Effort Made Tooust Baldwin As Conservative Leader SIBERIA PROCLAIMED FREE STATE

CAUCUS TO DETERMINE TORY LEADER

Rival Factions of the British Conservative Party Start Activities.

BALDWIN ATTACHED

Rank and File Point to Honesty and Faithfulness of Leader.

BY H. N. MOORE (British United Press.) London, Jan. 29.—Rival factions within the Conservative party are preparing feverishly for the general caucus Feb. 11, when the leadership and future policy of the party are to be decided.

Upon his weakness in foreign policy and his lack of political sense in party tactics they blame the recent defeat, and see no hope for party success under his continued leadership.

The great body of the rank and file on the other hand, particularly among the country members, still give Baldwin their determined loyalty, admitting his inexperience and the fact that he was misled by the die-hards wing in his cabinet.

They point to his transparent honesty and sincerity and to the unquestioning confidence in which he is held personally by all classes of the country as qualities more essential for Conservative leadership at this critical time than mere political shrewdness.

R. Z. WALKER DIES

C. N. R. Superintendent at Fredericton Dead in Montreal Hospital.

Fredericton, Jan. 29.—Private telegrams received here today announced the death of R. Z. Walker, C. N. R. superintendent of this city, at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal at 8 a.m. today.

Mr. Walker came to Fredericton about fifteen years ago as station agent for the Canadian National Railways, being transferred here from Campbellton where he held a similar position. He later became assistant superintendent in charge of the St. John Valley Railway and the Canada Eastern Railway subdivisions with headquarters here.

His long connection with the government railways made him well known to the traveling public in New Brunswick and brought him in contact with many notable figures.

Housekeeper is Found Dying From Cold—Distress Flag in Window.

Granite, N. H., Jan. 29.—Rev. L. A. Jones, an aged retired clergyman, was found frozen to death in front of the store in his lonely home here yesterday.

In a hallway nearby, his housekeeper, Mrs. Sarah Wentworth, 87 years of age, was found unconscious and dying from cold. Physicians said last night that she would not live.

From an upper window fluttered a tiny bit of white cloth, a signal for help which Mrs. Wentworth before she collapsed.

CRISIS NEAR IN MINERS' STRIKE

General Impression in Cape Breton End or Break to Come Today.

Sydney, Jan. 29.—There is a general impression prevailing here that the coal wage conference will either settle or break before the day is through. Just where the "hunch" originated it would be difficult to say, but it is shared by a number of confidential members of the U. M. W.

Many it looked as if the conference were merely marking time until John Lewis had returned to take up the Nova Scotia case in detail, which may not be before the end of next week.

The decision was given to Dr. Stratton by the judges appointed to determine which of the debaters used the better logic without prejudice to the merits of their cases.

Dr. Stratton quoted several believers in evolution including Darwin, eleven of whom held that the creation of the earth was an insolvable mystery.

SOCIAL LIFE CAUSE

Loved Dancing and Cigarettes, Had Lung Trouble, Says Father.

(By Canadian Press.)

Boston, Jan. 29.—W. P. G. Harding, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, Boston, last night admitted that his daughter, Margaret Elliot, who was found dead at their home on last Saturday, committed suicide by shooting herself with his revolver.

Miss Harding, her father said, had left notes addressed to him, to relatives and to friends. In the note to her father the young woman asked forgiveness for what she had done and was about to do.

"I could not stand life any longer," was one phrase of the note, Mr. Harding said.

Mr. Harding said his daughter's act was due to her love for social life, dancing every night and smoking cigarettes. She also had been suffering from lung hemorrhages.

Vancouver Passes Heavy Grain Crop

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 29.—Vancouver has passed more grain to date this season than the entire crop movement of the previous season over the western route. About twenty million bushels of grain has been moved so far this crop year. Last year's total was 19,200,000.

Should the limit facilities of the port successfully handle all the grain that is booked, the year's shipments of 1923 grain will be more than 50,000,000 bushels, it is stated.

Littleton Has $200,000 Fire Loss

Littleton, N. H., Jan. 29.—A six-hour battle by firemen in a bitter cold brought under control yesterday the worst fire in the town's history. Bride Left at Altar Gets Fortune From Man Who Left Her 17 Years Ago

Frederick, Md., Jan. 29.—The story of a seventeen-year-old romance of a woman disappointed at the altar by a man who remained true to her for the rest of his life came to light when the will of Harry Wilson Jones, wealthy real estate operator, of Garrison Avenue, Baltimore, became known.

The will, filed for probate in the Orphans' Court, after directing that the just debts and funeral expenses be paid, leaves the balance of the Jones' estate to Mrs. Caroline S. Holland, wife of George A. Holland, Mount Pleasant, Frederick County. Jones was 68 when he died on Jan. 20.

Seventeen years ago Caroline Stone, daughter of Dr. O. B. Stone of Mount Pleasant, was to have been married to Jones. The day was set for the wedding, the bride-to-be was dressed in her wedding gown. Only the bridegroom was missing. The time passed and he failed to come. Messengers were sent to the railroad station. Hurried calls were sent to Baltimore. From the city came word that Jones had been stricken ill on the eve of his wedding and had been taken to a hospital. Subsequently it was stated he had decided not to marry because of heart disease.

Time passed and several years later Miss Stone became Mrs. Holland. A girl baby came to the couple. When the child was six years old Jones, still unmarried, reappeared. His old friendship for the Stone family was resumed. He met and became friendly with the Hollands and grew very fond of the daughter, who is now 10 years old.

Jones left two sisters, a brother in Baltimore and a brother in Chicago.

Death of Lenin is Used as Opportunity to Take Action.

NO U. S. CHANGE

President Coolidge Hopes Good Will Result From Leader's Efforts.

(By Canadian Press.)

Tokio, Jan. 29.—White forces in Siberia have seized upon the occasion of the death of Nicolai Lenin to proclaim a free state in Amur province, and have interrupted railway service to Vladivostok and eastward, according to advices received by the Japanese government from Mukden.

NO CHANGE IN U. S.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The death of Nicolai Lenin will not affect the attitude of the United States government toward the question of recognition of the Moscow regime.

Following the receipt of despatches regarding the death of Lenin, it was stated today on behalf of President Coolidge that the departure of Lenin from the scene has no particular significance so far as the American government is concerned.

Hopes For Good

President Coolidge took the position that it would be unbecoming on the part of officials of this government to indulge in criticism of the foremost leader of the Russian revolution, adding that it was better to hope that the work he had done and the purposes he worked for would ultimately be productive of some good, although it is difficult to see how the methods pursued will advance the cause of civilization.

It was made clear on behalf of the President that the change of attitude rests on the Soviet Government and not on the United States. The President's position being that there can be no change on the part of the Government until Russia has complied with the principles laid down as American policy in the President's address to Congress.

Although Premier Lenin exercised a paramount influence in the Russian revolution and the organization of the Soviet regime, officials do not feel that his death is likely to result in any drastic or immediate change in the Russian attitude in international relations that are the basis of the American refusal to grant recognition.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—With the exception of codine, the imports of narcotic drugs into Canada during 1923 shows a decrease from the 1922 figures. Morphine imports were materially reduced and the importation of opium dropped off considerably, according to Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures.

SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL DECIDES TO CARRY OUT REORGANIZATION

Will Take Over Work in All But Three of the Provinces.

Decision to reorganize to provide for unification of endeavor was reached by the Social Service Council of Canada at the seventeenth annual convention held this morning. The decision was reached on presentation of a resolution passed by the executive and presented to the council for approval, providing that whereas many of the provincial councils were in favor of reorganization, therefore the executive council resolved to take over the work in the provinces that had agreed to unification and recommended that the executive be authorized to take over the work in the other provinces which had not taken definite action, as soon as they were willing that this should be favorable.

Dr. J. G. Shearer, general secretary of the Council of Canada, explained that the provinces which had not yet taken definite action on the question were Saskatchewan, Ontario and Nova Scotia. He said that during 1923 the budget had been $180,000, but that only $140,000 had been expended. Under the new order of things, he expected that $200,000 would be required, including $2,000 for an additional secretary.

An interesting report of the joint conference of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Anglican committees on the matter of their relations with the Social Service Council of Canada was presented and read by Rev. W. Haddock. The conference favored reorganization to prevent duplication of work carried on by the church organizations and expressed the opinion that the council's budget for 1924 should be not more than the amount expended in 1923.

Regarding Saskatchewan's position towards unification, Rev. W. Haddock said that the provincial council there did not propose to manage from Toronto. Dr. Shearer pointed out that it would not be a matter of management from Toronto but by an all-Canada executive. Regarding the church committee's report he said that he did not know of any cases of duplication.

The only business taken up this morning was continued discussion of the report of the executive which was adopted with only a few changes. The report of the executive was presented under seven heads: research, publicity, library service, general education and publication, legislation, organization and financial matters. The head of legislation the executive reported that several amendments to the original code were adopted at the last session of the Parliament of Canada, in connection with laws regarding offences against women and in the matter of betting.

Several recommendations were presented and passed, as follows: That adultery be made an indictable offence and on conviction be punishable by imprisonment for five years and a fine of $500. That the owner or in charge of a vehicle or vessel allowing same to be used for immoral purposes be liable to an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment. And amendment to the law against betting.

That the law regarding jurors be amended to provide for the selection of males to be removed and women be permitted to sit on juries; that the following additional exemptions be made—both men and women under 30 years of age; those nursing the sick; women who are in charge of children under 16 years of age. The first proposed exemption was ordered struck out, the second was adopted, and the last referred back for further consideration.

The matter of finances was the only uncompleted feature on the executive's report on adjournment, and this will be taken up at this afternoon's session, along with annual report of the committee on immigration and colonization. An address on the Church and Social Science will be delivered by Dr. F. W. Patterson, president of Acadia University. This evening's programme in St. Andrew's church will include addresses by Premier Veniot, Miss Charlotte E. Whitton, secretary to the Minister of Trade and Commerce for Canada, and Miss Julia Lathrop, formerly chief of the Children's Bureau in Washington.

SALARIES AT CITY HALL ARE RAISED

Mayor Votes Nay and Tells Why—Estimates Cut Only $3,000.

The City Council this morning lopped $8,000 off the estimates for the light department and if the total valuation remains the same as last year the tax rate will be about 6 cents higher than last year, making the rate $3.06 per $100 of valuation. The matter of salaries was discussed and some increase authorized. The mayor will bring in a report this afternoon on increases in the treasury department and to the officials. He opposed the increases in the public works, water and sewerage and harbor departments on the ground that the increase should not have been general and of a $800 to a man in the harbor department and one in the water and sewerage department.

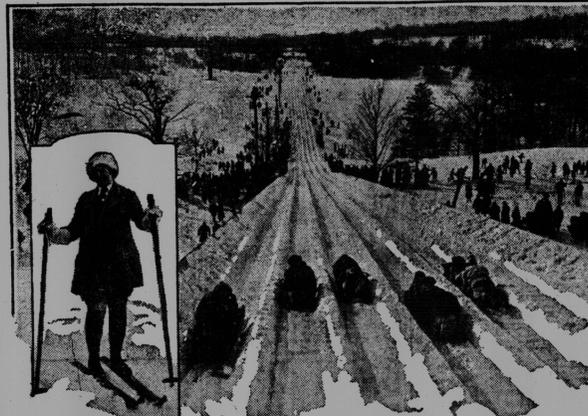

The amount of the appropriations as this morning is $1,204,888.15, a little more than $12,000 greater than last year. Mayor Fisher brought up the matter of salaries. There, he said, were determined by competition. He felt the members of the council had in mind the staff in any department and to an increase of $800 to any one individual. He would therefore have to oppose any general increase.

He suggested that the $25,000 increase in estimates be made up by reducing the light, ferry and public works estimates. He hoped to get through today, as he intended to go to Moncton to attend the Safety League meeting. School Figures. He had taken up with the school trustees their estimates, but they had said it was impossible to reduce their appropriation. A large sum was needed for repairs as the buildings needed going over and putting in shape.

Commissioner Wigmore moved that the estimates for the public works department for 1924 be $225,756.00. Mayor Fisher said he would vote against this, as he felt the $25,000 should be reduced. The commissioner said this was more than $9,000 less than last year. The motion carried, the Mayor voting nay. Mayor Fisher moved one $4,000 be taken off the light appropriations for 1924, making the amount $44,180.60. This was not seconded, and on motion the sum of $3,000 was deducted, making the assessment $55,506.12.

The police appropriation of $112,358.25 was moved by Commissioner Wigmore. The fire appropriation of $122,231.27 was adopted on the motion of Commissioner Wigmore. The ferry appropriation of $30,888.88 was moved by Commissioner Bullock. The commissioner said the primitive method of thrashing grain by a timber sled drawn over the stalks is still used in Egypt.

Mount Royal a Mecca For Winter Sport Devotees

Dark Slide, which is, perhaps, the finest slide on the continent, is but one of the many winter attractions to Mount Royal. When the falling of the leaves exposes still more wonderful panoramas, Mount Royal is the mecca of the winter sports enthusiasts from all over the continent. Its varying slopes afford ideal skiing conditions, its open spaces splendid roving grounds, and, during the winter months, its snow-covered slopes are a Mecca for tobogganers and skiers. The Mount is overrun with jolly, sliding humanity.

Arrangements for the Winter Carnival to be held January 29th and 30th will allow for some rather unique features. One of these will be a one-dog-sleigh race for children on Fletcher's Field, and another, a 50 mile dog-sled derby round the island of Montreal via Ste. Anne de Bellevue. Skating, Skiing, Snowshoeing and other sports will be organized, of course, and an extensive program of winter sports will be planned for the period.

HAVE CANDIDATES FOR THE OLYMPICS

A British Columbia Tells of Achievements of Their Athletes.

Vancouver, Jan. 29.—There is material in British Columbia good enough for the Canadian track and field Olympic team. At least, that is the opinion of athletic students in the province, and these students base their opinions on past performances. Judging by their accomplishments in the past, Cecil Hayes of Victoria and Art Parker of Vancouver are the most likely sprinters for the Olympic trials at Montreal.

A year ago Hayes did a hundred yards in ten flat at McGill university. At Calgary at the Canadian championships in 1922 he did the 440 yards event in 22 seconds on a sticky track and after he had run in the 100 and 200 yard events. And when he accomplished his feat at McGill, he was not even stretched in the B. C. championships. Parker beat Hayes in the 100 and 200 yard events. On that occasion Parker ran in 10 flat. Of course there is a slight incline but, on the other hand it was a holding surface. To compete in the 100 metres at the Olympic games, a distance of slightly more than 100 yards, practically means that a man must be able to do the 100 yards in 10-2-5 seconds and this should not be beyond either Parker or Hayes. In the 200 yards a competitor would have to be able to do around 29 seconds and in the 440 yards around 22 seconds.

Provided both Parker and Hayes got down to business right away there is no reason why they should not earn the right to go east for the trials at Montreal in June and with a bit of good luck carry on to Paris. An intensive study of other candidates has failed to reveal any runner beyond these two likely to make its grade. Of course there may be dark horses who are just waiting for the trials here in May to show of what they are capable. Getting down to the field events Small, that of Mrs. Bouterley, who states that the stranger staying three days during that time claiming to be a body and making extravagant promises.

THE DEATH RATE IN N. B. REDUCED

Dr. G. G. Melvin Comments on Ottawa Despatch Regarding Statistics

Fredericton, Jan. 28.—Referring to an Ottawa despatch, which showed that the recent mortality rate for the province of New Brunswick was the highest of any province in Canada during the month of May, Dr. G. G. Melvin, chief medical health officer of the Department of Public Health, says that while this was quite true the statement conveyed a wrong impression.

The excess between the number of births and deaths for the month of May in New Brunswick, said Dr. Melvin, showed a natural increase in the population greater than that of any province east of the prairie provinces, and only slightly exceeded by Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The natural increase referred to amounted to 14 per 1,000 population per year.

New Brunswick also reduced its infant mortality rate in three years in decidedly the greatest proportion of any province in Canada and reduced its death rate from all causes more largely than any province with the exception of Ontario. New Brunswick, said Dr. Melvin, shows a maternal death rate for May less by half than any other province.

HEAVY PROFIT TAKING NOTED

Irregularity Observed in Morning Trading in Wall Street.

New York, Jan. 29.—(Wall street, opening)—Conflicting price movements took place at the opening of today's stock market with heavy profit taking being noted in some of the high priced issues. General Electric, National Lead, Famous Players and American Tobacco each opened about a point lower. Most of the domestic oils were firm, but the Pan-American issues and Sinclair were again under pressure.

Extensive readjustment of speculative accounts imparted considerable irregularity to the morning trading. Securities of Atchafalaya and New York Central, which were among yesterday's favorites, showed a restraining effect on buying of other standard rails and industrial stocks. Although the market was somewhat irregular, it closed with a net gain. Selling pressure closed the market off 1/4 to 1/2 points. Philadelphia Coal and Iron, Corn Products, American Woolen, and Central Leather fell off 1/4 to 3/4 points. Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent.

Montreal Market Montreal, Jan. 29.—The trading group accounted for most of the profit at the opening of the Montreal stock market today. The tone of the market was slightly easier. Great Britain, however, the most active of this group, came out with an overnight loss of 1/4 to 1/2. The price of gold was down 1/4 to 1/2; silver was off 1/4 to 1/2; tin was 1/4 to 1/2; rubber was 1/4 to 1/2; and power was 1/4 to 1/2. Exchange Today.

HYDRO REPORT The Musquash plant generated 222, 816 k.w.h. of energy last week. The maximum load was 2,800 kilowatts and the average load was 1,576 kilowatts, making a load factor of 80 per cent. The amount generated in the fiscal year, since November 1, is 2,405,200 k.w.h.

TWENTIETH CENTURY MAGIC

When President Coolidge touched a button in Washington the other day, this fountain of crystal water, connected with the new $2,700,000 filtration plant in Sacramento, California, was turned on and leaped in the sunshine. The occasion marked formal opening of the plant, and likewise ended a 40-year struggle on the city's part to obtain a clear water supply.

NEW INDUSTRY IN CUMBERLAND

Sending Hardwood Products to Britain—Many Families Gain Livelihood

"Rock maple handles for miners' tools, made by Nova Scotia Hardwood Products Ltd., Amherst, Nova Scotia, are being tested at five collieries in Wales." This, says the Amherst News, is taken from the Canadian Export Pioneer, published in London, England, and indicates another milestone in the development of one of Cumberland's most promising industries. It is probable that no industry in Nova Scotia ever had more serious difficulties to contend with than the Nova Scotia Hardwood Products Ltd., organized in Amherst less than three years ago. There were not only the local difficulties of securing the right kind of equipment and locating the right source for rock maple supplies, but there was the competition of markets and the keen competition of hickory manufacturers, whose claim had long been undisputed that a hickory handle was the best handle in the world. It was the task of the new company to show that a Cumberland rock maple handle was of all practical purposes just as good as the far famed hickory and that it could be manufactured as cheaply here as in any part of the continent. It was an almost impossible task, and when coupled with difficulties at home of securing a constant supply of material was enough to test the fibre of the stoutest. But the difficulties have been overcome—the obstacles have been surmounted with the possible exception of sufficient capital wherewith to expand—and the industry is now on a fair way to become an important part of the Cumberland industrial life. One of the best evidences was furnished only last week when the biggest British dealer in handle supplies cabled for his third shipment within a month, the latest order being larger than any given before. It is stated that if all the handle business of this British concern were secured by Hardwood Products Ltd., the capacity of the present plant at Southampton would be insufficient to meet it. In addition to this, business has been developed in several of the mines, in Scotland, sample orders of handles are now being tested in India, and an extensive use of them is being made on the Canadian National railway. When one considers that these far away markets have all been secured within a period of less than two years and in face of keen competition from other firms who had a well established business in many of them, the result can only be considered as little short of marvellous, and testifies to the patient, methodic, intensive manner in which the preliminary work has been carried out. It is a tribute to local ability and local enterprise, and might be called a practical illustration of local patriotism, in that it advertises Cumberland resources and capabilities in a manner they have not known before. It is a development that the News is pleased to note, for anything that enhances the value of any community in Cumberland must sooner or later have some reflex influence on the business life of Amherst. In this particular case probably more than fifty families are finding their livelihood in cutting, hauling and manufacturing for the Nova Scotia Hardwood Products Ltd. If it were not for this industry they would have had to seek employment elsewhere. If it were not for this Cumberland industry, one of our important resources in rock maple would be unknown. Our citizens should take a keen interest in watching such a development as this and concentrate on the question whether it cannot be made of more local advantage to Amherst.

C. N. R. Train Hurdled Down Embankment

Fifteen People Injured in Accident Near Calgary—Fire Danger is Averted.

Calgary, Jan. 29.—Fifteen persons were injured, five seriously, when a Canadian National Railway passenger train enroute from Winnipeg to Calgary, was derailed and hurled down a twenty foot embankment near Lyalta, 20 miles northeast of Calgary, at one o'clock on Monday afternoon. The engine and the express car passed a spread rail in safety but the passenger coaches were swung clear of the track and thrown on their side down the embankment. Fortunately the train was comprised of all steel cars and danger from fire was averted.

MISSION STUDY CLASS MEETS

The Mission Circle of Portland Methodist church held its study class last evening at the home of Mrs. John Stephenson, Metcalf street. A large number were present and an instructive and pleasant evening was spent. Mrs. John Howe had charge of a devotional period. Miss Greta Grey, as a Pole, Miss Etta Bell as a Ukrainian, Miss May Corbett as a Doukhobor, each dressed in the costume of the respective countries told of the characteristics of these immigrants and the need of making them Canadians. Mrs. Leonard Spence was joint hostess with Mrs. Stephenson in entertaining the Circle.

Established, Unassailable Tire Supremacy

MORE than ever, Dominion Royal and Ucord Tires are the standard by which all tires in Canada are judged. Two new and exclusive features in Dominion Cord tires for 1924 are: WEB CORD PROCESS SPRAYED RUBBER

These processes mark the greatest advance in tire building since the cord method was developed. The Web Cord process eliminates the cross threads which cause friction and internal heat. It unites the cords in a web of pure latex rubber. Latex, in which the cords are soaked, is the natural milk of the rubber tree. Being thoroughly saturated with pure rubber imparts greater strength and uniform strain resistance. Each cord lies flat and even and takes strain uniformly with all the other cords.

SPRAYED RUBBER is the pure rubber of the latex, obtained by spraying the latex into an evaporating chamber where all moisture is driven off, leaving only the pure, natural rubber. Sprayed Rubber used in the walls and treads of Dominion Royal and Ucord Tires adds to the strength and elasticity—that is, mileage of the tire.

These new and exclusive features in Dominion Cord tires add nothing to your tire cost—they are added values without extra cost to you. Dealers should anticipate a greater demand than ever for Dominion Royal and Ucord Tires.

THE BROKEN PROMISES.

Premier Veniot, in his admirable address before the Men's Brotherhood of St. David's church last evening, once more put the case for the Maritime Provinces with great clearness and force. The people, he said, are neither beggars nor secessionists, but they do demand a fulfillment of the spirit of Confederation.

TWO NOTABLE OBSERVATIONS

Two observations made by Mr. Eaton at the luncheon in his honor at the Union Club yesterday were of a very gratifying nature. The first was that in the recent trying period in business his house has found conditions better in the Maritime Provinces than in any other part of Canada.

SOME TRADE FIGURES

A statement of the trade of Canada shows that for the nine months of the fiscal year ending with December there is a favorable balance of $187,660,226, having compared with a favorable balance of only $25,801,740 in the nine months ending with December, 1921.

THE HUMAN SIDE.

The convention now being held in this city deals with social aspects of human life. The Social Service Council points the way to better human conditions. It is concerned about the welfare of men, women and children, the individual, the family, the nation and the race.

NEED BUSINESS MINDS.

The fact that there is a suggestion for the appointment of a state manager for Minnesota is merely another sign of renewed public interest in government. This is due to the pinch of taxation, due again to the high cost of administration and attempts to run by legislation matters that should be left to human conscience.

OUR ABNORMAL POPULATION.

The Provincial Secretary of Ontario recently called attention to the large number of insane persons in Ontario, more than 8,000, and the pressing need of further accommodation. Mr. Celsio, in 'The Humane Pleading,' says that the maintenance of these people is a costly business, and adds:

A SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.

Seven times Lee Christmas, American soldier of fortune, was reported as having died in Central America with his boots on. The thing got to be something of a joke, and in the course of time editors took to printing the news under the heading 'Christmas dead again.'

NORTHERN PINES.

(By Arthur Stringer.) I passed where the pines for Christmas stood thick in the crowded street.

And far thro' the rain and street-cries My home-sick heart went forth To its pine-clad hills of childhood.

And I saw the glooming pine-lands, And I thrilled to the Northland cold, Where the sunset fell in silence On the hills of gloom and gold.

And the dusk still woods lay round me, And I knew that the patient eyes Of my North as a child's were tender, As a watching mother's, wise!

LIGHTER VEIN.

Giving It Credit. "Is your motor car a self-starter?" "No," replied Mr. Craggins. "I have to crank it up. But it's a self-stopper, all right."

A High Ideal. "I wouldn't marry a man unless I could look up to him," said the earnestly written maiden.

"I guess you'll have to pick out an aviator," replied the cynical epistolar.

The Sadness of Humorists. Are all humorists sad? They say that John Billings cried most of the time.

His City of Refuge. The train came to a grinding stop at a small town in the South, and the head of a gentleman of color protruded from a window at the end of a car.

"Does yo' know a culd person by de name of Jim Brown what lives here?" he asked of a station lounjer.

"Ain't nevah heerd of no Jim Brown hyah, an' Ah lived in dis town fo' ten years."

"Is yo' right suah dey ain't nevah been no Jim Brown aroun' hyah?" "Noo," he replied.

"Dan," announced the arrival, reaching for a suitcase, "dis is whah his new non-in-law gits off."

KNOCKING OFF THE NOUGHTS. London, Jan. 29.—So unwieldy are amounts of German money when expressed in paper marks of microscopic value that the Imperial Bank of Germany has decided to keep its accounts from Feb. 1 in billions (million millions) of marks.

For example, 18,648,928,000 paper marks is a little more than $5 at the current rate of exchange—will be expressed at 18.64 billions of marks, not in paper marks of microscopic value that the Imperial Bank of Germany has decided to keep its accounts from Feb. 1 in billions (million millions) of marks.

Man Who Builds The Car That "Never Wears Out"

Few men have a statue erected to them while they are living. The use of a trade name as a superlative is probably unprecedented and unique in the annals of commerce.

Yet, not long ago, in the town of Derby, England, there was a statue erected to one of the greatest engineers of his time—Frederick Henry Royce—the inventor and builder of the Rolls-Royce car; and he lives to hear the expression "built like a Rolls-Royce" used as a synonym for the height of perfection in mechanical construction.

"Don't think the car is perfect just because some friend or admirer flatters us by telling us so," Mr. Royce tells his men. "Nothing is perfect. There is nothing which has reached that last state of perfection which means the attainment of the ideal. If that were so the world would stop and business enterprise would come to a standstill."

"Ideals and a vigorous effort to attain them as nearly as is humanly possible have been the foundation of the great achievements of the world, but every great achievement is made up of small, individual jobs. The man who thinks his job is too small to make it worth while to set an ideal for himself and then put his whole soul into reaching it will never get a bigger one."

"We all start from the bottom and the man who gets anywhere has to earn his advancement through feeling that his work is so important it must be as nearly perfect as he can make it. That feeling on the part of each one of our workmen has given an enviable reputation and an individuality to the Rolls-Royce car."—O. D. Foster, in Forbes Magazine (N. Y.).

EVENING TIMES-STAR MAGAZINE PAGE FOR THE HOME

Some time ago Mr. George was asked by an interviewer: "What is your favorite amusement?" The novelist replied: "Lying about a great city between midnight and dawn." His reason he gave as follows: "At night it is the unexpected happens. The few people about you would be in bed, were it not for some unusual cause, love, purpose of crime, agony of apprehension, or black poverty. Lonely under the stars, these people seek company; they willingly confide in you, and even enlist you in their schemes." Thus Mr. W. L. George has wandered hundreds of nights in London, Paris, Barcelona, New York, Chicago, etc. He has participated in several exciting adventures, which he relates here, altering the names and details for the sake of his strange companions of the night. Three of these adventures actually happened to Mr. George; three are slightly amended. They make up the picture of darkness and passion which stands behind the face of every great city, and represents a hidden world into which the daring can penetrate.

THE POISONED GIRL

Once again a summer night and a sky spangled with stars. Under such skies adventure is common, because lovers, murderers, thieves, all feel the lure of warmth. It was one o'clock in the morning; I had been out, therefore, only an hour. I wandered a while in Baywater, where little happens, along Edgware Road, where adventure is somewhat rare. Now I was slowly crossing Mayfair, stopping in Upper Brook street to listen to the strains of a string quartet, which one could occasionally hear through the conversation of two hundred people and the clink of tumblers. Then I passed into Grosvenor Square, waited for a moment, observing the taxis, sometimes glimpsing their freight; once they flashed past me, thus, a pink evening frock neatly surrounded by the black arm of a diner jacket. I was just going to pass on, when, across the square, against the railings, I perceived a figure, all in white, which stood there motionless. By starting intently I found that it was a woman in an evening frock, hatless, who was holding on to the railings by one hand, while the other arm hung motionless.

"Poison!" I cried. "What poison?" She did not reply, but now I could connect her dreamy state with one of the soporifics, laudanum, or cocaine, morphia, perhaps. "Quick!" I said to the man, "hurry up. We've got to find a cab and get her to a hospital." The girl no longer struggled, but had fallen back against me, obviously stupefied. After a moment's hesitation, the man lumbered across the square. I followed him, holding up the girl. The man hailed a passing taxi, feebly and in vain. Finally another taxi took pity on us and stopped.

BEWARE OF DOPE

The money annually wasted on narcotics or what is commonly called dope in the United States is more than a billion dollars. A proportionately small amount of that vast sum would build and equip enough hospitals and sanitariums, camps and colonies to practically stamp out this monster evil.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

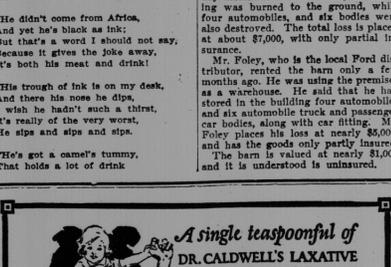

Here's another riddle, kiddies, that the Riddle Lady asked. If you are very little maybe you can't guess it. But if you're about half past seven, or maybe eight years old, you ought to know it. It's a kind of a riddle for very old folks—say twelve or fifteen, or around there! When the postman begins to bring you letters you just have to answer, or when somebody has sent you a Christmas present from out of town, you just have to sit down and say you are much obliged for. And that reminds me, do hope you have said thank you for all the gifts you got for Christmas whether out of town or in town.

AUTOMOBILES LOST WHEN BARN BURNS

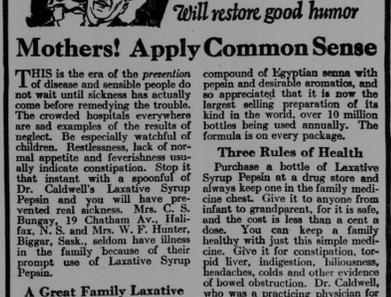

Four Cars and Six Truck and Touring Car Bodies Destroyed

As the result of a back-fire from an automobile in a barn owned by J. Harvey Brown and occupied by Royden Foley, of Westmorland Road, yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the building was burned to the ground, while four automobiles, and six bodies were also destroyed. The total loss placed at about $7,000, with only partial insurance.

Social Notes Of Interest

Mrs. Murray MacLaren, wife of Dr. Murray MacLaren, C. M. G. M. P., was hostess at the Sign of the Lantern tea rooms, in honor of Miss J. Wolton, of England, Red Cord Guide, who is here in the interests of the Girl Guides. Those present at the function were Miss Wolton, Mrs. MacLaren, president of the local corps, Mrs. E. Allan Schofield, and Mrs. William S. Allison, vice-presidents; Miss Dorothy Purdy, commissioner; Miss Catherine McAvity, secretary-treasurer; Miss Margery Knight, member of Guides; Miss Herrington, representative from Toronto, and the following guests from the Municipal Chapter of the L. O. D. E., who are taking an active interest in the work: Mrs. Stuart Skinner, Mrs. Fred Caverhill Jones, Mrs. Allan G. McAvity and Mrs. Heber Vroom, regent. The delegates were entertained informally during the luncheon hour at the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Eaton, who were guests of Mrs. Eaton's sister, Mrs. Arthur N. Carter and Mr. Carter, 29 Mecklenburg street, left yesterday afternoon for their home after a short but pleasant visit in the city. Mrs. Carter entertained delightfully at a very smart function for her sister, last week and Mrs. F. W. Daniel was hostess at a cosy tea.

Mrs. Fred Caverhill Jones was hostess at a cosy fireside tea over the weekend for Mrs. R. Y. Eaton, when a few friends were asked to meet Mrs. Eaton and her sister, Mrs. Arthur N. Carter, who was her hostess. Many other invitations were sent to Mrs. Eaton, which she could not accept owing to her brief stay.

Colonel F. L. Vaux, adjutant in the Canadian Medical Corps, in the No. 1 Canadian General Hospital, Salisbury Plains and in France, is with the Minnedosa, as medical officer and is being greeted by his Canadian officer friends in the city. Colonel Vaux was an informal dinner guest of Colonel Dr. MacLaren, C. M. G. M. P., and Mrs. MacLaren, last evening.

Miss Muriel M. Corkery, B. C. L., was hostess last evening with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Corkery, at their residence Douglas Avenue, to honor Miss Florence Kierwan, who is to be married the latter part of February. Mrs. Corkery and Miss Kierwan received the guests who afterwards played bridge at eight tables. The decorations were silver and old blue and were a pretty setting for the becomingly gowned young women. Miss Helen Reed, Miss Mary Brennan, Miss Margaret Brennan, Miss Irene O'Connor, Miss Mary Gramann, Miss Margaret Gramann, Miss Josephine Conaghan, Miss Mary MacLaren, Miss Beatrice Mooney, Mrs. J. D. SOCIETY TATTOOS TO TRICK AGE!

Debutantes Want To Be Assured of "Beauty" Through Life

NOT ONLY THE BUTTERFLY, BUT THE SHAPELY LIPS AND YOUTHFUL CHEEKS ARE OBJECTS OF THE TATTOOER'S ART.

Chicago.—Beauty, instead of being painted on daily, is being indelibly tattooed on the faces of society. Cupid bow lips and pink cheeks are becoming the products of the tattooer's needle rather than the debutante's compact. For tattooing among society is "the thing" nowadays. It is youth's endeavor to battle oncoming age. Authority for this innovation is Dr. Henry J. Schireson, surgeon who straightened Fannie Price's nose and who specializes in cosmetics. "No more rouge and lipstick for the suit whose skirt struck her slim calves at an extremely high angle. The onlooker who did not know Miss Astor was Miss Astor would have thought her wearing out a last year's suit on shipboard. And perhaps she is."

Skirts Hesitating. New York, Jan. 22.—(United Press)—Whether skirts will be long or short in the spring is still a question, and even the fashion houses themselves seem to know. New York houses say they are simply waiting to see which way the wind of women's favor blows, but I believe with some of them that skirts will grow longer, if any thing. Muriel Astor, sister of Vincent, and one of the richest of American heiresses, though she lives in England, revived the skirt-length controversy in New York when she landed recently and she was seen in a suit whose skirt struck her slim calves at an extremely high angle. The onlooker who did not know Miss Astor was Miss Astor would have thought her wearing out a last year's suit on shipboard. And perhaps she is.

But New York women, lacking Miss Astor's forceful individuality and the social prestige to back it up, have continued in ankle-length frocks. The new full, circular-skirted models will just stop short of sweeping the floor, and they will stop for the sole purpose of revealing in all their chubbiness the colonial pumps that go with this type of dress. One of the new scarfs is made of crepe de chine sewn together in blocks, each block a varying shade of one color, running from palest flesh-pink in the middle to deep crimson at the ends, for instance. The spring scarfs have no fringe. Embroidered ones and some with curious designs produced by sewing little patches of imitation ermine and other furs against a contrasting background are the smartest. Fast colors are coming back, now that dye factories are returning to their legitimate business after having been commandeered for war purposes, and it should cheer the housewife's heart to see such things.

DECLARES FARMERS NEED WATERWAYS. Winnipeg, Jan. 28.—(Special)—The Dominion Government in denying cooperation to the St. Lawrence deep waterways scheme as short-sighted and against the interests of the whole country, J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau, today declared that settlement of the Canadian middle West depended largely upon the project which would give farmers a cheap water route for their exportable grain surplus. The deep waterways route would cost $222,000,000, engineers estimated, Mr. Reed said, and by the development and sale of power, which would be divided between Canada and the United States, this cost would be offset in a period of 50 years.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

These are the days when hearty luncheon dishes with a good "hot" peppery taste are most relished. The platter of thinly sliced meat, cool salad and water-like bread and butter that is so quickly and easily prepared for the hot weather luncheon is not for January days. No busy housekeeper likes to spend much time over the preparation of the noon meal if a dinner is to be prepared for the evening. She feels as if she is tied to sink and cook stove if two hot cooked meals must be prepared and served. These luncheon dishes are quickly and easily prepared. Tomato soup aids in their preparation and at the same time uses to advantage this delectable bit of left-over that might otherwise go "begging."

Tomato Cheese

Two cups chopped cheese, 1 cup milk, 1 cup tomato soup, 8 triangles of butter. Put about one teaspoon of butter in a smooth sauce pan, add cheese and melt, stirring constantly. Slowly add milk, stirring until well blended. Stir in soup and cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Season with salt and pepper, add one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce if liked. Pour over hot toast and serve.

Tomato Macaroni

One cup broken macaroni, 1 cup tomato soup, 1-2 cup chopped cheese, salt and pepper, 1-2 cup of mustard. Cook macaroni in boiling salted water for 20 minutes. Drain and blanch under cold water. Drain and put in a buttered baking dish. Pour over tomato soup, cover with finely chopped cheese and bake in a hot oven until the cheese is melted and slightly browned. It will take about 15 minutes.

Rice With Sausage Sauce

Two cups hot steamed rice, 1 cup tomato soup, 1 cup milk, 1 cup chopped grated cheese, 1 tablespoon flour. Drop rice by spoonfuls onto a large, hot platter. Heat soup and milk. Stir to soup, cover with finely chopped cheese and bake in a hot oven until the cheese is melted and slightly browned. It will take about 15 minutes.

GET AUTO CAMPS IN SHAPE.

Unless the Vancouver City Council begins to appreciate the magnitude of the potential tourist traffic for 1924 and starts preparing for it, Vancouver will not be able to "cash in" on that traffic as she should. Last year 71,000 cars registered in the Portland auto camps. Some 50 per cent of these were from California. More than 60,000 cars crossed over the border at Blaine. With the pavement completed along Pacific avenue all the way down to and past Los Angeles, the traffic for 1924 can only be calculated with an optimistic pencil. It is doubtful if the City Council has the slightest idea what it is going to be up against in taking care of tourist traffic this year. The present publicity campaign will inevitably reap a rich harvest.

OLSON, ROBBIE'S ASSISTANT.

Ivan Olson, who has been with the Brooklyn club for nine years and has been reported headed for the minors every winter, will remain with the Dodgers as assistant manager. Uncle Robbie has decided to give this deserved position to Olson and stop the chatter about Ivan heading for the coast and way stations. Olson will be listed a sane active, for he will be used both as utility infielder and pinch hitter.

Spank Your Children, But When They Rise To Flapper Age Just Let 'Em Flap, Advises Home Economics Expert

Boston, Mass.—With a slap in the face and a pat on the back, modern advanced thought stands both berated and approved in the mind of one of America's most influential women leaders—Dr. Alice F. Blood of this city. "The American husband has got to spank the children and keep his hands out of the dishwasher," declares Dr. Blood, recognized as a leading—if not the foremost—student of home problems in the United States. Yet in almost the same reactionary breath, Dr. Blood emits a revolutionary thought in favor of the flapper of today.

"Don't you worry about the flapper," she cries. "The American flapper can take care of herself. Don't forget we've had the flapper with us long enough now for one generation to grow up and marry. They're making good wives and good mothers. They know what men are like and they don't spend their time weeping around the house because the Lord didn't make men like movie heroes. MORE "HOWLERS" BY BRITISH BOYS

New Version of The King That Never Smiled Again.

(By Dominion News Service.) London, Jan. 29.—Once more British schoolboys have provided a hearty laugh by their unconscious humor. "Howlers" quoted in the "University Correspondence" are as delightful as ever. Mistakes in history, geography, grammar and literature are not always humorous merely because they are anachronisms, but are often based upon the misunderstanding of a word. Thus: "Bearded like the pard" means with a beard like a dog.

Appearance of Stable Currency Draws Out Material Held by Profiteers.

By CARL D. GROAT. (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Berlin, Jan. 29.—Germany's Junkers have stopped hoarding their bountiful harvest and meat supplies.

In some cases, the big farmers also saw a chance that, by withholding from the cities, they could influence political affairs—getting capital for the reactionaries later by opening their granaries should the reactionaries come into power.

Supplies Come Out. But stabilization of the mark—be it permanent or otherwise—drove out these hoarded supplies.

Now every meat shop and bakery in Berlin is loaded to overflowing with choice viands. Some people think they are cheap. Compared to world prices, they are double or treble what they should be.

But for the average man, the main thing is that with whatever money he earns he can still buy something at the next day or the next week.

in the nation's life, it is admitted everywhere by foreign observers and clear-minded Germans.

When dealers ask—and get—$1 a pound for fruit; 60 to 90 cents or more per pound for meat and lamb at customers who complain at the prices, then there is something radically wrong in the psychology as well as the financial situation of the country.

And, especially, is there something radically wrong with the situation when in the midst of this, there is much wretched poverty which for the most part is relieved by foreign help, rather than by greater efforts at home on the part of those who pay unthinkingly the prices asked in German shops.

America is largely misinformed about conditions in Germany. Misery and starvation are prevalent enough—all too prevalent. But there is not the selfish help here that there should be. Chancellor Marx made it clear in his Christmas message that the nation must learn to rely more on itself. If it is to expect outside aid, this is a much-needed note

SCARLET FEVER AFFLICTS FAMILY

Moncton, Jan. 28.—The family of Zephaniah Wilbur, of St-Leonville, have been afflicted by scarlet fever. All the children, six or seven in number, were down with the disease at the same time, and the mother incapacitated with an infected hand. On Friday, the eldest of the family, Dean, a boy of 16, succumbed to the malady and the children are still in bed but now reported to be convalescing. For some days the only one able to be actively around was the father who had the sick to care for besides attending to the household duties and the outside work. Neighbors were unable to assist the afflicted family on account of the contagious character of the disease.

Montreal, Jan. 28.—"Are we to sit in silent, shivering impotence, while these men are trekking out of this country into the United States," asked

75% of disease avoided through internal cleanliness

WHY run the risk of sickness? Keep clean internally. When you are constipated, poisons form in the accumulated food waste. These poisons, absorbed by the blood, attack all parts of the body. The first results, headache, biliousness, a feeling of "heaviness," etc., serve as warnings of a graver danger. If this intestinal poisoning continues unchecked, you become the victim of some serious organic disease.

This is why intestinal specialists state that constipation is the primary cause of three-quarters of all illness, including the gravest diseases of life.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation. Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favor Lubrication. Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine. Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water it is harmless.

Get rid of constipation and avoid disease by adopting the habit of internal cleanliness. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

Here is a test which will bring it. It will show you the way which millions found to whiter, cleaner, glister teeth. Look about you. Note how many teeth now glister. Let us send you the new method which brought that change about.

Combats the film. This new method combats film on teeth—that viscous film you feel. Under old methods, much of it clings and stays.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Protect the Enamel. Pepsodent disinfects the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Nujol is a film combats which contains herb grit.

Modern science has found ways to fight film. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

See what it does. Pepsodent does more than fight film. It multiplies two factors in saliva. One is there to digest starch deposits on teeth, one to neutralize mouth acid. Each use of Pepsodent gives them multiplied effect.

This is the utmost in a tooth paste. You should know how much it means. Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

N. B. Premier Makes Appeal For Fair Play For Maritimes

PREMIER VENIOT CALLS ON CANADA TO CARRY OUT CONFEDERATION PACT

Gives Stirring Address Before Men's Brotherhood at St. David's—Asserts That But for the Maritime Provinces the Canada of Today Would Not Exist—Predicts a Prosperous Future for New Brunswick.

"We are not beggars in the Maritime Provinces. We are not secessionists. We are not threatening our sister provinces, nor does New Brunswick envy them the progress which they have been able to achieve through sacrifices which we have been willing to undergo in order that Confederation might hold together, but it does seem to me that our Upper Canadian friends should get in closer touch with us, that they should not lack the spirit of the mighty dollar to be the sole object that prompts them in the development of the country. We cannot always endure, without some protest, the very apparent lack of interest on their part in the future growth and prosperity of the Maritimes. If our people had acted in that way in 1867 there would be no Canada today as we see it."

FIRST FORMAL ADDRESS IN 33 YEARS.

Thus declared Hon. Peter J. Veniot, Premier of New Brunswick, in an address which he delivered in their hall last night before the Men's Brotherhood of St. David's church in which he dealt with the resources of New Brunswick and its relation to Dominion of Canada. Realizing that what a man in his position had to say with reference to the Pact of Confederation would be closely scrutinized, the Premier explained at the outset that he had taken pains to prepare this particular address and for the first time in his political career of thirty-three years he intended to read it in a formal manner.

After tracing the remarkable growth in the trade of Canada and showing that at the end of the last fiscal year, March, 1933, the trade balance in favor of the Dominion was $143,000,000, Premier Veniot asserted that Canada's progress today was due to the loyalty of the Maritime Provinces to British institutions and their self-sacrifice in maintaining them in the early dark days when the Canadian Confederation was formed.

Says Hopes Not Realized.

"I feel I am justified in saying," declared Premier Veniot, "that the hopes and aspirations in the breasts of Maritime people at the time of Confederation were never fully realized, and that today, more than ever before, do we feel that either the fathers of the federation unwittingly led us astray at that period, or that our friends of the United States, lured by selfish motives, to lead a sympathetic ear to that broad interpretation of the Confederation pact which undoubtedly it received at the hands of those instrumental in bringing it about. "There is no doubt in my mind," continued Premier Veniot, "that the fathers of Confederation were honest in their convictions. They had to struggle against great odds to bring about such a federation of British possessions on the American continent which would assure the everlasting attachment of Canada to the British Crown."

Charges Other Selfish.

After describing the sacrifices made by New Brunswick and the other Maritime Provinces when they entered Confederation and emphasizing the fact that the adherence of the Maritimes provided the round outlets to the sea through British territory Premier Veniot declared: "There is no doubt that but for the overshadowing influence of the provinces of the newer west and the selfish spirit that seems to guide the older provinces, the Maritimes would not be compelled today to fight for their very existence because of the refusal of our friends in other provinces to recognize that without the sacrifices made by us at a time when their future was far from bright they would not today be enjoying that era of expansion and prosperity which has been made possible by the latest development in the garment dressing industry has made it a hard task to organize the girls, who form 95 per cent of the industry's workers. "According to Perlestein, sheiks are to blame. "A number of dress manufacturers obtained federal injunctions prohibiting union activities," said the union leader. "Some of the writs were drastic and prevented us from even communicating with workers in non-union shops. Some modification was made, however, and we felt greatly relieved. We managed to gain a 40 per cent. organization in the non-union shops. Then, overnight, the per cent. dwindled to less than one per cent. "We were bewildered and began an investigation. The cause of our fluctuating membership was ascertained. The dress manufacturers had hired slick-looking fellows to mingle with the girls workers, and in a nice way, discourage unionism. "You know those fellows—they call them sheiks—who grease their hair to make it shiny, wear bell-bottom trousers and patent leather shoes. Some of them were placed in each non-union establishment. The campaign was mapped out. It followed along the lines of least resistance. The sheiks took the organized girls to parties and dances on the nights when the union was holding meetings. It did not take long for the girls to lose interest in our union affairs. "Perlestein said that he had telegraphed to Morris Sigman, international president of the union, asking him to hurry to Chicago to take charge of the situation confronting the local branch.

Always Opposed, He Charges.

He could not understand, he said, why in Ontario and Quebec in season after season the Maritime Provinces were opposed in every step which they thought proper to their development. "They seemed to be declared to be blinded by the thought, 'every one for himself and the devil take the hindmost!'" "Despite the apathetic attitude of the older provinces, he had absolute faith, he declared, in a bright future for New Brunswick. He made an appeal for the union of all races, classes and creeds, for the abolition of petty sectional differences and prejudices by New Brunswickers in order to promote the prosperity of their province. After quoting statistics to show that in the years of depression which have followed the war up to the present New Brunswickers had more than held their own agriculturally and industrially in comparison with the other provinces, the Premier went on to declare that he hoped to be able to announce at an early date the construction of a hydro-electric development at Grand Falls which would certainly bring new pulp.

Transportation Facilities Needed.

"Proper transportation arrangements at our two Atlantic winter ports and an adequate adjustment of our freight rates are the keynote of success to New Brunswick and Nova Scotia," declared Premier Veniot. "It was idle, he said, for the provinces of the west to stop with mere expressions of sympathy. The proof of their sympathy should be shown in action and in a sympathetic interpretation of the terms of Confederation and the development of those very ports which they were so anxious to reach in 1867.

Has Narrow Escape.

A farmer driving out to the Westmorland road yesterday afternoon had a narrow escape from serious injury by a street car. He was driving alongside the track with a car coming close behind. He slipped from the sled and his feet very nearly went under the wheels. The motorman brought the car to a standstill in very quick time and the farmer reported that aside from a slight injury to one arm he was not hurt.

NEW YORK TENEMENT SECTION, INCUBATOR OF GENIUS, TO BE COMBED FOR TALENT

SARAH WOLKIND, JENNIE BERMAN, PHILIP BENOWITZ AND ANNA KALMANOWITZ, FOUR TENEMENT SECTION CHILDREN WHO ARE BEING "GIVEN A CHANCE" TO DEVELOP TALENTS.

(By Josephine Van de Grift.) New York.—Eight hundred children will soon undergo a mental and emotional examination to determine whether there is genius among them. They are children from New York's crowded East side—the hot bed which has produced such a motley array of geniuses as Max Rosen, Eddie Brown, Simon Strunsky, Benny Leonard, Irving Berlin and Belle Baker. If traces of exceptional talent are found among the youngsters they will be given the best training that the country affords. Such is the scheme of Chester Teller, executive director of the Stuyvesant Neighborhood House, one of the 100 organizations maintained by the Federation of Jewish Philanthropic Societies here. Teller does not believe that living in cold tenements is conducive to the development of genius. He believes that the emotional faculties of children who are reared in such conditions are stunted. Children who are apparently stupid in certain lines but who show talent in others will be given a chance to develop that talent. Children who are hopeless will be allowed to pursue the tenor of their way without further interruption. That numerous children with exceptional talent and not a few real geniuses will be discovered is the confident expectation of Teller. For Stuyvesant House is in the very midst of the crowded East Side, where the percentage of genius is exceptionally high. Meanwhile Sarah Wolkind, 11; Jennie Berman, 12; Philip Benowitz, 11; and Anna Kalmanowitz, 6, are looking out upon the world with an exceedingly cheerful aspect. All are the children of poor families and all have shown talent in their classes at Stuyvesant House. Sarah makes up marvellous fairy tales and poems "out of her head." Jennie designs wonderful doll clothes and some day she's "gonna have one of those Fifth Avenue shops." Philip draws "prize fighters sometimes, flowers and animals mostly." Anna Kalmanowitz dances. "Nobody taught me, but when I hear music, then things come into my head."

MONOPOLY IN RADIO IS CHARGE

Proceedings Are Begun Against Principal Corporations in United States.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The principal corporations engaged in the manufacture and distribution of radio equipment and the rendering of radio service were charged in a federal trade commission issued yesterday with creating and maintaining a monopoly in radio apparatus and communication. The companies named, The Radio Corporation of America, General Electric, American Telephone and Telegraph, Westinghouse, Western Electric, International Radio, United Fruit and Wireless Specialty, were cited to make answer within 30 days to the further charge of violating the law against unfair competition in trade to the prejudice of the public. The complaint charges the corporations formed a monopoly by acquiring all the patents controlling manufacture of radio apparatus and cross-licenses, the interests concerned marked out the field of manufacture and distribution in which each to engage, and laid plans for maintaining their advantage in the future, after expiration of the patents, by pooling improvements. The whole process, the complaint charges, was done in a concerted manner and in violation of the anti-trust laws. FINE ADDRESSES MARK OPENING OF SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL MEETING

Very Rev. Dean Tucker and Rev. Peter Bryce are Chief Speakers—Plan for Unification of Work Throughout the Dominion is Approved—Prisoners' Welfare is Discussed But No Action Taken.

In the initial meeting of the seventeenth annual convention of the Social Service Council of Canada last night notable addresses were given when Very Rev. Dean Norman Tucker, of London, Ont., president of the council, told of its efforts to fulfill the commands of Christ, and Rev. Peter Bryce, Toronto, chairman of the Ontario Mothers' Allowances Board, recounted some of the recent developments of social service. He said great and far-reaching benefits had been secured in ten years. If continued forward to the time when poverty and suffering should be banished. The initial meeting was a public gathering in St. Andrew's church, presided over by Rev. Canon R. A. Armstrong, president of the New Brunswick Social Service Council. The addresses were received with great enthusiasm. The sessions of the council will continue throughout Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Delegates from all parts of the Dominion were assembled yesterday and will be in attendance throughout the remainder of our day. The national debt, coupled with the great national resources, made immigration a necessity, but it must be remembered that nearly 2,000,000 of the people of Quebec, although in many respects the most desirable citizens in the Dominion, were not English-speaking and of a different religion from the majority in Canada. Half of those in the great west were foreign born. The founders of Canada intended it to be British country, he said, and unless immigration came chiefly from the British Isles the people of Canada were placed in a perilous position. "Inasmuch as we did it under the aegis of these My disciples" Dean Tucker spoke first called by telephone making an appointment to see the room the following morning. Miss Duncan was hit over the head with a lead pipe while Mrs. Crooks was murdered by being hit over the head with a hammer.

TORONTO PRISONER SAYS MIND BLANK

Godard Says He Knows Nothing of Murder of Mrs. Crooks.

Toronto, Jan. 29.—Harold "Belt" Godard, arrested yesterday on a charge of the attempted murder of Miss M. Duncan on Jan. 18, and who stoutly denies that he knows anything concerning the murder of Mrs. Crooks last Friday last, appeared before Police Magistrate Edmund Jones yesterday and was remanded until Feb. 5. He was refused bail. The prisoner was shackled to a detective and seemed stunned. Godard, with the great national resources, made immigration a necessity, but it must be remembered that nearly 2,000,000 of the people of Quebec, although in many respects the most desirable citizens in the Dominion, were not English-speaking and of a different religion from the majority in Canada. Half of those in the great west were foreign born. CONFER ON MATTER OF TELEPHONE RATES

Midram Report Discussed Further at Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

Consideration of the report of S. H. Midram on the operation of the New Brunswick Telephone Co. was continued yesterday afternoon before the Board of Public Utilities. The examination of Mr. Midram, continued until 4 yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Weyman announced that he would ask Mr. Midram no more questions at present, and suggested that a conference be held between the members of the Board of Trade committee, the Board of Public Utilities, Mr. Midram, and representatives of N. B. Telephone Company, Ltd. Acting upon this suggestion the board adjourned, and the parties mentioned went into conference at the Board of Trade rooms. The chief topic under discussion was the telephone rates existing in St. John today, as compared with other American and Canadian cities. It was said by Mr. Midram that the average charge on business telephones in St. John was lower than those prevailing in the majority of Canadian and American cities with the exception of Halifax, N. S., and that when the new rates went into effect, the charges here would be less than those existing in the Nova Scotia city. Mr. Midram leaves tonight for Holyoke, Mass., where he is to make a report to the Massachusetts Service Commission, but expects to return to the city in a few days. A window-cleaning device operated by compressed air, is being made for the benefit of motorists in stormy weather.

The automobile has been the cause of more divorces than all the quarrels combined. These days the prospective bride asks her John, "Have you a car?" If the answer is in the negative, he seeks another bride. Lucky man! Give prohibition a chance in the home. Thou shalt not make home brew. Not so long ago people filled their church basements with wine. We have been wet prohibition in a few short years. Short hair does not necessarily mean the owner is short in brains. HIGH OLD TIME IN BOSTON CITY HALL

Boston, Jan. 28.—Gambling parties, drinking bouts and riotous revels have been staged almost nightly for some months in private offices at the City Hall, and even in the beautiful madame-fitted Council Chamber. Admitting that the building has been used by city officials and their friends as one of the most exclusive and lively abodes in the country, Mayor Curley has issued terse and definite instructions, backed by threat of the well-aimed discharge, to allow none in the building after 6 o'clock at night but members of the City Council and department heads. "What India needs at the present time to quiet down its unrest, is not machine guns, but the hand of confidence, the hand of fellowship, the hand of sympathy, and the hand of love. With these, India's restlessness would be quietened and everything would be at peace," was his conclusion.

INDIA IS NOT READY FOR HOME RULE

Professor From There Tells Montreal Canadian Club What Country Needs

Montreal, Jan. 29.—Addressing the Canadian Club here, Prof. Yosan Masih, principal of Malwa College, Indore, Central India, gave it as his view that India was not yet fit for home rule along the lines of other British dominions. He was not, however, adverse to native leaders having more influence in the ruling of their own country. "What India needs at the present time to quiet down its unrest, is not machine guns, but the hand of confidence, the hand of fellowship, the hand of sympathy, and the hand of love. With these, India's restlessness would be quietened and everything would be at peace," was his conclusion.

HOUSE OF DAVID HEAD MISSING

Benton Harbor, Mich., Jan. 28.—Guy Purnell, 40 year old son of Benjamin Purnell, fugitive "king" of the House of David colony, died at Shiloah House, his father's home, late Sunday, following a lingering illness aggravated by pneumonia. The colony leader, for whose arrest the state has offered a reward in connection with a warrant charging him with improper conduct toward young girls of the cult, did not appear at the colony. Benjamin and Guy Purnell have been estranged for several years.

CHATHAM LIQUOR CASE POSTPONED

Newcastle, Jan. 28.—(Special.)—Owing to the illness of Magistrate Gaynor the prohibition case against Inspector Daniel Crisp, which was to have been resumed in the Chatham police court today, was further adjourned until Feb. 5. Inspector Stewart was on hand to prosecute if the case had come up.

DISCUSS PRISONERS' WELFARE

There was a discussion as to whether the provincial council could take action with regard to prisoners' welfare in St. John, as there was no St. John Social Service Council. Dr. Shearer, did not consider that, on the whole, prisoners throughout the Dominion were receiving the treatment Christians should extend them. He thought a committee of the provincial council could take charge of the work. Mrs. E. A. Young told of what was being done in St. John. Major Burrows told of the services conducted by the Salvation Army in prisons. Rev. Neil MacLauchlan thought it had been found there was no great need of further care for prisoners in New Brunswick. Rev. Dr. Shearer told how in Ontario the prisoners worked outside the prison to provide for their families. This legislation could also be put in force here. Rev. J. B. MacLeod, president of the Prisoners' Aid of Montreal, and director of the "Montreal Prisoners' Welfare Association," said the great work done in Montreal for prisoners was done by the Salvation Army, but necessary to care for them in institutions, but now, given the background of a fairly good home, with the guidance of a vocational director and a farm colony for those who needed special care, the problem of the feeble-minded was receiving attention through Ontario. Institutions would only be required for the greatly retarded type, he said. A better understanding of the delinquent boy and girl was another advance, Dr. Bryce said. They were brought before a juvenile court with

HAS MADE MORE THAN 300 VOYAGES; IS IN ST. JOHN TODAY

Duncan McIntosh of Metagama Has Had Career of Interest.

On the Metagama, which arrived in port today came Duncan McIntosh, chief steward, always a welcome visitor to St. John. Mr. McIntosh has been coming to St. John for several years and has a host of friends who will be delighted to see him again. He is a close friend of R. H. Parsons, West End, and frequently visits his home while in port.

The article published herewith was taken from a recent number of the People's Journal, Argyle, Scotland, and will be read with interest by many people in this city. In addition to being a close friend of the late Janette Crosby, hymn writer, Mr. McIntosh numbered among his very closest family friends the late Miss Jessie MacLellan, celebrated Scottish singer who delighted St. John audiences some years ago.

Mr. McIntosh is also a speaker of reputation and has a delightful way of driving great truths home with his fund of Scottish humor.

The People's Journal article follows: A remarkable record is that of Duncan McIntosh, chief steward of the Canadian Pacific liner Metagama, who spent 33 years crossing the ocean, not only to Canada, but to South America. His huge diary, which he calls his "log-book," contains many notable autographs among them those of Sir Ralph Chalmers Williams, when he was Governor of Newfoundland, Dr. Kelman, C. J. Smith, and General S. J. Jackson.

Mr. McIntosh, who has completed his fifth voyage, has in the course of his seafaring career covered well over 1,750,000 miles. He became a steward in the Allan liner Aurifer in 1884, the same year that the Carthaginian was launched. The Aurifer was then one of the best vessels afloat, much admired for her staid look and beautiful lines.

Dreco Helped After Everything Failed

John H. Parkins of St. John, N. B., Tried Everything That Money Could Procure to Rescue Self from Outbreak of Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble. —Dreco Now Has Highest Praise.

Ten years of suffering from rheumatism and kidney trouble—ten years of endless effort to find relief—a decade of spending money—all this ended when John H. Parkins, of 16 St. Paul street, St. John, N. B., discovered Dreco. In Dreco, the pure extract of twelve roots, herbs and leaves of healing plants, he found relief. Mr. Parkins is 44 years old, at that critical age when a man needs all the energy that nature intended him to have, and thanks to Dreco, he now has it after using four bottles. Mr. Parkins' own words are convincing. He says, "I have been suffering from rheumatism and kidney trouble for the past ten years. I had tried everything that money could procure but to no avail. The pains were so severe at times, especially during the night, I was kept awake most of the night. I had also terrible pains in the back due to very weak condition. After consulting the Dreco expert I decided to give one preparation a trial. After taking only one bottle I found it so wonderful and the relief so prompt that I decided to buy three more. The pains in my joints are practically gone, my kidneys are really healthy, my appetite is good, all of which is only since I started taking Dreco. I feel like a young boy. It has really made a new man out of me. My appetite is like 100 per cent, and my bowels are as regular as a clock. After such good results in a very short time I cannot help but recom- mend Dreco as being the best remedy for all cases of rheumatism and kidney trouble. Dreco will always have my highest praise."

Dreco is being specially introduced in St. John by Ross Drug Co., 100 King street; Moore's Drug Store, 105 Prince Edward street; F. W. Munro, 357 Main street, and in West St. John by Watson R. Dunlop. It is also sold in Fairville by T. H. Wilson, and by a good druggist everywhere.

DUNCAN MCINTOSH

Watching a bombardment. "While aboard the Walden," said Mr. McIntosh, with whom I talked in his snug little cabin aboard the Metagama, "I witnessed a bombardment of Buenos Ayres. That was in 1898, when disturbances of this kind were not unexpected in that quarter."

"A miniature revolution was in progress for the Government from the water, so we had to lie out in the roads, where we had a good view of what was happening."

"The revolutionists gained temporary control over the city, and were attempting to take possession of Government House when we appeared on the scene. The Argentine gunboats, which remained loyal, were still able to speak for the Government from the water, after a fierce bombardment the rebels were chased out of the city, and the Government resumed its functions."

"I recall a significant incident during the bombardment. The British cruiser Waspette had anchored outside. Another representative of the British Navy present was a small gunboat the Bramble. I remember this little gunboat steaming in among the Argentine warships and firing a signal. Thereupon the bombardment ceased. I did not understand what had transpired, but the cessation of hostilities following the intervention of a small British gunboat impressed me."

"A few days later we were able to get into port, and when we went ashore we found scores of men each with an arm in a sling."

"The day after the outbreak of the Great War," continued the chief steward, "I left Glasgow for the Mongolian for Liverpool, prior to crossing the Atlantic. When near New Brunswick, on the Morsey, we came upon a Norwegian barque making for port. We saw her being signalled from the shore, and also observed that her captain ignored the signal."

"Next instant a shot rang out from the fort. It was intended for the Norwegian barque, but it got the Mongolian instead. The shot passed right through the bow of our vessel, and our departure was considerably delayed in consequence."

"The captain of the Norwegian barque it transpired, was unaware of the outbreak of hostilities, and did not comprehend the signal flashed for him to answer. His ignorance of the state of affairs meant that the Mongolian was the first casualty in the British marine, and the shot that damaged her was from a British gun."

"Four voyages ago I saw the man who was captain of that Norwegian barque in charge of a steamer in Montreal. I should have liked to have recalled this incident to him, but I was too busy at the time to get away to talk to him."

In recognition of his services and many acts of kindness to Belgian refugees, of whom large numbers were conveyed to their native land by the Pretorian, the King of the Belgians conferred on Mr. McIntosh "Les Palmes au argent de l'Ordre de la Couronne."

Changes at Montreal. Mr. McIntosh served afloat continuously during the war years, and one of the contributors to his treasured volume is Gen. Lionel W. Sandler-Jackson, who commanded the North Russian Relief Force, which sailed on board the Pretorian from Tilbury to Marmouks, and thence to Archangel.

In this book there are contributions in many languages and some in strange characters, including many of Indian written forms. Many paid their compliments in the French tongue, some in the Italian, and others in Spanish. In the course of our conversation Mr. McIntosh commented upon the wonderful changes he had witnessed in the port of Montreal, and the development from the temporary sheds and the muddy ways to the present modern steel and concrete structure, and the great equipment of grain elevators and other facilities.

"And what a change in the surroundings," he exclaimed. "The old resorts have gone, and in their place the old days, the sobriety of the port is notable. I well remember 'Joe Bear's' content, 'French Mary's,' and the other pieces frequented by the sailors."

"Joe Bear" would have bears, and one day I saw a man wrestling with one of those bears in the street, with a crowd around cheering the contest. The man put down the bear, and 'Joe' was very angry, because it meant that he had to put up the man for a couple of days."

Now and Then. "I have also seen many changes in Glasgow," proceeded Mr. McIntosh. "Cessnock Park, where the employees of the Allan Line used to play football in their meal hours, has been transformed into what are among the finest docks in the world."

"The Clyde itself has been greatly improved. Its water used to be inky black, but now I expect to live to see the day when trout fishing will be possible at the Bromelaw."

"The sailor of today is also vastly different from the old type. The latter were great big, strapping fellows, whose hearts and purses were always full at the same time."

"Sailors nowadays are soberer as a class, but I would not say they were better men for all that."

"The sailors' conditions have greatly improved. They enjoy better quarters, food, and wages than prevailed in the old days."

Among Mr. McIntosh's closest friends was the late Miss Fanny J. Crosby, the famous American hymn writer.

Mr. McIntosh was born hard by Clachan Bridge. This bridge, which connects the Island of Solli with the mainland, is a strange arch of masonry, with a span of 70 feet, and 40 feet above the bed of the sea channel. It was completed in 1792 from plans of a famous Telford, and was constructed by the Stephenson, builders of repute, connected with the development of Oban.

In addition to his long service afloat, Mr. McIntosh has another claim to distinction. The wings of the Muse have brushed him, and the result has tangible form in a published book of verse. Many of his verses were written while on trips to and from Canada; others were written in Glasgow and Montreal.

"I recall a significant incident during the bombardment. The British cruiser Waspette had anchored outside. Another representative of the British Navy present was a small gunboat the Bramble. I remember this little gunboat steaming in among the Argentine warships and firing a signal. Thereupon the bombardment ceased. I did not understand what had transpired, but the cessation of hostilities following the intervention of a small British gunboat impressed me."

"A few days later we were able to get into port, and when we went ashore we found scores of men each with an arm in a sling."

"The day after the outbreak of the Great War," continued the chief steward, "I left Glasgow for the Mongolian for Liverpool, prior to crossing the Atlantic. When near New Brunswick, on the Morsey, we came upon a Norwegian barque making for port. We saw her being signalled from the shore, and also observed that her captain ignored the signal."

"Next instant a shot rang out from the fort. It was intended for the Norwegian barque, but it got the Mongolian instead. The shot passed right through the bow of our vessel, and our departure was considerably delayed in consequence."

HEROES BOTH—DAD AND SON WON MEDALS IN SAME SPOT

THOMAS J. FERNS (LEFT) AND HIS SON, TOMMY, JR., BOTH HEROES.

Herberville, Mass.—Tommy Ferns, Jr., emerged a hero from the same old swimming hole that made his father, Thomas J. Ferns, famous herabout 23 years ago. Tommy saved the life of Phillip Jenette, a playmate, who was drowning in Ten Mile River.

Twenty-three years ago Thomas, Sr., received a medal for rescuing Agnes Cloutier from drowning in the same river in practically the same spot.

THE LATE JUDGE CHANDLER

Of the late Mr. Justice Chandler the Moncton Transcript says: Hon. Justice Chandler was born in Westmorland county seven years ago and was the son of the late Edward Barron Chandler, solicitor for the Intercolonial Railway and a prominent barrister of Moncton and Dorchester. His mother was before her marriage Miss Harriet Coster, daughter of Archdeacon Coster of Fredericton. He was a grandson of the Hon. Edward Barron Chandler, who died in 1880 while Lieutenant Governor of this province. Educated in the schools of this county, Hon. Mr. Chandler was graduated from the University of New Brunswick and later from Harvard University where he obtained the degree in law. He was admitted to the bar of the province in 1876 and subsequently practiced at Woodstock with the late John Winslow.

Removing to St. John, the partnership of Allen and Chandler was formed. Mr. Allen, now Dr. Allen, is at present the Registrar of the Supreme Court and Deputy Attorney-General of New Brunswick at Fredericton where he has resided since the dissolution of the partnership. Later to firm of Baird, Chandler and Allen was formed with Senator Baird and George W. Allen, son of the late Sir John Allen.

Returning to Westmorland county Mr. Justice Chandler was associated with Hon. H. R. Emmerson, K. C., and with Hazen Chapman, K. C., at Dorchester and carried on a very successful practice for a number of years. Sometime later Hon. Mr. Chandler was associated with Hon. C. W. Robinson, i. e. present minister of lands and mines, in business in this city, where he was well known for his many public activities.

Upon the death of Sir Pierre Landry, Hon. Mr. Chandler was appointed to the Supreme Court of New Brunswick in 1915 and, in consequence, re-

ENTIRE FAMILY ILL. On last Friday Dean, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Zephaniah Wilbur, of Stilleville, aged 16 years, succumbed to an attack of scarlet fever, says the Moncton Transcript. All the children, six or seven in number, have been suffering from this disease, but are now reported as convalescing. The mother is recuperating with an infected hand. The father, who was the only one able to be around, had to care for the sick and attend to household duties and outside work, neighbors being unable to go to their assistance owing to the contagious nature of the disease.

KING'S DAUGHTERS PLAN. Mrs. Frank K. McArthur presided at the regular meeting of the In His Name Circle, King's Daughters, at the Guild last evening. Plans for future events were made. Mrs. R. C. Thomas has issued invitations to the members to attend a children's party at her home early in February. This will be in the nature of a fancy dress event and great pleasure is anticipated when the ladies endeavor by change of apparel to turn back the wheels of time.

STOP IT!
Why Cough Your Head Off
Make Your Own Cough Mixture for the Whole Family and Save Money. It's Easy

When you can make in your own home a wonderful cough mixture far ahead of any you can buy ready made, why not do it?
This home made mixture will stop the most stubborn cough and is fine for colds and acute catarrh. Children love it.
Get from any druggist one ounce of Parmit (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar and enough water to make half a pint—that's all there is to it!
Like a soothing, healing poultice one costly substance in this home made cough mixture upgrades itself completely over the membrane of the throat. This causes the most stubborn cough enough to cease almost instantly. No ordinary slow-acting cough syrup contains this expensive ingredient.
Any remedy that overcomes catarrh, partially or wholly, is bound to be of benefit to those who are troubled with hoarse voices and catarrhal distress. Get Parmit and get better.

Quebec Censors Take Generous Attitude In Mabel Normand Case

The Board of Censors of Moving Pictures for the Province of Quebec has not yet considered the advisability of banning Mabel Normand's films according to a statement by R. de Sales, Chairman of the Board. Mr. de Sales said that the Board would await further developments in the case of the actress at Los Angeles before arriving at a decision. This is felt generally to exhibit a much greater degree of fairness than has been shown by some sections in the United States where Miss Normand has been summarily condemned before she has had a fair chance of being heard in her defence.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—Notice has been given of an application to parliament for the incorporation of a company to be capitalized $500,000,000 with power to connect the lower St. Lawrence River by ship canals and ship channels with the head of the Great Lakes, states the Journal today.

ISTAR IS SOLD FOR $15,000 AT THE CEBRIAN HORSE SALE. Lexington, Ky., Jan. 25.—Istar, eight-year-old bay mare by Von Tromp-Ishlar, was literally the star of the dispersal sale of thoroughbreds the property of Edward Cebrian, which took place recently at Kennelwood, the breeding farm of J. O. and G. H. Keene. The mare was knocked down to J. Howard Lewis for $15,000, top price of the sale. K. Walker paid $14,000 for the eight-year-old chestnut mare imp. Apparition by Sweeper II, out of Banchee. Sixty-six heads were disposed of by the Kentucky Sale Company for Mr. Cebrian, who is retiring temporarily from thoroughbred breeding to manage the family property, Cuyama Ranch, in California. The total realized was $129,550, the average being $1,604. Of the stallions disposed of the best price was brought by Imp. Troubecky, by Lada-Rydy Mount, for which J. S. Barbee paid $4,000.

HELP FOR YOUNG WOMEN

Mrs. Holmberg Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Viking, Alta.—"From the time I was 15 years old I would get such sick feelings in the lower part of my abdomen, caused by cramps and vomiting. This kept me from my work (I help my parents on the farm) as I usually had to suffer in this way until the first of June. I tried to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had very satisfactory results so far and am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends. I am sure any girl I tried it for would feel like a different person now that I don't have these troubles."

ODILLA HOLMBERG, Box 98, Viking, Alta. Letters like this establish the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking it.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ill-health in this country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials prove this fact.

If you doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Health Clinic, Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for Mrs. Pinkham's private text-book and learn more about it.

MINE INSURGENT IS HOWLED DOWN

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 28.—Progress was impeded by additional controversy in the United Mine Workers' convention today over seating of delegates backed by the insurgents. However, delegates generally were reticent, and late this afternoon howled down one insurgent who took the platform to speak for a shorter working day.

President John L. Lewis pounded for order without effect, after asking for co-operation, adding that the talk being delivered was "as hard on the chair as on the delegates."

Among the resolutions adopted were those favoring removal of all troops from Germany and announcing determination to take "no reduction in wages."

Watery eyes, aching bones, sniffing nose, and sluggish liver—this is the season for colds and Grippe.
Your grandfather used to simply try to bear it and wait for better weather. He would plead with the poet—"Come Gentle Spring." Now we know that colds are too dangerous to let them run their course.
Dr. Thatcher's Liver & Blood Syrup will make your liver work again. When active, the liver filters all the blood every fifteen minutes. This gives the blood a chance to fight the germs of colds.
Try it tonight! Just a spoonful after the next few meals, and tell others what a big difference it makes in the way you look, eat, sleep and feel. You will be completely satisfied; otherwise druggists will return the small cost.

AIMS TO CURTAIL FATAL ACCIDENTS

Maritime Provincial Safety League Will be Organized Tomorrow

A Maritime Provincial Safety League having for its aim the saving of lives from unnecessary accidents and having behind it the push of several provincial organizations, and the Canadian National Safety League, is to be organized at Moncton on Wednesday, Dr. D. P. Doolittle, vice-president of the Ontario Safety League, a member of the executive committee of the Canadian National Safety League, and president of the Canadian Automobile Association, said last night.
The object of the Safety League is to save lives through education. This is to be carried on in the home, at the school, in the mine, in the forest, factory, mill, in fact everywhere, where men and women congregate. The means used to educate the grown-ups are weekly bulletins, but with the children a different method will be employed. The first thing to be taught them is how to prevent accidents, but the second and equally important matter, is to teach them what to do, and how to do it, when an accident does occur.
Results in Ontario.
The results that the Safety League in Ontario have accomplished in the few years it has been in existence, as described by Dr. Doolittle, were startling in their possibilities of what may be done here to prevent accidents. The results have been so great that the Federal Government has granted the National League $25,000 with which to organize the Safety Leagues in the other provinces. In Ontario, which has never received one cent of Federal aid, the League is now self-supporting. The street railway company, in appreciation of the rapidly decreasing number of accidents to children and adults, in the streets of Toronto, now gives the League $2,000 a year. The provincial government grants $10,000 annually, and the City of Toronto gives $2,000. Considerable money is also raised through the private membership fees.
The work that the Safety League is accomplishing for Canada, Dr. Doolittle pointed out, was most important, for every life of a Canadian-born child saved meant thousands of dollars to the country.
A. P. Saunders, organizer for the Canadian National Safety League, is in the city also, and will organize in the Maritime "Ask Daddy," was shown in the parlors of the Royal Hotel,

U. S. SKATING TEAM MANAGER
PROTESTS SCORING AT OLYMPICS

Objects to Points Given for Participation in All Events.

Chamonix, Jan. 29.—A spirited dispute has developed over the method of scoring points in the Olympic winter sports events. Canada is not directly affected by this disagreement, as the Dominion had only one representative in the skating events, Chas. Gorman of St. John, N. B., who failed to finish among the scores in any of the events, though he demonstrated some excellent speed skating.

Before leaving Chamonix last night, Wm. Taylor, manager of the U. S. speed skating team, told the French Olympic Committee that he was lodging a protest with the International Olympic Committee and the International Skating Union against the allowance of 20 extra points under the heading "general classification" for men competing in all four skating races as a bonus for their participation.

Taking into consideration the number of points scored by each man as well as the fact that each participant in all the events, the bonus points have been distributed as follows:—Thunberg, Finland, 10 points for being the highest scorer; Larsen, Norway, 5 points as the second highest; Skutnabb, Finland, 4, for third; Strom, Norway, 3, for fourth; Moen, Norway, 2, for fifth; Quaglia, France, 1, for sixth.

Thus, although Quaglia placed in no event, he is awarded one point for having taken part in all four, thereby permitting France to break into the scoring column.

This method of points to 125 and makes the standing of the nations, according to the French committee's official list, as follows:—Finland, 62½; Norway, 49½; U. S., 11; Sweden, 1; France, 1.

Says Unfair to Jewry.
Mr. Taylor argues that the bonus system was unfair, as it gave Jewry, who scored 10 points for the U. S. by winning the 500-metre race, no chance to figure in the general classification because he did not participate in the 10,000-metre event.

"It's like asking Charley Paddock to run in the 100-metre dash and all intermediary races up to the 5,000 metre run in order to get a rating," Mr. Taylor said.

The French committee is adamant and insists that the figures as revised must stand.

NEW GOLF BALL IS ADVOCATED
New York, Jan. 29.—A new golf ball, weighing approximately 1.55 ounces, with a diameter of 1.68 inches, would have shorter carrying capacity than the 1.62 ball now used will be recommended to the U. S. Golf Association by a committee of experts headed by Secretary Lee, of the association, who returned last night after a week of tests at Jekyll Island, Ga. The lighter and larger ball will obviate extension of old courses to a length of approximately 7,000 yards.

MIKE WISHES SIKI WOULD PACK HIS BAG AND GO

It is rumored that Mike McGique is getting up a fund to defray the expenses of Battling Siki back to France.

The longer Siki stays in this country the less respect ring fans will have for McGique as a "world's champion."

Siki won the light heavyweight title by knocking out Georges Carpentier in a bout that was supposed to be "in the bag" for the Frenchman before it started.

Then Siki went over to Dublin and a horrible fight and at the end of the fourth round McGique for the title. It was verdict and title were awarded to McGique.

Subsequently, Siki came to this country and took on Kid Norfolk, who punched him silly. In another fight in Philadelphia against a three-time loser, Fredrickton, Siki was again beaten by the American.

It certainly doesn't take much class to be a "world's champion" if beating Siki is all that is asked of you.

PAL MORAN WILL SOON BE READY
Appears to be Most Logical Contender for Leonard's Crown.

(By Henry L. Farrell.)
New York, Jan. 29.—(United Press.)—While Henry Leonard is in no danger of losing his lightweight crown, a couple of boys have come out recently to challenge for it.

After Leonard polished off Lew Tendler so completely last summer and after Charley White had been tapped out of the club, the lightweight championship was completely out of established opponents.

Just recently, however, two youngsters have come out who may develop into challengers of sufficient merit to be built up for two fights this summer.

Pal Moran, the New Orleans lightweight, seems to be the logical contender for the title, if any promoter wants to assume the liability of the purse that Leonard will demand and the expense of staging a big fight.

Moran has been showing class for more than a year and he jumped into prominence when he knocked out Charley White last summer. White, you know, hasn't been on the canvas very many times.

Just a few weeks ago, Moran stopped Johnny Shugrue. It is true that Shugrue isn't a top-notch, but the impressive part of Moran's performance against him was the manner in which he won.

The New Orleans boy is a legitimate lightweight and is a strong, rugged boy. He has a fine fighting disposition, learns quickly and seems possessed of the most ideal temperament for a fighter.

Given a couple of good hard fights and he will be ready for a crack at the lightweight title.

At catch-weights no one believes that Moran would have a chance with Leonard, but there are many smart boxing men who believe that he would give the champion a real fight if Benny had to make the weight.

If the champion can make 135 pounds, as he and his manager, Billy Leonard, insist he can, it is most peculiar that he would not consent to step on the scales in public before the last fight with Tendler.

It will be remembered that the boxing commission would not permit the Main Event in the Armories Proved Disappointing to Fans Present.

The feature bout in the Armories last evening proved to be a disappointment to the fans present, who proclaimed their dissatisfaction as they wended their way home.

It was a scheduled fifteen round bout between Jim Montgomery, claimant of the middleweight and light heavyweight championship of Ireland, and Charles DeBates, claimant of the heavyweight championship of Belgium.

For two rounds it looked as if DeBates was the midweight and light heavyweight champion of Ireland, and Charles DeBates, claimant of the heavyweight championship of Belgium.

STECHER'S TEMPERATURE 103
BEFORE DEFEATING ZBYSKO

St. Louis, Jan. 29.—Joe Stecher, who defeated Statle Zbyzsko here recently in two out of three falls, had been ill with lung congestion up until the day of the bout. It was stated by Dr. C. M. Westerman, a local physician, who attended him.

On last Sunday Stecher's fever was 103 degrees, Dr. Westerman said. In winning the bout, Stecher gained one fall in 15 minutes and 10 seconds, the quickest registered against Zbyzsko.

SPECULATE ON COMING BIG BOUT

Many Figure Gibbons Will Make Champion Work to Defeat Him.

(By Henry L. Farrell.)
New York, Jan. 29.—(United Press.)—Because there may be some reasons to be suspicious over what happened in Shelby last summer and because Tom Gibbons never has been able to get the credit he deserves as a great fighter, there is a disposition in boxing circles to figure that Dempsey wants to give Gibbons a return battle merely to get into real fighting shape for Firpo or Wills.

It is not impossible that Gibbons will give Dempsey more trouble than Firpo will when they meet again and it is almost a conviction that Dempsey will beat Wills quicker and with more ease than he will take Gibbons the next time.

Gibbons certainly learned something in his first contest with the champion and if he was not softened up by one of the hard punches in the Shelby first round by a right hand punch to the head and once again in his first round when Dempsey hit him in the groin.

Perhaps it would be safe to assume that Gibbons did have something taken out of him in that fight, as every fighter who has gone against Dempsey came out of it with a few permanent injuries.

Granting this point, it must be assumed for the most part that the South American could hit. Dempsey might have been softened a little, or more, perhaps, in his last fight with Firpo. Dempsey stopped a lot of solid punches to the head and the body and everyone knows that the South American could hit.

Ever since Dempsey and Gibbons fought 15 rounds in Montana last summer it has been argued that it was a "carry" and that Dempsey has reasons to restrain him from knocking out Gibbons and gaining on a decision.

It is quite silly to suggest that Dempsey at any time "gambled" on the decision. Because he had one of his best friends in the ring as the referee and Gibbons would have been forced to give up if he had not been times a round to get the title on a decision.

Dempsey ought to be ashamed of himself when he tells that he was afraid he would be shot if he knocked out Gibbons. If there were one dangerous gut-bearing cowboy there "ready to drop him for hurting their idol," he would have been shot long time before Gibbons and he did that a dozen times.

If he's the same fellow he seems to be and has evidence of being, he would not have been intimidated by all the guns in the state, if there were any guns there. That's what he is in the country. He should know that it isn't "bad country" out there and there are no cases on record where a champion has been killed for knocking out a popular contender.

Down in his heart, Dempsey knows that he tried his best to bring Gibbons down and that he couldn't get to him with a solid punch. The champion looked invincible against Firpo, but it must be remembered that every time he led, he landed on Firpo and Firpo down the same way and he would not have been physically able to get up off the floor as many times as the South American did. Dempsey, however, did not land on Gibbons and then if Gibbons was fast enough then and clever enough to stay away from him when there is no reason for any fight, he has forgotten all his science in less than a year and has suffered a great physical decline.

Dempsey was not in shape for his fight with Gibbons because he didn't like his training camp and because in a few months' training he found it impossible to get back the keen edge and the fine feeling that had been partially removed by an absence of more than a year from his business.

Against Firpo, Dempsey was as finely trained an athlete as any that has ever been seen in the ring and it was at the supreme height of his career. He would not have been in such superb shape if it had not been for Gibbons' fight, and if he had not been so physically perfect and so mentally alert he most certainly would have been knocked out by Firpo.

Dempsey, no doubt, feels that he can beat Gibbons. He has the confidence of a champion and perhaps he feels certain that he will knock Tom out the next time he fights him. His self-reliance and his confidence certainly should not have been reduced by the experience he acquired in the Firpo fight, when he learned he could outslug the heaviest hitter in the business.

Dempsey is a smart fighter and perhaps he did figure he could consider an early summer fight with Gibbons as a physically perfect and he had no such opportunity in Shelby. The New York commission would have to do something about it. There was no one in Shelby but a cowboy mayor, who couldn't be found an hour before the fight.

$5,000 POLICY TAKEN
OUT AGAINST SIKI'S
DISAPPEARANCE

Chicago, Jan. 29.—An insurance policy for $5,000 against any further disappearance of Battling Siki, the Senegizee boxer, has been taken out here.

The "disappearance insurance" was taken out, Tommy Walsh, matchmaker, announced, to insure the presence of Siki in Minneapolis Jan. 31, when he will meet Joe Lohman of Toledo. Siki is expected to come on to Chicago from New Orleans to spend the intervening time before the Minneapolis match and while here the insurance company, it is said, will have two men keeping track of his movements.

WANT PIRATES TO KEEP MARANVILLE

Traynor Thinks His Departure Would Lessen Pennant Chances.

Pie Traynor, stellar third baseman of the Pirates, is greatly exercised over the report that Rabbit Maranville is to be traded.

Traynor declared that while he believed that Wright, bought from Kansas City, would prove a worthy shortstop, he felt that the departure of the Rabbit would be a severe blow to the pennant chances of the Pirates.

Traynor wants Maranville to stay and Wright to play second base in place of Ravelling. Little Johnny went gray from worry late last season. He felt that the Pirates counted on him to swing the pennant their way and after a while he could do nothing right. However it looks as if Maranville will pass along, very likely to the Braves.

Earl Hamilton, the veteran southpaw, and Reb Russell, the sensational home runner of the last months of the 1922 season, who failed to headly last summer, also are going from the Pirates. They are slated to switch to Minneapolis, from which Russell came to Pittsburgh.

RACE HORSE OWNER WITH A KIND HEART
New York, Jan. 29.—Few sportsmen are as fond of a thoroughbred as is Richard T. Wilson, Jr. He breeds a big string every year at his Kirkcubright Farm in Kentucky, and he knows intimately every horse he ever bred. Because his stable becomes overcrowded every year, he is compelled to dispose of many of his pets. But he retains a friendship for all of them. Many times a year he makes a special trip to the track to see one of his former horses race.

Mr. Wilson didn't breed Corn Tassel, which won the Suburban in his sicks in 1919, but he took an exceptional fancy to him. When his usefulness in the big Wilson barn was over it was against his wishes when Tom Healey, his trainer, sold him in new hands. Corn Tassel had a checked career. He went from one stable to another, but Mr. Wilson never lost track of him. Last week he learned that the old fellow's racing days were over. Pearing he might be put at some laborious work, Mr. Wilson bought him and sent him to his Kentucky farm, with instructions to give him a life of ease.

NEWS NOTES GATHERED FROM THE WORLD OF STAGE AND SCREEN

THREE OUT OF FOUR LEGITIMATES
MAKE GOOD MOVIE MATERIAL

Though Losing Some of Their Power, Most Would be Successful.

(By Maurice Henle)
New York.—Within the past few days I've deserted the silent drama long enough to see some of the current stage successes. My purpose was to determine whether any of the present plays of merit could successfully be adapted by the movies. The movies need new blood. Whether they get it from their neighbors, the speaking stage, or from the published novels, is immaterial. They need it and they have got it—quickly.

I saw "Outward Bound," "Roseanne," "White Cargo," "The New Year" and several others. But the one mentioned will serve as an excellent illustration of the question.

"The New Year" is a comedy and its title refers to the Russian aristocracy (most of whom operate modish shops on Fifty-seventh street). "Roseanne" is a heavy drama, and tells of the disillusionment of a self-sacrificing, conscientious woman.

The action of "White Cargo" takes place on the west coast of Africa and describes the psychological and physical changes that come over a civilized man when he is shunted on a spur of this world's main line.

"Outward Bound" is a tale of the hereafter, in this writer's opinion the most beautiful dramatic exposition on that subject in 10 years.

Three of them, under proper direction, would make successful movies. They would not be as powerful as they are now. But they would be as successful. I'm not so certain about "The New Year." There is nothing penetrating about that.

"Broadway made the acquaintance of several excellent movies last week. "Black Oxen" from the novel by Gertrude Atherton, played at the Strand. "The Humming Bird," which has been reviewed in these columns, opened at popular prices at the Capitol.

"Black Oxen" stayed admirably within the shadow of the book. When I read the book some months ago I thought it would be rather difficult to bring the pages to life. It would conceivably be a failure. But Conway Tearle, Corinne Griffith and Clara Bow live the parts. You won't get any greater satisfaction from the movie than you did from the book. But you won't be disappointed. And that's saying much.

As to "The Humming Bird," if you've seen it by this time, you'll know that Gladys Swanson does a good piece of business, as acting is known within the trade. Gloria makes good when she is insisted upon being an actress and not a "dotheater."

UNIQUE CEREMONY IS CARRIED OUT
Cutting of Baddeley Cake at Drury Lane Theatre Observed.

London, Jan. 29.—The cutting of the Baddeley Cake at Twelfth Night—that historic ceremony which has been performed in the play now being produced originally as a cook to Samuel Foote, the dramatist and actor, Robert Baddeley also became an actor. He was engaged at Drury Lane Theatre in 1768, and was the original Moses in "The School for Scandal." On November 19, 1794, he was about to play Moses as usual when he became suddenly ill and expired the following day. He was buried in St. Paul's, Covent Garden, the last abode of many actors of the past.

Baddeley left the revenue of his house in Surrey for the support of an asylum for decayed actors, and "One hundred pounds three per cent. consolidated Bank annuities which produce three pounds per annum to purchase a Twelfth cake, wine and punch which the ladies and gentlemen of Drury Lane Theatre are requested to partake of every Twelfth Night."

Since his death hundreds of columns have been written about this annual ceremony at Old Drury, and it is frequently observed that for his $200 Robert Baddeley, ex-cook, obtained more advertisement than many a great actor.

Author Makes a Real Issue of a Problem Faced by Women.

In "This Freedom," the latest novel by A. S. M. Hutchins, the author makes a real issue between banking and a woman's job and motherhood. Rosalie, the heroine, is a story of her home and children to follow her career in the largest banking house in London.

The opinion of the author in that a married woman cannot be a successful banker and run a home at the same time is upheld by the personnel officers of the leading banks of New York City. Most of the banking houses bar from their ranks married women whose husbands can, and do, support them and women whose urge for the money which is born of an end at home. Many banks have made the rule for their clerks and office employees that they cannot marry and both be employed by the same institution. Either one or the other must give up the position. But in the higher branches of banking where financial policies are decided there are very few married women in positions of authority today.

This question whether the average woman can successfully manage a home and a job at the same time, especially when it is not necessary for her to work, is dramatically brought out in this photoplay. Denison Clift, author on the site in England described by the author in his novel, presented "This Freedom" which is now being shown at the Queen Square Theatre, where it is attracting capacity houses.

RURAL COMEDY IS OPERA HOUSE HIT

There are some shows that never grow old—and one of them is "Old Homestead," as presented last night by the F. James Carroll Players in the Opera House. It is a typical New England comedy with all the wholesome humor that surrounds such a play and there was not a moment when the large audience present did not enjoy itself to the fullest.

The story needs no telling—it is the rich, homely tale that Denham Thompson knew well how to relate and in the hands of the Carroll Players it was developed to the fullest.

Undoubtedly the work of Owen Coll in the role of Joshua Whitcomb—Uncle Josh, as he was known to young America—was the high-light in the production. He gave just one more of those noteworthy examples of character impersonation which has branded him as leader in his profession.

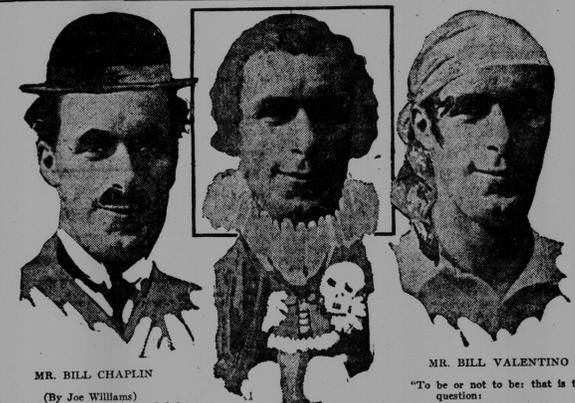

Whether it be in the comedy situations or in the weaving of the atmosphere of pathos in the death of Den Whitcomb with just appreciation. Two other characters are also deserving of special mention—those portrayed by James Swift and Clyde Franklin—and roar upon roar of laughter and round after round of applause were evoked as they performed their work. Mr. Coats also gave a good representation of happy-go-lucky knight in a riot in her juvenile comic character of Ricketty Ann, and Miss Kelton was seen again in another fine character part.

To the other members of the cast the work of the show was fairly well appreciated. Mr. Valentino and Miss Clift, who handled practically the only "straight" characters in the piece, did their work well. Miss March, Mr. Franklin, and Mr. Pincney all had double roles and handled them well. John Haggerty, Paul Broderick and J. C. Benjamin had minor roles which, however, assisted materially in making the whole performance a success.

The appearance of live hens and a cow on the stage in the first act lends a touch of reality, which was heightened by a novel light effect which produced a promiscuous fitting of fireflies across the background. No doubt "Old Homestead" will be seen by large audiences all week.

MR. TILDEN, MOVIE ACTOR!

Will the National Tennis Champion, Soon to Invade the Films, Go in For Humor, Tragedy Or High-Powered Romance?

MR. BILL VALENTINO

Mr. William Tilden II is headed for the movies. Whether the recent edit barring tennis players from writing pieces for the daily journals has anything to do with his decision is unknown.

All we know is that Bill, beg pardon, William Tilden II, is determined to star in the films. The tennis champion is not without experience or skill as an entertainer. Once recently he played with the famous Providence players in Booth Tarkington's "Clarence," portraying the name role.

A cloak of mystery has been thrown about Tilden's screen future.

THE UNIQUE HAS A FINE PROGRAMME

Owen Moore and Alice Lake are ideally cast as a young married couple in "Modern Matrimony," which opened at the Unique yesterday. The story is almost entirely comedy and its comedy of a most acceptable type in that it is at no time actual farce nor yet is it what is usually termed "straight comedy." It is a rare blending of both, with just a dash of pathos and drama to charmingly season the whole.

The two principals are cast as Chester and Patricia Waddington, who in the opening scene are discovered in the back parlor of a country domicile, just repeating the fatal words. The family bank account is noticeable by its absence, and all they have in the way of capital with which to finance their matrimonial venture is a check for commission earned by Chester in excess of his salary. His job isn't much to get excited about, and the salary could hardly be dignified by the name, but Chester has ambitions and youth and thinks the future will take care of itself.

They purchase a home and some furniture on the installment plan and they are just comfortably settled when things start to go awry. Trouble in plenty crowd in until poor Chester is in the deepest slough of despondency. The picture amusingly presents these troubles and moves on to a brisk and unexpected finale.

A silver fox ranch has been established on Long Island within sight of New York City.

SANG UNKNOWN IN WAGNERIAN OPERA

Wife of Harold McCormick Helped Organization Out of Money Troubles.

New York, Jan. 28.—Ganna Walska, wife of Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, not only was the "angel" of the Wagnerian Opera Company, contributing with her husband $100,000 to help it out of its financial troubles before the final receivership, but also was a near-star of the organization, singing incognito the role of the Countess in Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" at Albany, Detroit and New London, Conn. Although the fact was known at the time and was printed, it was admitted officially for the first time by Theodore Latterman, stage manager of the company, when he called yesterday with thirty of its members by the Hamburg American liner Thuringia for Hamburg.

Mr. Latterman said Ganna Walska had sung her part in "most excellent style," but that her voice was not "big." It is, he says, a sweet voice, with a quality not unlike that of Geraldine Farrar or Mary Garden.

WILL PERFORM IN ST. PAUL'S
The "Bonnie Doon Club" of Knox church is not daunted by the fire of Sunday, which destroyed much of their newly renovated Sunday school hall. They have planned to give a repeat performance of their recent popular play. This repeat show will be held in St. Paul's hall next week. Miss Carpenter, in reporting about the performance last evening, said that the club was determined to lose no time in getting funds together to make up for the loss. Fortunately the scenery, recently purchased through their efforts, was not destroyed. The club is very grateful to St. Paul's (Valley) church authorities for the loan of the hall for the show next week.

MOVIES EXPECT 1924 TO BE 100 MILLION YEAR

Hollywood Rejoices at Prospects for Output of Coming Month.

(By Harold E. Swisher, United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Hollywood, Jan. 28.—(United Press.)—The new year finds Hollywood rejoicing. Nineteen twenty-four will be a $100,000,000 year in motion picture production, according to the estimates placed on the prospect film output by those closest to the office books.

Picture making, according to heads of a score of Hollywood producing companies, never stood on a sounder basis than it does now. With inflated salaries and huge expenditures with little results eliminated by the recent shut down, film cameramen are again reopening, assured of reasonable profits from their labors.

The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation shut down completely during the latter part of 1923, was one of the first big studios to swing into active production again. Work was started at Lasky's second week of January, and new companies will get busy every few days, it is expected.

Warner Brothers, Joseph M. Schenck, Universal, Metro, Ince, Goldwyn, Robertson-Cole, First National, and other big producers joined in the property chorus with the assurance that the depression is over and big programmes for the year are planned.

Lasky's will make 60 pictures during the season, 45 of which will be filmed at the Hollywood studio. Joseph Schenck, who produces for Norma and Constance Talmadge and Buster Keaton, is authority for the statement that his trio will make ten new films.

It is his intention to spend $4,000,000 this year. "Schena" will be the first of February 1 expect to see all Hollywood studios moving again.

"We have eight pictures that must be completed by May 15," says J. L. Warner of Warner Brothers. "Our year's production schedule calls for an expenditure of $6,000,000. We will start two new productions every four weeks, leading off with 'Babbit', Sinclair Lewis' famous novel."

Samuel Goldwyn, head of the studio which bears his name, thinks that "the present year will get greater production activities in Los Angeles than ever before. There is solid foundation for the optimism. Despite the recent cry 'wool' in motion picture production circles, every producer with whom I have talked is planning ambitious studies."

M. C. Leever, president of the United States, asserted that his plant was "running full blast" shortly after New Year's. Three new companies started work before the 15th, while others will get busy within a short time.

Out at Universal City, William Koenig, general production manager, and Julius Bernheim, general manager, are wondering if they didn't miss a good publicity opportunity when they failed to shut Universal down during the holidays.

Since the studio didn't shut down, it failed to gain momentum in the "re-umption of activities" year later. Universal has never faced a special investigation of six to eight companies working, except right after the recent disastrous fire, which destroyed one of the big stages and many sets.

It is declared probable that one or two big names will be added to the list of Universal feature stars, which at present includes Virginia Valli, Mary Philbin, Reginald Denry, Hoot Gibson, Laura La Plante, Herbert Rawlinson and Jack Hoxley.

Francis X. Bushman, one of the most popular actors on the screen, has returned to the silver sheets as Messala in "Ben Hur," which Goldwyn will make in Europe. William S. Hart, who played the part on the stage for several years before he went into pictures. Five of the important parts in the big production have now been cast. George Walsh is to play the title role, Gertrude Olmstead will be Esther, and Myra will impersonate Ina in the Egyptian scene. Kathleen Key will be Tirah, sister of Ben Hur, and Bush will play Messala.

Attired in the first costume he ever wore for a motion picture, Hobard Bosworth was tendered a special invitation, rode his famous white horse, Cameo, in the Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena New Year's day. Bosworth was tendered a special invitation to take part in the celebration. He was one of the real pioneers in the films, and made some of the first pictures ever produced in Los Angeles.

Baby Peggy, famous screen starlet, has joined the list of picture players who carry heavy insurance. The youngster has had her face insured for $250,000. The policy covers Baby Peggy's face only and includes blindness, scarred features, or in fact any facial disfigurement that might prevent the little actress from starring before the camera.

MOVIE OFFICIAL WEBS
Announcement is made of the marriage last Wednesday noon at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, New York, of Miss Marion Kahn, daughter of Mrs. Anna Feinberg of Kansas City, and Ralph A. Kahn, assistant treasurer and member of the board of directors of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Nathan Stern. Mr. Kahn, who is a graduate of New York University Law School, is a member of the Army and Navy Club, City Athletic Club and the Fairview Country Club.

TO WEAR $2,000,000 IN GEMS
Alice Delysia will wear $1,000,000 worth of diamonds and $1,000,000 worth of pearls from Cartier at the New York Winter Garden on Wednesday evening during the "Radiant Diamond" finale of act one of "Opus of 1923." The occasion will be known as "Radiant Diamond" night and arises out of the fact that in the finale the setting, containing and lighting are arranged to stimulate the reflections of thousands of diamonds.

Opera Sung Twice In Over 300 Years

Florence, Italy, Jan. 28.—The first opera ever performed publicly, Jacopo Peri's "Euridice," has just been revived at the Pitti Palace here on the occasion of the second Italian Musical Congress now being held in this city. The original performance took place 323 years ago at the festivities which marked the marriage of Maria de Medici with the king of France. Since then "Euridice" has never been seen except once at Milan.

FIRST AID CLASS FOR WOMEN BEGUN

Under the auspices of the St. John Ambulance Association, a first aid class for women and girls was organized last night and held its first meeting in the St. John Health Centre. Dr. C. L. Emerson is the instructor for the class and it is expected that the enrollment, when complete, will total 20. Included in the members of the class are the women's team captained by Mrs. Hammond Campbell which will enter in the Lady Drummond trophy competition, several members of the Manchester Robertson Allison Limited staff and several individual members. A skeleton from the nurses' home of the General Public Hospital was kindly loaned for the class and proved of very great assistance.

The furniture in the directors' room of the Boston Trade School was made entirely by the students.

START BUILDING NEW HOTEL ON MARCH 1; OPEN NEXT NEW YEAR'S

Definite Plans Announced for the Admiral Beatty; Building Described.

St. John's new and modern hotel, the Admiral Beatty, will open its doors to the traveling public on January 14, 1924, if nothing at present unforeseen interferes with the carrying out of the plans.

The building will be eight stories in height. The first two will be of Benedict stone, and the remaining six of buff brick with stone trim.

The main entrance will be on the King Square side, and there will also be an entrance from Charlotte street. The hotel will have three stories, one on the corner of King Square and Charlotte, one in Charlotte, and one on the King Square side.

On the main floor there will be a large banquet hall and ball room, conveniences, the main dining room and a cafeteria. In the rear of the present rectory building will be a power plant and laundry.

The rooms will be laid out on a uniform plan. On each will be a suite and three closets. Class A will be a large room with bath tub; Class B a smaller room with shower bath instead of tub; Class C will be smaller room with running water. Each of the rooms will have a toilet, and this feature is a new one in hotel construction.

The sample rooms will be on the top floor and these will be furnished in the same way as the other rooms so that in case of emergency they can be turned into bedrooms.

These will be especially handy in the case of conventions being held here as the rooms will be large enough to put several cots in if necessary.

The hotel will contain 184 guest rooms and will be the last word in hotel construction for the safety and comfort of the traveling public.

When the Public Utilities Board resumed its session this morning, in the absence of E. G. Weyman, solicitor for the Board of Trade and other inquiring interests in the City of Saint John, R. B. Hanson, solicitor for the City of Fredericton was heard in connection with the reference in Mr. Midram's report to the Board of Trade.

Mr. Hanson referred to an arrangement made about fifteen years ago with the City Corporation of Fredericton by the telephone company, whereby the latter was permitted to put down conduits and open up streets when necessary, and for certain other reasons, the charge for civic telephone was reduced. He stated that the old arrangement continues and that there is no disturbance of existing conditions.

Hon. Dr. Baxter also noted that this week had been an arrangement entered into between the New Brunswick Telephone Company and different municipalities, and he thought it might be well to permit it to continue until application was made to the Board of Public Utilities for its discontinuance.

Chairman Treasurer of the board promised consideration. House 'Phones. J. Harvey Brown brought up the matter of the residential subscribers' contract, which he said that the subscribers liable to a penalty if his calls exceeded so many on the average for five days.

Mr. Midram assured Mr. Brown that he proposed to recommend that this clause be abolished and Mr. Brown expressed his satisfaction with this.

Mr. Weyman then again took up the case on behalf of the committee of the Board of Trade and others, and asked Mr. Midram some additional questions concerning expenditures, including salaries and allowances when the expert and suggesting that the burden upon the heavy telephone users was too great and should be lessened in the interests of trade, as, he said, the present rates were unfair to them, who were in competition with business men in other cities where the rates are not so great.

He said that if it would not postpone the placing of the rates into effect he would ask for an adjournment for a few days, but if such postponement would mean that the rates would not go into effect so soon he was willing to forego it.

Hon. Dr. Baxter addressed the board briefly in a general way in opposition to some of Mr. Weyman's suggestions, but maintained that the telephone company were willing to do what was right and fair by the subscribers providing the charges were sufficient to meet the charges and to make the service efficient. He said that at the time had arrived when the gentlemen for whom Mr. Weyman appeared must state that they had, or had not, faith in the report of the expert who was not engaged by the telephone company, who had no license whatever to speak for them, but who was selected by the Utilities Commission and was there to do justice to all parties.

CHIEF ENGINEER SEVERELY SCALDED. Accident on Board Ship on Way Here in Fierce Storm.

When the Canadian Ranger arrived in port yesterday after a twenty-eight day voyage from Antwerp the Chief Engineer, Thomas Jones was carried ashore and sent to the hospital. He was suffering from scalds to his two feet and right leg, which occurred on Sunday January 20 when a steam pipe burst. At that time the freighter was struggling alone in the teeth of a gale and the accident, which incapacitated the chief engineer, was considered a most unfortunate one.

The steamer, which ordinarily makes the voyage in 12 or 14 days, met a succession of storms, one on the heels of the other. As a result instead of making any progress the vessel was literally thrown back by the mountainous seas and it took 28 days to reach here. Fortunately her bunkers were filled and she was able to keep steam up during this long and trying period.

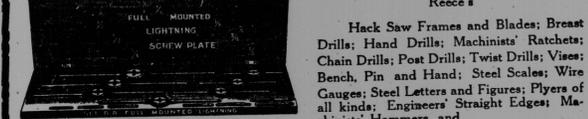

A report from the Hospital today said that Chief Engineer Jones was progressing favorably, and in all probability be able to rejoin the ship before she sails on February 5.

SUNDAY MORNING'S FIRE. Without all detracting from the heroic work which Policeman Gantner did in the rescue of the people caught in the fine Edward street fire, on Sunday morning a man who was there said to The Times last evening that the successful efforts at rescue made by Policeman Alex Chisholm were worthy of more than passing notice. He brought out to us several members of the Garrison family and others who lived in the house, and he searched the smoke-filled rooms up as far as the fire burned, in case anyone had been overcome and overlooked. In other ways he did outstanding work in caring for those affected and in danger because of the fire.

As Hiram Sees It. "Well, sir," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to The Times reporter, "me an' Hanner made it a pint to come into town fer that there Social Service Council. As fer as I kin make out you folks in St. John, he made the best plans ever was made anywhere for the comfort of the folks that's come — an' fer the meetin's — but you stopped right there. You're willing to do anything for 'em but listen to 'em. I judge that from last night. We had two of the finest speeches las' night—goin' right to the root of what we need in Canada—that I ever heard—an' the was'at a sprinklin' of a crowd to hear 'em. I thank the Good Lord we got men like Dean Tucker an' Peter Bryce—an' if they could come out to The Settlement you'd see folks travelin' five miles to hear 'em. I heard things last night I been wantin' to hear from somebody that knowed fer a long while Hanner says she got a lot of ideas there she's goin' try to work out in the Women's Institute. I s'pose a lot of folks 'll read about it in the papers—but they'll turn over the page an' read about a movie gal an' fertig it. When you hear Dean Tucker an' Peter Bryce—an' them other big speakers that's comin' yit—you don't fertig so soon. It's a lot under your side—an' it orto—By Hea!"
