LONG VOYAGE IN OPEN BOATS

GERMAN SUBMARINE SENT BIG SAILING SHIP TO THE BOTTOM 700 MILES OFF NOVA SCOTIA

The Marosa was an Iron Ship of 1,882 Tons, and Loaded With Coal—Twenty-Two Men Made Land Safely.

AN ATLANTIC PROT. July 17—The Associated Press carries the following:

"Word reached here today that the Norwegian sailing ship Marosa, 1,882 tons, loaded with coal, had been sunk at sea by a German submarine and that the crew were landed safely at Canso, N. S., today."

CANSO, N. S., July 17—Reporting the sinking of their vessel on Sunday, July 15th, by a U-boat, the crew of twenty-two of the Norwegian iron sailing ship Marosa, arrived here early this morning in the two boats in which they had made their escape before the submarine sank their ship. They said that the Marosa, bound from Newport News with a cargo of coal for Buenos Ayres, was held up by a submarine in latitude 40 North, longitude 50 West, about seven hundred miles southeast of this coast.

The commander of the U-boat, after firing a warning shot, ordered Captain Nyhus, master of the Marosa, to heave to and abandon his ship. This he did, taking with him plentiful supplies of food and water, also compasses, sextants and a chronometer. The U-boat, which the Norwegian describe as a large one, then fired shell after shell into the Marosa's hull until she sank.

HEADED FOR NOVA SCOTIA
To the Morning Chronicle tonight, Captain Nyhus said that after he saw his vessel sunk he decided to make for the Nova Scotia coast.

"We had a long journey ahead of us," he said, "but with the prevailing southerly winds, it was the best course to take, and I calculated that we would be able to make land safely. We had good weather and favorable winds and had travelled several hundred miles when on Thursday, July 11th, the fifth day after the sinking, we sighted a Norwegian barque bound for a South American port. We were taken on board and her captain agreed to take us as close to the Nova Scotia coast as we considered necessary. The barque then changed her course and sailed north until Saturday, July 13th, when she was about two hundred miles southeast of Canso."

The Marosa's crew then once more took to their boats, shouted good-bye to their fellow countrymen and set sail for here. The boats were able to make good progress with fair winds. The boats had no difficulty in making the coast and shortly after Tuesday, midnight, they were sighted off Cranberry Light, near the Canso harbor entrance. They came up the harbor, and this morning the crew landed and told their story to persons here, who at once saw to it that they were given shelter and rest. Captain Nyhus says that he and his men had plenty to eat and drink and suffered no great hardship during their long voyage in the open boats.

The Marosa was a ship of 1,882 tons, and was built at Liverpool, England, in 1885. She was originally owned in Scotland and was named the Buccleuch, but a number of years ago was purchased by the Brunsgaard firm of Drammen, Norway, and her name changed to her present one.

This is not Captain Nyhus' first experience with a U-boat. Off the Irish coast last year, a sailing ship, of which he was in command, was torpedoed and sunk.

A Former Digby Girl Married in St. John.

HEATHER-FARNHAM

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Wednesday afternoon, at the home of the bride's brother, J. U. Farnham, 106 Dorchester street, St. John, when Reuben Pearl Heather, of Oxford (N. S.), was united in marriage to Miss Lottie Belle Farnham, by Rev. D. J. McPherson. The bride was becomingly attired in a travelling suit of navy blue broadcloth, with hat to match. The bride has been a member of the staff of F. A. Dykeman, and she was splendidly remembered by fellow employees. Among the many costly gifts received was a cheque from the bride's mother, while the groom's presents to the bride was a string of pearls. The bridal pair left for Moncton, where they will start on a motoring tour of the provinces, after which they will take up their residence at Oxford, where the groom is a prosperous farmer. Good wishes of the bride's many friends go with her.

Berlin Public Advised to go Barefoot.

LONDON, July 20—"We warn you to go barefooted," is a notice to the Berlin public, published by the German clothing department, as quoted in an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Amsterdam today. "We notice," continues the warning, "that recently many people have been going about shoeless and stockingless. This is a holy example which everyone must follow. Unless our stocks of wool are to go to waste the practice must become increasingly popular; otherwise compulsion will be resorted to." The newspapers, add the message, recommend to school children and students not to fear ridicule, but to set the example of going barefooted.

New Disease in Germany.

A new disease, which recently appeared in Germany, is attributed to the shortage of soap. So far the German health authorities have been unable to find a remedy for the malady, which is called "trichotia," and effects the skin and hair. The disease is caused by lack of soap and insanitary conditions resulting from it.

Five Hundred Dead in Petrograd.

LONDON, July 17—Some 500 persons die of cholera daily in Petrograd, according to travellers arriving in Copenhagen, says a despatch from the Danish capital to the Exchange Telegraph Company. At Barstov, thousands of persons are suffering from the disease. The malady has spread to Finland.

ENEMY'S EFFORTS PROVED FUTILE

ALLIES SMASH THROUGH THE GERMAN LINE.

Crown Prince's Army Now in General Rout, Has Not Only Been Defeated, But Soundly Thrashed, and Only With Good Luck Can He Escape Complete Annihilation.

The Crown Prince's army is in general rout, and the German arms are suffering the greatest reverse since the early days of the war, when the Russian steam roller swept thru and crushed all opposition. Foch has recovered the initiative. He is directing a battle which may lead to a decision and end the war.

It is not exaggeration to state there has been no more momentous time since the thin line that blocked the German rush to Calais, when Foch broke the wave of Huns sweeping down the Marne Valley towards Paris. The tides have turned and are running so strongly in the Allies' favor that it may carry allied arms to a much earlier victory than the most optimistic could expect a week ago. The Crown Prince is not only being defeated, but he is being soundly thrashed, and he will be lucky if he escapes annihilation. That, in brief tells the main points of the news from the Marne.

That the Germans now realize to the full that the Allies have the upper hand in the battle seems apparent from reports that they are burning villages behind them in their retreat and destroying large quantities of munitions and war munitions throughout the entire salient which they have found impossible to move, owing to the rapid strides of the Allies across various lines of their communications and the domination of others by the allied big guns. These guns now are throwing shells far behind the lines, searching out the entire country side, while airplanes are winging their way over the retreating columns and harrying the enemy with machine gun fire.

ORCHARD MEETING A SUCCESS.

A Large Number of Interested People Were Present.

In spite of the continuous rain on Thursday, July 18th, over fifty people assembled at Senator W. B. Ross' Wagner orchard at Middleton, to look over the results of spring spraying. The experiments in the orchard were carried on by the Dominion Entomological Branch with a view to demonstrating the superiority of the new Thomson modified Bordeaux and the soluble sulphur, arsenate of lime combination over the formerly almost universal lime sulphur arsenate of lead combination.

The orchard being in sod and of the Wagner variety, was particularly well adapted for a foliage test, and many sprays that would in the majority of orchards give no injury, gave in this orchard injury of one type or another. The combination calendar of two sprays of Bordeaux before the blossoms, one spray of soluble sulphur after the blossoms and Bordeaux two weeks after the blossoms, without doubt showed the finest foliage in the orchard, even excelling the plots dusted with the 90-10 sulphur lead arsenate dust.

There is no doubt in the minds of the most progressive growers but that the use of lime and sulphur during the past seven years, while it has controlled the fungus, has been only the lesser of the two evils, the greater being the fungus, in that it has caused the dropping of from ten to twenty per cent of the total crop annually. To know that a system of spraying has been devised that is even more efficient than the old lime and sulphur in controlling diseases that will not russet the fruit and will not injure the leaves and cause the fruit to drop, is a relief to all Annapolis Valley growers. To Mr. G. L. Thomson, of Berwick, who was present at the meeting, a large portion of the credit for this new system is due, as he is the first man who demonstrated experimentally the loss of crop due to the use of lime and sulphur, and who also devised the Thomson formula Bordeaux.

Of the fifty odd men present who carefully examined each of the 48 plots in spite of the continuous rain, and wet grass, all but two or three have for years made a close study of spraying and so were keenly interested, and it is not probable that any previous gathering in the Annapolis Valley has had represented in it the knowledge of spraying and sprays represented in the meeting of July 18.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is wrong for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.
If your work is tiring; if your nerves are excitable; if you feel languid, weary or depressed, Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.
It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build up your strength.

Tired Nervous Mothers

Buffalo, N. Y.—"I am the mother of four children, and for nearly three years I suffered from a female trouble with pains in my back and side, and a general weakness. I had professional attendance most of that time but did not seem to get well. As a last resort I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I had seen advertised in the newspapers, and in two weeks noticed a marked improvement. I continued its use and am now free from pain and able to do all my household work."—Mrs. B. B. ZIELINSKA, 202 Weiss Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Portland, Ind.—"I had a displacement and suffered so badly from it at times I could not be on my feet at all. I was all run down and so weak I could not do my housework, was nervous and could not lie down at night. I took treatments from a physician but they did not help me. My Aunt recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I tried it and now I am strong and well again and do my own work and I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound the credit."—Mrs. JOSEPHINE KIMBLE, 935 West Race Street, Portland, Ind.

LEMONS MAKE SKIN WHITE, SOFT, CLEAR

Make This Beauty Lotion for a Few Cents and See for Yourself.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to whiten the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quart of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.
Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.

Breakdown in German Discipline

LONDON, July 20—Indications of a breakdown in discipline in the second army are found in two orders issued by General Von Der Marwitz, which have fallen into British hands, says the correspondent of the Times at British headquarters in France. In the orders General Von Der Marwitz makes this complaint:
"Discipline, which is the keystone of our army, seriously shaken. Cases of soldiers refusing to obey orders are increasing to an alarming extent."

A press despatch on the death of Sir Clive Phillip-Woolley in British Columbia says: "Sir Clive's son, a lieutenant commander in the royal navy, was the first Canadian born Britisher to be killed in the present war. He was killed in the battle of Falkland Islands. He was known for his contributions to Canadian literature." This statement is not correct, as the first Canadian killed in the war were Nova Scotia born. They were Midshipman Cann, son of Mrs. H. Bradford Cann, Yarmouth; Midshipman Hatheway, of Fredericton, born at Annapolis Royal, and Midshipman Silver and Palmer, of Halifax. They lost their lives when the Good Hope went down in the sea-fight off Coronel, in the Pacific, with the German squadron, which was destroyed some weeks afterwards at the Falkland Islands. Midshipman Cann was the grandson of the late Senator John Levitt, of Yarmouth.

THE Y. W. C. A.

Maritime Students' Conference Held at Deep Brook. [Special to the MONITOR] The annual Maritime Students' Conference of the Young Women's Christian Association, was held in Deep Brook this year from July 3rd to 11th and a most successful one from every view point except that of the weather. There was a large attendance of 80, not including chance visitors.

Among the officers and leaders were: Miss W. Thomas, Eastern Student's Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Dr. Gifford, of the Wesleyan, Theo. College, Montreal, Dr. Line, of Mt. Allison University, Dr. Bronson, of Dalhousie University, Miss Jane Wisdom, Social Service Dept., Halifax, Dr. Jessie Allyn, Missionary of India, Rev. M. L. Orchard and Mrs. Orchard, missionary of India, Mrs. Barker, missionary of Korea, Miss Chappell, missionary of China, Mr. D. G. Cock, missionary of India, Mrs. Hiltz, representing the W. A. of Dartmouth, N. S.

With such leaders and the large number of enthusiastic students, the Bible study and Mission study classes were most inspiring and successful. These classes were held each morning and in the evening "Twilight" mind-table talks on religious topics. The Conference had as its setting, one of the most beautiful spots on the Annapolis Basin, i. e. Deep Brook. In the home-like and comfortable "Sea Breeze," all nestled down like birds in their nests. In the quaint cabins decorated with the pennants and banners of Dalhousie, Mount A., Acadia and U. N. B. were the respective students. Despite the weather all were enthusiastic in the praise of the place and its beauty and of the "Sea Breeze" and the hospitality of its proprietor.

The students enjoyed motor trips to Bear River and Digby and auto rides to Bridgetown and Bear River. "Students' Day" proved highly interesting, instructive and amusing. Then it was that each College entered with competitor and the prize went to the young ladies of the U. N. B. Mrs. John McAvity, of St. John, Chairman of the Board of Y. W. C. A. of St. John, was the energetic and entertaining hostess of the conference.

Some months before the Conference met, the Rector of Clementsfort, Rev. A. W. L. Smith, invited the members to a special service in St. Matthews Church, Deep Brook, on Sunday evening, July 7th. This invitation was accepted and the conference attended in a body. The church was crowded. The Bishop of Fredericton, who was at his summer home at Smith's Cove, very kindly came up and addressed the students. His sermon was a memorable one and emphasized the value of service. On Tuesday evening, a missionary meeting was held in the Baptist church. Excellent addresses were given by Miss Winnifred Eaton, Miss K. Marsh, and Rev. M. L. Orchard, missionaries all working under the Baptist Board in India.

The Conference closed on Thursday, all present hoping that Deep Brook and the "Sea Breeze" would be chosen for next year's gathering.

Will Take Prisoners All Merchant Seamen. AMSTERDAM, July 17—The Telegraph publishes a statement, which it attributes to a reliable source, that German submarine commanders have been ordered as far as possible to make prisoners of the crews of the enemy merchantmen, particularly subordinate members of these crews. The German authorities, it says, intend to treat them not as civilian war prisoners, but to put them to most severe regime of ordinary prisoners.

PRESENTED MEDALS TO THEIR PARENTS.

Interesting Ceremony at Government House, Thursday Morning.

The happiest part of the ceremony at Government House, Thursday, when the relatives of the six men who won honors overseas were presented with the medals was the fact that all six boys are alive and either in the fight or on duty elsewhere. All were among the first to go over and that they are still doing their bit is particularly deserving of mention.

It is the first occasion I have had since the outbreak of the war where we have had the pleasure of presenting medals to parents or relatives of living heroes. Unfortunately on other such occasions the joy was usually blotted out by the fact that the hero had been killed. I am sorry I cannot tell just what brave deed won the medal, but played on the minds of the parents and the case with our modest Canadian boys. They will not state why or how they won the honor.

As Col. Thompson read the record His Honor presented the medals to the parents, congratulating them on having such splendid sons and stating he hoped they would be able someday soon to pin the medals on their hero boys.

Among the six was Sergt. W. C. Goodwin, Upper Granville, who won a Military Medal. He has been in France three years and has recently been recommended for a commission. His father Mr. Goodwin, was present and was given the medal. Sergt. Goodwin joined in St. John.

On his return from Halifax, Mr. Albert Goodwin called at the MONITOR office and showed us the medal, which certainly was a beauty and one that both father and son might well be proud of.

The Graves of Deceased Members Decorated Thursday Evening.

Officers and members of Crescent Lodge and Autumn Leaf Rebekah Lodge decorated the graves of deceased members in Riverside Cemetery last Thursday evening. The disagreeable weather cut down the attendance. The floral display was beautiful, and the impressive ceremony was splendidly delivered by Mr. Vernon Goldsmith, Noble Grand, and Rev. M. S. Richardson, Chaplain.

The procession, which was in charge of Past Grand J. W. Peters, in the absence of the Marshall, reformed and returned to the Lodge room, where appropriate speeches were delivered by Past Grand H. R. Longmire, C. Morse, J. W. Peters, W. R. Longmire, and Chaplain M. S. Richardson, of Crescent Lodge, and Miss Marquerite Hicks, Noble Grand of Autumn Leaf Rebekahs.

A quartette from Crescent Lodge gave a couple of excellent selections that were very much appreciated. Both lodges have been doing a lot of degree work during the past year, and are in a flourishing condition.

Married in Halifax.
RENT-STEADMAN.
Rev. G. F. Bolster officiated Tuesday evening at a pretty home wedding, celebrated at 2 Princess Street, Halifax, when Elizabeth Steadman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Steadman, formerly of Digby, was united in marriage to William Rent, of the 6th Battalion, Canadian Garrison Regiment.

The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and white daisies. Both bride and groom were unattended. The bride was attractively gowned in broad silk with hat to match and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations. Following the ceremony and an informal reception, Mr. and Mrs. Rent left for a motor trip to Digby.

Among the large collection of wedding gifts was a Morris Chair from the company to which Mr. Rent is attached.

The Red Cross Drive.
As all the amounts have not yet been paid in, the chairman, Mr. H. B. Hicks, and treasurer, Mr. R. V. Arnold, will be unable to make a full report until the next issue of this paper. The amount subscribed in Bridgetown up to date is $3,173.28.

Local Happenings

There are 7,500,000 men in the British army; and 420,000 in the British navy.

The Centrelea Red Cross meeting will be held next Thursday at Mrs. Milledge Rice's.

An unoccupied house owned by Mrs. Elijah Tyler, was destroyed by fire at Inglewood, Friday night.

Last year, June was our rainy month. This year, July seems to be striving for that distinction.

A driving accident occurred on the Hampton Road at the "Crook," Sunday night. No one was injured.

A number of Bridgetown people are enjoying the sea breezes at Hampton during the present warm weather.

Shelburne County was asked to raise $5,000 for the Red Cross and has nobly come forward with nearly $8,000.

The Colonial Arms at Deep Brook, a popular summer resort, is opened for summer guests, and is reported to be doing a good business.

The centre piece sold by Miss Mildred Lockett for the benefit of the Red Cross, was won by ticket No. 32, purchased by O. S. Dunham.

Everybody reads the MONITOR's classified advertising columns. It is a quick way to sell, purchase or obtain anything. Once tried, always used.

Bishop & Bishop continue to advertise choice programs of pictures in the Primrose Theatre which are drawing good houses. The business in this theatre is increasing quite rapidly.

Hayti is the twenty-second nation to declare war on Germany. Seven other countries have broken diplomatic relations with Hayti in June, 1917.

We wish to call particular attention to the Field Crop Competition advertised in another column by Mr. L. W. Elliott, the popular and efficient secretary of the Annapolis County Farmers' Association.

Mrs. Simeon Henshaw, of Centrelea, has received the official burial report of her son, Pte. F. P. Henshaw, who whose death has already been reported in the MONITOR.

Last Sunday was "Cherry Sunday" at Bear River, and more than one hundred auto parties visited the town. Several motor boats were also on the river, but the latter sport is not as popular on Sundays as automobilizing.

A collision occurred at the corner of the road entering Colonial Arms Hotel, Deep Brook, Sunday, between Bridgetown car and one from Belleve's Cove. Fortunately no one was injured. The cars were considerably damaged.

Annapolis Spectator: The first baseball match of the season here, was played on the Garrison Grounds, Wednesday evening, between Middlebrook and Annapolis Royal teams. It was won by Middlebrook with a score of 13 to 6.

The Picton Advocate says: On a recent trip to the country we saw about thirty barrels of apples which had been thrown out to rot. Our companion said that the owner of the apples had been offered $3 a barrel for them but would not sell at that figure.

The dedication of the beautiful new Masonic Hall at Yarmouth, Thursday evening was the most important event in local Masonic circles in recent years. Mr. W. G. M. John Hay, of Truro, and G. S. James C. Jones, of Halifax, were among the distinguished visitors.

The T. Eaton Co. have purchased from Record Foundry and Machine Co. of Montreal, a property situated along the wharf track and Foundry St. They will erect a warehouse, and make Moncton a distributing centre for heavy goods, particularly farm machinery.

The teachers and staff of St. James' Church Sunday School have decided, as the more befitting the anxious times through which we are passing, to hold no Sunday School picnic this year. Superintendent Longmire spoke to the children along this line on Sunday morning last, and the spirit with which the children manifestly approved of the decision was most gratifying.

Killed in Action.
The following very sad note was sent to the Wesleyan from Rev. Joseph Hale, of Louisburg, N. S., formerly of Digby Neck: "I regret to say that our son, Capt. William Fraser Hale, who was loaned to the Imperial Forces, was killed at the front on June 8, his 42nd birthday. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of their very large circle of friends.

Cost of Living Still Soaring

OTTAWA, July 17th.—A continuance of the upward tendency in the cost of living, is shown in the labor department's report on food prices for June. The average cost of a family budget of staple foods in some sixty cities at the middle of June was $12.77, as compared with $12.66 for May, $11.89 for June, 1917, and $7.35 for June 1914. The advance in meats, coal, wood, coal oil, and eggs continued but there were declines in butter, milk and potatoes.

In wholesale prices the department's index number was up to 280.6 as compared with 275.8 in May. The chief increases for the month were in fruits and vegetables and in fuel, the last due to a rise in the price of matches.

Death of Mrs. W. H. Kennison.

Mrs. W. H. Kennison (nee Doty) died in a hospital in Massachusetts, Tuesday evening, after an illness of several years' duration. She leaves a husband, two brothers, E. A. Doty, of Hebron, Yarmouth County, and W. H. Doty, of Medicine Hat, and two sisters, Mrs. Thos. Parker, of Hebron, and Miss Asa Weston, of Mariboro, Mass. The news came as a great shock to the family, as it was not known that her condition was critical.

Captured Two Bears.

Messrs. Charles and William Todd, who recently trapped two bears at Dalhousie, arrived in town yesterday with the skins which were certainly beautiful furs. One of them, which measured over eight feet in length, is said to be the largest ever captured in this vicinity.

Although slates were discarded years ago as unsanitary it is possible that school children in the United States will soon be forced to return to using them. The cost of paper and pencils is soaring to such an extent that some school boards favor the restoration of the slates.

Safe, Clean Cooking

SAFE, because the oil tank is away from the heat, and because the height of flame cannot vary. Clean, because there are no wicks to smoke or need trimming.

Burners can be regulated to give degree of heat desired, and when not in operation are left completely up out of oil contact. The asbestos lining and dead air, space, and glass door of "Success" oven ensure heat retention and visible baking. An economical cooker and baker, beautiful in appearance.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF BRIDGETOWN

Written by John Irvin, Esq., K.C., and Read Before the Nova Scotia Historical Society.

The collections of the Nova Scotia Historical Society, just issued, contain a historical sketch of the town of Bridgetown, Annapolis Co., illustrating the changes which have taken place in the names, customs and habits of the rural population of Nova Scotia during the last century. The sketch—which is an extremely interesting one—was read before the Historical Society by John Irvin, K. C., on the 2nd of January, 1914. Mr. Irvin says:

"The genesis of the town of Bridgetown, in Annapolis County, must be placed somewhere between the years 1800 and 1815. At the first date there were just seven houses within the area embraced by the site of the present town, now (1916) containing over 150 substantial dwellings, public buildings and stores, and a population of 1600 souls.

"From information gleaned from very old people some twenty odd years ago, the winters in the early years of the century were very severe. The snow came in November and continued till the last of March, so that our dwellers in the Valley, who went to sleep a century ago would experience a different climate on waking up at the present time, when we hardly have any snow till after Christmas, and your noble harbor has long been freed from its icy fetters.

"Some few remaining houses built in the early days of the century, tell us the sort of shelter which our forefathers had. Most of the houses were of one story, and low ceiled, with very small windows. They had mostly high, pitched roofs, giving an attic room, in which were stored the large spinning wheel and weaving loom. Some were long, rambling structures, and appeared to have been added to from time to time, as the family increased in size.

"But whatever the size of the dwellings, there was one feature which characterized them all. The kitchen was generally the largest and most important room in the house. Its floor was kept as white as sand and soap, with constant scrubbing, could make it. It was a matter of pride to keep it so, and on the floor would be laid platted mats, not hooked as now. They were circular in shape and displayed the good housewife's skill as one of the articles of domestic manufacture. In one corner stood the small spinning wheel for winter spinning. Among the few articles of tinware, then in general use, was the candle-mould, for making tallow candles, the only light then known in the country districts, except a lamp made of brass or other metal, containing seal oil, which was used only on rare occasions. Near the fire place was a small closet, high up out of the smaller children's reach, in which was kept a miscellaneous collection of dried herbs and other simples, in case of sickness, a bottle of Oppodidock for aches and pains, some senna leaves and Epsom salts, with perhaps a package of sulphur, to be used in the Spring, with molasses, for cleansing the blood. On a shelf, over the huge fire place would be a pair or two of metal candle-sticks, with a tray and snuffers to match. The very well to do people had brass candlesticks of various patterns, which were kept brightly burnished by constant polishing.

"A clock was rarely to be seen; a few families had eight-day ones, which were her-looms in the family and stood as an ornament in the hall or otherwise in the best room. Sundials were used by some, and there are a few not preserved as relics by descendants of some of the old families. Watches were not so common as now; few except the head of the family possessed one, and it was probably handed down from father to son, usually where there was no clock in the house, the watch hung on a nail over the kitchen fire place. From thence on Sunday, it would be transferred to the pocket of the satin vest of the owner and plausibly carried to church.

"The kitchen fire place remains to be described. Modern people can have no idea of this huge cavern for the consumption of wood. Three or four ordinary persons might comfortably seat themselves in some of them and yet not be crowded. In some of the very old houses scattered here and there through the country they have been bricked up or removed to make way for modern requirements. At one side of the fireplace was attached an iron bar called a 'crane,' which swung in and out of the fire place. It had iron hooks attached to it upon which were suspended iron pots for cooking purposes. Meats, game and poultry were not baked as at present, but roasted before the fire. The piece or round of beef, goose or turkey would be suspended on an iron spit made to revolve slowly before the fire. Back of the roast was placed a large tin shield, concaved to the fire, its polished surface reflecting the heat; while underneath was placed a large pan to catch the fast dripping gravy, from which the cook, from time to time, would baste the roast.

"In winter, just before dark, the kitchen fire would be made up to last the next twenty-four hours. First a large hardwood log from three to four feet in length and about two feet thick would be rolled in, and placed comfortably at the back of the fire-place. This was called the back log. On top of this, and resting against the back of the fireplace, was laid an ordinary size cordwood stick. In front and at some little distance from the back log, supported on andirons, was placed another ordinary sized cordwood stick. Under this would be raked the hot embers; a few dry chips thrown on them, and soon it would burn briskly, and the immense back log, catching fire, would blaze away merrily, sending forth both light and heat throughout the apartment, and from thence through the house.

"In winter the evening meal was partaken of quite early, usually at about five o'clock, a long evening being desired. A favorite dish at this meal was composed of Indian cornmeal, boiled with milk, which was called 'saupon.' Its excellence consisted not so much in its ingredients as in the manner of its preparation, which began immediately after dinner. A godly sized pot was nearly filled with sweet milk, into this was stirred meal made from home-grown corn sufficient to make a stiff batter, seasoned with salt. The pot was then hung on the crane over the fire, and allowed slowly to boil and bubble all the afternoon till tea time. It was then served with sugar and cream or milk. This with bread, made from wheat grown on the farm, carryway-seed biscuit, freshly baked, and homemade cheese, with milk as a drink for the younger members of the family, and a great dish of tea for the seniors, comprised the evening meal.

"After tea on very cold or stormy nights all the family gathered in the kitchen, the cheerful glow from the fire place furnishing light enough for the different occupations to which the evening hours were devoted. The boys did little or nothing except to dry and grease their course heavy boots in preparation for the next day's work in the woods, getting out timber and firewood. It was at this period that the districts of Granville and Clarence began to be cleared of the mighty trees, the beeches, the birches and the rock maples, giving place later on to cultivated fields and miles and miles of orchard which now cover the slopes of the North Mountain range. But the boys were full of the lure of the wild and the incidents of the day in the snow-laden forests, and upon these their converse would run.

"One had discovered the lair of a fox and was going to set a trap the next day; another had seen the track of a raccoon or he had observed a wild cat spring upon a luckless rabbit, he had not his gun with him or he would have had such a fine skin. Another, with a sly look at sister Susan, busy at her spinning wheel, would tell how Jim Bolzer, a neighbor's son, had met him on the way home with the last load of wood, and he said he intended being at the singing class next night, while Susan pretended not to hear the mention of her sweetheart's name as the blush on neck and cheek rivalled the red gold of her locks. Ah, happy Susan, pleasant be your dreams when you fall asleep thinking of the next singing class.

"But knitting was the chief occupation of the female portion of the family. They knit the most beautiful socks and stockings, mitts and gloves and underwear, of the softest yarn, spun from the wool of the flock on the farm. All the girls were taught to knit and took pride in it, an accomplishment which today has almost ceased to exist.

"There was very little reading matter in the majority of the houses, and but few books beyond the family Bible, the Book of Common Prayer in some instances, or Wesley's hymns and sermons, and maybe a copy of the Pilgrim's Progress. In later years came Belcher's Farmer's Almanac, and in many houses some carefully preserved copies of Agricola's letters. Among the generality of the people, very little was known of the outside world, or even of our own province, for that matter. Letter writing was very limited, the practice—postage was very expensive and was regulated by the distance. The postage on a letter from Annapolis to Halifax cost six pence;

"Singing classes, as they were called, were a great source of amusement and recreation for the young people. Hence nearly all could read music, and there was no difficulty in congregational singing. The class would meet weekly at the different houses in the settlement and practice singing by notation. Generally in each settlement there would be some one advanced enough in music to be able to teach singing, and classes would be formed every winter for practice, sacred music being principally used. There were no organs, so the tuning fork set the pitch of the tunes.

"Besides the singing classes there were other gatherings of the people for the amusement and pleasure of both youth and age, but their character differed according as the company viewed the question of dancing. Among the staid and sober-minded friends, the strict Baptists and Methodists, the afternoon tea was the fashion. The function was very unlike the afternoon teas of modern society. Very early in the afternoon, near three o'clock, the matrons would meet at the house to which they were invited, knitting or other light work in hand, bedecked in white lace cap-and best gowns, the gown being made of silk, coboury cloth or alpaca, according to the opulence of the wearer. The afternoon would be spent in pleasant gossip until tea was served at the usual family tea hour, at which time the matrons would be joined by their husbands, and all would partake of the repast. After tea the men would quietly withdraw to the kitchen, when pipes and tobacco would be produced, and amid a halo of tobacco smoke, conversation became general. It would simply be local affairs and agricultural matters that would be discussed. Of the great world outside, little would be heard.

"Evening parties for the young were held after tea, at which games and forfeits were the dissipation indulged in. But among that class of people, who did not regard dancing as wicked, 'frolics,' as they were called, were frequently held, at which dancing was the chief, if not the only past time. Round dances were unknown, but indulged in with a zest that nothing seemed to tire. The 'frolic' began early and was kept up till a late hour. There was generally in the neighborhood some one who could play the violin, and whose stock of tunes consisted of 'The Flowers of Edinboro,' the 'Soldier's Joy,' 'Old Dan Tucker,' and 'Catch the Squirrel.' At midnight there would be a halt in the dancing, and supper would be partaken of, and oh! such a supper—the biggest turkey, the fattest goose, with roast chickens and a round of beef, flanked on each side with huge piles of mashed potatoes and gravy, followed by delicious mince and apple pies, displaying the culinary perfection of the rural hostess. And such appetites, such fun and jollity, such joking and rare country wit, followed by explosions of hearty laughter as would make the rafters in the kitchen ring again! Such ogling on the part of the country swains, such flirting on the part of the rural belles! Oh dear, I wonder if our modern balls and dances can show the like as compared with the old time frolic?

"After supper, for a half hour or so, would come the opportunity of the old folk to show their accomplishment in dancing, while the younger people looked on. The oldest of the guests would take their place on the floor in eights and fours. Matrons of three-score-and-ten would vis-a-vis with octogenarian patriachs, and to them would seem for a short while the days of youth would seem to come back as three-score-and-ten courteseyed with old-time grace to octogenarian bows. And how the youths and maidens would laugh and clap their hands as the old folk, galvanized by the excitement and pleasure of the moment, would show the young folk how much better and prettier the dances were stepped in their day than in their modern ones. "But there were other gatherings of a different character. Death, at the old farm house would be the self-invited guests, for was there considered a sacred duty to attend the funeral of a neighbor. There were no flowers used to relieve the gloom of the occasion, but no deeper sympathy could be shown. New was any regular undertaker in those days. The local carpenter would make the coffin, generally of pine wood, stained with black. No other there stately hearse with plumes such as you find in the country today; but a simple hearse, the remains on a simple hand-barrel, the newly made grave close by the little graveyard on the farm, many old farms in the country can be seen those little cemeteries which sleep the dust of generations of our forefathers. This old custom of burying the farm has been given up, and public cemeteries are now used.

Moving Up British Tommies

On the British Western Front in France.—French troops on the roadside moving up with British Tommies near the line.

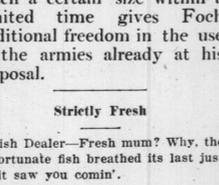

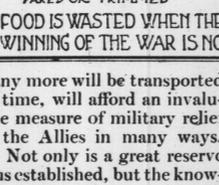

Some shell cases on the roadside in the front area, the contents of which have been despatched over into the German lines.

THE RESERVES

Frequent reference by British statesmen to the next two or three months, particularly the next two months, as a reasonable limit of the period of greatest danger on the western front, lends additional interest to new Washington figures regarding the speed with which American troops are now being landed in France. Senator Hitchcock of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs has made public a statement that by August there will be 3,300,000 men in the American army and a maximum of 1,450,000 American troops in France. From other official figures recently made known it may be inferred that at least a million of the American troops sent across by August would belong to combatant units. Despatches from France to American newspapers say that the American army there is receiving an intensive training such as will prepare it for offensive work when the time comes. The transportation of American troops at the rate maintained during the last three months has undoubtedly been one of the great feats of the war, and the credit must be divided between the American nation which enlisted and trained these forces, and the British who provided most of the transports and made it possible to carry them across in safety by keeping the German fleet in port and by a constantly increasing grip upon the enemy's submarine activities. As the time for a new German stroke in the West is at hand, the American figures have an added interest because of the proof they afford that in another month or six weeks the American forces in France will be highly formidable in number. The troops already there from the United States, and the solid assurance that so

Good news spreads rapidly and druggists here are kept busy dispensing freezeone, the recent discovery of a Cincinnati man, which is said to loosen any corn so it lifts out with the fingers.

A quarter of an ounce costs very little at any store which handles drugs but this is said to be sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus. You apply just a few drops on the tender, aching corn or toughened callus and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn or callus is so shriveled that it lifts out without pain. Its sticky substance, which dries when applied and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. This discovery will prevent thousands of deaths annually from lockjaw and infection heretofore resulting from the suicidal habit of cutting corns.
