AT HOME

Last Night at Royal Hotel a
Grand Success

THE COSTUMES

Many Ladies from Dalhousie and other places

The Bachelor's At Home at the Royal Hotel last evening was a grand success in every sense of the word. The dining-room and office were used for dancing, while the rear room was the reception room, all of which were neatly decorated for the occasion. There were about eighty couples present, many from Dalhousie, also from Newcastle, Matapedia and other places. The music was furnished by McEachern's orchestra under the leadership of Thos. Stapleton of Chatham. The following is a list of the ladies' costumes, which while it may not be completed, is as nearly so as the short time allotted to us would permit, and we trust that if any are left out they will not criticise too severely: Mrs. C. H. LaBelle, black satin, pearls; natural flowers; Mrs. W. A. R. Cragg, green silk; Mrs. Stewart, Dalhousie, pink organdy and battenberg; Mrs. F. A. TRACTION DEAL

August Belmont in Control of the New York
Lines

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—The important initial steps in the huge traction deal of which the financial community has been dreaming for years have been taken. In a nutshell, the following are the leading facts:

That August Belmont on Monday last arranged with Thomas F. Ryan to take over all Mr. Ryan's stocks and bonds of the Metropolitan system of all kinds.

That these holdings carry control of the Metropolitan System. That the Belmont or Interborough Rapid Transit interests today are actually in control of all the lines—elevated, surface and underground—between the Battery and the Bronx.

This consolidation involves about $100,000,000, and effects the greatest street railway system in the world.

That it was contemplated has been told in this correspondence as long ago as last winter.

BELMONT, THE TRACTION KING.

August Belmont becomes the traction king. He will be in, practically single-handed, control of all the street car surface lines, the elevated lines and the subways of the great city, carrying their millions of passengers a day, except the Brooklyn lines, and there is reason to believe that it will not be long before he controls the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system even if he does not merge it with the Interborough.

This tremendous monopoly is likely to play an important part in the political history of the country. The howl that will go up from the municipal ownership people, voiced by Hearst, will be heard to high heaven.

HARRIMAN'S REVENGE

There was gossip that the Belmont people fought Ryan in the open market, and held enough stock to force Ryan into the deal. Others refused to believe that this was the culmination of a fight which has been for the most part under the surface, although the public has had a glimpse of some of it, and then Harriman, joined with Belmont and with political influences to help him, has through the attack upon the local gas concerns and the insurance investigation, got Ryan into a position where he preferred to sell his Metropolitan control.

[The Mr. Belmont referred to is an annual visitor to the Restigouche and owns valuable fishing and hunting privileges]

Henderson, Turquoise blue crepe de chene; Miss Johnston, China silk; Mrs. J. M. Doherty, Blue Eolienne; Mrs. J. A. Stevens, Black lace; Mrs. D. A. Harquail, Black point de's prius over "tile green" silk; Miss Cameron, Cream mohair; Miss Asker, Blue china silk white insertion; Miss Jellett, white muslin pink trimmings; Miss Maud Murray, Blue Nuns veiling; Miss Crocker, Newcastle, Blue silk; Miss Elliot, New Castle, Pink china silk; Mrs. J. R. McKenzie, Black voile; Mrs. Wm. Sproul, Black velvet; Miss McBeath, Black crepe de chene; Miss McMaster, Black voile; Mrs. H. Wilson, Brocade silk; Maud O'Keefe lavender silk.

Something to Please a Woman.

"DY-O-LA" is a revelation to every woman at first. It seems too good to be true that one package of "DY-O-LA" will color silk, cotton, woolen and mixed goods—or all four—this is just what "DY-O-LA" will do and color MORE goods to the package than any other. "DY-O-LA" contains no acid to injure even the most delicate fabrics, and does not stain the hands or boiler. Best in every way for coloring at home. Druggists everywhere have "DY-O-LA" in 10 cent packages. Color card sent on receipt of 2c stamp. The Johnson-Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, Canada.

SUDDEN DEATH

Of Hon Raymond Prefontaine

IN PARIS

Heart Disease the Cause
Solicitor Gen. Lemieux
Wires the News

PARIS, Dec. 25.—Mr. Prefontaine accompanied by Rodolph Lemieux the Canadian solicitor-general, recently came to France in connection, it is said, with the establishment of a line of steamers between Marseilles and Canadian ports. Soon after his arrival in Paris the minister complained that he was suffering from heart trouble, but he continued to fill his engagements. During the progress of a banquet given in his honor Dec. 21 he was seen to be suffering acutely, but this at the time was attributed to emotion, while replying to a toast to his health.

The minister on Saturday visited Lille, and Dunkirk, but on returning to the Hotel Continental here, he was compelled to go to bed and a physician was sent for. The latter pronounced Mr. Prefontaine's illness to be serious and a specialist was called into consultation. Complete rest was advised and all engagements were cancelled.

At 9 o'clock tonight the administration of medicine was followed by a choking sensation. The last sacraments were administered and death followed immediately.

The British ambassador, Sir Francis L. Bertie, was notified by Hon. Mr. Lemieux and arrangements for the funeral of the minister were at once begun.

OTTAWA, Dec. 25.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier received a cable from Solicitor-General Lemieux, who was in Paris along with Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, stating that Mr. Prefontaine died suddenly at 9 o'clock this evening. Mr. Lemieux said that he would send particulars later.

The premier was greatly shocked upon receiving the sad news which deprived him of the service of a valued and esteemed colleague, of a warm personal friend and a life long political supporter.

When Mr. Prefontaine left here he was in the best of health and spirits. His business was with the British Admiralty and also in connection with certain proposed improvements for the St. Lawrence.

The late Mr. Prefontaine was extremely popular with all classes. Politically he was one of the best campaigners in the Province of Quebec. In the house of commons he was a favorite with both sides.

It is too early to say who will succeed Mr. Prefontaine in the cabinet. Solicitor-General Le-

THE RACES

Large crowd Witnessed the Sport On the Ice on Christmas Day

A large crowd assembled on the ice to witness the horse races on Christmas day. A very full track was prepared and there was some good bursts of speed by the different fliers.

In the free-for-all there were three entries.—W. H. Miller's "Prosecutor," driven by J. E. Murphy; Bruce McBeath's Harry Wilkes; N. McNair's Clayton, Jr. Prosecutor got first money, Harry Wilkes second, and Clayton, Jr. third.

There were four starters in the 2.40 class Laura A., was driven by A. H. Jones got first place, Ed. LeGallais' horse second; Henry Dunnean's L. Rose third and Millers fourth.

In the 2.25 class there were five starters—Maud S., owned by Joe McIntosh, Laura A., driven by A. H. Jones, Grey Frank owned by Max Mowat, Harry owned by T. Ellsworth. Maud S. won the race. A very tight race was witnessed in the second heat between Laura A. and Grey Frank.

mieux has no doubt aspirations in that direction, but there is also the growing west which is looking for increased representation and the fact that Mr. Templeman has been a long time in the ministry without a portfolio.

MONTREAL, Dec. 25.—News of the sudden death of Hon. Raymond Prefontaine in Paris at 9 o'clock Christmas night was received here to-night in a cable from Jules Clement, secretary to the minister.

A later cable from Solicitor-General Lemieux, who accompanied the minister of marine to Paris, says that heart disease was the cause of death. The cable announcing the death came to J. L. Perron, the minister's former law partner here, who conveyed the message to Mrs. Prefontaine, who resides in Montreal. The news of her husband's death prostrated her.

The minister of marine left Montreal four weeks ago for London. His visit abroad was to take up the question of a naval reserve with the home authorities and also to consult with experts regarding improved icebreakers for the St. Lawrence and Straits of Northumberland.

Another purpose was to consult financiers concerning the scheme of building a bridge across Montreal harbor. After his London sojourn Hon. Mr. Prefontaine left London for a pleasure jaunt to Paris.

Attorney General's Suggestion to Shareholders

LIQUIDATORS' PROGRAM

Views of Interested People in Montreal The Light and Power Company Stock

TORONTO, Dec. 22.—The attorney General has suggested that the liquidator of the York County Loan & Savings Co., in the conduct of matters, including the realization of assets, should be counselled and assisted by the advice of a committee of shareholders residing in the different provinces so that all shareholders may, through their representatives, feel assured that the conduct of matters is being wisely carried on and also present their views when necessary.

In order that the shareholders shall be put to no unnecessary expense in proving claims the liquidators announce no formal proof is necessary at the present time. Receipt books and certificates may be sent in and will be checked with the books of the company. The liquidators will report to the court for approval claims which are verified by the company's books, and where there is any difference liquidators propose to take the matter up with the shareholders direct.

MONTREAL, Dec. 22.—At a meeting of the York County Loan shareholders Montreal, held yesterday, a resolution was adopted calling on the government to take steps to prevent such occurrences in future and it was decided to investigate the state of affairs in Montreal.

Toronto, Dec. 22.—The written agreement under which Joseph Phillips, president of the York County Loan & Savings Company was to receive a block of stock in the Southern Light and Power Company which was financed by the York County Loan, is in the possession of the National Trust company having been turned over to the liquidator by Mr. Phillips himself. The agreement is accompanied by a letter from Phillips who offers there-in to assign any rights he has in the power company to a liquidator for the benefit of shareholders of the York County Loan.

10,000 IMMIGRANTS

S. A. To Bring them Here Before May 1st

(Toronto News.)

Immigration to the extent of 10,000 persons, including servant girls, farm help and factory hands, is the plan of the Salvation Army for the spring of 1906. All plans have been carefully laid.

"Immigration on such a large scale has never before been successfully performed by any colonization or immigration official, either government or otherwise, with such handicaps as the Salvation Army has had, and will have, to overcome," said an Army official to The Sunday World.

"In the first place, although it is comparatively easy to obtain immigrants, it is extremely difficult to get the class required for this country, and as the Army has received favours and encouragement from the government we must do our utmost for Canada's welfare in the matter of bringing or sending to this country responsible men and women who will ultimately become Canadians and who will bring some money and resources into this country."

"This class of persons is extremely hard to induce to leave home, as has been proved many times."

"Some trouble in the matter of transportation has also been overcome. The Army intended to charter a vessel from each of the ocean lines. Allan Line, C. P. R. Line and Dominion Line—but the Allan Line could not afford to lose one of their vessels for the time required on account of being handicapped now by recent mishaps to the steamers Victoria and Bavarian. The C. P. R. have only three ships on the ocean route, and they would not consent, so that only one vessel could be chartered outright from the Dominion Line."

"Either the Kensington or the Southwork will make three trips during the month of May, and will bring out nearly 5000 people; for the rest, accommodation will be secured on each of the other lines, and the whole party of 10,000 will be in Canada by the first of May."

"Situations for this number have already been secured through the agency of information bureaus founded all over the Dominion, from Charlottetown, P. E. I., from which place Brigadier Howell, immigration agent, has just returned after completing all preparations, to Quebec, Montreal, London, Winnipeg, Brandon, and as far west as Vancouver. The immigrant pays to the Army the price of transportation straight from his own hearth to the door of the Canadian farmer, the Canadian factory employer, or the housewife in need of a maid, to any spot in the wide Dominion."

"About one-half of the number will be young girls, who will engage the servants in good houses, and the demand for these is even greater than for male help."

"All these preparations have taken much time, thought and labor to perfect. For the past year soldiers of the Army have been detailed especially for the task of canvassing situations and as each application has been made a report is sent to headquarters, so that the Army knows to the last detail that a situation is secured for their immigrant and the immigrant is advised beforehand, so that each may know what to expect before he commits himself in buying his transportation."

"It is a well-known and much advertised fact," continued the informant, "that, every immigration venture that has been undertaken lately has had some flaw in the machinery, and immigrants have often been misinformed as to what to expect when they came to this country, and naturally have made complaints, but from all indications and all information which has been freely given by the Army, no trouble of this kind will ever arise in our well-laid plans."

ARCHBISHOP CRUCHES' TEMPERANCE CRUSADE

Montreal Prelate's Mandate Calling for abolishment of Treating habit

MONTREAL, Dec. 24.—Archbishop Cruches, of the Roman Catholic diocese of Montreal, issued a mandament against intemperance which was read today in all the churches under his jurisdiction.

A short time ago his grace announced that he would soon begin a crusade against the use of alcoholic liquors and in line with that programme as read today proposes to establish temperance centres in every parish and to limit the number of hotels, saloons and other places where intoxicating beverages are sold, to impose high taxes for licenses and to maintain general suppression measures.

The archbishop declared that the clergy would be first to set an example and it would be expected

"Weak Heart"

Palpitation and irregular action of the heart are due largely to a thin, watery condition of the blood. The heart and nerves refuse to perform their proper work for want of support. Pale, weak, or anemic people should use "PSYCHINE" and avoid heart troubles. "PSYCHINE" makes rich blood, tones the system, regulates the heart action and restores vitality. A FELINE DITTY

—ON—
DIAMOND DYES.

My kittens three, were white and gray,
"Twas hard to keep them clean;
No matter how I worked each day,
The kits looked very mean.

They'd go out in the morning clad
So tidy and so trim;
At night, they'd come home looking sad,
With clothes so soiled and grim.

I could not keep them tidy, neat,
One hour of the day
When they were in the field or street,
With other cats to play.

I then procured the DIAMOND DYES
And made a dye bath hot
And to my kittens great surprise,
I dipped them in the pot.

To day, my kittens are all dressed
In black so rich and deep;
I mourn no more, and now am blessed
When'er I roam or sleep.

The moral of my song is plain,
To women bright and wise;
If you would pleasure, profit gain,
Just use the DIAMOND DYES.

that heads of families would do likewise.

"Let all kinds of alcohol disappear from the homes," the letter reads in part, "and let the treating practice be done away with and temperance leagues be established in every parish for children, young men and heads of families with St. John Baptist as patron."

The Reverend Franciscan fathers are appointed apostles of the temperance movement in the archdiocese.

Perhaps the Tribune will bear with us to call attention to another of its errors. It insinuates that Mr. Laughlan was the writer of the correspondence on the school board question which appeared in our columns a few weeks ago. We wish to say most emphatically that Mr. Laughlan was not the writer of said correspondence, nor was it written by any member of the School Board. We make this statement in justice to Mr. Laughlan, with the hope that the Tribune will make due apology.

Farmers in this vicinity have no reason to complain of low prices for their products this season. Nearly everything commands a good price, while turkeys, geese and chickens are away up. Turkeys sold here for 25 cents per lb., geese $1.50 each and chickens $1.00 per pair. It is said the scarcity was caused by large shipments to the States.

That "dish of crow" evidently didn't agree with the Tribune man very well, but he had to swallow it, with woe-filled results. What a bile. Ugh! Whew!!

EDITOR'S MAIL

Our Caledonian Society are planning to have a Burns night on the 25th of January but the question of setting a suitable place prevents itself.

Mayor Murray at the St. Andrew's dinner in replying to the toast, "Our town and country" mentioned the necessity of a Hall for entertainments, musical and social.

Now why cannot the Caledonian Society appoint a committee to form a company to build a Caledonian Hall—more than one person of Scotch fore-bears in this county is worth $20,000 and Scotch are proverbial for wishing to be independent, and a suitable Hall would not cost more than eight thousand dollars, and if it did cost more, what matter, "What's like us? We have the sillar".

A Hall governed by the Society would be a guarantee as to the character of the entertainments, and when Jessie McLaughlan or some other Scotch lass comes to visit us she would more sweetly sing the auld Scotch songs.

The bride, beautifully dressed received the best wishes of a host of friends. After the ceremony a most enjoyable supper was served and the evening pleasantly spent.

The bride was the recipient of many valuable and useful gifts. The happy couple will reside in Mann's Settlement.

In the afternoon of Dec 27th at 2.30 the home of Edward Mann was the scene of a happy event when Miss Mary A. Fitzgerald was united in marriage to Mr. Alexander Mann.

The bride wore a skirt of blue strapped with blue velvet and trimmed with pearl buttons and a white silk waist with overlace yoke and cuffs. The grooms gift to the bride was a handsome gold watch chain. She received many beautiful and useful presents.

After an inviting supper the evening passed pleasantly with music, song and dancing.

WANTS HIS MONEY

Warren C. Winslow Claims
Wm Richards & Co Ow
Him $30,000

In the Equity Court Chamber yesterday morning, before Mr. Justice Barker, Dr. A. O. Earle, associate counsel with Dr. Pugsley, obtained an injunction in the suit recently brought by Warren C. Winslow, the well known Chatham Barrister, against Hugh J. Chisholm and associates, and William Richards & Co., and J. T. Rundle, to restrain Chisholm and his associates from paying to Wm Richards & Co., that portion of the purchase price for their lumber properties to which Mr. Winslow claims he is equitably entitled.

This case is of more than ordinary interest, as Mr. Winslow's claim is based on an agreement given under the corporate seal of the Wm Richards & Co., by which the plaintiff and the defendant Rundle, were promised the excess realized by the Wm. Richards Co., for the sale of their lumber properties, over and above the sum of $500,000, which would entitle him to at least $20,000.

This agreement was made for the purpose of providing remuneration for Messrs Rundle and Winslow, for services which they rendered in securing purchasers for the Wm. Richards & Co's lumber properties in Northumberland, York and Carleton counties.

It is alleged in the bill of complaint that the defendants have refused to give any statement to the plaintiff of the amount of the purchase price. The properties were to have been formally transferred to the purchasers on the 31st of December.

Hon. L. J. Tweedie is the counsel for Hugh Chisholm and his associates.—Sun, 28th.

THE CITY OF CROCODILES.

An Ancient Site Said to Have Been Built by Pharaoh.

The crocodile, one of the most sacred animals of the east, has given its name to several ancient sites. Of the various "cities of crocodiles," the names of which have been handed down to us by Herodotus, Pliny and Strabo, perhaps the most striking was the "Crocodilopolis" of the ancient Egyptian province of Fayum, which, according to tradition, was built by that pharaoh who "made the lives of the children of Israel bitter with hard service."

This province lies within an almost complete circle of hills—a little oasis in the midst of the desert, where roses and grapes mingle with figs and olives and luxuriant palm trees grow almost into forests. Its capital is Medinet, and a little to the north of the city are a number of irregularly shaped mounds. Beneath these are the ruins of the pharaoh "Crocodilopolis," the "City of Crocodiles," later called Arsinoe, and the shrine of the sacred crocodile of the neighboring Lake Moeris, which was then 450 miles in circumference.

This late held the sacred crocodiles, and as each died in turn it was buried in one of the 1,500 underground sepulchres of the world famed "Labyrinth" at hand, side by side with the embalmed bodies of successive pharaohs.

THE NAME AMERICA.

When It Was First Proposed For the Newly Found Continent.

The name of America for the newly discovered continent was first proposed in the little volume put forth at St. Die, in the Vosges, in the year 1507 by Waldseemüller, better known by the Hellenized form of his name, Hylacomylus. Three or four editions of this treatise were published at St. Die before 1507, and a few years afterward an edition without date was printed at Lyons by Jean de la Place. All these editions are of extreme rarity, and probably that printed at Lyons is the rarest of all, though the library of the British museum possesses two copies of it. It has never been suggested that any maps were engraved to accompany either of the editions, but it has always been supposed that the earliest map with the word "America" marked on the new found world was the "Typus Orbis," engraved on wood for the "Enarrationes Joannis Cameris in C. Julii Solini Polyhistora," printed at Vienna in 1520 for Joannes Sinzerlingus.

In this map the new world is represented as a long island, on which is the inscription: "Anno d. 1497 haec terra cum adjacentibus insulis inventa est per Columbum Ianssonem ex mandato regis Castellae America provincia."

BRET HARTE AS A HUNTER.

The Mesmerizing Message He Received After an Accident.

During the time he acted as United States consul in Glasgow Bret Harte occasionally indulged in a day's sport with the gun, and it was during one of his shooting excursions that the famous American author met with an accident which might have disfigured him for the remainder of his life, his face being badly cut from the recoil of an overloaded gun. Fortunately the doctor's skill prevented him from being permanently marked.

Writing about the occurrence to his friend T. Edgar Pemberton, who quotes the letter in his "Tribute to Bret Harte," the novelist concludes his letter by telling of an amusing effort which was made to console him on account of the accident.

"When the surgeon was stitching me together," he wrote, "the son of the house, a boy of twelve, came timidly to the door of my room: 'Tell Mr. Bret Harte it's all right,' he said. 'He killed the hare.'"

Preservative Paste.

Best preservative, antiseptic and preservative qualities owing to the presence of tannin, iron and other substances in it. Here is an instance: At the time of the covenants, in 1685, three men were shot at a place called Crossgallach on the moors above Old Cumnock, in Scotland. In 1825, when a monument was being erected to their memory, the workmen came upon the corpses rolled in their shrouds. The bodies were in exactly the same state as when they were buried. The moss had preserved them as if they had been embalmed.

Artificial Flowers.

It was in Italy that a demand for artificial flowers first arose. This was due primarily to a caprice of fashion which demanded that during festivals blossoms in and out of their seasons should be worn and also to the fact that their color and freshness were stable. Later on, in the middle ages, the artificial so far superseded the natural that both men and women decked their heads with imitation flowers of cambric, paper, glass and metal. The best artificial flowers are now made in Paris.

How to Succeed.

Believe in yourself, believe in humanity, believe in the success of your undertakings. Fear nothing and no one. Love your work. Work, hope, trust. Keep in touch with today. Teach yourself to be practical and up to date and sensible. You cannot fail.

All She Wanted.

"Do you think, young man, that you could give my daughter all she asks for?" questioned papa sternly. "I—aw—think so, sir," murmured the lover bashfully. "She says she wants only me."

A man must be both stupid and uncharitable who believes there is no virtue or truth but on his own side.—Addison.

Care of Birds.

In an English treatise on the "Hygiene of Bird Keeping," by George Creswell, attention is called to the thoughtless practice of hanging birds in cages just above the level of the ashes of windows and to the mistaken kindness of hanging a cage in a corner of a sitting room or a kitchen near the ceiling. In the one case the bird is subjected to drafts and will in all probability develop catarrh and bronchitis, and in the other it lives in a vitiated atmosphere.

Warning to Mothers.

The "only child in the family" in 66 per cent shows disadvantageous traits. It is usually of poor health, lacking much of normality, both mental and physical. The "youngest child," the "only boy" and the "only girl" display many striking resemblances to the "only child."

He Told the Truth.

An Irish gentleman had a splendid looking cow, but she kicked so much that it took a very long time and it was almost impossible to milk her, so he sent her to a fair to be sold and told his herdman to be sure not to sell her without letting the buyer know her faults. He brought home a large price which he had got for it. His master was surprised and said, "Are you sure you told all about her?" "Bedad, I did, sir," said the herdman. "He asked me whether she was a good milker. 'Be-gorra, sir,' says I, 'it's you'd be tired milking her.'—Seventy Years of Irish Life."

What Constitutes an Assault.

"If a man comes into your house," said the Liverpool stipendiary magistrate, "and picks up a poker to strike you, you are entitled to pick up the tongs and fence with him, and if you hit him with the tongs he cannot complain of being assaulted, because he would have struck you first if he could. But if, on the other hand, you take the poker out of his hand and strike him with it you are guilty of an assault, because you struck an unarmed man. That is as clear a distinction as I can make."

The induction of Rev. J. W. Kierstead, B. A., as pastor of the Baptist churches of River Philip, Little River and Oxford, N. S., took place in the Baptist church at Oxford on Friday evening.

A Bathurst despatch says—W. R. Knowles' mill for manufacturing grindstones at Clifton, Gloucester county, was destroyed by fire on Thursday evening. Loss $3,000, insurance in Sun company for $3,000.

A monster turkey claw was shown on the other day by Mr. Charles Coes who this year raised several fine specimens of the dainty fowl fattening them by his own special process. Some of them weighed over twenty pounds.

Miss Gussie Mowat left on Friday morning for Montreal to take a course in business college. On Wednesday evening at the prayer meeting of the Methodist church she was presented with a pretty pearl ring as a mark of appreciation of her faithful services in the choir, Sunday School and other departments of work in that church.

The wedding of Miss Gertrude Jardine to Mr. Earl Everett Gay took place at Cambridge on Christmas day. Miss Jardine's many Campbellton friends will extend hearty congratulations and best wishes for a happy and prosperous journey through life. She was one of Campbellton's most popular young ladies, always prominent in social events. Mr. and Mrs. Gay will reside at Beverly, Mass.

Another change in the trackmasters on this division has taken place. Mr. George Fawcett of Campbellton has been promoted to the position of trackmaster on the Campbellton and New-Castle district. Mr. Delboue goes back to his old division and Mr. McPherson takes his former position as section foreman.

Mr. Max Mowat returned last week from Toronto where he visited his friend W. A. Fraser the Canadian author. Mr. Mowat says Mr. Fraser will probably visit the Restigouche next summer to procure sufficient data for a story he is writing. Mr. Fraser's latest book "Si Zada Tales" although just published has received many flattering comments.

Sahib Zada is the keeper of the animals in the zoo who talks to those under his care and makes them talk to him in a most interesting manner.

Mr. Max Mowat attended the meeting of the Fish and Game Protective Association in Montreal. He says he enjoyed the meetings and through all there was a keen appreciation of the value of our game and fisheries hence the demand for better protection. He was much impressed with the earnestness of Minister Prevost who stated that imprisonment in the penitentiary would be the only penalty imposed for dynamiting in the Quebec streams.

Mr. Mowat thinks that the fish and game laws will be much more rigidly enforced in Quebec in future.

The Howard, Wis., Republican has the following item in reference to a nephew of A. E. Alexander of this town.—Wm. Alexander Jr. returned Sunday night from Milwaukee where he has just graduated from the Milwaukee Medical College.

Out of 70 applicants who took the examination, only 47 passed, and only about one-third of these got full papers. Billy was second on the list and is now a full-fledged druggist. He says he had to do some hard digging at school, but gives a large part of the credit for his success to the excellent training he received under Dr. Grafton and pharmacist J. H. Parden for several years prior to his course at the College.

All Flat Lands vicinity turned out on Christmas evening to an entertainment and Christmas tree given in the Orange Hall.

The Hall was crowded and all expressed themselves as most heartily pleased with the entertainment and it is hardly necessary to say that the children were satisfied with the Christmas tree. It was simply loaded with gifts. Santa Claus appeared at the close amid many cheers from the children who waited pretty patiently till their names were called.

The chief features of the programme were the excellent way the children did their parts and the play entitled "Recompense" which was perhaps the most entertaining of all.

MOOR'S SETTLEMENT

On Saturday evening Dec 23rd, most of the people of the community and many from up river attempted to get into the school house to hear a most entertaining programme.

The building was so crowded that it was difficult to keep their feet but this did not lessen the excellent work on the platform. Recitations, dialogues, songs, choruses were sounded forth in an excellent way showing that their teachers and helpers were very faithful in their preparation. The thanks of the community are due to those who took so much trouble to give all but particularly the children so pleasant an evening.

Proved in Mount Forest

Every doctor in this town tried his best to relieve Mrs. J. Withom of Asthma; none succeeded. "For years, she states, "I was a dreadful sufferer nothing gave relief. At times I found it necessary to have all the doors and windows open to get my breath. When in despair I heard of "Catarhazone." I used it and now am perfectly cured." This proves beyond doubt that a case of Asthma is curable with Catarhazone. No remedy so pleasant, none so absolutely certain to thoroughly cure try "Catarhazone" yourself; its guaranteed.

The Return of Sherlock Holmes

By A. CONAN DOYLE,
Author of "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," "The Hound of the Baskervilles," "The Sign of the Four," "A Study in Scarlet," Etc.

ILLUSTRATED BY F. D. STEELE

Such was the remarkable narrative to which I listened on that April evening, a narrative which would have been utterly incredible to me had it not been confirmed by the actual sight of the tall, spare figure and the keen, eager face, which I had never thought to see again. In some manner he had learned of my own and heretofore, and his sympathy was shown in his manner rather than in his words. "Work is the best antidote to sorrow," my dear Watson, he said, "and I have a piece of work for us both tonight which if we can bring it to a successful conclusion will in itself justify a man's life on this planet." In vain I begged him to tell me more. "You will hear and see enough before morning," he answered. "We have three years of the past to discuss. Let that suffice until half past 9, when we start upon the notable adventure of the empty house."

It was indeed like old times when at that hour I found myself seated beside him in a hansom, my revolver in my pocket and the thrill of adventure in my heart. Holmes was cold and stern and silent. As the gleam of the street lamps flashed upon his austere features I saw that his brows were drawn down in thought and his lips compressed. I knew not what wild beasts we were about to hunt down in the dark jungle of criminal London, but I was well assured from the bearing of this master huntsman that the adventure was a most grave one, while the sardonic smile which occasionally broke through his ascetic gloom boded little good for the object of our quest.

I had imagined that we were bound for Baker Street, but Holmes stopped the cab at the corner of Cavendish square. I observed that as he stepped out he glanced sharply to the right and left and at every subsequent street corner he took the utmost pains to assure that he was not followed. Our route was certainly a singular one. Holmes' knowledge of the byways of London was extraordinary, and on this occasion he passed rapidly and with an assured step through a network of narrow streets, the very existence of which I had never known. We emerged at last into a small road lined with old, gloomy houses which led us into Manchester street and so to Blomfield street. Here he turned swiftly down a narrow passage, passed through a wooden gate into a deserted yard and then opened with a key the back door of a house. We entered together, and he closed it behind us.

The place was pitch dark, but it was evident to me that it was an empty house. Our feet creaked and crackled over the bare planking of my dear Watson stretched hand touched a wall from which the paper was hanging in ribbons. Holmes' cold, thin fingers closed around my wrist and led me forward down a long hall until I dimly saw the murky fan light over the door. Here Holmes turned suddenly to the right, and we found ourselves in a large, square, empty room, heavily shadowed in the corners, but faintly lit in the center from the lights of the street beyond. There was no lamp near, and the window was thick with dust, so that we could only just discern each other's figures within. My companion put his hand upon my shoulder and his lips close to my ear.

"You know where we are?" he whispered.

"Surely that is Baker Street," I answered, staring through the dim window.

"Exactly. We are in Camden House, which stands opposite to our own old quarters."

"But why are we here?"

"Because it commands so excellent a view of that picturesque pile. Might I trouble you, my dear Watson, to draw a little nearer to the window, taking every precaution not to show yourself, and then to look up at our old rooms—the starting point of so many of your little fairy tales? We will see if my three years of absence have entirely taken away my power to surprise you."

I crept forward and looked across at the familiar window. As my eyes fell upon it I gave a gasp and a cry of amazement. The blind was down, and a strong light was burning in the room. The shadow of a man who was seated in a chair within was thrown in hard, black outline upon the luminous screen of the window. There was no mistaking the pose of the head, the squareness of the shoulders, the sharpness of the features. The face was turned half around, and the effect was that of one of those black silhouettes which our grandparents loved to frame. It was a perfect reproduction of Holmes. So amazed was I that I threw out my hand to make sure that the man himself was standing beside me. He was quivering with silent laughter.

"Well!" said he.

"Good heavens!" I cried. "It is marvelous!"

"I trust that age does not wither nor custom stale my infinite variety," said he. "I recognized in his voice the joy and pride which the artist takes in his own creation. 'It really is rather like me, is it not?'"

"I should be prepared to swear that it was you."

"The credit of the execution is due to M. Oscar Reppner of Grenoble, who spent some days in doing the molding. It is a bust in wax. The rest I arranged myself during my visit to Baker Street this afternoon."

"But why?"

"Because, my dear Watson, I had the strongest possible reason for wishing certain people to think that I was there when I was really elsewhere."

"And you thought the rooms were watched?"

"I knew that they were watched."

"By whom?"

"By my old enemies, Watson. By the charming society whose leader lies in the Reichenbach fall. You must remember that they knew, and only they knew, that I was still alive. Sooner or later they believed that I should come back to my rooms. They watched them continuously, and this morning they saw me arrive."

"How do you know?"

"Because I recognized their sentinel when I glanced out of my window. He is a harmless enough fellow, Parker by name, a garbier by trade and a remarkable performer upon the jugs harp. I cared nothing for him. But I cared a great deal for the much more formidable person who was behind him, the bosom friend of Moriarty, the man who dropped the rocks over the cliff, the most cunning and dangerous criminal in London. That is the man who is after me tonight, Watson, and that is the man who is quite unaware that we are after him."

My friend's plans were gradually revealing themselves. From this convenient retreat the watchers were being watched and the trackers tracked. That singular shadow upon the wall, the most cunning and dangerous criminal in London, that is the man who is after me tonight, Watson, and that is the man who is quite unaware that we are after him."

"The shadow has moved!" I cried.

"It was indeed no longer the profile, but the back, which was turned toward us."

Three years had certainly not smoothed the asperities of his temper or his impatience with a less active intelligence than his own.

"Of course it has moved," said he. "Am I such a farcical bungler, Watson, that I should erect an obvious dummy and expect that some of the sharpest men in Europe would be deceived by it? We have been in this room two hours, and Mrs. Hudson has made some change in that figure eight times, or once in every quarter of an hour. She works it from the front, so that her shadow may never be seen. Ah!" He drew in his breath with a shrill, excited intake. In the dim light I saw his head thrown forward, his whole attitude rigid with attention. Outside, the street was absolutely deserted. Those two men might still be crouching in the doorway, but I could no longer see them. All was still and dark save only that brilliant yellow screen in front of us with the black figure outlined upon its center. Again in the utter silence I heard that thin, shillat note which spoke of intense suppressed excitement. A door opened and he pulled me back into the blackest corner of the room, and I felt his warning hand upon my lips. The fingers which clutched me were quivering. Never had I known my friend more moved, and yet the dark street still stretched lonely and motionless before us.

But suddenly I was aware of that which his keener senses had already distinguished. A low, stealthy sound came to my ears not from the direction of Baker Street, but from the back of the very house in which we lay concealed. A door opened and shut. An instant later steps crept down the passage—steps which were meant to be silent, but which reverberated harshly through the empty house. Holmes crouched back against the wall, and I did the same, my hand closing upon the handle of my revolver. Peering through the gloom, I saw the vague outline of a man, a shade blacker than the blackness of the open door. He stood for an instant, and then he crept forward, crouching, menacing into the room. He was within three yards of us, this sinister figure, and I had braced myself to meet his spring before I realized that he had no idea of our presence. He passed close beside us, stole over to the window and very softly and noiselessly raised it for half a foot. As he sank to the level of this opening the light of a street, no longer dimmed by the dusty glass, fell full upon his face.

The man seemed to be beside himself with excitement. His two eyes shone like stars, and his features were working convulsively. He was an elderly man, with a thin, projecting nose, a high, bald forehead and a huge grizzled mustache. An opera hat was pushed to the back of his head, and he carried a evening dress shirt front gleamed out through his open overcoat. His face was gaunt and swarthy, scored with deep, savage lines. In his hand he carried a stick, and he was holding it as if a spring or bolt had fallen into its place. Still kneeling upon the floor, he bent forward and threw all his weight and strength into a single, sharp click. He held in his hand was a sort of a gun with a curiously misshapen butt. He opened it at the breech, put something in and snapped the breechlock. Then, crouching low, he rested the end of the barrel upon the ledge of the open window, and I saw his long mustache droop over the stock and his eyes gleam as it peered along the sights. I heard a little sigh of satisfaction as he nudged the butt into his shoulder and said that amazing target, the black man on the yellow ground, as he had hoped. At that instant he approached and the street gradually cleared he paced up and down the room in uncontrollable agitation. I tried to draw my companion's attention to them, but he gave a little ejaculation of impatience and continued to stare into the street. More than once he nudged his feet and tapped rapidly with his fingers upon the wall. It was evident to me that he was becoming uneasy and that his plans were not working out altogether as he had hoped. LIVER COMPLAINT.

The liver is the largest gland in the body; its office is to take from the blood the properties which form bile. When the liver is torpid and inflamed it cannot furnish bile to the bowels, causing them to become bound and constive. The symptoms are a feeling of fullness or weight in the right side, and shooting pains in the same region, pains between the shoulders, yellowness of the skin and eyes, bowels irregular, coated tongue, bad taste in the morning, etc.

CRISIS OF GIRLHOOD

A TIME OF PAIN AND PERIL.

Miss Emma Cole Says that Lydia B. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has Saved Her Life and Made Her Well.

How many lives of beautiful young girls have been sacrificed just as they were ripening into womanhood! How many irregularities or displacements have been developed at this important period, resulting in years of suffering!

Miss Emma Cole.

Girls' modesty and oversensitiveness often puzzle their mothers and baffle physicians, because they withhold their confidence at this critical period.

A mother should come to her child's aid and remember that Lydia B. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will at this time prepare the system for the coming change and start the menstrual period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Miss Emma Cole of Tullahoma, Tenn., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I want to tell you that I am enjoying better health than I have for years, and I owe it all to Lydia B. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

"When fourteen years of age I suffered almost constant pain, and for two or three years I had soreness and pain in my side, headaches and was dizzy and nervous, and doctors all failed to help me."

"Lydia B. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and after taking it my health began to improve rapidly, and I think I saved my life. I sincerely hope my experience will be a help to other girls who are passing from girlhood to womanhood, for I know your Compound will do as much for them."

"If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice ask her to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will receive free advice which will put her on the right road to strong, healthy and happy womanhood."

BATHURST NEWS

The skating rink on the harbor is one of the finest wished for, and in fact it is preferable to a closed one. It is larger than the average closed rinks and well lighted up, also has all accommodation for skaters in the shape of a well heated little house. We certainly wish the young folks every pleasure and also thank the few young men who attend to the clearing off of the ice after our many snow storms.

ADMIRALTY CASE

In Pouliot Vs. Lady Eileen.
Judgment Was Reserved

The case of Pouliot vs. the Lady Eileen was concluded yesterday afternoon and judgment reserved. In the morning F. S. Blair, manager of the steamer, identified a chart of the Restigouche River and Bay Chaleur.

Mr. Mott argued for the defense, Capt. Pouliot had been guilty of several acts of disobedience. He did not stop at places when ordered to, and on being called to account told Mr. Blair he must be insane or a drunkard. His service was unsatisfactory in other respects. The ship was not kept clean and discipline was bad.

On the evening of June the 20th Captain Pouliot was ordered to leave Dalhousie and come to Campbellton, the regular terminus.

He wired back: Will leave Dalhousie to-morrow at daybreak or when I think proper. This was insubordination and Mr. Blair dismissed him the next day. The plaintiff claims it was not safe to go to Campbellton, but the evidence shows the night was clear, the channel was well lighted and every witness stated that if they had received such an order they would have brought the steamer to Campbellton that night. There were two small buoys in the channel, but they were not dangerous.

The steamer ran over them in the day time and received no injury. As a consequence of the captain's disobedience the mails missed the outgoing trains at Campbellton and were detained twenty-four hours. The Lady Eileen was subsidized to carry the mail.

Mr. Mott claimed that all wages were forfeited as this was a rightful dismissal and year was not complete. In the case the plaintiff should not recover costs; as he furnished no accounts before action was brought.

Mr. Hazen, of the plaintiff, contended that the contract was by the month and that as two months' service were completed no wages could be forfeited. With regard to costs they were in the direction of the judge and should as a general rule follow the result of the case.

In regard to the merits of the case the plaintiff had a splendid record as a master mariner. He received his certificate in 1883; had acted as fourth officer on the Allan liner Parisian and been captain for several years of the Admiral, running between Dalhousie and Gaspé. He had always been a competent captain.

As captain of the steamer he was responsible for the safety of the ship and passengers. On the night he laid up at Dalhousie several witnesses state it was very dark and overcast. There was a large number of ships at Campbellton and Capt. Pouliot had never gone up the river in the night before. More than that there were two dredge buoys in the middle of the channel. Should propeller catch in the ropes the steamer would have to stop and might be seriously damaged.

Wm. Peterson, the pilot on board, agreed it was better to stay at Dalhousie, and that was the opinion of two Restigouche pilots of long experience, Messrs. Elsliger and McNeill.

There was nothing to show that Capt. Pouliot had any improper motive for his action. He had no personal interest in remaining at Dalhousie but simply exercised his best judgment for the safety of the ship and passengers.

Judgment is reserved. J. D. Hazen, K. C. and W. H. Harrison for the plaintiff. W. A. Mott for the steamer—St. John Sun 23rd.

MORE MONCTON LIQUOR THEFTS

A Case of Brandy stolen from I. C. R. Freight Shed on Friday

MONCTON, Dec. 24—Thieves have been again getting in their work on I. C. R. freight. Friday a case of brandy was missing from the freight house. The last theft of liquor from the I. C. R. here consisted of sixteen bottles of whisky and the thieves took pains to fasten up the box and replace the straw in which the bottles were packed. Efforts to get trace of the stolen goods in that case proved fruitless, although a house in the city was searched.

The last theft of liquor reported indicates that the thieves are getting bolder, as they took case and all. Thefts of one kind or another about the I. C. R. are becoming numerous and it is probable some vigorous steps will be taken to get the parties carrying on the operation.

Recently a Moncton man undertook to import a barrel of cider from Nova Scotia but when the barrel arrived here it was empty. The Monctonian thought he would try once more but when the second barrel arrived it was found to have been tapped also.

Just where the leakage occurred it was difficult to tell. After the second successful attempt the citizen gave up trying to get his cider.

THE WORLD OVER
Thousands of Mothers
are usingDR. CODERRE'S
INFANTS' SYRUP

For children's ailments, you cannot but admit the fact that this preparation is one of merit and is all what is claimed for it. It is safe, pleasant and soothing for children teething, and a prompt checker of bowel and stomach troubles.

Physicians and Professional nurses recommend it. In purchasing, see that Dr. Coderre's signature and portrait is on every wrapper. Beware of the many Syrupes put up in a similar form and made to look like Dr. Coderre's.
