PRESIDENT WILSON WINS AFTER MIGHTY STRUGGLE

SACRIFICES OF MEN HAVE NOT BEEN MADE IN VAIN

Britain Desires Peace, Says Premier Asquith, but When It Comes It Must Mean "Securities of Weak, Liberties of Europe and Free Future of The World."

ROUMANIA PRAISED AT LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET—NO SEPARATE PEACE POSSIBLE DECLARES PREMIER—GERMANY RESPONSIBLE FOR ARMENIAN ATROCITIES.

London, Nov. 9.—The banquet of the new lord mayor of London, Sir William Henry Dunn, was given at the Guild Hall tonight, and was attended by Premier Asquith, cabinet ministers, members of the diplomatic corps, including Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador, and men prominent in the military and naval world, among them Lord Fisher, chairman of the invention board; Arthur J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, and Sir William R. Robertson, chief of the imperial staff at army headquarters.

The leading speech of the evening was delivered by Premier Asquith, who, in alluding to peace, declared that nobody had greater reason than Great Britain to desire peace, but that it was desired on only one condition—that the sacrifices of war should not have been made in vain.

Tribute to Roumania.

A feature of the speeches was the warm tributes of admiration on the stand by Roumania, and the expression of the opinion that although the attack on Roumania had not yet been defeated, it had been successfully stayed. Mr. Asquith began his speech with a reference to Turkey, which country he described as subservient agent of German interests and ambition, as was instanced, he said, by the fact that by lifting a finger Germany might have arrested the Armenian horrors, but instead looked on unmoved, acquiescent and possibly even complacent.

"That," said the premier, "is a significant sample of what a continuance of the rule of German Turkey in Europe will mean."

The Entente Success.

Mr. Asquith said he would refrain from any detailed review of the naval and military situation, he dwelt, however, on the continued Entente Allied success, and said the British navy was ready, and more than ready, whenever opportunity was offered to it.

With regard to the Greek situation, Mr. Asquith said he wished he could speak with as much confidence as hope. The Entente Allies went to Salonki as friends of both Greece and Serbia, he said. Their sole desire was to prevent Greece from becoming a satellite of the Germanic net, and to save her from internal strife. Whatever apparently drastic measures had been taken were directed solely by the necessity of preventing Athens from becoming the centre of German propaganda and intrigue.

Position of Greece.

Declaring that the Entente Allies were in hearty sympathy with Eleutherios Venizelos, former premier, Mr. Asquith asked how Greece could possibly stand aloof from a war for the emancipation of smaller states.

"Greece," Mr. Asquith continued, "first lit the torch of liberty in Europe, and withstood the inrush of eastern barbarism and tyranny. May Greece rekindle her lamp and show herself worthy of her immortal past."

Dealing with the general situation Mr. Asquith said:

"Let there be no illusion about our enemies. They are great organizers and fine fighters in the field. They are also, if not skilful, yet indefatigable workers in the sphere of propaganda, where they have a double motive—to divide the allies and capture neutral opinion."

Relations With Neutrals.

In this connection Mr. Asquith characterized the German suggestion of a sinister design on the part of the Entente Allies to combine against neutral countries and build up an impenetrable stone wall against their trade as childish fiction, which could only mean that the allies were bent upon economic suicide. He said it would be unnecessary to affirm that when the time comes for peace that nothing will be more essential for the Entente Allies, from the standpoint of simple self-interest, than to establish and maintain the best industrial and financial relations with neutrals.

Alluding to the different methods of propaganda which he said were employed at different places with a view to dividing the allies and influencing opinion in favor of a separate peace, Mr. Asquith said:

"I desire to declare, without hesitation or reserve, that the Allies are fighting in a common cause, that for the purposes of war their interests are identical, and that a victory securing those interests is, in our judgment, the only condition of a lasting peace."

As to Serbia.

Continuing, Mr. Asquith said he desired to mention that hitherto no German propagandist had ever suggested that Germany was prepared to concede anything to the demand of the Allies for the reconstitution and independence of Serbia.

Alluding to what he termed the propaganda conducted in Russia, to the effect that Great Britain's only desire to prolong the war and prevent any sort of peace was because she is making huge profits by exploiting her Allies unscrupulously, the premier said:

"For us, who know what terrible sacrifices we are paying in precious lives, in the unceasing, pitiless drain upon our reservoir of potential promise and vitality—who have greater reason than we to long and pray for peace? Peace, yes, but on one condition only—that the war, with its vast waste, its sacrifices, its untold sufferings, its glorious and undying example of courage and unselfishness, shall not have been in vain."

No Separate Peace.

"There can be no question of a separate peace. And peace, when it comes, be it soon or late—and I will not disguise from you, for a moment, my conviction that the struggle will tax all our resources and our whole stock of patience and resolve—the peace must be such as will build upon sure and stable foundations the security of the weak, the liberties of Europe and a free future for the world."

Mr. Balfour Speaks.

Mr. Balfour briefly denied the statements that the British navy had accepted a passive role in the war, saying the Germans had refused to allow their ships to meet the British.

Referring to the recent raid by German torpedo craft in the English Channel, Mr. Balfour said:

"It did not disturb our transport services for a moment."

The first lord of the admiralty said he would not say that such a raid could not be repeated, but that it were the Germans would not be able to get out of the channel again without heavy losses.

GEORGE R. CODY DEAD.

The death of George Redmond Cody took place at an early hour this morning at his home at Cody's, Kings Co., at the ripe age of 85 years.

BULGARIANS RETREATING ALONG THE WHOLE FRONT

Their Defeat in Dobrudja Safeguards Bucharest for Time at Least—Enemy Fires Villages as it Falls Back—German Attack on Somme Repulsed by French—British Forces Inactive—Russia Drives Back Von Mackensen.

Bucharest, Nov. 9, via London, (4.52 p. m.)—The Bulgarian forces are retreating along the whole front in the province of Dobrudja, according to a semi-official statement issued here today. As the Bulgarians withdraw, the statement says, they are systematically burning the Roumanian villages.

German claims of captures from the Roumanians between October 1st and October 21st, the statement adds, were exaggerated.

In comparison it is claimed that the exact figures of Austro-Germans taken by the Roumanians in the same period were 5,822. The Roumanians also captured 25 cannon and 88 machine guns, as well as much booty.

In Dobrudja Hirsowa has been re-occupied, with the assistance of Danube naval forces. Before retiring the enemy set fire to Hirsowa and also to the village of Topal.

Italians Capture 20 Guns.

Rome, via London, Nov. 9.—Italian forces, in their offensive against the Austro-Hungarian positions on the Carso front, have captured a total of twenty guns, including thirteen of medium calibre, according to the Italian official statement issued today.

"On the whole front there were only intermittent bombardments, hindered by bad weather.

"A total of twenty guns have been captured during the last offensive. They include thirteen of medium calibre."

Germans Repulsed.

Paris, Nov. 9.—A German attack on Sully-Sallisel on the Somme front last night was repulsed after a brief hand-to-hand encounter. There was great activity of the artillery during the night.

The text reads: "There were artillery duels and minor infantry engagements near Sully-Sallisel and south of Presoire, in which we cleared several positions and captured prisoners. Prisoners confirm that the enemy suffered heavy losses at Sallisel. The enemy artillery violently bombarded the Donaumont-Vaux section; our artillery replied. On the remainder of the front nothing of importance occurred."

"Eastern army: There is nothing to report. The bad weather continues."

Bombed Hun Trenches.

London, Nov. 9.—Concerning military operations on the battle front in Northern France, the British official statement issued this evening says:

"This morning we discharged gas east of Armentieres, and bombed the enemy's trench line. Elsewhere there was nothing to report."

Von Mackensen Repulsed.

Petrograd, Nov. 9.—Continuing their offensive in Dobrudja, Russian troops have driven back advanced detachments of Field Marshal Von Mackensen's forces and progressed southward, the war office announced today.

NEW PLAN TO GET RECRUITS IS POSSIBLE

Conference of Commanding Officers Discusses Situation at Conference.

Special to The Standard.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—A conference of the officers commanding the military districts in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces was held today with Mr. F. B. McCurdy, under-secretary of military affairs, who summoned the conference. There was an interchange of views on recruiting and ways and means of overcoming the present difficulties were discussed. There was a pretty general opinion that the present system is not very economical, and there is too much overlapping.

Ways of overcoming this were discussed and some new policy may be adopted. Mr. R. B. Bennett, director of national service, met the officers and explained the plans of the national service directorate.

BARON LUCAS OF CRUDWELL MISSING

London, Nov. 9.—Baron Lucas of Crudwell, a member of the Royal Flying Corps, and formerly parliamentary under-secretary for state for war, has either been captured by the Germans or killed on the fields in France, according to the Evening Star. Lord Lucas was reconnoitering over the German lines in France in an aeroplane, the newspaper says, and was obliged to descend behind the German lines owing to a gale.

BRITISH STEAMER SUNK.

London, Nov. 9.—The steamship Suffolk Coast, of Liverpool, 780 tons gross, has been sunk. The crew was saved.

GOV. MACKEN CRITICALLY ILL

Nova Scotia Chief Executive Stricken with Paralysis at His Home.

PRINCE HENRY OF BAVARIA KILLED

Berlin, Nov. 9, via wireless to Sayville.—Prince Henry of Bavaria, nephew of King Louis, and commander of a battalion of the King's Own Infantry, has been killed in battle. The prince's mother has gone to the front to bring back the body of her only child.

PASSENGERS OF ARABIA LAND AT PORT SAID

London, Nov. 9.—Of the 437 passengers on the Peninsular and Oriental line steamer Arabia, which was sunk in the Mediterranean by a submarine on Monday, 198 have been landed at Malta and 84 at Port Said. This was announced in an official statement given out here today which adds that although bad weather prevailed all the passengers and crew were transferred to boats in twenty minutes.

GOV. WOOD LOSES COLT

Sackville, Nov. 9.—Lieut.-Gov. Wood and L. M. Anderson are lamenting the loss of valuable colts which were killed by a train at Cole's Island. The governor lost one colt and Mr. Anderson two.

CALIFORNIA GIVES PRESIDENT ELECTION

Golden State Increase His Electoral College Vote to 269, Three More Than Necessary --- Hughes Has 235, with 27 Divided Among Doubtful States --- Republican Chances Fade Away This Morning --- Democrats Will Probably Control Both Houses of Congress.

RECOUNTS WILL UNDOUBTEDLY BE HELD IN CLOSE STATES AND REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC LEADERS ARE ARRANGING FOR A BATTLE OF THE GIANTS SHOULD ELECTION BE CONTESTED LEGALLY — WILSON'S TRIUMPH PARTLY DUE TO VOTES OF WOMEN.

WILSON AND MARSHALL.

New York, Nov. 10.—President Wilson has carried California and has been re-elected.

Fifty hours after the polls closed in California, Republican Chairman Rowell conceded the state to the president. Thus the 13 votes needed to assure the president a majority in the electoral college dropped into the Democratic column, and apparently ended the suspense and anxiety of an election which has been almost unparalleled in American political history.

Republican Chairman Willcox, when informed that the president had carried California, only replied: "I have nothing to say."

Secretary Tumulty, at the summer White House at Shadow Lawn, sent the news by wireless to President Wilson on board the yacht Mayflower, en route to Rhine Cliff, N. Y.

California Saves Wilson.

The California returns showed that with only 47 districts missing the president's plurality in the state was 3,018. Returns from 5,223 precincts out of 5,870 in California give Hughes 463,226; Wilson, 465,244; Wilson's plurality, 3,018.

Barling some wholly unexpected turnover in the incomplete states leaning toward Wilson, or a change on a recount, California's acquisition to the Democratic column gave the president 269 electoral votes, three more than necessary to elect, without New Mexico's three. In New Mexico at midnight the president was leading by 2,634 votes, with 158 districts missing, and it was not believed this advantage could be overcome by Mr. Hughes.

Hughes May Get 259.

Conceding West Virginia, New Hampshire and Minnesota to Mr. Hughes—and he was in the lead in all three—only gave him 259 votes, seven less than the required majority. With 272 votes in sight, President Wilson had six to spare for a possible split of electors in California, or a sudden reversal in New Mexico.

At Republican national headquarters it was admitted that conferences between Geo. W. Wickersham, former attorney-general of the United States; Everett Colby of New Jersey; Mr. Hughes, chairman Willcox and George dropped to 1,330, with 186 precincts not reported.

Women Did It?

The re-election of President Wilson was largely due to the votes of the women in California and Kansas. To be sure the heavy railroad vote in the west was also an important element in the great contest.

Oregon Goes Dry.

Portland, Oregon, Nov. 9.—Indications tonight were that the "bone dry" prohibition amendment, which was aimed to stop all importation of liquor into Oregon for beverage purposes, had carried by about 1,500.

President Silent.

Long Branch, N. J., Nov. 9.—Messages received by Secretary Tumulty late today convinced him that President Wilson had carried New Hampshire and California which, on the basis of states previously tabulated, would give the president enough electoral votes. The New Hampshire message was from Senator Hollis, and said that on a recount Mr. Wilson would carry the state. The president made no comment, preferring to await the full count.

Celebrate Wilson's Election.

New York, Nov. 9.—Chairman McCormick of the Democratic national committee announced late today that he had sent telegrams to all the Democratic state chairmen in the country telling them to "engage bands and buy red fire to celebrate tonight the election of Woodrow Wilson."

Nip and Tuck in Minn.

St. Paul, Nov. 9.—Charles Hughes was holding his slight lead over President Wilson in Minnesota when returns from 2,939 precincts out of 3,024 in the state had been compiled tonight, the count standing: Wilson 175,399; Hughes 176,136.

HUNS TIRE OF HORRIFYING CATASTROPHE OF WAR

GERMANY IN FAVOR OF A SURE AND LASTING PEACE

Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg Advocates International Peace League After Present War Ends—Sheds Crocodile Tears Over "Monstrous Catastrophe" and "Horrible Destruction of Life and Property."

Berlin, Nov. 9, by wireless to Sayville—Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg announced today that after the ending of the war Germany would cooperate in an endeavor to find a practical means for procuring a lasting peace by means of an international league.

Referring to the question of an international league for the preservation of peace the chancellor said: "We never concealed our doubts whether peace should be guaranteed permanently by international organizations, such as arbitration courts."

"If at and after the end of the war the world will only become fully conscious of the horrifying destruction of life and property, then through the whole of humanity there will ring out a cry for peaceful arrangements and understandings which, as far as with human power, will avoid the return of such a monstrous catastrophe. This cry will be so powerful and so justified that it must lead to some result."

Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg's address to the main committee of the Reichstag had been awaited eagerly on account of the semi-official announcement that he would make an important statement. The chancellor presented a new version of events in the last days before the outbreak of war, particularly in connection with Russia's mobilization and efforts to avert hostilities.

The chancellor referred to the situation on July 30, 1914, two days before Germany declared war on Russia. The German ambassador at Vienna had been instructed to request Austria-Hungary, most urgently, to reach an understanding with Russia, making it clear that Germany did not desire to be drawn into a world war in consequence of disregard of her advice.

Austria-Hungary agreed to Germany's suggestion, he said. "With this," the chancellor continued, "compare the following steps taken by Lord Grey (British foreign secretary). On July 2, 1914, the Russian ambassador at London said that German and Austro-Hungarian circles were under the impression that England would remain quiet."

"This impression is removed by the orders which he gave to the main fleet. On July 29 he informed the French ambassador of a confidential warning which had been given to our ambassador in London that Germany ought to be prepared for quick decisions of England, which meant England's participation in the war."

British Backed Russia. "Could Lord Grey suppose that such a disclosure, made by the French ambassador, would be of service to the cause of peace?"

Replies to Lord Grey. The chancellor replied to the speech made by Lord Grey to foreign newspapers, in which he said that the origin of the present war must influence peace conditions and that Germany would be content to ask for guarantees against future attacks if the present war really were forced upon Germany. Of course, Lord Grey at once added that Germany's interpretation of the origin of the war was incorrect, and that the war was not forced upon Germany, but was forced by Germany upon Europe.

The chancellor stated that Lord Grey, by giving these explanations now, holds the same opinion as Germany always has done in regard to the importance of the origin of the war.

Discussion Necessary. For both these reasons, the chancellor declared, it was necessary once more to discuss the question of the origin of the war.

"The action which made the war unavoidable," he said, "was the Russian mobilization, ordered on the night of July 30-31, (1914)."

"Russia, England, France, the whole world knew that this step made it impossible for us to wait any longer, and that this step was synonymous with a declaration of war. The whole world—even England, now begin to comprehend the fateful importance of the Russian mobilization."

The chancellor then took up the question of Viscount Grey's statement that Germany had asked England to condone violation of Belgian neutrality. "I challenge Lord Grey," said the chancellor, "to examine the fact in his own blue book and in his records."

Chancellor's Promise. At the last moment the chancellor gave his promise that so long as England remained neutral the German navy would not attack the French nor their coast and, mutual treatment supposed, would do no hostile act against French merchantmen.

BRITISH ARMY AT HOME NOT HARMONIOUS

Alexander Watson, Elocutionist, Just Returned from France Tells of what He Observed.

New York, Nov. 9.—Few civilians have had a more vivid glimpse of the fighting front of the British army than Mr. Alexander Watson, an elocutionist, who has just returned from a three months' visit to France, spent among the men.

Describing what he had seen and heard, Mr. Watson had an interesting story to tell. "I've been along the front from Ypres to the Somme lines," he said, "and the strength and magnitude of the British army appeared to me overwhelming. Its organization is wonderful. Everything is wonderful, down to the food, and I may say that often I had army rations which were far better than civilian food obtainable in many places."

"My visit was made under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, which has about two hundred huts and stations at and behind the front, some of them only a few hundred yards from the trenches. It was to meet these most advanced stations I went, and I gave recitals to men literally coming out of the trenches."

"I was sent directly from the base to the front, and arriving first at a small town in Flanders, had my first taste of shell fire. The Prussians and they started shelling the creeps, and for three days I was there, creeping out to give my recitals along a road which was directly under fire. Shells came unpleasantly near our ear some times, but the sergeant who had charge of me was kind enough to report me as 'cool under fire.' The day after I left I heard that two shells had hit the very room in which I had spent most of my time."

"Of the unique conditions under which his recitals were often given Mr. Watson quoted two striking instances. "At one place I had an audience in a marquee erected on ground occupied by Prussians only a few weeks previous; in fact, I nearly fell into an old trench as I came out. From the door I could see a battery of guns at work, and further off a monster. The 'tommys' were watching me to see how I took the firing, but I managed to keep composed and going. Only once, when the 'grandmother' first went off, did I momentarily stop; but I said to the men, 'That wasn't a full stop boys; only a comma.'"

"Then there was another occasion when I had an audience, in complete darkness, in the courtyard of an old mansion, and I gave them Tennyson's 'Defense of Lucknow,' to the sound of our own guns—and the enemy's."

The appreciation by the men of the best literature quite surprised Mr. Watson. Shakespeare, Tennyson, Dickens, Longfellow, Mark Twain, Kipling and other masters delighted them, and they invariably asked for more. At one place Massfield's 'The Everlasting Mercy' was specially requested, and while this was being recited there was a fight on overhead between a Taube and an English plane.

"But the men were more interested in Massfield," said Mr. Watson, "for not one of them went out to see the fight. I myself, by the way, witnessed a very thrilling aeroplane duel later on, and I also saw Prussian observation balloons destroyed by our airplanes."

GERMANS AT HOME NOT HARMONIOUS

Teuton Press Throws Interesting Light on Domestic Wranglings in Hun Empire

With a precocity which, in its way, is quite juvenile, the German spirit of disruption seems always to be breaking out in a new place, says The London Daily Express.

All the newspapers in the Fatherland are perpetually "up against" somebody or something. While one guerrilla band is denouncing Germany's unhappy Chancellor, another falls on von Tirpitz' hip and thigh, and a third strafes Dr. Helfferich because he appears to threaten Prince Bulow's chances of superseding Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg.

There is another little section which sprays poison gas on the Social Democrats, and there is the Social Democratic section which bombs all the other sections indiscriminately; and now it is the turn of the masses to be bombarded.

Those Besotted Masses. It is the "Ostpreussische Zeitung" which is engaged at the moment in this pleasing occupation, and it does it with true East Prussian zest. Down with the glorification of the masses at the expense of the select few, without whom they would be as silly sheep without a leader!

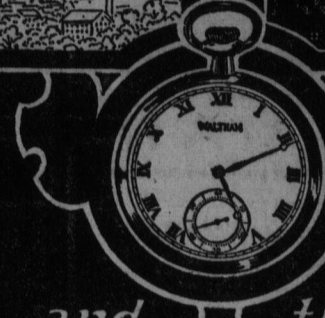

There is far too much talk in the newspapers about the wishes of the masses, the dignity of the masses, the opinion of the masses, the needs of the masses. Let us not forget that the masses are but so much poisonous weed in the fair garden of the German nation.

It is according to the ordering of nature herself that human society should be represented by a pyramid—few at the top, many below. The glorification of the masses is based on a lie by comparison with which all the lies of the English are but as child's play.

What is the value of the opinion of the masses? Who cares whether they shout from the housetops that we have lost a hundred, a thousand, a hundred thousand, or a million men? What does it matter? The smart party leaders who are continually pointing to the millions of combatants forget that the masses are always with us, the leaders are not. The masses are able to furnish soldiers in numbers illimitable, but they cannot furnish one leader, one sole Prussian Lieutenant.

The poisonous weeds grow everywhere, all around, and do not stop. The precious bloom of cultured Prussianism, on the other hand, speedily vanishes. Would to heaven that this war last long enough to allow of the utter destruction of this diseased, globose, infection of the besotted masses, and of the miserable petti-fogging envy of those in high places!

ed, nor will Germany bravery, German science, allow her to reach it.

On the other hand, the reckoning will be presented her for the tortures she has inflicted on other nations, and that bill will have to be met to its full extent, to its last penny, or Hindenburg will know the reason why.

The Bold, Bad Babe. The Hamburg "Nachrichten" is good enough to explain much that has hitherto been mysterious in regard to the "completeness" of German criminality. It appears that they "begin young!"

Incidents such as the following are not at all rare; they occur all over the empire almost daily, and it is that circumstance that fills us with alarm. A little girl had for some time past been calling on numerous housewives in Berlin, Schoenberg, Pankow, Neukölln, and Treptow offering to supply them at comparatively low prices with Tilsit and other cheese.

Her demeanor was so frank and ingenious that she readily gained confidence wherever she went, and the money was at once paid her in advance, with the orders. The cash secured, however, the child never appeared again.

Finally the Neukölln police came on her track and arrested the infant. Her name is Frieda Kruger, and for many weeks it appears she has been living entirely on the proceeds of her cheese swindle, and spending her spare cash in treating boys to cinema and musical performances.

No fewer than thirty-six women were victimized by this child criminal.

The Berlin "Lokalanzeiger" satirizes in a "street tragedy" the new order limiting the egg supply to one per person in every three weeks.

Knots of agitated women loudly bewailed a mysterious disaster. Some said a meat ticket had been lost, others that the butter store in the Treptower strasse had put up its shutters, but none seemed to have any absolute certainty as to the nature of the catastrophe. Finally, after the hubbub had drawn the attention of two policemen to the spot, the cause of the excitement was ascertained from a woman who was the central figure in a sympathetic circle of others of her sex.

Amid heartbreaking sobs and loud complaint, she described the disaster that had befallen her. She had dropped from her housekeeping basket the one solitary egg that her ticket entitled her to for the next fortnight, and, truly, around the corner there it lay on the pavement, crushed to atoms, a catastrophe in yellow and white.

What happened afterwards we know not; the aspect of so much misery became intolerable, and we hurried away from the scene of mourning.

Blighted Brotherhoods. Another outbreak comes from a high functionary known as "General-Protestant-Synod-Superintendent Blau," who writes as follows in the "Tagliche Rundschau":

The whole of this rubbish about the advent of universal peace and brotherhood should be delegated to the realm of Utopia. These brotherhoods, not excluding the German idealistic philosophers, fall to reckon with the spirit of evil that prevails in the world, and can never be overcome by the imminent development of man.

The words of Jesus also take cognizance of the fact that the Kingdom of God on earth, which numbers peace among its actual possessions, must always remain in conflict with an essentially sinful majority.

In the meantime the community of Christendom which finds its one true representative in the German nation, must use the sword as the means to decimate the ranks of the evil-minded enemy, so that the remnant that is spared when the strife is over will be spiritually prepared in boldness and calm to await the coming of the rosy dawn of human fraternity.

Hindenburg on Our Track. The "Cologne Gazette" warns the wicked English that "though, like a cat, they always fall on their four all their brutitudes, and Hindenburg himself will present the bill."

Towards Greece the English method consists in the absolute destruction of her independence; towards the United States it takes the dual form of hampering its trade and fooling its population with official falsehoods; towards the smaller nationalities it consists in the most bestial crushing of their liberties.

Thus England proves herself more clearly every day to be the foe of all nations which refuse to be used by her to her own vile ends. The great aim, however, to which her procedure is intended to lead, she has not reach-

ATTORNEY GENERAL URGES NEED OF UNIFORM LAWS IN DOMINION OF CANADA

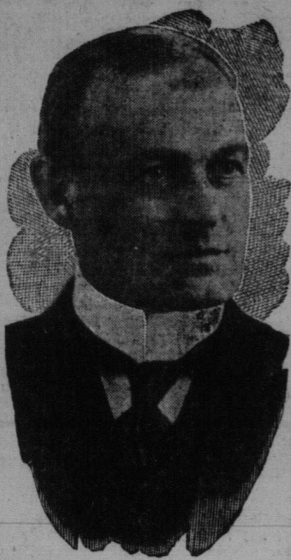

Hon. J. B. M. Baxter Heard in an Address on Important Subject at Banquet of Credit Mens Trust Association.

A very successful meeting of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association was held last night at Bond's and took the form of a banquet. F. W. Roach, president, occupied the chair, and the guest of the evening was Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, who addressed the gathering on the subject of uniformity in the laws of the Dominion. His address was thoroughly enjoyed by those present, and at its close a hearty vote of thanks was extended to him.

After the lunch had been disposed of the chairman called on Hon. Mr. Baxter.

Mr. Baxter said it was a good thing for business men and lawyers to get in contact with each other once in a while for other than purely personal or professional reasons.

The principles of common law were supposed to make for justice and their rules were tolerably clear. Statutory regulations were always of a more or less arbitrary nature and depended very often on local views of the subject to be regulated.

HON. J. B. M. BAXTER.

Take the law relating to conditional sales. In one province there was no statute at all on the subject, because the law of the province did not recognize property as distinguished from possession; in the other provinces the definition of the subject with which the act dealt was identical in only three; in the other five the variations were quite extensive. He quoted definitions and pointed out that this was only one instance of the variations which would have to be made uniform in a short act of less than a dozen sections. The task was a great one, not because of any radical difference in principles, but entirely owing to multiplicity of detail.

The benefits of codification and uniformity were well illustrated by the Bills of Exchange act, enacted in England in 1882, and adopted in Canada with slight variations in 1890, also by the criminal code act of 1892. From Halifax to Vancouver any merchant requiring advice on either of these subjects could obtain it just as readily from a member of the local bar as from a member of the bar of the place where the facts arose which required legal judgment.

Under the British North America act, criminal laws, banks and banking, bills and notes, and several other subjects were assigned to the Dominion parliament, and legislation was therefore uniform throughout the country.

The subject of the incorporation of joint stock companies, however, could be legislated upon by both Dominion and Provincial authorities, and the result was nine different acts, which might be divided into two classes. In each of these classes the diversions of legislation were numerous.

Again, in the matter of wills, a sub-

SOMETHING WENT WRONG ON TIMES

Canterbury St. Penny-dreadful Brings New Battalion to Town, Hands Hughes Oregon by 96,272, and Performs Other Odd Stunts.

Was the guiding spirit of our friend the Times yesterday or did he swap places for the day with "The Man on the Street"? Apparently the intricacies and uncertainties of United States politics got someone rattled over on Canterbury street. First, the Times brought a new battalion into town, which it designated as "the 130." Not content with this, the Times piled up the modest plurality of 96,272 for Hughes in Oregon. Some pluralities!

Not content with these rather surprising bits of misinformation the Canterbury St. evening reprint, evidently nursing a grudge against the painstaking director of the Meteorological Service, turned the name of that gentleman upside down. Should any of the members of the Times staff desire to learn something about the newspaper profession their conferees on The Standard will gladly welcome them to this office any evening.

ject which must be of importance to every one, the curious result follows that a will made in certain provinces—in the province of Quebec, for instance—was not valid to pass real estate in the other provinces. A man who made his will in a province where it was not revoked by marriage would find, if he moved into a province where such was the law, that he would die intestate if he was not aware of such provision.

The enforcement of judgments of the courts was also a cumbersome affair. A judgment obtained in New Brunswick, for instance, before it could be enforced in any other province would have to be sued upon in the courts of that province, thus adding a burden of unnecessary costs to the defendant as well as occasioning loss of time and expense to the plaintiff.

There was more or less difference in the laws relating to married women, and a merchant doing business with a married woman in another province might find that her liabilities differed considerably from those of his place of residence. Acts relating to the sale of goods, bulk sales, lien notes, bill of sale, assignments on preferences and merchants liens were also more or less divergent. He thought that uniformity and certainty of the law should be the aim of the lawyers as well as of business men, and he believed that the attitude of the profession was strongly in favor of this movement which owed its inception and a great deal of its force to the untiring exertions of Sir J. A. M. Aikens, now governor of Manitoba.

It might, however, be some years before the legislatures of all the provinces would be induced to enact identical legislation upon many of these subjects. The work might be hastened by the continued pressure of businessmen on the legislatures of the different provinces to this end. It was a question, moreover, which did not involve any political differences, and no great obstacle existed to prevent its accomplishment. Much greater difficulties had been overcome by the men whom Canada produced when the confederation of the Dominion was formed, and a task such as the one projected was not beyond the capacity of the men of the present time.

Many of the laws of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were very similar, and but little effort should be necessary to make them identical, and it might be possible for the maritime provinces to lead the way in this as they had in confederation.

The propositions of business men would always receive the earnest attention of any legislature, and he trusted that the body of men present would make their efforts felt in this direction.

QUATETTE FOUND IN CASTLE STREET BARN

County Policeman Saunders Made Interesting Discovery Early Yesterday Morning.

Early yesterday morning while County Police Saunders was searching Crawford's stable on Castle street for a couple of youths wanted for abusing a horse, he was surprised to find in the stable two men and two women, whom he placed under arrest on the charge of vagrancy. The men were John Donovan and Hayes Wetmore and the women Mrs. Annie Wright and Miss Blanche Whelpley. The latter is about seventeen years of age, while the former is the mother of six children. The young men claimed the reason that they did not go home was because her husband beat her when she remained out after 9.30 o'clock. The Whelpley girl gave as her excuse for staying out all night that a boarder in her house objected to her going into the house late.

At 10.45 o'clock yesterday morning Officer Saunders arrested Thomas Gibson on the charge of lying and lurking in the barn, and he also placed Peter Covey in custody on the charge of refusing to give assistance when called on to do so by the police. The case was heard in the Police Court in the afternoon and the evidence of the officer was taken. The magistrate remarked that he had heard complaints regarding the barn that were none too favorable. The prisoners were all remanded and the case will be resumed this morning at eleven o'clock.

FOUR N. B. AND N. S. MEN LOST IN DISASTER

Went Down in Trolley Car Near Boston South Station—Half a Hundred on Death Roll.

Boston, Nov. 9.—At least four former residents of the maritime provinces lost their lives with half a hundred other persons when a trolley car crashed through the gate of an open draw at Port Point Channel, near the South Station Tuesday night. The following are the names of the three: Lewis J. Richards, 122 Fulton street, Medford, native of St. John.

Austin E. Verge, formerly of Halifax.

Roy A. Watt, formerly of Halifax. Kempton Singer, Lexington, formerly of Georgetown, N. S.

Richards was 55 years of age and had lived in Medford about a year. He came from St. John eighteen years ago. He was in the leather business for some time and later was a building contractor. He was a boss carpenter on the Commonwealth fish pier at South Boston, the largest of the kind in the world. He is survived by a wife, two sons and two daughters, Carl J., John H., Miss Madeline and Mrs. Justin Bolvert.

Watt was 25 years of age, the son of Capt. Alfred B. Watt, of Halifax. He was unmarried.

Verge lived in Richmond, Me., before coming to Boston.

District Attorney Joseph C. Pellitier has ordered a rigid investigation to be made by the police of the accident.

If there is any evidence showing criminal negligence on the part of any one, the district attorney says he will present it at a special sitting of the grand jury next week.

The grand jury is in session this week, for the consideration of the regular routine cases on the list for the November term, and a thorough investigation may not be made in time to offer any evidence this week, but in view of the big loss of life, the district attorney will have the grand jury convene in special session next week if the evidence gathered meantime by the police warrants presentation of the case to that body.

Retail Fish Market.

A moderate supply of fresh fish yesterday brought about the same prices as last week. Mackerel were in good condition and fairly plentiful, from 20c. to 35c. each being charged. Fresh haddock and cod were sold at 10c. per pound; smelt 15c.; swordfish 18c.; finnan haddies are still dear, 12c. per pound being easily obtainable. Oysters and clams have been selling freely, the former at about 80c. per quart, and the latter at 25c. Dried and smoked fish command the same prices as last week. Kippers can be had in plenty, but are a little dearer.

FOOD ECONOMY

Every housewife knows the length of time it takes to prepare the most ordinary soup, the cost of fuel, ingredients, etc. But with a few vegetables, one or two Oxo Cubes, a little flour and water, a most excellent soup can be prepared in a few minutes at the cost only of a few cents.

So with entrées, savouries, sauces, invalid dishes, the Oxo Cube way is the quick, convenient, efficient way, and makes for economy every time.

Another point of great importance is the peculiar power of Oxo Cubes to increase the nutritive value of other dishes. For instance, Oxo and rice is much more nourishing than rice without Oxo. Hence when Oxo Cubes are used lighter meals can be indulged in.

Tins of 4, 10, 50 and 100 Cubes.

IF

Michael Angelo lived today and said that a certain printing process reproduced his art better than any other, you'd believe him—because Angelo was the greatest painter of his time.

IF Napoleon had said that a certain cannon was the finest type of artillery, you would also have believed this without question—because Napoleon was the greatest soldier of his time.

IF the world's greatest living artists were to tell you a certain sound-reproducing instrument gave the most accurate and faithful replicas of their voices, you'd believe them too, wouldn't you.

THEY DO!!!

Enrico Caruso says
 I am indeed satisfied with my new Victor records. They are magnificent and I congratulate you on the superb reproduction which the Victrola gives them.

Madame Melba says
 I wish you to know that I am more than delighted with my new Victor records. They are wonderful and reproduce with that perfection which is only possible with the Victrola.

John McCormack says:
 The Victrola alone of all talking instruments achieves a perfect reproduction of the artist's voice. You may be sure of it that I would not have engaged to make Victor Records exclusively until 1938 unless I was entirely satisfied that the instrument reproducing them was the very best.

Louise Homer says
 The fidelity with which the quality of tone of each artist is reproduced by Victor Records as played on the Victrola is almost startling.

Antonio Scotti says
 Never had I imagined that a talking machine could give such perfect results as the Victrola.

Kilties First Military Funeral
—Tungsten Mine Boom at Burnt Hill, York Co.

Special to The Standard.
Fredericton, Nov. 9.—The first military funeral for a member of the 236th Kilties Battalion occurred in Fredericton this evening when the body of the late Private Lawrence D. Gowie, who died at the Victoria Hospital, was taken to his home for burial. The Kilties formed up at Barrack's Square at 5:45 o'clock, every available officer and non-commissioned officer being on parade. The Fredericton brass band kindly volunteered its services and led the funeral procession to the C. G. R. station.

Tungsten Mining Boom.
The Gleaner tonight states that the tungsten mines near Burnt Hill, York county, are being operated on a large scale and are destined to become one of the foremost mining propositions in eastern Canada. This statement was made today by Matthew Lodge of Moncton, who is one of the leading directors of syndicate now operating the mines. The plant was assembled at Burnt Hill early last summer but has only been working at its full capacity recently. At present sixty-three men are engaged in work at the mines which are being operated under the direction of A. A. Holland, a mining engineer of Montreal.

Tungsten is selling today in the English market at 15 cents per pound and all tungsten mined near Burnt Hill is being disposed of in England. An order in council was passed in 1915 by the English government commandeering all tungsten mined in the British Empire and within a few weeks are to be shipped to the mines near Burnt Hill to the United Kingdom. No shipments are sent forward until winter as the ore can be handled more readily at that time.

Tungsten mining has become so important to the residents of Maple Grove station and the vicinity of Burnt Hill mines and situated on National Transcontinental, that petitions have been sent to General Manager F. P. Guelius of the C. G. R., requesting that name of Maple Grove be changed to Tungsten.

OBITUARY

William H. Noonan.
Picou, N. S., Nov. 9.—While chatting in his office yesterday William H. Noonan, one of the most prominent businessmen of Picou, died instantly, presumably from heart failure, aged fifty-nine years. He leaves his wife, a daughter of the late Allen Ferguson of Picou, and six children. Jack, the oldest boy, is in the office of the Royal Bank of Canada in Port of Spain, Trinidad; William, the next son, is a civil engineer, employed at the Terminals, Halifax. A sister, Mrs. Lane, also survives. Mr. Noonan was a member of the firm of Noonan & Davies, ship brokers, coal agents, and express agents. He also held the position of marine and fisheries agent.

Joseph Roach.
Reaton, Nov. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. William Roach of Main River have received a telegram informing them of the death at Boston of their fifth son, Joseph, who had been ill only a few days with pneumonia. Joseph attended school here a few years ago, afterwards taking a commercial course at St. Joseph's College. He then went to Massachusetts and has since held a position in Lowell. Besides his parents, he is survived by six brothers, James of Main River; David, Thomas and John, in the west; Anthony in New Hampshire, and Leonard in St. John; and four sisters, Mrs. Daniel Sullivan of Kouchibouguac, Miss Tilly, teacher at Main River; Albena, student nurse at Brighton Mass., and Miss Nellie, at home. The body is expected here Friday, accompanied by his sister, Miss Albena, and the funeral will be held Saturday morning.

Go to Montreal.
Rev. Ralph J. Haughton has accepted the call extended to him by the Amherst Park Congregational church, Montreal, and will leave soon to take up his work there. The call was unanimous.

OFFICERS NOW IN ST. JOHN
TO BE GUESTS OF KILTIES

Reunion of Gallant Fighters at Fredericton Tonight — Col. Guthrie, Other Officers and the B. G. P. to be in Big St. John Parade Sunday.

Special to The Standard.
Fredericton, Nov. 9.—Lieut. Col. Lightfoot, officer commanding the 222nd Overseas Battalion, and a party of officers now located at St. John, while waiting for transports to go overseas, are coming to Fredericton on Friday evening. They will be entertained by Lieut. Col. Guthrie and officers of the 236th Kilties Battalion (Sir Sam's Own), and will return to St. John on Saturday by automobile. Lieut. Col. Lightfoot and the officers who will accompany him were all formerly with the old 10th Battalion (White Hussars), and as such served through some of the heaviest fighting of the war with Lieut. Col. Guthrie.

Will be Glad Reunion.
Their visit to Fredericton will be in the way of a reunion and is to be followed by a visit to St. John for Sunday by Lieut. Col. Guthrie and a party of officers of the Kilties. A big military demonstration is planned for St. John on Sunday when the Kilties pipe band will have the place of honor and lead the military parade. Lieut. Col. Guthrie and his officers will all be on Brigadier General McLea's personal staff. The visiting officers will be entertained here tomorrow evening at dinner at the officers' mess and a reception in their honor will follow. Lt. Col. Lightfoot was in command of D. Company of the 10th Battalion until he was hit while leading a second wave into the bloody battle of the woods at Tyres on April 22nd, 1915. Lieut. Col. Guthrie was then attached to the 10th Battalion as a lieutenant, having given up his rank as major with the 12th Battalion to get to the firing line, and he and Lieut. Col. Lightfoot occupied the same dugout together for more than a month and also roomed together while in billets.

In Think of Fighting.
Capt. Bingham and Lieut. Green, who also to accompany Lieut. Col. Lightfoot, were also members of the 10th Battalion at that time, the former taking command of A. Company when Major Ashton, now in Regina, was wounded. Capt. Bingham was in a very serious condition for a long time after he was wounded, being in the hospital for seven or eight months while five pieces of shell were being removed from his head. Lieut. Green was sergeant major of the 10th and was blown almost to pieces at the battle of Festubert by a big shell. He lost one leg, an arm and a number of ribs were broken, while he was otherwise terribly maimed.

Two Cases of Eczema
And How They Were Cured

Further Proof That Dr. Chase's Ointment is a Positive
Cure for Chronic Eczema.

If you read these letters you will find that Dr. Chase's Ointment is not to be classed among ordinary salves and ointments.

By actually citing (holding, stinging) eczema in many thousands of cases it has stood the most severe test to which any ointment can be put.

Mr. J. Brice, Temperance road, Parry Sound, Ont., writes: "Just a line to praise Dr. Chase's Ointment for what it has done for my wife. She has been suffering with eczema on her head for two years, and has spent no end of money with doctors and for ointments, which did her no good. She had about given up hope of ever being cured, when someone told her to try Dr. Chase's Ointment. By the use of this Ointment the trouble has left her entirely, so we have unbounded faith in it. I have told several people about the Ointment."

BERNSTORFF

President Wilson Said to be Losing Patience with German
Piracy and Duplicity.

Washington, Nov. 9.—With the elections over, it seems probable that the United States in a few days will awaken to the fact that the submarine issue with Germany has reached its most acute and perhaps final stage.

The state department has received information indicating that the Germans have inaugurated a change in their submarine policy and have decided to adhere no longer to the rules of international warfare in the conduct of their submarines, regardless of promises to the United States.

From a high authority it is learned that President Wilson has made up his mind not to send any more notes to Germany on the submarine issue, and that if it should develop that recent cases such as the torpedoing of the Arabia without warning are in violation of the laws of cruiser warfare and of the German promise to this country, the next step will be the dismissal of Count Von Bernstorff, German ambassador from Washington, and the formal recall of Mr. Gerard, American ambassador to Berlin.

There is a feeling among Democrats close to the White House that Wilson will act with less hesitation in dealing with Germany or any other foreign power if he is requested to officiate than he has previously.

Looked Like Consumptive

Mrs. Mary Whelan, North Forks, N. A short time ago I became subject to violent coughing fits at night and directly at rest rising in the morning. I began losing weight, and all my friends cheerfully informed me that I was going into consumption."

Need Only Trust to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, says Mrs. Kurtzweg.

Buffalo, N. Y.—"My daughter, whose picture is herewith, was much troubled with pains in her back and sides every month and they would sometimes be so bad that it would seem like acute inflammation of some organ. She read your advertisement in the newspapers and tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She praises it highly as she has been relieved of all these pains by its use. All mothers should know of this remedy, and all young girls who suffer should try it."—Mrs. MARTHA KURTZWEG, 529 High St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

If you know of any young woman who is sick and needs helpful advice, ask her to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Only women will receive her letter, and it will be held in strictest confidence.

Pepp
Pepp are little tablets, containing certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapour, and are at once breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On their journey they soothe the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the lungs. In a word, without any liquid or solid can get to the lungs and air passages, these Pepp Jumes get there direct, and at once commence their work of healing.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Sargol does not of itself make fat. Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself, and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and many thin men and women we believe can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first four or five days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

"We are fighting for a worthy purpose, and we shall not lay down our arms until that purpose has been fully achieved."—H.M. The King.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE EMPIRE—Every fighting unit we can send to the front means one step nearer peace.

STILL IN DOUBT.

Although last night's despatches indicated that President Wilson's gains seemed sufficient to place him in the majority in the electoral college, it was intimated from several states that recounts would be demanded and held because of the closeness of the vote. Already such a demand has been made in the state of California and, what is more sensational, the secretary of the Anti-Saloon League in that state has charged irregularities in connection with the voting there which, if proven, would not only upset the "wet or dry" phase of the question, but might also affect the national election.

Yesterday morning, Mr. Hughes, the candidate of the Republican party, still had a slight lead over the President. The chief event of the day was the "switching" of the state of New Hampshire from the Hughes to the Wilson column which brought the Democratic candidate again to the front. Recounts have been demanded in New Hampshire where the majority is very small, and there may be a further change.

If, as now seems probable, in other states where the majorities are so small that a recount might change the result, such a proceeding is demanded it may be a week before final facts are known. The situation is practically without precedent in the United States for while the Hayes-Tilden election was so closely contested that Mr. Hayes had a majority of but one in the electoral college yet the results were not so long delayed as the total vote was much smaller.

That, in these days with all the advantages of telephones, telegraphs and great organizations devoted to the purpose of furnishing quick and accurate tidings of the events of the day, the election of a president of the United States should remain undecided for practically seventy-two hours after the closing of the polls is a most remarkable situation.

SIR GEORGE PERLEY.

Sir George Perley's appointment to the position of Minister to the Canadian Forces Overseas, while it will mean additional work for Sir George, will be a distinct advantage to the Canadian forces already in England or on the firing line, and a good thing for Canada. Of course the Canadians in the field are under Imperial command and control, yet the Canadian militia department has a great deal of business in connection with the soldiers on the move, in training camps in England and in hospital, as well as in respect to their pay and equipment. Recently matters of hospital supply staff and equipment have been under investigation, and to refer all military matters back to the department at Ottawa means a loss of time which would be prevented by having on the ground an official qualified and with authority to deal with them. A Militia Council with a minister as its head could settle all such matters at once and with satisfaction.

Sir George Perley is a thorough business man, more of the type of Sir Herbert Ames than of the political type. He has been in large private business all his life, and in public business only a few years. In the office of High Commissioner he has paid little attention to spectacular functions, but has attended strictly to the interests of Canada, and of the Canadian people. The soldiers abroad have found him a sympathetic, painstaking friend, with the faculty of getting the thing done that was needed. It may not be possible for any minister of any country to carry on the complicated business belonging to war, with all its emergency work and its unexpected developments, and not have some business done negligently or stupidly by some of the officers who are called to military positions. But if Sir George Perley maintains his record he will reduce these mistakes and extravagances to a minimum. It is a business concerned with millions of dollars and hundreds of thousands of men, and needs good organization.

THE ITALIAN CAMPAIGN.

The Italian forces are progressing in their attack in the Carso region, a movement which centres rather east of Gorizia. Reference to the war maps will show this portion of the Isonzo front intervenes between the captured city and the sea. The country over which the actions are being fought is particularly difficult for the attackers, for while it is less mountainous than further west, its formation is better adapted for the effective use of artillery and in addition it is possible to retreat without the loss of any particularly important point.

As General Cadorna's troops had not previously made much progress at this point for several months it is believed that they have the ground well searched and now are in a position to continue their offensive without reverse. A reviewer commenting upon the campaign in the Carso area has this to say of the operation:

"From Gorizia eastward there extends a level piece of ground extending to the edge of the Carso plateau. The Italians crossed this level area on August 9 last but have since been stalled at Vipacchio and San Marco which mark the base of the elevation comprising the plateau. Eastward again is the Valonzo, a deep valley running about San Michele, the eminence carried by the Italian troops in the August rush. Just on the other side of San Michele is Oppachseffa, mentioned in the latest reports from the fighting zone, and Dobero. These points are on the line between San Michele and the sea. The whole Italian line, therefore, may be represented by one drawn from west to east over a level plain, then through a deep valley, up a steep hill, 700 feet high, down the other side and then in a fairly level line to the sea. The defenders, quite naturally, have selected the high points commanding the plain, the valley and the crest of the hill, which the Italians failed to take in the August dash.

"If the invaders break through at any point in this line—the nearer the sea the better—they will either command the plateau or the sloping ground between the plateau and the sea. In either event the way to Trieste would be at their mercy. The defenses of the Carso are the last that inter-

THREE MEN ON ROLL OF HONOR

Recruiting Not so Brisk Yesterday—General Military Notes—Promotion for Local Boy.

- #### HONOR ROLL.
- Raymond Jamar, Perth, N. B., 9th Siege Battery
 - Frank Dykeman, St. John, N. B., 65th Battery
 - Hurley Beatty, Hampton, Canadian Engineers

Recruiting in the city is not as active this week as it was last. Three men made application for enlistment yesterday and were accepted. At the naval office only one application was made, and the applicant will return this morning to be examined by the doctor.

No. 9 Siege Battery.
Today is "at home" on Partridge Island. The officers of the 222d Battalion will dine with officers of the Siege Battery on the island tonight. At noon the band of the 222d Battalion will go over to the island and remain for the afternoon. It will also render a musical programme for the dinner this evening.

Only recruit reported for duty on the island yesterday, R. Jamar, of Perth, N. B. The party at Halifax who have been taking a special course in battery work are expected to arrive home next week.

The 185th.

The 185th Battalion carried on their regular routine work yesterday. Today the battalion commanded by Major LeGere will hold a route march in heavy marching order. They will leave the barracks at an early hour this morning and proceed to Lunenburg, where they will remain for the day returning to the barracks at about five o'clock this evening. Lieut. Col. D'Aigle will not be in the city today.

Sergeant Instructor Joseph Marcell received word yesterday that his wife residing in Quebec, had passed away after a very brief illness. He left last night for Quebec on the evening train.

The 180th.

The route march which was to be held yesterday by the 180th Battalion was postponed. The muster roll called sounded yesterday afternoon and every man in the battalion regardless of rank or commission answered his name in the ranks.

The route march will be held this afternoon, provided the weather is at all favorable for marching. The captain for the day will be J. P. Fitzgerald, and the orderly officer Lieutenant H. B. O'Donohue.

St. John Boy Promoted.

A. E. Stephenson at the outbreak of the war was a bombardier in the 2nd Regiment C. A. He was one of the first to respond and was a sergeant in the battery until December, when he gave up his rank to join the 2nd Divisional Ammunition Column in command of Lieut. Col. Harrison, receiving the rank of bombardier, after being in France 15 months with the ammunition column he has been recommended for a commission in the Royal Field Artillery.

Sergeant C. Spicer, of Fredericton, also of the Divisional Ammunition Column has also been recommended for a commission.

At present Messrs. Spicer and Stephenson are spending a month's furlough in Scotland before commencing their training course at Shorncliffe.

A. E. Stephenson is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Stephenson and was for a number of years connected with St. Andrew's Cadet Corps. At the time of his leaving to join the 3rd Regiment C. A., some months before the war broke out, he was captain of the cadet corps. A brother, W. J. Stephenson is now in France a Sergeant with the Canadian Ordnance Corps, 6th Division, and at present is attached to the 28th Battalion.

Joe. Breen Missing.
Mrs. Fred Breen, 185 Carmarthen street, has received the disquieting message that her brother-in-law, Pte. Joseph Breen, infantry, had been officially reported missing since October 8. Pte. Breen enlisted at St. John on July 29th, 1915, in the 56th Battalion, and went overseas with that unit after a short stay at Valcarier. In England he was drafted into the 13th Canadian Battalion and has been on the firing line for several months.

Corp. J. S. Allaby.
In yesterday's casualty list mention is made of Corp. J. S. Allaby, who was wounded. Corp. Allaby, who went away with the 26th Battalion, belongs to Hanford Brooks, parish of Simonds.

Pte. M. Marshall.
Pte. Michael Marshall, reported in yesterday's despatches as wounded, has a brother at the front. Another brother, Alexander, who belonged to the 28th, returned home wounded some time ago. Before enlisting Pte. Marshall was employed with Mr. Jas. Manchester, and later at the Provincial Hospital Annex.

Lieut. E. B. McLatchy.
Judge and Mrs. McLatchy, Campbellton, on Sunday evening received a cable from their son, Lieut. E. B., in London, who has been in active service in France for the past ten months, stating that he was now in hospital, 50 Weymouth street, London West.

Pte. W. F. Crowley.
Mrs. Frances Crowley, St. John, has received a letter from her son, Pte. W. Fleur Crowley, of the 26th Battalion, saying that he was admitted to Edmonton Military Hospital, London, N., on Oct. 22nd, with a fracture of the right hand.

GEORGE WASHINGTON AND THE CHERRY TREE.

A Play.

Scene, George Washington's father's side yard won George Washington was a boy.

George Washington: (wawking up and down swinging his new hatchet) Fallward march! Halt! Attention! Rest arms! Its to bad boy scouts aint invented yet, because Id make a good one with this hatchet. G. look at that cherry tree so yunk and yet so bewifill. I got a good mind to cut it down and get my name in the history books.

(He marches eround it 3 times).

George Washington: I bet I can cut it down in 15 wacks. I bet I cant. I bet I can. All rite, Ill take the bet.

(He cuts it down in 14 wacks and his father comes out of the house and the cherry tree falls on his shin).

George Washington: Herry, I woun!

Mr. Washington: Owtch, my shin!

George Washington: G. father, you made a rime.

Mr. Washington: Do you want a licking?

George Washington: No sir.

Mr. Washington: Well that aint going to prevent you frum getting one. I bet my shins all black and bloo, but I cant look and see on account of the naybers. Wat do you meen by chopping down that innersent cherry tree?

George Washington: Father, I dont know how to tell a lie, I did it with my little hatchet.

Mr. Washington: Dont get funny, get the doctor. If it wasnt for this shin Id show you whose boss eround heer.

George Washington: Do you think this will get in the history books?

Mr. Washington: I know wate my slipper will get if you dont hurry up and go for the doctor.

George Washington: Yes sir.

CREAM FOR CATARRH OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How To Get Quick Relief From Head-Colds. It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffing, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone.

Get a small bottle of Rhy's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly.

Information Wanted.

Donald McLelland, next of kin of No. 44,512, Private Archibald McLelland, is requested to communicate with the office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, this city.

Pte. Frederick P. Lawson.
Pte. Frederick P. Lawson, reported missing since October, unofficially reported a prisoner of war at Peuchin, Germany, was the word received by his wife, Mrs. F. P. Lawson, 222 Main Street, yesterday morning. Pte. Lawson was slightly wounded on Sept. 19th in the foot and was in hospital for three days and then sent to a rest camp.

Pte. F. Cody.
One of the brave boys of Milltown, Charlotte county, concerning whom much anxiety has been felt, is Pte. J. Frank Cody, who went across with the draft of the 56th Battalion. Conflicting reports have been received concerning him, some placing him among the wounded, others as killed in action and others as missing. His sister has now received a letter from him, dated Sept. 21, stating he was a prisoner of war in Germany.

What Fitting Glasses Means

Selecting a becoming type of frame, then adjusting it to hold the lenses right and comfortably, are an important part of the optometrist's work and requires technical skill.

But before that comes the highly important work of fitting the eyes with lenses. Both of these fits are necessary. Sharpe's optometrists are unusually competent in fitting glasses. It pays in satisfaction, comfort and money to buy glasses here.

The majority of shoe manufacturers have withdrawn all prices, and many of them are refusing orders for either immediate or future delivery. The leather to make shoes out of cannot be obtained. Immense warehouses that formerly at this time of year would be brimful of leather of all kinds are now empty. We were more fortunate than many dealers in obtaining delivery of our Fall Shoes, and are able to offer at present high class goods at $5.00 and $6.00 a pair. We honestly believe that ere long it will be impossible to buy such goods at these prices as makers are asking more than that for goods today.

REPORTS TO CHILDRENS' AID REVEAL GRAVE CONDITIONS

Annual Meeting Last Evening at Which Reports Told of The Work of the Year.

The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held last night at the headquarters in Elliott Row, the president, A. M. Belding being in the chair. There was a good attendance and great interest was shown in the results of the work of the year. Reports were read and officers elected as follows:

President, A. M. Belding; first vice-president, Mrs. E. Atherton Smith; second vice-president, Mrs. D. McLellan; third vice-president, M. E. Agar; secretary, Rev. W. R. Robinson; treasurer, James Patterson; honorary auditor, J. King Kelley, K. C. members of board of management, Rev. J. H. A. Anderson, Rev. S. P. Spooler, Rev. Canon Armstrong, Rev. J. Charles B. Appel, Rev. G. F. Scovil, Rev. Nell McLoughlin, Abraham Poyas, W. Frank Hatheway, F. G. Spence, Rev. Father Duker, Dr. J. O'Brien, T. H. Estabrook, Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, Commissioner McLellan, Rev. W. H. Barracough, Mrs. H. A. McKeown, Mrs. John Keefe, Mrs. W. B. Tennant, Mrs. J. H. Doody, Mrs. H. Colby Smith, Mrs. D. Hutchison, Mrs. J. Willard Smith, Mrs. Edward Finnigan, Miss E. Pratt, Miss Grace O. Robertson, Mrs. J. E. Secord, Mrs. M. Woodman, Mrs. G. Fred. Anderson, Miss Annie O'Neill, Mrs. W. E. Scully, Miss Cora Sinclair.

Mr. Belding in his report referred to the startling conditions revealed by the report of the secretary and to the large amount of work done. The chief credit for this work, he said, was due to the untiring efforts of Rev. Mr. Robinson who had devoted a great part of his time to further the aims of the society, doing practically all that in his secretarial duties, to that a paid agent could be expected to do. Mr. Belding pointed out the need for the proper supervision of neglected and dependent children and for a local commissioner to deal with the work of the society.

The treasurer's report showed expenditures amounting to $3,640.38, of which more than $1,710 represented the cost of repairing and furnishing the home in Elliott Row. The society has a small balance in hand.

The secretary's report among other matters, gave a history of the formation of the society, the report gave particulars of the year's activities, which included the following facts:

Husbands and wives united with children after being separated ... 22
Mothers proceeded against for keeping bawdy house ... 11
Mothers for running away from family ... 2
Of the children dealt with the lives of many little ones have been brightened, bettered and educated by changing in many cases the living conditions in their homes, by helping the parents, by placing some in foster homes or institutions, by returning them to parents providing necessary medical attendance, by furnishing food, clothing and fuel, in protecting some from the cruelty and neglect of their parents, by paroling certain offenders instead of sending them to prison, by sending some to school, and procuring employment for others.

Neglectful Parents.

While deliberate neglect has been shown on the part of parents, your secretary has issued a warning, the fact that legal action would follow if conditions were not remedied immediately, has always had the desired effect. Except in this city where some of the parents have been brought before the court, work of this nature called for action in Queens, Albert, Restigouche, Northumberland, Kings, Westmorland and St. John City and County.

The parents who have neglected their children belong to the following classes: Drunkards, diseased, immoral, criminal, obscene, lazy, profane, street-walkers, fathers have deserted, mothers have deserted, husbands separated from wives, wives separated from husbands, mentally weak fathers, mentally weak mothers, prostitutes, physically incapacitated, filthy housekeepers, husbands non-supporters of family, no control over their children, unable to read or write.

Our society has co-operated with the authorities both in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia in sending five men to the penitentiary for outraging innocent girlhood. In one case the child was only six years old.

Frequent appeals came to this office from outside quarters in behalf of neglected children. In all cases I have directed the parties by letter how to proceed. In this is involved a large amount of labor, anxiety, because of the legal questions involved, and my absence from the scene of operations. However, so far no complications have arisen.

A Sad Fact.

Personally I have found homes devoid of all the common principles of civilization, but the saddest incidents of some were the vicious teachings of certain parents to their children. In one home I found on inquiry that out of five children they each claimed to belong to five different churches. Investigation revealed the fact that their religious endeavors consisted in attending church and Sunday school two Sabbaths previous to Christmas in order to get a basket of food to take home—thus the Episcopalian, Roman Catholic, Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches were imposed upon at the instance of degraded parents to the injury of the moral life of their children. Truly we need getting together here, so that the heathen conditions of St. John city and county may receive at least equal consideration with that of China, Japan or India. The social conditions of this province demand immediate attention. This is no romance, but unfortunate fact as the statistics of this report demonstrate. We need more and larger shelters, officers, and above all a juvenile court to take care for our unfortunate young men and women of the future. The county districts of New Brunswick present just as striking cases of degradation as the city.

REV. GORDON DICKIE HAS ACCEPTED CALL

Will Leave St. Stephen's Church for St. Andrew's Church, St. John's, Nfld.—Presbytery Approves.

At a special meeting of the St. John Presbytery yesterday afternoon held in St. Andrew's church, the matter of the call to Rev. Gordon Dickie from the congregation of St. Andrew's church, St. John's, Newfoundland, was considered.

Rev. J. F. Sutherland of Fredericton, former pastor of the latter church, asked leave to support the call. Representatives of St. Stephen's church were present, including James Collins and H. F. Daly for the congregation, Thomas Graham, elder, and George M. Robertson for the trustees.

Rev. Mr. Dickie's action in deciding to accept the call was approved and he will leave the city soon to take up his duties in the ancient colony. St. Andrew's church, at St. John's, Nfld., is the only Presbyterian church in that city. The call from the church was signed by 264 members and 116 adherents, with supplementaries to come later. The salary offered is $2,500, with manse and a month's vacation each year. The congregation is a wealthy one, the revenue of the church being about $15,000 yearly.

Was Troubled With Shortness of Breath

When the heart becomes affected, there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensation, dizziness, and a weak, sinking, all-gone feeling of oppression and anxiety.

The nerves become unstrung, you dread to be alone, have a horror of society, start at the least noise and are generally fatigued.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills should be taken. They regulate and stimulate the heart, and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system.

Mr. C. M. Cormier, Buctouche, N. B., writes: "Since two years ago I was troubled with a shortness of breath, and sometimes I could hardly breathe. I went to see several doctors, and they said it was from my heart and nerves, but they did not seem to do me any good. One day I got one of your P.B.B. Ailmanace and read of a case similar to mine. "I bought a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after taking it I noticed such a change that I kept on taking them until I had used four more boxes, when I was cured."

PLANNING A MONTH'S CAMPAIGN FOR BOYS

The members of the executive of the St. John County Sunday School Association held a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. last night for the purpose of completing arrangements for an active month of boys' work.

The chair was occupied by the president, C. R. Wasson. After the preliminary plans for the campaign had been made, the executive outlined the schedule for the four weeks work commencing on next Thursday night. It was decided to open the campaign with a banquet tendered to the superintendents and male teachers of the different Sunday schools in the city. The banquet will be held at 6.15 on Thursday evening, after which there will be a half hour address. The meeting will close at 8.15. This will furnish parties who have any other engagement on that evening sufficient time to keep their appointment.

The executive also hope to organize an inter-denominational superintendent association.

At noon yesterday William Love of Milford was thrown off a load of hay as it was being taken from the barn in a wagon. He received injuries to the back and was taken to the General Public Hospital for treatment.

NEWS AND COMMENT FROM THE FINANCIAL WORLD

QUOTATIONS IN THE ST. JOHN MARKET

There have been many changes in the quotations for commodities during the past week. Higher prices are again the rule. Flours are now at record prices, 20c. per bushel in advance of last week's figures bringing Manitoba to $11.20 and Ontario to $10.25. Canned goods are dearer in most departments. American clear pork, American plate beef and lard are on the upgrade. Eggs are at a very high figure, as much as 41c. per dozen being charged for those in case. Bran and middlings are soaring. Turpentine is quoted at advanced figures. In a long list of changes it is noticeable that they represent increases in every instance. The following prices are those obtained from jobbers and wholesalers:

ROTHESAY WINS FROM NORMAL SCHOOL 4-3

Fredericton, Nov. 9.—The Rothesay football team won a hard fought game from the Normal School at College Field this afternoon by a score of 4 to 3. Carson dropped a goal from the field well towards the end of the second half and won the game for his team. It was doubtful if the visitors could have got over the Normal School line for every one try. Rothesay quarterback's exhibition of quick thinking was one of the few features of an ordinary game of football. Fullerton got away from the Rothesay backs and carried the ball down the field for twenty-five yards and passed the pigskin to Richard, who went over the line for a try.

The line-up:
Rothesay—A. Diago, fullback; Nass, Short, Scovill Brydson, halves; Carson, Arscott, Coster, quarters; Smith, Plummer, McKensie, DeVoeber, fullback; Snowball, Clark, forwards.
Normal School—Dobson, fullback; Crocker, Richard, Garcelon, Jack Henderson, halves; Fullerton, Kitchen, P. Murray, quarters; Bayers, Pys, Squires, McDiarmid, Getchell, Wright, R. Murray, forwards.

Tuberculosis Rapidly Increasing Among Children of Belgium and Northern France.

More Food Urgently Needed to Keep up Their Strength

An interview with Mr. W. L. Honnold, American Director of the Belgian Relief Commission, brings to light a new danger threatening the population of the territory occupied by Germany.

Mr. Honnold reports that about 5,000,000 wholly or partially destitute people, who have been dependent on the Commission, generally show diminished vitality. The effects are most apparent among the older children, particularly those in the adolescent stage. Among these there is an alarming increase of tuberculosis, due to the lower power of resistance consequent on an inadequate diet.

To overcome this serious danger, the Commission appeals for extra contributions so that a special meal can be served every day in the schools. Efforts are also being made to provide as far as possible for children outside the schools.

This can only be done—Belgium's children can only be saved—if every one of us who can possibly do so will give something toward the fund. Whatever you can afford, send your subscription weekly, monthly or in one lump sum to Local or Provincial Committees, or

DOMINION STEEL FOUNDRY UP 13

Steel Stocks Much in Evidence in Toronto Market—Excellent Outlook for Foundry Co.

Special to The Standard.
Toronto, Nov. 9.—The steel securities were much in evidence yesterday. Dominion Steel Foundry—the mystery stock of the steel section—again made an extreme advance of 13 points to $33.

Mr. Sherman, the president of the company, was in the city, but failed to shed any light on the reasons lying behind the recent remarkable advance in this stock. He did point out, however, that the prosperity of the Dominion Steel Foundry, though enhanced by the manufacture of war munitions, was in no way based upon this more or less ephemeral traffic, but found its principal source in the general work of the company, which in the past few years had been greatly extended and would continue long after hostilities had ceased.

AUTOMOBILE ASSN. PRAISED THE ROAD WORK

Resolution of Appreciation Passed in Connection with Good Repair Work to Great Marsh Road.

At a meeting of the New Brunswick Automobile Association one of the chief topics of discussion was that of the provincial highways. It was shown that the main highway between St. John and St. Stephen was being put in first class condition, and while the road was in pretty good shape before, with the exception of a short space in the vicinity of Lepreau, it will now be in better condition than ever before.

Members expressed themselves delighted with the work being accomplished on the Marsh road by the government, as this important main artery to and from the city is being placed in first class condition. The great work being done by the new tractor was a feature that brought forth praise from all the members of the association. At the close of the discussion the following resolution was adopted:

"That this association appreciates the up-to-date methods adopted by the Attorney General, the Minister of Public Works and the Provincial Government in the purchase of a traction engine and trailers now being used to repair the Great Marsh Road, and to respectfully suggest that this mode of repairing the principal highways of the province be continued by acquisition of additional similar outfits, and furthermore, that it appears to the association after investigation that there is an opening to further reduce the cost of delivering material on to the Marsh Road, if a second tractor were purchased and put to work thereon."

Lieut. H. H. W. Wood, R. N., who is in the city in the interest of securing recruits for the navy, received a letter yesterday from a young man from Wheaton, a young man who enlisted here, and is happy he did. His letter reads as follows:

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 1916.

Lieut. H. H. W. Wood:
Dear Sir,—Just a line to let you know that I am well and present and hope these few lines will find you the same. I am having a good time. I expect to leave soon for England.

There are only four St. John boys here and I would like to see more come. Volunteers are coming morning and night, mostly from Toronto. I should like to see a lot from St. John. You fellows couldn't do a better thing than join the navy. I wouldn't come out of it now if I could till the war is over for I intend to go right on and do my duty.

Halifax is not nearly as good a place as St. John for it is in a business after six o'clock in the evening.

Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain yours truly,

THE PROVINCIAL RED CROSS HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING AND HEARS ENCOURAGING REPORTS

Mayor Hayes Chosen President — Contributions of Cash During the Past Year Reached Fine Total of $17,971.34

The annual meeting of the Provincial Red Cross was held yesterday afternoon at the Mayor's office. Those present were General McLean, Lieut.-Col. Sturdee, Mayor Hayes, A. H. Fitz-Randolph, J. H. Frink, P. Grannan, Lady Tilley and Miss Clements. The reports submitted were of a most encouraging nature and prospects for the coming year are bright. The sum of $300 was subscribed for the prisoner of war work of the society. This work was taken up in May last when $300 was set aside for the sending of comforts to Canadian soldiers in the prison camps and cards of thanks are being received every day from the boys who are highly grateful for the parcels received. The money is sent to Mrs. Rivers-Bulby, who has the work in charge and the local society furnish a list of those to whom the parcels are to be sent. One of the cards received was from Private Clayton, son of J. P. Clayton, superintendent of Fernhill.

friend to help him with all those stockings, and we who had the pleasure of packing them came to the same conclusion. Now looking forward as we must to another year of endeavor, it is with every confidence that we face our future work, for the reports of the past year show us that the call which comes to us more clearly every day to give and to labor, will be willingly and cheerfully answered by every worker in our province. (Sgd.) ELSIE V. N. CLEMENTS, Secty. N. B. Provincial Branch, C.R.C.S.

The officers were elected for the year as follows: President, Lieut.-Gov. Wood; 1st vice-president, A. H. Fitz-Randolph; 2nd vice-president, P. Grannan; secretary, Miss Clements; treasurer, Lady Tilley; additional members of the executive, Dr. L. N. Bourque, Moncton; General McLean, Col. Sturdee, J. H. Frink, H. A. Powell and Col. T. G. Loggie, Fredericton.

Report of Lady Tilley, Treasurer of the New Brunswick Provincial Branch, Canadian Red Cross Society, November 1st, 1916: To His Honor Lieut. Governor Wood, Patron N. B. Provincial Branch Canadian Red Cross Society, and Members of the Executive: Gentlemen—Since our last annual meeting and during the past year, we of the Red Cross have been called upon constantly to meet the ever increasing necessities, which the many serious engagements at the front have occasioned. People have been asked to give without stint of their time, money and work, and the response has been most generous always.

The list of contributors to the British Red Cross will be published in a few days. Following are the reports of the secretary and treasurer: After the presentation of the reports a hearty vote of thanks moved by J. H. Frink and seconded by H. A. Powell, was tendered to Lady Tilley as follows: The executive desire to express to Lady Tilley their hearty appreciation of the splendid work she has performed, and feel that her untiring efforts to promote the work of the Red Cross throughout New Brunswick and Canada deserve the highest commendation and praise. In replying to the vote Lady Tilley said she considered it a privilege to do all in her power for such a good cause, and it gave her much pleasure to feel that she could be of service at such a time.

Our expenses for the year, including stationery, stamps, boxes for packing, trucking, express charges, etc., etc., have amounted to $1,247.16, leaving a balance in the Bank of Nova Scotia of $1,369.15 and cash on hand $38.25. To sum up a report of cash contributions sent forward for Red Cross purposes from the Province of New Brunswick. To Toronto, (including donations sent direct from other branches and societies), $22,373.71; for prisoners of war, $1,252.50; for special purposes,

For especially adopted prisoners of war we have sent $1,252.50, and the cards which come by every English mail from these men in Germany give a very slight idea of their gratitude for parcels sent. Contributions for other special purposes have amounted to $576.00. $875.00 for British Red Cross, 94/117.65.	Mrs. R. Malcolm Hope, 24.00
Our thanks are due to all those auxiliary workers who have during the past twelve months done so much for the alleviation of the sick and wounded. We cannot tell just what men our contributions will benefit, but this we do know, that wherever we may help to keep the Red Cross banner flying, there is carried mercy, help and kindness to all who need it. Around the City

Travellers' Night—Board of Trade rooms, Saturday, eight p.m.
 Major Tilley Home.
 Major L. P. D. Tilley, director of national service for New Brunswick, returned home last night after having successfully completing a field officer's course at the Royal School of Instruction at Halifax.

Harmony Glee Club.
 It was announced last night that a meeting of the members of the Harmony Glee Club will be held at McDonald's music warehouse tonight at 8.30 o'clock to consider proposals to resume rehearsals. A full attendance is desired.

Gordon Church Hill.
 Mrs. J. E. Church, Germain street, received a cable yesterday from Dr. Murray McLaren, informing her that her son, F. M. Gordon Church, is ill in the General Hospital, London, with laryngitis. The soldier went overseas about a year ago with the 44th Battalion of Winnipeg.

St. John's Trade.
 St. John is in second place, both in imports and exports, for the five months ending August 31, 1916. Montreal being the only port which surpasses it in this regard. The figures for the period are: St. John, exports, $55,241,455; imports, $6,647,046; Halifax, exports, $17,593,215; imports, $6,537,659; Montreal exports, $144,447,920; imports, $101,322,612.

Sir George E. Foster's Visit.
 Sir George E. Foster will be the city on Sunday and Monday next and will address two meetings. On Sunday afternoon at the Imperial theatre, under the auspices of the Canadian clubs, his address will be along patriotic lines. On Monday evening he will address a gathering of business men at the High School on the question of trade after the war, and it is hoped that the men of the city will turn out in good numbers to hear him.

Railway Construction Corps.
 The 239th Railway Construction Corps are practically up to full strength and there are leaving for the other side. There are now about 950 men quartered on the historic Fort Edward at Windsor under the command of Lieut.-Colonel J. W. Steward. Sergeant Miller, who is in charge of the local recruiting office in St. John, received several applications yesterday for the 239th, but unfortunately the men were unable to pass the medical examiner.

Presentations at St. Andrew's.
 After the prayer meeting in St. Andrew's church Wednesday evening Judge Forbes was presented with a gold-mounted fountain pen with his name and date inscribed on it, the presentation being made by Mr. Law. His Homer was presented with a leather sashbag from the ladies of St. Andrew's and the presentation was made by Mrs. C. W. Bell. Judge Forbes and Miss Homer will leave shortly for Trinidad, where they intend to spend the winter with Rev. Harvey Morton and Mrs. Morton, the latter being Judge Forbes' daughter.

CORDUOYS.
 If you want Velvet Corduroy for a dress, coat or skirt be sure and get the wide width that cuts so much better advantage than the usual narrow ones. They can be had at F. A. ALL PREPARED FOR SUNDAY'S BIG PARADE

Expected that Garrison Church Parade will be the Largest Ever Seen Here.

All necessary arrangements have been completed by the G. O. C. Troops in New Brunswick for the grand garrison church parade which will take place on Sunday morning. It will be the largest military parade ever held in the city of St. John. Every military unit quartered in the city will participate. The 165th Battalion will attend at the service of the mass in St. Peter's, the 9th Siege Battery will attend St. Andrew's church, the 180th St. Andrew's, and the 222nd Battalion will worship at St. David's. It is not yet known where the Field Ambulance Training Depot nor the 62nd will worship. The orders covering the parade are as follows:

JOY RIDERS CAPTURED BY COUNTY POLICEMAN

Horses Owned by Charles Crawford Taken From His Stable and Abused — Two Arrests Made.

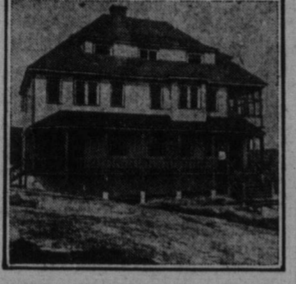

Wednesday night County Policeman John Saunders while patrolling the Loch Lomond road found six young fellows abusing two horses which they were driving along the road. The officer on his motor cycle gave chase and soon rounded up the joy riders. He managed to arrest two of the young fellows who gave their names as Donovan and Paisley; their four companions escaped.
 The officer learned that the horses were owned by Charles Crawford, whose stable is on Castle street, and the animals had been engaged all day hauling the wagons about the city collecting the mail from the boxes. When the officer stopped the men on the road both horses were exhausted.
 Secretary S. M. Wetmore for the prevention of cruelty was notified and on examining the horses found that one had been so badly used up from over driving that he ordered it shot. The prisoners were taken before Magistrate Adams in the Brookville court and have been remanded to jail.

CLOVER SEED HULLING.
 The Department of Agriculture is operating a clover seed huller. If a group of ten farmers have a reasonable quantity of clover containing seed, the department will be pleased to send the machine to thresh the same. For particulars, write J. B. GRENFELL MISSION HOSPITAL, On Hospital Island, Labrador.

The Provincial Board of Health will take vigorous action to keep infantile paralysis out of New Brunswick.
 The Provincial Board of Health met last night at the government rooms in this city and considered ways and means of dealing with infantile paralysis should it make its appearance and also the methods to be adopted to prevent its being brought into the province from infected areas.
 As yet only three cases have made their appearance in the province, two in Charlotte County, and one in Queens county. Two proved fatal, and one recovered from the disease, but the provincial board decided not to wait until the disease had reached the epidemic stage before grappling with it and prevent, if possible any more cases getting into the province.
 It was decided to place infantile paralysis and epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis under rule 4 and other rules which call for quarantine, and all local boards of health will be given authority to place all cases of such diseases in quarantine.
 Measures will also be taken to prevent the introduction of this disease from Montreal where it is known to be at the present time.
 The secretary of the provincial board will be instructed to correspond with all places where the disease is known to exist and advise them that persons coming to the province from such places will be liable to be quarantined in the absence of proper certificates showing that they have not been exposed to the disease.
 The chairman of the board was not able to present his military duties keeping him in Halifax and Dr. L. M. Curran was elected chairman pro tem. Those present at the meeting were: Dr. B. M. Mullin, secretary of the board; Chancellor C. C. Jones of the U. N. B.; Dr. F. S. Sprague, Woodstock; Dr. F. S. Walker, St. John; Dr. Mullin, K. C. St. John; Dr. F. J. Desmond, Newcastle, and J. B. Daggott, provincial secretary of agriculture, Fredericton.

WESTERN UNIT ON ITS FIRST LOCAL MARCH

The 222nd Held Promised Parade Through City Streets Yesterday Afternoon—Attracted Much Attention.

It is doubtful if a route march ever attracted more attention in the city than did that held by the 222nd Western Battalion yesterday afternoon. The company, under the command of Major Moss, which is quartered on Partridge Island, arrived on this side about 2.30 yesterday afternoon and was joined by the remainder of the battalion upon arrival. The whole battalion formed up at Reid's Point, under the command of Lieut. Colonel James Lightfoot. To the lively music of one of the best military bands that has ever honored the city with its presence, 1,000 men all in perfect step carried themselves along the streets of the city at a fast pace.
 The regimental band of the 222nd Battalion is on a par with any band in the Dominion. Consisting of 35 pieces, among which the French horn and saxophone can be heard to advantage, and under the direction of Jos. Parks, well known in musical circles in western Canada, it will hold its own with any band that has ever left these shores.
 On every side the men of the 222nd Battalion received words of commendation from the citizens who lined the route of march. The members of the battalion are a fine lot of men and have been accustomed to march on the level plains of the wheat country. They found the hills a little awkward when marching yesterday.
 A dance will be held by the N.C.O.'s and men of the 222nd Battalion in St. Andrew's Rink on Saturday night, November 11th. As the boys of the Golden West are passionately fond of golfing the dance is bound to be a brilliant success.

The O. C., Lieut. Colonel James Lightfoot, and officers of the battalion, have issued invitations to an at home to be tendered to the officers of the garrison, to the mayor and commissioners, and other public men in the Knights of Columbus Hall on Monday evening, Nov. 13th.

FOR THE TRENCHES.
 Special Brown "Hipress" Rubber Boots, made extra strong, are being sent to soldiers at the front. Also for Christmas presents. They can be purchased at Estey & Co's, Dock street.

Can Your Ears Be Deceived?

The music critics of over two hundred of America's leading newspapers were unable, by actual comparison, to distinguish between the voices and instrumental performances of the world's greatest artists and the Re-Creation of those voices and performances by Edison's great masterpiece,
The NEW EDISON
 which is NOT A TALKING MACHINE, but the MOST MARVELLOUS OF ALL MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS. It has astonished music critics, and delighted music lovers all over the civilized world. Only by HEARING THE New Edison can you form anything like an adequate idea of what it means to the world of music.
