Germany Pessimistic, Britain Doubtful, While France Ridicules German Note

Reichstag Is Not Optimistic Over Its Acceptance

Leaders, However, Believe It Better Than Previous Offers—Most of Press Declare New Proposals The Utmost Possible From Germany.

(Canadian Press Cable) Berlin, June 8.—Reichstag leaders believe the note delivered at the Allied capitals yesterday marks an advance over the German Government's previous reparations communications, especially since it more firmly stresses the Reich's good will and readiness to arrive at a solution of the problem and also because the subject of guarantees is given a concrete form.

Despite this, parliamentary circles are not displaying an excessive optimism concerning the reception of the memorandum by the creditor powers. In these quarters it is believed that France has effectively blocked any attempt by Great Britain to create a favorable atmosphere for a final negotiation by seeking to influence Belgium and Italy.

Newspaper Comment. Berlin, June 8.—This morning's Berlin newspapers unite in a general harmonious chord of support to the new reparations memorandum forwarded to the powers yesterday by Chancellor Cuno. The only discordant note is struck by a small minority of the press, who declare the latest German offer does not alter or relinquish the fundamental ideas and stipulations enunciated in the note of May 2.

The bulk of such criticism as is raised comes from the Nationalistic organs, although the communist Red Flag chimes in with the observation that the Government's new proposals represent a victory for Hugo Stinnes. Most of the newspapers declare the present offer embraces absolutely the utmost possible in Germany's fulfillment of her reparations obligations.

No Total Fix. Berlin, June 8.—Germany concluded a hazardous task yesterday by sending to the powers the memorandum published yesterday, and therefore she refrained from fixing a total for her reparations obligations, although she proposed specific figures for them, according to a statement made last night by Baron von Rosenberg, minister of foreign affairs.

"No German government would dare offer what it is not convinced the German people can pay," Baron von Rosenberg added. "We could not estimate Germany's capacity for payment any higher on June 2 than May 2."

FATAL TORONTO MOTOR ACCIDENT

Mother and Daughter Killed, and Two Other Passengers and Driver Injured.

(By Canadian Press.) Toronto, June 8.—Mrs. John Wilson, and her daughter, Mrs. Norman Jackson, both of this city, were killed and three others were injured in an automobile accident on the Don Mills road, two miles north of the Toronto City limits, yesterday.

The injured are Mrs. Charles Trebley, daughter of Mrs. Wilson; Mrs. Trebley's four-year-old daughter, May, and Frank Kelly, driver of the car, all of whom were taken to the hospital. Donald Trebley, aged 18 months, was in the party but escaped injury.

QUIPSAMIS ACTIVITIES. Among the most successful of the younger outing associations which have grown up in suburban settlements is the Quipsamis Community Club. Recently a piece of land and a building for club purposes were purchased and by means of drives in the spring and fall and new acquisition is nearly paid for.

A supper and sale will be held soon to raise funds and no doubt will receive whole-hearted patronage. All present members of the club have under consideration the making of ten of these improvements which will place the club in the front rank of the suburban organizations.

The Allied Council of Ambassadors has decided that the commission of inter-Allied control to supervise the disarmament of Germany which abandoned its work several months ago, shall be resumed.

Leg Broken in 2 Places as Molar Tooth Is Pulled

Pottstown, Pa., June 8.—As Maurice Bryan, aged 42, of this city arose from a dentist's chair after having a molar tooth extracted, he called out "My leg is broken" and collapsed on the floor. Both bones of the right leg had snapped between the ankle and the knee. A doctor at the Homeopathic hospital here thinks the bones were broken by muscular contraction. The case is considered an odd one.

Paris Press Agrees With Premier That Note Is "Ridiculous"

New Propositions Looked on as Impossible in Many Ways—Administration of Proposed Guarantees Criticized.

(Canadian Press Cable) Paris, June 8.—Premier Poincare, upon reading the German reparations note, is reported to have called it "ridiculous" and the newspapers, with the exception of the extremist organs, take the same attitude.

The six leading papers of Paris apply to the memorandum such epithets as "inadmissible," "unacceptable" and "not needing a reply." Le Matin says it is probable the Government will treat the note "as null and void." This journal finds that the German communication "has the appearance of a challenge, so greatly does it fail to recognize the political situation."

Even the anti-ministerial L'Oeuvre says the new propositions are objectionable in many ways, especially the suggestion for a moratorium of four years in which France would receive nothing, not even the expense of the Ruhr occupation.

The newspapers devote themselves chiefly to a discussion of whether anything more than a formal acknowledgment of the memorandum's receipt will be sent by France and Belgium, whether a joint allied reply will be despatched, or whether the Allies will discuss the question in the supreme council.

One point especially criticized is that the administration of the proposed guarantees would be retained in German hands; furthermore, some commentators assert the memorandum fails to explain how a yield in paper marks can be turned into gold.

MAY MEET NEXT YEAR IN LONDON

Matter Will Be Decided by Weekly Newspaper Delegates at Halifax Meeting—Here June 16.

(By Canadian Press.) Montreal, June 8.—Whether or not the organization will hold next year's convention in England is a matter which will be discussed when the members of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association hold their annual gathering at Halifax on June 16 and 17.

The proposal has been made that it will be held in London in 1924. The idea is that by holding it in England during the summer it would be possible to participate in the activities of the British Empire Exhibition and aid in a very practical manner in the purposes of that exposition.

The matter has already been dealt with in the form of communications with the press association of England and the proposal has been very warmly received, especially by Lord Burnham, proprietor of the Daily Telegraph, of London, and president of the Empire Press Union.

The itinerary of the party includes Fredericton, which they will reach Friday, June 15, St. John's, June 16. They will travel via Digby, N. S., on Sunday the 17th and proceed to Halifax.

The president of the association is A. E. Brennan of Summerside.

Congregational Union Elects

(By Canadian Press.) Ottawa, June 8.—All last year's executive with the exception of the chairman were re-elected at yesterday's session of the seventeenth annual meeting of the Congregational Union of Canada, being held here.

Rev. Dr. Hugh Pedlow, of Montreal, replaced J. L. Alexander, B. D., as chairman, as this office changes annually every year.

Other officials are: W. T. Gunn, M. A. D. D., general secretary; Rev. W. H. Thomas, A. P. C. Cliff, statistical and appointment secretary; Rev. W. W. Carr, Cowansville, recording secretary, and Herbert Barker, Toronto, treasurer.

LADY ASTOR'S LIQUOR BILL MAY NOT PASS UNTIL NOVEMBER

(By Canadian Press Cable.) London, June 8.—Notwithstanding the fact that the ultimate passage of Lady Astor's law bill has been virtually assured, it may be November before the measure is enacted. It provides for the prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquor to persons under 18.

London Looks On New Proposals As A Distinct Advance

British Papers, However, Believe Flat Rejection by France Will Ensnare—Times Hopes For Change of Opinion—U. S. Action Considered A Feature.

(Canadian Press Cable) London, June 8.—The new German reparations memorandum has created a generally favorable impression in the London newspapers, most of which regard it as a distinct advance over any previous proposal. The suggestion of a conference at which Germany would be represented meets with the approval of the commentators.

Considerable doubt is expressed, however, as to whether France can be brought into line with the other Allies, some of the editorial writers believing that she will reject the new proposal as flatly as she rejected the last.

Hopes For Change. The Times, which describes the memorandum as virtually an invitation to the Allies to search Germany's pockets, thinks it would hardly be reasonable for France to reject it because it does not renounce passive resistance in the Ruhr. The newspaper hopes for a change in French opinion in this respect, it also believes Chancellor Cuno should disavow sabotage tactics. The Times thinks that in such an event there would be a prospect of reaching a settlement of a problem which, if unsolved, can only produce gradual collapse of western Europe.

U. S. Position. The Conservative Morning Post comments with remarkable satisfaction, but expects the French will reject the proposal for an international body by its suspension of the reparations. As to guarantees, the newspaper believes French acceptance will depend to a great extent upon the action taken by the U. S. and Great Britain on the question of the inter-allied debts. In this connection, the paper is interested in the U. S. in the European problem, and how impossible it is in the long run for any creditor nation to pursue a policy of isolation.

A Separate Policy? The Westminster Gazette, however, urges that if the holding of a conference is to be taken as implying British endorsement of the French action in the Ruhr, it had better not be held. Great Britain must then develop a separate policy.

The Daily Mail, which always demands a full pound of German flesh, denounces the memorandum as merely propaganda—"another step in the campaign to separate France and Great Britain."

FIRE SITUATION STILL SERIOUS

Rain Expected, However, to Remove danger Only One New Blaze Reported in Province.

(By Canadian Press.) Fredericton, N. B., June 8.—While some improvement is indicated in the forest fire situation in Northern New Brunswick today, conditions are admittedly serious and will remain so until there are heavy rains. There were indications of rain in the mangled district this morning and there was fortunately very little wind today, but many fires are still burning and others are gradually being brought under control.

Only one new fire had been reported in the northern section and the central and southern counties are completely free from fires. The new fire is on the Manozek River, a branch of the Tobique, about 18 miles from Millerville.

The most seriously affected district continues to be that between St. Quentin and Jardine Brook on the International Railway division of the C. N. R. There are also some bristly burning fires in Madawaska County.

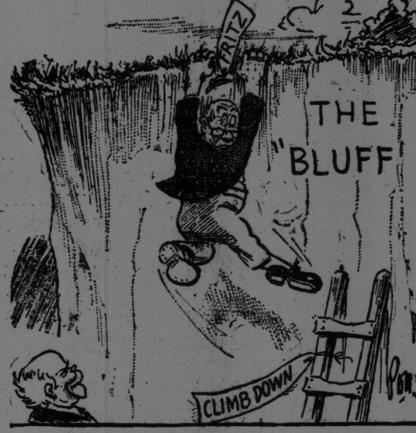

Reports that a fire on the Big Cedar stream, the headwaters of the Tobique River, was under control, were received today.

FEELING FOR THE LADDER

Signs are increasing that Germany cannot hang on much longer.—Evening News, London.

KIDDIES, 8 AND 12, GO ON CRIME SPREE; LAND IN JAIL

A PRESBYTERIAN DIVINE. Dr. Drummond of St. Paul's Church, Hamilton, a prominent figure in Presbyterian church government. He was one of the party delayed in reaching the General Assembly in Port Arthur by heavy fogs in Lake Huron.

Philadelphia, June 8.—Two real "baby burglars," sister and brother, one eight and the other twelve, were put in the house of detention yesterday after a brief crime spree in Manayunk that would have added to the record of experienced lawbreakers.

In a few hours they broke into three places, ransacked them thoroughly, smashed a gas meter to get quarters and forced a safe. Their loot was only $45.

When they were arrested the children were enjoying a movie and were flamboyantly clad in loud-colored clothes purchased after the "divvie" which the boy had insisted on making fairly with his sister.

Loot Is Buried. The boy, Anthony Ratti, told the police he had buried the stolen money with Josephine, his sister, watching, so their five brothers and sisters would not find it. Their home was searched, but nothing was found.

Saturday afternoon the boy and girl broke a window pane in the home of E. Z. Struss, pushed back the catch and entered. Then the boy got a hatchet and went to the cellar, where they broke the gas meter.

Second-Storey Stuff. From there they went to the home of Joe Belts and climbed a rain spout to the third floor, where they found an open window and entered. The family was away, and the children ransacked the house thoroughly.

Detective Green, detailed to investigate the robbery, suspected Anthony, who had been arrested at least six times before, but never proven guilty of the petty thefts of which he was accused.

TWO EXECUTED AT SING SING

Albany Men Pay Penalty for Hold-up and Murder of a Storekeeper.

Ossining, N. Y., June 8.—Thomas Kingston and Thomas Lester, both of Albany, were executed in Sing Sing last night for the murder of John Juke, proprietor of an Albany confectionery store, which the men held up and robbed last summer. They were the first men sentenced to death in Albany County in more than seven years, it was said.

Williams Out Of Game Indefinitely

St. Louis, Mo., June 8.—Cy Williams, veteran center fielder of the Philadelphia Nationals and leader of the Major Leagues in home run hitting this season, will be out of the game indefinitely as a result of wrenching his back in yesterday's game with St. Louis. He suffered the injury while batting in the fourth inning and was forced to retire. The injury is not considered serious, according to the examining physician.

Runs Four Stills At His Mortuary

New York, June 8.—Embalming fluid and freshly distilled liquor were found side by side by prohibition agents when they raided an uptown undertaking establishment.

The agents gained entry by claiming they wished to arrange for the burial of a friend. Four large stills were said to have been found in a room adjoining the mortuary.

Runaway Trolley Hits Tenement; Kills 1, Hurts 3

(By Canadian Press.)

New York, June 8.—A runaway trolley car killed 12-year-old Margaret McLaughlin, and injured three others last night, when it dashed to the foot of a hill on 125th street, and crashed into a five-story tenement house.

The car and lower floors of the building were wrecked. The child was not a passenger on the car but was playing in the street when it struck her. Slippery rails, caused by a heavy rain were believed to have caused the accident.

The motorman, who escaped by jumping from the car, was arrested on a charge of homicide.

Mrs. Phillipson, known to the stage as Miss Mabel Russell, wore a smart black frock with a lace collar and a matching hat with a broad brim. She looked the oath at the bar and received the congratulations of the Conservatives before taking her seat.

The introduction of the new member took place amid a good deal of banter exchanged between various members, during which William M. R. Pringle, Liberal member of Yorkshire, called out to Lady Astor: "Cheer up, Nancy."

PRISONER ASKS DEATH SENTENCE

Jury Accedes to Request—Wife of Victim Suicides, Leaving Two Small Children.

Paris, June 8.—When Ivan Celestin was brought before the assizes at Aveyron, charged with the murder of Constantin Emile, he surprised the court by requesting the death sentence for himself.

Following Celestin's crime, the wife of his victim became insane and committed suicide, leaving two infants alone in the world.

When confronted by the two children today the murderer begged their forgiveness and then declared he would refuse to plead extenuating circumstances, and asked to be permitted to expiate the crime with his life. The jury acceded to his request.

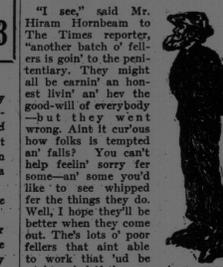

Will Attempt To Rescue Crew Of Mine Sweeper

Seattle, Wash., June 8.—Rescue of seventy men from the mine sweeper Cardinal of the U. S. navy, clinging to the jagged margin of Chirikof Island, in the Pacific Ocean, 100 miles south of the Alaska Peninsula, was to be attempted today.

The Cardinal was given up for a total loss, and the oil tanker Cuyama, of the navy, and the exploration steamer Discoverer, were standing by.

The Discoverer struck the rocks herself in attempting a rescue yesterday. The Cuyama, which had gone north with the Cardinal to await the arrival of a fleet of submarines that is to tour Alaskan waters, was 100 miles from her companion and hurried to her aid.

As Hiram Sees It

"I see," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to The Times reporter, "another batch of fellows is going to the penitentiary. They seem to be earning an honest livin' an' hev the good-will of everybody—but they seem to be wrong. Ain't it curious how folks is tempted an' falls? You can't help feelin' sorry for some—an' some you'd like to see whipped for the things they do. Well, I hope they'll be better when they come out. Thee's lots o' poor fellers that ain't able to work that 'ud be mighty glad if they was strong enough to go out an' do a man's work in the world—but they can't. I read the other day that one o' them there bandits—when he knowed he'd come to the end o' the road—said it didn't pay—'at least it don't. He said he'd like to see a man's mind that goes round with a knife ready to stick into anybody they hev trouble with. They seem to be hevin' about two jumps ahead o' the police—an' ready for the rope when the knot's tied. I guess they ain't quite human—or they haint never been civilized—no, sir."

N. S. CITIZENS HAVE TROUBLES WITH THEIR ACCOUNTS

Halifax Council Ratifies Suspension of Collector by Mayor—Further Audit of Sydney's Books.

(By Canadian Press.) Halifax, N. S., June 8.—By an unanimous vote of aldermen the City Council decided last night that the action of Mayor John Murphy in suspending City Collector Robert Theakston was justified.

The Mayor submitted a report to each member of the council, which was not made public.

Mayor Murphy said he has suspended the city collector after a conference with the auditing firm who are investigating the city's finances.

Alleged irregularities in crediting tax payments made by W. F. Page were the cause of the suspension of City Collector Theakston a few days ago, according to a statement issued by Mayor Murphy today to the City Council and made public. At a meeting Saturday the auditors handed the Mayor a statement showing that while the taxes of W. F. Page for the years 1913, 1914, 1915 and 1922 were shown to be unpaid, Mr. Page had been able to produce check stubs and receipts showing same to have been paid in full. It was then discovered that checks had been duly deposited in the Royal Bank but had been credited to other years than those to which they applied. No explanation for this action had been given.

Sydney Audit. Sydney, N. S., June 8.—The City Council last night decided to hire a chartered accountant to conduct a further audit into the books for the year 1922. A previous audit of the year 1922 revealed alleged shortages in various departments amounting to about $14,000. Efforts to locate these are still being made.

Detroit, June 8.—An inventory of the estate of the late Horace E. Dodge, filed in the Probate Court here, shows the total left by the automobile magnate to be $37,186,588.48. A similar inventory of John F. Dodge's estate, filed August 28, 1922, disclosed a total of $36,892,956.41.

Among his personal effects are listed thirty-two pairs of trousers, twenty-four coats and thirty vests.

He held bank stock in the Merchants' National Bank, Bank of Detroit, Highland Park State Bank and the Grose Pointe Savings Bank. The bulk of the estate, however, consists of 60,000 shares of Dodge Brothers' Incorporation, valued at $866.86 a share, and totalling $52,000,000. He owned Dodge Brothers' Realty Company stock worth $1,014,777.43; 1,725 shares of Detroit Orchestra Hall Association stock valued at $86,250, and ten shares of Ford Motor Company of England, valued at $314,155.50. Victory and Liberty bonds owned by Mr. Dodge approximated $4,000,000.

PURCHASE BY C. N. R. OF PARIS HOTEL DISCUSSED

Vote of $73,000,000 Held Up After Long Debate

Treatment of Hebridean Immigrants Comes in for Criticism—Bill Regarding Judges' Salaries Passed.

(By Canadian Press.) Ottawa, June 8.—Today in the House of Commons discussion will be resumed on the estimates for the C. N. R. and other railway appropriations. If these are disposed of, the Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, Hon. H. S. Beland, will bring forward his pension legislation. The Senate will not sit.

Yesterday in the House of Commons a resolution to amend the Drydock Subsidies Act was introduced by Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works.

Alfred Speakman, Progressive member for Red Deer, moved adjournment of the House to discuss the situation of some 200 immigrants from the Hebrides, who, he said, were encamped in a dilapidated building near Red Deer, unable to go on the land or to find employment. He thought that the Department of Immigration had a responsibility in the matter.

Hon. Charles Stewart, acting Minister of Immigration, said emphatically that the Department or Government should not be criticized in the matter. He thought it would have been better if these immigrants had come at a time instead of several hundred at once. It was hoped to have them all placed by July 1. Other members emphasized the importance of assisting immigrants during the first few months after their arrival in Canada. After considerable discussion, the motion was withdrawn.

Two resolutions regarding the salaries of judges were introduced by Sir Lomer Gouin, Minister of Justice, and carried. A bill passed on them was put through all stages.

Paris Hotel Purchase. The acquisition by the Canadian National Railways of the Scribner Hotel, in Paris, came before the House in discussion of a vote of $73,000,000 for the Canadian National Railways.

Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways, said that Sir Henry Thornton had expressed the opinion that the hotel should be put on the main street in Paris. A syndicate had been formed to secure the building, said Mr. Graham, advances being made to the extent of $2,000,000 for the purchase.

Sir Henry Drayton criticized the transaction on the ground that it involved a capital expenditure and should be authorized by the Government and Parliament.

The discussion continued until midnight, and the appropriation was held over, and some minor votes passed.

The Senate did not sit.

NEW LAND MAPPED IN ARCTIC REGION

News Reached Copenhagen of Progress Made by the Lange Koch Expedition.

Copenhagen, May 10.—(By Mail).—News reached here today from Greenland of the progress of the Lange Koch Expedition in Greenland. M. Koch last spring (1922) went north charting a particular part of the coast. He states that he has carried out a survey up to the eighty-second degree of latitude.

During the winter M. Koch stayed at Upernivik, whence, in March, he started for the coast of Cape York Land, which has never before been charted. He also intended to chart the Peary Channel, but was forced to give up that plan. He had with him a large tractor, which proved very useful and was not stopped by his snow. The tractor easily pulled a big sleigh loaded with food supplies and ten barrels of petroleum. The expedition broke down after a journey of several hundred miles, so M. Koch was forced to leave it behind.

The journey proved very difficult on account of the amount of stores which had to be taken, the snow and the intense cold. There has been a bad epidemic of influenza in the Cape York district, where a fifth of the inhabitants died from this disease. In consequence of influenza it is impossible at present to start an expedition from the Cape York district.

M. Koch will return to Denmark in the course of this summer.

M. Lange Koch, already well known as a scientific explorer of Arctic regions, left Denmark on his present expedition in 1920, and in 1921 succeeded in mapping a considerable area north of Baffin Bay, and hoisted the Danish flag near the North Pole than it had previously been raised. The expedition described above was in continuance of the work carried out in 1921.

WAR OF CLASSES AT ALL COSTS AIM OF BOLSHEVISTS

Extracts from Russian Press Illustrate Present State of Opinion—Between Two Worlds.

LONDON, May 15.—(By Mail).—The following extracts from the Bolshevik Russian press clearly illustrate the present state of Communist opinion on the questions of continuing revolutionary activity and of compromise with capitalism.

In his speech on foreign affairs before the Twelfth Congress of the Communist party on April 20, Bukharin gave a significant description of the aims of the Communists in the West.

"Soviet Russia (he declared) lies geographically as well as politically between two gigantic worlds, the capitalist and imperialistic world of the West and the colossal masses of the East, which are at present undergoing a process of ever-growing revolutionary ferment."

According to Bukharin, the forces of the Communist Internationale have grown immeasurably. "Soviet Russia is a powerful proletarian stronghold which has at its disposal an armed force and the entire machinery of the proletarian state; we also have formidable reserves in the countless millions of the Eastern peoples who are joining the battle. The aim of the Communists in the East is a general anti-imperialistic revolution. They will help to undermine the imperialist system. The aim of the Communists in the West is to be the vanguard of the working classes that will have to acquire a tight grip over the rising generation of the proletariat."—Izvestia, February 8.

In an earlier speech delivered at the Printers' Congress, Bukharin, who is a clever doctrinaire, commented upon the events in the Ruhr and expressed satisfaction because the occupation had unsettled the balance of Europe at a time when it was beginning to acquire stability.

"The complexity and the acuteness of the situation are all to the advantage of the proletariat, because the re-establishment and recovery of the capitalist regime in Europe was to us the greatest danger. The working masses that had been starving would become more passive, were their lot to be improved, and this would inevitably lead to the development of reforms. Such a consummation is now impossible, and the events in the Ruhr have helped us a great deal. Whatever may happen, our power will be strengthened, as the power of our enemies will be diminished."—Izvestia, February 8.

Revolution At All Costs. Revolution at all costs, no peace, class war a outrage—these are the aims professed by the Bolsheviks in their press and in their speeches. The Left Wing of the Communists has preserved intact its Socialist mentality, and they continue to regard Russia merely as a weapon of the International. On the other hand the Right Wing is more practical, and they remind their comrades that there are actual economic problems which must be solved and which entail compromise. Communist economics have resulted in ruin. Some semblance of bourgeois trade and industry must be created in Russia and, what is most important, foreign capital must be enticed and credits obtained, because the gold reserve is exhausted, and there is nothing wherewith to purchase necessary goods.

The Soviet press regards London as the chief point for foreign trade. In spite of the so-called "New Economic Policy," exports and imports are still in the hands of the Government. There is no private foreign trade. There are fourteen big trusts through which part of the transactions are conducted. But these trusts, as well as the Co-operatives, are entirely in the hands of the authorities. The machinery of production has been completely ruined, and this bureaucratic system, applied to trade, is one of the main obstacles to the restoration of normal foreign business. As a result, according to official reports published in the Economic Mensheviks' Journal of April 13, exports from Soviet Russia to London via Petrograd amounted for the first three months of 1923 to $298,000, and imports from London to Russia to $70,625.

QUEEN SQUARE THEATRE

Another large audience witnessed the popular Jimmie Evans Revue at the Queen Square last evening, when they presented an entirely new and different bill, entitled "Love and Kisses."

Among the feature specialties in this bill was a musical trio by Miss Parr, Mr. Nelson and Danny Cavanaugh, who had to respond to several encores.

THE TOWN OF GRAND FALLS. Grand Falls contains about 1,800 inhabitants, on both sides of the St. John River, the two parts connected by a splendid steel bridge built in 1914.

It is a Fact-- That many persons continue to wear old lenses long after they should be changed and that many a person is right now suffering the penalty for neglecting eye strain that a thorough examination of the eyes would reveal.

Every investigation of this subject that has ever been made has indicated that a large percentage of those who would be wonderfully more comfortable and better off in every way if their ocular defects were corrected, do not even suspect that the lack of proper glasses is at the bottom of their trouble.

BELGIAN ART IN PARIS. Old Masters and Moderns Both Well Represented.

Paris, May 11.—(By Mail).—The Belgian works of art, old and modern, which have been collected for exhibition in the Salle du Jeu de Paume, on the terrace of the Tuileries Gardens, were opened to the public today. The Queen of the Belgians performed the opening ceremony, and M. Millerand, President of the French Republic, was also present.

Nineteenth century work is especially well represented, with examples of Ross, Stevens, Henri Leys and Henri de Braeckeler. There are also the "Family Portraits" of Louis Naves and both sculptures and paintings of Constantin Meunier.

Old Masters also are shown. There is only a single Rubens, a nude, brought from Vienna, one of his less known works, though a fine one; and Van Dyck, also, is represented by only one picture—a portrait lent by Lord Spencer. But there is quite a remarkable assemblage of the works of the Van Dyck period. The "Adam" and "Eve" of the brothers Van Dyck are shown. The King of Spain has sent from the Prado the "Descent from the Cross" of Roger van der Weyden, whose "Last Judgment" is also to be seen.

They are Gerald Bridson, thirty years old, a member of the House of Keys, and Harry Bridson (no relation), a noted Manx athlete, fifty-five years old, who won the same race ten years ago, taking 18 hours 56 minutes.

Literary Explorer Finds Lonely Isle Of Barrie Romance

Island of Eriskay, Wrapped in Shadows, Looks Like Home Of Ghosts and Other Uncanny Occupants.

London, April 25.—(By mail).—"I have discovered, with the active help of a literary explorer from Edinburgh, the lonely island in the Outer Hebrides that is generally associated with Barrie's 'Mary Rose,'" writes The London Daily News correspondent. "We were trying to find our sea legs on the slippery deck of this little steamer, which trades in all weathers in the Western Isles. It was midnight. The Northern Lights swept in scintillating shafts of blue and gold through a gap in the clouds. The crescent moon cast an effulgent ladder of light over the rising waters in The Minch. 'I believe Barrie when he wrote his play left the identity of his mystic island more or less to the imagination, but the people of these western isles have come nearer to fathoming his secret than any one on the mainland. 'That' said my friend, a Barrie lover, pointing to the dark mass of granite rocks in Barra at the tail end of South Uist, 'is the Island of Eriskay, which is supposed to be the Island of 'Mary Rose.' 'Faintly outlined in phosphorescent surf, it looked rather forbidding and dangerous in its wintry setting. It is but one of the 500 isles off the west coast of Scotland. You can walk or climb right around it in a few hours, and across it in twenty minutes. 'No one can remember if Barrie has ever visited Eriskay, but every Hebridean will tell you that many weird legends and ghostly beliefs have clung to it for centuries, and it is just the spot to have appealed to Barrie's sense of weirdness. 'Mary Rose Island is wrapped in wan shadows, that fit above and below the green crystal brine that encircles it. The South Uist men speak of strange Gaelic omens when they hear the plaintive cry of wild fowl that are now nesting in the bending rushes of the fresh water laketlets; they can hear the wailing voice of their dead fathers passing out to sea on their ghostly travels. 'The Northern Lights that shine over Eriskay and the crimson flash of meteors in the heavens are phenomena that have passed into the daily existence of these islanders. You will find fishermen at Lochholishdale, the village separated from the island by a narrow strip of water, who seem gifted with prophetic vision, and the erection of a wireless station has only enlarged their storehouse of superstition. 'They will tell you the story of a strangely-rigged vessel—a type never seen in the Hebrides—that dropped anchor in the harbor at dusk. When dawn came the vessel had disappeared; yet some days afterwards a vessel ex-matris like the one seen in the fishermen's vision did actually sail into the harbor. 'These are characteristically Barrie touches, but something which Barrie did not foresee has happened. The big emigrant liners that have just left Glasgow with hundreds of fisher boys and girls for Canada, have lashed the troubled waters afresh round Eriskay. 'Young women of the Mary Rose type have vanished from the Barra isles in the big emigrant ships. They never return. If they do they will have lost their Barrie bloom of youth.' The extraordinary shortage of housing accommodation which has prevailed ever since the war, in spite of this reduction in the number of inhabitants, is explained by the low rents which were enforced by the Socialist legislation at the end of the war, and have remained in force ever since. This has resulted in a much higher marriage rate and an increase in the number of households from 480,000 in 1910 to 519,000 now. Hence the recent shortage of dwellings. This dispersion of the population over a larger cubic space of living room cannot fail to have a beneficial effect on public health. Vienna is noted at present for being one of the worst cities in the world for consumption, and the fact that before the war more than half the population lived in one or two-roomed dwellings had no doubt a good deal to do with this.

WALTHAM GERMAN WOMAN CONFESSES POISONING BABY

Deserted and Alone at Time of Deed, But Now Rich, Asks to be Pleased. London, May 20.—(By Mail).—A middle-aged working-class woman entered a police station in Berlin and said that she wanted to confess a crime, reports the Berlin correspondent of The London Daily News. She gave her name as Frau Martha Sommerfeld, and said that more than fourteen years ago, her husband having left her alone, ill and penniless, she had poisoned her three-months-old baby with morphine. Later she had found work, and now was quite well off, but her conscience compelled her to confess. "I have not had a quiet minute all these years," she added.

Tutankhamen's Subjects Were Not Gloomy Race. London, May 12.—(By Mail).—Dr. Blackman, entered the British Literary Society at the Kingsway Hall on Thursday with an illustrated lecture on "The Valley of the Tombs of the Kings," describing the art of the period in which Akhenaten and Tutankhamen lived. The lecturer contradicted the widespread belief that the Egyptians were a solemn race, finding their principal enjoyment in attending funerals and reading the "Book of the Dead," and showed some amusing slides in support of his view. Mr. Edgar Home presided.

Szukalski has the unique reputation of never having sold any of his work.

PARIS "TAXIPHONES"

Call Boxes To Be Placed in Many Public Places. Paris, May 19.—(By Mail).—Public telephone boxes are in use at the Grand Salon de l'Industrie Parisienne at the Foire de Paris, which is now being held on the Esplanade des Invalides, and it is understood that call boxes of this kind are soon to be placed on the boulevards and at other suitable places in public thoroughfares. At the Foire de Paris, the boxes are called "taxiphones," and it seems likely that this name will become the general one. At present the telephones in the cafes are the nearest approach provided in Paris to the public call offices scattered over London.

THE VALUE of being well dressed is more appreciated every day. No longer do men wait until Sunday to dress up, for in these days of business competition the men who wear good-looking clothes possess the advantage. And there's an advantage, too, in knowing where to buy the right clothes at the right price. That accounts for us having the repeated patronage of so many critical buyers—men who have had ample proof that our prices are moderate and that our materials, styles and workmanship afford lasting satisfaction. WIDOW SUES FOR MONEY LENT IN TREASURE HUNT. English Miner Denies He Borrowed to Dig for Buried Gold in Churchyard. London, May 20.—(By Mail).—Sheff Shinnon has received judgment in a case brought at Hamilton by Mrs. Ora Novostits, a Lithuanian widow, to recover $20 from Blades Stephankis, a miner, of Blantyre. The widow alleged that defendant borrowed the money from her on the pretext that he was endeavoring to recover treasure, consisting of gold and precious stones, buried in a churchyard near Edinburgh, and the work would involve the expenditure of a considerable amount of money, says The London Daily News report. He told her she would have to dig secretly on account of robbers who might see him.

Ruth Roland Tells How To Instantly Have a Rosy-White Complexion

Los Angeles, Cal.—Miss Ruth Roland, the beautiful young actress, attributes much of her success to her wonderful complexion. At a recent interview, she said: "Anyone can have a beautiful rosy-white complexion if they will devote just a few moments each day in caring for their skin. There is nothing so attractive as a smooth, clear, unwrinkled, rosy, complexion, and since it is so easy to acquire it is astonishing why so many girls neglect their skin. 'A woman fifty years old with a skin well cared for looks more youthful and attractive than a woman of thirty whose skin has been neglected. It pays to stay looking young just as long as possible. Let me tell you the secret. Tonight, before you retire, look in your mirror and study carefully the coloring of your skin, also its texture. Note if any roughness appears, look for coarse, porous black-heads, wrinkles, sallowness or other imperfections. If you find any of these objectionable defects just remember they may be quickly overcome if you will do what I tell you. 'After you have taken stock of yourself, then massage your face, hands and arms for a few minutes with a good cold cream (I use Liska because it seems especially adapted for this purpose and it is put up in tubes—the only sanitary way). Wipe off the cream with a soft cloth. In the morning wash your face with warm water and Derwillo Oatmeal Soap, rinse with cold water and dry thoroughly. Before going out apply Derwillo, that popular beautifier which is now used by discriminating women and girls everywhere. 'Then glance in your mirror again and notice how youthful you appear even after one application of this Derwillo-Liska cream. Derwillo comes in three shades, flesh, white and brunette. It instantly brings a rosy tint to your cheeks and a white baby softness to your neck, hands and arms.

REV. DR. STEEL

Rev. George Steel, D. D. has gone to his rest. He leaves the record of a life of beneficent labor for human welfare. Men and women, themselves grown gray, will testify to the good influence he exerted on their lives when they were young, teaching them the value of high ideals, and leading their thoughts into realms where peace of mind is found in avenues of service.

MR. GARY UNDER FIRE

A New York despatch said yesterday that "representatives to the number of fifty million, Protestants, Roman Catholics and Hebrews, joined forces in a statement condemning as unworthy and untenable the arguments of the committee of the American Iron and Steel Institute, which recently reported unfavorably on the proposed elimination of the twelve hour day in the steel industry."

ASKS AID FOR NAME STUDY

English Society Tells of Progress in Its Historical Survey. An appeal was recently issued by the English Place-Name Society for support in its work of studying the names of English sites. The society has been in existence only a few months, having been founded to push the survey of place names begun more than a year ago with the approval of the British Academy.

THE TIDE TURNS

Although the volume of immigration to Canada is yet far below the records of the years before the war, the increase during the first four months of 1923 is encouraging. The figures for January from all countries were 2,602. They rose to 8,280 in February, to 6,748 in March, and to 8,500 in April, a grand total of 22,140 for the four months.

GOVERNOR BAXTER'S TEARS

Governor Baxter of Maine, who attained some celebrity as a defier of the Ku Klux Klan and as a veber of state legislation at the last session of the State Legislature, has made another bid for fame. The Governor's dog Garry died, as dogs will, and he put the flag at the State House at half-mast. Protests immediately began to pour in, but the Governor could not be reached until late in the afternoon, "for he had gone with Garry's body to his summer home on Casco Bay to bury it there in a lot where many of Garry's ancestors reposed under an appropriate bronze tablet."

"Garry, Governor Baxter's faithful friend and companion, died Thursday night after a long illness. Last September a swelling appeared on Garry's jaw, the result of an unknown injury, and it failed to respond to treatment. Local veterinarians were consulted and two trips made to Angell Memorial (Animal) Hospital in Boston, all to no purpose."

Garry sleeps with his ancestors in "the little dog cemetery that overlooks Casco Bay and is contained by a stone wall and surrounded by trees," for there have been many of his breed in the Baxter family thirty-seven years. The Governor's eulogy of him as quoted in the press has mightily stirred the editors. Thus the Boston Herald says: "If a dog, why not a friendly old horse, a mooley cow with an angelic disposition, a darling little rabbit, an educated gold fish, or the dearest little canary that ever burst a throat? And if a State House flag half-mast, why not a state proclamation, with the great seal of the state to symbolize a public tear, and why not a declaration of a period of public mourning? The Emperor Caligula did a little better, of course, when he declared his horse a consul, and Senator Vest's tribute to a dog seems to have a thing or two on the Baxter dissertation; but, considering that it was writing about a dead dog, it is not so bad as it might have been."

The New York Tribune says: "Garry had full run of the Capitol at Augusta as well as of the Blaine mansion, the Governor's official residence. Of a dog in Washington someone once observed that, though he came from Ohio, remarkably enough he had never sought nor obtained office. Perhaps Garry would have been more fortunate had he lived."

Other journals pay their respects to the Maine Governor in a highly humorous vein. They appreciate his regard for his dog, but agree that even for a Governor "the descent from paths to bathtubs may be easy going." And everybody wonders where Governor Baxter will next break out.

It is suggested that there are people who object to being compelled to use pasteurized milk. Is that any justification for pouring down the throats of helpless children milk that may contain the germs of deadly disease? One grows rather weary of the plea that people do not like to be "forced." They are forced at every turn, by laws which are the result of human experience, or by the laws of nature. Pasteurized milk saves infants' lives. So far as complaints made in this city are concerned it is increasingly evident that the fault does not lie altogether with the milk.

EXPENSES OF REMOVAL SAVE WILHELM'S STATUE

Berlin, May 10.—(Associated Press, by Mail)—Despite the protests of radicals, Wilhelm the First's great marble statue will continue to grace the centre of the Reichstag lobby, a place of honor under the rotunda analogous to that occupied by America's unknown soldier at the time of his funeral in Washington. It would cost $9,000,000 marks or nearly $1,000 to move the colossal piece, hence the young republic's slim pocket-book obliges it to swallow whatever scrapes it may have against reminders of its monarchical origins.

GERMAN GIRLS PREFER STRIKE DOLES TO WORK

Servants Difficult to Obtain Despite Labor Walk-Outs in Ruhr. Essen, May 8.—(By Associated Press, by Mail)—Thousands of women and girls have been thrown out of work due to the closing of factories in the Ruhr as an outcome of French and Belgian occupation, but nevertheless domestic services are as difficult to acquire as in the cities of the United States. This is largely due to the fact that the women and girls draw strike funds of one kind or another, either from the municipalities or from the Berlin Government, in an amount to amount to more than they would receive for household services.

MARKSMANSHIP AT MONS

Adelaide, May 11.—(By Mail)—Major-General Sir Tom Bridges, Governor of South Australia, presented to the Unley Cadets the senior and junior Imperial Challenge Rifle-shooting Shields won in 1922. He said that trench operations had encouraged the fallacy that marksmanship was no longer necessary. After Mons he had received a message from a German staff officer, through a neutral minister, saying: "If you see Bridges tell him that the British cavalry has saved the British army, and the British army has saved Paris." General Bridges believed that the straight shooting of the cavalry soldiers held back vastly superior forces and enabled the British to withdraw. No better marksmen ever fought for the Empire than the first seven divisions sent to France, and thus the situation was saved.

PUT FLAG AT HALF-MAST

Maine Governor Defends Action on Death of Dog. Augusta, Maine, June 8.—Governor Percival Baxter, in a statement issued in answer to those who objected to his half-masting the flag on the State House on the death of his dog Garry, declared that he could find no one in his respect and reverence to the U. S. flag.

FATE OF FIRST FOLIOS.
London, May 12.—(By Mail)—In the course of a lecture on "A Survey of First Folios," delivered at King's College yesterday afternoon, at which Mr. Edmund Gosse presided, Sir Sidney Lee said that he had obtained evidence that there were as many as 110 copies of the First Folio of Shakespeare's plays scattered through the world—probably forty times as many as were known until 1900 that any Sovereign of this country acquired a copy of the First Folio. King George IV, when Prince of Wales, acquired one for his library at Carlton House, which is now at Windsor Castle; but this was by no means a perfect copy.

She had resided in the North End for the greater part of her life and will be sincerely mourned. Her husband pre-deceased her. Two sons and two daughters survive. The sons are Andrew and John, of this city, and the daughters are Miss Hannah, of Boston, and Mrs. William Walton, of this city. The funeral will take place on Saturday morning to St. Peter's church.

George W. Chapman. The death of George W. Chapman, a former resident of St. John, occurred on May 29 at Savannah, Ga., after a short illness. He is survived by his wife and two sons. His wife, formerly Miss Rosa Evans, was also a native of this city. Deceased was sixty-seven years of age.

SISTER MARY ALOYSIA.

(Halifax Chronicle). There passed away at Mount Saint Vincent on Wednesday morning in the person of Sister Mary Aloysia Gillespie, one of the most devoted and revered members of the Institute of the Sisters of Charity. Though never of robust health, Sister Aloysia has been, through her rare personality, able to respond perfectly to the many and varied positions of trust given her in the community. In each she stood for the noblest and best possible to the faithful follower of Christ, her chosen ideal.

At the time of her decease, Sister Aloysia held office as one of the Assistants to the Mother General, a duty hers for about eighteen years. As Superior in several of the Halifax houses of the order, and in Roxbury, Massachusetts, she had much to do in the schools and, notably, in certain social service departments connected with the Children of Mary in these localities. All those who were privileged to work with Sister in these offices can truly testify to her extreme care and devotedness to the cause of the children and the poor confided to her guardianship.

Sister Aloysia was born at Parrsboro, N. S. Her four brothers are settled in that town in prominent mercantile positions. Her sisters are Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Sullivan of Moncton, and Mrs. Brown of Rothesay, Western Canada. Two of her nephews are Rev. Father William Brown, pastor of Amherst, and Rev. James Brown, recently

CONCERT IN AID OF SCHOOL FUND

Excellent Programme Given to Raise Money for School Piano.

A large audience enjoyed a concert in the G. W. V. A. hall last evening, the proceeds of which are in aid of the piano fund for the Winter street school. Last night a satisfactory sum was realized and it is hoped that before long a sufficient amount will be in hand to make the needed purchase.

The numbers were as follows: Selection, by the orchestra; chorus; recitation, Clarence Taylor; piano duet, Misses Helen Morgan and Doris Corbett; reading, Miss Myrtle Crawford; chorus, eight boys; patriotic exercise, pupils of grades five, six and seven; intermission; chorus; recitation, Vernon Baston; solo, Miss Florence Dunham; reading, Miss Laura Fanjoy; solo, E. Clyde Parsons; trio, grade eight girls; God Save the King. The proceeds of the concert by the pupils of Winter street school, last night, will be between $160 and $200. By the sale of candy alone $52 was realized and the G. W. V. A. hall was thronged to the doors by the members of the audience who would not be denied admission and for whom the "standing room only" sign was only a further reason for insisting on admission. W. A. Nelson, the principal, was greatly pleased with the results.

London Actress Loses Necklace

Gems Valued at £20,000 Disappear from Hotel Apartment — Detectives Believe Them Misplaced.

(Canadian Press Cable). London, June 8.—A necklace, said to be valued at £20,000, the property of Mrs. Wm. E. Corey, formerly Mabel Gilman, an actress, disappeared from her apartment in the Carlton Hotel, Wednesday evening. Scotland Yard detectives investigating the case assert the belief that the necklace was misplaced or lost, and that it was not stolen. The hotel management announces that it is of the same belief as the detectives. A search made by Mrs. Corey of her apartment yesterday failed to reveal the missing necklace.

Organize Branch of Press Club Here

A St. John branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club was organized yesterday afternoon at a meeting held in the Sign of the Lantern tea room, when Mrs. Harold Lawrence entertained the four other charter members of the new society at a most enjoyable tea. Mrs. Lawrence was elected president and Miss May Fleet was elected secretary both by acclamation and the St. John branch had a most auspicious launching. Included in the membership are Miss Stella Payson, whose children's stories are a genuine delight to all children and to very many grown-ups, Miss Jessie Lawson, whose contributions to educational magazines are highly valued, and Miss Fleet, whose well written articles and book reviews have appeared in many leading publications. The president, Mrs. Harold Lawrence, has made an enviable name for herself in newspaper work, as reporter, special writer and editorial writer and her contributions to magazines are always eagerly read. Two applications for membership were received at the meeting and both were heartily endorsed. These applications will be forwarded to the National headquarters.

THE STREET CAR STRIKE IN SCHENECTADY, N. Y.

Schenectady, N. Y., June 8.—Car run less frequently on local lines and not at all on interurban routes yesterday, apparently as the outcome of disorders attending the conduct of the strike on the lines of the Schenectady Railway Company Wednesday and early yesterday morning. All cars ceased operation at six o'clock last night, two hours earlier than is customary.

Interurban service was halted ostensibly because of fear that attempts to damage the track would be resumed, efforts to burn a wooden trestle on the Schenectady-Saratoga line yesterday morning proving futile. Lack of men apparently caused the reduced service on local runs.

The Breaking Point

By Mary Roberts Rinehart

(Copyright 1922, by Mary Roberts Rinehart, Published by Arrangement With McClure's Magazine.)

(Conclusion.) Later he elaborated on that. He had kept the faith. He had run with courage the race that was set before him. He had stayed up at night and fought them; he could get consultants in Europe; there were baths there, and treatments. The doorbell rang. He heard Minnie's voice in the hall, not too friendly, and her tap at the door. "Some one in the waiting room," she called. When he opened the connecting door, he found Elizabeth beyond it, a pale and frightened Elizabeth, breathless, and very still. It was a perceptible moment before he could control his voice enough to speak. Then: "I suppose you want to see David."

There are so many ways to serve Kellogg's Bran—the one great aid to humanity!

You will enjoy eating Kellogg's Bran because its nut-like flavor appeals to the taste. And, think what each mouthful is doing to drive constipation out of your system and to re-establish health! That's because it is ALL BRAN. Kellogg's Bran is scientifically made to relieve suffering humanity—IT WILL DO THAT AND NO OTHER FOOD CAN! Physicians recommend the regular use of Kellogg's Bran for mild or chronic cases and as a preventive. Bran, eaten each day and in proper quantity, sweeps, cleanses and purifies the alimentary tract. Get away from pills and cathartics—Kellogg's Bran will give you permanent relief from constipation. Do not confuse Kellogg's Bran with common bran. Kellogg's is cooked, crumbled and ready to serve. It can be used in the most delightful baking products without in any way reducing its regulatory value. Try raisin bread or muffins or griddle-cakes made with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes are printed on each package. Kellogg's Bran is nationally eaten for health's sake as a cereal—in winter time with hot milk. Others prefer it sprinkled over hot or cold cereals. Another way is to mix it with hot cereals just before serving. It can also be cooked with cereal. In each case add two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's Bran for each person; in chronic cases as much with each meal. Kellogg's Bran is sold by all grocers and is supplied in individual packages at first-class hotels and clubs. Ask for it at your restaurant!

FIRST CONQUEST OF HYDROGEN

Unique Celebration at Tuilleries Marks Initial Flight of Noted Physicist.

Paris, June 7.—Into a sky now completely conquered by the modern airplane a little balloon recently was sent up from the gardens of the Tuilleries before a curious crowd which tried to reconstruct a similar but epoch-making scene enacted on the same spot a hundred and forty years ago. The little balloon was a replica of that in which Jacques Alexandre Charles, the noted physicist, first demonstrated the possibilities of hydrogen as a medium of air transport by himself making a successful flight before an incredulous populace.

The centenary of M. Charles' death was observed May 18. In that connection Andre Serph, a descendant of the scientist, gives an interesting account of Charles' life and work in "Les Annales."

He was born in 1746 and died April 7, 1828. He was one of the first inventors to make successful flights in a balloon. In 1783, six years before the Revolution, the Montgolfier brothers, Etienne and Joseph, the latter, the inventor of the parachute, made successful flights in a fire-balloon. The balloon of Charles was filled with hydrogen gas. His flight was the first successful one in a balloon of this kind.

Charles' first ascent was in August, 1783. This first "aerostatic globe" exploded in November of the same year, and on the first of December he was ready to make another attempt. This flight of December 1, 1783, is the one for which he is famous. He went up from the Tuilleries where a crowd of four hundred thousand spectators had gathered to watch him.

The first thing he did was to wave some banners, and this part of the flight is the one that has been reproduced in so many of the old prints. He ascended to a height of almost two miles and landed at Neesles, where a small monument now marks the exact spot of the landing. The "year" in which he went up may still be seen at Arts and Crafts Museum.

Louis XVI gave Charles a pension and rooms at the Louvre. He was associated with the Academy of Sciences, and at the time of his death was librarian at the institute. He was buried at Saint-Germain-des-Prés. Mme. Charles was the "Elvire" of Lamartine's poem, "Le Lac."

Treasure Hunters On Spring Quests For Pirate Gold

Recent Expedition Claims to Have Found Hiding Place of Morgan's Gems, Bullion on Nova Scotia Isle.

London, May 20.—(By mail.)—The last few months have, to those in the know, been full of projects for treasure-seeking expeditions, writes a correspondent to The London Daily Express. The life stories of more than one of the old time pirates and buccaners are now being scanned by venturesome folk who hope to discover clues to the hidden hoards which no self-respecting sea-rover failed to leave behind him.

An expedition has recently returned to New Jersey, claiming to have discovered the hiding-place of a great hoard of gold, silver and precious stones, secreted upon Oak Island, Nova Scotia, by the notorious Morgan. With the assistance of a chart they discovered traces of a massively built subterranean vault, some 200 feet below the surface of the earth, and it was owing only to the lack of suitable tools that they were unable to break into this ingenious safe and bring to light the glittering treasures which they have no doubt lie anxiously awaiting them.

Traces of the long-lost hoard of Jean Lafitte—who was more "freeder" than thief—have been lately discovered. Pots containing gold coins have been found on Hunter Island, in the Bay of Mexico, and two young Americans last summer were frightened almost out of their wits while digging near by at what they say was the ghost of a pirate whose bones they had unearthed.

Those who desire to go hunting for pirate gold could not do better for a first attempt than make a journey to Cocos Island. Judging from old chronicles, there seems to be little doubt that several hoards were hidden there. Captain Davis, who gave evidence at the trial of Captain Kidd at the Old Bailey, buried his ship with 40,000 pieces of eight, silver bars and ingots of gold, and with other ships weighted down with plunder sailed to this island.

So rich were the prizes taken by these cheerful cutthroats that in one case Sharp mistook silver in the hold of a vessel for lead and had bullets made of it. One pirate gave a wedge of silver to a friend for a drink of rum. The wedge was later sold in Bristol for £70.

In 1904 two parties were at work at the same time on this island, one under Arnold Gray, Trinidad—not the island of the West

Test Points in an Electric Range

Two things you get in McClary's Electric Range—but in no other—have made cooking by electricity the easiest, cleanest, safest, method of cooking in the world.

The Element—The Oven

McClary's TOR-RED Protected Element heats as rapidly as the open type but is protected against damage, from moisture and food boiling over. It is more easily kept clean and the heat is distributed evenly over the whole cooking surface.

McClary's seamless—round-cornered—porcelain enameled, washable oven is as easily cleaned as any other enameled cooking utensil. McClary's seamless oven operates like a fireless cooker—once it is heated it remains heated until the baking or roasting is done—thus economizing electric current.

"You frighten me, Dick," she said, slowly. "I didn't come to bring forgiveness, if that is what you mean. I came. "Don't tell me that you came to ask it. That would be more than I can bear." "Will you listen to me for a moment, Dick? I'm not good at explaining things, and I'm nervous. I suppose you can see that." She tried to smile at him. "A—A little work, a little sleep, a little love, that's life, isn't it?" He was watching her intently. "Work and trouble, and a long sleep at the end for which let us be duly thankful—that's life, too. Love? Not every one gets love." Hopelessness and despair overwhelmed her. He was making it hard for her, impossible. She could not go on. "I did not come with peace," she said tremulously, "but if you don't want it, I'll go. I must say this, though, before I go. I blame myself, I don't blame you. You are wrong if you think I came to forgive you." She was stumbling toward the door. "Elizabeth, what did I bring you?" She turned to him, with her hand on the door knob. "I came because I wanted to see you again." He strode after her and catching her by the arm, turned her until he faced her. "And why did you want to see me again? You can't still care for me. You know the story. You know I was here and didn't see you. You've seen Leslie Ward. You know my past. What you don't know—" He looked down into her eyes. "A little work, a little sleep, a little love," he repeated. "What did you mean by that?" "Just that," she said simply. "Only not a little love, Dick. Maybe you don't want me now. I don't know, I have suffered so much that I'm not sure of anything." "Want you?" he said. "More than anything on this earth." Basset was at his desk in the office. It was late at night, and the night editor, seeing him reading the copy edition, his feet on his desk, carried over his coffee and doughnuts and joined him. "Some time," he said, "I'm going to get that Clark story out of you. If it wasn't you who turned up the confession, I'll eat it." Basset yawned. "Have it your own way," he said indifferently. "You were shielding somebody, weren't you? No? What's the answer?" Basset made no reply. He picked up the paper and pointed to an item with the end of hisencil. "Seen this?" The night editor read it with bewilderment. He glanced up. "What's that got to do with the Clark case?" "Nothing. Nice people, though. Know them both." When the night editor walked away, rather affronted, Basset took up the paper and re-read the paragraph. "Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wheeler, of Haverly, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Doctor Richard Livingston, of St. John." He sat for a long time, staring at it. (The End.)

MILLIONAIRE RECLUSE DIES OF HUNGER AMID RICHES London, May 10.—(By mail.)—Gottlieb Stauffer, a millionaire, was found dead from starvation in his large, beautifully furnished chateau, of which he occupied only one filthy room, reports the Geneva correspondent of The London Daily Express. He was found under his bed and check books and wads of notes were scattered about the room. Stauffer lived alone in this single room, while the dust of years accumulated on the treasures in other rooms of his magnificent chateau. He owned many blocks of buildings in Geneva, but was never seen, and was only known by reputation as a recluse. At one time he owned a racing stud, and several of his horses won important races at Lucerne. Stauffer had no relations. He was unmarried, and his heirs are unknown.

MILK SITUATION WAS DISCUSSED

Question of Pasteurization Taken Up at Special Meeting of the Board of Health.

The milk situation was thoroughly discussed yesterday at a special meeting of the Board of Health. Inspector J. F. Tilley was instructed to go ahead and use his own judgment in cases requiring action without referring back to the board. Mrs. Edmund Flewelling, assistant local food inspector, told of cases in which storekeepers had refused to accept the regulations and had been refused permits to sell milk.

Mr. Tilley called the attention of the board to the fact that some of the dealers had not their wagons covered, and this would tend to sour milk in the summer time. Dr. William Warwick suggested that drivers be proceeded against if they did not adhere to the regulations after being warned. There was some suggestion that some sinister influence was at work in the fight against pasteurization, and every effort will be made to keep a close check on matters and bring any culprit to speedy justice.

RECEIVE REPLIES ABOUT HYDRO

At a special meeting of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, Local 663, held last evening in the hall in Prince William street, with Alexander Irvine in the chair, a number of reports were received and correspondence read. Replies to letters sent to some Ontario towns were read. One from London told of the city making an offer to buy out the plant of the power company there at $116,000 when hydro was developed, but the offer had been refused. The city had then gone ahead and built its own line, and later the company had sold out to the city at the latter's own price. It was announced that members of the local would hold a fair to help swell the sick fund of the union.

HYDRO WORK PROGRESSING.

The work of excavating for post holes for the electric distribution system in Cranston avenue was completed yesterday. The erection of poles was begun this morning. The line will be carried down Rockland road and Wall street across the bridge to City road, and then be carried north and south along City road. Wires will be strung as soon as possible and meters installed in houses that have been contracted for hydro, so that the benefit of the four-cent rate will be enjoyed in the very near future.

PREMIER VENIOT SPEAKS IN BOSTON

Tells of Resources in Province and About Facilities for Hunting and Fishing—Members Received by Governor Cox.

The New Brunswick Tourist Association's visit to Boston closed with a big meeting last evening in Ford Hall, at which Premier Veniot was the chief speaker. He gave facts and figures, expatiated about eloquent language, explaining New Brunswick's situation and telling of what it had to offer. A squad of Boston reporters were at the meeting reporting proceedings, showing the interest the Boston trip had aroused. State Treasurer Jackson expressed the regret of Governor Cox at his inability to be present. J. Frank O'Hare, president of the Boston Intercolonial Club, went over the grim days of the war and added that a wonderful bond had united the two people. He told his audience that no place was more beautiful for a vacation trip than New Brunswick.

R. E. Armstrong, secretary of the Board of Trade, contributed a thoughtful address. He dwelt on the good opportunities for comfortable automobile travel in this province. Governor Cox received the association members at noon at the State House and shook hands with all. The Governor was invited to visit New Brunswick in July.

The City and Canadian Club gave luncheon to the party at the Bellevue. Fred R. Basley, president, presided. A round of short speeches followed. Mayor Curley was the chief speaker. Others who spoke were: Charles H. McIntyre, a former Kings County Intercolonial Club; Howard Conroy, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Hon. P. J. Veniot and E. A. Schofield.

About half of the New Brunswick party left for home on the Governor Dingy this morning.

ROCKEFELLER'S GIFT EVOKES KING'S PRAISE

£1,200,000 Donated to University College Through Foundation

A Picturesque Ceremony—King and Queen Laid Corner Stones of Maternity Hospital and Nurses Home.

(Special Cable to the New York Times and Montreal Gazette). London, May 31.—The great additions to University College and University College Hospital, made possible through the munificence of John D. Rockefeller, were inaugurated today with picturesque ceremony by the King and Queen.

The maternity hospital and the nurses' home will face each other across the street, and the advantage of this was taken to erect a marquee over that thoroughfare and to turn it into a local court. The stones to be laid stood on either side and when the stands were filled, largely by physicians in scarlet gowns and nurses in gray uniforms and spot caps and aprons, the choir of St. Francis Church filled in, followed by the band of the Grenadiers in all their glory of gold and scarlet. The scene was singularly picturesque.

The King and Queen had chairs in the midst of the assemblage, and the ceremony began with presentations. Post Wheeler, American Charge d'Affaires, wearing his Princeton academic robes, led up a number of Americans, including Consul-General R. P. Skinner, Captain Hussey, naval attaché, and Dr. George C. MacLean, of the American University.

Royal Appreciation. Addresses to the King were read, and he replied: "In behalf of the Queen and myself, I thank you for your loyal and dutiful address. It gives us much pleasure to come here today for the double purpose of laying the foundation stones of the new obstetric hospital and nurses' home of the University College Hospital, and of the opening of the new anatomy building of the University College. We are conscious of the significance of the occasion. This is no ordinary extension of a hospital or of a college. The vast scale of the new development which we are inaugurating would be enough in itself to render it remarkable. There can be but few instances on record in which any foundation has received, like this college and medical school, £1,200,000 from a single benefactor in a single gift. The magnificent generosity of the Rockefeller trustees is more impressive since it is bestowed by a citizen of the United States upon a college and hospital in London, and thus upon the people of Great Britain and the Empire. "It has been said that science knows no frontiers. Indeed, the declared purpose of the trustees is 'to promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world.' That they should have selected the University of London to receive this deserved compliment is the creation of yet another proof of the sympathy and friendship which unites us with the United States, but it is also evidence and a declaration of their conviction that the progress of science and the welfare of mankind are not delimited by national or racial boundaries, and that the work here in London for the relief of human suffering and the improvement of medical education and the advancement of science is a service to the whole world. Carefully chosen. "It is not, however, the great magnitude of the endowment which lends importance to this occasion. These buildings are designed for a new, far-reaching development in the traditional organizations of British medical education. I understand that this college and medical school were selected by the Rockefeller trustees for their beneficence from among many equally distinguished institutions, partly because the situation is central, and yet affords room for expansion, and partly because the close connection of the hospital and medical school provides favorable opportunities for that intercourse between medicine and the other branches of learning which is the surest defense against the evils of narrow specialism. Take in No. 2

"I understand that the trustees were chiefly influenced by the establishment at this college of what has come to be known as 'the unit system' of medical training. The essence of the 'unit system' lies in effecting the closest possible correlation between the science and art of medicine, between research and education, and between theory and practice, and as a means to this end in placing the chief branches of medical education under the direction of a head who is free to devote his whole time to teaching, research and hospital practice.

"This is a substantial development of the traditional British system, which entrusts clinical teaching of medicine to men of distinction who are actively engaged as private practitioners. No appreciation can be too great for the devotion with which eminent physicians and surgeons have given and are giving, their services to the treatment of hospital patients, and the training of students, but the advance of knowledge and the ever rising standard of medical education has necessitated a reorganization which will give an impetus to more effective training and equipment of the British practitioner, with corresponding benefits to the health, well-being and happiness of the people.

"The underlying principle is as old as Ecclesiasticism, 'The wisdom of the learned man cometh by opportunity of leisure, and he that hath little business shall become wise.' Its specific application to medical education has not been made until now. At all events there are two features in the scheme of which the King has learned with particular satisfaction.

Terrible Headaches And Dizziness. Miss S. Raphael, 297 Kenilworth Ave., N. Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I used to suffer from terrible headaches and dizziness. Last summer, while I was walking on a side street, I got a dizzy spell and fell in the middle of the road. An old gentleman helped me to get to where I was going and told me to get a vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. Well, I did, and they did wonders for me. I don't know how to thank you, as I don't get headaches or dizzy spells any more."

When your liver gets sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers, and the only way to keep well is to keep the liver active and performing its proper functions by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. Price 25c. a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price to The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HOME LIFE MENAGED. Never in the history of the world has the life of the family as a social unit been menaced as it is today. Social unrest, the independence afforded women by opening up almost every profession and every line of industry to them, equal rights with men, all of which are perfectly justified if not abused and women have the health and strength to carry out their inclinations in these matters. But alas, when a woman is almost at the point of breaking from her household cares and social life, to take on outside duties often means the breaking point, and homes are often neglected for lack of strength or some ailment develops because of overwork. Weak and ailing women will do well to remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from roots and herbs benefits 98 out of every 100 women who try it, and let it help them.

STEEP STREET IN LONDON PROVED A TRAFFIC TRAP. Ancient Thoroughfare Is Closed to Prevent Additions to Accident List. London, May 18.—(By Mail).—Durham House Street, one of London's worst danger spots, has been altered by the Westminster City Council and is now closed to vehicular traffic at the Strand end, where a flight of steps are being built, says "The Westminster Gazette."

The quaint street, sloping down to the seldom visited Adelphi Arch has always attracted a good deal of attention. The Old Tivoli stage door once opened into it, and the side of the new cinema now looks on to it. A large part of the street runs under the Royal Society of Arts building in John Street and is closed in by huge brick arches. "I think the Westminster City Council is to be congratulated on having made the improvement," G. K. Menzies, the secretary of the Royal Society of Arts, said.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

RHEUMATISM. A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It. In the year of 1898 I was attacked by Muscular Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know for over three years. I tried every remedy, but such relief as I got was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I give it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

Magic Is Called Due to Operation Of Unknown Laws

Art as Practised by Ancient Races Show Clear Line Of Thought According to Research of Present.

London, May 16—(By Mail)—The subject of magic has an inexhaustible attraction for the imaginative mind. To what precisely magic is, or aims to be, those so attracted would find it difficult to define. Its manifestations, at any rate, must occur according to clear-cut laws, and magic, therefore, must be due to the operation of laws not only unknown to most of us, but unknown even to science, comments Algernon Blackwood in "The London Daily Express."

nature, has presumably discovered. If science remains ignorant of them, this is due, claim the believers, to several facts. First, that science declines to study them, on the plea that no evidence worth study yet exists; second that in the few instances where it has tried to study them, its method has been wrong; third, that only to a state of consciousness higher and more extended than our normal one can such knowledge be possible at all, and that the whole inquiry, therefore, lies outside the scope of science.

"The popular interest in so-called Egyptian magic stimulated by the recent tragedy to an excavator has again proved that there are numerous intelligent persons who think that such higher states of consciousness, with their corollary of higher knowledge and strange powers, have been possible in the past, and are still accessible today. "The ancients, they claim, favored a line of inquiry foreign to our present day mental attitude. The gulf, however, between such persons and those who are merely superstitious remains, I think, unbridgable. "In the particular instance the methods by which Egyptian magicians are thought to have protected their dead from violation seem to be secret poison or a curse. If poison, one would ask how this poison could be confined in its attack to a single individual only. If a curse, the whole question of thought, now so much in the public mind, comes under survey. "A curse is a violent and concentrated stream of thought of which ordinary minds are, fortunately, hardly capable. An ordinary 'good-bye' (God be with you) may have little virtue in it, whereas a similar blessing or curse, long sustained with passion, will, and the force of a powerful personality behind it, may certainly affect an impressionable mind against which it is directed. The power of thought, the effectiveness of suggestion, are today established for any open-minded person. "Both easily escape the label of superstition. But to credit an Egyptian magician of several thousand years ago with sufficient thought power to kill a man today is to lay a heavier burden upon a 'curse' than it can bear."

The meat and provision store of LeBaron B. Wilson, at the corner of Prince Edward and Exmouth street, was slightly damaged by fire shortly before midnight. An alarm from box 15 called the fire department to the scene. The fire was found to be about the office. Many of the papers and account books were destroyed. Considerable cutting was necessary to get at the seat of the blaze. It was said that the loss would be covered by insurance. The building, which is a three-story brick structure, is owned by J. A. "The Torch of Verified Circulation"

Lights up the way for the Advertiser

The Telegraph and The Evening Times, with a combined daily net paid circulation exceeding 30,000 copies, are the only A. B. C. (Audit Bureau of Circulation) papers in the province of New Brunswick. These newspapers alone give the advertiser a verified circulation whose extent is absolutely known and established beyond question.

Mr. Advertiser, do you realize what this means?

All of the principal Canadian dailies are members of the A. B. C. That is, they give their advertisers, present and prospective, circulation figures which are audited, certified and approved by an independent court whose standing is recognized in business circles throughout Canada and the United States.

Mr. Advertiser, Look at this!

The Following Canadian Newspapers are members of the A. B. C.:

- St. John—The Telegraph and The Evening Times (the only A. B. C. papers in New Brunswick).
- Halifax—The Chronicle and Echo, The Herald and Mail.
- Charlottetown—The Guardian.
- Quebec City—LeSoliel, L'Evenement.
- Montreal—The Gazette, The Star, The Herald, La Presse, La Patrie, Le Canada, Le Devoir, The Standard.
- Ottawa—The Citizen, The Journal, Le Droit.
- Toronto—The Globe, The Star, The Mail and Empire and Sunday World, The Telegram.
- London—The Advertiser, The Free Press.
- Brantford—The Expositor.

- Brockville—The Recorder and Times.
- Fort William—The Times-Journal.
- Hamilton—The Spectator.
- Kingston—The British Whig, The Standard.
- Windsor—The Border Cities' Star.
- Winnipeg—The Manitoba Free Press, The Tribune.
- Saskatoon—The Star, The Phoenix.
- Regina—The Leader, The Post.
- Calgary—The Morning Albertan, The Herald.
- Edmonton—The Bulletin, The Journal.
- Vancouver—The Province, The Sun, The World.
- Victoria—The Colonist, The Times.

Mr. Advertiser, in that list you have the chief newspapers of Canada. They give you an independent audit of their circulation by a universally recognized authority.

"Net Paid" circulation does not mean old lists of doubtful value. "Net Paid" means that every subscriber included in the figures is either paid in advance or does not owe for more than six months. The Telegraph and Times, remember, have a combined "net paid" daily circulation of more than 30,000 copies.

Figuring by circulation The Telegraph and Times rates are the lowest in the Maritime Provinces.

By putting the same ad in both papers you cover the city of St. John and the province of New Brunswick as with a blanket, so far as prospective buyers of your goods are concerned, for these two papers reach to a really wonderful extent the people in this city and this province who are in a position to purchase the goods that local or national advertisers offer for sale, be these goods bonds or toothpicks, razors or mowing machines, diamonds or medicines, shoes or silks.

Think over the facts, Mr. Advertiser. Just ask yourself quietly and thoughtfully what that chain of leading Canadian newspapers means. Their verified circulation is their greatest advertising solicitor. Think about "the torch of verified circulation."

MORNING STOCK LETTER

New York, June 8.—Strength in some of the rails yesterday and some fair buying of copper stocks was balanced by selling of the industrials.

Until the latter develops the rails and coppers look like the best buys and it would seem advisable to switch from some of the industrials to the metals for instance, into some of the rails.

There were signs of small distribution in A. also around 146 yesterday and perhaps the stock will work lower for the time being.

It will be on the same dividend basis as Ann. Car and Poultry before the end of the year. Ann. Car will be made a leader next month, it is said in some speculative quarters.

St. Peter's Defeated
The St. Peter's team were defeated in the Two-I League game on the St. Peter's grounds last night by the G. W. Y. A. team. Heavy hitting off King, Hansen and O'Connor, the St. Peter's pitchers, untimely errors by the St. Peter's team and the stone-walled pitching of Kirkpatrick on the mound for the Vets, were largely responsible for the score of 11 to 1. Moore made a homer with two men on bases in the third inning. The box score and summary follow:

England's new billiard champion is Willie Smith, standing between Tom Newman, whom he defeated and Sir Thomas Beecham, who presented the trophy.

QUEBEC FOREST
FIRE SITUATION
VERY ALARMING
Quebec, June 8.—(Canadian Press).—Stating that in the Temiscaming region of Quebec Province 100,000 acres of valuable standing timber and pulp wood had fallen a prey to forest fires, Chief Forester Pich, who returned yesterday from a trip to organize fire prevention there, affirmed that the situation was very alarming.
He added that in the St. Maurice, Lake St. John, Saguenay, Temiscouata, Bonaventure and Gaspé districts where no rain has fallen lately, fresh fires were being reported every day. These fires had been caused in some cases by settlers burning slash and in others by fishermen, it said.

The case in which F. H. Johnson was charged with having a pile of sand on the sidewalk in Durban street without the proper lights on it, was dismissed in the police court, yesterday afternoon. Policemen Lindsay, McFarland and McBrien told of there being no lighted lantern on the pile. The defendant and his son both testified that on two or three nights in succession they had placed a lantern on the pile of sand and the next morning they had found the lantern extinguished, the chimney broken and the inside filled with sand.

CHURCHES CONDEMN 12-HOUR STEEL DAY; SCORE GARY REPORT

Organizations Representing 50,000,000 Declare Regime Must End

Quote Stockholders—Argument of Steel Institute in Favor of Long Hours is Called "Unworthy."

(New York Times.)

Asserting that the twelve-hour day in the steel mills is "morally indefensible," a statement of organizations said to represent 50,000,000 Protestants, Catholics and Jews, made public yesterday, attacks the recent report of Judge Elbert H. Gary's committee to the recent meeting of the Iron and Steel Institute.

The statement was issued in the name of the Commission on the Church and Social Service of the Federal Council of Churches, the Social Action Department of the National Catholic Welfare Council and the Social Justice Commission of the Central Conference of American Rabbis. Here is the statement:

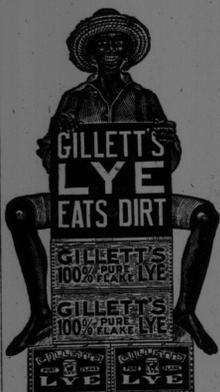

"The report of the Committee on Proposed Total Elimination of the Twelve-Hour Day appointed by the American Iron and Steel Institute shatters the public confidence that was inspired by the creation of the committee a year ago at the request of the President of the United States. It is a definite rejection of the proposal for the abolition of the long day. The public demand in response to which the committee was appointed is set aside as a 'sentiment' which was not created or endorsed by the workmen themselves. The testimony of competent investigators, including eminent engineering societies, is ignored, and the conclusion is put forth without supporting data that the twelve-hour day 'has not of itself been an injury to the employes, physically, mentally or morally.' This statement is made in the face of the fact that the Committee of Stockholders of the United States Steel Corporation, appointed in 1912 to investigate this matter, expressed the opinion that a twelve-hour day of labor, followed continuously by any group of men for any considerable number of years, means a decreasing of the efficiency and lessening of the vigor and virility of such men."

"Objection to the long day of the twelve-hour workers is disposed of in the report with the complacent comment that it is insupportable when men who work shorter hours actually spend their leisure time at home. This is an unworthy and untenable argument which will be bitterly resented by the millions of home-loving workmen in America.

"The Steel Institute's Committee contends that the workmen themselves prefer the long hours. Undoubtedly there are those who will voluntarily work long hours to their own hurt, but the committee's contention is chiefly significant as showing that workmen whose only choice is between abnormally long hours of labor and earnings that are insufficient to maintain a family on a level of health and decency, naturally adopt the more arduous alternative.

"The plea that a shortage of labor makes impracticable the change from two to three shifts of workmen affords but a meagre defence. The shortage of labor was not the reason for the failure to abolish the long day two years ago when the public waited expectantly for such a salutary step on the part of the United States Steel Corporation. At that time there was appalling unemployment which could have been relieved in large measure by the introduction of the three-shift system in the steel industry. The task may be more difficult now than it would have been then, but a past delinquency affords no release from a present moral obligation.

"The Steel Institute's Committee finds that the entire cost of a change to the eight-hour day would have to be paid by the consumers of steel, disregarding the possibility of a proportionate contribution out of the earnings of the industry. Thus the safeguarding of profits becomes a consideration superior to that of the hours of the workers, and the willingness of the public to pay higher prices is made a condition of the accomplishment of a fundamental reform.

In, if on the whole physically and mentally injurious to the men who work it." Writing in the June issue of "The American Legislation Review, Mr. Walker who is the author of "Steel: The Diary of a Furnace Worker," says: "While temporarily resulting in greater production, the twelve-hour shift is in long run unsound from the standpoint of engineer efficiency. It makes difficult, if not impossible an adequate family and community life. It creates a condition unfavorable to the making of good citizenship."

Mr. Walker says that the men in the steel mills are strongly opposed to the twelve-hour shift. "I found the men on the open-hearth, with one or two exceptions," he says, "holding a deep seated hatred of the twelve-hour shift and anxious for a reduction in hours. Some had worked in mills where the three-shift system was in operation. Many were familiar with the practices in foreign countries. This opinion was not only current among the foreign workers but was held largely by Americans, leading hands, old, company men and foremen. One German told me, 'Good job, work all time, save money, no spend.' But the majority were anxious for a reduction in hours, even at the sacrifice of some part of their hourly rate in wages. This attitude has proved to be general when the change from two shifts to three has actually been tried.

"The economists have done very notable work in gathering dispassionately and exhaustively the facts upon the twelve-hour shift in American industry, and upon the alternative three-shift plan. Such a question as the twelve-hour shift, affecting as it does, some 300,000 men in American industry, is a national one and action upon it requires a national opinion. The work of education must go on with all the energy possible."

ORPHANS' HOMES ARE CROWDED Many Await Admission — Funds Insufficient to Meet Bills.

At a meeting of the directors of the New Brunswick Protestant Orphanage yesterday afternoon in the Wright street home, it was announced that three homes were filled and that there were twenty-two worthy cases waiting to be admitted. It was reported that less than $4,000 had been received from the four Protestant denominations last year, and that as a consequence there was a shortage of funds. It was planned to have a big fair in aid of the orphanage early in the fall. D. C. Clark, the president, was in the chair and seventeen members were present.

FINE ITALIAN MS. BIBLE RECOVERED

Milanese Merchant Buys the Precious Codex and Presents it to State.

Milan, May 11.—(By Mail).—A Milanese gentleman, Signor Giovanni Treccani, a successful cotton trader, has bought for four and a half million lire one of the most precious codices of the fifteenth century, and has generously given it to the Italian State. The story of the manuscript is very interesting. It is of the famous Bible of Borsio d'Este, a magnificent manuscript painted in miniature and made between 1450 and 1460 in two volumes of about seven hundred pages each in parchment. The work, which is due to a group of artists of the Renaissance, among whom were Crivelli, Rossi and Marco d'Avogadro, is splendidly painted, and is of the highest interest also for the costumes. It is very well preserved. The manuscript, then the property of the Duke of Modena, left Italy in 1859 and passed to the Kaiser Francis Joseph, and after his death to his successor, Kaiser Karl, who about two years ago sold it to a Paris antiquary. The Italian Government tried to secure the precious codex, demanding it on account of reparations, but all its efforts were in vain.

TELLS OF WORK AMONG LEPERS

Rev. W. Konkle Gives Interesting Account of Efforts Among Afflicted.

Rev. W. Konkle, general secretary of the Mission to the Lepers, gave an interesting account of the work last evening in St. John's Stone Church hall. He showed slides depicting the work and said that it was conservatively estimated that there were 2,000,000 lepers in the world, the great majority of whom were in India. The mission is international and undenominational and has ninety-five stations in thirteen countries. In Canada there are known to be seventeen cases, six of which are on the Pacific coast and eleven at Tracadie, New Brunswick. It cost $25 to keep a leper in a station for one year. Rev. A. L. Fleming presided at the meeting and Rev. A. L. Tedford offered prayer.

DUMBELLS' MUSIC IS BROADCASTED

The Dumbells repeated their show "Carry On" at the Imperial yesterday afternoon and evening. The matinee performance was played before a large audience, among whom were the patients from the Lancaster Military Hospital, who occupied box-seats as the guests of the management. The evening's house was not so large, but the audience showed its appreciation of talented applause. The performance was broadcasted by means of a microphone placed just above the piano. This was the first time the Dumbells' programme had been broadcasted. The orchestral music from the Imperial had been sent out for several days, however, and a communication was received at the theatre yesterday from St. Louis that the music had been heard in that city.

Another Budget of Bargain Startlers

When we threw our doors open last Thursday morning we never realized that the public would respond so greatly and heartily to this great—the biggest selling event of the season. Neither did we realize in its full measure the public's confidence in this store's daily efforts. It seemed as every one in St. John was determined to reap real benefit from this important event.

WHY WE ARE GETTING THE CROWDS—We don't just tell you we're giving you values that can't be duplicated elsewhere. We prove it by actual comparison with what the retail market outside of this store is doing. If another store sells a certain style, and make of footwear at a certain price, it is our policy to beat that price enough to convince you that when you are buying here you are getting a real bargain.

That's the way we're revolutionizing things at this store, and that why Fine's Gigantic Sale is drawing the crowds.
