COMMON COUNCIL. At the monthly meeting of the Common Council held yesterday afternoon the total assessment of $41,106.48 was agreed upon, which, taking into account the amount to be assessed by the municipality, will bring the tax rate for this year up to approximately $1.38, an increase of twelve cents over that of last year. The matter of the proposed amendments to the Assessment Act was laid over for discussion by the council in general committee. The proposal of secure legislation empowering the city to increase its daily water supply from Loch Lomond was approved. Sewerage maintenance, it was decided, would be made a charge upon general assessment. Formerly, and the grants to public institutions lopped off by fifty per cent. at the last meeting of the Treasury Board were adopted as read. The reform committee brought in a report containing several recommendations. They were summarily disposed with, however, save one which provides that the civic board of assessors add also to their duties that of assessing for water rates.

ROYALTY TEACHES LESSONS ON TASTE

German Empress and Her Family Give Object Courses to Hausfrau of Fatherland.

BERLIN, March 29.—The women of Berlin have just completed and royal auspices, a "course in good taste." For their benefit there has been held in Hohenzollern House, the headquarters of the Kaiser's Oudnen pottery works, an elaborate exhibition, which has enjoyed the patronage of the empress and the crown princess and the wives of Prince Eitel Friedrich and Prince August Wilhelm. Thousands of women desirous of instruction in what constitutes "good form" have thronged the exhibition for six weeks. The promoters believe it is destined to be a landmark in German women's struggle for emancipation from the status of mere frugal housewives. Luxury, however, was the keynote of the exhibition. In order to give object lessons in the proper adornment of the home and person, the Kaiserin, the princesses and scores of social leaders contributed liberally from their own drawing rooms, boudoirs and wardrobes. Ornaments, furniture, jewels, gowns, hats, boots, furs and linen were shown in bewildering profusion. The crown princess, to whom is given the chief credit for the renaissance of fashion among German women, sent a number of Parisian costumes. One of her emeralds, a pair of earrings, valued at $500, attracted special attention. Frau von Bleichroeder exhibited a diadem of diamonds and a peckle of pearls worth $250,000. Model boudoirs and bedrooms were transported from fashionable homes. One well-known lady permitted a detailed reproduction of her black and white marble Roman bathroom, with mirrored walls and soft electric lights. Another showed her dog's wardrobe, silver-lacquered, with a pair of silver-lacquered kerchiefs being part of the canine equipment. The court beauties exhibited dancing shoes with diamond, pearl and emerald garnitures on the ankle or instep. Paris and Vienna costumes were among the novelties. The German styles predominated. Unconscionable tributes to the litter fell from the lips of the aristocratic women for foreign importations. The exhibition is said to have proved that German women are not so ignorant abroad for "style" or costumes. Male visitors came to the conclusion that "good form" is not a matter of taste, but of money.

DOYLESTOWN DOCTOR TRACES CHINA'S WALL

Explorer Finds 200 Miles of Great Barrier Hitherto Unmapped.

LONDON, March 29.—Dr. William E. Gell, of Doylestown, Pa., has arrived here after an expedition in China, the main feature of which was tracing the Great Wall for 1800 miles from the coast of Shanhaikuan to Kiyakuin, on the northern border of Tibet. He discovered about 200 miles of the wall that has not hitherto been mapped. There was little of the masonry remaining. His investigations convinced him that there were at least ten great walls, apart from the famous one. He was able to confirm reports of the existence of a race of Chinese pigmies, wild creatures, covered with hair, whose ancestors were, according to tradition, driven off to the mountains in the north when the wall was built. The descendants have dwelt in the same mountains for twenty centuries. Dr. Gell was amazed to find indications that the westernization of China is spreading to the remotest parts of the country, especially among the nomadic carrying out of men drilling a far away villages. Sometimes there were only a dozen, but at some points they were in some systems. He people themselves seemed unaware of what they were doing it for, but Dr. Gell thinks it would be well to prepare secretly an "army" trained army.

DIED IN COLORADO.

A Grand Junction, Colorado, paper of recent date, says: At an early hour this morning Mrs. Rachel Scott, Currie died at the home of her son, Mr. Geo. Currie. Mrs. Currie was one of the oldest women of this city, being 83 years of age, and had a large circle of friends and acquaintances here. She was born February 8, 1828, in the city of St. John, in the province of New Brunswick, Canada. On the 13th day of May, 1842, she was married to George Wellington Currie of the same province. Their wedded life lasted nearly half a century, until the death of Mr. Currie. During this time twelve children were born to them, of whom six are now living. The surviving sons and daughters are: Miss Adelaide Currie, Mrs. George A. Currie and Mr. Robert R. Currie of this city; Mrs. Colla E. Frost of Hampton, New Brunswick; Mr. Humphrey Gilbert Currie of New York City, and Mr. Arthur Wellington Currie of Denver, Colorado. Six years ago Mrs. Currie, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Currie, came to this city to make her home with her son, Mr. George A. Currie. Her death this morning occurred on the anniversary of her arrival here.

STARVED WITH $15,000.

Aged Couple Prefer Death to Spending Their Money.

BRUSSELS, March 29.—An aged couple named Lefevre, living at Ghent, have died from starvation, although they possessed $15,000 in cash. They lived in a squalid apartment, and were known to be misers. As the neighbors had not seen either husband or wife for several days, the police broke into their rooms today. The police found the couple lying on an old mattress. Both were terribly emaciated and had been dead for several days. There was not a scrap of food in the place, and but very little clothing. Under the mattress the police found $15,000 in Belgian banknotes and gold.

GOAT CAUSES SENSATION.

Sweden Perturbed by Colored Garment Worn by the King.

STOCKHOLM, March 29.—At a ball given recently by the king at Stockholm Castle the ladies appeared with powdered hair and the gentlemen in colored dress coats. The "sensation" as certain Swedish call it, of the display has called forth a protest from the Svenska Margenbladet. The wearing of colored dress coats, says the Journal, has made a most unpleasant impression upon the less well-to-do classes. Dress coats, if worn at all, should at least be black. Colored dress coats, it declares, are the invention of the devil. Both leaders of parliament, too, the Journal adds, are much disturbed by the king donning so gorgeous a garment, and questions to ministers on the subject are expected.

FEARFUL DISASTER IN THE NORTH SEA

Eleven Were Lost When German Bark Sunk.

Struck by Steamer and Went Down—Captain's Pathetic Appeal to Save His Baby—His Wife Also Lost.

LONDON, March 29.—With the arrival of the steamer Iris at Lowestoft last Monday with six of the crew of the German barque Margaretha a pathetic story of the sea was disclosed. The Margaretha was sunk in collision with the steamer on the night of March 13, in the North Sea. The crew of the barque were all lost, and with her were the skipper, Captain Wohler, and his wife and two-year-old child. All told, there were twenty-six souls on board the ill-fated barque—an iron vessel of 2000 tons, from Lubeck, South America to Hamburg, with a cargo of saltpeper. From statements by the survivors of Lowestoft—all Germans, knowing little or no English—it appears that when about seventy miles from Lowestoft, at 8:20 p. m., during a calm, in fine, clear, weather, and while the crew were squaring the yards, the lights of the Norwegian steamer, the Hobebska, were seen approaching. Owing to the calm and the squaring of the yards the barque was helpless. The Mascoit rebounded, and then struck the barque a second blow. Water rushed in through the gaping hole in the barque's side, and she began to settle down rapidly. One of her lifeboats was launched as quickly as possible, but it was rather a neglected work, as in the absence of davits, the boat had to be stung out on tackle from the yards. It was being no other tackle long enough from the yards, other boats could not be launched. The Hobebska's stem was damaged in the scramble, and she became half-filled with water by the time the nine men got into her. The rest of the crew huddled together on the poop. Although terribly hampered, the men and the survivors, did what they could to save the captain's wife and child, but that was impossible, as they had to get away from the vessel to avoid being drawn down with her.

BATHS AS DUSTBINS OR FILLED WITH SOIL

Economist Tells How French Workmen Use Model Dwellings Built for Them.

PARIS, March 29.—Considerable interest has been aroused here among economists and public men by the Board of Trade's report on the comparative cost of living in England and in France. One well-known writer said today that, while most French economists are in agreement with the board's conclusions, he himself began to differ because he was certain that the French workman got far more satisfaction out of every halpenny he spent than did the English workman. For instance, the French workman's plate of haddock steaks was far more appetizing than that which would be the sausage and mashed or piece of cold mutton and mint sauce left over from Sunday with which the English workman was content. A French workman transplanted to England with a higher rate of wages and shorter hours of work would be infinitely less comfortable and less happy than he was in France, because English ways of living would not suit him. The higher death rate was due in a great part to the excessive drinking of the working classes in large French towns. It was also due to the dirty habits of the French working class. In this respect French working class education is much to be desired. At an institute in Paris, at Belleville, model flats, with every modern convenience, were specially built some years ago for working class families, some even being supplied with fixed baths. Before the flats had been inhabited for a few months they were in a filthy condition, and the tenants were not only filthy, but they were also very modern conveniences. SILK HAT DOOMED.

Export Says It Will be Seen in Museums Only Twenty Years Hence.

PARIS, March 29.—If Gold, the well-known Paris hatter, is to be believed, the tall hat is dead, and all efforts of the trade, both in London and Paris, to revive it cannot succeed. "Ten years ago," he says, "there were no fewer than 2000 experienced workmen engaged in Paris turning out tall silk hats, in addition there are not less than 150. "All the others, finding the demand for tall hats falling, have turned to other trades. In another twenty years the tall hat will be exhibited in museums as a curiosity. Nobody will ever venture to be seen in one. "It is a great pity, for the silk hat is really very pretty. It is the only elegant form of headgear for men, but people in this bustling age have no time to wear a silk hat, except in hours of idleness, and such hours are now few and far between. "London hatters, he is said, will succumb in again forcing a fashion in tall hats, but I don't believe it. A mortal crisis has overtaken the silk hat, and in a few years it will have disappeared forever."

WOMEN WANT MRS. CATT.

German Suffragettes Anxious to Hear Her on Women's Rights.

BERLIN, March 27.—Encouraged by the notoriety the "Votes for Women" movement has attained in England and America, the German suffragettes are preparing to begin a great campaign in Berlin on March 30. They have invited Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, President of the International Suffrage League, to come here from Hungary, where she is now conducting an agitation, and to address a public meeting, which shall be the opening gun of a "national crusade." A rousing welcome on her arrival at the railway station, and to conduct her in triumph to the great Architects' Hall where the meeting will be held. Two English suffragettes, fresh from the "suffragette" of imprisonment, have been holding meetings in Munich. A Berlin suffragette has petitioned the Prussian Diet to give women the vote in communal elections. In one of the great houses in the West End of London there was a dinner and reception. After a while the maid was called, and the mistress said: "Serve the dinner; there is no one else to come except a relation of little importance. Five minutes afterward the maid announced in a loud tone:—"The relation of little importance!"

YESTERDAY IN PARLIAMENT.

Britain is becoming an empire. To-day the claim of patriotic Imperialism is no hollow boast, but there is displayed to the world a chain of nations living, thinking and acting imperially and pledging to the grand old motherland their unwavering and unflinching devotion. In the past, similar protestations have been made, but on the most spectacular of these occasions, during the South African war, Canada merely permitted a few regiments of her sons to volunteer for the assistance of the empire. Yesterday history was made, when in the federal parliament the foremost men of this Dominion, casting aside all petty partisanship, united in a declaration as momentous as it is patriotic, and unhesitatingly pledged their country to a policy which brings it at once into the over-distributed of international politics. The discussion on Mr. Foster's motion, and Premier Laurier's amendment was of a nature befitting the occasion; there was displayed on both sides of the house that singleness of purpose which the question demanded. Diversity of opinion may exist, and does exist, as to the proper method of giving effect to the promise now made, but the all-important feature is that a solidly united Canada steps to the side of the mother country with the assurance of every possible support. The resolution passed yesterday was not a compliance with the demands of a few frenzied militarists; it was not forced from an unwilling parliament under the threat of a German scare; it was a deliberately considered measure in which was set forth Canada's determination to assume her share of the burden of defence borne for her in the past by the home-land. Other colonies have previously contributed to the imperial effort. We are the last to do so, but Canada's assistance will be of greater effect in solidifying the Empire than all the offers of Dreadnoughts from New Zealand, all the plans for a home fleet from Australia.

CASTRO COMING BACK.
Three months ago, when Cipriano Castro called for Europe, explaining that he was going for medical treatment, but that he would certainly return, the world laughed. European papers with one accord declared that if getting out of harm's way, and that having once left his country he would never come back. During his stay in France he was regarded by that nation as an undesirable person, as one who had by his own wrong done himself bad by his own position and had become unworthy of official recognition. His repeated statements that he was in poor health were not looked upon as exactly correct, although when he actually went to Germany for treatment after all, there was some little truth in what he said. Then came the exposure of the plot against Gomez, who had assumed the presidency, and the impeachment of Castro as a conspirator and an accomplice in the murder of Venezuela. He has been banished, but, strangely enough, this does not seem to have worried him to any great extent. To the amusement of Europe, he has continued, since his deposition, to insist that he is going back and now he is actually on the way. What will happen to Castro during the next few weeks is a matter of conjecture. He may have to leave the steamer before Venezuela is reached, or, if before Venezuela is reached, it may be readily believed that the deposed President will in a very few days land once again on his native soil. According to present announcements, the Gomez government will arrest him as an enemy to the Republic and will charge him with the crimes of conspiracy and murder. But there is a strong possibility that Gomez may change his mind—governments frequently do when they find themselves called upon to deal with strong men—for Castro is certainly one of the most astute and daring leaders of the age. His unusual ability has made him what he is today, the annoyance of Europe, but he certainly has the courage and possibly the ability to secure again the presidency for himself.

Paris newspapers, one hundred years ago, heralded Napoleon's departure from Elba with the tyrant has left his prison. This was followed by "the usurper has landed on the coast of France"; later came "the deposed ruler is marching on the capital," and finally "His Imperial Highness Napoleon entered Paris yesterday." Will Castro's personality dominate the flicker of Venezuela? Will his reception be as that of Napoleon, or will he be arrested on his march to the Republic and treated as an ordinary criminal? The chances are strongly in his favor.

WORKMAN TAKES SERIOUS ACCIDENT COOLLY
Hand Sliced to Pieces But He Walked Upstairs to Ask Permission Before Seeking Surgical Aid.

CHATEAU, N. B., March 29.—Alexandre Ross, while in McDonald's factory early yesterday afternoon met with an accident that threatened for a time the loss of his right hand. Just how the accident happened is not yet known, but he was finishing a run on the rippling saw when his hand came in contact with the swiftly moving blade. Two fingers were nicked off below the second joint, the middle finger smashed and the forepart of the index finger was sliced and the remaining portion was severed. The injured man went upstairs and notified Foreman Campbell before seeking surgical aid. Ross had been with the firm over twenty years.

KIDNAPPERS MAY SOON REGAIN THEIR LIBERTY
Boyle Badly Frightened by the Crows—Glad to Get Back to His Cell.

MERCER, Pa., March 29.—The preliminary hearing and safe returns to the Mercer jail of James H. Boyle and the rumor that his woman companion may entirely escape prosecution and regain their liberty, are the developments of the day in the White Kidnapping case.

No one but James Boyle had any fears for his safety today when he was taken to Sharon for arraignment but he was badly frightened. Quivering with fear and nervously begging the officers for protection he faced a crowd of hundreds of persons attracted merely by curiosity and is happier tonight in his cell than he has been since his arrest. Dreading the return to his home town, Boyle was very nervous last night and shot little. He was scarcely able to murmur the words waiving a hearing in the court-room, and almost collapsed at the station when 500 persons surrounded the patrol wagon where he was awaiting the arrival of the train for Mercer.

YORK LOAN SAVINGS CO. WILL DECLARE A DIVIDEND
But Not Until Next November—104,000 Claims Indexed But 10,000 Others Do Not Seem to Want Their Money Back.

TORONTO, March 29.—Ten thousand shareholders of the York Loan Savings Co. have not yet sent in their pass-books. Hardly a day goes by but belated claimants present their statements. On Saturday a woman in Toronto presented her book, which showed just five payments of 25 cents each.

"It will be November or later before we can declare a dividend," said A. Harrington this morning. "We have 104,000 claims indexed. Unless the remaining 10,000 bear up their books they will not share in the dividend."

CANADA'S MESSAGE OF LOYALTY AND SUPPORT TO MOTHER COUNTRY Dropping Politics, Party Leaders Unanimously Pledge Canada's Men and Money to the Empire

Laurier's Plan for Speedy Organization of Canadian Naval Force on Imperial Lines and Under Imperial Direction Heartily Endorsed Without Dissenting Voice

OTTAWA, March 23.—Through their representatives in parliament sent to the Mother Country and to the world today a unanimous message of imperial loyalty and the present announcement that the Dominion was ready to take her proper place in maintaining the inviolability and integrity of the Empire.

Mr. Foster's Resolution Mr. Foster's speech in moving the resolution was delivered with a due sense of responsibility. It was lofty in tone throughout, picturesquely phrased and broadly imperialis in spirit.

Laurier Speaks for Canada It was an occasion on which much was expected from the Prime Minister and he rose to it in a speech that was eloquent, dignified, firm and courageous.

Of what Avail They have taken over Esquimaux and Halifax, but of what avail would these be? Had they guns, torpedoes, mines or machinery to train crew?

Mr. Foster compared the example of other overseas dominions of the Empire in the matter of assistance to British naval defense with that of Canada. Cape Colony gave £50,000 per annum, Natal, £35,000, and New Zealand, £40,000, and Australia £200,000 for naval defense.

the bill, but it is as old as confederation itself, and it comes to the front periodically. It presented itself in a concrete form at the Imperial conference of 1902 to those who were there assembled from all parts of the British Empire conferring with the government of the mother country.

READ MEMORANDUM. Sir Wilfrid then read memorandum presented to the conference at that time declaring that Canada, while willing to advance mutual interests of the Empire in the matter of defense, was unwilling to adopt any proposal that would involve the relinquishing of the principle of colonial government.

Logical Conclusion The logical conclusion of argument, said Mr. Foster, was that more adequate defense was necessary, that this decision must leave out of consideration the Monroe doctrine, and that it must be worked out by Canada herself, working in co-operation with the other countries.

Denies Impeachment It may be said that though this was our policy we have not lived up to it. I deny the impeachment. We have done a great deal for defense, though not perhaps as much as we would have liked to have done.

Preserve Its Self-Respect With coast defense works and with an auxiliary fleet to work in cooperation with the Great British fleet, Canada would then be able to preserve its self-respect as an initial part of the national safety would be assured.

Laurier Follows. Sir Wilfrid Laurier—"With the eloquent and able observations with which the House has just been favored by the Honorable Mr. Foster very little more need be said by me."

Would Take Years. Taking up the question of the present naval situation in Europe, Sir Wilfrid said that even though Germany might be planning to cope successfully with Britain on the sea, it may take years before she could hope to rival the position of command obtained by England after centuries of progress.

I tried doctor's medicine but got no relief until my husband got me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and before I had finished it my cough was cured. My husband also used it when he had a cough. I would not be without it."

Facing Bankruptcy, Germans Must Keep on Piling up Armaments

LONDON, March 29.—By a strict party vote of 252 to 155, the house of commons tonight refused to express lack of confidence in the government's naval policy. The motion on which today's notable debate hinged was proposed by Arthur Hamilton Lee, Conservative member of the house.

The result of the vote on the question was expected, but the debate preceding it was one of the most important the house has listened to for years. The assembly of diplomats and party leaders testified to the importance of the domestic importance. The leaders of both sides spoke, in addition to several lesser lights.

The Socialist members of the Reichstag, and the British Laborites exchanged telegrams, pledging themselves to work for the reduction of armaments, and that when Germany had completed this programme she would have thirty-three Dreadnoughts, the most powerful fleet the world had ever seen.

LONDON, March 29.—The steamer Kaiserin Augusta Victoria which arrived at Plymouth yesterday reports that owing to fog and heavy rain she was compelled to navigate by dead reckoning for 2,000 miles. The Edystone Lighthouse was the first thing she sighted since March 23.

BRUTAL PARENT'S HORRIBLE CRIME

Beat His Four-Year-Old Child to Death—Quick Verdict of "Witful Murderer."

LONDON, March 29.—A child's death, alleged to have been caused by the brutality of his father, was investigated by the Belfast coroner on Monday. The child, aged four, was the daughter of a man named Justin, and evidence was given that she frequently complained of ill-treatment by her father.

One witness, named MacWilliams, said that the child told her that her father had thrown her on the fire. Both the child's eyes were blackened, and her jaw was bruised. Margaret Craig, another witness, said she had often heard the child cry out, "Dada, don't hit me any more."

The medical evidence showed that the body from the head to the knees was practically covered with bruises, including one, the size of a six pence, on the forehead, on the chin alone were five bruises.

One part of the body was marked by red streaks, from case to two inches long, crossing each other at acute angles, the appearance suggesting a severe beating with a stick or rope.

Prof. Symmers, who made a post-mortem examination, gave painful details of the sufferings which the unfortunate child had been subjected. On removing the skull-cap the brain was found to be covered with a network of small, recently-healed blood.

The coroner remarked that it was the worst case that had ever come before any court.

TO SEEK WEALTH IN THE DEPTHS

Proposal of Camille Flammarion

MAY YIELD TREASURES

Scientific and Mineral Discoveries of Great Importance Predicted

PARIS, March 29.—The European editor of the New York Herald prints the following letter from Camille Flammarion: In the Herald of December 30 last I brought up again the idea which I had expounded a long time ago of digging a geothermic well to explore the internal constitution of the globe. Now that the efference produced by the catastrophe at Messina has caused a little request to come to me from many quarters to exactly describe my plans. With great pleasure I accede to these requests.

Suppose that this work were undertaken. As the well must be very deep it must also be very wide, and I imagine that a circle of two hundred metres in diameter would be sufficient. Where should the search taken out be thrown? Into the sea. However, this well must not dig on the sea coast on account of the danger from submarine infiltration, but on a plain at a distance of several kilometres and approximately at the level of the sea.

For this reason Belgium, Holland or the French district of Les Landes might be chosen. As for the debris it could be taken away by rail to the place destined for dumping it. Adding to the heat of the water, a temperature of every thirty-three metres of depth—we would find, doubtless, a temperature equal to that of boiling water at a depth of about three kilometres. That would be a wonderful source of heat which could be utilized on the spot or elsewhere.

WOULD EMPLOY SOLDIERS TO DIG

The idea of digging a well to a depth of four, five or six kilometres or deeper appears, without doubt, a little foolish. What about the money for the realization of this foolish project? This prodigious undertaking should not increase by even one cent the budget of the civilized countries which would take part in this work. Soldiers could be employed and a foreign legion of a new order could be established, whose mission it would be to explore the interior of the earth. Soldiers are fed, clothed and housed for exercise with the rifle and cannon. This would change the kind of exercise, that is all. Squads would be organized to dig and others to shovel out the earth. Other squads would be employed in taking away the debris, others in making and placing in position the immense iron structure of hoopes to support the weight of the well and others would construct the necessary workshops and labor in the foundries.

GRANK TRIES TO KILL ROOSEVELT

LONDON, March 29.—A dispatch to the Standard from Horta says that when the steamer arrived it was learned that an attempt had been made aboard to assassinate ex-President Roosevelt, but that it was frustrated and his would-be assassin placed in irons. NEW YORK, N. Y., March 29.—Giuseppe Tosti, a steamer passenger on the Hamburg, is the man who threatened to shoot President Roosevelt, according to a dispatch from Horta to the World. "The incident happened soon after the Hamburg was losing sight of America. Then Tosti broke from his companions to the steamer and started for the upper deck where Mr. Roosevelt was standing with his son Kermit. "He has let them take away my child," Tosti is said to have shouted in English. "Now he shall pay for it."

GROW OF NEARLY 1,000 GREETED NEGRO CHAMPION

Jack Johnson Arrives in New York With $5,000 to Post for Match With Jeffries—If Boilermaker Won't Cover Amount, Johnson Will Fight the First Man Who Does—Corbett Not Too Old, He Says

NEW YORK, Mar. 29.—Nearly one thousand greeted Jack Johnson, the champion heavyweight pugilist, when he arrived here. The crowd was made up for the most part of colored men, and they cheered with enthusiasm when they first got sight of the man of their race who won the world's championship of the prize ring. "I am going to try and get Jeffries to fight," declared Johnson as he stepped off the train. "I'll post $5,000 with the sporting editor of a New York paper and I will let Jeffries to cover it. If he don't I'll take the first man who will put up the money." Johnson was most pleased with his welcome and held an impromptu reception on the platform of the railroad station. He was greeted by delegations from a number of sporting clubs and other organizations of colored people. The reception was arranged by William and Edw. Bayard, proprietors of a hotel where Johnson planned to stop while in New York and the programme included a parade in automobiles to the hotel. A score of sightseeing automobiles heavily loaded with admirers of the fighter were awaiting outside the station and Johnson with his immediate friends occupied a machine at the head of the line. The procession passed through West 42nd street and down Broadway to 27th street west to Seventh avenue, and thence to a hotel in West 86th street. All along the route the sidewalks were lined by curious observers and admirers of the champion, who saluted him with cheers as he passed. In order to handle the crowd which gathered at the Grand Central Station an extraordinary detail of 200 policemen was assigned to duty there. Johnson said he was going abroad again but he did not know when. He declared he weighed 222 pounds and is in excellent condition. In reply to questions about his engagements the fighter said that all agreements had been rendered void by his change of managers. A number of receptions and entertainments have been planned for him during the week.

THREE YEARS IN KINGSTON FOR RAILWAY CONDUCTORS

Judge Winchester Hands Out Sentences to Five Prisoners Convicted of Having Conspired to Defraud the Grand Trunk—Vile Ontario Post Cards—C. P. R. Yardmaster Arrested for Forgery

TORONTO, March 29.—Sentences were imposed by Judge Winchester this morning in general sessions to five prisoners convicted of having conspired to defraud the Grand Trunk Railway in connection with the issuing of bogus railway tickets. Daniel Corrigan, three years in the Kingston penitentiary. Frank McElroy, three years in the Kingston penitentiary. Harry Rosenberg, one year in the central prison. Joseph Wood, one year in the central prison. Jacob Woods, suspended sentence. The first two were conductors between Toronto and Montreal. Martin I. Grof, charged with selling obscene post cards and immoral literature, was tried in the police court this morning and sentenced to twenty-three months in central prison by Judge Denison. Detectives Wallace and Sackett told of Grof's arrest and showed his various cards and books that were in his possession. "He had just sold them and was waiting for the money," said the detectives. Frank MacIntyre pronounced them vile but he did not see them. General Yardmaster Thos. Grimes of Toronto Junction was arrested by C. P. R. Constable Wright this afternoon on a charge of forgery and was allowed out on bail by Magistrate Ellis. It is alleged that Grimes, who draws pay checks has been stealing from the C. P. R. about $500 on forged checks.

8 OF THE BAND ARE CAPTURED

Lively Battle Between Deputies and Crazy Snake's Indians

ONE KILLED

OKLAHOMA-CITY, Okla., March 29.—A detachment of Crazy Snake's band of bellicent Indians was surrounded by deputy sheriffs this afternoon near Crazy Snake's home and a lively battle ensued. More than 200 shots were fired and one Indian was killed. Eight Indians were captured and the remainder fled with the deputies in pursuit. There were about fifteen Indians in the band and they had taken refuge in a house. The deputies had traced them for some distance. Advancing from all sides, the posse fired a volley at the frail house. The Indians rushed out, scattered among the trees and made a valiant defense. The posse firing steadily, advanced and routed the band. None of those captured is seriously injured, but it is said that a number of other Indians were hit with bullets. Crazy Snake's band apparently has broken up into numerous small groups. It seemed at nightfall that each Indian was trying to accomplish his own escape without regard for the grand dreams of the chieftain to realize which they were united together Sunday by the smoke of signal fires.

STILL BELIEVES IN NEED OF REORGANIZATION

Ald. Kelly Points Out Some More Weak Spots in City's System—Believes Board of Control Will Come

Ald. Kelly was quoted by a morning paper as saying that he had some further suggestions that he would like to lay before the Common Council. Asked this morning as to what these were the chairman of the late reorganization committee, said: "What I was referring to was the clerical system in connection with the engineer's department. At present all the accounting for the department is done under the direction of the director or engineer and this is opposed both to common business principles and the usage in other cities. The chief objection to it is that it gives the city no check whatever on the engineer's estimates. When the engineer makes the estimates for a job the work of keeping count of the actual cost should be in the hands of some entirely independent of him. Not that there is the suggestion that anything wrong would be done by the present system, but it gives the engineer too good an opportunity to juggle the accounts to cover up any blunders he may make. "I regret that the reorganization committee has been dropped by the council when the committee had hardly started on its work and was willing to continue. I think it places the council in a peculiar position to appoint a committee on the grounds that reorganization is needed in the interests of good government and then discharge the committee before it has done the work for which it was appointed. "There are a number of matters that need the attention of such a committee. Take for instance the fire department. I think that the important department should be scrutinized very closely in order that it might be seen if improvements could not be made. I believe that its efficiency could be greatly improved at a very small expenditure. For example, the city might discontinue the substitute firemen and instead have one extra permanent man in each station to go out with the apparatus at night. The need of such an extra man has been shown several times lately. "Take the police department. I think it is inhuman to ask men to do street duty for twelve hours a day. If a plan were evolved to take care of the old men on the force and replace them with younger men, the chief would have almost enough to allow the night duty to be done by the old men. They could sleep in the station for eight hours where they would be on call in case of need and would still have eight hours to themselves. "I am sorry also that the board of control plan was dropped. I believe that the people are in favor of it and so far no good arguments have been advanced against it. It would be bound to improve the administration of public business and I think it should be adopted in some form. It is need is shown in the fact that we have not an alderman at the board who is not a member of the city. The vote yesterday put our indebtedness over the five million mark and this is a large amount for a city of St. John's size, when the city is not showing signs of rapid growth. A board of control would have at least one man who would be responsible for the finances."

DEMAND $1,000 OR LEG; GET THE LEG

Black Hand Threat Didn't Alarm St. Louis Man, for His Wooden Limb Was Detachable.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 29.—Threatened the loss of a leg unless he left $1,000 in a designated spot, Edward Tucker, No. 2113 North Twelfth St., is a victim of the Black Hand. Unlike the usual run of Black Hand victims, Tucker is not frightened at the loss of control, but he would appreciate the leg as much as the money, he left his wooden limb in place designated. "I leave $1,000 at the northwest corner of Twelfth and Plum streets, Saturday, between eight and nine o'clock. If you fail to do this you will lose a leg before Sunday night," the letter ran. It was written in red ink and the only signature was a black hand with the word "Society," written when he went to the trying place. Though only a few know it, Tucker lost his right leg many years ago and wears a mechanical wooden device that when he walks, looks like the real thing. At eight o'clock Tucker left his home, which is near the corner specified in the note, carrying a bundle under his arm. He walked to a vacant house on the corner and deposited the bundle on the porch. When he again visited the spot this morning the bundle was gone. Besides saving his money, Tucker stayed it right down shabby on the Black Hand, for he substituted an old worn out wooden leg in place of his good one. A LONG STORY. Acum—Say, old man, what did your wife say to you when you got in last night? "Friends—Oh, are you just starting on your two weeks' vacation?" Acum—No. Why? WILL FIGHT TO A FINISH FOR TAX EXEMPTION

Civil Servants and Other Signers Determined to Press Bill at Fredericton in Spite of Council's Opposition.

"We would have liked to have had the support of the Common Council, but since we cannot have it, we will fight to the end," said the signers of the bill for the exemption of incomes up to $600 regarding the council's decision, made yesterday to postpone the local government's opposition to the petition. Continuing, he said that the petitioners would not be discouraged by the council's action. There were three thousand signatures on their list and they did not think the government would treat lightly a request coming from such a body of citizens. The bill has already been sent to Fredericton, but as the time for which a bill must be advertised has not yet expired, it cannot be presented for a few days yet. It is understood that the executive representing the civil servants and other signers will meet tonight to discuss their next move. When the bill is presented at Fredericton, a delegation will be sent to the capitol in its support.

AN UNBREAKABLE SET OF TEETH

There is a class of patients who do not object to paying a fair price for artificial teeth, if they can really secure comfort, usefulness and naturalness.

I have a set of teeth, such as is unobtainable in any other office in this city, to my knowledge. It is out of the ordinary line and unlike the teeth in general use. Its beauty is at once apparent and it is practically unbreakable.

It will pay those who are desirous of obtaining the best to be had in the dental line to call and inspect this for themselves. I will gladly demonstrate its superiority over other plates, even if you have no immediate intention of investing.
