HOBBES CAPTURED AT GANG PLANK OF ROTTERDAM BOAT

He and Another Taken at Gravesend by Men From "Yard."

SAYS IT'S ABSURD

Is Arraigned in Bow Street in Sensational London Case.

(Canadian Press.)

London, Nov. 29.—William Cooper Hobbs, the dapper solicitor whose testimony in the Robinson suit involving the alleged blackmailing of an unnamed Indian Prince was one of the big sensations of the trial, appeared in Bow street police court this morning, charged under the larceny act with receiving stolen property abroad. The magistrate ordered him remanded. He was arrested at Gravesend last night.

The charge detailed by the public prosecutor was that Hobbs had received on December 27, 1919, a check for £150,000 which had been stolen abroad.

Was About To Sail

London, Nov. 29.—William Cooper Hobbs was arrested at Gravesend last night and brought to London in connection with the Robinson-Midland Bank case. Hobbs was arrested on the pier at Gravesend as he was about to embark on the steamship Rotterdam. He was taken into custody by Scotland Yard detectives. Another man accompanying him also was arrested. His name was not divulged. Both men were searched before they were brought to London. They had regular passports.

Hobbs' companion had in his pockets thousands of pounds worth of French, Belgian, Dutch and U. S. bank notes, according to the Daily Mail.

A warrant for the case is said to have been issued. This man is understood to be abroad.

Montague Noel Newton, who it was rumored during yesterday would be arrested, left England early last evening, according to the Graphic.

Hobbs characterized the warrant on which he was arrested as "quite absurd." He was taken to jail in a taxi cab.

In the testimony of Montague Noel Newton, an ex-army officer, who was brought from abroad and paid £3,000 to become a witness in the case, Hobbs was described as a solicitor whom the alleged conspirators against the potentate's life filled coffers had engaged to handle their affairs when a lawyer's services were necessary.

Newton himself testified to having been one of the chief parties to the conspiracy, saying he had posed as the woman's husband in the Paris apartment where the climax of the blackmailing drama was staged. Newton is reported to have left England last night.

The Jury's Findings.

The jury delivered its verdict yesterday in the suit brought by C. H. Robinson, a former bookmaker, against the Midland Bank, but judgment was deferred pending legal arguments, which will be heard. For eight days the case aroused widespread interest because of the charges brought out that an unnamed Indian prince, referred to as "Mr. A." was held up for blackmail after he had been discovered in a Paris apartment with Mrs. Robinson.

The jury found that there had been a conspiracy to extort money from the prince, and that the mysterious potentate, whose name was kept secret for reasons of state, parted with £150,000, while his mind was unsettled through fear. It found, however, that neither Mr. Robinson nor his wife were parties to the conspiracy.

Judge Darling had decided that the question of negligence on the part of the bank in connection with the £150,000 which Mr. Robinson alleged was due him, was beside the issue, but after the jury gave its verdict on the conspiracy point, it retired again to consider other technical questions concerning the bank and the check, but by the judge.

JURY IS OUT BUT BRIEF TIME IN MEDICINE CASE

Conclusion of Libel Trial is Reached at Morning Session.

JUDGE'S CHARGE

Appeal Matter and Second Action Still Open, Says Dr. Pugsley.

A verdict for Dr. H. A. Farris, medical superintendent of the St. John County Hospital, defendant in a libel suit brought against him by J. Harry Driscoll et al, doing business under the firm name and style of Drisco Laboratories, was given by the jury at noon today following ten minutes consideration. Mr. Justice Crockett completed his charge at 12:30 and the jury retired three minutes later. The case opened on November 18.

No order as to costs was made by His Honor, following his discharge of the jury. Asked regarding an appeal, Hon. Dr. William Pugsley, K.C., senior counsel for the plaintiffs, said the matter still was open.

When the jury informed the attending doctors they were ready with their verdict. It was found Judge Crockett had left the building but he was quickly summoned and after answering roll call, the foreman, Dr. Farris, was asked for the verdict.

"Not Guilty" was his reply. There was an outburst of hand-clapping from spectators, mostly ladies, that was quickly silenced by the officials. After thanking the jurors, Judge Crockett discharged them.

The jurymen were W. J. Farris, R. J. Armstrong, Brady E. DeBow, R. C. Gilmour, A. B. Farmer, T. L. McGillinn, and Arthur Brown.

Dr. Pugsley concludes. Continuing his address to the jury at the opening of the morning session today, Dr. Pugsley summarized what the plaintiffs alleged in their leading facts of the case. Without making any inquiry in regard to the constituent parts of this medicine, Dr. Farris, he said, made up his mind to rush into print to declare the remedy was of no value and was for the purpose of deceiving the public. A short time later, Dr. Farris called on Dr. McCourt, who asked if he was prescribing the medicine and also if he intended to continue to prescribe and on receiving an affirmative reply, counseled the defendant made no effort to ascertain the merits of the medicine.

Speaking of the analysis by Dr. McLean, Dr. Pugsley said it was not the best evidence of the parts of the medicine and said the defendant's counsel had sent to some Mr. Stevens, chief of the proprietary branch, without calling him to the stand. Dr. McLean's evidence was given without his original circumstances leading up to the case. He would ask that no deficiency of money was of little importance compared with the maintenance of the reputation of the plaintiffs.

Judge's Charge. Judge Crockett commenced his charge to the jury at 11:20 a. m., ending at 12:30 p. m. His Honor reviewed the circumstances leading up to the case. He said he would direct the jury that they could not find a verdict for the plaintiffs unless satisfied that the case constituted a libel on the plaintiff himself. So far as Driscoll went, no words published in respect of the commodity itself could give rise to the plaintiff's claim as a result of the publication.

No evidence had been given by the jury that the plaintiff had suffered in respect to the article, and for this reason the action could not be maintained unless the words constituted a libel.

DUKE OF LEINSTER ARRIVES IN STATES

Leaves Title Behind and Wants to Be Called Mr. Fitzgerald.

New York, Nov. 29.—Edward Fitzgerald, who is the Duke of Leinster when he is in the United States, arrived on the steamship Mauretania yesterday for a holiday. His first statement on landing was to announce that he would be democratic while in "the States," and he was known as plain Mr. Fitzgerald. His inseparable companion, Audrey Cole, who was with him and the "Mister" was not necessary. "Just call him Fitzgerald, that will do," he said.

The British nobleman has a reputation as a thrill chaser in his own country. He once raced his motor car against a train from London by Glasgow. On another occasion he planned to race William Washburn, Nutting across the Atlantic in a twelve-ton ketch but he called it off when an insurance company threatened to cancel his life-insurance policy.

The duke expressed the belief that Nutting's seamanship would be a triumph over the Viking-trailing trip in the motor yacht Lief Ericsson, long overdue at a Labrador port.

COUP AT HALIFAX

New Indictments Against Alleged Swindler Returned in Chicago Court.

(Canadian Press)

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 29.—Leo Koretz, alias Lou Keytes, Caledonia's erstwhile meteoric "millionaire" is on his way to Chicago to answer to a charge of having swindled his fellow citizens out of several millions of dollars. Accompanied by Chicago's state attorney, a Halifax lawyer and Deputy Sheriff Scriven made a quiet unexpected get away about 10 o'clock last night when they took passage on the Cunard liner Caronia to New York. Five Chicago newspaper men who were to have accompanied Koretz, in a special car attached to the Ocean Limited train leaving here at 8 o'clock this morning were amongst the eluded, the "slip" as arranged by the Koretz party having been most successfully carried out. The quartette of writers got away for New York in the hope of meeting Koretz before the trip to Chicago is ended.

The Caronia, which makes the run from Halifax to New York in 80 to 82 hours should reach its destination around 8 o'clock on Sunday morning. The best train connections between here and New York will not enable the newspaper men to get there until practically 12 hours later.

Chicago Title and Trust Company, who came here to look after the Koretz estate in the interests of his firm, said last night that he did not believe gave the full amount of his personal estate in his statement before the commissioner here. Mr. Davis said he would remain in Nova Scotia for several days in this connection.

Indicted in Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—The No. 10 Grand Jury today voted three new indictments against Leo Koretz, whose friends and relatives invested millions in his oil schemes. A few minutes after the true bills were voted, the indictments were returned in court.

Three persons who invested in Koretz's schemes made the complaints on which the new indictments, changing confidence game and larceny were based. The new indictments, State Attorney Robert E. Crown said, will increase Koretz's bond to $100,000 and make possible additional trials in case Koretz is acquitted at the first hearing.

PUCCINI IS DEAD

Heart Attack Carries Off Famous Musical Composer in Brussels.

Brussels, Nov. 29.—Giacomo Puccini, famous musical composer, died at noon today from a throat infection following an operation. The death of the composer was due directly to a heart attack.

Coming from a family which for a century and a half produced an uninterrupted line of famous musicians, it was not surprising that Giacomo Puccini early showed signs of precocious musical talents.

The great-grandfather of Puccini, born in 1712, wrote church music that was highly respected and was the master of Guglielmi. His son, Antonio, born in 1747 was less famous as a composer than as a theorist, while Domenico, the third in line, born in 1771 attained distinction as a church composer but was more famous for his poems. His son Michele, father of Giacomo, won fame for his compositions of sacred music which were admired throughout Italy. Upon his death in 1854 he was honored by the composition of a requiem. Puccini was one of the few composers of recent times whose opera successes were both numerous and lasting.

SITUATION IN THE SUDAN SERIOUS BUT NOT CRITICAL

Believed in London It Will Not be Necessary to Reconquer.

MUTINEERS GIVE IN

Two British Officers Were Killed and Eight Men Wounded.

BY H. W. BAILEY (British United Press.)

London, Nov. 29.—General Allenby has been given a free hand by the British Government to take whatever measures he deems necessary for the preservation of the British hold on Egypt, regardless of their severity and for the preservation of order under the British suzerainty in the Sudan.

The government is determined to uphold the British authority in both Egypt and the Sudan, a British official told the British United Press this morning, and to suppress every manifestation of anti-British sentiment.

May Not Have to Reconquer. Mutiny of Sudan regiments yesterday has done something to dampen the optimism of the British Government that the crisis would pass off without serious disorder. Experts are confident, however, that the British can retain their hold without having to reconquer the entire Sudan, although they view the situation with some misgiving owing to the wide extent of former Premier Zagheul's anti-British campaign in penetrating the ranks of the Sudanese troops. Until this propaganda was circulated, they were anti-Egyptian and pro-British in their sympathies and their courage and fighting qualities have always earned the admiration of the British people.

It is anticipated that more troops will be rushed to Egypt as well as additional aeroplanes, but there is a tendency in official circles to ask what is going to happen after full order has been restored.

The Daily News is agitating that the Sudan be placed under a mandate of the League of Nations, but there is little support visible in Government circles in favor of this view. It is recognized, however, that Britain must come to some arrangement with regard to Egypt's future and it is hinted that Britain will strive to hold up a friendly atmosphere that will serve at least for a time to settle the vexed problems of Egypt.

Is Serious. (Canadian Press.)

London, Nov. 29.—The Egyptian situation as the result of the latest messages, was described in official quarters in London this afternoon as serious but not critical. Interest mainly centered in the Sudan, which appeared to have been quieted.

Two British officers were killed and eight men wounded.

Communication Restored. London, Nov. 29.—Telegraphic communication with the Sudan was restored at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. It is announced in an agency despatch from Cairo.

According to advices from Khartoum the telegraph lines were temporarily interrupted between Haifa and Khartoum, all traffic being routed via Port Sudan. The cause of the interruption is not given.

Meaning in Cairo is quiet, the public services and business generally proceeding in normal fashion. The students of El Azhar University have declined to continue their strike, started in protest against the British measures following the assassination of the Sidar. Major General Sir Lee Stack.

At a meeting held in the ministry of education today the minister exhorted the teachers to do their utmost to persuade the students to return to their classes, in their own and the country's interests. SITUATION IN THE SUDAN IS SERIOUS BUT NOT CRITICAL

Anxiety in London.

London, Nov. 29.—While the mutiny is not taken as necessarily heralding serious trouble in the Sudan the possibilities of grave developments there are not overlooked, and an undercurrent of anxiety is seen in this morning's press comment. Since the British conquest of the Sudan and the subsequent establishment of order, with the development of the country's resources which Roosevelt so warmly praised, it had become axiomatic here that the Sudanese had grown attached to British rule, while they distrusted and despised the Egyptians. Uncertainty Is Factor.

According to recent reports, however, the Egyptian propaganda in favor of independence has had some success in the Sudan, and uncertainty regarding the extent of that success is one of the contributing causes to the disquiet here. It is rumored, however, that there have been signs of disaffection in other Sudanese regiments beside the mutinous Eleventh which it is recalled was concerned in the rebellious outbreak last August.

If the trouble spreads, its suppression may be a stiffer job than if the mutineers were Egyptians for the Sudanese are noted for their bravery and are likely to stand up to the British hold all the magazines under their own hands and a limited supply of ammunition.

In view of the severance of regular communication and a possible military censorship on such news as reaches Cairo, the public here may have to wait a while to learn the exact state of affairs and whether there is any real ground for anxiety.

The report of Lord Allenby's illness, of which there are no details, is of some importance in some of the papers and according to the Daily Telegraph's diplomatic correspondent is presently well and had a lengthy interview with Premier Zivar Pasha. The report is reiterated that the murder charge alleged to have been uncovered in Egypt were aimed at Lord Allenby.

Arrests Protested.

Cairo, Nov. 29.—(United Press)—The Egyptian press is protesting against the arrest of 35 agitators on the ground that many of them are entitled to parliamentary immunity. It may be necessary to dissolve parliament to get over the difficulty.

MacDonald Criticized.

London, Nov. 29.—Ramsay MacDonald, former premier, in a speech at Aberavon last night indicated what he felt to be the policy of the Labor opposition in parliament on the Egyptian matter. He declared that the manner in which the Baldwin Government had handled the crisis had done great Britain great harm in the eyes of the world.

A NEW WONDER-DOG AT THE IMPERIAL

The Imperial Theatre is presenting another of the Belgian police dog stories this change of programme, a class of fiction that always excites the keenest interest because most everybody loves a dog and especially a clever dog such as Peter The Great. The dog proves himself to be in its latest story, "The Silent Accuser." An already reported picture is packing the Capitol Theatre, New York, this very week, its world premiere. Peter The Great is the rival of Rin-Tin-Tin and Strongheart and is truly a marvellous canine. His actions in the picture now at the Imperial are next thing to human and all lovers of animals should see him. Yesterday's crowds were so large that the picture is being re-run with the Imperial showing the first instalment of the J. Penrose Cooper heroic tale "The Amberstocking" an adaptation of the American author's famous Leatherstocking Tales. It's a great week-end for the big house and its patrons.

GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE.

Two months in jail without the option of a fine was the sentence imposed on Hebert Blois this morning by Magistrate Hendon in the police court on charge of assaulting his wife. The evidence of Mrs. Blois, one of her sons and that of the defendant was taken. Mrs. Blois said that last Tuesday her young son did not come home until nearly midnight and he had also been staying away from school, so she was chastising him when her husband knocked her down. She said she had not contributed to her support for six years and she had been forced to run the house on what her children could earn. The defendant said that he had got out of bed to stop his wife beating his son too severely. He admitted that he pushed his wife to one side and thought she fell to the floor, but he did not consider that he struck her.

HOBS CAPTURED AT GANG PLANK OF ROTTERDAM BOAT

The jury's replies to these questions established that the bank in paying out £150,000 had obeyed the mandate under which the money was received, and cleared the check, and that William Cooker Hobbs, a solicitor, who it had been declared on the witness stand, was a party to the plot against "Mr. A." in drawing out the money purported to act under the authority of the bank, under which he paid the check into the bank; but on the question whether the rights in the check were ever transferred by Hobbs or Appleton & Co. to the plaintiff the jury disagreed. The judge said he would not take the responsibility of ordering the jury to retire again to consider this question, which was not sufficiently material. The jury then was discharged and the court rose.

JURY IS OUT BUT FEW MINUTES IN MEDICINE CASE

(Continued from page 1) libel on the firm itself. His Honor then defined the term "libel" to the jury, and then considered the article in question itself. The jury could read the particular words complained of in conjunction with the entire article to arrive at a true meaning. His Honor directed. So far as the word "cure" was concerned, "cure" in his judgment, implied a complete removal of disease. "Remedy" did not go quite so far. Evidence for the defendant had been given by Mrs. Elizabeth Cavanaugh on that point and also by Mr. and Mrs. Wigginton. If the medicine was put up to trap on the credibility of the defendant, the words were not strictly justified, said Judge Crocket.

Respecting the defendant's plea that he had made his claim in the public interest, His Honor directed that in this case the plea would not lie, as the comment could be justified only where the claim is made upon a fact which has been proved to be a fact.

If the words were true in substance and fact, the jury must find for the defendant. His Honor said: Was the medicine put forward as a cure? Judge Crocket asked. Evidence had been given that words: "Health comes with every swallow" were on the label. Was that a representation as a cure? The jury also could consider that the plaintiff firm sought to sell it as a cure. Evidence for the defendant had been given by Mrs. Elizabeth Cavanaugh on that point and also by Mr. and Mrs. Wigginton. If the medicine was put up to trap on the credibility of the defendant, the words were not strictly justified, said Judge Crocket.

Respecting Dr. McLean's analysis, His Honor said that that evidence was unchallenged. He said, he said, could have gone on the stand to contradict it, but had not done so. As for the evidence of witnesses who said they had received benefit from taking the medicine, it was for the jury to believe whether their improved condition was due to taking the medicine or whether it was the psychological factor.

A great deal had been said about the preparation being registered. His Honor could take it for granted that what it was worth, but he would say that the Patent Medicine Act did not pass on the merits of the medicine. The certificate did not pass on the merits.

Alleged Gamblers On Liner Foiled (United Press)

New York, Nov. 29.—Aboard the S. S. Mauretania, when it arrived yesterday, were seven middle-aged, particularly well-dressed men who had not appeared to know each other and kept away from most of the rest of the passengers. The Cunard Line secret service in London had learned of their presence on the ship and, so soon as the Mauretania had cleared Southampton, notices were posted in the smoking rooms that professional gamblers were on board. These notices disappeared soon after they were posted. They were removed, it was believed, by the gamblers, who also tore down others that were placed in prominent parts of the vessel. However, the passengers did little gambling on the trip, and the alleged gamblers spent most of the time by themselves.

FORWARD, THE MARITIMES.

At last the people of the Maritime Provinces have the outline of a promising plan whereby they may find their proper place in relation to the other provinces of this Confederation.

But the people themselves must provide the driving force—for they are most vitally interested—and see that this force is applied continuously, untidely, and with the greatest possible tenacity of purpose.

What is everybody's business is nobody's business. It is no haphazard scheme that has been proposed. It will not be entered upon without considerable preparation, much deep thought, and the development of a definite plan and a well established time-table.

A beginning must be made with all the speed possible; but the speed must not be great enough to invite mistakes which, later, will cripple progress and militate against reaching the clearly defined objective.

The Chief Justices of the three Maritime Provinces have, with praiseworthy public spirit, offered to do all that lies in their power, on the purpose and the objective are clearly defined. These gentlemen, who are very high upon the list of our first citizens in the Maritimes, have not thrust themselves into this work, nor do they intend unduly to influence public opinion; on the contrary, they are merely ready and willing, as outstanding and patriotic citizens, to do all that they can for a common cause the importance of which is realized profoundly throughout these provinces by the sea.

The people of these provinces will have thoroughly in mind the common place but wise advice that it is well not to start anything that you cannot finish. Another trite saying applies. It is whatever is worth doing is worth doing well.

Let us concentrate upon this problem all the intelligence—and in these provinces intelligence is high—that we can enlist. Let us keep politics entirely beyond the sphere of this particular work. Politics, properly speaking, is the science of government. The object here is to promote the welfare and contentment of these three provinces. Politics in the partisan sense must be avoided, utterly.

If we act untidely, and that should be easily possible in a case like this, we may achieve something like a revolution in the line of contentment, prosperity and equality of opportunity for the years that lie ahead of us.

Forward, the Maritimes!

A NAVAL BASE AT SINGAPORE.

The return of the Conservative party to power in Great Britain has revived discussion as to the construction of a British naval base at Singapore.

It will be remembered that a decision to proceed with the project has been reached, and work had actually been begun, when the Labor Government, with the support of the Liberals, abandoned it. This change of policy was one of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's famous gestures in furtherance of world peace, but his wisdom was widely doubted, and his political opponents did not hesitate to say that vital interests of the Empire were being sacrificed in the pursuit of a visionary idealism.

The attempt to justify the abandonment of the scheme on the ground of economy was not convincing, as the total outlay involved was only £10,000,000, spread over a period of ten years, and, if needed at all, the cost was inconsiderable in comparison with the issues at stake.

The controversy raises many interesting questions. Prior to 1921 and the Washington Conference the limitation of naval armaments, nothing was heard of Singapore. A great change in Great Britain's strategic position in the Far East was effected in that year by the termination of the Anglo-Japanese defensive alliance, which had been in force for twenty years. This step was taken by Great Britain in deference to the wishes of Canada and the United States, and in opposition to the views of Australia and New Zealand. Its consequences are apparent; Japan can no longer be counted upon as an assured friend, and must now be regarded as a potential enemy, and a powerful one.

At the Washington Conference the future strength in capital ships of the navies of the British Empire, the United States and Japan was fixed in the ratio of 5, 5, 3, respectively; but this arrangement by no means represents the value of the navies in war.

The struggle, if one unhappily should so deem, would be carried on in the Eastern waters, and there Japan is plentifully supplied with well-equipped base, while there is no first-class British naval base east of Suez, and the United States has but one—Manilla, in the Philippine Islands.

This creates a situation which can only be regarded as serious. The commercial interests of Great Britain in the Pacific and Indian oceans are vital; of her annual external trade of £2,000,000,000 nearly one-half is carried on in these waters, ninety-seven per cent. of the tea imported into the United Kingdom, ninety per cent. of the rubber and eighty-nine per cent. of the wool, pass along sea routes in the immediate vicinity of Singapore, and consequently within easy striking distance of the Japanese navy.

It is a fact that New Zealand and New Zealand, with their immense trade of fertile and thinly settled country, have long been regarded with envious and greedy eyes by the teeming millions of Japan. Their numbers and resources make any effective resistance to a Japanese attack impossible without ready and substantial naval assistance from the main British fleet.

If, then, Japan is a potential enemy, it is the part of prudence for Great Britain to prepare to meet her. Without a first class naval base this is impossible. In order to reach the Far East the British fleet must travel over 8,000 miles, and at the conclusion of the trip refitting on an extensive scale would be necessary; protection from submarine attack is essential to capital ships while at anchor, and this can only be provided by an elaborately equipped base. There, too, the vital oil depots and wireless stations must be established and protected.

But is there any Japanese menace? There are many well informed authorities who say emphatically that there is; that the spirit of Japan is plainly militaristic, and that her policy is as clearly directed at Far Eastern supremacy as that of Germany was at world power. She has no distant colonies and no potential enemies within thousands of miles; her mercantile marine is not large and she does not depend on foreign supplies for her food. Yet her navy is being increased enormously in all classes not covered by the Washington Agreement. While the British and Americans have been content to allow their tonnage in light cruisers and submarines to remain stationary, the Japanese have built or authorized the doubling of their strength in light cruisers and the trebling of it in submarines. This fact is at least ominous and cannot be ignored.

In view of the immense interests at stake and the comparatively low cost of the security which would be afforded by a naval base at Singapore, it is almost inevitable that Mr. Baldwin's Government will carry into effect the policy with regard to it which they have always so strongly advocated. This course would be welcomed with enthusiasm in Australia and New Zealand where the reversal of policy on the part of the Labor Government caused open dismay. The United States, too, would warmly approve the completion of the scheme, for she would in this way be assured of a powerful, sympathetic and strongly entrenched friend in the Pacific in the event of friction, not to mention war, with Japan.

THE PRINCE AS A DIPLOMAT.

A noted man said recently of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, that he was the most valuable of all the Empire's ambassadors or of all its diplomats, because he was the greatest force, with the exception of course of His Most Gracious Majesty, in cementing friendship between Great Britain and the United States, and constantly strengthening the ties that bind together the Old Country and the self-governing Dominions overseas.

This view, which is regarded as sound by those who have given close consideration to the question, received further confirmation by yesterday's cablegram from London giving a summary of the speech made by His Royal Highness at the Thanksgiving dinner of the London American Society, where the American Ambassador, Mr. Frank B. Kellogg, was present. On that occasion, when the company was a most distinguished one, His Royal Highness spoke feelingly, and occasionally with a touch of humor, concerning his recent visit to the United States and Canada.

The Prince of Wales, in summarizing his American trip, spoke diversely of New York City, saying that he had very warm regard for Mr. Will Rogers—who is really much more than a comedian—for the Woolworth building, for the New York subway, and then added that he even "delighted in his memories of the Chicago stockyards." This last is a rather remarkable reference, because others who have visited the seat of Chicago's chief industry, have not been delighted by any means with their memories of their visit to the stockyards. It will be recalled that some years ago a book written by Upton Sinclair, and called "The Jungle," created more than nine days' sensation. In fact, the book had a tremendous sale, and not on this continent alone. It attracted for the time almost world-wide attention, and its purpose was to expose what Sinclair called the frightful horrors of the stockyards. It was written in a distinctly sensational vein, and those who read it found that it left a rather bad taste in their mouths. In fact many who did read it eschewed Chicago meat for some time thereafter. Of course, no book, however lurid, could kill the Chicago industry. It is all too vigorous for that. The book made Sinclair in a day, but apparently he subsequently faded away most of the proceeds of that volume. Later he became a declared Socialist, and he has done little since that has given him much fame. The book was published serially in hundreds of newspapers, and there was much discussion as to whether or not it was a fitting sort of work to be placed, morning after morning, on the breakfast table of millions throughout the United States and this Dominion.

Perhaps—and let us hope so—Chicago has cleaned up in a very great degree since Sinclair's sensation. Very probably such is really the case. On the menu at the London dinner the other night, two dishes were conspicuous, typically American products—turkey and pumpkin pie. No doubt His Royal Highness did justice to both; and even that sort of thing helps.

The American Ambassador, whose theme was peace and harmony, said that the Prince combined the friendship and goodwill of all his predecessors toward the United States, and that he was the most enthusiastic person in Great Britain in spreading good words about the people of the United States. This is quite true, and the truth is a most important one. The great Cecil Rhodes, an outstanding force in extending the boundaries of the British Empire, was a man of extraordinary vision and breadth of view. He had an eagle eye for the future, and one of his dreams was that a perfect understanding, if not in time an actual alliance, offensive and defensive might be perfected between the Empire and the United States of America, thus combining in one mighty circle the main body of the English-speaking people of our time.

Some of Rhodes' dreams have already come true. Metaphorically speaking, the Imperial builder looks out from his lofty place of rest in Far Rhodes, seeing with that eagle eye all the world, sensing its changes, its possibilities, its disasters, and its triumphs, and calmly waiting the time when the English-speaking people, bound together by common sentiments, a common language, and the same fountain of inspiration, will act as a unit in guiding for good the destinies of all mankind.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has done much, and will do much more, to bring to fruition the greatest dreams of Rhodes. Could a Prince—the first Prince in the world—devote himself to a more noble employment?

Mayor Potts has very properly opened up the milk question. He did it in a somewhat militant fashion, but that is a minor detail. What the people want is action. They do not wish to do injustice to any citizen. They believe the price of milk is too high, and they are right in so believing. It is the inalienable right of the people of St. John to do whatever they think best with respect to their own affairs. In such matters they are supreme. The Mayor is giving them a vigorous lead. Let the good work go on. Perhaps later the Mayor may set with respect to the price of bread, also.

thing left to bury. Those who gave their nerve are in pauper lunatic asylums, being worse treated than even the German prisoners were. Those who gave their businesses and practices are begging for any sort of a job that will keep the bodies and souls of their families together. The rest are on the rates, on the dole, on unemployment benefits, on the streets, anywhere they can. Some of them, disgusted and demoralized and played out by the overstrain of the terrible four years, are on the loose permanently. Those who have been lucky enough to get on their own feet have to supply not only my five per cent, but the rates and doles and pensions as well. They have to feed their own children. They are saying that this kind of thing cannot go on.

British Liberal Party. (Manchester Guardian.) The Liberal party has just suffered a tremendous defeat, and strange to say the feeling of every Liberal is depressed to immensely to stimulate it. There has not for a long time been so strong and determined a spirit in the party as there is today. No doubt, no doubt, this is due to a sense of danger; it is plain that no party can afford to suffer repeated blows such as they have received in the last year or so. It is plain that the strong sense that something precious, something which the nation cannot afford to lose, is in danger of destruction. That such a feeling should at once have declared itself in strength is at once the best hope of the party and the strongest testimony to its vitality.

Relics of Barbarism. (The Citizen, Halifax.) "Militarism," said Judge Russell, "is a hang-over from the cave man age. Militarism comes not from above, but from below, and is something that is to be abhorred and done away with."

Canada's Exports Much Increased. Ottawa, Nov. 28—Canada is reaching out into the markets of the world. Exports during the 12 months ended October were $1,076,000,000, an excess over imports of $238,000,000. An year ago exports were $984,000,000, an excess over imports of $88,000,000. Canada is buying less from and selling more to the United States than she was a year ago. In the 12 months ended October imports from the United States were $584,000,000, a drop of $86,000,000 compared with a year ago. Exports to the United States were $418,000,000, a betterment of $7,000,000 over a year ago.

Collapses When Sentence Given. Winnipeg, Nov. 28—Harry Tataruk, found guilty last night of murdering his aunt, Mrs. Katie Smurchny, in her home here on May 8 last, was today sentenced to death by Mr. Justice MacDonald. He will be executed on February 25 between the hours of 8 and 10 a.m.

ADVICE TO ST. JOHN FROM GREAT BRITAIN. Great Britain has always been regarded as an enthusiastic proponent of municipal ownership of electric utilities, as a very heavy proportion of these services, in the United Kingdom, are under public management.

In view of this, one would expect the Lloyd George Committee, on coal and power, to take for granted public ownership in the great electrical system the committee has recommended to the British Government.

On the contrary, the report of the committee CONDEMNNS PUBLIC OPERATION in the strongest terms that it could, with propriety, use.

We quote from the report: "Experience is overwhelmingly against the successful administration of a business enterprise by a bureaucracy. "Producing commodities is a function we believe the State to be utterly unfitted to perform successfully."

"There is a common notion that the State can get capital on cheaper terms, or BEAR THE LOSSES RESULTING FROM UN-SUCCESSFUL MANAGEMENT. This, we believe, to be a pure delusion."

"OUR PRESENT PROPOSALS (to develop a nation-wide electrical system) PLACE THE WHOLE EXECUTIVE MANAGEMENT IN THE HANDS OF PRIVATE COMPANIES."

"If it is found that vested interests, that is, municipal powers, are prepared to block the way, the line must be cleared."

"Whether we make the right use of this heaven-sent opportunity FOR REDEEMING THE MISTAKES OF THE PAST, depends upon whether we use from the outset METHODS OF REGULATION AND CONTROL WITHOUT SACRIFICING THE DRIVING POWER OF PRIVATE ENTERPRISE."

NOTE.—This report was drawn up by a committee consisting of British electrical engineers and public men, under the chairmanship of former Premier Lloyd-George. It endorses what we advance as a solution for the situation in St. John: private enterprise under public control.

And it comes from a country which, for years, has experimented on a large scale with public ownership.

Bulletin to be Issued—Interesting Paper is Read at Meeting.

A very interesting paper "Reminiscences of Belmont, the Loyalist Home of the Bliss and Wilnot Families," which had been written by Henry Wilnot, was read last evening before the New Brunswick Historical Society at its annual meeting by Mrs. Wilnot, and was very greatly appreciated. In the absence of J. S. Flagler, the president, D. C. Clinch, vice-president, was in the chair and the meeting was held in the Natural History Society's rooms with a good attendance of members and a few visitors. When the annual reports were read it was found that the Society had funds on hand and it was decided to issue a bulletin, the council being asked to make a selection of the papers to be printed. Mr. Clinch was elected president. Other officers elected were as follows: Vice-presidents, first, Dr. A. A. Wilson; second, W. Shives Fisher; secretary, J. Willet, K.C.; corresponding secretary, Judge George A. Henderson; treasurer, Hon. J. R. Armstrong; librarian, T. O'Brien; additional members of the Council, A. Gordon Willet, H. Wilnot, Rev. W. B. Armstrong, Rev. R. O. Morse, Dr. William McIntosh and D. H. Waterbury.

The class had studied the four gospels and say on the Life of Christ at the close of the course of study. Miss Cousins' essay was judged the best.

Let The Women Tell Their Story

Every woman is interested in another woman's letters, and we shall give the women a chance to present their experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food by quoting from their letters.

If you do not find anyone you know among these ladies, write us for references from people in your community, or ask your friends and neighbors for particulars about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

There is scarcely a town, village or hamlet in this great country but can produce splendid evidence as to the restorative, rebuilding influence of this well-known treatment for the blood and nerves.

"From my experience as a wife and mother I find that the majority of users of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food are women, especially women passing through the change of life; next by young mothers to regain strength after baby comes, and also by mothers for their young daughters entering their womanhood. While it is good for all classes of humanity, I am sure it is especially so for women, as they seem to be troubled most by nervous diseases."—MRS. H. ALCHORN, 23 Gerald Street, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Girlhood
MRS. M. E. ROSSON, 176 Dublin St., Peterboro', Ont., writes:—"My daughter of 15 lost appetite, color and was on the verge of nervous collapse. Five boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food completely restored her health and strength."

Motherhood, Middle Life
MRS. A. ERMERT, R.R. No. 4, Walkerton, Ont., writes:—"For some time after the birth of my first child I was in a weak, nervous condition. I could not sleep well, had frequent headaches and buzzing in the ears. I also had neuralgic pains through my body, twitching of the nerves and was subject to weak spells. I had indigestion and seemed tired and languid. I began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and found the results most satisfactory. I have used a great many different medicines, but never found one as good as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It is especially good for quieting the nerves and I feel very grateful for the good it has done me."

Critical Age
MRS. C. NICOL, Gormley, Ont., writes:—"I consider that I owe a prolonged term of life to Dr. Chase's medicines. Like many others, when at the critical stage of middle age, I threw aside doctors' medicine and turned to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills. For three months I continued to use this combined treatment and cannot find words to tell how much it helped me. "I have recently been using Dr. Chase's Catarrh Powder for a stubborn case of catarrh, and it has relieved me greatly, having stopped the pain in the head and frequent headaches from which I have been suffering."

Womanhood
MRS. N. C. McDONALD, R.R. No. 2 Colborne, Ont., writes:—"When a girl, my health became run down. I was sleepless, had nervous headaches and finally developed St. Vitus' Dance. I was completely relieved by a course of treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I am married now, have three children and have had no return of the old trouble."

Advanced Years
MRS. MARY ROWDON, 22 North St., St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"My husband died in February, 1923, at the age of 74 years, and after that my nerves became very bad. I started taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and have found it all you claim it to be. For run down constitution and tired, exhausted nerves, there is nothing like it."

It is woman's greatest friend at every critical stage in her life and is endorsed by women everywhere. 60 cents a box of sixty pills, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Dear Sir: I received the sample of Nestlé's Food which you so kindly sent me and was glad to try it on my baby who was at the time very delicate and sick. When I started feeding him on it he could not digest anything and weighed only ten pounds. I was very much afraid of losing him. This in two months ago and since then I have been buying regularly one tin a week and he has gained nearly one pound a week. I shall be glad to recommend it to any mother I know, and for my part I will never be without it. Thank you once more for the sample which you sent me and which contributed to the saving of my baby.

Mrs. G. C. Clark, wife of an automobile worker, resident at 74 Dorchester street, was perhaps the most shocked of all St. John residents to hear of the murder of Cynthia Foster and her younger sister, Neola, on Tuesday, because eight years ago, as teacher in the village school of Posterville, York county, she had the elder little girl in her class. Cynthia was then only six years of age and was the only child in the primer division of the many-grade school. She was a demure and pretty child and bore every manner of the well-trained, courteous little girl. The younger victim of the late tragedy was, of course, too young for school life.

Britain and Ulster Keep Out of Irish Boundary Matter

FREE STATE ALONE MAKES STATEMENT TO COMMISSION

Attitude of Ulster is Interpreted as Pointing to Failure.

BRITISH POSITION Holds Commission was Appointed to Hear What Irish Have to Say.

(Canadian Press.) Belfast, Nov. 29.—The Governments of both Great Britain and Northern Ireland have informed the boundary commission that they do not care to submit statements to the commission or appear before it by counsel, or otherwise, according to a statement issued yesterday by the commission.

The refusal of the Ulster Government to have anything to do with the boundary commission is not surprising and it is interpreted as presaging the failure of the commission to accomplish anything.

The British expression of lack of desire to appear is accepted as meaning that Great Britain takes the position that the commission was appointed to hear what the Irish have to say, and not the British and thereafter to report back to the Westminster Government.

"The Irish boundary commission held a further meeting today. Since its previous meeting November 8 to November 7, the commission has been in communication with the British Government and with the governments of the Irish Free State and Northern Ireland.

"The Government of the Free State, in response to similar inquiries, made a formal statement with regard to Article 12 of the articles of agreement for a treaty between Great Britain and Ireland under which the commission has been constituted.

"At today's meeting the commission decided to make arrangements for hearing counsel on behalf of the Government of the Free State at an early date. This hearing will be held in London and the proceedings will be private."

ASK C. N. R. FOR STEEL CONTRACTS

Sydney Delegation Waits on Sir Henry Thornton—Other Matters.

Sydney, N. S., Nov. 28.—That the Canadian National Railway purchase in Canada all steel used by the C. N. R. in the Dominion was a statement made by Sir Henry W. Thornton, president of the C. N. Sir Henry further said that this policy was one which the C. N. R. proposed to adhere to and he gave the promise that as much steel as their circumstances permitted would be ordered from this section of the country but that the other companies in Canada manufacturing the same product must receive equal consideration when the placing of steel contracts was under advisement.

The president, with the directors and officers accompanying him, spent a busy day in this area. They arrived at North Sydney during the morning and met the Board of Trade at that point. Requests for terminals facilities were made. From North Sydney the party proceeded to Sydney where the Board of Trade made enquiries as to the intentions of the railways in regard to

Order Your Farm Help Now

TO BE OF SERVICE to Eastern Canadian farmers and help to meet their needs in securing competent farm help, the CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY will continue its farm help service during 1925 and will include in this service, as last year, the supply of women domestics and boys.

Through experience in the last two years, the Company is now in touch with a number of good farm laborers in Great Britain, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, France, Holland, Switzerland and other European countries and can promptly fill applications for farm help.

In order to have the help reach Canada in time for the spring operations, farmers requiring help must get their applications in early, to enable us to secure the help needed.

Blank application forms and full information regarding the service may be obtained from any C.P.R. agent or from any of the officials listed below. THE SERVICE IS ENTIRELY FREE OF CHARGE.

These dolls are going to be given ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE to little girls and any person who may wish to win ideal Christmas presents for "little sisters."

If these girls can win so easily so can you.

Here Is How You Do It

First of all you cut out the coupon at the bottom of this advertisement and then write your own name and address at the bottom.

The very next thing to do is get your first subscription. If your father is not already a subscriber, no doubt he will start the coupon for you. If your folks are already subscribers, then surely your aunt or your uncle will be number one to subscribe.

FANS WAITING FOR NEWS OF SCANDAL

Feel That Commissioner Landis Should Give Out All Details.

By HENRY L. name in court. Little stock can be taken in the report around Broadway that the threat of a suit was just a bluff and that Dolan was bought off by the powers. Landis and John Heydler, president of the National League, however, voted against it and accepted the possibility of a suit rather than turn over what might be looked upon as hush money.

You can do your hair up immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy—a mass of gleamy hair, sparkling with life and possessing that incomparable softness, freshness and luxuriance.

While beautifying the hair "Danderine" is also toning and stimulating each single hair to grow thick, long and strong. Hair stops falling out and dandruff disappears. Get a bottle of delightful, refreshing "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter and just see how healthy and youthful your hair becomes.

But there is only the leniency of the Home Secretary—to whom Mr. Myers is directing an appeal—that can save the three from lifelong confinement.

The law under which Captain Firmin and the others are held is an old one, framed when contraband was a popular traffic and the losses to revenue were enormous. MILK

To The Milk Consumers of St. John

In view of the pronouncement made by His Worship, Mayor Potts, to the effect that he would give the two leading milk companies of this city ten days to bring down the price of milk, the Purity Milk Company, Limited wishes to advise its many patrons that it is quite willing to do all in its power to bring down the price of milk, but has hesitated in the past to form any line of action that might be translated as a monopolist move to force the small dealer out of business.

We have no desire to inflict a hardship upon the small milk dealer, many of whom are our customers. We also have no desire to keep up the price of milk to a point decided by the city council as being too high.

What Are We To Do?

If milk consumers will send us a post card, expressing their opinions, it will provide us with material so that when meeting the city council we can discuss the matter intelligently and with authority.

Whether you are a customer of ours or not, please mail your opinion to

AFTER 104 WORKING DAYS, BEAT IS ROOFED IN; WEATHER HELPS

New Hotel Will Continue to be Busy Place All Winter.

From rocky ledge to eight-story hotel in 104 working days is the almost magical transition of the old Dufferin site on King Square. Well do I remember the impromptu demonstration which followed a Rotary luncheon that sunshiny mid-day July 29 last when the Rotarians rose from the table and paraded to King Square to see Tony Massilino poke a compressed air drill into the historic rock and thus begin the new hotel job.

Mayor Potts said hopeful things, the Rotarians rent the air with their shouts and a surging crowd was sprinkled with rock-dust and old lime. Following a whirlwind financial campaign the contract was signed, excavating bosses ordered drilling plant on the lot, a giant steam shovel waddled into town and the race against next season's tourist season was on between the E. G. M. Cape Construction Co. of Montreal and Old Sol.

Closed In By Christmas.

Today, with the roof completed ahead of schedule by grace of an extraordinary stretch of mild maritime weather—indeed almost southern weather—bricklayers are closing in the open spaces of the structure from the third storey, a job which it is calculated may be completed by Christmas.

In the meantime plastering will be begun, perhaps not immediately but sooner than a casual observer would think. Simultaneously other branches of the contract will proceed with an early-June objective, for is it not in June that St. John becomes the Mecca of thousands of vacationists from all over the continent? In fact fishermen landed here in late April this year, just as mayflowers were poking their heads noses through the last of the snow.

Even the beach-warming well-wishers of King Square who have been "superintending" the erection of the Admiral Beatty Hotel from the beginning will perhaps be startled with the assertion that from the last of excavation on Sept. 22 to the pouring of the roof slab—the concreting period was just 61 working days.

Wonderful Building Weather.

The eight floors of the hotel are largely due to a special burst of day-and-night speed on the part of the supervising officers and their men who took every possible advantage of the mild spell. There were only two days in this period on which the force fell below five per cent. normal activity due to inclement weather. In one night when fires had to be lighted on the seventh floor to fight off a subtle attack of Jack Frost. This is an old concreting trick. It worked.

Happily No Accidents.

Then again the construction crews have been happily free from accidents, only a few minor "walking" cases of injury marking the work to date. In big cities or wherever large construction work is in progress to see a workman over every day or so is a commonplace, as sad as it may be for the victim and his relatives. In this regard therefore, Sterling Supp. Sterling is beginning to think St. John is a good place to live aside from all its standard advantages.

With a maximum of 202 workmen, which staff was maintained during the stress period every step of the work was intensively prosecuted. Not a moment was lost. Naturally this staff is considerably reduced now that the building is being closed in. The plastering stage, laying of floors, windows and glazing will now follow in their order.

Temporary Heating for Winter.

To make the work of interior finishing possible in the cold weather a temporary heating system is being installed to be supplied by the hotel's own boilers. The tall chimney that shoots a new landmark into the sky in the King Square district will be heaving smoke from now on. Every floor will be costly heated, and workmen will be able to work in their summer overalls.

To meet the wintry blasts on the outside of the structure as the cream-colored Scotch brick is being laid traveling scaffolding with canvas tarpaulins will enclose the bricklayers, and, if necessary, coke stoves will be placed on each scaffold. In fact nothing will be omitted to make the men comfortable and thus facilitate the work. The objective, as before stated and as hoped for by all concerned is June, so all modern notions are being employed to put the "drive" across.

Just now the interior work engaging the attention of the engineers is very the final fixings of the boiler plant, plumbing, heating, gas piping, electric conduit work, telephone wiring and ventilation ducts. Elevators and such other mechanical services will be attended to later by special contractors.

The benedict stone that braces the two first floors of the new hotel is to be used again on the top, a wide band of this pinkish-tinted material with ornate designing setting off the final story, leaving the four infundate floors to be filled in with the dark cream brick, the whole effect being pleasing to the eye, and ornamental.

When the Art Workers Begin.

Then, after all this is completed, art workers in marble, tile floor workers, terrazzo workers, decorators and scores of experts in the arts that make sumptuous palaces out of plain buildings, will arrive on the scene and rub the lamp of Aladdin. Surprise upon surprise will follow in rapid succession, with the grand climax beginning during the merry month of May, when dapper people will bring in their color-schemed fabrics, furniture to match will arrive, illuminating engineers will scheme the light and shadow effects of the inside of the Admiral Beatty hostel.

By this time St. John and the world at large will realize that the seaport city here is possessed of a regularly up-to-the-minute chain hotel of the famous United group of which the stately Roosevelt, New York, the Mount Royal, Montreal, the King Edward, Toronto, and other well-known hotels are big sisters.

In the meantime a hundred metropolitan publications found on the newsstands of every city and town in the English-speaking world carries the name of the Admiral Beatty Hotel and St. John, N. B., in United Hotels corporation announcements.

INSURANCE MEN HAVE MOCK TRIAL

The monthly meeting of the Life Underwriters Association was held last evening in the Royal Bank building, with a large attendance of members. The feature was a mock trial and a lot of fun was treated for those present. Incidentally there was some good points brought out in the course of the trial.

F. W. Girvain acted as Judge. The plaintiff was Spencer Gals and the defendant, C. L. Beaman, charged with not delivering the kind of a policy which had been purchased and another policy issued. The X. Y. Z. Company, which issued the policy, was joined in the case.

The plaintiff was represented by M. L. McPhail and the defendant by Fred O. Conlon. The company had as its counsel J. J. Murray. After the hearing the evidence and argument of counsel, the jury through their foreman, Robert Reid, returned a verdict for the defence.

THE MILK SITUATION.

Mayor Potts said this morning that it had been suggested that the city could not go into the milk business. The effort to bring down the price to where it ought to be. He believed the people had stood for the high price as long as they were going to and something would have to be done.
