Large crowds surrounded the car barns at Turk and Fillmore streets where 100 strike breakers are lodged. Beyond hootand inadequate telephone service, business is generally handicapped.

A committee from the civic league of San Francisco yesterday called on Henry T. Scott, president of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company; President Calhoun of the United Railways and President Cornelius, of the Carmen's Union and requested them in the interests strike breakers are lodged. Beyond hooting and jeering no overt act was attempted. Heavy shutters and iron screens were placed at the windows of all the barns and car houses. At the car barn at Hays and Central Avenue, where is situated the company's principal commissary, intense activity prevailed to prepare for the housing and feeding of a large number of strike breakers.

prises, and that when this movement had reached a certain point reaction was almost inevitable. Miscalculations in adapting the supply of certain classes of goods to the demand for them were taking place almost daily, but only when there was a combination of such tendencies in one direction was a general tendency established having a wide sweep.

The recent suspension of improvements by the railways might, the speaker thought, tend to reduce the demand for certain classes of material and this would react upon the damand for labor and for the consumable goods which these laborers bought. This would establish a tendency towards relaxation in business activity, but it might not go very far.

Is the world over, and that the centries up the world over, and that the centres of production may, in time to come, be found in countries that are now quite undistinguished in industrial annals, and which may, perhaps, pass beyond our control entirely. Yet every objection is subordinate to the utilitarian idea that America, owing to its abundant and comparatively virgin resources, will sooner or later become an important seller of coal to the older European countries, which are becoming rapidly impoverished, since with the growing shrinkage, their remaining store cannot keep pace with the rising demand for very long."

ers bought. This would establish a tendency towards relaxation in business activity, but it might not go very far.

One of the reasons for the recent high rates for money and for the difficulty which the railways experienced in borrowing, except at high rates, was due to the fact that savings had been converted too rapidly into fixed capital.

Present conditions do not indicate a serious crisis or a long period of depression. A brief period of relaxation in floating securities and creating new enterprises is likely to afford time for sufficient capital to accumulate to meet new demands. The occurry is fortunate at the present time in suffering from no great misapplication of capital. It is necessary, however, that the "undigested securities," in the classic phrase of Mr. Morgan, should be absorbed and new capital created to meet somethed and new capital created to meet towards relaxation in floating street somethed and new capital created to meet a completion of capital created to meet new demands. What struck responsible people as being an unnecessary amount of furore was caused by an advance of 7 points yesterday forenoon in Union Pacific preferred. The conclusion was immediately jumped to by the Street that the stories of a new holding company must be true, and as it has been given out that the preferred would rate equally with the common in any scheme of this kind, 96 was regarded any scheme of this kind, 96 was regarded as a low price for the stock. Perhaps it was more rational to attribute the rise to that same manipulation which has been so busy in the common stock. Only 17,000 shares of preferred changed hands on the rise, so that even had these sales not been 'washed' the cost would not have been heavy. Such deductions may be unjust, but Union Pacific's past movements have taught market followers to be extremely suspicious. The stock has earned its present reputation. reputation.

The Alian liner Sardinian bound for Quebec and Montreal with 550 passengers, was stopped by ice in the Guif of St. Lawrence and had to land her passengers at Halifax. Saturday's Halifax Chronicle says: At 4.40 a. m. on Thursday a large field of ice was sighted to the north in Cabot Strait which extended right across the Strait blocking it completely. As far as the eye could see there was nothing but ice fields. The ship steamed along the edge for several miles, but could not find an opening and decided to head up for Halifax. On the way here, off Scattarie, heavy field ice was again met with. While trying to find an opening in the ice the Sardinian saw a four-masted Dominion liner supposed to be the Vancouver, and a Thompson liner in the ice, also the Allan liner Ontarian on the outer edge.

The public playgrounds committee of the city council met yesterday afternoon. It was decided to recommend to the council that 8 1-2 acres of city property on the Red river near St. Mary's cemetery be set aside for public recreation grounds. This property was purchased by the city some years ago as a site for a quarantine hospital which has since been built at Brookside cemetery.

A motion also went through to set aside the exhibition grounds as public play-grounds when not in use for exhibition two hundred dollars in Montreal last week by the secretary's friends however that the daffair was over it was "every fellow for himself;" and the foreigners, notwithstanding their monocles and spats and fine raiment, were obliged to struggle with the mob for sandwiches and root beer. There were no carriages to take them back to the wharf and that walk of a couple of miles under the hot sun will probably be their most enduring memory of the United States. It was dusty and it was hot and gold lace is heavy, but even their troubles were not ended. The president, in order to offer some solace to the most distinguished officers to a dinner at the White House Tuesday night. They were to arrive on the Norfolk and Washington steamer about noon Tuesday, but the boat struck on a mud bank in the Potomac during a heavy fog and the officers did not arrive at the dock until six thirty and the international dinner at that, is a solemn rite that takes time and a condition of the work for eight. They performed hasty toilets and did finally got to the White House, buit it is doubtful if their nerves have yet recovered from the strain. Wednesday they were also out of luck, but this time it was the agitation is on the part of his friends and it is probable that they will have all of the work too. Early in the autumn he will leave for the Philippines and it is said by those who know him that he goes even more cheerfully than usual. His big heart has always been with his little Filipino brothers and he is glad of a chance to go back to them and leave all things political behind.

NEW CHURCH DUKEDOM FOR STRATHCONA

under the superintendence of W. J. Fishcr, of Eastport.

The cable landing at Eastport will probably be near R. C. Green & Co's property at the south end of the island.
Starting there it will be carried to Deer Point, Campobello, from thence across to Liberty Cove and from there to Grand Manan, land at the Whistle, North Head.
There will be three stations at Grand Manan, viz: Flagg's Cove, Woodward's Cove and Grand Harbor. The cable will also be carried to the lighthouse at the Southern Head, known to visitors of the island as the "Southern Cross."

Welchpool and Eastport will also have stations and after the completion by the Dominion government of this expensive necessity, the Grand Mananers can but feel under obligations to the present ad ministration and to those who were in strumental in carrying out so extensive an improvement and convenience. We learn that Hon. John Tilton of Ottawa, son-in-law of D. I. Odell, of this place, was an active and influential friend in securing the appropriation.
