Ruled BY Destiny!

CHAPTER XXXII
THE BURDEN OF A SIGH.

Florin nodded; she scarcely heard what the child was saying, but suddenly the coachman pulled up, and the next instant the horseman was beside the carriage, and Florin heard her name spoken.

She looked up and met her lover's eyes fixed on her, and her heart gave a great bound.

"Bruce!" she whispered, joyfully yet reproachfully. "Oh, Bruce, why have you done this?"

He leaned forward and laid his hand on the carriage door.

"I cannot speak to you there. Will you come out? I must speak to you! Ah, why did you run away from me?"

"Because I knew—I felt—I was afraid you would come to see me, and—and—" she said faintly, in a troubled voice. "Oh, go back, Bruce!"

"I will—shortly," he said, in a strange voice, with a strange light in his eyes. "Come into the road for a moment or two."

He got down and opened the door, and held her hand even after she had alighted, forgetting his horse.

"Signor, the horse!" shouted the coachman, but it was too late the sagacious animal having had quite enough work for that day, had swung around and was off in a good trot for Florence.

"Never mind," said Lord Bruce, with a short laugh; "it does not matter. Nothing matters now, Florin! Hush! not a word yet."

He drew her arm within his, and led her under the trees, out of sight of the curious wide open eyes of the man and maid.

"And so you were running away from me, were you?" he said, holding her hands and looking into her eyes with the fire of excitement and happiness in his. "Running away from me—was that fair? Oh, my darling, how can I tell you?—the words tremble on my lips! My heart is so full of joy and happiness—"

"Bruce!"

"Yes, so full that I can scarcely wait for the words that must be spoken. Florin, since I saw you last night all has been made clear. Look!"

He drew a card from his pocket and was about to show it to her, when he whipped it behind his back.

"Wait! Florin, you are sure it was I you saw that afternoon at Bally-floe?"

Her head drooped.

"Oh, Bruce—why ask me? Why not let it be buried?"

"You are sure you will know my face again?" with a strange laugh.

"See—is that the face of the man you saw at Lady Blanche's feet?"

And he held out the card.

She took it very slowly and looked at it.

It was a portrait of Oscar Raymond, which he had found among the papers packed in one of his portmanteaus. A bewildered expression came into her eyes.

"Yes it is! But, But—" she raised her eyes to his face, "is it not you, Bruce?"

"No," he said, gravely; "it is not. Look at the back, you will find the name written there, Florin. It is the portrait of a man who for purposes of his own passed himself off on you for me. Look at the name, please."

She turned the card.

"Oscar Raymond to Lord Norman" was written on it.

For a moment her brain swam, and he put his arm around her and held her close to him or she would have staggered.

"You see, darling," he cried, "it is all clear now, is it not?"

And in swift, hurried words he told her the whole story.

"All this I heard last night from their own lips. One thing only is a mystery to me still, and that is the cause of the repentance—that is still an enigma, Florin."

"Shall I tell you Bruce?" she whispered; then with her hand upon his shoulder, she made the last portion of the mystery clear.

"My darling!" he murmured. "And it is you, you who have really saved us both, after all! If he had not seen you, we should still be— Oh, I cannot think of it! Oh, my darling, my Florin, once again and forever. Let us thank Heaven humbly and meekly for His mercy! A few days more and all would have been lost; there would have been a gulf between us which death only could have bridged—and now, death only can divide us!" and with a cry of almost solemn joy, he strained her to his bosom.

With his arm around her waist they walked through the woods, her head resting on his shoulder, her eyes suffused with the tears which sprang from a joy almost too intense for endurance.

It had come so suddenly, this flood of light after darkness, that she felt bewildered and dazzled. Could it be true?

In low, endearing tones he told her over and over again all that had happened, dwelling on the misery and helplessness, and making all the points that had seemed so dark, clear and intelligible; and every now and again he stopped and looked at her face, ay, and kissed it, as if he, too, felt there was something too marvelous in his good fortune for it to be quite real.

They forgot the coachman and little Marie, but those two individuals resigned themselves to the circumstances with admirable philosophy; the coachman drew his horse into the shade, and, lighting a cigar, flung himself, Italian-like, into the sun, and went to sleep, and Marie gathered some flowers and made a pose "for the signorita when she should come back."

And at last Florin remembered where she was.

Happiness Secured AT A Heavy Cost!

CHAPTER I
A GLOOMY DAY.

It is all very well for Len to tease—it is an old trick of his. Let what will happen, he must have his joke! But to come back to the old house at Deepdene—that one solitary piece of property that we have ever possessed, or are ever likely to possess, but which, so far as I can remember, has never yet brought us in anything beyond the very barren honor of possession.

Neither my sister Adelaide nor I have ever seen it, though Len has paid it more than one visit. We have always lived in London, and our means are far too limited to admit of any such extravagant flights as country excursions. But for all that, we have heard so much about that lonely, deserted old house, which fell by such odd chance into the family possession so many years ago, that it has long since come to take high rank in our minds, along with all the romantic and mysterious old houses we have read of in novels.

And there certainly is both mystery as well as romance connected with Deepdene, to explain which I must go back to the time of my mother's grandfather, the then owner of a fine old house and estate in one of the most picturesque parts of South Devon, called the Priory.

Mamma's mother was Squire Rutherford's only child—a merry, light-hearted girl, who, greatly to the grief and indignation of her father, ran away from school with a worthless adventurer named Dalton, who in less than five years from the time of their marriage broke her heart, and killed himself by his reckless dissipation.

The only child resulting from this ill-starred marriage was my mother, who was scarcely three years old at

Simple Wash Cures Eczema.

A great skin specialist who has discovered for his patients a marvellously effective cure for Eczema, Bad Leg and all other forms of Itch, has recently given his valuable preparation to the world. It is known as D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema, a simple external wash, easy to apply, a reliable home remedy.

D. D. D. gives instant relief from skin distress the moment it is applied. It penetrates the pores and kills the germs which are the root of skin disease. Nauseating stomach drugs are worthless, for the disease is in the skin, not in the blood. Greasy salves are dangerous for they clog the pores and aid the growth of germs. D. D. D. washes out disease, cleanses the pores, then soothes and heals the skin.

Test this simple cure; get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription to-day. Sold Everywhere.

the time of her parent's death. On hearing of her existence, the squire—who had never forgiven his daughter that fatal marriage, and who had previously made a will, leaving everything he possessed to his nephew, the son of a widowed sister who had always lived with him at the Priory since the death of his wife—took the poor child to his home, simply, as he said, out of charity, and treated her at first with something very little short of contempt—a feeling that gradually gave way, as time passed, to one of deep affection; and from a mere dependent on her grandfather's bounty mamma became the very pet and darling of the old man's heart—a change that proved anything but satisfactory to the squire's sister, Mrs. Erroll, who soon began to fear that in little Edith Dalton she saw a rival for her son, whom she had long since learned to look upon as the future master of the Priory.

From the first hour of their meeting Mrs. Erroll conceived a secret dread and dislike of her brother's orphan grandchild, though so carefully was the feeling concealed that, for a time, no one suspected it.

She was a good dissembler—a woman whose looks and words were well under control; but the time came at last when her envy and jealousy of the little Edith grew too strong for restraint, and quarrels and reproaches ensued between the brother and sister, which grew so violent at last as to result in open rupture.

Although tractable and easy-going almost to a fault in most things, the squire was not the man to be dictated to where his affections were concerned; and, very much to Mrs. Erroll's indignation, he began to admit the fact that he had changed his mind with regard to the final disposal of his property.

To compensate his nephew for any disappointment that might have arisen through his change of plans, Mr. Rutherford did everything in his power to promote the young man's interest—sending thousands of pounds with a liberal hand on his education and final launch in life. But as little Edith Dalton grew to womanhood he made no secret of his intention to make his daughter's child the mistress of the Priory.

Finding it impossible to shake this determination, Mrs. Erroll quitted her brother's house in anger and chagrin, and went to live at a place of her own some few miles distant from the priory. This house, which had been left to her by some member of her late husband's family, was Deepdene—not at that time the ruin it has since become, though even then a poor place for a woman like Mrs. Erroll, who had been so long accustomed to rule over an establishment like the squire's.

Time rolled on. Frederick Erroll, who was more than ten years my mother's senior, chose the army, as a profession, and went to India with his regiment, and married there; while his mother, disappointed in her ambitious hopes for him, shut herself up in the solitude of Deepdene, holding little intercourse with the world, and no communication of any kind with the inhabitants of the Priory.

N. I. W. A.

At a special meeting of the N.I.W.A. held last evening to discuss the proposed problem, Messrs. J. Anderson, Gibbs, and President J. A. McGowan, the I.S.P.U. addressed the assembly in a very interesting and instructive manner, explained the phase of the proposed scheme, the addresses had been given, members voiced their approval, plan, among whom were Messrs. Whitty, T. M. White, G. F. G. W. A. O'D. Kelly. Particular interest was shown in the speech of Mr. who, as city appraiser, has entered into the housing conditions of the city. He gave many examples of the houses existing, houses with snow and wind coming through roofs and walls; X-ray houses that could be seen through them to back, and they, one-story houses that had formerly been used as cellars, and which are now being rented from 7 to 15 dollars a month as tenement houses. He was thanked by the speakers of the meeting was unanimously accorded.

The Man With the Hoe

Hoing is a severe strain on the back. It calls for lifting muscles not used in plowing or in other kind of farm work.

If you have a weak back you cannot stand much more hoing unless you use Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to set the kidneys right and remove the cause of weakness and lameness of the back. Just try one pill dose at bed time and see how much better you will feel.

There Yet.

We notice that the condemned ter sprinkler, now lying on George Street, at the foot of Flavin Street, still there. If the Council intend for an ornament, why not give it a bit, and people will then know it is there for decoration purposes.

Garden Party

The annual Garden Party of Donnelly's people, will take place at Conception Harbor in August. Mr. Donnelly and a committee of ladies are making preparations to have a most successful one, and provided the weather be fine, probably large numbers of their city friends will go out to it.

Personal Mention

Mr. John Duff of Carbonara arrived in the city yesterday and is a guest at the Crosbie.

Miss M. Stick leaves shortly for New York to purchase autumn goods. Magistrate Fitzgerald of Grand Falls is at present in the city on short visit.

N. I. W. A.

At a special meeting of the N.I.W.A. held last evening to discuss the Housing Problem, Hon. J. Anderson, M. P. Gibbs, and President Jas. McGrath, of the L.S.P.U. addressed the audience, and in a very interesting, as well as instructive manner, explained every phase of the proposed scheme. After the addresses had been given, several members voiced their approval of the plan, among whom were Messrs. E. Whitty, T. M. White, G. F. Grimes and W. A. O'D. Kelly. Particularly interesting was the speech of Mr. White, who, as city appraiser, has an insight into the housing conditions of the city. He gave many examples of the kind of houses existing, houses with rain, snow and wind coming through the roofs and walls; X-ray houses, those that could be seen through from front to back, and tiny, one-storied shacks that had formerly been used as coal cellars, and which are now commanding a rental from 7 to 15 dollars a month as tenement houses. A vote of thanks to the speakers of the evening was unanimously accorded.

The Man With the Hoe

Hoeing is a severe strain on the back. It calls into play muscles not used much in lifting or in other kinds of farm work. If you have a weak back you cannot stand much hoeing unless you use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to set the kidneys right and remove the cause of weakness and lameness of the back. Just try one pill a dose at bed time and see how much better you will feel.

There Yet.

We notice that the condemned water sprinkler, now lying on Gower Street, at the foot of Flavin Street, is still there. If the Council intends it for an ornament, why not gild it a bit, and people will then know that it is there for decoration purposes.

Garden Party.

The annual Garden Party of Fr. Donnelly's people, will take place at Conception Harbor in August. Father Donnelly and a committee of ladies are making preparations to have the occasion a success, and provided the day be fine, probably large numbers of their city friends will go out to attend it.

Personal Mention

Mr. John Duff of Carbonear arrived in the city yesterday and is a guest at the Crosbie. Miss M. Stick leaves shortly for New York to purchase autumn goods. Magistrate Fitzgerald of Grand Falls is at present in the city on a short visit.

25,000 PRISONERS CAPTURED.

LONDON, July 26. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Since the 15th 25,000 prisoners and 400 machine guns have been captured from the enemy, says a despatch from French Headquarters. The enemy loss in munitions and war material is incalculable. Nightly, fires indicate that forty depots containing stores the enemy was unable to move, were burnt. It is now clearly proved that the Germans, from the beginning of the offensive were again deluded with the idea that the French army was exhausted, and left the possibility of a counter offensive on their right flank out of their calculations. They failed to reckon the Americans, whose presence enabled the French command to take the measures which they might have hesitated to take with their own resources alone.

PUBLISHERS IMPRISONED.

LONDON, July 26. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—A despatch from Wellington says that two publishers were sentenced to 11 months hard labour, on a charge of sedition, in advertising an Irish Republic.

PLENTY OF RAIN.

LONDON, July 26. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—A despatch from Melbourne says that splendid rains have fallen in Queensland and many parts of New South Wales, especially in the parts which were suffering badly from the drought. The rain was badly needed in all districts.

A NEW OFFENSIVE EXPECTED.

PARIS, July 26. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Most of the French military writers are of the opinion that the Crown Prince is preparing for a great defensive battle, probably on the Feren-Tardencis Plateau. The correspondent of the Le Journal, on the British front, says, we have not heard the last of the enemy offensive. There are grave and unknown possibilities, particularly in Flanders. The British army, from Generals to privates, is straining at the leash awaiting the order to advance. There is a great time in store for the British armies. The enemy attack in Mesopotamia was expected for heavy rain made the ground very sticky and filled the shell holes with water, and in consequence the enemy advance was beset with difficulties. Sharp fighting developed on the left and the attackers were beaten off, not gaining a foot. Further south a vigorous enemy assault was launched against the newly won positions of the New Zealanders in the vicinity of Rosstal Wood. The enemy losses were very heavy and thirty prisoners were left in our hands. We continued our raiding activities along various parts of the line taking prisoners and collecting useful information.

NOVELIST DYING.

STOCKHOLM, To-day. (British Admiralty Wireless Press)—Maxim Gorky, the Russian Novelist and Revolutionary, Propagandist, is dying, says a message from Helsingfors to-day.

THE GERMAN WAY.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. Antwerp has been fined a million francs, and Jan Davos, the Burgomaster, has been deposed by the Germans because of recent happenings in the city, says the Belgique Dagsblad. Activists, celebrating the eleventh day of July, were beaten, and a number of activist prisoners of war from Gottingen were half killed by the inhabitants for carrying on an anti-Belgian propaganda in the city. Doctors refused to attend the men whom they called "Traitors" and were consequently deported to Germany.

FOR RANSOM OR MURDER.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. Four former Russian Grand Dukes have been carried off by an unidentified band, according to the Moscow despatch to the Cologne Volks Zeitung from Moscow. The despatch says that the President of the Ekaterinburg Territorial Council announces that the band on July 18th broke into the residence of the former Grand Dukes Iver Constantine and Ivan Constantinovich and Serge Michailovitch and carried them off. The former Grand Dukes Constantine and Iver Constantinovich, are sons of the late Emperor. The former Grand Duke Serge was formerly a general in the Russian Army, and is uncle of Constantin and Iver. There are no records of Ivan Constantinovich.

PUBLISHING THE LISTS.

GENEVA, To-day. The German papers have begun to publish long lists of officers killed and the names cover many columns. Among them is that of General Ueberzagat, attached to the staff of General Von Boehm, on the Marne front.

My Mission to London, 1912-1914,

By PRINCE LICHNOWSKY.
(With a preface by Professor Gilbert Murray.)

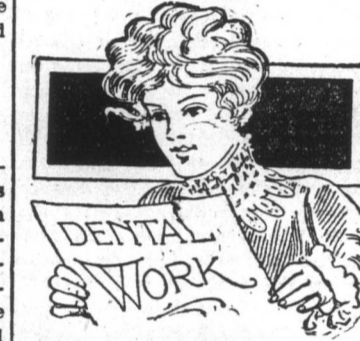

The war has produced few human documents of the importance of Prince Lichnowsky's "Memorandum." It throws a flood of light upon the diplomatic correspondence published by the belligerent chancelleries in the opening months of the war particularly upon the German White Paper, whose reservations it exposes, whose enigmas it untangles, whose lies it lays bare.

It is the diplomatic story of the Prince's Ambassadorship at London, from 1912 until the war drove him home to Berlin in August, 1914, when he was deprived of rank and distinctions.

The Week's War.

The procession of war events during the past week have been kaleidoscopic and spectacular. On all fronts operations have been carried out resulting in successes for the Allies, but all the engagements in the other theatres have been overshadowed by the great battle now proceeding on the Western Front over a line of 90 miles extending from Rheims to Soissons, which runs on a curving front with Chateau Thierry at the turn of the bend. In the pocket thus formed the armies of the Crown Prince have been thrown, and there the struggle has been waged with intense fierceness, the finest divisions of the German forces, specially reserved for this attack, being engaged. Altogether there are some eight hundred and fifty thousand enemy soldiers participating in the present advance, and only the unequalled valor and courage of the Franco-American troops defending this sector have prevented the Hun from breaking through. His dependence was on the superior weight of his fighting men, but against the sublime heroism of our gallant allies, his preponderance in numbers has not netted any advantage. Far from that, the latest dispatches show that the mouth of the pocket is being gradually drawn together, and the Crown Prince is finding himself in a position, extrication from which will be difficult, and it may not be accomplished at all.

The present is the fifth attempt made by the enemy to "win a decision" since he started the first offensive on March 21st, and with him it is now or never. Though defeat of his armies may not mean complete disaster, it will so cripple him that he will not be able to undertake any further operations on a large scale for the remainder of the short campaigning season. So sanguine were the Germans of success in their new drive that they christened it "Erfriedensturm" or "Storm of Peace." The appellation is obvious, their purpose being to inflict such a defeat on the allies that they would listen to such peace terms as Germany would dictate. But as usual, the enemy did not reckon on the one main factor—the men in the way—and Paris is at far and farther, from a second German occupation than ever. In passing, an enumeration of the previous German offensives, ending with the present, may be of interest. The grand drive March 21st, now known as the battle of Picardy; the Lys salient attack on April 9th; the third, launched from Noyon over a forty mile front to Rheims, on May 27th, which was stopped and neutralized on May 31st; the fourth June 9th was projected over a twenty miles front between Noyon and Montdidier, with Compiegne as its objective. This last, after two days, was held from the first and died down on June 11th. From that date until July 24th, when the present grand thrust was made, the enemy has been almost practically on the defensive. Behind his lines however, every preparation was being made for the "Storm of Peace," and when these were completed to his satisfaction, he struck, with all the weight of men and guns at his command. Well served by their intelligence department the Allies were in readiness, and the biggest battle of the war is now continuing, with the advantages in favor of the Entente, and operations progressing favorably. Last week it will be noted that the enemy occupied some hilly ground south of the Marne, and a forecast was made that his position there would not long be held. Within the week, by a splendid strategic move, the German Commander in Chief, withdrew his whole force from that zone, having found it of no military value, but rather detrimental to his prepared plans. Along the national highway from Soissons to Rheims, twenty-three miles in length, the Franco-Americans are making some mighty drives against the German lines at Brency, a junction where the branch railway from Pismes connects with the main line, following the highway from Chateau Thierry to Soissons. The whole of this latter railway is now dominated by the guns of the Allies, and the highway is within the radius of their artillery fire. From this it will be seen that the only railway line available to the Germans for bringing up reinforcements and supplies from the North is one scant branch of twenty miles in length. This is an undeniable indication that the position of the enemy in the salient is exceedingly precarious, and speedy disaster may be inevitable. But it is as well to take into consideration the resourcefulness and skill which has already been displayed by the Germans in their escape from the much more difficult salient south of the Marne, and they may possibly carry out a withdrawal to the Aisne with equal skill. One thing, in any event, is assured and that is that their advance on Paris has been definitely frustrated, and their enormous sacrifices have been made in vain. By the failure of their fifth offensive, the end of the war has been unquestionably hastened. General Foch's well timed, splendidly planned and brilliantly executed offensive defensive of the Marne and Paris has brought the end much nearer, and it is now conceded that the crisis is past.

Peace feelers of a new brand may shortly be expected from Germany, though the sinking of the Cunard liner "Justice," the transport Sarunga and the United States Cruiser San Diego may be used in the Teutonic Empire to show that the land successes of the Allies have been more than offset by their shipping casualties. The recent exploit of enemy submarines off the Maine Coast will also put heart into the German people.

Our Buckboards will run to Bowring Park to-morrow afternoon from Cross Roads, commencing at 2 o'clock. C. LESTER.—July 25, tu, stf Judgment in Trap Berth Case.

(In the Magistrate's Court.) Benjamin Garland vs. Robert Lewis. This is an action taken upon the Complaint of Benjamin Garland against Robert Lewis for setting a cod trap leader on the fishing grounds at Cape Bay at a less distance than eighty fathoms from the nearest point of the Fishery Rules and Regulations. The evidence on the Complainant goes to prove that he had set his leader at Cape Bay on or about the 21st of May last. To days later he put moorings in the water to frame his trap. He then discovered the Defendant had set his leader twenty-five fathoms from his (Complainant's) leader. On the evening of the 23rd of May the Complainant set his trap. The Defendant, who was called as a witness for the Complainant, admitted having set his leader about seventy-five fathoms from the Complainant's leader.

Mr. Morine, K.C., Counsel for the Defendant, called no witnesses, pleaded not guilty, and asked for a dismissal of the charge on the grounds that the Defendant was before the Court on the 5th of June last, charged by the Complainant with having set a cod trap within eighty fathoms of his (Complainant's) cod trap. That charge was tried and dismissed. The Defendant is now charged with having set a leader within eighty fathoms of the Complainant's leader, but the offence is the same as the charge previously heard and dismissed. The setting of the cod trap then complained of must have included, and did include, the leader, the setting of which the Defendant is now charged with.

Mr. Squires, K.C., Counsel for Complainant, opposed the motion and contended that the charge upon which his trial on June 5th was substantially the same as that which is now before the Court. The lesser charge now being tried of "having set a leader within eighty fathoms of the Complainant's leader previously set" was contained in the greater charge of "having set a cod trap within eighty fathoms of the Complainant's cod trap previously set" tried on June 5th.

In support of this position I quote Sub-section 4 of Rule 48 of the Fishery Rules and Regulations: "A cod trap shall mean twine, knitted together at not less than three and a half inch mesh in size, with bottom and rims, corks to float it and leads to sink it, with doorways and therefore discharges the previous charge." I hold the previous acquittal is a bar and sustain the Defendant's plea of Autrefois Acquit (or before-time acquitted).

The Chief Justice Colledge says: "The true test is whether the Defendant had been put in peril and it is totally immaterial what was the ground on which he was discharged. The Defendant here was put in peril when he was charged and tried for the same offence on June 5th, and if the evidence now given had been submitted at the previous trial he would have been convicted."

Mr. Squires, K.C., for the Complainant. Mr. Morine, K.C., for the Defendant. Dated this 27th day of July, A.D. 1918. (Sgd.) F. J. MORRIS, Judge.

To-day's Messages (Continued from 3rd page.) FIGHTING IN ALBANIA. ROME, To-day. (Official.) Enemy parties have been repulsed in the Poena Valley. As a result of a raid, east of Zecchi, the French took 15 prisoners. In Albania Wednesday, enemy columns were stormed with great violence our position from Ardica to the north of the Lower Semeti. Both times they were repulsed. The same day another column crossing the Semeti to the east of Kuel, made our advanced post retire. A counter attack, Thursday, drove the enemy to the river.

FRENCH OFFICIAL. PARIS, To-day. South of the Ourcq there has been reciprocal artillery activity, without infantry actions. On the north bank of the Marne we captured, at the close of the day yesterday, Reuil and Savarès Farm. We also pushed back the enemy to the southern outskirts of the Villages Pinson, Oguigny and Vallers-Sous-Châtillon. The total number of prisoners captured on the 25th at Villeneuve and the region of Oulchy le Chateau was 700. On the Champagne Front, our troops after a broken the German offensive on the 15th and 16th have carried out during the following days a series of local attacks. In spite of the enemy's resistance, we have made, to the east of the Suippe an advance of about 1,500 metres. The general line of St. Hilaire, Vaux Souain and Lemoval les Hurleux, we have reconquered entirely. Main de Demassie and re-occupied in this region our former first line. During these operations we have taken 1,100 prisoners, 200 machine guns and many guns.

AVIATION REPORT. PARIS, To-day. On the 25th our aviators, to-day, down, or forced to land, seven hostile machines. Eighteen were brought down by British aviators working in conjunction with us. On our part we dropped more than 35 tons of bombs during the day and night, on stations, railway communications, depots, ammunition depots and military parks in the rear of the battle zone. Fires and explosions were observed. British bombarding aviators also have carried out many expeditions and dropped four tons of bombs on Bazoches, Pore-en-Tardenois and Monte Notre Dame. Army of the East.—The enemy has attempted several local attacks to the west of Lake Dairan, and between Lake Presba and Ochrida in which they were repulsed with serious losses. While the enemy has not been able to reach our lines in Albania, we are organizing our counter positions. The prisoners taken in this sector are 1,100, including 220 officers. Allies aviators have carried out numerous bombardments. One enemy machine has been brought down.

The Government referred to is probably the one set up by General Harvath. A NEW DISCOVERY. PARIS, To-day. The number of German prisoners captured by the Allies, since the beginning of the counter offensive, is placed at 30,000 by the Havas Agency. American troops have discovered at Brecy, north of Chateau Thierry, emplacements of the German super-cannon which bombarded towns behind the front, and perhaps Paris. A NEW KING. PARIS, To-day. The Crown of Finland has been offered to Duke Adolph Frederick of Mecklenburg Schwerin, and he has accepted, says a Zurich despatch to Le Journal. The vote was made by the delegation from Finland Lundag. WORK OR FIGHT. LONDON, To-day. The announcement last night of Premier Lloyd George, that all workmen absent from factories after Monday, will be deemed to be on strike, has placed themselves outside the munitions industry and that they will become liable to military service, was issued too late to have any effect on the strikers last night. Consequently it was not generally known in the strike areas. It was, however, communicated to the strikers at some centres by newspapermen, to whom the leaders declared they were confident the strikers would not be intimidated or induced to resume work by the Government's threat. The leaders added that such a possibility had been considered fully beforehand. No reports reached London last night of an extension of the strike, and the great bulk of the workers still remain unaffected. Such important centres as London, Manchester, Leeds, Nottingham and Huddersfield for instance remain out. Morning news papers here comment on the Government's announcement, mostly with approval, although they recognize the decision is a grave one and contend that it will be generally endorsed by the country. A certain uneasiness is manifested by some papers, while admitting a strike at the present time is indefensible, think that a settlement might have been reached by a discussion and a compromise. FRENCH ADVANCES. PARIS, To-day. (Bulletin.) Further advances were secured by the French in the region immediately to the north of the Marne, in the district where the Germans have been clinging to the river. The war office announced to-day that French lines were advanced to the north of Pont St. Esprit. On the front near Vieux Buisson, the French carried a local operation, in the region south of the mountain, without a name as a result of which their lines were advanced nearly two-thirds of a mile on a front of approximately two miles. The French took two hundred prisoners in this operation. DEPARTMENT OF Natural Resources. Opened by President Reid, of the Reid Mtd. Co. Will Develop Coal and Other Mineral Areas. A movement, that if successful, means the dawn of a better day for this country has been started by the H. D. Reid, Esq., President of the Reid Mtd. Co., who has started, in connection with the railway business in this country, a Department of Natural Resources and in order to get the best results in the quickest possible time the services of the above named gentleman have been secured. The chief of the department is Mr. J. W. Korben, son of the late Dr. Forbes, Bonaville, a graduate of McGill school of mining, and a specialist in hydraulic engineering. His association with the Reid Mtd. Co. concerns a specialist at the great Cobalt Mines, while Dr. Mook has had similar experience in the United States. In addition to the above staff of miners and prospectors will be engaged. The idea is to thoroughly and systematically survey and explore the land owned by the Company along the line of railway and ascertain its mineral resources. Scientific research will be commenced very shortly and it is hoped that in four or five years every block of land owned by the Company on both sides of the railway will be surveyed. Should minerals be discovered it is the intention of the Company to dispose of them to other concerns for development and to further extend their railway to the scene of operations. This rule, however, does not apply to the developing of the large coal areas now owned by the Company which they intend operating as a public utility. Operations which were commenced some time ago on block 7 where 900 feet of surface coal had been laid bare will be resumed in the quickest possible time. Several other kinds of valuable minerals have already been discovered and are now in the hands of Mr. Davies, Government Analyst. Locating suitable farming sites will be one of the chief features of the work and when a suitable site is discovered it will be laid out in blocks and a log house erected on each for the benefit of intending settlers. After the war there will be a great influx of immigrants to this side of the Atlantic, and the desire of President Reid and his associates is that our Dominion will be in a position to offer inducements equal to those of Canada. The President of the Reid Co., who, we understand, has been working on the plan for many months having studied closely the wonderful work done by the C.P.R. in that direction, is sparing no pains to have the great work accomplished. Mr. J. P. Powell, General Supt. of the Co. will be also directly connected with the department, and will pay special attention to the extension of the railway to the parts of the country to be developed. The movement is an excellent one and deserving of every encouragement. The first general meeting will be held in the President's office this afternoon after the arrival of the express when the specialists will discuss matters with the President and Mr. R. G. Reid, Vice-President. THE WEEK'S CASUALTIES. LONDON, To-day. British casualties reported in the week ended to-day total 12,593, compared with the aggregate of 16,931 reported in the previous week. Accident This Morning. This morning a man from Torbay tied his pony to a telegraph pole on the King's Beach, and went on a short errand. While he was gone, a motor truck passed along Duckworth Street, frightening the pony, which dashed away from the pole, snapping the line that had tied him. The wheel of the milk cart struck the water tank there, completely demolishing the wheel. The cart is useless to take the man and his wife home, and his plight is a sorry one. He is now looking for the truck that did the damage, and a man who saw the accident, and who is with him in his search, says he would know the driver, if he again saw him. As the owner is a poor man, we hope he will get some remuneration for the accident. False Modesty. has led many a suffering person to neglect the treatment of piles. The itching, stinging sensations produce the keenest distress. The thought of a surgical operation brings mental anxiety which undermines the general health. Relief can always be obtained by the application of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and in most cases persistent treatment brings about complete cure. This ointment is worth trying when you think of the comfort to be obtained. Local Distilleries. It is rumored around town that a large number of people are distilling intoxicating drinks from old black treacle, and yeast cakes, and that with a simple yet ingenious arrangement can while distilling a fine whisky. We would advise the police to keep their eyes peeled, and upon the least suspicion, raid some places where they are kept. It is also rumored that there is a means whereby foreign ships coming here may get the intoxicants ashore without the customs' knowledge, and that what eventually ruin the Prohibition Act. ### JUST TALK.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

What is the use, what is the sense of talking about things you know nothing about? The other night I heard a man criticising a certain well known author. He called him cheap and sensational. He didn't think he could paint a real man and that his women were namby-pamby. He was amusing and rather witty in the violence of his dislike. And then someone asked him if he had read the author's latest book. He had not.

"The one before that?"

"Well, what had he read? And then he named two of the author's first books.

Even as I—and you!

And on the basis of that and of a criticism he had once read (also written some years ago) he presumed to judge the writer.

Isn't that absurd?

And yet isn't it usual?

I have been in the habit of saying that I didn't care much for a certain humorist who is considered by the majority among America's best. By virtue of the illustrations I happened to get interested in an article written by him in one of the monthly magazines and found myself laughing aloud at the supreme tribute of the reader to the author. And then in honesty I asked myself what I had based my prejudice upon. And though I had read articles by him they were so far in the past that I couldn't name them to myself or even remember just what they were about.

Religion a Favorite Subject for the Ignorant Talker.

Religion is a favorite subject for the talker who does not like to bother with facts as bases for his prejudices. I heard a man making himself most amusing by drilling holes in the creed of a modern religion that has hundreds of thousands of converts in this country. When he had finished and left the room I asked another man if he did not think his arguments had been very clever and very convincing.

"They might be," he said, "only the things he was trying to disprove were things they don't believe at all. The trouble with him is that he has never looked into the matter and doesn't really know anything about their creed."

The Most Popular Subject of All.

Now the second man is not himself a believer. His knowledge comes from a study of comparative religions. He has been doing for graduate work. Of course I hardly need to mention the most fertile subject for people who like to talk largely of matters of whose true inwardness they are entirely ignorant. It is ever with us nowadays. That we shall be free from that sort of useless vaporing will be one of the minor blessings of peace.

This is to certify that fourteen years ago I got the cords of my left wrist nearly severed, and was for about nine months that I had no use of my hand, and tried other Liniments, also doctors, and was receiving no benefit. By a persuasion from a friend I got MINARD'S LINIMENT and used one bottle which completely cured me, and have been using MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family ever since and find it the same as when I first used it, and would never be without it.

A Commercial Tree.

A wonderful tree, known as the shea, is beginning to attract commercial attention in Western Africa. It supplies the natives not only with nuts, which they highly prize, but with a butter that may become an article of commercial importance. It is already exported to Europe, where makers of artificial butter find use for it. On the nuts that this tree produces there is a soft covering with a smooth skin that comes off easily when the nut is opened. This pulp is sweet and wholesome. Almost two-thirds of the nut is vegetable butter. The tree begins to bear when it is fifteen years old and reaches its prime in twenty-five years. Chocolate manufacturers could easily utilize the product. It might also be used in making candles and soap.

THE BURDEN BEARER.

There are days that end in grieving, days that often end in prayer. When the little faithful worries seem to drive the light away. But I leave them all behind me when I reach the little street. Where the children run to meet me with their happy flying feet. And I wave farewell to trouble and I toss my cares aside. When I reach the little dwelling where the doors are open wide.

Oh, I let no trouble follow o'er the threshold of the place. That is lighted by the sunshine of a youngster's smiling face. And I tell no dismal stories to the gentle mother fair. Who has all the hurts and bruises of the little ones to bear. I won't carry home the sorrows of a day that's gone astray. And make old folks out of children that are hungering for play.

I won't still their merry laughter with my whimpering tale of woe; They'll have time enough to suffer when the years of childhood go. I won't rob their youth of sunshine with my clouds of fearful care. And bid them shudder burdens that are mine alone to bear; Time shall bring life's trials to them with the passing of the years. But I'll never mar their playtime with a flood of needless tears.

With the Rod.

There is very good salmon fishing at the lower pools in Harry's River, but the fish have not yet reached the upper pools in any large quantities. Faunce landed a 34-pounder from Harry's Brook on Sunday week, after working with it for an hour and a half.

Silver and Jones, of Halifax, landed 35 salmon from the pools of lower Harry's, the heaviest tipped the scales at 25 lbs.

Phillips up to Monday had landed about 60 salmon from Robinson's, Fichels and Middle Baracholz for three weeks' fishing.

The Upper Humber continues very low, while the water in the Lower Humber continues high but is gradually dropping, and good fishing is expected there in a week or two.

Milady's Boudoir.

HOUSEWORK AS A BEAUTIFIER.

Among these many duties of the housewife who does her own work, none of these equal sweeping as an exercise and a general vitalizer of the whole body. To gain the most benefit from this exercise, the shoulders should be well thrown back and the hands should grasp the broom firmly. With each stroke the whole body should sway, which movement will add grace to the figure. In fact, in performing housework, one may so direct their efforts that the labor becomes a body builder—and, besides, one has the satisfaction of knowing that the home is spotless and clean. It is quite true that the tight lacing of the waist is responsible for many cases of indigestion. The necessity for tight lacing is an ill proportioned body, usually due to neglect or over-indulgence. The stomach rebels at being confined when performing the labors and announces its displeasure by not taking proper care of the food consumed, which results in discomfort and eventually indigestion.

Housework may here be utilized to such a degree that tight lacing will be unnecessary. For instance how often each day does the housewife find it necessary to pick up articles from the floor? If, instead of lowering the body, as most women do, by squatting, she would lean forward from the waist and at the same time keep the knees from bending, the movement would act directly on the muscles of the waist and hips.

The value of housework as a form beautifier and a preserver of health should not be underestimated.

KULTUR.

WILT MACH

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussians, kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with summariness, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the sod: it's kultur.

Fads and Fashions.

All shades of brown are favored. The new velvets are bordered with narrow fur. The fichu of lace is prophesied for fall wear. Small buttons are much in use as a trimming. The necks of the newest gowns are very wide. Thin organdie sleeves are tightly cutted with silk. Collars of coats are very important this year. Organdie is an admirable choice for a dressy frock. Practically every jacket has a scarf in these days. All kinds of pleating are liked on autumn dresses. Wide tucks are seen on the skirts of thin Paris dresses. The all-white toilette possesses undeniable distinction. Gabardine frocks are belted with narrow strips of suede. Chiffon evening gowns are absolutely without trimming. Velour cloths will be preferred for the finer woolen suits. Gingham and organdie are one of the odd new combinations. Tiny bows of silk ribbon give a smart finish to any frock. Triple collars, like cuffs, make a frock distinguished. Pekin blue is seen among the bolivia cloths for fall coats. Heavy crepe de chine is recommended for tailored dresses. Separate coats of wool for fall have disappeared on the collars only. Gorgeous linings make the dust wrap into a thing of elegance. Three-quarter bell sleeves are prominent in satins and crepes. Shoes and hats should harmonize if a costume is to be successful. Dresses of navy voile, foulard printed are trimmed with beads. The latest boudoir caps are made of organdie, and scalloped daintily.

Executive Members as Government Contractors.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—A few days ago I addressed through the columns of the Telegram a question or two to the editor of the Herald relative to the matter of Executive members being government contractors. I asked the Herald editor if he thought we could have an INDEPENDENT Parliament while such practices prevail.

Patriotic Association.

At the meeting of the Patriotic Association held last evening, His Excellency the Governor presided, and 40 members attended. Following the minutes of last meeting, Mr. W. R. Howley, M.C., on behalf of the committee appointed to confer with the Government authorities as to a definition of the future work of the Association, submitted a brief report, stating that practically all matters formerly attended to by the Association except the War History, were being attended to by the Militia Department.

BUCKINGHAM.

Yes, dearest, it usually happens that when the pained pitcher pipes the giant form of Jimmie's looming up at the plate, he lofs over four wild ones, and James takes his base. That's how the phrase "Passing the Buck" originated.

EMPIRE.

We leave it to our readers to judge whether Freddie doesn't look pretty natty in his new motor cap. Some crusty curmudgeons cynically suggest that he put on his goggles to 'lamp' some of the close ones. But they're simply jealous.

BYRNE-WALSH. At 7.30 Thursday evening, at the Chapel of Our Lady of Good Counsel, Presentation Convent, Miss Gertrude Byrne, daughter of Mr. James Byrne, H.M.C., and sister of Captain G. Byrne, M.C., and Mr. Thomas Walsh, Manager of Parker & Monro's East End Store, were united in holy matrimony by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor McDermott, V.G. in the presence of a large gathering of friends of the contracting parties. The bride was beautifully sown in champagne silk and carried a bouquet. She was attended by her sister, Miss Kitty Byrne, and Miss Isabella Walsh, sister of the bride. The groom was supported by Mr. Peter Power. After the ceremony the wedding party drove to Smithville where a reception was held, about a hundred people being present, when the health of the bride and groom were duly honoured. At 10.30 the newly married couple left by motor for Holyrood, and yesterday morning for Salmonier, where the honeymoon will be spent. The Telegram wishes Mr. and Mrs. Walsh many years of wedded happiness.

WAR REVIEW.

The Allied offensive has slowed but has not been checked. Franco-American troops to-day forced back the Germans a bit further north. The greater part of the fighting is taking place in the big forest north of the Marne, and along the western flank of the salient. The ninth day of the Allied offensive on the Soissons-Rheims salient saw a lessening in the intensity of the fight along the west side of the salient where only mutual bombardments were in progress along the Marne. However, south-west of Rheims the Franco-American, British and Italian troops were at deadly grips with the army. On various sectors the enemy tried hard in the forest region north of the Marne to hold the French and Americans back debouching from the woods in strong counter attacks. The enemy, however, was forced slightly further back to the north and the forests now have been almost entirely cleared of the Germans. Southwest of Rheims heavy reinforcements evidently have been thrown along the front where the British, French and Italians are fighting. In the immediate region of Reull where the line turns sharply towards Rheims the French have captured several important places of vantage, including the village of Reull, and advanced their line northward notwithstanding the violence of the German counter attack. To the north-east where the Germans are facing the British, the Germans have recaptured Mery and Hill 204, but the British have retained the hold on Vignay, and most of the other territory taken in that theatre. Eastward from Rheims in Champagne the French regained their old line positions and are harassing the enemy with counter attacks. Before the fighting died down along the west side of the Rheims-Soissons salient, the villages of Oulchy-le-Chateau and Ville-Montel were captured by Franco-American troops who advanced their lines east of Oulchy. The fall of Oulchy gives the Allied forces the key to the heights dominating Fere-en-Tardenois which lies only a short distance to the east. At Oulchy 40 guns and 100 prisoners were captured by the American and French troops. Big Allied guns have been pulled up in this region and are heavily shelling the sectors before them over which it is purposed to push forward for the capture of Fere-en-Tardenois when the time is ripe. Meantime Allied big guns over the entire salient continue to throw shells from all angles into the German forces inside the big bag. While there has been no attempt by the Germans at a general retreat from the salient, the belief prevails along the front that an indication that a retreat is purposed is shown by the fact that the enemy is using comparatively small forces of infantry on various sectors under attack, depending mainly on his machine guns to retard the progress of the Allies.

In France and Flanders the British have been compelled to withstand several violent attacks by the Germans near Hebuterne and in the vicinity of Meteran. The enemy in both sectors was repulsed with heavy casualties. On the other battle fronts the military activity is nominal although considerable fighting continues in Macedonia and Albania with the Allied troops holding the upper hand. The British Navy has lost the armed cruiser Marmora through a submarine attack, while a torpedo boat destroyer has run aground and sunk.

GERMANS RETIRING.
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, July 26. (By the A.P.)—To-day the Franco-American push northeast of Chateau Thierry has resolved itself into a battle of the wood which abound in this region. Germans are fighting a rearguard action with their artillery and machine guns, retiring gradually before the Allied forces. The German infantry is not in evidence.

GERMAN POSITION IN DANGER.
WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, July 26. (By the A.P.)—The German position within the Marne salient is such that it may fall at any instant as the result of some sharp forward movement by the Allies affecting a vital part. It is for this reason that the German Commanders have ordered their men to hold on at all costs, while a defensive position is prepared upon which the German army can fall back day after day. The Allies, now the French, now the Americans and now the British are encroaching upon the triangular salient at some places making deep dents in the enemy positions and at others progressing upon which the German army can fall back day after day. The Allies, now the British are encroaching upon the triangular salient at some places making deep dents in the enemy positions and at others progressing upon which the German army can fall back day after day.

with an offensive battle in the neighboring regions. "It is believed probable that the Germans may also strike simultaneously in Flanders. The critics are convinced, however, that General Poch will not let the initiative be taken from him. The Matin says that whether the Germans begin an attack against the French or British they will find the Allies well prepared. The Allied High Command awaits in full confidence the expected enemy action. Should the Germans meet another failure, says the Matin, they would be obliged to precipitate the retirement which already appears almost inevitable.

MOVING THE LINE FORWARD.
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, July 26. (By the A.P.)—Franco-American troops on the front northeast of Chateau Thierry moved their lines further forward to-day. The Allies along the front to the east likewise made progress at places. The Americans at one point attained an objective a kilometre distant, clinging desperately to the hills and woods. The Germans are using their machine guns, their artillery and their air forces and quantities of gas in an effort to hamper the advance.

IMPRESSION ON THE GERMANS.
AMSTERDAM, July 26. The impression that the Allied counter offensive has made on the Germans at home is best illustrated in an article written by Deputy Traub of the Prussian Lower House in the German paper the Tagliche Rundschau. Traub fiercely lashes the croakers, "who dare doubt the official headquarters reports of victory." He makes a desperate appeal for "more nerve" and "more faith" and blusters thus: "If the late Fritz-Frederick the Great walked the streets to-day and saw the people's long faces he would say: Remember the seven years' war when fortune was often dead against us, why grumble because affairs on the Marne are not going as well as expected. Devil take you, you ought to be ashamed of yourselves."

MUST RETREAT OR FACE DISASTER.
PARIS, July 26. (Havas Agency.)—The latest news from the Aisne-Marne front is considered by the afternoon papers to be particularly favorable. The Allies' progress, it is believed, has not yet come to an end despite stubborn resistance. The enemy has been obliged to give up Oulchy-le-Chateau, and it is thought that the Teutons cannot hold long Fere-en-Tardenois. La Liberté says the Germans must be considering a retreat to the banks of the Vesle as fires and explosions are multiplying in the German lines and the Teuton provisions and other stores are in flames. The Germans, the papers add, either must retreat or face disaster.

NO BREAD IN PRAGUE.
WASHINGTON, July 26. Further revolts at Prague, caused by famine, were reported in a diplomatic despatch from Switzerland. It was reported there has been no bread in Prague since July 7.

UPSET GERMAN PLANS.
PARIS, July 26. President Poincare yesterday visited many of the recaptured villages in the battle zone, including Longpont, Corcy and Couvres-Valseroy, and decorated many heroes. The President also saw a batch of prisoners. Many German prisoners say that their plans have been betrayed, otherwise they assert their defeat is inexplicable, as everything had been so carefully planned for a German advance which was to wedge itself between the French forces lying before Paris and those holding the east frontier to enable the Germans to turn in whatever way they might decide and smash each force in turn.

much blue cross or sneeze gas, but ineffectively. The Poplar and Oak Forests of Fere and Ris are filled with underbrush and the Allied forces are having a stiff job to get through them, but are continuing the push night and day, the German machine gunners and artillery are desperately contending for every inch of ground before giving it up. This morning the battle in the woods was still in progress.

ANOTHER TEST CASE.
WINNIPEG, July 26. The Galicians of Canada will launch in the Winnipeg court next week a test case to decide whether Galicians can be drafted in Canada for any kind of military service, combatant or non-combatant.

NAVAL LOSSES.
LONDON, July 26. The British armed cruiser Marmora was sunk by a German submarine on Tuesday, according to an announcement by the British Admiralty tonight. Ten of the crew are missing, and it is presumed they were killed. The Admiralty also announces that a British torpedo boat destroyer ran ashore Wednesday and later sank. Thirteen of the crew are missing and presumed drowned. Naval records contain no cruiser named Marmora and it is possible the ship sunk was the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Co. steamer Marmora, of 10,500 tons gross. She was built at Belfast in 1903, was 530 feet long and had a beam of 60 feet.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.
PARIS, July 26. Our artillery activity prevailed south of the Ourcq River Friday, the infantry of both sides remaining in their trenches, according to the French official statement issued tonight. Several advances have been made southwest of Rheims.

RIOTING IN—RUSSIA.
WASHINGTON, July 26. Rioting by the peasants in the occupied regions of White Russia, is increasing, and many German soldiers have been killed, says an official despatch to-day from Stockholm.

PEASANT REBELLION.
LONDON, July 26. A peasant rebellion has broken out in the Ukraine on a formidable scale. According to information received to-day, 75,000 peasants, fairly efficient troops, with their officers and instructors are advancing against the German detachments, many of whom have withdrawn before the hostile advance, retreating to Kiev. The peasants are well armed.

WIND THEM UP FOREVER!
LONDON, July 26. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—The House of Commons to-day gave a third reading to the trading with the enemy bill, which finally winds up German banks in London and prevents them reopening for a period of five years after the war.

Here and There.

Thirteen of the crew are missing and presumed drowned. Naval records contain no cruiser named Marmora and it is possible the ship sunk was the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Co. steamer Marmora, of 10,500 tons gross. She was built at Belfast in 1903, was 530 feet long and had a beam of 60 feet.

WASHINGTON, July 26. Rioting by the peasants in the occupied regions of White Russia, is increasing, and many German soldiers have been killed, says an official despatch to-day from Stockholm.

PEASANT REBELLION.
LONDON, July 26. A peasant rebellion has broken out in the Ukraine on a formidable scale. According to information received to-day, 75,000 peasants, fairly efficient troops, with their officers and instructors are advancing against the German detachments, many of whom have withdrawn before the hostile advance, retreating to Kiev. The peasants are well armed.

SUNLIGHT SOAP.

£1,000 Guarantee of Purity on every Bar.

THE "Sunlight" Guarantee of Purity was never more justified than it is to-day, because it enables us to insure the wives of our gallant soldiers and sailors against the drudgery and worry of household cleaning.

Sunlight Soap saves scrubbing—saves scrubbing—saves the clothes. That portion of a wife's allowance which must be devoted to the cleaning of the home is, therefore, absolutely safeguarded when spent on Sunlight Soap.

SUNLIGHT SOAP is made for the housewife's profit for only thereby can the makers hope to profit by Sunlight Soap.

The same Love for Soap is a Guarantee of Purity and Excellence.

LONDON, July 1st, 1918.
NEW ARMY COMMANDER.

I now hear it said that General Sir William Birdwood is to take over the command of the Fifty Army, whose last chief was Sir Hubert Gough. I saw General Birdwood chatting to the Queen at the Grafton Galleries during the Royal visit to inspect the famous Red Cross pearl necklace and he looked very fit. Talking of this Red Cross necklace reminds me that 2,500 pearls have been so far collected for it. In the above-mentioned show at the Grafton Galleries each is exhibited apart on a silk thread against ivory velvet, with the name of the donor attached.

A GREAT GARDEN PARTY.

By their unpaid work for war charities the London actors and actresses are said to have raised something like three million pounds ($15,000,000). It is only fair that they should have had a chance at the theatrical garden party on June 25th to get some money out of the public for their own special charity, the Actors' Orphanage. The garden party—it was in the Botanic Gardens, Regents Park (in the north-western district of London) again this time—has proved to be the hardest survival among London frivolities, and now that the race meetings have become attenuated business events it is not surprising that the noisy and gaudy avenue should be overcrowded—so much so that one was almost immune from buying anything, as there was no room to sell. Princess Mary made the round, the popular actor, Gerald du Maurier, acting as showman. The stars were working far harder at being funny than they do in the theatre and if the humor was primitive there was a good deal of it. The effect was rather like that of a well-dressed Hampton Heath on Bank

Holiday, with such artless turns as that other famous actor, Arthur Bourchier, as Ole Bill biting Treasury notes to see if they were good, and the revue called "Too Awful for Words," which really seemed to be a more than average good specimen of the kind. It was the most light-hearted garden party there has been during the war, but on the edge of the bright parterre there were plenty of men from hospitals and soldiers in khaki who will never fight again.

MEAT.

It is a cheerful sign of improved food conditions that we are now grumbling at the quality of our meat. Only six months ago our anxiety was lest by this time there would be little or no meat to grumble at. I hear that the Food Ministry is giving serious attention to the complaints about the unequal quality of the imported frozen meat which is still the staple at the butchers'. The quantity at Smithfield meat market in London grows steadily larger, but at the same time there are reports that many people are not using their ration coupons owing to the poor quality of what is for sale. The official defence is that, while the general level of quality is improving, the imports last week included one very inferior cargo. The dissatisfied people are those who bought bits of this shipload. The real grievance is that there seems to be no equitable distribution, some butchers getting only poor meat to sell, others getting the best. The Ministry of Food is now working out a scheme to remedy this state of things.

KITE BALLOONS.

The kite balloon is, I hear, now coming into its own at sea. The splendid work of the navy in the matter of convoys for cargo-carrying vessels is well known, but few people have heard of balloons being taken in tow so that a keener look-out could be kept for the German submarine. Observers from the balloon basket have been able to sight the periscope of a hostile submarine long before it could have been seen from a ship. The news passed by phone from a balloon basket to ship's bridge, the range is soon found by the gunners, and the submarine is fittingly saluted. In patrol work the observation balloon has proved a great asset to the navy. The records of British kite balloon officers would prove very interesting to the general public.

GERMANIFICATION OF RUSSIA.

An influential neutral authority in the course of conversation has given some interesting evidence concerning the progress of German plans for the commercial conquest of Russia. Branches of the leading banks already, he states, have been reopened or established in various parts of the country, and large and valuable concessions and licenses are being negotiated for public and private constructional work. The way for the securing of these is being smoothed by wholesale bribery when necessary, and great quantities of German-printed paper-money are being put into circulation, without apparently any security behind it. The above authority, therefore, is very emphatic in his assertion that if the Allies intend to save Russia, and particularly in her commercial relations, they should move at once.

ANTI-ALIEN POLICY.

To intern all unaturalised Germans, Austrians, Turks, and Bulgarians, to throw on those who have secured naturalisation the onus of proof that they should not be denaturalised under the new Bill and interned, and to remove from Government departments all officials of German birth or parentage—these are the proposals which Premier Lloyd George is now considering in response to the public anxiety about enemy aliens, an anxiety which the Clapham (a suburb in South-West London) by-election is giving voice. Lloyd George returned to the consideration of the matter after a long conference with the Dominions Premiers on war business, but it may not be possible for the Government to announce proposals before Sir George Cave, the Home Secretary, comes back from the conference with regard to exchange of prisoners which is taking place in Holland.

GERMAN MERCANTILE SHIP-BUILDING STOPPED.

According to a report received in an authoritative quarter here an order has been issued by the Government authorities in Berlin under which all work is to be completely suspended as from the first of July on the building of mercantile vessels. Only a sufficient number of hands will be left in the establishments to do such repairs as are absolutely necessary or to keep the yards from falling into a condition of decay, all others being drafted to centres where their work is of more immediate importance, and, therefore, presumably affecting the Imperial Navy. Naturally these steps are not regarded with favor by the heads of the great German shipbuilding and shipbuilding industries, but these have no alternative to obeying the ruling military element, though of late they have become increasingly vocal in protest, particularly in Hamburg.

KERENSKY IN LONDON.

A Russian version of Hilaire Belloc (the well-known British novelist and essayist), paler faced, more intense, and without the humour—that was my impression of M. Kerensky as he stood on Wednesday afternoon on the Labor Conference platform in London, fixedly scanning the mass of shouting delegates before him. I saw what we all knew before, that he is a great orator. Is he a great man of action? We may soon know. For the present, however, he is just a Russian citizen, who has managed to get away, reached London just over a week ago, and has taken a house here. Henderson, the Secretary of the Labor Party, brought him to the Labor Party Conference, and despite what Pacifist interruptors said, the Government has no more concern with him than any other Russian politician. As a plain Russian, he brings good news of the growth of national feeling, of a desire for secure government, and of resentment against Germany. I imagine that his was the authority on which Premier Lloyd George on June 25th announced the peasants' war in the Ukraine. As Germany hoped to get not only grain, but recruits from Russia this autumn, these first fruits of the Brest-Litovsk are satisfactory to the Entente by themselves. And although the Entente can give no effective help in Russia until some party emerges with a claim to speak for the nation, yet we can say already that the danger of our former ally willingly aiding and supplying Germany is now past.
