy, Sell, Exchange, or Disperse in any of our Realms or Dominions, any of the said Books of the Foreign Edition, and also that, for the more safe prevention of the like Offence in the future, from henceforth no Person or Persons whatsoever do or shall at any time import, publish, put to sale, or in any kind Buy, Sell, Exchange, or Disperse in any of our Realms or Dominions, any Books or Copies of any Edition of the said Books called Mare Clausum, either in Latin or English, except only of such Editions, as have been or shall be thereof had or done within our Realms or Dominions, and by such Authority or License, as by the Laws and Customs of our said Realms and Dominions is respectively requisite, upon pain of our high Displeasure

A PROCLAMATION FOR CALLING IN A BOOK INTITLED An Introduction to a Devout Life, and that the same be publickly Buent.

[A.D. 1637. Pat. 13. Car. I., Rymer's Fœdera, vol. IX. ii. 95.]

WHEREAS a Book intitled An Introduction to a Devout Life, was lately printed by Nicholas Oakes, of London, and many of them publish[ed] and dispersed throughout the Realm, the Copy of which Book being brought to the Chaplain of the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury for Licence and Allowance, was by him, upon diligent perusal, in sundry places expunged and purged of divers passages therein, tending to Popery; Nevertheless the same Book after it was so amended and allowed to be printed, was corrupted and falsified by the Translator and Stationer, who between them, inserted the same Popish and unsound Passages, and the Stationer is now apprehended and the Translator sought for, to be proceeded agains' according to Justice.

His Majesty out of his pious and constant care, to uphold and maintain the Religion professed in the Church of England, in it purity without Error or Corruption, doth therefore hereby declard his Royal Will and Pleasure to be, and doth straightly charge and command, all persons of what degree, quality or condition soever to whose Hands any of the said Books are or shall come, that with out delay, they deliver or send them to the Bishop or Chancellor o the Diocese, whom his Majesty require th to cause the same to be publickly Burnt, as such of them as have been already seized, or have been by his Majesty's express command; And to this his Majesty's Royal Pleasure, he require th all his loving Subjects to yeild all due conformity and obedience, as they will avoid the censure of high contempt.

THE BIBLIOGRAPHICAL MISCELLANY.

MARTIN MARPRELATE RHYMES.

THE following bibliographical and literary treasure, is reprinted from a copy of the original in the possession of the editor. It is a quarto of four leaves, in black letter, the last page blank. Copies are also preserved in the libraries of Lambeth Palace, the British Museum, and Bodley.

Although the tract is undated, we learn from internal evidence, that it was printed in 1589, and very shortly after the publication of Hay any works for Cooper. There is another edition entitled Rythmes against Martin Marre-Prelate. This latter has been reprinted (with some errors) in D'Israeli's Quarrels of Authors. The learned editor says, "As a literary curiosity, I shall preserve a very rare poetical tract, which describes with considerable force the Revolutionists of the reign of Elizabeth. They are indeed those of wild democracy : and the subject of this satire will, I fear, be never out of time. It is an admirable political satire against a mob-government. In our poetical history, this specimen too is curious, for it will show that the stanza in alternate rhymes, usually denominated Elegiac, is adapted to very opposite themes. The solemnity of the versification is impressive, and the satire equally dignified and keen."

The following "rhymes" are very unequal. The sense of some of the stanzas is sometimes doubtful. They might, perhaps, have been rendered more intelligible by amended punctuation, but this is a liberty I have not thought proper to exercise.

The Rev. W. Maskell, in his History of the Marprelate Controversy, (8vo. 1845, pp. 207) says, "There were also at least two, perhaps more, poetical tracts against Martin." I can enumerate four; and, should the present reprint prove acceptable to the readers of the Bibliographical Miscellany, I propose, at convenient seasons, adding the remaining three to its pages.

EDWARD F. RINBAULT, LL.D.

No. 5.]

A WHIP FOR AN APE: OB, MARTIN DISPLAIED.

Ordo Sacerdotum fatuo turbatur ab omni, Labitur et passim Religionis honus.

Since reason (Martin) cannot stay thy pen, We'il see what rime will doo: have at thee then.

A dizard late skipt out upon our stage ; But in a sacke, that no man might him see :

And though we knowe not yet the paltrie page, Himselfe hath Martin made his name to bee.

A proper name, and for his feates most fit; The only thing wherein he hath shew'd wit.

Who knoweth not, that Apes men Martins call;

Which beast this baggage seemes as't were himselfe : So as both nature, nurture, name, and all,

Of that's expressed in this apish elfe. Which ile make good to Martin Marr-als face, In three plaine poynts, and will not bate an ace.

For first the Ape delights with moppes and mowes, And mocketh Prince and peasants all alike;

This jesting Jacke, that no good manner knowes,

With his Asse-heeles presumes all States to strike. Whose scoffes so stinking in each nose doth smell, As all mouthes saie of dolts he beares the bell.

Sometimes his choppes doo walke in poynts too hie, Wherein the Ape himselfe a Woodcocke tries:

Sometimes with floutes he drawes his mouth awrie, And sweares by his ten bones, and falselie lies.

Wherefore be what he will I do not passe, He is the paltriest Ape that ever was.

Such fleering, leering, jarring fooles bopeepe;

Such hahaes, techees, weehees, wild colts play : Such sohoes, whoopes and hallowes, hold and keepe ;

Such rangings, ragings, revelings, roysters ray, With so foule mouth, and knave at every catch, Tis some knaves neast did surely Martin hatch.

MARTIN MARPRELATE RHYMES.

Now out he runnes with Cuckowe King of May,

Then in he leapes with a wild Morrice daunce; Now strikes he up Dame Lawsens^{*} lustie lay;

Then comes Sir Jeffries[†] ale tub, tapde by chaunce : Which makes me gesse, (and I can shrewly smell) He loves both t'one and t'other passing well.

Then straight as though he were distracted quite, He chafeth like a cutpurse layd in Warde;

And rudely railes with all his maine and might,

Against both Knights and Lords without regarde : So as Bridewell must tame his dronken fits, And Bedlam helpe to bring him to his wits.

But Martin, why in matters of such waight, Doest thou thus play the Dawe and dancing foole ?

O sir (quoth he) this is a pleasant baite

For men of sorts, to traine them to my schoole. Ye noble States how can you like hereof, A shamelesse Ape at your sage heads should scoffe?

Good Noddie now leave scribling in such matters, They are no tooles for fooles to tend unto;

Wise men regard not what mad Monckies patters; Twere trim a beast should teach men what to do.

Now Tarleton's[‡] dead the Consort lackes a vice : For knave and foole thou maist beare pricke and price.

The sacred sect and perfect pure precise,

Whose cause must be by Scoggins jests§ maintained; Ye shewe although that purple Apes disguise,

Yet Apes are still, and so must be disdainde. For though your Lyons lookes weake eyes escapes Your babling bookes bewraies you all for Apes.

* This woman is noticed in one of the mock Epitaphs upon Martin's funeral.

† Alluding to some person, or persons, ruinously fined for taking active part with Martin. D'Israeli points this out, but does not say who the parties were.

‡ This celebrated actor and buffoon died Sept. 3rd, 1588. He is alluded to in Oh read over D. John Bridges (Epistle); and again, in some Rhymes against Martin.

§ Supposed to have been written by Dr. Andrew Borde. It was licensed to Colwell in 1566, but the earliest edition at present known, bears the date of 1626.

MARTIN MARPRELATE BHYMES.

The next poynt is, Apes use to tosse and teare

What once their fidling fingers fasten on; And clime aloft and cast downe every where,

And never staies till all that stands be gon. Now whether this in Martin be not true,

You wiser heads marke here what doth ensue.

What is it not that Martin doth not rent?

Cappes, Tippets, Gownes, blacke Chivers, Rotchets white; Communion bookes, and Homelies, yea so bent

To teare, as womens wimples feele his spite. Thus tearing all, as all Apes use to doo; He tears withall the Church of Christ in two.

Marke now what things he meanes to tumble downe, For to this poynt to looke is worth the while,

In one that makes no choyce twixt Cap and Crowne; Cathedrall Churches he would faine untile,

And snatch up Bishops lands, and catch away All gaine of learning for his prouling pray.

And thinke you not he will pull downe at length As well the top from tower, as Cocke from steeple?

And when his head hath gotten some more strength, To play with Prince, as now he doth with people? Yes, he that now saith, Why should Bishops bee? Will next orie out, Why Kings? The Saincts are free.

The Germains Boores with Clergie men began,

But never left till Prince and Peeres were dead : Jacks Leydon was a holie zealous man,

But ceast not till the Crowne was on his head. And Martins mate Jacks Straws would alwaies ring The Clergies faults, but sought to kill the King.

Oh that, quoth Martin, th' were a Noble man !

A vaunt vile villaine: tis not for such swads. And of the Counsell too; Marke Princes then:

These roomes are caught at by these lustic lads. For Apes must climbe, and never stay their wit, Untill on top of highest hilles they sit.

MARTIN MARPRELATE RHYMES.

What meane they els, in every towne to crave

Their Priest and King like Christ himselfe to be? And for one Pope ten thousand Popes to have.

And to controll the highest he or she? Aske Scotland, that, whose King so long they crost, As he was like his Kingdome to have lost.

Beware ye States and Nobles of this land,

The Clergie is but one of these mens buts: The Ape at last on masters necke will stand;

Then gegge betime these gaping greedie guts, Least that too soone, and then too late ye feele, He strikes at head that first began with heele.

The third tricke is, what Apes by flattering waies Cannot come by, with biting they will snatch : Our Martin makes no bones, but plainlie saies.

Their fists shall walke, they will both bite and scratch. He'il make their hearts to ake, and will not faile, Where pen cannot, their penknife shall prevaile.

But this is false, he saith he did but mocke :

A foole he was that so his words did scan. He only ment with pen their pates to knocke :

A Knave he is, that so turns cat in pan. But Martin sweare and stare as deepe as hell, Thy sprite thy spite and mischievous mind doth tell.

The thing that neither Pope with Booke nor Bull,

Nor Spanish King with ships could do without, Our Martine heere at home will worke at full;

If Prince curbe not betimes the rabble rout. That is, destroy both Church, and State, and all; For if t'one faile, the other needes must fall.

Thou England then whom God doth make so glad,

Through Gospels grace and Princes prudent raigne: Take heede least thou at last be made as sad,

Through Martins makebates marring, to thy paine. For he marres all, and maketh nought, nor will, Save lyes and strife, and workes for Englands ill.

MARTIN MARPRELATE RHYMES.

And ye grave men that answere Martins mowes: He mockes the more, and you in vain loose times:

Leave Apes to dogges to baite, their skins tocrowes, And let old Lanam^{*} lash him with his rimes. The becst is proud when men wey his enditings: Let his worke goe the waie of all wast writings.[†]

Now Martin, you that say you will spawne out

Your broyling brattes in every towne to dwell; We will provide in each place for your route

A bell and whippe, that Apes do love so well. And if ye skippe, and will not wey the checke We'il have a springe, and catch you by the necke.

And so adieu mad Martin-marre-the-land,

Leave off thy worke, and more worke, thear'st thou me? Thy work's nought worth, take better worke in hand:

Thou marr'st thy worke, and thy work will marre thee. Worke not a newe, least it doth worke thy wracke, And thou make worke for him that worke doth lacke.

And this I warne thee Martins Monckies face,

Take heed of me, my rime doth charme thee bad: I am a rimer of the Irish race,

And have alreadie rimde thee staring mad. But if thou ceasest not thy bald jests still to spread, I'le never leave, till I have rimde thee dead.

* Query, was this old Robert Laneham, "Clerk of the Council-Chamber door, and also keeper of the same," the author of the Letter from Killingworth?

+ D'Israeli's copy reads "vast writings."

CATALOGUE OF MANUSCRIPTS

IN THE POSSESSION OF

THE EARL OF HARDWICKE.

1794.

ADVERTISEMENT.

THIS Catalogue was formed by the late EABL OF HARDWICKE, and contains, among many curious and interesting papers never given to the public, several which have been printed by the Earl of Hardwicke himself, as well in Sir Dudley Carleton's Collection of Letters, and his two volumes of State Papers, as in some other modern publications. Want of leisure, and the difficulty of exactly ascertaining all such as are in print, have prevented their being particularly distinguished.

. 4s. 6d. " in the Second LIFE OF Mr. THOMAS GENT, Printer of vitten by himself. 8vo, fine portrait, engraved by Aug. Fox, cloth. 2s. 6d. (Uriginal price 9s.)

The Author of this curious, and hitherto unpublished piece of Autohiography, is well known by the several works of which he was the author as well as printer. The narrative is full, written in an easy and unaffected style, interspersed with several pieces of Poetry; and from the number of adventures he went through in early life, and the characters and stories incidentally introduced, is extremely amusing. His occupation as a printer necessarily introduced him to the acquaintance of eany literary men, and his book abounds with notices of Authors, Printers, &c., of the times in which he lived; among others occur the names of Bishop Atterbury, with whom he relates a singular interview, Browne Willis, and Dr. Drake, the historian of York, &c. The Book requires no encomium to those who have read Southey's "Doctor."

ENGLAND'S WORTHIES, under whom all the Civil and Bloody Warres, since Anno 1642 to Anno 1647, are related. By John VIOARS, Author of "England's Parliamentary Chronicle," &c., &c. Royal 12mo, reprinted in the old style (similar to Lady Willoughby's Diary), with copies of the 18 rare portraits after Hollar, &c., half morocco. 5s.

Copies of the original edition sold 216 to 220. The portraits comprise, Robert, Earl of Essex; Robert, Earl of Warwick; Lord Montagu, Earl of Denhigh, Earl of Stamford, David Lesley, General Fairfax, Sir Thomas Fairfax, O. Cromwell, Skippon, Colonel Massey, Sir W. Brereton, Sir W. Waller, Colonel Langhorne, General Poyntz, Sir Thos. Middleton, General Brown, and General Mitton.

A ROT AMONGST THE BISHOPS; or a Terrible Tempest in the Sea of Canterbury, set forth in lively emblems, to please the judicious Reader. By THOMAS STIREY, 1641. 18mo (A satire on Abp. Land), four very curious woodcut emblems, cloth. 3s

A facsimile of the very rare original edition, which sold at Bindley's sale for £13.

CARTWRIGHT.—Memoirs of the Life, Writings, and Mechanical Inventions of Edmund Cartwright, D.D., F.R.S., inventor of the Power Loom, fc. Post 8vo, engravings, bds. 2s. 6d. (original price 10s. 6d.)

It contains some interesting literary history, Dr. Cartwright numbering among his correspondents, Sir W. Jones, Crabbe, Sir H. Davy, Fulton, Sir S. Raffles Langhorne, and others; he was no mean Poet, as his Legendary Tale of "Armine and Elvira" (given in the Appendix) testifice; Sir W. Scott says it contains some excellent poetry, expressed with unusual felicity.

FORMAN.—The Autobiography and Personal Diary of Dr. Simon Forman, the Celebrated Astrologer, 1552-1602, from unpublished MSS. in the Ashmolean Museum, Oxford. Edited by J. O. HALLIWELL. Small 4to, sewed. 5s. Only 130 copies privately printed. It will form a companion to Dr. Dee's Diary, printed by the Camden Society, who also printed this work, but afterwards suppressed it.

RICHARDSON.—Extracts from the Literary and Scientific Correspondence of Richard Richardson, M.D., F.R.S., of Brierley, Yorkshire. Edited by DAWSON TUENER, Esq. 8vo, pp. 530, portrait and plates of Brierley Hall, cloth. 7s. 6d.

This is a very interesting volume, and contains much curious matter respecting the state and progress of Botany, the study of Antiquities and General Literature, &c., in Great Britain, during the first half of the eighteenth century. It was printed for private circulation only (at the expense of Miss Currer, of Eshton Hall), and copies have found their way into but few collections.

LIFE, POETRY, AND LETTERS of EBENEZER ELLIOTT, the Corn Law Rhymer (of Sheffield). Edited by his Son-in-Law, JOHN WATKINS, post 8vo, cloth; (an interesting colume). 8s. (Original price 7s. 6d.)

S COTT. — Extracts from the Letter-Book of WILLIAM SCOTT, Father of the Lords Stowell and Eldon, with Notes on their Family History and Pedigree. By M. A. RICHARDSON. Post Svo, seveed. 1s. 6d.

A LCUIN OF BRITAIN.—The Life of Alcuin, the Learned Anglo-Saxon, and Ambassador from King Offa, to the Emperor Charlemagne. By D. F. LOBENZ, Translated by Slee. 12mo, pp. 280, cloth. 2s. (Original price 6s.)

WESLEY.-Narrative of a Remarkable Transaction in the Early Life of John

Wesley, now first printed from a MS. in the British Museum. 8vo, seved. 2s. A very curious love affair between J. W. and his housekeeper; it gives a curious insight into the early economy of the Methodists. It is entirely unknown to all Wesley's biographers.

THE CONNECTION OF WALES with the Early Science of England, illustrated in the Memoirs of Dr. Robert Recorde, the first Writer on Arithmetic, Geometry, Astronomy, &c., in the English Language. By J. O. HALLIWELL, Svo, seveed. 1e.

MORLAND.-Accours of the Life, Writings, and Inventions of Sir Samuel Morland, Master of Mechanics to Charles II. By. J. O. HALLIWELL. 8vo, sewed. 1s.

OLLECTION OF LETTERS on Scientific Subjects, illustrative of the Progress of Science in England. Temp. Elizabeth to Charles II. Edited by J. O. HALLIWELL. 8vo, cloth. 3s.

Comprising letters of Digges, Dee, Tycho Brahe, Lower, Harriott, Lydyatt, Sir W. Petty, Sir C. Caven-dish, Braneker, Pell, &c.; also the autobiography of Sir Samuel Morland, from a MS. in Lambeth Palace Nat. Tarpoley's Corrector Analyticus, &c. Cost the Subscribers £1.

T. DUNSTAN.-The Life and Miracles of St. Dunstan. By W. ROBINSON. LL.D. 8vo, plate. 1s.

SIDNEY .- Brief Memoir of the Life of the Hon. Algernon Sidney (the Patriot); with his Trial in 1683. By R. C. SIDNEY. With outline plate from Stephanoff"s well known picture. 8vo, sewed. 1s. 6d.

LOVE LETTERS OF MRS. PIOZZI, (formerly Mrs. Thrale, the friend of L. Dr. Johnson,) written when she was Eighty, to the handsome actor, William Augustus Conway, aged Twenty-seven. 8vo, sewed. 2s.

- written at three, four, and five o'clock (in the  norming) by an Octogenary pen, a heart (as Mrs. Lee says) twenty-six years old, and as H. L. P. feels it to be, all your own." - Letter V, 3.2 Fe¹, 1820. "This is one of the most extraordinary collections of love epistles we have ever chanced to meet with, and the well known literary reputation of the lady-the Mrs. Thrale, of Dr. Johnson and Miss Burney celebrity—considerably enhances their interest. The letters themselves it is not easy to characterise; nor shall we venture to 'zcide whether they more bespeak the drivelling of dotage, or the tolly of love; in either case they present human nature to us under a new aspect, and furnish one of those riddles which no-thing yet dreamt of in our philosophy can satisfactorily solve."-Polytechnic Review.

Philology and Early English Literature.

N THE ORIGIN OF THE ENGLISH, Germanic, and Scandinavian Languages and Nations, with Chronological Specimens of their Languages. By J. BOSWORTH, D.D. Royal 8vo, bds. £1.

A new and enlarged edition of what was formerly the Preface to the First Edition of the Anglo-Saxon Dietionary, and now published separately.

NGLO-SAXON DELECTUS; serving as a first Class-Book to the Language. By the Rev. W. BARNES, B.D., of St. John's Coll. Camb. 12mo, cloth, 2s. 6d.

"To those who wish to possess a critical knowledge of their own Native English, some acquaintance with Anglo - Saxon is indispensable; and we have never seen an introduction better calculated than the present to supply the wants of a beginner in a short space of time. The declensions and conjugations are well stated, and illustrated by references to Greek, the Latin, French, and other languages. A philosophical spirit pervades every part. The Delectus consists of short pervades every part. The Delectus consists of short pieces on various subjects, with extracts from Anglo-Saxon History and the Saxon Chronicle. There is a good Glossary at the end."—Athenaeum, Oct. 20, 1849.

UIDE TO THE ANGLO-SAXON TONGUE: on the Basis of Professor Rask's Grammar ; to which are added, Reading Lessons in Verse and Prose, with Notes for the use of Learners. By E. J. VERNON, B.A., Oxon. 12mo, cloth, 5s. 6d.

"The author of this Guide scems to have made one step in the right direction, by compiling what may be pronounced the best work on the subject hitherto published in England."-Althenaum. "Mr. Vernon has, we think, acted wisely in taking Rask for his Model; but let no one suppose from the tilte that the book is merely a compilation from the work of that philologist. The accidence is abridged from Rask, with constant revision, correction, and modification; but the syntax, a most important por-tion of the book, is original, and is compiled with great care and skill; and the latter half of the volume con-sists of a well-chosen selection of extracts from Anglosists of a well-chosen selection of extracts from Anglo-Saxon writers, in prose and ":res, for the practice of the student, who will find great assistance in reading them from the b, unmatical notes with which they are accompanied, and from the " sarry which follows them. This volume, well studied, will ethal any one to read with case the generality of Anglo-Saxon writers; and its cheapness places it within the reach of every class. It has our hearty recommendation."—Literary Genetic Gazette.

Containing an immense body of information on a language which is now becoming more fully appre-ciated, and which contains fifteen-twentieths of what we daily think, and speak, and write. No Englishmun, therefore, altogether ignorant of Anglo-Saxon, can have a thorough knowledge of his own mother-tengue; while the language itself, to say nothing of the many valuable and interesting works preserved in it, may, in copiousness of works, strength of expression, and grammatical precision, vie with the modern German.

INTRODUCTION TO ANGLO-SAXON READING; comprising ▲ Ælfric's Homily on the Birthday of St. Gregory, with a copious Glossary, &c. By L. LANGLEY, F.L.S. 12mo, cloth, 2s. 6d.

Ælfric'a Homily is remarkable for beauty of composition, and interesting as setting forth Augustine's mission to the "Land of the Angles."

A NGLO-SAXON VERSION OF THE LIFE OF ST. GUTHLAC, Hermit of Croyland. Printed, for the first time, from a MS. in the Cottonian Library, with a Translation and Notes. By CHABLES WYCLIFFE GOODWIN, M.A., Fellow of Catharine Hall, Cambridge. 12mo, cloth, 5s.

DOPULAR TREATISES ON SCIENCE, written during the Middle Ages, in Angle-Saxon, Anglo-Norman, and English. Edited by THOS. WEIGHT, M.A. 8vo, cloth, 3s.

Contents :--- An Angu-Saxon Treatise on Astronomy of the TENTH CENTURY, now first published from a MS. in the British Maseum, with a Translation; Livre des Creatures, by Phillippe de Thaun, now first printed with a translation, (extremely valuable to Philologists, as being the earliest specimens of Anglo-Norman remaining, and explanatory of all the symbolical signs in early sculpture and painting); the Bestiary of Phil-lippe de Thann, with a translation; Fragments on Popular Science from the Early English Metrical Livea of the Saints, (the earliest piece of the kind in the English Language.)

FRAGMENT OF ANGLO-SAXON GRAMMAR, ÆLFRIC'S L Ælfric's Glossary, and a Poem on the Soul and Body of the XIIth Century, discovered among the Archives of Worcester Cathedral. By Sir THOMAS PHILLIPS, Bart. Fol., PRIVATELY PRINTED, sewed. 1s. 6d.

SKELTON'S (John, Poet Laureat to Henry VIII) Poetical Works : the Bowge of Court, Colin Clout, Why come ye not to Court? (his celebrated Satire on Wolsey), Phillip Sparrow, Elinour Runming, &c. ; with Notes and Life. By the Rev. A. DYCE. 2 vols, 8vo, cloth. 14s. (original price £1. 12s.)

"The power, the strangeness, the volubility of his lan-guage, the audacity of his satire, and the perfect origin-ality of his manner, made Skelton one of the most extra-ordinary writers of any age or country".-Southey. "Skelton is a curious, able, and remarkable writer, with strong seuse, a vein of humour, and some ima-gination; he had a wonderful command of the Enclish language, and one who was styled, in his turn, by as great a scholar as ever lived (Erasmus), 'the light and ornament of Britain.' He indulged very freely in his writings in censures on monks and Dominicans; and, moreover, had the hurdihood to reflect, in no very mild terms, on the manners and life of Cardinal Wolsey. We cannot help considering Skeiton as an ornament of his own time, and a benefactor to those who core after him."

SEMI-SAXON .- The Departing Soul's Address to the Body, a Fragment of a Semi-Saxon Poem, discovered amoung the Archives of Worcester Cathedral, by Sir THOMAS PHILLIPPS, Bart., with an English Translation by S. W. SINGER. 870, only 100 PRIVATELY PRINTED. 2s.

ICTIONARY OF ARCHAIC AND PROVINCIAL WORDS. Obsolete Phrases, Proverbs, and Ancient Customs, from the Reign of Edward I. By JAMES OECHAED HALLIWELL, F.R.S., F.S.A., &c. 2 vols, 8vo, containing upwards of 1000 pages, closely printed in double columns, cloth, a new and cheaper edition. £1. 1s.

It contains above 50,000 words (embodying all the known scattered glossaries of the English language), forming a complete key for the reader of our old Poets, Dramatists, Theologians, and other authors, whose works abound with allusions, of which explanations are not to be found in ordinary Dictionaries and books of reference. Most of the principal Archaisms are indoxs of reference. Most of the principal Archaisms are il-lustrated by examples selected from early inedited MSS. and rare books, and by far the greater portion will be found to be original authorities.

Provincial Dialects of England.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL LIST of all the Works which have been published towards illustrating the Provincial Dielects of England. By JOHN RUSSELL SMITH. Post 8vo. 1s.

"Very serviceable to such as prosecute the study of our provincial dislects, or are collecting works on that curious subject. We very cordially recommend it to notice."-Metropolitan.

HALLIWELL'S HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE PRO-VINCIAL DIALECTS OF ENGLAND. Illustrated by numerous Examples, (extracted from the Introduction to the Dictionary of Archaic and Provincial Words.) 8vo. 2s. GLOSSARY OF PROVINCIAL AND LOCAL WORD: USED IN ENGLAND; by F. GEOSE, F.S.A.; with which is now incorporated the SUF-PLEMENT, by SAMUEL PEGGE, F.S.A. Post 8vo, cloth. 4s. 6d.

The utility of a Provincial Glossary to all persons desirous of understanding our ancient poets, is so universally acknowledged, that to enter into a proof of it would be entirely a work of supercrogation. Grose and Pegge are constantly referred to in Todd's "Johnson's Dictionary."

- CORNWALL.—Specimens of Cornish Provincial Dialect, collected and arranged by UNCLE JAN TREENCODLE, with some Introductory Remarks and a Glossary 1 an Antiquarian Friend, also a Selection of Songs and other Pieces connected with Cornwall. Archaeology.

A RCHÆOLOGICAL INDEX to Remains of Antiquity of the Celtic, Romano-British, and Anglo-Saxon Periods, by JOHN YONGE AKERMAN, Fellow and Secretary of the Society of Antiquaries. 8vo, illustrated with numerous engravings, comprising upwards of five hundred objects, cloth. 15s.

This work, though intended as an introduction and a guide to the study of our early antiquities, will, it is hoped, also prove of service as a book of reference to the practized Archaeologist. The contents are as follows :

PART I. CELTIC PERIOD. — Tumuli, or Barrows and Cairns—Cronelechs—Sepulchral Caves—Rocking Stones—Stone Circles, &c. &c. — Objects discovered in Celtic Sepulchres — Urns— Beads—Weapons—Implements, &

PART II. ROMANO-BRITISH FERIOD.—Iumun or the Romano-British Period.—Burial places of the Ro-mans — Favements — Camps — Villas — Sepulchral Monuments—Sepulchral Inscriptions — Dedicatory In-scriptions — Commemorative Inscriptions — Altars — Urns — Glass Vessels — Fibulæ — Armillæ — Coins— Coin-moulds, &c. &c. PART III. ANGLO-SAXON PERIOD.—Tumuli —De-teiled Life of Objects discovered in Anglo-Saxon Bar-PART II. ROMANO-BRITISH PERIOD .- Tumuli of

rows-Urns-Swords-Spears-Knives-Umbones of Shields - Buckles - Fibulæ - Bullæ - Hair Pins -Beads, &c. &c. &c. The ITINERABY Of ANTONINUS (as far as relates to The ITINERABY OF ANTONINUS (as far as relates to Britain). The Geographical Tables of PTOLEMY, the NOTITIA, and the ITINERABY OF RICHAED OF CIBEN-CESTER, together with a classified Index of the con-tents of the ABCHEOLOGIA (Vols. i to xxxi) are given in an Appendix.

"One of the first wants of an incipient Antiquary, is the facility of comparison, and here it is furnished him at one glance. The plates, indeed, form the most valuable part of the book, both by their number and the judicious selection of types and examples which they contain. It is a book which we can, on this account, safely and warmly recommend to all who are interested in the antiquities of their native land."-Literary Gazette.

"Following the impulse of a fresh interest in remains "Following the impulse of a fresh interest in remains of the Roman age, recently excited amongst English Archaeologists, Mr. Bruce has now supplied a desidera-tum in Antiquarian literature, by producing a Treatise, in which he has happily combined nuch of the in-formation gathered by previous writers, with a mass of original and personal observations."-Journal of the Archaeological Institute, Vol vili, p. 105. "The Roman Wall is a very elaborate and pains-taking work, on one of the most interesting of British antiquities. Mr. Bruce is a man of learning, whether as regards Roman history, in connection with Britain, or the works of Archæologists upon our Roman re mains, especially those which relate to his immediate subject."—Spectator.

"In taking leave of Mr. Bruce's work, we may express a hope that our brief notice of some of its attractions may promote its circulation. The author's style ren-ders it highly readable, the facts he has collected will mske it useful for reference, and its portability, and the clear arrangement of the subject-matter, should introduce it as a companion to all who may desire to study fully one of the noblest monuments of our country."-Gentleman's Magazins.

"Mr. Akerman's volume contains a notice of every known variety, with copious illustrations, and is published at a very moderate price; it should be consulted, not merely for these particular coins, but also for facts most valuable to all who are interested in the Romano-British History."—Archaelogical Journal.

NUMISMATIC ILLUSTRATIONS of the Narrative Portions of the NEW TESTAMENT. By J. Y. AKERMAN. Svo, numerous woodcuts from the original coins in various public and private collections, cloth. 5s.

"Archæology is under a peculiar obligation to Mr. Akerman. To him more than to any other living man, is due the praise of having converted multitudes to the love of antiquarian research. To him we allowe the pleasant debt of an instructive acquaintance, not only with the beautiful money of Ancient Greece and Rome, but with the once barbarous, though not less interesting, coins of our carliest history. And to him now especially, the cause of religion can bring its tribute of commendation for light thrown upon Holy Writ, through the medium of "the unrighteous Mammon." The New Testament has, it appears, in the compass of the Gospels and Acts, no leas than 33 allusions to the coinage of Greece, Rome, and Judica; and these beautifully engraved, and learnedly described, give Mr. Akerman an opportunity of serving the good cause of truth in the way of his peculiar avocation."—Church of England Journal.

"The neighbourhood of Banbury is equally rich in British, Roman, Saxon, Norman, and English Antiquities, of all which Mr. Beesley has given regularly Cleared accounts. Banbury holds an important place in the history of the Parliamentary War of the Seventeenth Century, and was the scene of the great Battle of Edgehill, and of the important fight of Cropredy Bridge. Relating to the secuts of that period, the author has collected a great body of local information of the most interesting kind. By no means the least valuable part of Mr. Beesley's work, is his account of the numerous interesting carly churches, which characterize the Banbury district."—The Archeo-Logist.

CURIOSITIES OF HERALDRY, with Illustrations from Old English Writers. By MARK ANTONY LOWER, M.A., Author of "Essays on English Surnames;" with illuminated Title-page, and numerous engravings from designs by the Author. 8vo, cloth. 14s.

"The present volume is truly a worthy sequel (to the '9URNAMES') in the same curious and untiquarian line, blendning with remarkable facts and intelligence, such a fund of amusing anecdote and llustration, that the reader is almost surprised to find that he has learned so much, whils he appeared to be pursuing mere entertainment. The text is so pleasing that we scarcely dream of its sterling value; and it seems as if, in unison with the woodcuts, which so cleverly explain its points and adorn its various topics, the whole design were intended for a relaxation from study, rather than an ample exposition of an extraordinary and universal custom, which produced the most important effect upon the minds and habits of mankind."—Literary Gazette.

"Mr. Lower's work is both curious and instructive, while the maximer of its treatment is so inviting and popular, that the subject to which it refers, which many have hitherto had too good reason to consider meagre and unprofitable, assumes, under the hands of the writer, the novelty of fielion with the importance of historical truth."—Athenaum.

PEDIGREES OF THE NOBILITY AND GENTRY OF HERT-FORDSHIRE. By WILLIAM BERRY, late, and for fifteen years, Registering Clerk in the College of Arms, author of the "Encyclopædia Heraldica," &c. &c. Folio, (only 125 printed.) £1. 5s. (original price £3. 10s.)

GENEALOGICAL AND HERALDIC HISTORY OF THE EXTINCT AND DORMANT BARONETCIES of England, Ireland, and Scotland. By J. BURKE, Esq. Medium 8vo, SECOND EDITION, 638 closely printed pages, in double columns, with about 1000 arms engraved on wood, fine portrait of JAMES I, and illuminated title-page, cloth. 10s. (original price £1. Ss.)

This work engaged the attention of the author for several years, comprises nearly a thousand families, many of them amongst the most ancient and eminent in the kingdom, each carried down to its representative or representatives still existing, with elaborate and minute details of the alliances, achievements, and fortunes; generation after generation, from the curliest to the latest period.

EVENCIENT SURNAMES. An Essay on Family Nomenclature, Historical, Etymological, and Humorous; with several illustrative Appendices. By MARK ANTONY LOWEE, M.A. 2 vols., post 8vo, THIRD EDITION, ENLARGED, woodcuts, cloth. 12s.

This new and much improved Edition, besides a great enlargement of the Chapters, contained in the previous editions, comprises several that are entirely new, together with Notes on Scottish, Irish, and Norman Surnames. The "Additional Prolusions," besides the articles on Rebuses, Allusive Arms, and the Roll of Battel Abbey, contain dissertations on Inn signs, and Remarks on Christian Names, with a copious INDEX of many thousand Names. These features render "English Surnames" rather a new work than a new edition.

"A curious, ingenious, and amusing book, Mr. Lower brings considerable knowledge to bear, both in his general history of the use of Surnames in England, INDEX TO THE PEDIGREES AND ARMS contained in the Heralds' Visitations and other Genealogical Manuscripts in the British Museum. By R. SIMS, of the Manuscript Department. 8vo, closely printed in double columns, cloth. 15s.

An indispensable work to those engaged in Generlogical and Topographical pursuits, affording a ready clue to the Fedigrees and Arms of nearly 40,000 of the Gentry of England, their Residences, &c. (distinguishing the different families of the same name in any county), as recorded by the Heralds in their Visitations between the years 1528 to 1686.

"This work will be very acceptable to all who have occasion to examine the MSS. alluded to, whether for and in his chapters on the different ways in which particular classes of names have originated from names of places.occupations, digmities, offices, personal and mental qualities, &c."—Spectator.

"Mr. Lower has gone to work in the true spirit of antiquarian discovery, and a most amusing and instructive book he has produced."—Brighton Herald.

"A curious work, and got up, moreover, with that commendable attention to paper and typography which is certain to make a book 'tak the eye.'..... Mr. Lower has been ' at a great feast of languages, and has stolen more than the 'scraps.' He both instructs and entertains."—John Bull.

PLAYING CARDS .- Facts and Speculations on the History of Playing Cards in L Europe. By W. A. CHATTO, author of the "History of Wood Engraving," with Illustrations by J. JACKSON. 8vo, profusely illustrated with engravings, both plain and coloured, cloth. £1. 1s.

"The inquiry into the origin and signification of the suits and their marks, and the heraldic, theological, and political emblems pictured from time to time, in their changes, opens a new field of antiquarian interest; and the perseverance with which Mr. Chatto has ex-plored it leaves little to be gleaned by his successors. The plates with which the volume is enriched add con-siderably to its value in this point of view. It is not to be denied that, take it altogether, it contains more matter than has ever before been collected in one view upon the same subject. In spite of its faults, it is exceedingly amusing; and the most critical rea-der cannot fail to be entertained by the variety of curious outlying learning Mr. Chatto has somehow contrived to draw into the investigations."—Atlas. "Illustrations ! and here they are; clever pictures, which the three-year olds understand before their A, B, C, and which the fifty-three-year olds like almost as well as the threes."—Literary Gazette. "We are pursuaded that the very rudget of these inclusted and threes passes astrong imagination lingles, tales, and rhymes, possess a strong imagination nourishing power; and that in infancy and early childhood a sprinkling of ancient nursery lore is worth whole cartloads of the wise saws and modern instances which are now as duly and carefully concocted by ex-perienced littérateurs, into instructive tales for the spelling public, as are works of entertaimment for the reading public. The work is worthy of the attention of the popular antiquary."—Tait's Mag.

ETTERS OF THE KINGS OF ENGLAND, now first collected from the originals in Royal Archives, and from other authentic sources, private as well as public. Edited with Historical Introduction and Notes, by J. O. HALLIWELL. Two HANDSOME VOLUMES, post 8vo, with portraits of Henry VIII and Charles I, cloth. 8s. (original price £1 1s.)

These volumes form a good companion to Ellis's Original Letters.

Original Letters. The collection comprises for the first time the love letters of Henry the VIII. to Anne Boleyn in a com-plete form, which may be regarded perhaps as the most singular documents of the kind that have de-scended to our times; the scries of letters of Ed-ward VI will be found very interesting specimens of composition; some of the letters of James I, hitherto unpublished, throw light on the murdler of Overbury, and prove beyond a doubt the King was implicated in it in some extraordinary and unpleasant way: but his letters to the Duke of Buckingham are of the most singular nature; only imagine a letter from a so vereign to his prime minister commencing thus; "My own sweet and dear child, blessing, blessing, blessing on thy heart-roots and all thine." Prince Charles and whe Duke of Buckingham's Journey into Spain har never been before so fully illustrated as it is by th decomments given in this work, which also includes the documents given in this work, which also it is by the very curious letters from the Duke and Duchesse of Buckingham to Janues I. Forming an essential com-panion to every History of England.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO LITERATURE HISTORICAL, AN-TIQUARIAN, and METRICAL. BY MARK ANTONY LOWER, M.A., F.S.A., Anthor of "Essays on English Surnames," "Curiosities of Heraldry," &c. Post 8vo, woodcuts, cloth. 7s 6d

CONTENTS.

- 1 On Local Nomenclature.
- 2 On the Battle of Hastings, an Historical Essay.
- 3 The Lord Dacre, his mournful end; a Ballad.
- 4 Historical and Archæological Memoir on the Iron Works of the South of England, with numerous illustrations.
- 5 Winchelsea's Deliverance, or the Stout Abbot of Battayle ; in Three Fyttes.
- 6 The South Downs, a Sketch; Historical, Anecdotical, and Descriptive.
- 7 On Yew Trees in Church-yards.
- 8 A Lyttel Geste of a Greate Eele ; a pleasaunt Ballade.
- 9 A Discourse of Genealogy.
- 10 An Antiquarian Pilgrimage in Normandy, with woodcuts.
- 11 Miscellanea, &c. &c. &c.

There is a good deal of quaint and pleasing reading in this volume. Mr. Lower's jokes are of the oldest—as befits the pleasantries of an antiquary,—but, on the whole, we seldom meet with more readable antiquarian cssays than these. Most of them have been printed elsewhere. One, on the South Downs, contains the best of the new matter. The author is at home on the wide expanse of these chalk ranges. He speaks with knowledge of the picturesque villages enclosed in their secluded nooks,—of the folk-lore and legends of old days which still abound amongst the sequestered inhabitants, and of the historical associations which render celebrated many spots otherwise of little interest.— Althenem.

torical value, in addition to their local interest in connexion with the topography and archeology of Sussex. Among the papers now printed for the first time that on the South Downs is the most important, and will be read with much interest, both for the information it contains and the pleasing style in which it is written. There are some charming descriptions of scenery, and acceptable notices of the history, traditions, and customs of the district. Among the minor contributions in the volume, the paper on Local Nomenclature is full of valuable suggestions. Altogether it is a volume of very agreeable and instructive reading.—Lit. Gaz.

It will be found a very useful work to every literary person or public institution in all parts of the world.

What Mr. Antonio Panizzi, the kceper of the department of printed books, says might be done. Mr. Richard Sims, of the department of the manu-Scripts, says shall be done. His Hand-book to the Library of the British Museum is a very comprehensive and instructive volume. I have the sixtieth edition of "Synopsis of the Contents of the British Museum" helore me—I cannot expect to see a sixtieth edition of the Hand-book, but it deserves to be placed by the side of the Synopsis, and I venture to predict for it a wide circulation.—Mr. Boltom Corney, in Notes and Queries, No. 213.

Mr. Dycc's Notes are peculiarly delightful, from the stores of illustration with which his extensive reading not only among our writers, but among those of other countries, especially of the Italian poets, has evabled him to enrich them. All that he has recorded is valuable. We read his little volume with pleasure and close it with regret.—Literary Gasetle.

BRITANNIC RESEARCHES: or, New Facts and Rectifications of Ancient British History. By the Rev. BEALE POSTE, M.A. 8vo, (pp. 448) with engravings, cloth. 15s

The author of this volume may justly claim credit for considerable learning, great industry, and, above all, strong faith in the interest and importance of his subject. . . On various points he has given us additional information and afforded us new views, for which we are bound to thank him. The body of the book is followed by a thank him. The body of the book is followed by a very complete index, so as to render reference to any part of it easy: this was the more necessary on account of the multifariousness of the topics treated, the variety of persons mentioned, and the many works quoted.—Athenacum, Oct. 8, 1853. The Rev. Beale Poste has long been known to antiquaries as one of the best read of all those who have elucidated the carliest annals of this country. He is a practical man has invasively for himself

He is a practical man, has investigated for himself monuments and manuscripts, and we have in the above-named volume the fruits of many years' patient study. The objects which will occupy the attention of the render are—1. The political position of the principal British powers before the Roman conquest—nuder the Roman dominion, and strug-gling unsuccessfully against the Anglo-Saxon race; 2. The geography of Ancient British Historians, Gildas out Neuriss and the more obscure Bi 'tish chroni-sed Neuriss and the more obscure Bi 'tish chroniand Nennius, and the more obscure Bultish chroniand Nemnus, and the more obscure Di-Lish chroni-clers; 4. The ancient stone monuments of the Celtio period; and, lastly, some curious and interesting notices of the carly British church. Mr. Poste has not tonched on subjects which havo received much attention from others, save in cases where he had something new to offer, and the volume must be regarded, therefore, as an entirely new collection of discoveries and deductions, trading to throw light discoveries and deductions tending to throw light on the darkest as well as the earliest portion of our national history .- Atlas.

ANECDOTA LITEBARIA.-The Child of Bristow, & Metrical Legend. Now first printed.

The title of this Review explains its objects. It is intended to supply a place unfilled in our periodi-cal literature, and this first number is very satiscal literature, and this inst number is very satis-factory. The papers are varied and interesting, not overlaid by the display of too much learning for the general reader, but showing sufficient research and industry on the part of the writers to distinguish the articles from mere ephemeral reviews of passing publications. In the prospectus the editor says It is our design to select, from the wast field of the the article at a shift a shift are which are must likely literature of the past, subjects which are most likely to interest modern readers; we shall lay before them from time to time, essays on various branches of the literature of former days, English or foreign; we shall give accounts of rare and curious books; We shall give accounts of rare and curious pooks; point out and bring forwardbeauties from forgotten authors; and tell the knowledge and opinions of other days." The design is well carried out in this number, and will, no doubt, be further developed as the work advances. It is to be published quarterly, at a very moderate price, and will, we have no doubt, prove a successful undertaking.—Atlas.

REMAINS OF PAGAN SAXONDOM, principally from Tumuli in England. Drawn from the Originals. Described and Illustrated by JOHN YONGE AKERMAN, Fellow and Secretary of the Society of Antiquaries. 4to, parts 1 to 9. 2s 6d each (Pt. 10 in the press)

The plates are admirably executed by Mr. Basire, and coloured under the direction of the Author. It is a work well worthy the notice of the Archæologist.

WILTSHIRE TALES, illustrative of the Manners, Customs, and Dialect of that and Adjoining Counties. By JOHN YONGE AKERMAN. 12mo, cloth. 2:66

We will conclude with a simple, but hearty re-commendation of a little book which is as humour-ous, for the drollerics of the stories, as it is in-tercesting as a picture of rustic manners.—Tallis's Weekly Paper. Mr. Akerman's WILT: HIRE TALES embody most of the provincialisms peculiar to this county and the districts of other counties lying on its porthern borders end nearest the additional recomnorthern borders, and posseas the additional recommendation of preserving the old songs (and the airs mendation of preserving the out songe take the hard to which they are sung), which are still to be heard at most harvest homes and other merry makings,— which they are supported to be the still to any measure of the still to a at most harvest nomes and other merry makings, the well-known "Here's a health to our meester," and a "A pie upon the pear tree top" among the rest. Both to the philologist, therefore, and to the general reader, the book is an interesting one.— Salisbury and Winchester Journal.

CHRISTMASTIDE, its History, Festivities, and Carols. By WILLIAM SANDYS, Esq., F.S.A., in one handsome vol. 8vo, ILLUSTRATED WITH 20 ENGRAVINGS AFTER THE DESIGNS OF J. STEPHANOFF, cloth. 14s

Its title vouches that Christmastide is germone to the time. Mr. Sandys has brought together, in an octavo of some 800 pages, a great deal of often interesting information, beyond the stale gossip about "Christmas in the olden time," and the threadbare make-believes of jollity and geniality which furnish forth most books on the subject. His carols too, which include some in old French and Provengal, are selected from numerous sources, and comprise many of the less known, and more worth knowing. His materials are presented with good feeling and mastery of his theme, and for excellent taste and appropriateness in binding, without extreme costliness, the book is a model. On the whole, the volume deserves, and should anticipate, a welcome.—Spectator.

A description of remains discovered in the rites of ancient cities and temples in Peru, those objects which arrested the attention and excited the wonder of the philosophic Humboldt, when investigating the physical features of that remarkable country. The illustrative plates, executed at Vienna, from the drawings of the Artist, are among the marvels of lithography. They comprise representations of mummified bodies, prepared in the manner peculiar to the Peruvians, vases of gro
