"German Syrup"

G. Gloger, Druggist, Watertown, Wis. This is the opinion of a man who keeps a drug store, sells all medicines, comes in direct contact with the patients and their families, and knows better than anyone else how remedies sell, and what true merit they have. He hears of all the failures and successes, and can therefore judge: "I know of no medicine for Coughs, Sore Throat, or Hoarseness that had done so effective work in my family as Boschee's German Syrup. Last winter a lady called at my store, who was suffering from a very severe cold. She could hardly talk, and I told her about German Syrup, and that a few doses would give relief; but she had no confidence in patent medicines. I told her to take a bottle, and if the results were not satisfactory I would make no charge for it. A few days after she called and paid for it, saying that she would never be without it in future as a few doses had given her relief."

At Bedtime I Take A Pleasant Glass of Boschee's German Syrup.

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

My doctor says it acts gently on the stomach, liver and kidneys, and is a pleasant laxative. This drink is made from herbs, and is prepared for use as easily as tea. It is called

Rheumatism Cured in a Few Hours

—BY THE—

ALKALINE TREATMENT

All Schools of Medicine are taught that there can be but two causes of disease, Acids and Alkalies, and where there is one cause of alkalinity there is a million of acidity. The Alkaline Treatment discovered by Professor Brunton, the Canadian Chemist, neutralizes the acid which is the cause of every known disease. Stimulates the blood vessels, restoring circulation. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Paralysis, Eczema, Sour Stomach, Kidney Troubles, Indigestion, Debility, any form of Blood Poisoning, etc., are treated successfully. There are two preparations, internally to purify the blood through the stomach, externally to absorb the impurities through the pores of the skin; they are each 50c. Any information free, either by letter or personally. PROF. BRUNTON, Office 1, 208, Masonic Temple, Chicago.

THE ADVERTISER
Is not and does not propose to be a partisan paper. It is not an "organ." Its opinions are its own. The ADVERTISER alone is responsible for opinions expressed in these columns.

THE ADVERTISER
Advocates Free Trade—British free trade, Continental free trade, free trade with the whole world. The ADVERTISER regards the system of Protection as unscientific, immoral and un-Christian; an injury to the merchant, the mechanic, the farmer, the general consumer, and a hindrance to the majority of manufacturers.

THE ADVERTISER
Looks forward with hope to Canada's future as that of an independent Canadian Republic, in equally friendly alliance with the United States and with Great Britain, believing that such a status would be best for Canada, best for Great Britain, and promotive of the best attainable relations with the United States. Meantime, everything is to be gained by cultivating cordial relations between all English speaking peoples. Those who take an opposite course should be regarded as enemies of mankind.

THE ADVERTISER
Advocates Prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor; the sooner the better.

THE ADVERTISER
Is an advocate of Equal Rights for women, whether as regards the franchise, or equal wages for equal work. Municipal suffrage in the hands of women has been a splendid success in this city; and the parliamentary franchise should now be granted without delay.

THE ADVERTISER
Is a believer in Christian Union, and considers the time has come when the various Christian denominations should come closer together. Those bodies which are now nearest should unite first. Under the present system there is an unjustifiable waste of men, means and effort. The differences between most of the existing denominations are no greater than the differences, natural to thinking men and women, to be found in every congregation. Even those Christian bodies supposed to be the farthest apart, the Protestant and the Roman Catholic, have more of belief that is common than of belief that is antagonistic. To the laity the differences between the various Protestant denominations are microscopic. For various reasons the clergy, even when, as is true of the best of them, they favor Christian Union, are not in a position to be as outspoken as the laity. There ought to be at least a federal union, right off, for large common purposes, with denominational home rule, if necessary, meantime.

THE ADVERTISER
Advocates the more general use of the Plebiscite, the Initiative and Referendum, etc., believing that the interest of the people in public questions, apart from persons, would be increased, and that something would thereby be done to promote independence of political thought, as opposed to excessive party spirit. Not less democracy in government, but more democracy in government, is the remedy. Everybody is wiser than anybody. Get closer to the people.

God's in His heaven,

—(BROWNS.)

London, Friday, March 24.

THERE are about 800 drug stores and about 8,000 general stores in this Province. This fact should be borne in mind when the proposed legislation affecting the sale of medicine of all descriptions comes before the Ontario Legislature.

THE Toronto Empire claims that its trade restrictionist friends had a "moral victory" in South Middlesex on Wednesday. Our contemporary is easily satisfied. The majority for Mr. Boston is greater than that given for the Liberal candidate at the general election in 1891.

THE potato bug took an inning last year, and the ravages of the pest were such that it was expected there would be much trouble during the ensuing year. We have been favored, however, by severe frost this winter, and it is believed that the potato bugs have been frozen up beyond possibility of resurrection. The farmers can expect immunity from this plague for the ensuing year.

MATTERS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

The political, social and religious waters are deeply stirred in Great Britain.

1. Home Rule: The battle waxed fiercer and fiercer. Ulster fulminates, Lord Randolph Churchill, Lord Salisbury, Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain are doing what they can to obstruct the bill and to arouse antagonisms of race and religion for party purposes, yet Gladstone's majority is 43—the largest figure he has yet touched. It is a big stir the Conservatives are making, but its only effect is also to stir up the other side.

2. Disestablishment of the Episcopal Church in Wales: As this religious body is in Wales the church of the minority, its disestablishment is near at hand. Meantime friends of the Established Church in England are being told that the movement in Wales is only the thin end of the wedge of disestablishment in England—ergo, it is their duty to defeat Gladstone. In the political profit and loss account Gladstone gets the enthusiastic support of all those who believe in the absolute equality of all denominations in the eye of the law.

3. The Direct Veto: This is a bill similar in principle to those with which we are familiar in Canada, giving power to the electors by popular vote to locally reduce or actually or virtually prohibit Sunday and week day selling of liquor in a parish. There is some danger in this to Gladstone. The liquor interest is immensely strong in Great Britain. But the temperance sentiment has of late pressed forward by leaps and bounds. We do not forget the "Beer and Bible" cry that some years ago defeated a Liberal Administration. It is hinted that the Direct Veto, so far as the present session is concerned, may give place to the bill mentioned in to-day's cables.

4. Which may be termed a bill for a wide extension of municipal powers. These powers have in many cases been exercised by the vestries, so that the new measure will be a step towards placing the management of local affairs in the hands of the people without discrimination in favor of any one denomination.

The cable says truly that this measure will make many enthusiastic friends for the Gladstone Government, particularly throughout the rural districts. The "Old Parliamentary Hand" proposes to "shore up" with various popular measures appealing to every part of the kingdom, and has no intention of going to the electors on the next occasion, which may or may not be near, empty handed.

It will be observed that large advances are made towards wiping out those unjust discriminations against women in regard to voting which have too long disgraced the statute books of professedly civilized countries. To all appearances women will presently vote in England by the side of men in all elections and on equal terms. Liberals will promote this because their principles lead them to on equal rights for all. Conservatives will vote for it because they have the notion that a majority of the women voters would vote on their side.

As to that it is uncertain and it is immaterial. The result will be to bring to the front important social questions—the real questions of the day and of the future. In every important question into which the moral element enters—and what is the important question is there into which it does not enter?—the side of the conservative is the right side will be powerfully promoted when the better half of the community are no longer disfranchised.

OUR HUMOROUS NEIGHBOR.

What object can the London Free Press hope to serve by characterizing as nobodies Isadore F. Hellmuth, Joseph C. Judd, Andrew Gordon Chisholm, A. A. Booker and the host of customs and other Dominion Government officials who managed Mr. Gray's campaign in South Middlesex? They left no stone unturned to secure the return of the trade restrictionist candidate in the recent by-election. They boasted of having the lists so manipulated that they had gained hundreds of votes for their party. They went on the platform and defended trade restriction and high taxation, and endeavored to make the farmers and wage-earners believe that the "protective" system enriched them. They brought voters from far and near on election day to help to swell Mr. Gray's vote.

But the Free Press asserts that Mr. Gray fought single-handed! This is very rough on the embryo London statesmen who valiantly undertook less than a week ago, on a South London platform, to have Mr. Gray elected as a consequence of the condition of the voters' list and of the great favor in which his candidature was held. Our contemporary is troubled with a very short memory, or it would not indulge in explanations so absolutely ridiculous.

No one can gainsay the significance of the victory for trade freedom in South Middlesex. It was achieved in spite of the great odds that we have mentioned, and demonstrated that, under a properly revised list, the majority would have been from 1,000 to 1,200. The Free Press alleges that the victory means nothing, and it would have its readers believe that Mr. Gray was advised to enter the field for the fun of the thing, with no honest hope of achieving success. If that is so, on what ground was a content, entailing trouble and expense to the people, deemed necessary?

Our contemporary should be ashamed to refer to the infamous gerrymander by means of which the friends of trade freedom have been "hived" in one riding of Middlesex, and the true voice of the people of the county is misrepresented in Parliament by the Hutchins and the Roomes, et al.

Just as the day is hastening when the robber tariff must be repealed in the interest of the whole people, so is the time near at hand when the inequities of the system of representation over which our city contemporary gloats will be effectively remedied. It is reassuring to find men who have up till now walked in darkness with those who defend this sort of political brigandage openly denouncing the system and promising never again to aid in its perpetration. We have faith in the people of Canada.

READING THEM OUT.

For defending his position by reporting the skeleton in the closet of his leaders, Nicholas Flood Davis is threatened with expulsion from all future caucuses of the Conservative party. First, Mr. McCarthy, now Mr. Davis. Who will follow next in order? Col. O'Brien or Mr. Calvin?

This, and many other experiences, but confirm the widespread impression that disintegration and division of a most enervating character are at work all through Sir John Thompson's following in Parliament.

BEHIND HIS BACK.

A dispatch from Halifax, N. S., says that the petition in favor of disallowance of the Whitney coal syndicate bill will have the signatures of 90 members of the Dominion House. But Sir John Thompson, on the floor of Parliament, speaking on his responsibility as Minister of Justice, has asserted that the passage of the measure was within the power of the Nova Scotia Government, and that the Dominion Government does not mean to exercise the power of disallowance.

The petition seems to us to be a round-about way for Conservative M. P.s. to tell Sir John Thompson that they have no confidence in his exposition of the law or in his administration of justice. If it is not that, what any of the signers tell us what it is?

THE MILITIA CAMP.

In accordance with a remit made to him, the London city engineer recommends that $1,200 be expended in effecting alterations in the camp grounds on Carling's Heights, which belong to the Dominion Government. Last year, the city was induced to pay $800 for temporary structures for the camp.

The council committee has also, on the motion of the mayor, instructed the city solicitor to communicate with the Minister of Militia and ascertain whether or not the camp will be held here yearly if the city makes the permanent alterations.

The mayor has been probably too busy to take note of the happenings in Parliament or he would not have deemed it necessary to make this motion. A few weeks ago the question came up in Parliament, and this conversation took place.

"Mr. Patterson, Brant.—How does the honorable gentleman arrive at the exact amount of $40,000 for transport of active militia attending camps of instruction? Are the same camps held every year at the same places?"

"Mr. Patterson, Huron.—The figures have been carefully worked out by the major-general and the deputy head and the adjutant-general. I have decided that in the future there will be a permanent camp. It is desirable, in the interests of the service and economy, that the system of migratory camps should be done away with. The points at which the camps will be held are mentioned in the report."

Mr. Patterson is Minister of Militia. He has spoken by authority. The camps will in future be permanent, and that for the western district of Ontario will be held at this city, as it was promised it would be held when the deal to buy Mr. Carling's farm was put through.

It is satisfactory to know that public opinion is so strong against the further use of the militia force as an agent to promote the fortunes of hard-beset Conservative M.P.s. that the declaration in favor of fixed camps is now made. The system by means of which the Government was able to lug the camp around from place to place, at the earnest request of needy politicians, was condemned by the major-general as well as by every true friend of the militia force.

So far as the London camp is concerned, it has been freely confessed that the grounds here are all that can be desired, the supply of water granted by the city more ample and purer than can be found anywhere else, and the facilities for all the corps in the district getting to the camp unsurpassed. It has indeed been a wonder why the Administration should ever have consented to break the promises made to hold the camp permanently here.

Now that the service will be benefited and that economy will be practiced by holding the camp permanently in London, it is reasonable to ask why the people of London should be called upon to further tax themselves in order that the large surplus of money on hand at Ottawa may be left unimpaired? The militia force is maintained for the benefit of the whole people, the camp is established here because London is the most central and desirable point at which to concentrate the force for its annual drill. Can any advocate of the proposed expenditure advance a good ground for the taxpayers footing any of the bills incident to the annual drill? The ADVERTISER thinks that city money should no more be expended to construct buildings for Dominion Government purposes than it should be disbursed to provide additions to the asylum for the insane at the request of the Ontario Administration.

BABIES ON FIRE.

Babies burning up, babies in agony from itching and burning eczemas and other torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly and blotchy skin and scalp diseases. None but mothers realize how these little ones suffer when their tender skins are literally on fire. To know that a single application of the CUTICURA REMEDIES will in the great majority of cases afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a permanent and economical (because most speedy) cure, and not to use them is to fail in your duty. Think of the years of suffering entailed by such neglect, years not only of physical but of mental suffering by reason of personal disfigurement. Why delay a moment longer the use of these great skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies? Cures made in infancy and childhood are speedy, economical and almost invariably permanent.

Sold everywhere. Price: CUTICURA, 75c; SOAP, 35c; RESOLVENT, $1 50. Prepared by POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston. "All About the Skin, Scalp and Hair," 64 pages, 300 diseases, mailed free.

Deaf for a Year

Caused by
Catarrh in the Head

Catarrh is a CONSTITUTIONAL disease, and requires a CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDY like Hood's Sarsaparilla to cure it. Read: "Three years ago, as a result of catarrh, I entirely lost my hearing and was deaf for more than a year. I tried various things to cure it, and had several physicians attempt it, but no improvement was apparent. I could distinguish no sound. I was intending putting myself under the care of a specialist when some one suggested that possibly Hood's Sarsaparilla would do me some good. I began taking it without the expectation of any hearing help. To my surprise and great joy I found when I had taken three bottles that my hearing was returning. I kept on till I had taken three more. It is now over a year and I can hear perfectly well. I am troubled but very little with the catarrh. I consider this a remarkable case, and cordially recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all who have catarrh." HERMAN HICKS, 30 Carter Street, Rochester, N. Y.

HOOD'S PILLS are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or grip. Sold by all druggists.

FOR REST AND RECREATION.

The Object of Prof. Goldwin Smith's Visit Across the Border.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—The Washington Post says: "After a sojourn of several weeks at the national capital, Prof. Smith left Washington last evening for the north, proposing a brief stay at Lakewood, N. J., before returning to Toronto. It was stated by the Tory newspapers, prior to his leaving Canada, that he was about to visit the United States on an annexation mission. On his arrival in New York it was given out by the same papers that he had gone to consult with the President-elect on the subject of annexation, the same paper following him to Washington with a report that he had come here to urge his annexation policy upon the new Administration. They were doubtless surprised upon reading the President's inaugural address to find that it contained not so much as a reference either to the political or commercial union of Canada with the United States. They have also been surprised to note, no doubt, that notwithstanding the alleged activity of Mr. Smith in this behalf there has been almost oppressive silence concerning it in the public press and official circles of the country for the last six weeks or more. Will the Tory editors who have said so much that is foolish and sensational and unfounded concerning Mr. Smith's intentions now have the fairness to state that this distinguished gentleman while here considerably refrained from even calling at the White House to pay his personal respects to the President? The truth of the matter is Mr. Smith's visit to Washington was simply one of recreation and rest, and not in any sense a mission to agitate a problem that the people of Canada will in due time solve for themselves."

"A Fresh Fish Story."

THE WHEEL. L. A. W. EXPULSIONS. The membership committee of the League of American Wheelmen has been engaged for some time investigating the charges against George K. Barrett and L. D. Munger, the prominent Chicago racing men, which was that of knowingly proposing Harry Leeming, a professional, for membership in the L. A. W. The men posted Mr. Leeming in the L. A. W., and he was finally accepted as a member. The racing board were informed of the action of the western racing men and promptly expelled Leeming. Charges were then preferred against Barrett and Munger, prominent in amateur club circles in Chicago, and after a thorough investigation of the matter, it was decided to expel them. This expulsion debars the men from riding in any division races of the League of American Wheelmen and also from obtaining any of the privileges of the organization, but does not debar them from competing in open amateur races.

Col. Axworthy's Bondmen Pay Up. CLEVELAND, O., March 23.—After weeks of bickering between the city and the Board of Education upon the question of interest allowed by the latter, settlement with the bondsmen of T. A. Axworthy, who absconded to Hamilton, Ont., while city treasurer, has been effected. The bondsmen turned into the city treasury a check for $279,413.21, which was the sum due. They agreed to pay the cost of all the litigation, and in consideration of which interest was not demanded of them.

The Black Republic—More Plotting. KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 23.—News of the discovery of a new plot against President Hipolyte and in favor of the exiled Gen. Manigat, has just been brought to light from Hayti. The plot was unearthed at Jacmel, where the Governor, who is loyal to Hipolyte, found that his aide was in league with Manigat's supporters, and that an uprising in favor of the exile was about to be started. A search of the aide's house was ordered and a number of arms were found. Papers implicating other officers were also discovered, and the details of the plot thus became known. Only a portion of the offenders were captured.

A MAIDEN FAIR.

By Charles Gibbon, in "Good Cheer."

CHAPTER I.

A gray day that would have looked dull anywhere but by the sea. A strong breeze blowing from the gray and blue waters leaping into white combs and points. A land-lark might have called it a gale, but to the gray old houses with their red and brown roofs, looking out on the harbor, would also have appeared dull and dirty but for their picturesquely irregular gables and heights. Then the busy figures of the fishermen in their bright-colored and "short" (long jackets), the lounging groups of the fishermen, and, above all, the bustle of the harbor and on its walls which projected out into the Forth, gave life to the scene in harmony with the strong breeze and the leaping waters.

Out on the farthest point of the gray walls a group of men and women, with the spray flashing over them and the keen wind biting their cheeks, stood watching a smack which was making to make port.

"Will she win in, think you?" asks one. "Safe enough—Bob Ross is steering," confidently answers a little weather-worned old man, by name Dick Baxter. Bob Ross had seen a smack capsize, and with five trusty comrades had put off to the rescue.

"It was a delicate thing for Bob to think he could be out in time to help them." "It was worth trying," said Baxter dryly. Suddenly the prow of the boat is turned towards the opening in the walls and comes straight and swiftly along, crosses the bar, down goes the sail, and boat and men are safe in the haven.

There was no cheer although brave work had been done, but an eager inspection of the boat to see who was in it. "They have gotten them a' but Jock Tamson," said Baxter in a matter-of-fact tone, the circumstance being of too ordinary a nature to call for much feeling; "but sowl he's got."

"My man, my man," cried a woman, rushing down the steps to the boat, "what's he?" There was no answer and the woman understood. She bowed her head, covered her face with her hands and was silent. Then a couple of burly women, with broad shoulders and muscular hands, took each an arm of the mourner.

"Come awa hame, Jeanie," said one quietly, and the voice was tender although the notes were harsh—"you'll be better there."

And they led the widow home. Bob Ross was the first out of the boat, helping one of the three men who had been saved, to land. The others followed, and were assisted to the much-needed dram and then to their homes. The crew proceeded to the inn accompanied by a number of friends eager to obtain more details of the rescue than had been given in the hurried answers to the crowd in the haven. Ross did not accompany them. He gave his stalwart frame a shake, like a huge Newfoundland dog after coming out of the water, and that contented him. He was a man of about thirty, a handsome fellow, tall and slender, dressed in a pilot jacket, and boots over his trousers.

His face was tanned by exposure to the weather, the features good, and the clear gray eyes which looked straight at any man bespoke an honest, open, and fearless nature. He had been in his father's fishing smack; but whilst always ready to do his duty in the boat, he had continued to attend school more than the other lads of the village, and to make more of what he learned there. The dominion took an interest in him, and helped him to learn navigation as far as it was in that worthy man's power to do so. But his real knowledge was gained by practical experience in his father's smack. So by the time he was 22 he was said to know the road from Newhaven to John o' Groats—by road from Newhaven to Yarmouth, and by the tip of the land in Leth. He obtained his license and became a recognized pilot. He soon earned a high reputation as a trustworthy, steady, and skillful man. But he still retained his interest in the smack, and when occasion permitted went out to the fishing with as much glee as of old.

In his scaly old blue jersey and corduroy trousers, and with his thin, wizened face, he was always at his post and knew everybody's affairs.

"I was on the look-out for you, Bob. How did you manage? It was well done on you."

"We were just in time—poor Thomson had gone and the other three were just then dropping of the keel. But you see we got them, and that's all."

"Ay, but it was well done, and there'll be a paragraph in the Scotsman about you tomorrow."

"Well, it'll do nae harm," answered Ross laughing.

"Is that a' you think o'?" Man, I'd give anything to see them speak about me in print! But he that's a' me, who do you think is here?"

"A lot o' folk."

"Just that, just that; but I was thinking you would like to see them speak about me in print! But he that's a' me, who do you think is here?"

"To see his mother, I suppose, and get some more of her siller."

"Just that, just that; but I was thinking you would like to see them speak about me in print! But he that's a' me, who do you think is here?"
