Germans Suffer Further Heavy Losses, Is the French Report.

Paris, Sept. 28.---The Germans made an attack last night in the Argonne region. Today's official statement says they were repulsed three times, suffering heavy losses.

"There was unusual activity last night over the greater part of the front. The Germans undertook a series of attacks on the Aisne front, in the region of Pantheon, south of La Royere, in the region south of Ailles, and against our trenches northwest of Courcy. All these attacks were repulsed by our fire. "In the Argonne, at Four de Paris, northwest of Tahure and west of Navarrin, the enemy made three successive attacks against our positions, but the fire of our artillery and infantry prevented him from approaching our lines, inflicting heavy losses on him. "Spirited artillery engagements occurred on the right bank of the Meuse and also in the region of Hill 304. "Notwithstanding the unfavorable atmospheric conditions, our aviators last night dropped a large number of projectiles on the aviation grounds at Marville and Mars-les-Lour, the railway stations at Brieulles, Fleville and Romagne-sous-les-Cotes, and on barracks at Peuvillers and Sevry-sur-Meuse. All our objectives were attained."

Of Fourteen Millions on Military Lists, Less Than Half Are Left.

By Henry Wood.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

With the French Armies in the Field, Sept. 28.—Germany today has 6,800,000 men as the "human material" with which to enforce her demand for "a place in the sun." This is the "man-power" that remains out of a total of 14,000,000 men who have figured on German military lists and passed through the hands of Germany's military arbiters. Of the 6,800,000, approximately 5,500,000 are actually at the front, and 600,000 more are in reserves.

The remaining 700,000 constitute one of the greatest tragedies of war. They are the boy soldiers of classes of 1919 and 1920. They constitute the only resource of "human material" upon which Germany has to draw. They must fill up losses in the German army which with a major Allied of of "human material" upon which Germany has to draw. They must fill up losses in the German army which, with no major Allied offensive in progress, normally total from 70,000 to 80,000 monthly. To date, however, the German general staff has not yet succeeded in imposing upon the German people its right to seize these youths before they are eighteen. Therefore, this last drop of potential German manhood cannot pass into the army except in piecemeal lots as the boys attain to the age of 18.

$100,000 More required To Complete System, Reports Engineer.

The board of control, at the meeting this morning, authorized City Treasurer James S. Bell to sell to citizens $125,000 in short-term debentures. Some time ago he sold $35,000 worth, and now he will dispose of the other issue. Of this money, $100,000 is for the London and Port-Stanley, and $25,000 for the London Health Association.

"We have demands for these bonds, and this looks like an opportune time to sell," said Mr. Bell.

C. B. King, manager of the London Street Railway, asked that the company be allowed to use asphalt on the track allowance on Adelaide street, north of Central avenue, instead of brick. It was impossible to get the latter, and he was of the opinion that asphalt would be just as good. It was decided to have one row of bricks on the inside of the rails and a row on the outside, the balance being asphalt.

Mrs. Leonard explained that the association had rented the Fraser House, as there was a great lack of accommodation. This entailed lack of accommodation. This entailed considerable expense, and it was felt that as the work the organization was doing was for the benefit of the city, the municipality should assist in some measure. action of the fruit committee would not have a derimental effect upon the fruit business.

"The Government says that it will require regular statements from all persons engaged in the trade as to turn lover and profits," he stated. "This will eliminate excess profiteering, of course, but the firms that have been accustomed to doing business on an honest, efficient basis will not suffer materially because of the new order. The small wholesale fruit owner is the only one liable to be put out of business, because he will not have sufficient dacking to withstand temporal losses which will undoubtedly result periodically in consequence of the move of the food controller."

Other London fruit men said that the action of the fruit and vegetable committee was decided upon to deal effectively with the fruit speculator whose operations frequently were not in the public interest. However, they pointed out that all fruit dealers were more or less speculators. All fruit is purchased on a chance of suffering losses. recruiting plans will be put into operation.

Fifteen hundred men will be called up for the draft in this district, it is estimated, although subsequent drafts will make the total of drafted men from this district much greater. It is understood that the instruction of the new recruits in Canada will be of an elementary nature only. All the advanced work and special training will be carried on in England where the facilities for such training are the best. For some time past the training of recruits all over the Empire has followed a syllabus that is supposed to take about fourteen weeks. Men may be sent overseas at the end of any week and continuing their training in England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the Recause of this system it is not likely the council of the church of any week and at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of England at the point at which they left of the council of the Church of the counci

A pretty wedding was solemized on Wednesday evening, when Carrie A., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lumsden, of 413 Horton street, this city, was united in marriage to Robert T. Baty of Wilton Grove. Rev. G. S. Lloyd of Glencoe officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, was unattended, and wore an ivory taffeta silk dress, trimmed with lace and pearls, and carried a corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas. The only ornament worn by the bride was an heirloom, of which she is the seventh heir. During the signing of the register, Charles Hall, brother-in-law of the bride, sang "O Promise Me." The Wedding March was played by Miss Violet Baty, sister of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Baty left for Lansing, Mich., and on their return will reside at Wilton Grove.

tered into the fuel business and cam consumer effectively through the agencies afforded by the fuel controler, who has the backing of the Dominion and American Governments. The Toronto Mail and Empire in nalyzing the situation quotes verified Government statistics prepared in the office of Commissioner O'Connor, who s now engaged in uprooting the bacon barons of the country. These show that the high cost of coal is in reality due to conditions existing on the American side of the border, where, by the way, President Wilson on September 1, fixed the prices of hard coal at the mines at levels that will make the cost on the cars in London $8.12, $8.67 and $8.92, according to the areas in which it is produced. And these rates are charged by the so-called 'independent' operators on whom those who father the civic fuel yard scheme place their reliance. Seat of Trouble in U. S.

Mail and Empire in its arguents, which make out a strong case against the investment of public money in such a worthless and hazardous undertaking, shows that in London's specific instance the actual average profit of the dealers for last year was but twenty-three cents a ton. But the fact with which Londoners are concerned is that even should they permit this heavy expenditure, which would become a direct charge against every piece of real estate in London, the backers of the scheme are absolutely unable to buy one pound of hard coal, and they admit it. A so-called expert was sent on a wild goose chase to the hard coal regions of the United States. He started off with a flourish of trumpets and a lot of enthusiasm and returned with nothing but an apology for his miser able failure and an expense account. Can't Buy Coal.

The producers of the United States have flatly refused to do business with a civic coalyard, claiming as an excuse for their well-known antagonism t public ownership, wherever it exists, that they are unable to handle any more "new business" and that their first obligations in this time of stress and threatened famine are toward their regular customers, with whom they have for years done business. The suggestion advanced that London should take her $25,000 and enter into American law courts in the hope of uprooting the coal combines and transportation trusts of the United States, is regarded as preposterous prodigality, and senseless extravagance that shall not be tolerated by those who would be called upon to foot the bill.

Who Is Making the Profits Out of the War?

Public condemnation of those who regard the war as a chance to make big profits is virtually unanimous. But opinion begins to divide when an attempt is made to identify these war profiteers. Thus A. C. Townley, President of the National Non-Partisan League, the new farmers' party, says, "There is a great difference between our patriotism, the patriotism of the men who toil that the profiteers may make $4,000,000,000, and the patriotism of the men who make the billions. While the farmers and other producers have been raising crops to feed the armies of liberty, making ships, and munitions, and implements of war, a lot of gentlemen have been spending their ample leisure in announcing their patriotism. When you work sixteen hours a day for liberty and democracy, you have not much time or will to waive the flag. . . . If we were to put in as much time waving it as they do, the whole world would starve On the other hand, the New York World in criticizing this same league of farmers, declares that to death.'

"Every speaker in that interesting assembly holds that although dollar wheat in time of peace was considered ideal, the cereal can not be profitably grown today unless the Government price is $3.00 a bushel." Private Disease Must Be Combatted by Constant Education.

ottawa, Sept. 27.—The morning session of the sixth annual congress of the Canadian Public Health Association which opened here this morning was devoted principally to a technical symposium on the various diseases which the army medical corps have contended with in the trenches and in all the branches of army life. Papers were read on the "Social Aspects of the Venereal Disease Problem," by Captain Gordon Bates, of the C. A. M. C., in conjunction with Captain D. T. Nerves Wrecked by Accident-Was Afraid to Go in a Crowd or to Stay Alone—Tells Of His Cure.

London, Sept. 28.—Much sympathy was felt in this city for Mr. Dorsey, who met with a distressing accident

The shock to the nervous system was so great that Mr. Dorsey was in a pittable condition for a long time. He was like a child in that he required like a child in that he required his mother's care nearly all the time. He feared a crowd, could not stay alone, and could not sleep because of the weak-ened and excited condition of his nerves. Detroit doctors did what they could Immigration Problems.

Dr. Page, in his presidential address, dealt principality with the immigration problems of Canada as compared with the United States. He referred to the more effective system in vogue in the United States of holding steamship companies responsible for the class of immigrants brought to the country, and fining the steamship companies without discrimination. The Government would only recognize the necessity of a public health department when public opinion proved strong enough to bring about the desired results. Dr. Page spoke of the indifference of the Canardian people to public health meetings, and referred to the small audiences that attended instructive lectures on this nature. It had been said by Mr. J. M. Gibbons, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, that in three years after the war the population of Canada would be from 12,000,000 to 15,000,000. It was now the time to get busy on the immigration problems, concluded the president.

THE UTTERLY THOUGHT-LESS.

There are few other than the utterly thoughtless who would be willing to pay the pri nilton Spectator

C URIOUSLY, among these "utterly thoughtless" people must be numbered Mr. Hanna himself. At the end of his statement confessing total inability to bring about better conditions in the food market, and after warning the nation of the dire, if temporary, results of trying to eliminate some of the unnecessary middlemen, the food controller says:

"The thoughtful, the public-spirit-ed and the just-minded men and ed and the just-minded men amin women who constitute the great bulk of our country's population would be quick to understand me when I say that the food controller will be among the first to welcome any reduction of the cost of our middleman system if, and when, the Canadian people show that they

"BLAZE YOUR OWN TRAIL"

FRED YOUNG, 18TH CANADIANS.

Our life's journey may well be compared to a man
Who explores tracts of forest unknown;
For we oft find our progress by obstacles barred,
While no way to o'ercome them is shown.
And how many there are who, like "Babes in the Wood,"
Will lie down to lament and bewail,
Unaware of the fact that the man who makes good
Must be able to blaze his own trail.

When our pioneer forefathers came to these shores,
A courageous and God-fearing band,
A vast, unbroken wilderness, trackless and grim,
Stood where city and hamlet now stand.
And a trip to a "trading post" meant a day's march,
While the wild beasts' cries skrieked in the gale.
But with courage undaunted, with compass and ax,
They went forward and blazed their own trail.

Now, the crowd has no time to make crooked paths stra And the man with a grouch they will shun. They will stand far aloof when a fellow's hard pressed, But will cheer when the goal he has won. So the man that wins out must press cheerfully on, E'en when others around him may fail, Who when obstacles threaten to turn him aside Will surmount them and blaze his own trail,

It is easy enough to float down with the stream
Or to wait for the turn of the tide;
But this busy old world in the present-day rush
Shoves the man who stands halting aside.
Twas long since placed on record for those who will read
That real grit and persistence prevail. ough success is elusive, she gives the glad hand To the man that can blaze his own trail.

The Advertiser's Daily Short Story

PLUM PUDDING HARRY.

By Willa Blaine. It was not without a struggle with his pride that Harry Tilston decided to make plum puddings the summer after he graduated from college. He had not decided as yet on his future career, but since any kind of a start in business as well as the law studies that he sometimes contemplated, was more or less dependent upon the possession of some amount of capital he accepted his mother's proposition to make plum puddings.

to her.

Harry devoted a good deal of the first few days in working out a system for regulating the steamers his mother used. Occasionally, in previous seasons, she had had to discard a few puddings because the steamer did not maintain an even temperature, and Harry began his labors by eliminating the trouble. He had installed a thermometer, made a change here and there in the drafts and flues of the stove, and that obstacle was overcome. Then he had spent a day in the nearest large city, and had there succeeded in buying the needed ingredients for the puddings at prices slightly below those that his mother had been able to secure. But though he made these changes in his mother's methods, he changed not a jot nor a tittle in the old rule which his mother used for the pudding, nor did he attempt to use any ingredients of an inferior quality. He seemed to have a tremendous respect for the pudding independent of his ancestors who ingredients of an interior seemed to have a tremendous respect for the good judgment of his ancestors who had brought that recipe from the old the good judgment of ma accessor that had brought that recipe from the old country.

One of the consignments of materials having been delayed in shipment. Harry sauntered forth one morning to purchase from the local grocer a sack of flour so that the day's energy need not be thrown away for lack of materials. He passed Laura Stevens, who called to him: "Hello, Mr. Tilston, I don't suppose you'll have time to come to the picnic tomorrow, now you've taken to making puddings with your mother."

And this was said with such a mingling of sweetness and contempt that Harry was filled with two mingled emotions—one of rage for the girl who had spoken thus and the other rage for the puddings that had tempted him apart from the lines of work that are usually considered suitable for young college graduates.

These words so soothed the injured spirits of Harry Tilston that he looked upon poor little Mollie in her blue gingham apron and bilstered arms and hands—for she seemed to know very little about coking when she came, and had more than once burned her arms against the big boilers—with a new interest. Before that she had been simply what his mother would call a "hired girl." Now the very fact that there was that in her calling that might make her appear to be a social inferior to such folk as Mildred Brewer and Laura Stevens, made her all the more worthy of Harry Tilston's sympathies. At least so he thought.

So it was that, instead of trying to overcome Mildred's amusement, he These words so soothed the injure

You see to me plum puddings are the means of making an independent fortune. And now that you have the recipe on the level we can do it honestly."

CANADIAN SOLDIERS' ORIGINAL MAGAZINE

Interesting contributions in prose and poem, reflecting the views of the boys overseas, are to be found in the Canadian Military Gazette, which is published at the depot of the 2nd Central Ontario Regiment, East Sandling, Kent, England. To those who have relatives in the Canadian army overseas the breezy twice-a-month paper is a treasure, and support in the form of subscriptions is being asked from the friends of the Canadian lads on this side of the water, in order that the magazine may "carry on" successfully. The subscription price, $2 for the year, may be forwarded to the manager, Lieut.-Col. A. T. Thompson, at the above address.

The following two poems were culled from a recent issue of the magazine:

"THE SOLDIER'S PRAYER." "The SOLDIER'S PRAYER."
"I to the hills lift up mine eyes, from whence doth come mine aid,"
O Lord, make thou my vision strong, I would not be afraid
Of mine beneath, or bomb above, or gas, or liquid fire,
But only of thine anger, Lord, or failing thy desire.

"I to the hills lift up mine eyes," my spirit soars on high, For there I see thy presence, Lord, and victory is nigh;
A victry over self, O Lord, not over fallen foe,
Nor yet the crown of pomp and pride,
such as the Gentiles know.

Teach me to quell each errant thought, each wild desire to quell,

For then, come bomb, come gas, come y fire, with me all will be well,

And to the hills mine eyes will look, from thence shall come mine aid,

In life, in death, in peace, in war, I cannot be afraid.

THE SONG OF THE CROCKS.
This is the song of the "Crocks," and they sing it mighty well:
"From Ypres to Vimy Ridge, we've certainly been through hell;
And now we're broken and rent, and out of the fight for life,
"Out of the fight," if ye will, but never bound to see it tarough;

But we've done some things in our day
of which we like to think,
When the old wounds pain afresh, and our spirits start to shrink.

"How with our flesh and blood we stopped the raging Huns, when we had only THAT, and they had THAT—and GUNS; Guns that pounded and roared, and tried to make us yield, Guns that ravened and shrieked, to drive us from the field. Guns that broke our flesh, but could not break our stand,

Guns that made us 'Crocks,' but never won the land won the land
That we had been set to fend, to guard
the Channel Sea
O God, what a noble chance for soldiers auch as we!

*For men of peace we were, untrained to arts of war,
From farm, and mine, and shop, we mustered from afar;
Yet to us the chance was given to show what men can do 'gainst iron and gas, if only those men be true. 'So 'Crocks' we're content to be, broker "So 'Crocks' we're ontent to so, in doing well, in doing well, From Ypres to Vimy Ridge, we've certainly passed through hell.
We know you mean no harm when that is the name you give, You're rather proud of your "Crocks," and you'd like to see them live

"To a green and honored age, to pass the story down,
How men may suffer and bleed, and win the martyr's crown,
And become the 'Dear Old Crocks,' cracked in a noble strife,
Till they win the Land of Heaven, and Death is killed by Life."

We read of a German sub sinking Peruvian bark. They will get Brazilian nut some of these days. The subs are getting a few boats, The subs are getting a few boats, but Great Britain is not yet quite starved. The job looks rather big for Kaiser Bill and his baby-killers.

Bill Hanna will control the price of potatoes, it is announced, probably preventing them from becoming so cheap that an ordinary mortal can purchase one.

We don't know whether milk will go up or down, but if we were a gambling person we would chance two-bits that the stuff does not go down in price. Controlling food prices seems to be quite as easy a job as chasing a jack rabbit with a hound dog on his trail. The fall fair is attractive to a lot of folks. None return with blisters on heir fists from assisting the farmers n getting the crops in.

Now that the baseball champion-ships have practically been decided the old world will have to wag along without any excitement whatever.

The Russian revolution, headed by old Gen. Korns-in-his-loft was due to a misunderstanding, we are informed. No rows are caused by perfect understanding. Not many.

Russia has abandoned its shock battalions, but it will continue to shock the rest of the universe regularly.

Awright. We don't feel like work.

THE CHIEF ROOM IN THE HOUSE.
The Soldiers' Sanatorium at Byron is going to be the pride of the women of Western Ontario, when it is finished. It is going on splendidly now; the latest women's society to invest in it is the Senator Coffey Chapter, I. O. D. E. It is donating the sterilizing room, which is to cost $700. Possibly there are still some societies to follow its beautiful example. There are several rooms to choose from. The diet kitchen, the serving paniry and the dining-room and the kitchen are still to be offered. Then there are the dishes and the cutlery for the dining-room. There will surely be someone who will want to buy them.
It is a rather funny thing, don't you think, that the kitchen should still go looking for an owner so near the end of the campaign? One would suppose that we women would have considered the kitchen the most important room of the whole building—and who will dare to say it isn't?—and that we would have been tumbling over each other to see who would have their name on its doorplate. has had lots of experience making cakes. When you have your batter in the pan, raise the pan an inch or so from the table and let it fall. Do this two or three times. Your cake will never fall then, no matter how rich. Since I heard this I have never had a cake fall, although I can not account for it. The fruit cake recipe sent in by "Girl of the Limberlost" occupies an important place in my cook book. The pumpkin marmalade recipe with oranges and lemons sent in by "Rosa" and recently republished is fine also.

THE WORLD SERIES ROUND-UP-NO. 4-THE PITCHERS.

THE WORLD SERIES ROUND-UP—NO. 4—THE PITCHERS.

For Chicago—Cicotte, Russell, Faber, Williams.

For New York—Schupp, Perritt, Sallee, Benton.

These are the eight pitchers who are to be employed, at one time or another, when the Giants and White Sox are tossed in togther. Chicago's list, named in order of effectiveness and likelihood of choice, includes two right-handers—Cicotte and Faber—and two left-handers—Russell and Williams.

New York's list, named in the same order, includes one right-hander—Perritt—and three left-handers—Schupp, Sallee and Benton.

CICOTTE VS. SCHUPP.

No one knows the pitching order in advance. But the two most effective workmen on the two clubs—the two most likely to meet—are Cicotte and Schupp.

Cicotte had the best year of his extended career, and the best season in

He won more games and was more generally effective than any other pitcher. Whether it was through a "shine" ball or a fuzz ball, or merely through his fine pitching is a matter of many opinions. The facts in the case are that he was harder to hit than a periscope in a smashing sea.

Clootte is almost sure to hold the Giants well in hand. They are not very likely to hit him hard in any rame.

Cicotte is almost sure to hold the Gianis wen in hand. They are not cory likely to hit him hard in any game.

In the same way, Schupp, with his fast curve and his effective delivery, will give the White Sox a full afternoon's meditation. Schupp is a hard manto hit. He is a cool, game youngster, with plenty of working material. But all in all he isn't quite as certain a proposition as Cicotte is. The latter is just a trifle surer to be at his best. On past performance form a Cicotte-Schupp meeting should be one of those 1—0 or 2—1 affairs. It isn't likely to go much higher.

The Giants will find Cicotte a baffling proposition. The White Sox are not going to hit Schupp effectively. This meeting should bring on a close game, with the odds favoring Cicotte.

with the odds favoring Cicotte. PERRITT VS. RUSSELL.

The advance choice for the second game looks to be Poll Perritt vs. Tex.

Poll halls from Louisiana. Russell is a Mississippi product. The Louisiana

Poll halls from Louisiana. Russell is a Mississippi product. The Louisiana Lath from down among the bayous, got a slow start, hit his stride late in June, and ever since has been tearing the trail wide open. He has won about nine-tenths of his starts since June. With a fast, rib-ripping sweep, Perritt should be one of the most effective pitchers of the series. No lath is easy to hit at sixty feet. And Perritt makes a lath look bulky.

Russell is back upon one of his best years. He has won about 80 per cent of his games and has been highly effective. In the last stages of the campaign he hasn't been quite as effective as Perritt, and if these two meet, the Giant right-hander will have none the worse of the advance dope. Both men have been under fire long enough to hold their balance. The gap separating their effectiveness isn't very wide. Perritt is a bit more pointed toward a low-hit game.

Schupp and Perritt will work Saturday and Sunday for New York. Cicotte and Russell will work the first two games for Chicago. The third game, the New York opener, will not be played until Tuesday. This means that McGraw and Rowland, if they care to, can easily start Cicotte and Schupp again with

They may adopt these tactics. But if they switch, McGraw will very possibly send Silm Sallee against the Sox, while Rowland counters with Red Faber against the Giants.

Sallee is a veteran of extended standing-a wise, cool left-hander, who has been pitching for over twelve years.

A clash between these two would be a clash of opposites, for Faber is a big, og right-hander, with fine speed, whereas Sallee relies very little on a which is none too fast.

ball which is none too fast.

American Leaguers believe that Faber will be effective against the Giants and a hard man for them to beat. He isn't as steady nor yet as experienced as Sallee, but a fast ball under control covers up a multitude of deficits.

In the way of a season's effectiveness, these two are closely upon a par.

THE FOURTH CHOICE.

The fourth choice in each camp probably will be Rube Benton for the Giants and Williams for the Sox—both left-handers who have completed good years. It is a matter of more than hazy doubt as to whether Benton or Williams will start a game where two or three pitchers can easily do the bulk of the work. Williams has won more games than Benton and has had a somewhat better season from the start.

THE TWO STAFFS.

Chicago looks to have a somewhat stronger staff, but the belief in many

Chicago looks to have a somewhat stronger staff, but the belief in many quarters that New York's pitching contingent is weak and uncertain is out of chupp and Perritt will be hard to hit, and Schupp and Perritt can easily pitch four or five of the first six games.

Cicotte, Russell and Faber should be just a whit more effective, but the difference, so far as standard season values go, isn't very thick. There is no such preponderance on one side as the Red Sox had with Ruth, Leonard and Shore. If pitching alone is to decide the issue, it should go to seven games. But the pitching on neither side is decisive enough to give either club any undue

A quartet of Thistle trundlers hied themselves to Ingersoll on Thursday evening, joyously thinking to bring the Robinson cup back to London. But not so. Before more than four or five ends had been played old Jun. Pluvius broke trophy had to be left in the hands of the Ingersoll club, who intend to take the best of care of it, and promise to try not to let it get out of their sight. The Ingersoll bowlers only won the trophy Wednesday from the Thistle Club, who in turn only took it from the Elmwoods Tuesday night. Certainly the silverware donated by Dr. Robinson has BOSTON, Sept. 27 .- The Red Sox today defeated, 2 to 0, an all-star team Club, who in turn only took it from the Elmwoods Tuesday night. Certainly the silverware donated by Dr. Robinson has had a strenuous time traveling about these last few days. Jack Dyer's Elmwood rink rechallenged the Thistles immediately that club won the trophy, but when they lost it to Ingersoil Mr. Dyer waived, his challenge in favor of Bert could save the Elmwoods a trip to Ingersoil. A game was arranged for yesterday, but Mr. Heaman was unable to go, so not to disappoint the Ingersoil players, the Thistle Club sent out a fin kskipped by W. T. Douglas. Others in the rink were R. D. McDonald, James fin the rink were R. D. McDonald, James to fin favor of the defenders when rain stopped the play.

Likely another Thistle rink will go to trip back.

Play for the Ward trophy at the Thister te Club has reached the semi-finals. Cy Edy beat J. E. Steele in one event. Norman Keeme and F. N. Allen will probably play tonight, and Mr. Edy will play the winner of this game in the finals.

LIEUT. BERT PERRY IN FRANCE

Word was received in London last night to the effect that Lieut. Bert Perry, formerly Sporting Editor of The Advertiser, now with the Royal Flying Corps, has been sent to France. Lieut. Perry is flying one of the latest and most up-to-date of the British warplanes, and writes that by the time his letter has been received he expects to be in the thick of the fray, and hopes to have at least one "faube" to his credit. He left his desk at The Advertiser to join the 180th (Sportsmen's). Battalion at Toronto, but later secured a commission in the Royal Flying Corps. He went overseas some months ago, but has been stationed in various parts of England for some time past.

Besides New Styles Tomorrow There Are Very Special Sale Prices

In the good old days clothing merchants wagged their heads at the very mention of a clothing store in a department store. Their attitude was one of disdain, but now they wag their heads in wonderment that these same stores have built such a satisfactory men's trade in so short a time. The most attractive thing to men, as well as women, is value, and the old-style clothing shops did not have the outlet nor the purchasing power, nor the wish to turn all these energies into giving the cus-

GOOD SPEED DESPITE RAIN-SOAKED TRACK

Get of Allenwood Prove Speedy Animals Under Adverse Conditions.

SAGINAW, Sept. 27 .- The get of Alenwood proved great horses in heavy Dropwood winning the 2:16 pace in straight heats and Robinwood the 2:19 trot in four miles, on a track ankle deep in mud. A heavy shower at noon, fol-lowed by a disagreeable drizzle all af-ternoon, put the track in such condition that racing would have been quite out of the question but for the fact that upwards of 15,000 flocked to the fair grounds and clamored persistently Both Dropwood and Robinwood were rank outsiders. The Canadian Texas John and Nellie Chimes, the speedy lit-Michigan mare, were favorites in the pace. Texas John landed second place, racing out second and third heats with Dropwood, but the frail Nellie Chimes found the heavy going not to her liking. In the trot Billy Lake and Conroy Blake, Detroit youngsters, were played as the good things. Conray won the first heat and second money, but Billy Lake had to be contented with fourth money. The running race went three half-mile heats, and was won by Nino Muchaaho.

International League and the American Association cannot be downed. Certainly something must be done by the Barrow wheel. Richmond, Montreal and Rochester positively will not do under present conditions. The American Association has been on the verge of disruption for years, not so much owing to lack of patronage as to internal dissension. A merger will scarcely solve the troubles of the two leagues. Traveling expenses would eat it alive. The coming winter promises interesting developments.

Our Consumers' League

Some weeks ago a London woman, prominently identified with the Union Mothers' Club, quoted at a public meeting a statement of a kindergarten teacher that some of the school children were showing the effect of lack of sufficient quantity of milk and butter in the diet, owing to the high price of

A few evenings ago a woman pointed to the two robust boys under her care. "The picture of health, aren't they?" she said with pride. "I believe it is largely due to the wholesome, nourishing food we provide for them, and particularly the quantity of good, pure milk they drink!

This was one of the happy women who are in a position to see that their children do not suffer owing to the high cost of necessities. But there are other mothers in the city, mothers who love their little ones every bit as much, who have been filled with consternation by the announcement that a still farther advance in the price of milk has been contemplated. With milk at the present advance in the price of milk has been contemplated. With milk at the present price, a pint a day, let alone a quart, is a luxury in some hous where there are three or four children. Concerning this proposed advance on the part of the Middlesex Milk Producers' Association to $2.40 a hundredweight, beginning November 1st, and the consequent advance entailed for the retailers, beginning November 1st, and the consequent actance are actance as a farmer said to the editor of this department a few days ago: "There is no excuse at all for this proposed advance, in view of the abundance of food. The pasture has been good this summer and the hay crop never better. In addition, them has been an unusually heavy crop of oats, which means plenty of chop and straw for the cattle. We are going to invest in some extra cattle to eat up our surplus.' Following the appeal which has come from Ottawa to producers and re-Following the appeal which has come from Ottawa to producers and retailers of milk to let present prices stand until the milk supply question has been investigated, it is understood that the Middlesex Milk Producers' Association will probably reconsider the advance. If this be done, food control will at least have accomplished something, in that it is making it possible for certain children in the city to be able to obtain the quarter of a pint or less a day which is their present portion.

The letters which find their way to the editor of this department are by no eans all of the nice, pleasant, "pat-you-on-the-back" variety, as witness following which came a few days ago.

Dear Madam,—I'm only a mere man, but I am interested in cooking, as I have to keep house some times. Well, some of the things you print make me mad clean through. Your contributors profess to be competent to give advice and make a fool pretence at it.

to give advice and make a fool pretence at it.

Last week you gave a recipe to make four small loaves of war bread.

There was to be one tablespoonful of milk to the four loaves! This week you give a recipe for making "Kegeree," which we are asked to believe it good because it is used in the household of the Archishop of Canterit good because it is used in the household of the Archishop of Canterbury! But let that pass. To make "Kegeree" one is to take I teaspoonful of mustard to the fish. How much fish Half-pound, one pound, two pounds? Can women think? Did the woman who sent this, think? Did the editor who let it pass, think? Yours, MERE MAN. Dear, "Mere Man," if you were half as courageous as you evidently are bad-tempered, you would have signed your name to your communication. Haven't you ever heard that it is the custom in newspaper offices to toss appropriate correspondence in the waste paper basket? Nevertheless, we make anonymous correspondence in the waste paper basket? Nevertheless, we make an exception in your case, oh, irate one, owing to the fact your point is so well taken. In looking up the installments of Our Consumers' League of September 7th and 14th, we found you had excellent reason for complaint, though "getting mad clean through" must have been very hard on your constitution. In view of what the scientists have to say about the effect of indignation, righteous or mad clean through" must have been very hard on your constitution. In view of what the scientists have to say about the effect of indignation, righteous or otherwise, you should take better care of yourself. We thank you most sincerely for drawing our attention to errors in reproducing recipes. We note, as you stated, that the recipe read, "one tablespoonful of milk" to be added to the other ingredients in making the war-time bread. This should have read, ONE TEASPOONFUL OF SALT. The editor of Our Consumers' League intended it to go in that way, and was under the impression that was what the proof said the night before the recipe appeared. The next day was a very busy one, and the aforementioned editor gave only a glance at the page and, feeling assured everything was all right as corrected the night before, let it go at that and turned to pressing duties. The first intimation that anything had gone wrong was when your "outburst" was read. So far as "Kegeree" is concerned, look at your copy of last week's Consumer's League again, and you will notice a hiatus in the recipe. The fact that the error is typographical should be apparent to the naked eye of even one who is not of the newspaper fraternity. The recipe as published starts "teaspoonful of mustard." The part line dropped read: "I cup of boiled rice, about the same of fish, I oz. butter." The conclusion of the recipe, which appeared was, "I teaspoon mustard, 2 soft boiled eggs, sait and cayenne to taste."

We thank you, "Mere Man," for drawing our attention to these mistakes and giving us an opportunity to correct them. In the second case, as well as in

We thank you, "Mere Man," for drawing our attention to these mistakes and giving us an opportunity to correct them. In the second case, as well as in the first, the editor made sure of the proof, and in the midst of the rush of exhibition week failed to read through the page on Friday morning. It won't happen again, a mechanical error of this description. (We fully admit its gravity and misleadingness.) In the meantime, "Mere Man," we trust you will continue your interest in our department and perhaps give us the benefit of some of your superior wisdom. some of your superior wisdom.

"BUY HONEY," SAYS MEDICUS.

The letter from "Want To Be Economical," which appeared last week, asking for information in regard to the food value of honey, and the economy of substituting it for jam, has been referred to a food specialist in the city, who has had the advantage of a university graduation course in "Foods and Nutrition."

Her reply is: "I think your correspondent would be very wise to lay in a store of honey if he has an opportunity of buying it to good advantage. I understand it is high in price this year in this section of the country, but even at that, it goes farther and is at least as economical as jam. In addition, it is a wholesome food and more digestible than jam. Young children can eat it who cannot eat jam. Honey, as is generally known, is simply sugar with some mineral constituents. It is purely an "energy" food. With honey at the present price it is an expensive substitute for sugar in cooking, excepting for the people who keen bees."

ple who keep bees."

A "Householder" from his own experience of last winter strongly advises "Want To Be Economical" to get in a supply of honey. He says: "We used it instead of butter frequently, and my children preferred it to butter. We found t much more economical than butter."

instead of outter frequently, and my children preferred it to butter. We found it much more economical than butter."

At this point the food expert reminds "Householder" that while honey is pleasant faring when eaten with bread, at the same time it cannot take the place of butter, so far as food value is concerned, lacking as it does the chief constituent of butter, fat.

In regard to the alleged medicinal value of honey, "Medicus," whose opinion was specially asked by the writer of the letter, says: "Honey is an old, old remedy for colds, and our grandmothers used it largely in cough mixtures. The kiddies like it, but it hasn't any magic effect in cutting phlegm. At the same time I should advise your correspondent to give a place to honey in his store-room this winter, particularly if he has children. A heat-producing food, it is good, wholesome fuel for the system for the winter. Further, it makes no tax on the digestive organs. In fact, honey is the form in which sugar is absorbed into the system, and passes through the blood. The ordinary granulated sugar must be changed into the form of honey before it can be absorbed. So far as the relative value of honey and jam is concerned, jam offers a much greater tax upon the digestive organs owing to the sking and seed of the fruit."

SOUARE DEAL FOR BABY.

SQUARE DEAL FOR BABY.

Ever so many people who read our Consumers' League department last week became so interested in Fagan and his dream about putting the little white hearse out of business that they want to hear more about him. More than this, they are beginning to say, "Why can't we curtail the number of trips of the little white hearse in London? Why can't we do something to more adequately protect the babies in London from such plagues as infantile paralysis and other diseases which also leave a trail of disastrous results?" Ever so many of the women of London are "sitting up and taking notice," and they are women who are looking forward to votes in the next municipal election.

Fagan has the happiness of seeing his big dream beginning to be realized. Even he says, "I'VE LEARNED THAT THE OLDER YOU GROW THE HARDER IT IS TO MAKE YOUR DREAMS COME TRUE. THE FOLITICIANS WHO RUN A CITY AREN'T INTERESTED IN BABY WELFARE. THEY'D RATHER CONTRIBUTE PERSONALLY TO A WARD PICNIC THAN TO A VISITING BABY NURSE. AND THEY'D RATHER USE THE PUBLIC FUNDS FOR MONUMENTS AND GRAFT THAN FOR FIGHTING SUMMER COMPLAINT" MER COMPLAINT.

MER COMPLAINT."

Here, here, Fagan!

And Jersey City isn't the only place where what Fagan says is true, particularly about indifference to the welfare of the future voters. But fortunately, there is a growing number of people right in the city of London, people of voting age and privilege who are more and more becoming inspired by the example of such men as Fagan. They are going to see that the babies get a square deal and that London in the not far distant future is going to be a safer place in which to be born than at the present.

FAGAN'S DR. O'GORMAN.

Getting tired of all this everlasting talk about child welfare? Well, we warn you that you may as well stop reading this page at once if you don't like it. We intend to keep hammering away till something is really started and we have an idea we wont have to keep nailing up "line upon line, precept upon precept" much longer until things are moving in the right direction. To get back to Fagan. When he opened that clinic he would have only the best procurable in the way of advice and help for the parents and children served through it. He got the best trained baby specialist obtainable to take charge of the clinic, Dr. O'Gorman. Here are some of the things Dr. O'Gorman has to say on the subject of child welfare:

"It is the unfortunate rather than the unfit infant that succumbs.

"Few children survive bad mothercraft.

"An intelligent mother is the family's best asset.

"Why does a baby born in New Jersey have as much chance to live a week as an old man of ninety?

"Why is one-fourth of the blind in this country so afflicted because of a preventable cause and that cause not prevented?

"Why do we sorge our children with devitalized food?

"Why do we send out from our school children physically defective?

"Why do we send out from our school children physically defective?

"Why do we send out from our school children physically defective?

"Why do we send out from our school children physically defective?

"Why do we send out from our schools young men and young women ignorant of the true principles of parenthood?

"Ignorance of child-care accounts for a larger number of deaths than poverty." FAGAN'S DR. O'GORMAN.

ECONOMY!!

From every direction we hear the cry, "Economize!" Now, there are two kinds of economy—true economy and false. The latter strains at a gnat and oftentimes swallows the proverbial camel. TRUE ECONOMY consists in making every penny count; buying eatables that rank high in food value. GOOD CREAMERY BUTTER contains more fattening properties than almost any other food we know, and that at a cost relatively lower than any other commodity on the market today. Instead of a meatless day try a meatless week, substituting instead of the accustomed gravies, SILVERWOOD'S CREAMERY BUTTER. At the end of the week count the cost of the butter you have used, compare this with your usual meat bill. You'll be surprised at the comparison.

The best grocers all handle SILVERWOOD'S. If yours does not, phone us, and we will put you in touch with the right party.

A WOMAN IN BUSINESS

Today, woman has her inning. One sees her everywhere—a competitor to man. A woman should be properly equipped for business. She needs a bank account as much as a man needs it. A check book protects her purse—saves her time—avoids disputes—puts the stamp of practicality on her trading.

A woman who saves soon has capital enough to establish a business of her own. Many a successful woman of today was a clerk yesterday. You can do what other women have done. Be determined—be resourceful. Take a little from your money and bank it. The saving habit is much easier than you think. Get the habit—make it chronic. Get a bank book to morrow.

MUDDLING EFFECT

AT WINNIPEG HOTEL

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 27.-An American who has spent ten years in Euro pean capitals, and whose position com pels him to take the viewpoint of an impartial observer, reached here to-day, after six weeks in Petrograd, and gives a pessimistic report of the fighting Wholesalers Did Not Order spirit in Russia, and the political and economic conditions there. he says: "There is no fighting spirit, excep among the Cossacks and the Caucas-ians, and that seems to be waning. A Caucasian colonel said to me: There are no real fighters left in Russia, ex-cept us, and we are not Russians, thank God, but Caucasians and Moham-

"The villages and cities are filled with Russian troops, who refuse to go to the front. Young Russians of the better class are hunting the streets of Petrograd for men who are willing to become officers. Since the murder of officers by men has become a daily occurrence, only the most fervent patriots will assume the risk of taking commissions.

Countless Deeds of Violence.

"The reports of open disobedience of troops at the front, and of deeds of violence committed by them, are countless. Railway travel in many places, and particularly in Southern Russia and Southwestern Russia, is unsafe because soldiers loot trains, steal lusgage and maltreat and even murder those who resist.

"I sat in the war office at Petrograd when the report was received of the murder of nearly 100 officers at Vibors, and of the preparation of proscription lists against officers in Tammerfors.

Bolshevikis are gaining.

"The bolshevikis are gaining the upper hand in Petrograd, and are increasing their strength in Moscow. I venture to predict their eventual supremacy. I know this means almost the elimination of Russia as a factor in the war and places new burdens on America.

"The Government's utter powerlessness was recently shown in connection with its exile of a number of 'dark forces.' The bolshevikis took them from a train at Viborg and are now sending them back to Petrograd, and the Government does not dare to insist that its deportation order be carried out.

"When Korniloff issued his ultimatum, the news was received with joy by a great proportion of substantial citizens, and even men in the Goyernment departments told me of their secret hope that he would come to Petrogard. The comments from English and American newspapers rejoicing at Korniloff's failure were received with amazement by these persons, who saw in his success the only possibility of saving Russia. "A factory near Nizhni-Novgorod, manufacturing war materials and employing 15,000 hands, has just closed down, because it has been impossible to meet the wage demands. Armed workers terrorize the owners of factories, workmen's committees spend their whole time drafting wage schedules, and nobody may be hired or discharged without their consent." LISTOWEL, Sept. 27.—The food service pledges sent out by Con-troffer Hanna are not being circulated in Listowel. There is a pile of them in the basement of the library building, and it looks as if they would go to waste.

The matter of distributing these cards, pledging the housekeepers to carry or conscientiously the advice and direction of the food controller, was discussed at a meeting of the Women's Patriotic League, and a motion was unanimously passed expressing the decision of the ladies not to circulate the food pledge cards.

The press correspondent, Mrs. (Dr.) J. A. Campbell, has given out the following stafement:

"A very decided stand was taken in connection with the distribution of the food service pledges, sent out by the food controller. When it was taken into consideration that last year over 880,000,000 pounds of grain was used for the manufacture of liquor, the ladies of the league unanimously decided that it was not their duty to distribute and ask for the signing of the pledge cards. The general feeling is that our women have been economizing and making sacrifices in every way possible to help win the war. This stand was taken with the object of bringing into the limelight the amount of valuable food product that is wasted in this country, and until this waste is stopped by our Government, the women of the Patriotic League of Listowel will abide by their resolution."

SEND LAKE BOATS TO SEA

OTTAWA, Sept. 27. — In order to meet the great demand for steamers to handle the traffic between Canada the United States and British and European ports, the department of marine and fisheries is collaborating with the United States shipping board in transferring boats formerly plying on the Great Lakes to the overseas routes. A representative of the United States shipping board was in conference with officials of the department yesterday, when arrangements were made for the transfer of a number of United States steamers now on the Great Lakes to the Atlantic service. These vessels, after being cut in two and passed through the canals, will be put together again at Canadian plants on the St. Lawrence:

"The Honorable Algy" is the rollicking tale of a susceptible young Britisher and the chain of extraordinary circumstances that embarrassed him on his maiden visit to America.

Charles Ray, of course, takes the part of "Algy," youngest son of the penniless Marquis of Monteith. Algy is desperately in love with Patricia, the beautiful dark-eyed daughter of the Vicar of Hadleigh, but, despite this fact, his father and brothers send him to America to contract a good marriage and save the family fortunes.

On shipboard he falls in with the dissolute Lord Rockmore and the millionaire James Dryker and his wife and daughter Grace. The Drykers leave their jewels—which include the famous "Cape Diamond," valued at sixty thousand pounds—with the ship's purser for safe keeping.

The purser is robbed of the jewels by a crook named Harvey. The robbery is discovered, and in order to throw off suspicion, Harvey lowers his handkerchief, containing the plünder, down one of the stateroom ventilators.

AMERICAN ARMY HEADQUAR-TERS IN FRANCE, Sept. 27.—American army engineers sleeping in their barracks have been under fire from German airmen. Not an American washurt, despite a fusillade of machine gun fire from the air, which riddled the barracks roofs and walls. The "Sammles" took refuge in dugouts. This is the first time that barracks of an American army contingent have been the object of a German aerial attack.

YOUNG EDSEL FORD CLAIMS EXEMPTION

DETROIT. Sept. 27.—Edsel B. Ford, son of Henry Ford, and secretary of the Ford Motor Company, has filed exemption claims from the national army on the industrial clause before the exemption board in the Muncipal Court Building. Mr. Ford was called in the draft from the twenty-first division in the seventeenth ward. He was certified to the district board on September 20. The Ford Motor Company is manufacturing war supplies for the United States Government, and it is on this ground that Mr. Ford claims freedom from draft.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The report from Field Marshal Haig refers only briefly to the operations of today in Flanders. Seven powerful hostile counter-attacks were repulsed with heavy losses, and 1.814 Germans were taken prisoner. "During Wednesday's fighting large numbers of British airplanes aided the infantrymen, attacking the Germans from low altitudes with great effect. The German airmen put up a strong defence and the casualties among the filers were high. Fifteen German machines were accounted for, but thriteen of the British airplanes failed to return to their base. The text of the report reads:

reads:

"After all our objectives had been gained today, seven hostile counterattacks were made during the afternoon and evening. All were repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy.

"The total number of prisoners captured in yesterday's offensive operation was 1.814, including 48 officers.
Our casualties were again light.

"On the battlefront today we improved our positions slightly south of Polygon wood. There has again been considerable artillery activity on both sides at intervals throughout the day."

VICTORIA CROSS WINNER Says Allies Have Drop on Germnay, and Intend To Keep It.

[Special to The Advertiser.] TORONTO, Sept. 27 .- Major "Billy Bishop, hero of forty-seven air battles, the official English high record, arrived in Toronto at 6 o'clock this evening amid the plaudits of a thousand citizens who assembled at the Union Station to bid him welcome. He was accompanied by his mother, his brother, Major Worth Bishop, of London, his sister, Miss Louise Bishop, and fiancee, Miss Burdet of Toronto, and Major Robert F. Angus, commander of the 9th Mississauga Horse, Major Bishop's original unit.

After being paraded through the main thoroughfares to the city hall, where a crowd of several thousand had assembled, he was given a civic reception in the council chamber.

"It is my privilege and pleasure as mayor of Toronto to extend to you a right royal hearty welcome," said Mayor Church, speaking directly to the young hero. "You have won the Victoria Cross, the most coveted honor in the British army, and you have well merited that great honor for services which will never be forgotten by the people of Canada and the British Empire."

"Regarding the east front situation is chiefly remarkable for the little advantage, the German shave taken of the notorious situation in Russia. General Maurice declared that Korniloff was a rebell declared that Korniloff was not obtained by the Russky Slove, said they have been unspile to do more, or have they withed their hands for political or other reasons? It is too early to reach a decision on that question, but in my own mind I have no doubt that the status of the food from being taken up by the blood as they he when the powers of nutrition are normal, the first elements of the food from being taken up by the blood as they he when the powers of nutrition are normal, the first elements of the food from being taken up by the blood as they he when the powers of nutrition are normal. the fat and flesh-producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Saltosyn tablet with every meal. Saltosyn is a scientific combination of the best strength-giving, fat-producing food elements known to the science of nutrition. This highly-concentrated food nourishment taken in combination with regular meals mixes with the food and rapidly turns the sugars, starches, fats and proteins of the meal into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood. The effect is remarkable. Gains of from 10 to 25 pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet the action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Saltogyn is sold by the best druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

KAISER LIKE A BOOK Reply to Pope Avoids All Practical Questions.

PLANS BELGIUM'S END No Policy for Present Germany Except Domination by Arms.

PARIS, Sept. 27.-Jules Cambon, gen ral secretary of the ministry of foreign eral secretary of the ministry of foreign affairs, in his weekly talk with the Associated Press spoke first of the replies of the central powers to the pope's peace proposal, which, he said, he found "remarkable, as carefully avoiding any practical question, while dealing at length on arbitration, disarmament, liberty of the seas and philosophical questions, which the Germannel ways five treated as chimer-armament, liberty of the seas and philosophical questions, which the Germans always have treated as chimerical."

"I can recall conversations with the kaiser," M. Cambon continued, "in which he ridiculed such questions as childish nonsense and unworthy the attention of responsible statesmen. There is no policy existing for the Germans which is not realistic with conquest and domination as its aims. If Germany has thus changed, it is because that country feels the expression of such views binds it to nothing, whereas precise declarations would engage it in things which it carefully avoids.

"As regards the verbal propositions about Belgium, the conditions are not acceptable to all Belgians, as they involve the negation of any true independence. A distinction between the walloons and Flemish would be the end of Belgium."

Secretary of State Lansing's revelations of German intrigues in America have not surprised M. Cambon, who considers them a part of the general plan pursued by Germany, not only in belligerent countries, but in neutral states. Germany seeing herself unable to attain military success, M. Cambon said, decided on systematic agitation to upset established order and divide the Allies, in order to gain benefit for her-

HYDRO COMMISSION REFUSES TO ALLOW DAM IT APPROVED

Niagara Falls, Ont., Cannot Complete Waterworks Scheme.

NIAGARA FALLS, Sept. 27. — The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario has denied this city permission to build a submerged dam in the Upper Niagara River for the purpose of supplementing the city's water supply. Sir Adam Beck has made the decision known to the city water commission. It came as a disappointment to the commission, as work was to be started on the submerged dam this week, on plans made this summer by the hydro commission's own engineer, and approved by the Victoria Park Commission.

Sir Adam Beck told the water commission that every gallon of water told for power pumping now, but that later on when the Queenston-Chippewa hydro-power canal is built, some permanent arrangement will be made with the city of Niagara Falls for a full water supply.

Daughter Finds Mrs. S. Barnes in Unconscious Condition.

WATFORD, Sept. 27.—Mrs. S. Barnes of MacGregor street broke her neck by falling down the cellar steps while preparing breakfast today. Her daughter. Alma, heard a noise, and on running down found her mother unconscious. She telephoned for a doctor, but when help came Mrs. Barnes was dead.

UNITED STATES PUTS MORE STUFF IN EMBARGO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—A virtual embargo on the exportation of certain foodstuffs and feeds was declared to-night by the exports administrative board in adding a list of articles to those already denied shipment where the export will contribute to the conduct of the war.

The commodities added are food grains and feed grains, oil cake and meal, animal fats, vegetable oils and soap, caustic soda, and certain machinery. Where the foods and feeds named are permitted to go forward they can be licensed only with the approval of the food administration.

Individual licenses will be granted for export of the commodities on the conservation list to Newfoundland, Mexico and Canada, except in small lots which will be licensed by collectors of customs.

I am sorry to report "no progress" in my efforts to induce the Food Controller to have prices lowered. I am doing my best, but the Honorable geutleman does not seem to be impressed with what I have been urging upon him. It seems so unlike "Bill" Hanna, as we used to call him in the old days, when he stood side by side with "Jim" Whitney, fighting the beasts at Ephesus. I am beginning to think that the powers of the Food Controller are limited.

the Food Controller are limited, that he cannot do all he would like to do, because no man with a drop of the milk of human kind-ness (and W. J. Hanna has a lot of it) in his make up, could re-drop of the milk of human kilminess (and W. J. Hanna has a lot of it) in his make up, could resist the cries of the people, oppressed and bled as they are by the profiteers. Mr. Hanna is human, he sees all this, he feels it, but I believe he is absolutely helpless to render help. I am not going to waste much more time on him after this. I notice that (the workers) are boasting somewhat that $2,000 people have signed the pledge cards. How could they do otherwise? It was but in line with the economies they have been practicing for months. It is no new thing for them to live on fish, brown bread and lintels. I am surprised that there were not three times as many "signed up," the workers could not have covered much ground. I am somewhat discouraged at my efforts to reduce prices—there does not seem to be any indication of the profiteers getting out of the way. If Mr. Hanna wants to make himself solid with the people, and let them see that he is not in league with the blood-suckers, he will have his highly paid advertising experts secure a list of names of the Millionaires, Bankers and wealthy people, who have agreed to diet on fish, brown bread, and lentils. If Mr. Hanna will publish this list it will do more to secure the co-operation of the common people in his food economy propagnada than anything else. Moreover, it will be an indication of original ideas from his experts (?). Much better than tight-rope walking to the newspaper offices to have these editorials suppressed. I will have something to say about that next week, also another matter that is positively a disgrace and scandal. Watch this section of the paper. It is always the most interesting.

Patrol Very Active.

During the agrly part of the month During the early part of the month continual rain and wind made operations on a large scale impossible, but preparations for the attack were carried on steadily so far as conditions permitted, proceeding more rapidly as the weather gradually improved. Meantime our patrols displayed great activity, and in conjunction with small raids frequently penetrate the German positions to a considerable depth. Bold daylight reconnaissances were made on several occasions, and much valuable information was obtained.

barbed wire, and studded with strong points and machine gun emplacements. Our infantry attack, admirably supported by our artillery, was immediately successful. By 6:40 p.m. both divisions had captured the whole of the German front-line system to a depth of so ne 500 yards, and were established on the line of their first objectives. After a short halt to enable the assaulting troops for the remainder of our objectives to pass through the attack was resumed. Hill 70 was carried by assault, and less than an hour later the whole of our objectives were in our hands except for a short length of trench at the apex of our attack opposite Cite St. Auguste. Material declines took place in the corn market today, influenced chiefly by absence of signs that there had been any serious damage from frost. Peace gossip was also a bearish factor. In addition disfavor which talk of removing the maximum price limit has encountered had a further tendency to weaken the market. Opening prices, which ranged from 4 to 112c lower to 1184 to 1164 for May were followed by a moderate increase in the setback.
