HORNBY LOOKS LIKE CHAMPION

Far Ahead of Batmen of the National League

Sisler Thirteen Points Ahead in the Contest With Cobb for American League Honors—Each Promises to Finish in 400 Class.

(Canadian Press) Chicago, Sept. 2.—Rogers Hornby leading the National League in individual batting and home run hitting, today is so far in advance of his challengers that any bid they may make to overtake him probably will not seriously threaten his drive for the 1922 championship.

The St. Louis marvel today has a twenty-five point margin over his rivals. In his last seven games he whaled out thirteen hits, which shot his average up to .389.

His string of thirty-two homers is the best performance in the history of the National League.

Crimes of Chicago crowded Bigbee of Pittsburgh, out of second place honors, with an average of .364, as a result of bagging eight hits in his last six games.

Bigbee is batting .358, with Hollcher of Chicago, fourth with .356. The averages include games of Wednesday.

Max Carey, Pittsburgh, continues to be the class of the league, leading with six games, and a batting average of .347.

Other leading batters are—Miller, Chicago, .334; Walker, Philadelphia, .334; Daubert, Cincinnati, .333; Carey, Pittsburgh, .329; Kelly, New York, .311; Harper, Cincinnati, .304.

American League.

The race between Cobb and Sisler, in the American League, is dragging along with very little change, as each is traveling at about the same pace. Sisler is out in front with an average of .413, while Cobb has .400.

The St. Louis star smashed out thirteen hits in his last seven games, and is batting .413.

Other leading batters are: Speaker, Cleveland, .370; Hellmann, Detroit, .357; Schang, New York, .353; Tobin, Louisville, .351; Miller, Philadelphia, .333; Galloway, Philadelphia, .328; Williams, St. Louis, .325; Bassler, Detroit, .325.

TERRIBLE TOLL OF CIVIL WAR

London, Sept. 2.—A Rigas despatch to the Times says that, according to official Bolshevik figures, the Cheka executed 1,766,118 persons before being renamed to suppress political administration last February.

During the civil war the Bolsheviks had had more killed than all Russia during the great war.

POLICE PREFECT ABANDONS TRIP

German Official's Visit to New York, Financed by Americans, Cut Short.

Chebourg, Sept. 2.—Wilhelm Richter, police prefect of Greater Berlin, left the steamship President Harlan on his arrival here yesterday and boarded a train back to Berlin. Herr Richter was bound for New York to attend the international police conference, but was recalled by wireless messages from the Prussian minister of the interior.

Herr Richter's journey to New York was being financed by a group of United States citizens in Berlin, as there were no state funds available for the purpose. Berlin despatches last night said there had been much criticism of his acceptance of this support and that efforts were being made by wireless to have him abandon his trip.

FORCE RE-OPENING OF STEEL WORKS

Rome, Sept. 2.—Four thousand Fascist men from neighboring places yesterday seized the town of Terni, forty-nine miles from here, and forced the managers of the steel works to re-open the shops, which have been closed for two months, owing to a wage dispute.

GUILTY BUT RECOMMEND LIFE IMPRISONMENT

Los Angeles, Sept. 2.—A verdict of guilty of first degree murder with a recommendation for a sentence of life imprisonment was returned last night by the jury in the trial of Herbert Wilson, former clergyman, for the murder of Herbert R. Cox.

WESTERN WHEAT YIELD

Winnipeg, Sept. 2.—Exceeding all previous forecasts, the Manitoba Free Press in its annual crop estimate for the three prairie provinces, estimates the wheat yield this year at 871,910,000 bushels from a total acreage of 21,471,000 acres.

Tonight Turnstiles Will Click for Start Of Great St. John Fair

Formal Opening at 8 o'clock—Visitors Will Find Attractive Displays and Outlook for Exceptionally Good Exhibition.

"A great success" is the prediction from the exhibitors at the St. John exhibition who have got their booths ready for the grand opening this evening at eight o'clock, when Lieut.-Governor Pugsley will open the fair. The decoration work has been finished and practically all the repair work following the big storm has been done, leaving the grounds in good condition.

PROGRAMME THIS EVENING (Exhibition Run on Daylight Time) 6 p.m.—Doors open. 7 p.m.—Judging of women's work. 8 p.m.—Official opening. 9 p.m.—Dancing in Dance Hall.

The main building contains a large number of original ideas in the way of booths, while the exhibition authorities have provided the usual general interest touches with the two old fire engines, the model ship, Robert Reed, the art exhibit and other showings of interest to all the patrons.

The outside shows are being prepared to be ready for the big day of the fair, Monday. Amusement hall has been completely changed this year. On the lower floor is the poultry exhibit, up the stairs are the dog show, the fashion show and one of the radio concert rooms. The dance hall, which was in this building formerly, has been moved to the old playground building. Repairs have been made to the cattle sheds, the sheep pens and the horse stalls to get them ready for the heavy entries.

On the right and left of the main entrance are the press room and the check room opening off the aisle under the big cedar arch.

The centre of the floor of the main building is taken up with the Atlantic Sugar Refiners, Ltd., booth, which gives a representation of the refinery, made up entirely of sugar boxes and glass slides for windows.

Along the west aisle, starting from the south wing, are the following exhibits: C. H. Townsend Piano Company, Ltd., with an exhibit of pianos and Brunswick gramophones; Christie, Brown & Co., Ltd., with samples of their biscuit displays; the Electric Telephone Co., Ltd., with telephone booths for the use of the public; Parke, Davis & Co., with farm sprays and disinfectants, and the Tabernacle Baptist church lunch counter.

At the north end are the Consumers' Cordage Company, with samples of their different makes of cordage, from the line and one-half inch trawler cable to the light binding twine, and the Canadian National Railways, with their booth of scenic pictures.

Going back along the east aisle are the following: The Willis Piano and Organ Company, showing pianos; the Clunatic Woodworking Company, with a miniature house fully finished inside; T. S. Simms & Co., Ltd., with almost innumerable kinds of brushes; the Biscuit Company, with samples of their lines; and the Purify Ice Cream Co., Ltd., ice cream parlor.

The centre of the main floor from south to north is as follows: Corona Company, Ltd., showing Corona and allied brands of chocolates; F. M. Merritt Co., with Merritt's chocolates; Allen's Toffee; D. Magee's Sons, Ltd., with an elaborate display of furs, and selections from their other departments; Northrup & Company, showing Let's Eat's chocolates and chocolate bars; the Swift Canadian Company, with a display of hams, bacon, lard and other delicacies; T. H. Eadsbrooks & Co., Ltd., with Red Rose tea and coffee served in a tea room; Nagle & Wiggmore, with a comprehensive display of shipping pictures, the Canada Spices and Specialty Mills, Ltd., showing shelves of baking powder, flavoring extracts, spices and the various other manufactures they put out; the Barry & Allen Company, Ltd., showing all varieties of construction material; and the Blue Bird tea exhibit.

The gallery of the main building is occupied on one side by the Natural History Society exhibit of natural resources of New Brunswick. This embraces all that was shown last year, and there are some new departments. Perhaps chief among these is a case with a pictorial history of the province, starting with the Eskimos, the first inhabitants, and covering the time until the early British period.

On the north end are the booths of F. E. Holman & Co., wall paper; the Keep Sweet Table Cream; and J. Clark & Sons, with pianos and gramophones.

The west side exhibits, starting from the north end, are as follows: Manchester Robertson Allison, Ltd., with washing machines, vacuum cleaners and other household machinery; a tea room run by the Salada Tea Company; the art exhibit, featuring the work of Dr. St. John, Mrs. J. C. Miles, Fred Miles and Charles Ward; Singer sewing machines and electric machines; F. A. Dyleman & Co., with a specially decorated showroom; the Flewelling Press; Manchester Robertson Allison, Ltd., with their large enclosed booth showing interior furnishings in a model room and correctly clothed models; and Waterbury & Rising's footwear exhibit, with samples of men's, women's and children's boots and shoes.

Main Building Wing.

Coming into the south wing of the main building, in the centre of the floor next the door opening onto the aisle is the circular booth of the Webb Electric Company, Limited, with an attractive display of lighting effects and household conveniences. Down the centre of the wing is found first a large booth of the Enterprise Foundry Company, with a display of the latest models of stoves and ranges. Back of this is the booth occupied by the Daily Journal. The rest of the centre space is taken up with the display of the McLoughlin Motor Company, who have eight models on exhibition. Going down the right hand side the Corona Company have a large display of their confectons. Next is the Ideal Bakery

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornby, "I will meet you at Regent's this afternoon."

"I'll be there," said Hiram. "I tell you them folks out there deserves a lot of credit. Yes, sir—they do so. It ain't easy to stir people up to take hold of sports and make 'em another year a-comin'."

"I'll be out there, to see them races. I wouldn't miss it for anything. We got to keep up the credit of old Noo Brunswick in the rowin' game—an' we can't do it if the boys ain't encouraged to do their best. An' I want holler if Frederick or Halifax walks off with a prize or two—no, sir. Let the best man win—an' if our fellows don't do it this year, let 'em have it."

"The sport's the thing—trainin' the boys an' makin' 'em smart—an' keepin' up the credit of their town. I can't see for the life of me why we haint got a hull lot o' boys an' no that kin handle an oar or a paddle. We orto hev 'em—By Hen!"

with a display of bread and pastry, along with a tea room where coffee, sandwiches and ice cream are served. The booth bears the striking inscription, "We will soon cook with electricity, the modern way."

A booth containing Sun Maid raisins, "Have You Had Your Iron Today?" is next on this aisle.

The rest of the side is taken up with large booth of W. H. Thorne & Company. One section is devoted to automobile accessories, where everything for the motorist is displayed. The centre section features aluminum and enamel. In the centre of this section is a beautifully fitted up fireplace. In this section also is a model home, featuring Bradford Asphalt shingles, a man who is giving a demonstration of the new Perfection Oil Stove. The lower section of the booth is devoted to hardware, tools and paint.

A nicely fitted up booth devoted to Magic Baking Powder occupies the space between the stairs at the end of the building, together with a display of Gillette Razors.

On the other side of the building, coming toward the door, the Red Cross rest room is in evidence. The room, which is beautifully decorated, holds the check room for babies, which will be under the guidance of the Girl Guides. Milk and Cracker will be dispensed at the counter. Next is the MacDonald Piano Company, with an exhibition of pianos, gramophones, phonographs, other musical instruments, and sheet music. The next booth is an original booth featuring a large model bungalow, with French doors and latest designs of art glass. Ruberoff's toyette shingles, covering the roof. BILL WHITEBONE IN A NEW ROLE

St. John has been boasting champion skaters and oarsmen in addition to world-fame of other brands in previous years, and now it would appear she is due for some notoriety as a producer of freak shows, a la Barnum and others.

Billy Whitebone, an industrious young citizen, engaged in the bill posting trade, has a leaning towards the show business in general and a particular slant for circus or sideshow enterprises. In the past he has exhibited throughout the maritime provinces such oddities as mummified men, midjet horse, wild men from Borneo and so forth, but for the present season he has a group of attractions that reflect credit upon his patience, originality and sense of showmanship.

Whitebone's home-made shows will this year include a bird circus, a frog frolic and an educated full grown horse weighing less than fifty pounds. The St. John man did not buy these creatures ready trained, nor did he resort to cruel or restricting means in order that they learn their little stunts and obey his wishes. His motto throughout the months of training was that of kindness, pure and simple with plenty of tidbits for his pets.

The bird circus is a flock of dainty feathered pigeons which ride in a feathered wheel, on a merry-go-round, ascend ladders, go through graceful evolutions and answer questions propounded to them promptly and surprisingly. The frogs are a distinct novelty. To many people these hopping bulge-eyed amphibians are repulsive, but Mr. Whitebone has his croakers so well behaved that onlookers will forget about their appearance.

Naturalists tell us that the only brain power a frog possesses is sufficient to get him out of the way when people invade his haunts, but "Barnum" Whitebone informs us that his frogs have next thing to a college education and their antics under skill will elicit merry laugh from those who usually shun and shudder when the hopping green reptiles make their appearance.

The tiny horse, which Mr. Whitebone has exhibited in these parts before, was sold to him by a horse breeder in the States as having no common sense. In other words it was so diminutive and full of physical shortcomings in comparison to a normal equine that he, the purchaser, need never expect to get results with him as a toy horse for children. But again patience and perseverance won out and "Little Eva" tells her age, counts up to ten, gives the day of the month and does some comedy stuff as well.

So St. John seems to be in line for fame as a side-show producing centre with men as Billy Whitebone applied to the task. Some people smile at such unique enterprises, but when it is remembered that the late B. F. Keith started in the show business with nothing but a three-legged calf, and that P. T. A TRIBUTE TO RAY HANSEN

(St. John Globe, Thursday) Ray Hansen, pitching ace of the St. Peter's baseball team, on Thursday evening gave a brilliant exhibition of offensive and defensive box work in hurling St. Peter's to a 4 to 1 win over St. Stephen, in a nine inning game at St. Peter's Park.

Hansen has for twenty years, as juvenile, as junior, as intermediate and as senior pitcher, been prominent in local baseball and during that long period, has been the outstanding star in each of the classes in which he has competed.

Other pitchers have blazed momentarily in the baseball firmament in comparison with his splendid record, but the North End artist has come up through the most exacting test of almost a quarter of a century with undimmed record until today he stands alone in his class in the maritime provinces for consistent, high class pitching.

Always willing to put forward his best effort, Hansen has sacrificed himself unsparringly season after season to give the local fans an opportunity to enjoy good baseball, and he deserves greater credit than he has received, for his commendable self-denial. Courteous, of kindly disposition, Hansen has set for the youth of the city, a most edifying example of what can be achieved by an athlete who, without any special effort at training, is temperate in his habits.

Not only in baseball, but in swimming, skating, bowling, tennis, football and other lines of athletic endeavor, he has attained high proficiency and he is an accomplished musician.

Taking him by and large, St. Peter's pitching ace well deserves at this stage, a word of appreciation of his sterling record in his public performances. Getting down to his showing last evening against St. Stephen, Hansen gave a remarkable exhibition of pitching in the face of stiff opposition.

In comparison with Shields and Paul, who pitched for St. Stephen against Fredericton and St. Peter's respectively, on Wednesday and Thursday, his form far outclassed that of the border hurlers. While both of St. Stephen's pitchers had speed to burn and all kinds of curves, their method of delivery was awkward in comparison with the finished graceful windup of the local ace. Hansen's windup is as fast and smooth as the functioning of a skilled club swinger and his delivery is smart, free and well balanced.

His control Thursday night was most noteworthy in itself and in comparison with the work of his highly-touted opponent. Hansen's efficiency was that of the master as compared with the work of the novice. Control, after all, is the essence of efficient pitching.

On the defence, Hansen has eight assists and one put out, fanned seven, allowed three hits, and cut off a runner at first.

Note—Mr. Hansen has been for some years a valued member of the Times writing staff, as faithful and thorough and dependable in his newspaper work as he is on the diamond—Editor Times.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

A motion to withdraw from the United Mine Workers was discussed at a mass meeting of the members of Local No. 414 of Springhill, last night. It was decided to notify the International President, John L. Lewis, and to hear what his stand in the matter would be before notifying the executive. It is the intention of the Springhill miners to return to work on Tuesday.

Fire in a building owned by the Lounsbury Motor and Supply Company building, Moncton, yesterday afternoon spread to two other buildings and caused damage totalling about $8,000.

Angelo Castinello, aged 23 years, who was taken in charge yesterday charged with being a stowaway on the steamer H. K. Waage from Hanava, was removed from central police station last evening to the hospital suffering from pleurisy. He complained of feeling ill while at central station and Dr. F. T. Dunlop was summoned, who ordered him removed to the hospital for treatment.

Under the auspices of the East St. John Community Club a large audience greatly enjoyed an evening's entertainment given last night in the Edith avenue hall by Walter McTavie, who is a very popular and clever reader and humorist as well as patriotic speaker. J. W. Flewelling was the chairman and the programme consisted of readings and humorous numbers and selections from Canadian poets.

Rockdale Hotel, Brown's Flats, closed for the season on Thursday, after a very successful season, despite the unsettled weather.

It's the Womenfolks who Worry

"ONLY $760 left after the bills are paid. It will not last long. Then, there's the mortgage. The payments on it must be met or I'll lose our home. If it were not for the children I could go out to work. But what can I do with them? I will have to do something—but what?"

"Exaggerated" you say. Not at all. All around us we see women and children adrift—left destitute because of man's very human tendency to "put off till tomorrow" a responsibility which involves a little self-sacrifice.

You can do it by means of an Imperial Monthly Income Policy. Today—while you are insurable—ask us to tell you more about it.

TWO UNUSUAL ATTRACTIONS

Two unusual attractions all next week at the Exhibition are presented by D. Magee's Sons, Ltd., furriers. One is their exhibit in its customary location to the right of the main entrance. The assembly of the luxurious furs, together with the smart frocks and distinguished millinery altogether exceed any previous effort of Messrs. Magee to transplant, so to speak, a portion of their pleasant showrooms on King street to the Exhibition. This exhibit assuredly invites more than casual interest.

In order that visitors may obtain a more intelligent idea of the newest fashion dictates in furs, frocks, topcoats, Messrs. Magee have this year broken precedent with a fashion parade in the Amusement Hall each evening from 8 to 9:30. Commentaries are made as they actually appear when in service on living models. It's an excellent idea. D. Magee's Sons—since 1859.

ALL CHILDREN GET IS DOLLAR

Will of Mrs. Caruso's Father Bristles With Bitterness Against His Offspring.

Reference has already been made to the will of Mrs. Enrico Caruso's father. A New York despatch gives this extended account of the matter—

In a will bristling with bitterness against his five children, "who have acted less as children than as parasites," Park Benjamin, noted patent lawyer and father-in-law of the late Enrico Caruso, who died on August 21 last, cuts off his children with a dollar each. He leaves his residuary estate to his widow, on whose death it is to go to his adopted daughter, Anna Bolchi Benjamin, former governess of Mrs. Caruso. The adopted daughter also receives the largest cash bequest, $60,000, and in addition receives all of Mr. Benjamin's furniture, paintings (with a few exceptions), books, personal effects and jewelry.

The contents of the will, filed in the Surrogate's Court, came as a blow to Mr. Benjamin's children, who will probably contest it. No estimate of the value of the estate was available at the office of the lawyers who filed the document, the original of which was written in Mr. Benjamin's hand. From another source it was reported that the estate will probably amount to approximately $800,000. The children cut off with a dollar each are: Gladys Benjamin of New York; Marjorie Clark of Plainfield, N. J.; Dorothy Caruso of Venice, Italy; Park Benjamin, Jr., and Rosemary P. Benjamin, both of New York.

The testator explains this bequest to his adopted daughter as being "in loving remembrance of her filial devotion to me while resident of my household for over seven years past."

"I give and bequeath unto my children, Gladys, Marjorie Glenning, Dorothy Caruso, Park Benjamin, Jr., and Rosemary Park Benjamin, the sum of $1 each, and make no further bequest to them because of their long continued, persistent, unprofitable and unkind conduct toward myself. This I do, after mature and careful deliberation, and not because of any one act, severally or jointly performed by the aforesaid, my children, but of all the acts done by each individually whether different from or similar to those of any other or all of the other, which make up the total sum of their filial relations toward myself.

"They have never appeared to recognize that they had any duties to me as their father, despite the fact that to the best of my ability I have done my full duty by them and have devoted to their care and support the best years of my life. I have had in return only ingratitude and no help in supporting the many and heavy burdens which I have had to bear. I conceive it my right to dispose of my estate to those who have sided, comforted and assisted me, rather than to those who have acted less as children than as parasites, and who have defied me under threats of contest to make any disposition of my said estate other than to themselves."

ROGERSVILLE MONK STABBED IN CHEEK EXPECTED TO LIVE

Newcastle, Sept. 1—The condition of Rev. Father Timothy Augustine, who, it is alleged, was stabbed in the face by John Sullivan in Rogersville yesterday, is reported to be satisfactory today and unless complications set in his recovery is looked for.

Further particulars this morning were that Father Augustine, who is the head of the Trappist community at Rogersville, was en route to the post office yesterday morning, and while passing Sullivan, who was standing, it is alleged, in front of the cemetery, the latter without a moment's notice jumped on the priest, knocked him to the ground and stabbed him in the face, the knife entering just below the cheek bone, inflicting a nasty wound about three inches long and badly lacerating the interior of the mouth. Had the blow been half an inch further up or down the result might have been fatal.

Spectators about thirty yards away rushed to the priest's assistance, while Sullivan went to his home, where he was arrested later. When asked why he had committed the assault, he remarked that he did not like him. Sullivan is held on the charge of attempted murder.

He has always been a peaceable, law-respecting citizen and was for years seen

THE EXHIBITION

This evening all roads will lead to the exhibition. Citizens generally will have a desire to attend the opening exercises and take a first look over the buildings and grounds. It is most gratifying to learn that the advance sale of tickets has been very much larger than last year, and if the weather next week is favorable the city will doubtless be crowded with visitors. The directors of the Association are to be congratulated on having provided a varied and attractive fair, whose educational features will be of great value and its amusements most enjoyable. Since the fair has been made an annual event the citizens generally will feel that it deserves their hearty support. Nothing makes so much for success as a crowd, and the local people will do their share. There is much to be learned and enjoyed in a study of the various departments, which should be done leisurely, giving some time to each, and this means a number of visits. The visitor from abroad must necessarily be content with a more general survey, but our own people have a week in which to become more familiar with the resources of the province and with the varied features which make up the whole. A good beginning should be made this evening.

THE WAY IS CLEAR

There need be no confusion or any misunderstanding in the minds of citizens regarding the hydro situation. The city can get the power at 1.2 cents per kilowatt hour. It cannot be charged more, and if the cost is less it will get the benefit of the lower cost. Anybody who disputes this is either densely ignorant or seeks to serve some other interest than those of the people. With the power secured at a cost that is guaranteed by the province of New Brunswick, there comes the question of distribution. There are only two ways of getting the current to the consumer. One is to buy out the power company and utilize its system. The other is to build a civic system. Thus far the company has shown no disposition to sell at a figure that would be satisfactory to the people. Hence it is necessary to call for tenders for a civic system. The city council need not hesitate. Its course is clear. The people want action. They should get it.

HEALTH WEEKS

The Provincial Bureau of Health of Quebec has decided to have a Hygienic Week throughout the province in October next. The Bureau has fifteen inspectors and these will be called together and instructed as to the programme. The Montreal Gazette says:

"The intention is that during the week each inspector will arrange a programme for his district whereby he himself will give lectures at all important centres, and also arrange with physicians in the districts to hold meetings in every parish. The Bureau has secured a supply of moving picture machines, and suitable films, so that each inspector will be able to illustrate his lectures with appropriate educational pictures. These will deal with tuberculosis, the care of children, so as to cut down the infant mortality rate in the province, and allied subjects."

Since the province of New Brunswick set the example of having a Health Week the matter has been taken up in many provinces and states, and the plan grows in favor. For example, there is to be a Cancer Week in the United States, and Canada is to do likewise. Dr. Murray MacLaren, M.P., is chairman for this province, The Montreal Gazette says:

"Coincidental with Cancer Week in the United States the medical profession throughout the Dominion will co-operate in a brief educational campaign designed to draw to the attention of Canadians the ravages of a disease which has become one of the great causes of death in North America. It is declared that 90,000 persons die in the United States each year from cancer, and it is added that conditions in Canada parallel those of the Republic. The most recent statistics available for the Province of Quebec show that in one year deaths from this cause totalled 1,282, being at the rate of 81.5 per 100,000 of population. The most recent report of the Department of Health indicated 466 deaths in Montreal from various forms of cancer during a year. Cancer Week in the United States will begin on November 12 and during the seven day period an extensive educational campaign will be carried on. In Canada the week will coincide."

Dr. George E. Armstrong explains that the purpose of the campaign is not to advocate any particular method of treatment, but to arouse interest so that persons affected by any abnormal condition would consult a physician and receive proper advice and care. The high death rate is largely due to the fact that the average afflicted waits too long. The

THE HALF HOLIDAY

There has been some discussion of the desirability of continuing the Saturday half holiday in retail stores through the month of September. There is really no reason it should not be observed throughout a longer portion of the year than at present, if the merchants could get together and agree on the question. Once customers have come to realize that the stores are not to be open, they will all make the necessary purchases before noon. The half-holiday is a real boon to those who spend all the week behind the counter, and if there was general agreement about the half holiday there would be no loss of trade. It is a matter of no loss of trade, and to the extent that of education, and to the extent that the rule has hitherto been adopted nobody has suffered loss. September afternoons are pleasant out of doors, and may be enjoyed on a Saturday by the proprietor as well as by the help in the store.

Of recent losses caused by strikes the Bangor Commercial says—"The Pennsylvania Bureau of Mediation and Arbitration estimates that the wage loss in that state, because of the coal strikes, amounted in the first half of the year to $117,000,000 of which all but $3,000,000 fell upon the strikers. Add the loss of July and August and the loss coming from the railroad strikes and the sum total for the year thus far in the Keystone state is about $250,000,000. When the other states are taken into the reckoning the wage loss mounts into the billions."

disease is frequently curable if treated in the early stages, and it begins with a small local growth that can be removed. It is not a constitutional or blood disease, nor is it inherited or communicable from one person to another. A leaflet issued by the American Society for the Control of Cancer says:

"During the Great War the United States lost about 80,000 soldiers. During the same two years 180,000 people died of cancer in this country. Cancer is now killing one out of every ten persons over forty years of age. The surgical experience of the last few decades has proved clearly that cancer, in many cases, can be prevented—that early treatment will dispose of it and work a complete cure. Furthermore, this experience has also demonstrated that a cancer does not begin as a cancer—that at first it is always something else; a lump, a wart, a mole, an ulcer, a bruise, a burn. This something is in itself quite harmless. How such things turn into cancer is not known but that they do is abundantly proved."

THE JUDICIARY.

Whatever may be the weakness of the method of securing judges in Canada, it is at least superior to that in vogue in the United States. Of the conditions in New York state, for example, the New York Times says:

"For a long time the principle of a non-partisan judiciary seemed to be well established in this state and city. Judges who had served acceptably on the bench were, as a rule, re-nominated by both parties. But of late the practice has been eaten into by the politicians, they never really liked the custom, and have been more and more inclined to violate it. To the mind of a boss a judgeship is like any other office—that is to say, it is a 'place' to be used in his business for reward or punishment. 'A breath has made him and a breath destroys.' And the boss is always ready to furnish the breath for either creation or destruction."

The particular reason for the Times comment is thus stated:

"The latest example of making political use of the judiciary is flagrant. Surrogate John P. Cohalan had, by the universal admission of those having knowledge of his court, made an unusual record for industry, ability and integrity. Lawyers of all parties had endorsed him for a re-nomination, which was expected as a matter of course. But through an obvious arrangement between Mr. Murphy of Tammany Hall and Chairman Koenig of the Republican committee—each getting his quid pro quo in a transparent political deal—Surrogate Cohalan was rejected by both parties. The Non-Partisan Lawyers' Committee, commenting on the affair, drew it mildly when they declared that it was 'an affront to the bar and to the community.'"

The Non-Partisan Lawyers' Committee has urged the nominees of Tammany and the Republican committee to withdraw, but without success, and as a result Judge Cohalan has been asked and has consented to run as an independent candidate. He will have the backing of more than six hundred lawyers, representing the Bar Association of the City of New York, the New York County Lawyers' Association and the Women Lawyers' Association of New York, who, as the Times phrases it, disapprove of "making ducks and drakes" of the judiciary. Politics in Canada, doubtless has some effect in the matter of selecting the judiciary, but the Canadian system produces better results on the whole than does the American system.

Lesson No. 94
BATTERY CIRCUITS.

In general, a cell is a single unit used as a source of electrical energy, while a battery is two or more cells connected together in any of three ways. The three methods of connecting cells together are "series," "parallel," and "series parallel" connection. The way in which the cells are connected in any particular circuit depends upon the voltage or current desired for operating the apparatus in the circuit.

The average voltage of the ordinary cell of carbon-zinc type is about one and one-half volts per cell, and it makes no difference how large this cell may be built the potential across the two terminals will not be more than this amount. Similarly the lead acid type of storage cell has a terminal voltage of about two volts, which is also independent of the size of the cell.

It is necessary therefore to resort to some other method than merely constructing a large cell in order to secure a voltage higher than may be secured with a small cell. The "series" method of connecting cells accomplishes this purpose, for the voltages of the individual cells added together gives the voltage of about two volts, which is also independent of the size of the cell.

While the series connection gives a voltage higher than the voltage of a single cell the current output of each cell remains the same as in a circuit where the current is the same and furnished by a single cell. In order to get a greater current than we can secure with the series combination or the single cell we must employ the "parallel" connection. By using this arrangement the current output of two cells in parallel is equal to the sum of the output of each cell but the voltage of the combination is the same as the voltage of the single cell. Therefore if 100 dry cells were connected in series the voltage would be 100x1.5 or 150 volts, while the current output would be that of a single cell. If the same cells were connected in parallel the voltage of the combination would be only 1.5 volts, but the battery would have a current output of 100 times that of a single cell.

Dry cells have a comparatively high internal resistance and the current output for closed circuit work such as lighting vacuum tube filaments is very low, which requires that several cells be used in parallel, while the voltage requirements for this service are such that a cell must be connected in series parallel, or series multiple connection of cells.

The series parallel connection of dry cells for vacuum tube work is the only practical way of using dry cells for lighting and cells used in this way will be found to last longer than if used in individual groups of series. LIGHTER VEIN

Concerning Marriage Laws.

Speaking on marriage laws at a meeting presided over by an archdeacon, a curate remarked that a man could not marry his widow's cousin.

"Widow's sister, you mean," corrected the president.

"No," replied the youthful curate, "I mean widow's cousin."

The archdeacon was on his feet in an instant. His law must not be challenged by a curate.

"I tell you," he rejoined, "that a man may marry his widow's cousin, but not his widow's sister. You must really allow me to know."

"But," persisted the curate, "how can a man do anything in the way of marrying when his wife is a widow?"

Royal Etiquette.

"Ye think a fine lot of Shakespeare?" "I do, sir," was the reply. "An' ye think he was mar' clever than Habble Burns?" "Why, there is no comparison between them." "Maybe no; but ye tell us it was Shakespeare who wrote 'Un- easy lies the head that wears a crown'?" "Now, Rabble would never have written sic nonsense as that." "Nonsense, sir," thundered the other. "Ay, just nonsense. Rabble would have kent fine that 'a king, or queen either, disna go to bed wi' a crown on their head. He'd have kent they hang over the back o' a chair'."

"At Home."

The New York Evening Post tells the story of a man calling at a Park avenue apartment and being detained by the funkey with the customary "But is Mrs. Blank at home?"

"My good man," replied the caller. "Mrs. Blank was expecting me before I was born. She is my mother."

How He Managed It.

Soon after being made a peer, Lord Magheramorne, who was better known as Sir James MacGarel Hogge, went to dine at the house of an old friend, where he announced himself to James as "Lord Magheramorne."

"What?" said the startled domestic. "Lord Magheramorne," said he, with emphasis.

James shook his head. He despaired of attempting to render the uncouth greeting at the house of an old friend. The visitor was advancing to the drawing-room.

James hesitated a moment, then boldly flung open the door and proclaimed: "The late Sir James Hogge!"

THE FINE OLD STONE WRITINGS IN IRELAND

Belfast, Aug. 11.—(Associated Press by Mail.)—The site of one of the earliest Christian monasteries in Ireland has been found at Mahoe Island, Strangford Lough, near Belfast. The ruins have been identified as those of Nendrum monastery, mentioned in Muirche's "Life of St. Patrick," written before 699 A. D.

Extensive excavations have been carried out and valuable material, including some stones with writing, the exact meaning of which has not yet been ascertained, have been unearthed. Some of the writings are believed to be of Danish origin.

In Gede's "Ecclesiastical History" it is recorded that 634 Pope Honorius wrote to certain bishops of the Irish Church about the Paschal controversy and Pelagian heresy, and one of the bishops mentioned in his letter is Cronan, Bishop of Nendrum. The island of Nendrum was afterwards named Naheac, after a bishop of the monastery.

READING THIS SHOULD MAKE ONE STOP WHINING

We kick and we complain and we strike. We fume about high rents, dear coal, the oppressive cost of living. We rebel against working more than eight hours a day, and we fight for time-and-a-half pay for all overtime. We groan over local taxes, income taxes, corporation taxes. In short, we pity ourselves a lot. Yet—well, are we so terribly badly off? How do we fare as compared with, say, our parents and their generation? Is it not the truth that the vast majority of us live much more comfortably than the majority of the people did twenty-five, thirty, forty years ago? Suppose we sit down and calmly compare our lot with the lot of the last generation. Are these not facts, applicable to far more people today than thirty years or so ago?

Working hours have been greatly reduced. Housing facilities have been wonderfully improved. Our schools and colleges have multiplied in number and are now within reach of many, many more people of ordinary circumstances. There are more churches. We have an infinitely wider variety of food, and immeasurable progress has been made in insuring its cleanliness and quality.

There is now one automobile for every family in America. The telephone has added immensely to our facilities for social intercourse. The finest of music has been brought within the reach of most homes through Edison's invention of the phonograph. The theatre, formerly enjoyed by relatively few, and only in large towns and cities, is nightly open to the inhabitants of almost every hamlet in the land at very low cost, thanks to the movies—another incalculable enrichment of the social life of the people.

One could go on and on enumerating the blessings which have been brought within the reach of the majority of this nation during recent times. We verily are a people favored by Providence beyond almost all others. Let any disgruntled, whining American take a trip through the countries of Europe or through the Orient, and he will return with gratitude in his heart for having his lines cast in so pleasant a place as the United States of America. Are we doing all we can to deserve a continuance of so many blessings?—Forbes Magazine (N. Y.).

RECENT DEATHS

Mrs. Henry Waterton.
 The death occurred in the General Public Hospital last evening at 7 o'clock of Edna Lily Waterton, wife of the Rev. Henry Waterton, of Kingston, Kings County, after only a few hours illness. Mrs. Waterton was the only daughter of the late Charles Tillott, of Blackheath, England, and was married to Mr. Waterton at Rothesay in July, 1920, by the Rev. Canon Daniel. Rev. Mr. Waterton is also a native of England, having come to this country several years ago, and was stationed for some time in the parishes of Blissfield and Ludlow (N. B.), afterwards being transferred to the Kingston parish church. The funeral will take place from the Kingston parish church on Sunday afternoon.

WOMEN TO HAVE TAG DAY.

A meeting of the women's department of the dispensary board was held yesterday at their rooms in Prince William street, to arrange for their tag day, which will be held on Wednesday, September 6. The money which will be raised is much needed by the institution, as the cost of running it is over $3,000 yearly and the only asset is about $300 from investments. In the drive which was held last spring a great many persons were found who had tuberculosis and adenoids, and these cases cost the institution about $1,000.

The W. C. T. U. met in county convention in the Ludlow street Baptist church yesterday. The chief subject under discussion was that of a home for girls needing special care.

FACE DISFIGURED NINE MONTHS

Itched and Hard Pimples Broke Out. Cuticura Heals.
 "My face and neck all broke out in a mass of nasty pimples. My face used to itch and then hard pimples would break out and fester over. They itched and burned dreadfully at times, and my face was badly disfigured for about nine months. I tried different remedies without any effect. I saw an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. It helped me so much that I bought more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Hazel E. Crutcher, Lower Castleton, Nova Scotia.

CHILD PRODIGES WHO DID GO ON

 Child prodigies on the stage sometimes go on. Sam H. Harris has three of them. One each in his three successful plays of last season and this—"Music Box Revue," "Six-Cylinder Love" and "Captain Applejack"—the "boy actors" being, respectively, Joseph Santley, Ernest Truax, and Wallace Eddinger, and each has gone through the blonde curls and knickerbocker stage of their stage careers and climbed the ladder to leads and electric lights.
 Wallace Eddinger was born to the stage, the son of Lawrence Eddinger, a well-known actor. His first part was Little Lord Fauntleroy, with the long blonde curls and the velvet knickers, and his personal opinion of those curls, which he had to wear for several years, would not make good reading. But he ported company with them some years ago. As a grown-up he made his first hit in "Officer 666," and then followed other plays, but his chance came in "Captain Applejack," with his string of strange, seagull-like instead of that string of curls, and that wonderful "scum." He is a lusty pirate, but his father says that plumes were his childhood's fear. The cellar was full of them.
 Truax was when America's Best Known Boy Actor was a common sight on the billboards. Little Joe Santley was one of them. His first part was that of a girl at the mature age of three years, in Corse Payton's stock company in Brooklyn. Then he was the boy of the streets in melodrama, next he learned to dance and made his first great hit in singing and dancing in "When Dreams Come True." Nearly a year ago he came to the "Music Box Revue," where he does a good deal more than sing and dance, for he is still climbing the ladder.
 Ernest Truax completed a year and a

THE "FLU"

London, Sept. 2.—An interesting contribution to the documents bearing on the epidemic which with the regularity of a clock, sweep over this country at stated periods of the year, is the annual report for 1921 just issued by Dr. Hamer, Medical Officer of Health for London. Dr. Hamer deals with the influenza mystery in his report, and states that the disease is a far bigger thing than the people think it is.

His forms are so numerous that it passes under different names in different areas of the world and in the same areas at different times. Sometimes it is so violent as to leave no doubt as to its real nature. But between the widely epidemic periods occur periods of comparative quietude. Then, in Dr. Hamer's phrase, influenza is "in mufti." In this condition it is lost sight of. There may be an outbreak of illness, but each person gets his symptoms in his own weak spot, and so one person has gastritis, another a nervous breakdown, a third heart trouble and so on. Really according to Dr. Hamer, all of them have influenza in a mild form, and when the wave passes they will all recover.

SENSATIONAL ROBBERY.

American Tourist Loses Case of Jewels From Her Arm.

London, Sept. 2.—A sensational theft of jewels worth $15,000, including three pearl necklaces, belonging to an American woman, has been reported. It is believed that she is the victim of a gang of continental thieves, and that the robbery took place in a crush while she was passing through the customs at Calais on Tuesday morning on the way from Paris to London. She carried the jewel case in a large handbag which was hanging on her arm during the whole journey. She is positive that the handbag never left her possession. When passing through the customs on both sides of the Channel the handbag was covered by a heavy traveling coat.

On arrival at a hotel in London the bag was locked in a trunk, and it was only on Wednesday morning that the jewel case was missing. Scotland Yard confirms the story. So far there have been no arrests and no trace of the missing jewels. A reward of £1,000 has been offered.
 The police refuse to divulge the name of the woman, and inquiries at London hotels failed to disclose where she is staying.
 The missing jewels include a necklace of 144 pearls, weighing more than 1,200

SUICIDE BECAUSE OF BLOOD.

Rochester Nurse Felt Negro Descent Barred Her From Marriage.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Dependent, it is said, because she knew blood ties barred her marriage, Margaret Van Cleas, twenty-one, a nurse leaped to her death from "Suicide Bridge," spanning the Genesee River. The body was found floating near the lower falls. Miss Cleas, missing since Friday, was identified by her room-mate. She had declared she would not marry and apparently had mapped out a course that would carry her through the channels of single blessedness. About a year ago she met the man, and he, it is said, unconsciously of her parents, proposed marriage. As time wore on his calls became more frequent and she was forced to decide the issue. Refusing to divulge her secret, she left the night the answer was to be given.

GERMANY TO DISCARD FAVORITE POSTAGE STAMPS OF EMPEROR

Berlin, Aug. 31.—(Associated Press by Mail).—One of the last remaining symbols of the old regime in Germany will pass away with the withdrawal of all postage stamps of the familiar "Germania" type on October 31 next. This striking design, first adopted in 1890, played a measurable part in fostering the militarist movement that brought disaster upon the Fatherland.

THE BUILDER OF ST. PAUL'S, LONDON

They're Arranging to Commemorate Bicenentenary of Death of Sir Christopher Wren.

London, Sept. 2.—Sir Christopher Wren's name is indelibly linked with St. Paul's Cathedral, in the crypt of which his body was laid almost 200 years ago, and on February 26 next, a notable gathering in St. Paul's will commemorate the bicentenary of his death, which occurred on February 25, 1723.

with its bells proclaiming all within sound thereof to be Cockneys. It is hoped by this means to draw attention to some beautiful examples of the work of the great architect, and to stimulate still further the increasing interest in architecture displayed by the general public.

Born at East Knoyle, Wiltshire, on October 20, 1632, the son of a clergyman, Sir Christopher Wren achieved renown as an astronomer, as well as an architect. He was professor of Astronomy at Gresham College in 1657, and professor of astronomy at Oxford University in 1660.

His undying fame, however, is connected with St. Paul's Cathedral, which he designed and built. Sir Christopher's opportunity came with the destruction of a large part of London as a result of the great fire of September, 1666. Almost all the churches in London were swept away, by the flames, and old St. Paul's was left in ruins. Sir Christopher was commissioned to rebuild the Cathedral. The first stone of the new Cathedral was laid in 1675 and the last stone in 1710. Sir Christopher made designs also for fifty other churches which had been burned.

The many-sided genius of this remarkable man, who was a scientist as well as an architect and astronomer, included statesmanship. He was a member of the House of Commons from 1685 to 1700.

THE ROTARY CLUB PICNIC FOR BOYS

The Rotary Club picnic for the boys of the South End and East End Boys clubs yesterday afternoon was attended by about 240 of the boys and many of the Rotarians, who were not the least boyish of the party. There were enough automobiles to carry everybody to the Bishop's grounds at Torryburn which had been kindly loaned for the picnic. The starting place for the procession was the head of King street East and the fun began right there. As each new automobile arrived the boys, lined up along the sidewalk, gave hearty cheers. Banners bearing the legend, "Rotary Club Boys' Picnic" decorated many of the cars and it was a gay and lively company that set out for the picnic grounds.

boys by a score of seven to six. The Rotarians and the boys were good rooters and enthusiasm waxed very warm during the game. A call to supper soon had the boys gathered round the pavilion where sandwiches, cake, doughnuts, soft drinks and ice cream were served and a mighty supply demolished. A series of races and jumping contests rounded out the programme and prizes were awarded to the successful contestants in each event. The picnicers came back to the city before dark and it would be hard to say which had enjoyed the outing more the Rotarians or the other boys. It was certain everybody had had the best of times.

SOCIAL SERVICE WORK ADDRESS AT BAPTIST MEETING

Walfville, Sept. 1.—The afternoon session of the United Baptist convention in session here began with a devotional address by Rev. G. D. Hudson, who spoke on a knowledge of God.
Dr. J. G. Shearer, general secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada, spoke on the work of the council as showing the interest of Baptists in social service. Dr. Shearer said the four secretaries in Western Canada were all Baptists.
Dr. Heine spoke of the interest of the Canadian Bible Society. The maritime provinces contributed to Bible work $26,000 last year. Bibles were distributed in the Maritime Provinces in forty-six languages during the year. There were some good Chinese preachers in our cities, he said.

Finance.
W. G. Clark presented the report of the finance committee. Keyman in the districts had proved of much value. The every member canvass was urged. Sympathetic reference was made to recent illness of the treasurer, J. W. Dimock.
The proposed budget for the year was $76,000. The Maritime Home for Girls was brought into the budget and given a portion of the denominational funds.
Dr. H. T. DeWolfe reported for the board of religious education in which he brought out that thirty-six district conventions had been held under the direction of Rev. W. C. Machum.
The treasurer of the board of religious education reported receipts for the year as $3,898.24 and expenditures $3,816.83.
Rev. E. Bowditch presented the eighty-sixth annual report on the Grande Ligne mission. During the year sixty-five had been baptised. The enrollment at Feller Institute was 148. About 1,100 copies of the scriptures had been distributed. The contribution from the maritime provinces for this work was $3,669.86.
The evening session of the convention was in the interests of missions.

BAPTIST MINISTER WEDS.

Rev. David C. Kaine, pastor of the United Baptist church at Egin, Albert county, and Miss Beatrice L. Simms, Donktown, were united in marriage at the United Baptist parsonage, South Devon, on Thursday by Rev. H. H. Ferguson in the presence of a few intimate friends. The bride wore a traveling suit of navy blue tricot with hat to match and after the ceremony the happy couple left by automobile for their home at Egin.

For years I have never considered my stock of household remedies complete unless a bottle of Minard's Liniment was included. For burns, bruises, sprains, frostbites or chillblains it excels, and I know of no better remedy for a severe cold in the head, or that will give more immediate relief, than to inhale from the bottle through the nasal organ.
And as to my supply of veterinary remedies it is essential, as it has in very many instances proven its value. A recent experience in reclaiming what was supposed to be a lost section of a valuable cow's udder has again demonstrated its great worth, and prompts me to recommend it in the highest terms to all who have a herd of cows, large or small. I think I am safe in saying among all the patent medicines there is none that covers as large a field of usefulness as does Minard's Liniment. A real truth-good for man or beast.

KOREAN STUDENTS ASSAIL MISSIONS

Declare "Foreigners" Should Not be Allowed in Oriental Schools—Would Abolish Bible Teaching.

Seoul, Korea, July 30.—(Correspondence)—Korean students befriended by principals of the mission schools during the suppression of the independence movement are demanding changes among teachers in the curriculum which some believe will force the mission schools out of the field. Sides are being sharply taken in the controversy. On the Seoul Press says it is a fact that teachers and equipments in mission schools are very much inferior to those of government and public schools. It is the natural desire of students of mission schools to have the same as they do, improvements in these respects, so that after graduation they may not be handicapped in their future career. It is not fair to call their demands impudent. Nor is it just to say that they receive benefits for nothing, for as a matter of fact they pay comparatively high tuition fees.
Rebel Against Missionaries.
"It is interesting to note that during the independence agitation, when hot-headed Korean young men advanced impudent demands without showing any sense of gratitude to a government which saved their country from complete ruin and conferred upon its people innumerable benefits, no word of censure was uttered by the missionary. The tables are now turned. It is the missionary quarter against which hot-headed Korean youngsters have rebelled."
The movement started in the Paichai kaktang, a boy school directed for by the American Methodist Mission, the students agitating the removal of the Rev. H. D. Appenzeller, the principal, on the ground that it was disgraceful for a former to conduct a Korean school. Mr. Appenzeller, taking a firm stand, the students, or a majority of them, being consistent in their refusal to accept these demands were:
(1) Morning service should be abolished.
(2) Bible teaching should be done away with.
(3) Teachers educated in foreign countries should be dismissed as they are ignorant of educational methods fitting conditions in the Orient.
(4) Teachers should exclusively be those graduating from schools in Japan and Korea.
(5) Salaries of Japanese and Korean teachers should be made equal.
It was pointed out that in recent years, much had been done to bring the schools into line with Japanese government schools and that religious instruction has been limited, and the principal would until autumn to consider the demands. But the boys remained obdurate and the movement has spread to other mission and private schools.

Grapes From the Garden of Canada Ready at Your Dealers

Grapes from the Niagara Peninsula, famed for their flavor, are ready. The quality of the crop is finer than for several seasons past. The early blue varieties now on the market are fine for jelly or jam.

Order from your grocer or fruit dealer. Prices are reasonable, so you can afford to have all the grapes you want. Look for the stamp of the Niagara District Growers on the baskets. It stands for grapes of better quality, carefully graded and packed.

etiquette belonging to such occasions and at a loss for the right thing to say, left the man who was destined to become the Premier of Poland standing unregarded on the threshold. The silence became embarrassing. Finally, Pilsudski, whose eye wandered about the room as if seeking for a way out of the difficulty, discovered a grand piano at the other end of the apartment. "Would you mind playing something for us?" he stammered. "Certainly not," returned Paderewski, "if you will dance to the tune I play."—From a bulletin of the Symphony Society of New York.

FOLLOW POLICY OF MICHAEL COLLINS

Text of Telegrams Exchanged by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill and Wm. T. Cosgrave.

Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, secretary of state for the colonies, last week telegraphed Wm. T. Cosgrave, acting head of the provisional government in Ireland, as follows:
"I take the earliest opportunity in this hour of tragedy for Ireland and of intense difficulties for the Irish provisional government of assuring you of the confidence felt by the British government that the treaty position will be faithfully and resolutely maintained. The death of two of the principal signatories, the retirement of another, and the desertion of the fourth in no way affects the sanctity of the settlement entered into with the plenipotentiaries of the Irish nation. On the contrary we are sure that the provisional government and the Irish people will feel it all the more a sacred duty to carry into full effect the act of renunciation between the two islands."
"For our part we hold ourselves bound on the treaty basis and will meet good faith with good faith and good will with good will to the end."
Mr. Cosgrave replied to Mr. Churchill as follows:
"My colleagues and I acknowledge with deep appreciation your message of sympathy in this second tragic loss from our councils and of your unshaken trust in the final accomplishment of all that the dead leaders stood for."
"Men of the heroic mould of General Collins or of the creative power and rock-like steadfastness of President Griffith are not given to any nation in profusion and when under providence they have done their part in life, those who survive and follow after them have as follows—again brings to the front the vital importance of providing the proper pen for every student and scholar. Every attention is paid to having text books easy to read, in order to avoid eye-strain. Too often, little attention is given to the choice of a pen—with the result that the wrong size or shape of the ordinary pen tires the hand, writing becomes irksome, and the handwriting grows more illegible.

is an education in smooth, easy, effortless writing. The steady, uninterrupted flow of ink allows the pen to keep pace with the student's thoughts. It provides a size to perfectly fit every hand, from boy and girl just entering the graded schools to those attending college and university. There is a point to suit every style of writing, including the point recommended by Boards of Education, fitted to three distinct types of barrel—regular, safety and self-filling. See that your boy or girl has the right pen to do his or her best work at school.

RESCUED BY CANOE

A Rothesay correspondent writes that a young lady who was one of a picnic party swam out at Rothesay Beach but could not get back until two Indians, D. Bradford and J. Paul, went in a canoe and brought her safely to shore. Later Mr. Paul's canoe capsized but was able to make shore without difficulty.

MAXWELL-MCRAE

A wedding of much interest will be solemnized in Portland Methodist church this afternoon at four-fifteen o'clock, when Rev. H. B. Clarke will unite in marriage Miss Cynthia A. McRae, niece of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rowley, of West St. John, and Robert H. Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Maxwell, 114 Orange street. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple will leave on the Montreal train for Upper Canadian cities.

STAY-THOMSON

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the Main street Baptist church at 7.15 o'clock this morning when Rev. David Hutchinson united in marriage Miss Frederica M., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Thomson, of Douglas avenue, to Ernest Gilbert Stay. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a traveling suit of navy blue tulle and hat of opal grey with an ostrich plume, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. The wedding march was played by Miss Eva Letteney. After a short wedding tour they will make their home in this city.

Sackville Post:—Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Rainnie, late of Sackville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean Black to Thomas Edwin Gaulton, of Dorchester. The marriage will take place at Montreal early in October. Mrs. Fred Fisher and Mrs. Maurice Fisher were joint hostesses at a very enjoyable tea Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. Fred Fisher's summer home at Mapleburg, in honor of Miss Rainnie.

EN ROUTE TO CALGARY

E. V. Morrow and Mrs. Morrow arrived from Halifax this morning. They will leave by train this evening for Cambridge, Mass., remaining there and in Boston until Tuesday, when they will proceed via Montreal to Calgary. Mr. Morrow, who has been in charge of the Burroughs Adding Machine Co. for Nova Scotia, has been transferred, and his new field will be Alberta and eastern British Columbia, with headquarters at Calgary. Before Mr. Morrow left Halifax the Locked Horns Club entertained him at their fishing camp and presented to him a loving cup. The Knights of Pythias presented a valuable emblem, and the Rotarians expressed their appreciation of his services as a member of the club. Last night a party gathered at the depot and presented to Mrs. Morrow a lovely bouquet, and enlivened the occasion by showering the departing pair with confetti as if this was a bridal tour. St. John friends join in good wishes for their success and happiness in the west.

AIR RACERS TO FLY AROUND BRITAIN

London, Aug. 14.—(A. P. by mail)—The regulations for the "Circuit of Britain" Flying Handicap, for which the king has given a cup, have been issued by the Royal Aero Club, which is conducting the race. The race will commence Friday, September 8, and will conclude the following day. The course will be approximately 800 miles, starting and finishing at the Waddon Aerodrome, Croydon. Competitors must land at certain control stations, and the airplanes will be handicapped on a time allowance basis for the complete circuit, a proportion of the total time handicap to be allotted to each section.

PREMIER DINES NOTED VISITOR FROM INDIA

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—Hon. Mackenzie King, on behalf of the government of Canada, gave a dinner last evening at the Country Club, in honor of Right Hon. Srinivasa Sastry of India member of the viceroy's council, and at present on a visit to Ottawa. The premier presided, and speeches were delivered by him, by Hon. Sir Robert Borden and by Hon. Dr. Sastry. Amongst the ministers of the crown present was Hon. A. B. Copp.

U. S. COTTON CROP

Washington, Sept. 2.—A reduction of 874,000 bales in the prospective United States cotton crop of this year since the forecast of a month ago was shown in the department of agriculture September cotton report forecasting the total crop at 10,875,000 bales. The condition of the crop declined 18.8 points during August as compared with an average decline of 2.6 points in the previous ten years, the condition having been 87 of a normal on August 1, as compared with 70.8 on July 25.

BOARD OF TRADE TOUR

Montreal, Sept. 2.—Last midnight the eight-coach "Board of Trade Special" left the Windsor station carrying a party of 116 from the Montreal Board of Trade and a delegation of British parliamentarians, who are to make a thirty-day trip across Canada and back on the occasion of the centennial of the Board of Trade.

BASEBALL AND AQUATIC SPORTS

Dick Casey's Team on St. Peter's Grounds—Renforth Regatta and Power Boat Cruise.

Today should be a banner one from a sporting standpoint. This afternoon and evening baseball fans will have an opportunity of enjoying two feature baseball games between St. Peter's local champions and "Dick" Casey's Neponset All-Stars; lovers of aquatic sports will be able to enjoy the big regatta at Renforth. In addition the St. John Power Boat Club are to hold their first annual cruise to the Narrows on the Washademoak.

The Neponset All-Stars arrived in the city on the S. S. Governor Dingy in charge of the popular and genial "Dick" Casey, who will be recalled as the star player appearing here with Joe Ford's Newburyport All-Stars early in the city. Casey claims to have an exceptionally strong line-up composed of some of the leading semi-pro. players in the New England States. His visit to the city has been eagerly awaited by fans, who will undoubtedly turn out in large numbers to enjoy their popular pastime. The game this afternoon will be at 3 o'clock and this evening at 6.30 o'clock. There will also be two games between these teams on Labor Day, one in the morning at 10.30 o'clock and the second in the afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The big regatta programme at Renforth will also prove an attraction for many who enjoy racing. Those who plan on going to Renforth will be accommodated by the Canadian National Railway suburban, which is scheduled to leave the station at 1.20, but will be held until 1.45. The St. John Power Boat cruise is expected to leave their harbor in Marble Cove about 1.30 o'clock or a little later. The boats are due to arrive at the Narrows this evening and a big dance and entertainment will be held there. Forty boats are expected to go on the cruise. They will start back to the city on Monday afternoon.

EXPRESSES HIS APPRECIATION

Reply of Admiral Pakenham to Expression of Regret from Navy League on the Wreck of the "Raleigh."

When H. M. S. "Raleigh" was wrecked on the Labrador coast recently, a telegram of regret was sent to Admiral Sir William C. Pakenham, on behalf of the New Brunswick division of the Navy League of Canada. The following reply was received today by the president of the New Brunswick division: Royal Canadian Naval Barracks, Halifax, N. S., Aug 31, 1922.

Sir—I have the honor to inform you that I have been asked by Admiral Sir William C. Pakenham, K. C. B., C. M. G., K. C. V. O., commander-in-chief, North America and West Indies station, H. M. S. Culcutta, to convey to the New Brunswick division of the Navy League of Canada on behalf of himself and those of the British navy associated with him on this station, assurance of the deep appreciation with which they have received the prompt expression of warm sympathy which the New Brunswick division of the Navy League of Canada have expressed.

The catastrophe by which the "Raleigh" has been overtaken still leave them in the hope that though her career has been short, it has yet been long enough to allow her to play an important part in extending the bounds and in accentuating the feeling of brotherhood among our own people and their nearest neighbors.

FAIRVILLE SCHOOLS

The Fairville schools are all in readiness for the re-opening on next Wednesday. As usual the rooms have been given a thorough cleaning and where needed the furniture has been given a retouch with paint. New blackboards have been installed in several rooms and individual desks and seats have been placed in Grade 1.

The most noticeable improvement, however, is to the exterior of the buildings which have been re-painted a medium toned green with cream trimmings. New steps have been built at the entrance to both buildings.

In the past much freedom has been permitted in the use of the grounds after hours and as a result many windows have been broken, it being necessary to replace forty-six panes of glass this summer. Signs have now been prepared and baseball, stone throwing and snow balling will not be allowed.

Now that the buildings have been put in good repair and are looking their best with the new painting, every effort will be made to keep both grounds and buildings in better condition and cases of vandalism are to be dealt with effectively before the proper authorities. An unusually large number of permits have been issued and a decided increase in enrollment on Wednesday is looked for.

WEDDED 53 YEARS

Sackville Post.—Rev. T. D. Hart and Mrs. Hart, Weldon street, recently celebrated in a very quiet way, their 53th wedding anniversary. The date fell on Thursday of last week, August 24. This venerable and highly respected couple are still enjoying reasonably good health, although suffering from impaired eyesight. Of the guests who attended the wedding more than half a century ago, only two remain, and both are living in Sackville, viz: Mrs. Harmon Humphrey and H. F. Pickard. Miss Louise Hart, a missionary in India is now visiting her parents, and they are also looking forward to a visit from another daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Spencer, who together with her husband has for many years been laboring among the Indians of Northern British Columbia. Two other daughters are in Japan and two reside here in Sackville. The sons are Dr. E. R. Hart of this town and Dr. Fred Hart of Indian Head, Sask.

IF A BOY, WILL HAVE A FORTUNE OF $40,000,000

If Nob Then Great Sum Will Go to a Hospital in New York.

Paris, Aug. 16—(A. P. by mail)—Princess Xenia of Greece, niece of King Constantine and wife of William Leeds, Jr., is at present in Paris with her husband, expecting an addition to the family. If a boy is born to the princess he will inherit the entire $40,000,000 fortune of the late William Leeds, American tinplate king.

The $40,000,000 is now in the form of a trust fund, the interest on which is drawn by Princess Christopher (formerly Mrs. William Leeds). Upon the death of the American princess the interest will revert to her son, husband of Princess Xenia. In the event of his death or that of his wife, the fortune will go to a male heir. If there be one, as the American law provides that a trust fund shall cease with the third generation.

Yvonne Leeds and his wife are living with Prince and Princess Christopher at a fashionable hotel in Paris. Princess Christopher's allowance to them enables them to entertain lavishly. The youthful couple spend most of their time automobileing, yachting and airplanning. They probably will accompany the princess on her visit to the United States this autumn.

A much criticism is said to have arisen in Greece over the continued absence of Princess Christopher, who is King Constantine's youngest brother. All his brothers and nephews are serving their country or the army in some capacity, while Christopher is alleged to be living a life of indolence and pleasure in Paris on the gold of his affluent American wife. It has not yet been decided whether he will accompany her to America, as some meetings apparently are felt to be to the cordial of his welcome there. So far the prince has not yet even visited England because of the known prejudice of the British against his brother, Constantine.

Mrs. Leeds was married to Prince Christopher in January of 1920 in Switzerland. Her son married Princess Xenia in Paris in last October.

JUDGMENTS OF INTEREST IN CHANCERY COURT

Two very interesting judgments were delivered today in the Chancery court by Sir Douglas Hazen, Chief Justice, one of which the defendant agreed to.

The other concerning parties in Woodstock. The local matter was that of W. George Gray vs. Harold Chadwick. It had to do with the matter of the land in the Manawaggonish road in July 1921. There was an agreement in writing between the parties by which the defendant agreed to deliver to the plaintiff four or ten acres of a cemetery syndicate as its agent, nine acres in the Mahogany road "as marked by stakes," for the sum of $5,000. On July 10 the plaintiff, who was acting for a cemetery syndicate as its agent, nine acres in the Mahogany road "as marked by stakes," for the sum of $5,000. On July 10 the plaintiff, who was acting for a cemetery syndicate as its agent, nine acres in the Mahogany road "as marked by stakes," for the sum of $5,000.

The defendant claimed specific performance of the original agreement and in his judgment Chief Justice Hazen upheld him with costs, finding against the plaintiff's claim. F. H. Teed represented the plaintiff and J. H. A. Fairweather and E. F. Raymond were for the defendant.

In the matter of J. A. Gibson vs. Grover C. Campbell, both of Woodstock, N. B., a bond given by the defendant to the plaintiff in connection with the plaintiff's application for a perpetual injunction failed. The case had to do with the matter of the defendant starting in business in Woodstock, not to enter in partnership with the plaintiff and the plaintiff's application for a perpetual injunction failed. The case had to do with the matter of the defendant starting in business in Woodstock, not to enter in partnership with the plaintiff and the plaintiff's application for a perpetual injunction failed.

Magistrate Ritchie, before leaving for St. Stephen this morning for the holiday, held court at 7.30 o'clock, and remanded five men who were brought before him. Two men, charged with drunkenness, pleaded guilty and were sent below. Lloyd George Miller, charged with being drunk and resisting C. N. R. policemen Pierce and Barber, also pleaded guilty, as were Frank Kelly and Harry Short, charged with being drunk and violently assaulting Sergeant Spilner and Policeman Ganter.

EXHIBITION NOTES

A telephone switchboard has been installed at the exhibition grounds and persons who wish to speak to anybody down town are asked to call the operator instead of the phone in the administrative building. The switchboard is in the exhibition area south of the main building has been set aside as a parking place for those who own automobiles. Cars parked in the exhibition area may be held for $2, while fifty cents is the amount charged for an individual occasion.

GEORGE W. DAMERY

Friends will be sorry to learn of the death of George W. Damery, which occurred yesterday in the General Public Hospital. He was formerly a resident of this city, but of late years had resided in Amherst. He was a moulder, and was employed for years in the old Harris Foundry, where he was in charge of the mill. He had resided with his son, William, at 118 Harrison street, since his father's death. He was survived by his wife, Mrs. Damery, and two sons, William and Frederick J. The funeral will take place from his son's residence at 8.45 o'clock on Monday morning.

EXHIBITION POLICE

At the request of the exhibition management fifteen men were sworn in by the police this morning at special police for the exhibition grounds and they went on duty this morning at eight o'clock. Those sworn in are as follows:—Thomas Black, George Collins, Thomas W. Trotter, William A. Beckett, Louis MacDonald, Leo J. Donovan, James H. Pitt, William Daley, William C. Barker, James H. Graves, Frank A. Copley, H. G. MacAuliffe, George McLaughlin, F. B. Moulton and John Nixon. Fourteen were sworn in yesterday and the other this morning.

TYPHOID CASES

Typoid fever still continues to appear at frequent intervals. There was one case reported last week, and one case was reported from the General Public hospital this morning. This case came from a house where there was a case some time ago. All the cases recently have come from one section in the north end of the city, and the health authorities cannot find the cause, despite diligent work. The sanitation is good, and there is no complaint so far as the milk supply is concerned.

IN THE MARKET

There were good supplies on hand in the city market this morning, and business was fairly brisk. The following prices were quoted: Beef, 20 to 30c; veal, 15 to 20c; pork, 20 to 25c; ham, 35c; bacon, 40 to 45c; chicken, 45 to 50c; fowl, 25 to 30c; a pound potatoes, 30c to 35c; beans, 30c; green tomatoes, 50c; apples, 30 to 60c a peck; cauliflower, 10 to 20c; cabbage, 10c; celery, 10 to 15c; lettuce, radish, mint and parsley, 5c; beets and carrots, 7c; squash, 5c; green peppers, 10 to 15c a pound; blueberries, 7c; cranberries, 10 to 15c a quart; cucumbers, 7c a peck; corn, 15 to 30c a dozen; eggs, 40 to 50c a dozen; butter, 30 to 35c a pound.

WILL GO BEYOND THE INJUNCTION IF NECESSARY

Washington, Sept. 2.—From the White House comes the declaration that the federal government will not stop with the restraining order if it finds "that other means are necessary" to overcome the railway strike. The injunction granted yesterday extends until Sept. 11.

NAVY PICTURES

A GREAT SERIES

Imperial Patrons Thrilled by Vivid Portrayal of Work of the Fleet.

The Imperial theatre patrons last night were delighted with six reels of navy pictures shown and explained by Lieutenant the Rev. Edwin Smith, R. N., who himself took part in many of the scenes. There are fourteen reels of this powerful pictorial account of the navy's work photographed under direct Admiralty supervision, but only 10 were shown on account of the shortness of time.

The training of the cadets, the first step in making sailors for the navy, was the subject of the first reel. This was followed by the mine-sweepers and the naval air service work, showing, for the first time, the mystery ships of the British navy, the carriers of seaplanes. Then came a reel showing the king's visit to the fleet at sea. The sinking of the Vendictive at Ostend was portrayed up to the point where she was taken by the mine-sweepers. As a grand climax came pictures of the Grand Fleet getting underway and in action off Jutland. The picture was completed with a series of the fleet's maneuvers, showing the Admiral Sir Doveton Sturdee, the hero of the Falkland Islands light. The pictures were well applauded and were followed with tense interest. They will be shown again this afternoon and evening.

RECALLS AWFUL EXPERIENCE IN OTTAWA VALLEY

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—(By Canadian Press)—Rotarian J. E. Caldwell, of Ottawa, told Hull Rotarians something very interesting in connection with the fire which he recounted his experiences fifty-two years ago on Aug. 17, when the whole of the Ottawa valley was fire swept and the fate of the present Minister of Education in the Ontario government lost his life.

Rotarian Caldwell said that in those days when he was a small boy, there was not a cleared farm on the Ontario side of the Ottawa river, and such things as straw and fence were used for fuel. The country for two months had been without rain and was parched from one end of the valley to the other. The farmers, as was usual at that time of the year were assisting clearing operations by firing areas. On August 17, 1970, a gale of wind sprang up which increased to hurricane strength by ten o'clock at night fanning the smouldering clearing fires into one raging conflagration which swept the valley, burning farms and cattle wholesale. He said that he remembered being taken from his home and carried to his sister's arms, from his home at what is now City View, to a spring well, where, after being thoroughly drenched with water, he, along with his lungs, found an unburned field where they slept all night. At that time the Franco-Prussian war was on and there was talk of the end of the world, and faced by the terrible conditions, he said his sisters thoroughly believed that it had arrived. "I never remembered anything so vivid as that," said Rotarian Caldwell, "nor have I ever since heard such fervent prayers as those which were uttered by my sisters that night of all nights."

Common Council Decides to Discuss the Hydro Contract With Provincial Commission

That a conference should be held between the common council and the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission in regard to the contract for the Musquash current was the decision reached at yesterday afternoon's committee meeting of the council with J. B. M. Baxter, the city solicitor, present.

All the commissioners declared themselves in favor of negotiating certain factors of the draft contract already submitted by the power commission, while Commissioners Thornton and Wigmore came out flatly in opposition to signing the present contract. It was decided to confer among themselves before meeting the power commission and for these conferences the services of F. P. Vaughan, electrical expert, will be obtained, if possible. This was decided on motion of Commissioner Frink.

The expunging from the records of the appointment of a civic hydro commission and the powers conferred on this commission was accomplished on motion. It was decided also to have the mayor bring down all correspondence in regard to hydro matters.

Regarding the application to the power commission for ten million kilowatt hours per annum, Mr. Baxter contended that it would be puerile to expunge from the record something which the council already had done. Answering the mayor, the solicitor declared that the city could legally withdraw its application. He was in no wise suggesting this course. It was merely his legal opinion.

The resolution having been attended to, the mayor declared that it now became the duty of the council to declare its policy in regard to hydro, "in regard to the acquisition of the current and the distribution," he added. Before the city solicitor could intelligently frame a contract, he first must know the mind of the council in this regard, said the mayor.

Commissioner Bullock spoke first. He began by saying that he had been trying to obtain a copy of the act passed at the last session of the legislature, whereby the city would be protected if it entered into competition with the New Brunswick Power Company. He felt the council should have a copy of that act to make sure whether its moves were legal. He had been informed that copies had not yet been obtained from the official printer.

As to policy, he felt that a flexible arrangement should be entered into with the N. B. Electric Power Commission. "We have the stuff and we know the maximum of cost," he asserted. The policy that would give to the citizens the maximum of advantage from the Musquash development was the policy he advocated.

"Well, your worship, when you assumed the office of mayor, you advanced a policy and programme which at the present time, owing to these recent rescindings, does not appear to have made much progress," Commissioner Frink remarked. A mandate had been obtained from the people in regard to a policy of civic distribution and he was unaware that the city had departed from that order. He reiterated his own private opinion that a civic distribution system was not needed.

"For this reason I cannot submit a policy," declared the commissioner. His policy would differ essentially from that for which he voted at the council meeting of May 10 last.

"Regarding a policy," said Commissioner Thornton, on rising, "I think we have one on record here." He then read as follows, from the preamble of the resolution of May 10:

"Whereas, the electors of the city have expressed at the polls their mandate that the current shall be distributed by a civic agency in order that the present conditions of monopolistic control of the distribution of electricity shall be ended and in order that all the benefits to be derived from the new development shall be secured to the public generally and applied to stimulate industry," and so on.

"This action," contended Mr. Thornton, "is still on record. It has not been rescinded in any shape. We were all agreed then in this respect, no matter what are our individual opinions were on the matter."

The mayor here enlightened the council still further in regard to the section read by Commissioner Thornton. "While it is true that a civic agency is mentioned, I do not think that anything is said to the manner."

Commissioner Frink demurred at this. "I can hardly see it that way. The mandate from the people was to carry into effect immediately the policy of civic distribution."

"If necessary," interjected the mayor, "I will accept that qualification."

The mayor broke in again. He declared that when consulting with the united organizations he always had been the intention to use a civic distribution policy to bring the Power company to terms.

Commissioner Frink then rose and placed the issue before the council. "In order that progress might be made, if I were in favor of a civic distribution system, I'd move a resolution to that effect right now."

Commissioner Thornton rose after several minutes had passed and declared that he did not see how the council could determine this matter until satisfaction had been obtained from the Power Commission. He had heard certain things regarding the Moncton contract and it looked as though St. John were a secondary consideration.

Mayor McLellan remarked that it would require one generator to energize the Moncton wire.

Commissioner Wigmore arrived and apologized for his tardiness. He had listened to the discussion just previous and he declared that he could not vote for signing a contract with the Power Commission in the contract's present form. He fell in line with Commissioner Thornton's suggestion to get in touch with the Power Commission.

Commissioner Bullock expressed himself as being in favor of meeting the Commission before dealing with a system. It was decided that the city would take the current and the contract was the main item. He remarked that the former mayor, E. A. Schofield, had prepared a draft copy. He would like to see this. He moved that the committee recommend to the council that it be a committee to consult with the Power Commission in regard to the contract.

Mr. Wigmore said that the only question was would the council first discuss what it would ask, or simply meet the commissioners unprepared?

This brought Commissioner Frink to the floor. "We have been at this question for eighteen months," he contended. "We know the cost. It is 1.2 per cent. We are not assuming that it will be more. The government has assured us time and again on this point, and I will not believe that this government is trying a three card monte game on the citizens of St. John. The government is responsible to the people of this province and, verbally and in writing, it has given its word that the power is there and that cost will be so much. If the N. B. Power Company were not in existence and the current were available, would we hesitate for one minute about digging for our own poles? The Power Company has the equipment. We can purchase that."

Dr. Baxter—"Or go into competition."

Commissioner Frink—"Or build our own system on the order of the people."

Getting back to the motion, the mayor said he had just one question to ask. Was it to be understood that the council would ignore the request of the city solicitor for an expression of the mind of the council?

He was interrupted by Dr. Baxter, who declared that that was hardly the case. He had no responsibility for the views of the council in regard to a contract. Commissioner Frink had another motion in the shape of a recommendation to the council that the committee be allowed to secure the service of F. P. Vaughan, the electrical expert suggested by the city solicitor to advise him, if his services were obtainable. This motion also carried and committee then adjourned to meet on notice next week.

As Rugged as the Mountain Roads "GUTTA PERCHA" TIRES

"Enduring as Bronze"—the old Romans used to say. It might apply to a "Gutta Percha" Tire. Endurance is the quality tire makers try to get and motorists insist upon having. Roads rugged with rocks will put the "third degree" on most tires. Here is where the "Gutta Percha" Tires show the stuff they are made of. "Gutta Percha" Tires give a prodigious amount of wear. Little perfections in skill and science and art too, perhaps wholly undiscovered in most factories, have been the secret of making "Gutta Percha" Tires so good. The unusual respect shown to "Gutta Percha" Tires by motorists and the Trade in general proves that we have found the way—and we mean to keep on.

PRICE: What a tire costs depends entirely on the service it gives. "Gutta Percha" Tires are the "Tires that Cost Least."

3 HURT AT STORE OPENING

Through Breaks Truly Warner Plate-Glass Window.

The lure of free cigars and punch brought so great a throng to the opening of Truly Warner's new hat store in East Forty-second street, New York, that three boys were pushed through a plate-glass show window and suffered lacerations. Edgar D. Gould, vice president of the company, was served with a summons for maintaining a public nuisance.

A half page advertisement invited the public to attend the opening, where a band was to play jazz for an old-fashioned house warming. At eleven o'clock the store force was welcoming every one in; just after noon the surging crowd pushed in the plate-glass window, and at 1:30 the police were telling the public to stay away.

To Holders of Five Year 5 1/2 per cent Canada's Victory Bonds

Issued in 1917 and Maturing 1st December, 1922.

CONVERSION PROPOSALS

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE offers to holders of these bonds who desire to continue their investment in Dominion of Canada securities the privilege of exchanging the maturing bonds for new bonds bearing 5 1/2 per cent interest, payable half yearly, of either of the following classes:—

- Five year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1927.
- Ten year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1932.

While the maturing bonds will carry interest to 1st December, 1922, the new bonds will commence to earn interest from 1st November, 1922, GIVING A BONUS OF A FULL MONTH'S INTEREST TO THOSE AVAILING THEMSELVES OF THE CONVERSION PRIVILEGE.

This offer is made to holders of the maturing bonds and is not open to other investors. The bonds to be issued under this proposal will be substantially of the same character as those which are maturing, except that the exemption from taxation does not apply to the new issue.

Holders of the maturing bonds who wish to avail themselves of this conversion privilege should take their bonds AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE, BUT NOT LATER THAN SEPTEMBER 30th, to a Branch of any Chartered Bank in Canada and receive in exchange an official receipt for the bonds surrendered, containing an undertaking to deliver the corresponding bonds of the new issue.

Holders of maturing fully registered bonds, interest payable by cheque from Ottawa, will receive their December 1 interest cheque as usual. Holders of coupon bonds will detach and retain the last unmaturing coupon before surrendering the bond itself for conversion purposes.

The surrendered bonds will be forwarded by banks to the Minister of Finance at Ottawa, where they will be exchanged for bonds of the new issue, in fully registered, or coupon registered or coupon bearer form carrying interest payable 1st May and 1st November of each year of the duration of the loan, the first interest payment accruing and payable 1st May, 1923. Bonds of the new issue will be sent to the banks for delivery immediately after the receipt of the surrendered bonds.

The bonds of the maturing issue which are not converted under this proposal will be paid off in cash on the 1st December, 1922.

W. S. FIELDING,
Minister of Finance.

Dated at Ottawa, 8th August, 1922.

IRON, STEEL, METAL AND MACHINERY

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets, Canadian Manufacturers' Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following comment in its August 24 issue:—

While it is a fact that a few months ago the steel and iron trade throughout the world had been depressed by a general business to resist any influence that made for inflation in places, today it is evident such a movement is receiving some encouragement. This, it is claimed, is one result of the attitude represented by the concession to striking coal miners by the operators, a concession for which the public must pay. Advances from Pittsburgh declare that banking interests have practically acquiesced in a drifting policy until such time as mounting production costs, to which labor demands are declared to be contributing unreasonably, much reach the breaking point and economic law brings about the inevitable remedy. This is actually reflected in the market today when difficulties of delivery, and uncertainties of price make for unsettled conditions.

More significance than was at first looked for seems to attach to the advance of twenty per cent in wages by the United States Steel Corporation, for it was shown that stability had been in evidence up to the present time. Coal costs must rise with the reinstatement of the 1920 wage scale, and it is this factor that has to be considered, together with the possibilities of labor trouble in the steel industry. Authorities declare that such prices as are predicted cannot last indefinitely, that high wage rates, shortage of materials and transportation must bring about a crisis must time in 1923, and that stern lessons in economics are going to be taught in the readjustment.

In the Canadian market today $45 pig iron is the price for the not-far-distant future. In fact Algoma Steel is quoted at $45.00 for a somewhat nominal price, as there is not a great quantity available for immediate delivery. Domestic supplies on contract are being shipped and foundries entering the market are confronted by conditions that recall war-time problems. Canadian furnaces are confronted by the advanced coal rates, by a steady increase in wages, and the outlook is one that indicates a general upheaval in prices of steel and iron and their products.

It is too early to say what the effect will be upon industry generally. Reactions from the country indicate that buoyancy and optimism, and that being the case, the upward movement may be more easily absorbed, at least for a few days. But for August, on the whole, has been good, better in fact than is generally the case for a holiday month. Seasonal engineering and building orders, or in unusually large scale, have helped materially.

As announced in last week's market reports, steel pipe prices have at last succumbed to the upward movement. Manufacturers at distance from sources of raw material are laboring under conditions of difficulty in securing supplies of sheet. These are the days when the car scout has to be particularly keen, with hills on one hand, combining cars, on the other, and the other hand, with transportation beset by many uncertainties. Advances in prices all along the line have at last brought an increase declared by some to be long overdue, of $6 per ton on black piping and $4 per ton on galvanized.

Steel companies in Pittsburgh and district have withdrawn all prices and a radical upward revision in lists may be expected. Commenting on the situation during the past week his faller off. Quotations are swinging upward and there appears to be curtailment of consumption, for the market is not taking kindly to speculative factors, which are the usual development of protracted strikes. The policy of watchful waiting seems to be preferred by some, and this would indicate that demands on business are not so insistent in some quarters as to consider premium prices favorably. Even the quotations on imported Sumner's pipe have advanced to $33 dock, and $38.00 in lots of five tons or more, warehouse. Some foundries are already in the market. There is little change in the non-ferrous section, but some interest is being shown in cast iron scrap, which is none too plentiful.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

(Amherst News.) "The lumber business is not overly brisk, but if a person keeps hustling, they stand a chance of picking up a number of small orders." This was a statement that C. H. Read made in the News yesterday, when being questioned about the results of his recent trip to Massachusetts. Mr. Read said a number of carloads of lumber, but his largest order from one firm was slightly over 800,000 feet, and he was told that this had been the largest order, taken by one firm for a good many months, in the vicinity of Boston.

"Although building in the states appears to be brisk, most of the lumber merchants are well stocked up, and their yards are filled. They intend to sell out most of the stock before they commence replacement. Only in the cases where they desired some special material, or lumber of a specified kind, was I able to get an order. The situation has been very quiet since July, although in the early spring it showed some slight movement," concluded Mr. Read.

In reference to local conditions Mr. Read remarked that in his opinion only small cuts would be made this winter, owing to the fact that many of the smaller lumber men were unable to swing the necessary finances to put large crews in the woods.

SUCCESSION DUES LARGE IN QUEBEC

Quebec, Sept. 1.—Supplementary information regarding the $3,005,292.66 duties on successions collected by the provincial revenue in the course of the fiscal year ended on June 30, announced in the fiscal year report, were supplied by A. Beah, comptroller of provincial revenue. The province has collected nearly $1,000,000 more succession duties in the concluding fiscal year, though the duties have not been increased. This is credited to the fact that several estates were awaiting decisions of the Privy Council which proved favorable to the province. In fact, the duties on successions for the year 1920-21 amounted to $2,100,485.91. The estate of the late G. H. Eddy of Hull, is responsible alone for dues paid amounting to $650,000, with the probability of more to follow. Amongst the other large dues collected are $100,000 on the estate of the late Sir William Van Horne; $54,999.35 on the estate of the late Hon. Sidney Fisher, former minister of agriculture; $41,947.96 on the estate of Alexander Graham of Montreal; $30,983.18 on the estate of James C. Duffield of London, England; $44,299.94 on the estate of Frank Ross of Quebec; $85,111.01 on the estate of Narcisse Kiogac, Quebec; $28,997.91 on the estate of Thomas C. Aylin, Quebec; $19,158.01 on the estate of Anne L. M. Irvine, Quebec; $17,493.93 on the estate of Alexis Gour of Montreal; $11,000 on the estate of John W. Peck estate, Montreal; $10,000 on the estate of Henry Munderloh, Montreal; $12,858.55 on the estate of Jessie Fowler, Montreal; $38,314.19 on the estate of James McNeill, Quebec; $14,777.98 on the estate of George Patry, Quebec; $12,918.98 on the estate of Charles Pettigrew, Quebec; $12,988.17 on the estate of Edna Chapman, Montreal; $13,232.70 on the estate of L. P. Sirois, Quebec; $10,927.23 on the estate of Charles Cassels, Montreal; $6,125 on the estate of Sir David Watson, Quebec.

From Foreign Estates. Duties collected on foreign estates, generally for shares of railways or banks in Canada, amounted to $412,407.41. Among the foreign estates paying heavy imposts were those of Sir Frank Bowden of London, England; $5,964; T. C. Boyd, London, England, $8,608.17.

In the district of Montreal the total amount of duties collected in the succession amounted to $1,268,032.76, while in the district of Quebec the total amounted to $349,993.19. It will be observed from these figures that Quebec, with an eighth of the population of the city of Montreal pays under the succession charges out of proportion to her size.

DAMAGED BY FUNGUS. Paris, Sept. 2.—One of the most famous historic buildings in France, the Palais de Versailles, is seriously threatened with partial collapse by reason of a mushroom, according to a report just issued by the authorities who have been investigating the condition of the woodwork. A fungus, which the scientist call phellium erythrura develops inside the wooden beams which have been rendered fireproof on the surface, and when subjected to damp transforms them into pulp. The damage done is already considerable, a large number of beams and rafters having been destroyed, and wonderful carved wood panelings also being badly affected. The museum authorities are now trying to determine what means can be taken to remedy the damage, or at least, prevent its spreading.

MODERN SYSTEM OF TAILORING TO CUSTOM MEASURE

How a Prompt Four-Day Delivery Schedule Helped Build Business

CUSTOM SUITS, $25 TO $50

Tailored by Specialists and a Perfect Fit and Good Wear Are Guaranteed.

The tailor who would guarantee that he would finish every suit within four days after he took the customer's measure would soon be much sought after. If the quality of his work were equal to his promptness he would be inundated with orders.

In the biggest and best wholesale tailoring house in Canada, the four-day schedule on all suits made to custom-measure has been carried out for eighteen years.

In 1905, the total sales of Special Orders in the Semi-ready shops in Montreal amounted to $300,000, and it was a minor feature of their business. Today in the same shops there is a well-organized department doing a business in custom tailoring alone of $500,000 a year.

The growth of the Special Order department is ascribed to the prompt four-day schedule, whereby suits or overcoats are received before noon on Monday are cut, tailored and parcelled ready for shipment on Thursday evening. Even at holiday rush time there are few delays, and then only when the orders received required special patterns to be made for them.

There are over 400 Semi-ready stores and Special Order merchants in Canada. In the larger stores, a full stock of Semi-ready clothes, tailored to the try-on stage, is carried for inspection. The Special Order is always a useful adjunct, for it gives the customer a choice of a million-dollar stock in patterns and styles should he not find just what he fancies in the garments already tailored.

Each Special Order is given individual making from the web of cloth carried in the warehouse. Within an hour after the Photo-type measurement form is received the order is properly on its way through the shops and in the hands of cutters and specialized tailors.

A Special Order outfit has been described as a "Complete Tailor Shop in a Box." It carries sample swatches cut from a stock of fine woolsens valued at $750,000. For the Special Order patterns include also the cloths from which all the big Semi-ready stores order their stock goods.

In St. John, in Ottawa as in Quebec City an order for a custom-tailored suit is delivered on the morning of the sixth day.

In Winnipeg and other Western cities, as well as in Halifax, one just figures time taken by a letter to reach Montreal, and the quick return by express or parcel post.

Many customers find that the parcel post charges are much more reasonable than are the express charges. "We never have any trouble with our Special Order tailoring," said one man who has sold thousands of these custom-made garments, "and we never look for any, for the Semi-ready Company guarantee that each order shall be made up exactly as designated on a photo-type form which is akin to the Physique-type system that has made Semi-ready tailoring so much sought after."

The Special Order department of the Semi-ready Shops does not compete with the larger department of stock goods, but is rather a useful reinforcement.

Some of the best tailors in Canada advocate and use the system for its uniformity of quality, its same price everywhere and its ever-satisfying guarantee.

"We stick to quality, to pure wool weaves and good weavers and leave the cheap material severely alone. A good suit cannot be produced and sold for less than $25 today," said the President of the Company in a letter to his customers.

"I shall be glad to show these new samples to anyone who likes good clothes," said George Creary, of Creary's store in St. John.

GREAT INTEREST IN MONCTON FOOTBALL

Billy Monaghan, Wanderers' Star, will be a Member of Railway Town Squad.

(Moncton Transcript) Moncton intends to go in for football in earnest this fall, according to announcements of several promoters. Practice will be commenced early and a measure of training for the players is also under consideration.

This city had a revival of English Rugby two years ago and for the past two seasons Moncton has been represented by a senior team. With very few practices and little coaching the team, both of these years, has made a very creditable showing. Critics of the game declare that there is material here for one of the best outfits in the Maritime Provinces and all that is needed is the developing of it. The majority of the players have now had two years' experience and will be in the game this year in earnest.

A valuable adjunct to the squad this season will be Billy Monaghan, Halifax Wanderers' football and hockey star, who has secured a position in this city. In addition to being captain of the Wanderers' hockey team last year and one of the best defences in the Maritime League, he was a member of the Wanderers' football team, playing at quarter where he excelled. The Wanderers always place an exceptionally fast runner in the field. Last year, the only team in the Maritime Provinces to successfully dispute with them, was Mt. Allison's Intercollegiate Squad, which tied the Wanderers at Halifax, 3—3, and defeated them at Sackville, 6—0. Mr. Monaghan has had much football experience and possesses a knowledge of the game which should prove valuable to the local team. In conversation with the Transcript, he expressed his willingness to do what he could towards making football "go" here this year.

Considerable talk is already current in local sporting circles concerning Moncton's chances on the gridiron and it is believed that practically all of last year's squad will turn out this year and considerable new material is in sight.

How Fat Actress Was Made Slim

Many stage people now depend entirely upon Marmola Prescription Tablets for reducing and controlling fat. One clever actress tells that she reduced steadily and easily by using this new form of the famous Marmola Prescription Tablets at one dollar for a case, or if you prefer you can secure them direct from the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich.—you have not tried them so. They are harmless and effective.

THE CIVICS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

The Civics won the championship of the Civic and Civil Service League for the 1922 season, when they downed the Post Office crew on the Rockwood Park diamond last evening, 8 to 5. The winners had come through as leaders of the league series, and by virtue of their win last evening, they capped the post series title, just noosing out the Water Department, which was tied with them until last night's game. Torry and Evans was the battery for the losers, while Hatfield and Blair carried the burden for the Civics. Up to the fourth inning the game was close, both pitchers receiving good support. This is the first attempt to have such a league, and the venture has proved so successful that the league will be continued every year. There was a good-sized crowd on hand last evening to see the last game.

MALONE FEARS ARREST OF CHAUFFEUR WILL RUIN HIS PENCIL TRADE

New York, Sept. 2.—Propped up in his bed in his suite of two rooms and bath at the Hotel Marlborough, Broadway and Thirty-sixth street, Horton Malone bewailed the publicity which threatens to ruin his thriving business. He and his wife spend their winters in the south and they have just returned after a two months' stay at Lake Mohawk. Through a misadventure which befell the crippled chauffeur it developed that the legless Malone was an enterprising and successful beggar.

The chauffeur, David Morrison, was arrested in Malone's car about two weeks ago with a man and woman who aroused the suspicions of the police. Morrison employed two lawyers to defend him. When he was freed after several days he paid only one. The other attached Malone's car for $116.

The attachment was a shock to Malone. He declared that he had no money and would have to forfeit the car.

"That's not the worst of it," he added, "the papers are getting this and will play me up as a rich beggar. If I am, I'm a mighty poor rich beggar. They talk about my suite at the Marlborough. It's an inexpensive two rooms. I'd have only one if my mother-in-law wasn't visiting me for a few weeks, and next week my wife and I are moving into a small flat uptown. "They talk of my winters in the south. I work sixteen hours a day every day in the south. I'm a concessionaire at fairs, and I have a doll stand, while my wife manages a sandwich-and-coffee stand. We make enough that way to carry us through the summers with my pencil-vending in New York."

In the corner of the room stood an intricately made pair of artificial legs which the pencil-vender uses in the evening when, silk-shirted and carefully clad, he goes out with his wife.

Malone is twenty-nine years old and has a clean-cut, alert, ruddy face. His wife is twenty-three, plump and red-haired. The mother-in-law, Mrs. Sara Demka of Pittsburg, said that Malone was a concessionaire for fairs ten years before a railroad train run over his legs. "He met my daughter in Pittsburgh and three months after they were married had his accident, for which he is still suing the railroad. It's lucky that he married a professional nurse." They were interrupted by the entry of photographers, whose presence Malone fiercely resented. "You put my picture in the paper," he cried, "and every cop in New York will say: 'You're the guy in the papers—get off my beat!'"

He refused to pose.

"It's making him ill again," said his wife, "and he needs his strength now more than ever, because we're broke. Besides, I haven't the endurance to sit up with him night after night as I did for two years after his accident."

SPECULATE ABOUT NEXT GOVERNMENT

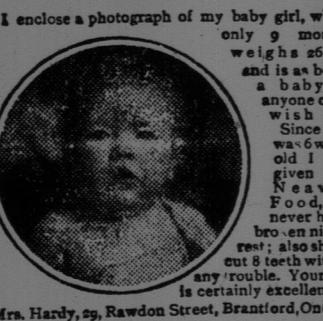

Opinion That Elections Will Bring Another Coalition

Future of Lloyd George—Comment on Irish Affairs—Death of Lord Northcliffe—Some of the Secrets of the War Being Revealed.

(From Our Own Correspondent)

London, August 17.—It is significant that serious politicians are already discussing the probable composition of the next government. Politics and parties are at this moment in such a confused state, and immediate events are so critically unsure, that the discussion necessarily is highly speculative. But one finds a growing conviction that, unless the domestic jars of the other parties play altogether into the hands of Labor and give them an unexpected majority in the next parliament, where, at any rate, they are likely to muster at least double their present strength, another coalition will emerge from the next general election. Both Conservatives and Liberals are showing a very marked tendency in many cases to compound with local susceptibilities by standing next to Conservatives or Liberals solely, and without any sort of pledge to a group ministry. During the present recess there will be much quiet canvassing in the constituencies by members and agents anxious to sound the political waters. Much may depend on the results of these inquiries. But it seems to be fairly well agreed that as things are now shaping, no one party is likely to be better balanced than the present.

London, August 17.—It is significant that serious politicians are already discussing the probable composition of the next government.

Lloyd George's Future. Immensely complicating this obscure problem of the political future is the still inscrutable personal problem of Lloyd George's future.

It was on Lord Northcliffe's world tour last year, that the first signs of illness showed themselves, and by the time he had reached India it was evident that something was wrong, but no one anticipated an end so tragic.

Ireland's Great Loss. The death of Arthur Griffiths is to Ireland even more than the death of Lord Kitchener was to England during the war, for Lord Kitchener's greatest task...

the formation of the Kitchener armies, had been performed... The operations leading up to the fall of Cork have been quite respectable strategically, and the staff work of the Free State has been faultlessly commented on by qualified judges.

Erskine Childers was happiest in planning minor operations, such as the early seaplane raids on the German coast which "rattled" the High Sea Fleet very considerably, and he had as confidants the pick of the adventurous N. B. S. pilots and observers.

Behind Caporetto. Gradually and by slow degrees some of the really big secrets of the war are being revealed. I do not refer to those close official secrets, like the sinking of the Audacious or the existence of the O boats, which were known to even the man in the street, but to those secrets of high politics and great strategy which were concealed even from the staffs of the high military commands and from all but the most influential ministers.

An Expert Blunder. Another interesting fact has just been disclosed in the course of the battleship controversy raised by Sir Percy Scott. A naval designer of high position has mentioned a remarkable thing. Before the war the question of the probable range at which modern fleet actions would be fought was most carefully considered by a committee of naval experts, who came to a fairly accurate and not merely the sides of modern warships needed protection.
