59TH YEAR. NO. 23410

LONDON, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUGUST 9, 1922.

PRICE, THREE CENTS

MAY TEST RIGHTS OF BUSES TO OPERATE

Government Issues Ultimatum to Ont. Jockey Club

WARNS RACING BODY TO PAY $218,000 TAX

Administration to Prevent Fall Meeting Unless Settlement Is Made.

MAY STAMP WAGERS

Early Action Contemplated If Track Officials Fight Levy.

Toronto, Aug. 9.—The Ontario Jockey Club has been notified by the provincial government that unless it pays over the $218,000 tax on the amounts wagered at the spring meeting at the Woodbine, the government will not allow the fall meeting to be held. The statute gives it authority to forbid meets in the event of the tax not being paid.

It will be remembered that the Jockey Club started in to restrain the provincial treasurer from collecting the five per cent tax on wagers and secured a temporary injunction from Mr. Justice Middleton. The government then put through legislation that stopped further progress with the suit, and applied to the court for an order for the payment out of $218,000 that Mr. Justice Middleton had ordered paid in. The Jockey Club objected to the payment, and Mr. Justice Riddell suggested that the matter be decided in the appellate division. When the case came up there the government, through N. W. Rowell, K.C., stated that it was not making any application.

That left the matter in a state of suspense, with the next move apparently up to the jockey club. It is understood that the club is willing to bind itself to pay the tax on wagers at the fall meeting, but the government is obdurate. Either the $218,000 now in court must be paid over, as a result of the club waiving all objections, or the money must be found somewhere else. The government is not particular where the money comes from.

If the jockey club is so anxious to test the law, it can do so by leaving the money in court, and finding an equal sum elsewhere for payment to the government.

It seems fairly certain that if the race track owners persist in fighting the tax on wagers, the government will proclaim the law passed by the legislature that calls for the use of stamps on every wager. This is a very cumbersome process.

WILL OPERATE ONE-MAN CARS

Street Railway Company Obtains Permission From City Council.

If Found Successful Old Style Trams Will Be Replaced.

One-man safety cars will be seen on city streets in the near future, following the action of the city council in session Tuesday night, which granted the London Street Railway Company permission to operate five new cars of this type. If they prove a success, the company will be permitted to purchase more of these cars.

Permission to purchase these buses was opposed by some members of the council, Ald. L. S. Holmes branding them "one horse cars and a nuisance." President Charles Currie, of the London Street Railway Company, who addressed the city council, declared that these cars are serviceable and universally in use in the United States. He stated that if acceptable to the city council his company will convert present cars into the one-man type, in addition to ordering five new ones immediately.

He pledged to the council that operation of one-man street cars will not cause dismissal of any of his company's employees, as they will be additional to those cars now in service. Ald. Cunningham declared that he had ridden in one of these cars and that they are a success.

"Where did you ride in them?" asked Ald. Holmes, with a smile. "In St. Thomas."

"No," retorted Ald. Cunningham. "I rode on them in a city of 180,000 population."

"One Horse Cars." "They are one horse cars, and a pet hobby of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission," declared Ald. Holmes. "The people of Windsor wish they could get rid of them. They are a delay for traffic."

President Currie explained that these cars are used universally in Calgary, and one hundred cities of the United States with satisfaction. The council then voted in favor of these cars as an experiment and if successfully operated, promised to allow more of them on city streets.

On the other hand, Ald. O. I. Cunningham, the city fathers decided to ask the interpretation of the hydro-electric power commission on a clause in an agreement made with the city, as to whether it prohibits the city from purchasing and operating the London street railway system.

Must Take Oath.

In view of the fact that a return made by the London Street Railway Company has shown a discrepancy in the mileage of tracks, Alderman Douglas introduced a motion advising the assessment department to accept such returns only when they are made under oath. The motion carried.

The same alderman requested that the opinion of the city solicitor be obtained on the legality of the refusal of the London Street Railway Company to accept or sell tickets as provided in bylaw 916. His request will be granted and the city solicitor will be asked to interpret the legality of the five-cent fare.

REPORTS ALL AVAILABLE WELSH HARD COAL BOOKED

American Demand For Anthracite Cannot Be Met Despite High Price Offers.

Cardiff, Aug. 9.—The American demand for coal, in consequence of the miners' strike in the United States and Canada continues unabated. Orders for an additional 500,000 tons have been received in the last few days, making a total of 1,500,000 tons for delivery in August and September. There is a keen demand for anthracite, but aside from the supply being limited, all the available hard coal is already booked, and the American orders cannot be filled, although some of the applicants have expressed their willingness to pay seventy shillings a ton.

Other grades vary from 20 to 30 shillings, and it is said the operators do not desire to increase these prices, preferring to keep the collieries working at a moderate speed rather than avail themselves of the momentary competition which, although raising the present price, might eventually damage their regular trade.

Predicts Fruit Crop In Ontario Will Be Much Greater Than 1921

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—Fruit and vegetable crop prospects throughout Canada appear bright, according to the report of the fruit branch of the Department of Agriculture for August. This report, which covers all the provinces of the Dominion, shows that the apple crop in Ontario will probably be 30 per cent larger than that of last year, while pears, peaches and plums will all yield a considerably larger crop than in 1921. For peaches and plums, a full crop, 40 per cent larger than that of last year, is forecasted.

The apple crop in Quebec will probably be 75 per cent in excess of that for 1921, while a good crop of potatoes is expected from 235,000 acres sown to this vegetable. New Brunswick expects a crop of apples 25 per cent larger than that of last year, while Prince Edward Island reports that the early potato acreage is considerably increased over that of last year. The apple crop of Nova Scotia will probably be only 75 per cent of last year's crop, but the fruit is sizing well, and is generally clean. The condition of potatoes in this province is reported as being excellent.

Reports from British Columbia are not as encouraging as regards fruit prospects. The apple crop is given as 75 per cent of last year's, and the pear crop the same. The peach crop will be equal to 1921, but plums and prunes will be only 85 per cent of last year's yield.

Civic authorities, members of the Catholic Social Service Guild, a kindly disposed property owner, friendly nuns and sympathetic neighbors, have utterly failed to make her realize that the hut, with no heating facilities but a tiny stove, is not the best nor the safest place to spend the evening of her life. They offer her comfort, security, regular meals, and a cozy room in a nearby institution, but she will not listen to them. To the kindly Sisters who visited her she said: "I like you. You are kind, and if I had no home I would rather go to you than anyone; but why should I leave here? It is my own home and I built it."

It is feared that when winter comes she will have to be forcibly removed.

H.M.S. RALEIGH RUNS AGROUND

British Warship Built in 1919 Will Probably Be Total Wreck.

Sir William Pakenham and Crew Reach Labrador Shore Safely.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 9.—The British warship Raleigh, which has been cruising off the Labrador coast with Admiral Sir William Pakenham on board, is aground at Point Amour in the straits of Belle Isle. She struck last night and a message received today said she would probably be a total wreck. All on board reached shore safely. The Calcutta, tender to the Raleigh, is standing by.

AT WASHINGTON IN MAY.

New York, Aug. 9.—The British cruiser Raleigh, aground in the Straits of Belle Isle, touched at Washington last May, the first British naval vessel of her class to visit the capital since 1814, when marines were landed there.

The Raleigh, a vessel of 5,550 tons, was built during the war to hunt German raiders. She was reported to be costly for a light cruiser and too light for battle cruiser squadron service.

The first of a new type of British cruiser, the Raleigh was launched in September, 1919.

She has 7 1/2-inch guns, much heavier than usually are placed on light cruisers. The object was that she might be able to outrange any common raider the enemy might send out. She carried also anti-aircraft guns.

While in Washington Admiral Sir William Pakenham called on President Harding, Secretary of War Weeks and Acting Secretary of Navy Roosevelt.

COMMEND UNION OF ENGLISH-SPEAKING

Orators at California Union Urge Fostering of International Goodwill.

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—Four men, prominent in world politics, addressing the California branch of the English-Speaking Union, in session here yesterday, commended the aims of the union in seeking to bring the English-speaking nations into closer harmony, with a view to fostering an international spirit of goodwill.

The four—William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States, and former president, Lord Shaw of Dunfermline, member of the British House of Lords; George W. V.ickers, former attorney-general of the United States, and John W. Davis, former ambassador of the United States to Great Britain, are here for the convention of American Bar Association, which opened here today.

Lord Shaw expressed a desire to see a wider understanding among English-speaking people. "When we start troubling about our poorer qualities and find the best ones, we will all understand," he said. "That is what England has tried to do in Ireland, and I believe that Ireland is on the crest of a wave that will send it on to splendid achievement."

Mr. Davis said that solution of the Irish problem and the elimination of the jealousies aroused through the naval strength of Great Britain have removed two of the major threats which beset world peace. He declared that the "liberation of Ireland" did more to assure the world that freedom was not a mockery than any other agency in ages.

Mr. Davis concluded by saying that English-speaking nations must help Ireland by making the world a place of peace.

TWO FINED $10 FOR DISTURBING PEACE

Magistrate Administers a Stinging Lecture to Person Who Strikes Drunk.

It would appear that the corner of Clarence and Horton streets is not the only section of the city where pugilistic encounters are staged. Two batters, one with his eye artistically decorated, appeared in the city police court Wednesday morning, charged with being drunk, disorderly and creating a general disturbance of the customary peace which prevails in the vicinity of the market square in the evening.

P. C. Louis McCaughy related a stirring tale of what seemed to be a three-cornered contest. Interrupting the melee, the officer barked two, he said, while the third displayed a pair of nimble feet, effecting a clean "get out of here."

While Magistrate Graydon expressed a keen desire as to the identity of this person, it was without success. Nobody knew his name.

The defendant with the varicolored optic related a doleful tale. He had merely stepped between the two to square an incipient riot. He was severely manhandled, he said.

"But you are charged with being drunk," suggested the court. "But I wasn't drunk till I was struck," was the novel defense. "I was completely dazed by what occurred."

The defendant explained that he struck the latter merely as a precautionary measure. "I was only defending myself," he asserted.

Magistrate Graydon administered a stinging lecture for any person who while sober would strike an intoxicated person. Both prisoners were then assessed $10 and costs.

CURRIE CLAIMS CAR COMPANY LIKELY TO ACT

President Asserts Street Railway Has Exclusive Right in London.

COUNCIL TO CHARGE FEE

Aldermen Decide To Impose $100 License On Vehicles.

Declaring that motor buses operating on city streets are making inroads into the revenue of the London Street Railway to the extent of $150 per day, and maintaining that these buses are infringing the right of the company, Charles Currie, president of the London Street Railway Company, has intimated to the city council that the legality of their operation will be tested in the near future.

"The city council has seen fit to allow motor buses to be operated on city streets, taking a great deal of revenue away from the London Street Railway Company," said President Currie. "Somebody is allowing these buses to take at least $150 a day from us."

"We say the London Street Railway Company has the exclusive right here, and we do not think that the buses have a right to compete. The buses are here and it is our privilege to test that right out," concluded President Currie.

At a meeting of the city council held Tuesday night it was decided to charge a license fee of $100 per annum for every motor bus operated on city streets. In addition a bylaw was passed requiring these bus owners to publish a list of routes and schedules which the city engineer will be required to have checked up for possible violations in future.

The council rescinded the clause which stipulated that each bus owner be required to place a bond in civic custody as an indemnity in case of accident, and substituted liability insurance to be carried on every bus to protect the public who ride the buses, pedestrians and the city in case of accident.

It was pointed out that there would be considerable expense involved on an indemnifying bond. Ald. F. R. Watkinson protested the $100 license fee, and advocated that it be left at $15 as at present.

Dealing Death Blow.

"You are dealing a death blow to the cleanest and cheapest mode of transportation," he declared. "The people are crying for good service, and it is up to us to give it to them. It is a dire scheme to defeat motor bus transportation."

Alderman O. I. Cunningham then attacked the motor buses in a lengthy oration, and Alderman Holmes moved that the proposed $150 license fee be cut to $50. Alderman Watkinson moved an amendment that the fee be left at $15.

Alderman Ash moved and declaring that $50 was too low and $150 too high suggested that the difference be split and the annual fee made $100.

Alderman Drake then moved an amendment to all these amendments, placing the license fee at $75. The $100 license fee passed the council.

In an attack on the invasion by motor buses Alderman John Asher said: "You have no right to bring outsiders; what you might call scabs. You are not only fighting the London Street Railway Company, but three hundred men. It is better for one man to be turned down than all these men. You are not only fighting the London Street Railway Company, but the men who run the cars."

DOLLAR DAY BARGAINS ATTRACT THOUSANDS OF BUYERS TO CITY FROM ALL PARTS OF DISTRICT

High-Class Displays On Counters of Retail Stores Make London Congested Mecca For Throngs of Shoppers, Representing Every County in Peninsula of Western Ontario.

Thursday is Dollar Day, in other words, bargain day, in London. There is only one other day in the year when the purchasing power of the dollar is as high in London stores as it will be Thursday, and that is on the other Dollar Day in February. On these two days in the year, in February and in August, retail merchants of London give consumers an opportunity to buy the best in everything at prices which, in many cases, are far below cost.

When Thursday dawned, almost all roads leading to London will be congested with traffic. From every direction Western Ontario residents come miles to take advantage of the remarkable offers held out by the retailers. And the offers are new. Experience in the past few years has taught the buying public that much of the bargain is in the buying. Of course, the early shopper has an advantage over the one who comes late in the afternoon, but nevertheless, every hour of the day wonderful bargains are offered. Some of the retailers hold special sales hourly.

Means Large Turnover.
Often there is doubt in the public mind that the bargains are genuine. The great multitude of buyers explains this, because a large turnover means that only a small profit need be taken. And the turnover on Dollar Day in the stores of London is the biggest of any day of the year.

From early morning until evening almost every store displaying Dollar Day signs is crowded to the doors. Many of the business establishments have found it necessary to close their doors several times during the day to prevent their places being overcrowded.

Hardly a citizen of London fails to allow a Dollar Day to pass without making a few purchases. Some even take a half holiday to make the rounds of the stores.

Becomes Institution.
Dollar Day became an institution several years ago. The idea received unanimous approval and has remained. Not one complaint of its management or of anything connected with it has ever been voiced. The merchants of London have been giving real bargains every Dollar Day, and the citizens of London and the people of Western Ontario have not been slow to take advantage of them.

In the majority of cases, stores have found it necessary to employ extra help, so great has been the demand for goods.

All this week crowds promenade in the business sections of London and in East London, observing the window displays, in order that they might know where first to go when they arrived on the main streets in the morning. It was generally admitted that it was difficult for them to come to a decision as to where to go, as the Dollar Day signs were fairly bristling with bargains.

Find Bargains Everywhere.
And so all day Thursday London will show "Bargains." Bargains will be written on every face, in fact, one will be forced to notice the city has taken on new life, every merchant dealing with the other in giving the buying public the most possible for the money.

Dollar Day means much to London households. Not since February, when the last Dollar Day was held, has the dollar possessed such buying power.

Dollar Day teaches many lessons. Among other things, it exhibits the power of co-operation, and the power of concentrated buying and selling. If Londoners bought as much and as often as they do on Dollar Day, business stagnancy would be unknown and everyone would share in the prosperity and employment which would naturally result.

SENATOR POMERENE WINS DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION
Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—(By the Canadian Press).—Returns received in Washington this morning show that Senator Atlee Pomerene of Canton was successful in his contest for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate in yesterday's primary elections in Ohio. He has a majority of about 25,000 over his opponent, former Congressman John J. Lenthe. Senator Pomerene was opposed both by organized labor and the anti-saloon league.

Interest in the Ohio primaries very largely centered in the contest for the Democratic senatorial nomination. It is the general belief here that if Pomerene is successful in the November elections he stands a good chance of being the Democratic nominee for president in 1924. His opponent in November will be Congressman Simeon D. Fess, who yesterday won the Republican nomination, according to incomplete returns available this morning.

QUEBEC POLICE FIND TWO LARGE STILLS OPERATING

Three Rivers, Que., Aug. 9.—(By the Canadian Press).—Inspector Wilfrid Turgeon, of the liquor commission department, accompanied by Chief of Police Longvale of Shawinigan Falls, during a raid in a house in the latter city, discovered a trap-door under the floor covering of a bedroom in a tenement occupied by Alex. Lacerte. The door led them to the basement, where they found two ten-gallon stills in operation, about 200 gallons of mixture undergoing the process of distillation and 30 gallons of whiskey. The equipment was most modern and the stills, according to the police, had been in operation about two weeks supplying the owner, Lacerte, with a very liberal source of revenue.

URGES PUBLIC TO SUPPORT ST. LAWRENCE CANAL PLAN

Senator Kellogg, Minnesota, Asserts Scheme More Important Than Panama Project.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 9.—"The St. Lawrence Canal can be built for less than the United States government has appropriated to build in the building of roads since I have been in the senate," declared Frank B. Kellogg, senator from Minnesota, in an address here last night.

Characterizing the proposed sea cut project as one of the greatest ever conceived, Senator Kellogg urged the people of the northwest, "to do everything in their power to ward the consummation of the deep waterway."

Comparing the lakes-to-the-ocean plan to the Panama Canal, the senator said the United States was now being asked to support "another waterway improvement of even greater importance."

"Of the entire distance," he said, "more than 2,000 miles from the head of the lakes to the sea, the improvement of only fifty miles of artificial channel is necessary, only thirty-four miles of canal between Montreal, which is now reached by ocean-going ships, and Lake Ontario."

BUFFALO MOB ATTACKS STREET CAR AND CREW

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 9.—With a court order in force forbidding open operation of jitneys, street cars yesterday did the biggest business of any day since the strike of carmen began on July 1, according to a statement last night by Herbert G. Tulley, president of the International Railway Company.

There were several attacks on street cars last night. The most serious was in East Ferry street, where a car unaccompanied by a police guard, was attacked by about 20 men. After breaking nearly every window in the car the mob swarmed through the door, knocked the conductor unconscious and beat the motorman. Police reserves rushed to the scene and dispersed the mob, which had grown to more than 500 people. The conductor was unconscious for half an hour, but was not seriously hurt.

Lightning Kills 7 Pigs in Pen On Farm Near Princeton.

PRINCETON, Aug. 8.—Lightning killed seven pigs in a pen of fifteen on the farm of Albert Lawrence of the second concession of Burford Township, Monday afternoon during the severe electrical storm which swept this district.

The bolt struck the eaves trough on the pen and followed a pipe to a corner where the pigs were lying close together. The animals weighed nearly 100 pounds each. The loss is covered by insurance. The building was not damaged.

DIES IN ATTEMPT TO STOP GUNMEN

New Yorker Succumbs As Result of Alleged Bootleggers' Feud.

New York, Aug. 9.—Death today claimed one of the eight men shot down yesterday in a crowded hotel on East Side street, when they tried to halt four gunmen fleeing in an automobile after an attempt to kill Joseph Nassarelli as the outgrowth of what the police believe was a bootleggers' feud. He was Jacob Goldstein, a cloakmaker, one of a crowd of clothing strikers in front of Beethovens Hall. Three of his companions are still in the hospital, but they will probably recover.

The police have been unable to pick up the trail of the gunmen after losing it in a mass of traffic at 34th street and Third avenue.

Nassarelli's escape from death after he had been cornered by two of the gunmen was considered remarkable. His astonishing agility in ducking bullets from automatics saved his life. Two bullets went through the crown of his hat.

No charge in connection with the shooting has been laid against the five men arrested yesterday after a car resembling the one in which the gunmen rode had been stopped by police and a blackjack found.

LONDON MAN HAS AUTO DAMAGED BY SARNIA CAR

Sarnia, Aug. 9.—Mr. Harris, Jun., of the London Rag and Metal Company, had his automobile badly smashed at 11 a.m. today, when he was sandwiched between a Sarnia street car and the pavement at the corner of Russell and Christina streets. The front part of the car was badly damaged, the front wheels being broken to splinters. Mr. Harris was endeavoring to pass the car, which he expected to continue along Christina, when it suddenly turned on to Russell street. He was fortunate to escape without injury. The street car was damaged, and had to be towed to the repair house.

U. F. M. MAY JOIN IN WHEAT BOARD

Contemplate Legislation To Make Rulings Effective in Province.

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—By Canadian Press.—News from Winnipeg that the newly-formed farmer government of Manitoba is considering joining in the wheat board is received with interest here. Premier Bracken's somewhat guarded statement on the matter is taken in some quarters to indicate that there is a likelihood of James Stewart, former chairman of the 1919 board, withdrawing his refusal to act, and that if he accepts the chairmanship of the board, Manitoba will join with the other western provinces in passing legislation to make the wheat board effective in that province.

While the matter of financing the new wheat board rests with the western provinces, there is considerable interest here in the matter of the amount per bushel to be advanced to the western farmers. The initial price paid by the 1919 board was $2.15 per bushel, and the farmers were given participation certificates which turned out to be worth 40 cents a bushel, bringing the price up to $2.55 to those who had retained their participation certificates.

Estimates made by western grain men within the recent days as to the amount of the initial payment to the farmer this fall, place the probable figure at about 70 cents per bushel. The actual price will, of course, depend on market conditions and prices at the time the board is ready to begin receiving grain.

RUSSIAN SOVIET CONDEMN 14 REVOLUTIONISTS TO DIE

Moscow, Aug. 9.—Fourteen of the 34 social revolutionists accused of high treason against the soviet government have been sentenced to death by the revolutionary tribunal. Among the condemned are several of those who turned informers. Three of the other defendants were acquitted, and the remainder given prison sentences of from two to ten years.

The death sentences against twelve of the first group of defendants later were upheld by the central executive committee, but an indefinite stay of execution was ordered upon the condition that the social revolutionary party cease its counter-revolutionary activity. Otherwise the sentenced leaders are liable to the court's judgment. Meanwhile all those sentenced to death or to various terms of imprisonment are to be held in strict confinement.

RETAILERS ASK REMOVAL OF TAX

Want Government to Abolish Stamps On Checks and Receipts.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 9.—Resolutions concerning the sales tax act and new stamp tax, passed by the annual convention of the Dominion Board of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada here yesterday, read in part as follows:

"We are of the opinion that the present sales tax act has been drafted in such a muddled and confused manner that it can never be made operative and satisfactory to the retail trade in its present form, and we request the incoming Dominion legislative council to ask the government that the act be redrafted and placed in such language that it can be understood by ourselves and by our customers, who are the general public."

"We recommend that the stamp tax on receipts and bank checks be abolished, and if necessary to produce the revenue required by the government that the sales tax be increased to cover this amount."

A resolution was passed opposing the establishment of an eight-hour day. Another resolution charged that a large number of co-operative societies, co-operative farmer associations and chain stores have been endeavoring to secure custom by false representation of the manner in which they conducted their business, and instructed the incoming Dominion executive council to prosecute if necessary firms whose advertisements were false and misleading.

CITY COUNCIL DECIDES TO ACCEPT PAVING OFFER OF STREET RAILWAY COMPANY

FELT URGE TO GO WITH ITALIAN

Ethel Smith Explains Why She Was Found With Bianafiore.

Accused Was Playing Piano at Time Impulse Overcame Her.

"He was in playing the piano, when he glanced at me, and something came over me; I don't know what it was. It seemed to say, 'Go, go.' I couldn't resist the impulse. I rushed in and packed my suitcase and hurried from the house by way of the back door."

So 16-year-old Ethel Smith, of 172 Grey street, in police court Wednesday morning gave as her explanation as to why she was located at the Grand Trunk station at Pottersburg, presumably waiting for the Stratford train, with Louis Bianafiore, Italian construction worker, charged with her abduction.

Elected Summary Trial.

Unable, seemingly, to understand English with any degree of fluency, the defendant, through his attorney, E. E. Scatcherd, elected summary trial before Police Magistrate A. M. H. Graydon, and pleaded not guilty as charged.

When all evidence had been submitted the bench reserved judgment for a week, remanding Bianafiore until that date. Counsel for the defence entered formal application in the court for a medical examination by competent physicians of the girl in the case, as to her mentality.

On the witness stand the latter stated that on the Saturday preceding the Wednesday Bianafiore had asked her to go to Toronto. She declined she related, explaining that she had no desire to leave her mother. He asked her again on Monday morning, she said, but she did not succumb to his advances.

"On Wednesday, however," she testified, "he was playing the piano and as he glanced at me something seemed to come over me. I don't know what, but something kept urging me to go. I packed my things and went out. All the time there was something in my mind saying 'you must go, you must go.' I met him afterwards on the street. He drove me out to Pottersburg and said 'Let's go to Waterloo.' We were just going to get on the train when the police arrived."

Roomed With Smiths.

Taking the stand in his own defence, Bianafiore stated that he had known the Smith family for about three years, having roomed there at various periods, as long as seven months at a time.

Denying that he had ever asked Ethel to accompany him to Toronto, or elsewhere, he explained, that he was all packed up and was saying good-bye to everyone in the house, but no person could find the girl. He wanted to say good-bye to her as well. She had disappeared and her mother sent him out to look for her, he said.

He denied emphatically that he had purchased a ticket for her, and that he compelled or urged her to go to Pottersburg with him. On the contrary he had urged her to return home, he said, and when she refused he did not have time to take her home, as he had to catch a train, he took her in his taxi-cab with him for a ride to the depot.

Cross-examined by Acting Crown Attorney A. R. Douglas he denied that he had told Detective Bolton shortly after his arrest that the girl was so infatuated with him that he could do nothing but bring her with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, parents of Ethel Smith, both testified that the prisoner had stayed with them at certain intervals, and had been with them for about a week on the last occasion. They knew him about two years, they said.

Police Magistrate Graydon declined to dismiss the case, as emphatically urged by counsel for the defence.

Wins Freedom On Promise To Go To Work

"SIX months no work." With this salutation, John Lipskie greeted Police Magistrate A. M. H. Graydon Wednesday morning, as his defence against a vagrancy charge preferred at the instigation of P. C. Snell.

After a lengthy palaver between the prisoner and a Russian spectator in court, it developed that the former was a Pole by nationality, and a resident of the city for several months. Assuring the court that he would renew the search for the elusive means of employment, he was allowed to depart.

NURSES TO AWARD NEW SCHOLARSHIP

Western University Public Health Students Eligible For Honor.

Students of Western University in the public health nursing course are now eligible for a new scholarship of $400 open during 1922 and 1923. At the annual meeting of the Graduate Nurses' Association of Ontario held in Brantford last April, it was decided to award a scholarship of $400. The scholarship is open to graduates of Ontario hospitals, except those situated in Toronto.

Miss M. McDermott, head of the public health nursing department of Western, has now received word that the university here will be one of the largest competitors for this award in the province.

Owing to the exclusion of the Toronto graduates from eligibility, and the importance and size of the public health nursing department of Western, students taking this course either next year or the year following are considered to be in a favorable position in regard to the winning of the prize.

Y. M. C. A. APPOINT NEW INSTRUCTOR

Gordon Butler, Hamilton Athlete, To Assume Duties in September.

Gordon Butler, an expert swimmer, and a well-known all-around athlete of Hamilton, has received the appointment of assistant physical director of the London Young Men's Christian Association. This announcement was made by the "Y" authorities Wednesday morning. The position has been vacant since the resignation of Arthur Howwood some four months ago, and numerous applications have been received by Edward Jenkins, general secretary, from all parts of the country.

The new assistant director will commence his duties September 1, and will probably have charge of the younger boys.

Mr. Butler, who is a young man, has been associated with Y. M. C. A. work in Hamilton for a number of years, and has an envied reputation as a swimmer and diver. During 1921 he was swimming instructor and bathing supervisor at Wabasso Park of that city, where he was extremely popular with both old and young.

George Sinclair, physical director of the association in London, returned to the city Tuesday from an extended vacation on Lake Couchiching. Mr. Sinclair stated that the "Y" was fortunate in securing the services of such a capable man, and said that the details of the fall and winter work would not be complete until the arrival of Mr. Butler.

The schedule of classes is being drawn up at present, and everything will be in readiness for the opening day, September 25. The program this fall and winter promises to be the most novel and extensive ever attempted by the local "Y," and every kind of indoor sport will be inaugurated.

Special attention will be given to swimming this winter. Mr. Sinclair stated, and when the repairs to the tank are completed classes will be formed.

BREWING CHARGE MAY BE TEST CASE

Inland Revenue Department Charges George Able With Offense.

What promises to be a real test case in connection with the brewing of wine or light beer is one scheduled for the city police court a week hence, when George Able and his wife, Edith Able, as the defendants, and Cecil Webb of the local office of the department of inland revenue as the complainant.

Appearing before Police Magistrate A. M. H. Graydon Wednesday morning, both defendants, through their counsel, William B. Henderson, pleaded not guilty and were remanded at the request of the complainant.

As the alleged offense was committed July 12, the bench questioned why the crown was not ready to proceed. Inspector Webb explained that he had not been notified by the federal authorities at Ottawa to take action until Aug. 4. He stated that he would have to secure counsel.

Mr. and Mrs. Able are charged with brewing wine without a permit.

Offering no defense whatever, Robert Johnson pleaded guilty in police court Wednesday morning of having a bottle of liquor in other than a private dwelling contrary to section 41 of the Ontario temperance act, and was assessed $200 and costs or three months. The fine was paid.

Two companions arrested with Johnson were dismissed after a night in the cells. The police state that all three were apprehended in an automobile driven by the former.

"I'll dismiss the charge against these two men," declared the magistrate "it is the same whiskey."

Chief of Police Robert Birrell hastened to explain that there was a drunk charge against the pair, but this was not pressed.

The arrests were effected by Sergeant James Oakley, accompanied by Constables MacRae and McWilliams.

Attributing his downfall to "wine, women and song," John Collar, local taxi driver, pleaded guilty in police court Wednesday morning to the theft of diamond rings and other jewelry to the value of several hundred dollars. He was remanded for a week by Police Magistrate A. M. H. Graydon, pending a more thorough consideration of the facts of the case.

Acting Crown Attorney A. R. Douglas informed the bench that he had learned from the detective department that the prisoner had never been in trouble before, and had always been regarded by them as an honest and industrious citizen.

MUST REPORT TO SHERIFF MONTHLY

Robert Poulton, Charged With Theft, Gets Suspended Sentence.

Robert Poulton, whose residence is in this city at odd times, and at other times in other places in Western Ontario, was allowed to go on suspended sentence by Judge Macbeth when he appeared before him in court on criminal court Wednesday morning on a charge of petty theft. Suspended sentence was made conditional by the judge, on Poulton's giving bond of $1,000, and agreeing to report to Sheriff Graham on the first Monday of every month.

Poulton was convicted of the theft of a watch from Byron Sanatorium, and also of the theft of a bicycle at Point Edward.

When the case first came into the hands of the court, Constable Poulton had left London for eastern points. After he arrived at Brantford he wired for his suitcase, which he had left in London.

The suitcase was sent, but with it was an order from County Constable Fildes for the arrest of the man who called for the case in session.

Poulton's apprehension followed.

TO PAVE DUNDAS STREET AT ONCE

City Council Takes Quick Action Following Council's Decision.

In an effort to have Dundas street from Ashland avenue to the city limits, which is described as in a "disgraceful condition," paved before fair week, City Engineer Brazier announced Wednesday morning that work will be commenced on the paving of this road this afternoon.

This action, follows on the heels of the city council's session Tuesday night, decided to accept the offer of the London Street Railway Company to pave its tracks on Dundas street and Hamilton road, provided that the city will loan them the money over a term of three years.

Ready By Fair Week.

City Engineer Brazier stated that unless unforeseen circumstances crop up the job will be completed by fair week, so that visitors to the city will not be compelled to detour in utilizing Dundas street as a means of entry to London. The London Street Railway Company has telegraphed an order for new rails, to be used on this job, and delivery is promised in two weeks time.

Pending instructions to the contrary, Mr. Brazier states that Dundas street east will be paved first, with Hamilton road paving to be completed later. This action will be taken because of the fact that a detour from Dundas street for motorists is much more inconvenient than that from the Hamilton road, and, therefore, it has been deemed expedient to speed up the former job.

The action of the city council in accepting the offer of the London Street Railway, thereby settling the problem, has already borne fruit in that City Engineer Brazier Wednesday morning hired eighteen men who were laid off because the paving program was held up, and states that he will hire the remaining eighteen city employees laid off in a few days.

Two gangs of men will be employed on the paving job, working from either end of Dundas street.

"We will work both ways on Dundas street east," said the engineer, "and will have two gangs on the job. We will likely close the street and the London Street Railway Company will tear up the tracks and lay them on the side of the road while replacing them by new rails."

"If we can get started today we will be done by fair week, unless unforeseen circumstances crop up. Hamilton road presents a much easier detour, and we will do it next. The detour from Dundas street will be by First street to Oxford street, or the Gore. The time of finishing this job depends entirely on the rail situation."

"Although some members of the city council favor the T. rail, I am satisfied that it is not as good as the grooved rail, as it is too shallow. However, that can be adjusted," concluded the city engineer.

RAILMEN PICNIC AT SPRINGBANK PARK

Members of Forest City Lodge Make Merry at Annual Outing.

Such "bugaboos" as block signals and open switches were conscientiously forgotten by some 400 trainmen and their families who spent Tuesday afternoon at Springbank Park on the occasion of the annual picnic of Forest City Lodge, No. 240, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, in an effort to forget for a few hours the cares that necessarily become a part of the make-up of the railroad man.

The average person would have thought that the afternoon was rather cool for a picnic, but so keen was the interest taken in the outing by the large crowd of merry-makers that the cold and warmth dished up by the weatherman for the occasion was placed in the background long before the program was started.

One of the outstanding features of the afternoon was a ball game between the two teams who mutually agreed to give a few minutes before the game to be called by the mysterious names of Skidders and Bouncers. In spots, by watching closely, one could see a resemblance to the national pastime in the manoeuvres of the contestants, but in any case the crowd was satisfied with the antics of the players. The Bouncers lived up to their name and bounced up 17 runs, while the Skidders didn't skid far enough and only reached the ninth rung.

Mike O'Leary, the genial chairman of the picnic committee, was one of the big drawing cards of the day, with his soothing words to the lost children and for the professional manner in which he directed the contestants why, and how, to run in the many novelty events.

The refreshment committee demonstrated a wide knowledge of the work in the manner in which they supplied the pleasure seekers with refreshments.

Those who were in a large measure responsible for the success of the outing were M. J. O'Leary, general chairman, T. Kelley, J. McCauley, W. O'Sullivan, H. Lane, G. Turner and D. R. McHarg.

ALLOWS SISKIND BENEFIT OF DOUBT

Police Magistrate Rules Evidence Insufficient On Usury Charge.

Once again Julius Siskind, Richmond street pawnbroker, emerges as the victor from a legal fray, this time charged before Police Magistrate A. M. H. Graydon, in the city police court Wednesday morning, with imposing a higher rate of interest than that permitted by the statutes, he was "allowed the benefit of the doubt," and adjudge "not guilty."

The entire proceedings hinged upon the word of the complainant, a regular soldier at Tecumseh Barracks, as against that of the accused.

The plaintiff testified that at the request of his cousin in Toronto he offered to redeem a watch pawned at Siskind's place of business Aug. 7, 1921, for $7. That Siskind informed him that the watch would now cost $15 as the complainant's story.

He related further that not having sufficient money he departed, returning later in the day with money that he had borrowed, and was able to reclaim the watch for $14. He paid Siskind a $10 bill and four $1 bills, he testified.

Siskind denied the charge emphatically, stating that he returned the watch to the plaintiff upon receipt of the sum of $8.50. He had been tendered a $10 bill, he asserted, and had given $1.50 in change.

"I can't convict on this," declared Police Magistrate Graydon. "There is insufficient evidence."

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE PLAN OUTING LABOR DAY

Although the location has not yet been definitely decided upon, Labor Day has been set as the date of what promises to be one of the biggest events of the Baptist year, the giant picnic at which members of the Senior Baptist Young People's Union will entertain the junior members.

A committee, which has been acting under the chairmanship of Miss Phyllis Kennedy, the president of the city "Y. P. U.," has considered Thames Park an unusually suitable location, but owing to the refusal of the city council to allow them the use of the park, other locations are at present under consideration.

C. J. McCORMICK, ILL 2 DAYS, DIES

Prominent Londoner and Pioneer Associate of Hydro Electric Succumbs At Home.

Charles James McCormick, associated with the hydro-electric commission from the beginning of the provincial power development, and a son of the late Ex-Mayor Andrew McCormick, died at his home, 334 Burwell street, about 9 o'clock Tuesday evening after being ill only since Sunday night.

The late Mr. McCormick was 66 years old, and previous to joining the staff of the hydro-electric commission was engaged in the grocery business on Wellington street. He was widely known and had a host of friends throughout the city and district. He was prominent in Masonic circles, a member of St. John's Lodge, 209a, and of St. John's Chapter. At one time active in civic affairs, he was a former chairman of the board of education.

When hydro-electric development was first decided upon in Ontario Mr. McCormick traveled through Southern Ontario and leased the right-of-way for the power line from Niagara Falls to Windsor, and also for tributary lines.

Besides his widow, who was formerly Miss Alice H. Element, daughter of William J. Element, Mr. McCormick is survived by one son, William A. McCormick, a grocer on Richmond street north; one daughter, Mrs. Ann Skinner; six brothers, Robert, superintendent of Springbank Park; Andrew G. Thomas, B. and Albert E. McCormick of the firm of A. McCormick & Sons; Chester Garfield, a traveler for the Kellogg's Toasted Cornflakes Company; Kenneth, a Wellington street grocer, and two sisters, Mrs. (Dr.) Mason of Vancouver, and Miss Alice McCormick of this city. His mother died last May.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Commissioner Grant Reports Increase of $6,001 On Incomes in City.

Assessment figures for the city of London, completed Tuesday by Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant, show a total increase over the 1921 records of $2,896,882. This increase is spread over land, buildings, business and income assessment for the four wards of the city, the chief gain being on buildings. The percentage increase over 1921 is 4.67. The gain on buildings is $1,651,638, while land assessment runs second, the increase in this case being $947,054. Business assessment jumped $168,482 over last year, while income assessment was boosted $8,601.

The latter increase is regarded as significant in view of the fact that changes in income tax regulations tended to offset any increase, while in addition federal income tax assessment for London has shown a marked falling off this year.

The percentage population increase is 2.85. There are 19,016 persons registered in London to vote at elections to the legislative assembly, and 5,075 children attending public schools. Separate school enrollment for London is placed at 530. The report of Commissioner Grant shows that there are 2,449 persons assessed here for statute labor, of which number 231 are in the annexed district.

The total per capita assessment for the city proper is $1,187.25, while that of the annexed district is $308.71. The per capita for annexed district and city proper assessments combined is $1,084.

In his statement to the city council, Assessment Commissioner Grant says: "I would particularly direct your attention to the income, showing an increase of $6,001 over the assessment of 1921. Due to the amendment of the assessment act of 1921 effective January 1, 1922, investments were exempted up to $200 when the income from all sources did not exceed $1,500. Owing to this the assessment was considerably reduced as well as that of the dividends of mercantile and manufacturing concerns, showing considerable reduction in view of these facts I would consider $6,001 a very favorable increase."

By the completion of assessment figures for Ward 1 last week, Mr. Grant was enabled to hand in his report for the entire city. The total increase in assessment for this ward was $431,743, of which amount $40,820 was noted on buildings and $36,010 on income. There are 1,172 children between the ages of 8 and 14 years in this ward, of which number 1,088 are public school attendants.

A total of 750 persons are entered as voters to the legislative assembly in Ward 1.

NOTED PACKER DIES IN HAMILTON

Hamilton, Aug. 9.—Robert C. Fearman, a member of the old firm of P. W. Fearman Company, pork packers, and president of the Armstrong Cartage Company here, died today at his home, 90 Stinson street, in his 63rd year. For many years he served on the board of education and library board, and was prominent in Masonic circles.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.—Matthew vi, 34.

Our worst misfortunes never happen, and most miseries lie in anticipation.—Balzac.

According to Dr. W. S. Downham, medical officer of health for London, communicable diseases have apparently taken a holiday, as no cases of scarlet fever or diphtheria have been reported here for some time. "I hope they stay away," declared Dr. Downham Wednesday.

DURING THE CITY COUNCIL meeting Tuesday night a request from one of the departments that $1.50 per week be granted a city employee for the use of his bicycle daily came up for discussion. "It would be cheaper to buy a bicycle," said Ald. L. S. Holmes, with a smile. "We can buy one for a dollar a week from ex-Ald. Wenige."

REMOVAL OF THE SIDEWALK at the southwest corner of Wortley road and Stanley street to a point eight feet back from the road will be carried out by City Engineer Brazier in the near future. This action is being taken on request of the city council, because of the fact that the present position of the sidewalk constitutes a menace to pedestrians.

EX-ALD. GEORGE A. WENIGE was an interested spectator at the lively meeting of the city council on Tuesday night. He remained until the conclusion of the meeting, and during his sojourn with the city fathers took copious notes of the proceedings. Mr. Wenige declined, however, to divulge his plans, or reason for copying down the sayings of the aldermen in session.

AUG. 18 PORT STANLEY will be the scene of the Shriners' annual picnic, when all the Mocha Temple Shriners and their families, as well as visitors from many points in the province will attend the annual celebration. The picnic committee are now being formed, and preparation are being made to make it the largest outing of its kind ever held in this district. Several of the imperial officers are expected to be present. W. W. Gammage has been chosen as general chairman of the picnic committee.

"POOH-POOHING" the report circulated in the city late Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning, the Murrill brothers, Melbourne bank bandits, who escaped several months ago from the Middlesex County Jail, might be located at a certain dwelling in East London. Chief of Detectives Thomas Nickle expresses the frank opinion that there is nothing to it. "Any who make such a clean get-away as they did are bound to be far away," he says.

ANOTHER NEW warehouse for London has been assured by the action of the Kuntz Brewing Company, Limited, in taking out a building permit to erect a one-story structure to be used for this purpose on William street. The estimated cost of the new warehouse is $6,000. J. W. McLaughlin took out a building permit at the city hall Wednesday morning to erect a one-story brick store at 347 Dundas street, costing $4,500. The new store will be used to construct a one-story frame dwelling on Giles street, to cost $1,200. Building permits issued by Inspector A. M. Piper this month now number 34, and the total estimated cost involved is $45,000.

SENT TO JAIL FOR DRIVING CAR WHILE INTOXICATED

Hamilton, Aug. 9.—Harry Harper, a married man with several children under 7 years of age, was today sentenced in police court by Magistrate Jelfs to serve 31 days in jail without the option of a fine, for being drunk in charge of an automobile, despite the plea of his counsel for leniency on account of his family.

"Make it seven days," pleaded the lawyer.

"I'd make it six months if the law allowed," retorted the court.

TO GIVE MONEY AS 3-YEAR LOAN

Aldermen Change Vote To Eliminate Disgraceful Road Conditions.

President Currie Takes Objection to Operation of Busses in London.

After debating for over an hour on the offer of the London Street Railway Company's offer to pave its tracks on Dundas street and Hamilton road east, provided that the city loan the company the money on a three-year term, the members of the city council Tuesday night turned down the offer, decided to proceed with paving these streets, and finally at the hour grew late, reopened the discussion and accepted the offer.

Reverses Previous Vote.

The latter decision stands, and was brought about by the timely appearance of Ald. H. B. Ashplant, who arrived at the meeting one hour late, and the fact that Ald. S. J. T. Bean reversed his previous vote in favor of accepting the company's offer.

Ald. Bean explained that in changing his vote he did so because he realized that both Dundas street and Hamilton road are in a disgraceful condition, and although he desired to see the tracks on Stanley street paved, he would rather accept the company's offer than have a similar state of affairs foisted upon East London residents.

Aldermen J. T. May, L. Douglass and Albert Judd stood firm for no concessions to the London Street Railway Company until Stanley, Adelaide and Richmond street north tracks were paved, declaring that if President Currie, who was present, would agree to include these thoroughfares in his offer they would favor the proposition. Mr. Currie declined to make this pledge, and they voted against his offer.

Would Advance Money.

Mayor Wilson introduced the problem, declaring that at a conference Tuesday morning President Currie had agreed to pave tracks on Hamilton road and Dundas street east, provided that the city would advance the money over a term of three years. Addressing the council, President Currie said: "We are not very flush with funds, as you know. We are reaping some benefit from the increased fares, but you have seen your way clear to operate busses in your city, taking a great deal of our revenue away. We want to spend our money here on service, pavements and cars. Notwithstanding that we will go on paving Dundas street and Hamilton road and the tracks on Dundas street between Adelaide and Lyle streets if we can get the money."

"We want it from the city for three years, as our franchise expires then. We will pay back the first installment in December of this year, and in the same month in 1923 and 1924, with interest subject to the approval of the council."

"What action will be done in regard to paving the car tracks on Wharncliffe road next year?" asked Ald. L. Douglass.

"That depends on the treatment received by us," replied President Currie. "I say frankly that we cannot go ahead and make improvements in your city if the busses are to be allowed to operate in competition."

Burden Too Great.

Asking if the London Street Railway Company is not bound under bylaw to pave its tracks, and receiving an affirmative reply, Alderman Judd demanded to know why the company should be granted concessions. Mr. Currie explained that ties and rails for these streets will cost $25,000, and the extra burden involved in paving was too great.

"Mr. Currie has been frank and we will be frank too," declared Mayor Wilson. "Our sympathies in the last few years have not been with the London Street Railway Company. We have been dicker with them for five years, and

PROTEST REPAIR OF U. S. ENGINES

St. Thomas Shopmen Indignant Over Alleged Breach of Disputes Act.

Locomotives Declared To Be Practically Useless in Present State.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 8.—Much unfavorable comment is being heard locally over the alleged breach by the Wabash Railway of the industrial disputes act in sending a large number of locomotives from the United States into Canada for repairs.

Seven engines have already passed over this division for the Baldwin Locomotive Company's shops in Montreal, and about 45 more will follow, it is reported. Local crews are being used to take the engines to their destination, and it is not known as yet whether the shopmen's unions will act to prevent their movement through Canada.

The locomotives are declared to be in very poor condition owing to the lack of repair, and are practically useless in their present state. If they are allowed to be repaired in Montreal the present shortage of motive power in the United States will be greatly relieved, and it is for that reason regarded as probable that pressure will be brought to bear by the shopmen's unions.

The sittings of the conciliation board, which will deal with shopmen's grievances on the Pere Marquette, scheduled to begin Monday, August 14, will, it is understood, be postponed owing to the illness of Dr. T. Robbins, who will represent the men.

Sittings of the Pere Marquette clerks' board will also be delayed. C. R. McLaugh of this city, who is the clerks' appointee, was in Windsor Saturday conferring with Alexander Leslie of Kingsville, as to the selection of the third member of the board, but as no agreement was reached it will be necessary for Hon. James Murdoch, minister of labor, to make the appointment. This is one of the discretionary powers given the minister of labor by the industrial disputes act, and it is therefore probable that the clerks' grievances will be dealt with for at least two weeks.

BEGIN SOIL SURVEY OF KENT COUNTY

Experts From Ontario Agricultural College Commence Province-Wide Investigation.

CHATHAM, Aug. 8.—C. A. Cline and G. N. Rhunke of the chemistry section of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, have commenced a soil survey of the entire county of Kent.

The work will include a careful classification of soils based on international standard tests. The object of this survey is to accurately map all types of soils throughout the province, the state of which is being made in Kent County.

The survey, combined with field fertilizer experiments, will give accurate information to the general farming public as to the best methods of working out fertilizer and crop problems.

CORN IN OXFORD COUNTY DAMAGED BY HAILSTORM

Whole Fields Flattened and Shredded or Uprooted by Strong Winds.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 2.—The corn crop in several sections of Oxford suffered severely from the hail in yesterday's storm, according to reports of farmers who came to the city today. Farmers of the third concession of the township of Blandford state that the storm there assumed the volume of a cloudburst and many fields were inundated.

FIRE CAUSES $3,000 LOSS IN PLANT AT INGERSOLL

Flames of Unknown Origin Damage Storehouse of Thames Valley Knitting Company.

Special to London Advertiser. INGERSOLL, Aug. 8.—Fire of unknown origin did some $3,000 worth of damage in the storehouse of the mills of Thames Valley Knitting Company, Ingersoll, at an early hour this morning.

Thanks to the sprinkler system, the plant was saved from destruction. The fire is thought to have originated from spontaneous combustion.

MRS. JESSIE McARTHUR PASSES AT DAYTON, OHIO

Mrs. McArthur had been visiting in Dayton, the guest of her sister, Mrs. (Dr.) Trehan.

She is survived by two sons, M. C. McArthur of Stratford and J. A. McArthur, city, and three daughters, Annie of Winnipeg, Mary of Windsor and Lillian of London.

Rejects Plea For Mercy of Wilson Slayers in London.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The attorney-general refused today to sanction an appeal to the House of Lords by Joseph O'Sullivan and Reginald Dunn, under sentence to be hanged Aug. 10, for the assassination of Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson. Counsel for the two men applied last week for permission to make the appeal.

CHARGE RUSSIANS WITH HAVING STILL

Kent County Police Seize 160 Gallons of Mash in Gore Township.

Special to London Advertiser. CHATHAM, Aug. 8.—Four 40-gallon barrels of whiskey mash, together with a modern still, were seized by the county police in a spectacular raid on a Russian dwelling in Gore Township yesterday afternoon.

Evidence was secured to involve several Russians, who will be charged with offenses against the O. T. A. in Wallaceburg this afternoon. As a result of the investigation which preceded the raid, a large number of informations will be served on residents of Wallaceburg and Dresden, who, it is alleged, participated in the celebrations which are alleged to have occurred at the Russians' place.

TWO CASES OF DIPHTHERIA REPORTED IN BRANTFORD

Health Authorities Believe Infantile Paralysis Epidemic Now Nearing Conclusion.

Special to London Advertiser. BRANTFORD, Aug. 8.—Two cases of diphtheria were reported to the city health authorities at the weekend. One of the cases was reported on Sunday, and the other yesterday, and both patients have been sent to the isolation hospital. There has been a lull in the infantile paralysis epidemic, and no new cases have been reported for the past four days. At present there are four cases of this disease in the city, and the health authorities believe the outbreak has reached its height. The patients were released from quarantine today.

FORECAST CROPS IN UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Prospective production of corn this year increased 12,000,000 bushels as a result of growing conditions during July.

Wheat production is forecast at 12,000,000 bushels less than a month ago. Forecasts today by the department of agriculture placed the corn crop at 2,017,000,000 bushels, and the wheat crop at 805,000,000 bushels. Crop production this year, based on August 1 condition, was forecasted as follows (stated in millions of bushels; that is, millions omitted):

Winter wheat, 542; spring wheat, 263; all wheat, 805; corn, 2,017; oats, 1,251; barley, 192; rye, 79.6; buckwheat, 13.8.

ROBERT RANDALL DIES IN HAMILTON

Special to London Advertiser. GALT, Aug. 8.—In the death of Robert T. Randall of 42 Blenheim road, which occurred at Hamilton on Monday, Galt lost a well-known citizen. He was in his 74th year, and was born in Grimsby.

For the past 24 years he had resided in Galt, and was a well-known bookkeeper. Two sons and two daughters survive.

Corns Go Blue-jay to your druggist

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in a colorless clear liquid (one drop does it!) and in extra thin plasters. The action is the same.

RUPTURE KILLS 8,000 ANNUALLY

Eight thousand persons each year are laid away—the burial certificate being marked "Rupture." Why? Because the unfortunate ones had neglected themselves or had been merely taking care of the sign (swelling) of the affliction and paying no attention to the cause.

What are you doing? Are you neglecting yourself by wearing a truss, appliance or whatever name you choose to call it? At best, the truss is only a makeshift—a false prop against a collapsing wall—and cannot be expected to act as more than a mere mechanical support. The binding pressure retards blood circulation, thus robbing the weakened muscles of that which they need most—nourishment.

But science has found a way, and all truss sufferers in the land are invited to make a test right in the privacy of their own homes. The PLAPAO method is unquestionably the most scientific, logical and successful self-treatment for rupture the world has ever known.

The PLAPAO PAD when adhering closely to the body cannot possibly slip or shift out of place, therefore cannot chafe or pinch. Soft as velvet—easy to apply—comparatively inexpensive. To be used whilst you work and whilst you sleep. No straps, buckles or springs attached.

Learn how to close the hernial opening as nature intended so the rupture CAN'T come down. Send your name and ten cents coin or stamps today to PLAPAO CO., 413 Stuart Bldg., St. Louis, Mo., for trial Plapao and instructive information. (c) P.L.—Adv.

COUNCIL PROBING COAL SHORTAGE

Ald. J. C. Barr Is Securing Prices On Coal Supply For Sarnia.

Special to London Advertiser. SARNIA, Aug. 8.—The Sarnia City Council is taking cognizance of the possibility of a coal shortage during the coming winter. Ald. Thomas H. Cook, acting mayor, stated today that Ald. J. C. Barr, chairman of the waterworks committee, was investigating the situation and would probably report in a few days.

Local coal dealers had been interviewed, but were not possessed of any further information regarding future prospects than what has been made public in press dispatches.

Ald. Barr said that he had secured prices on coal at the mines, and delivered, which were considerably higher than those quoted last spring when a supply was purchased for the waterworks department. He indicated that if necessary, a portion of the reserve stock at the waterworks plant might be brought down for distribution to the other civic departments using coal, and when the supply ran out all the departments would be in the same boat.

RAIN DELAYS HARVEST.

Special to London Advertiser. HOUGHTON, Aug. 8.—The frequent showers of the past week have delayed the harvesting of rye and oats, and in some cases the grain is sprouting.

Dollar Day Bargains Need Not Be Sought, For They Rest Everywhere

There is no foible of the Canadian housewife so well known as her weakness for bargain hunting. "Marked down today" advertisements are always sure to bring her to the sale counters. And London women are no different from the rest. Consequently, it is but to be expected that on dollar day, the busy wife will be out early to take advantage of the hunting; bargains are so plain that there is no need of search.

It's a sacrifice that stimulates business for merchants, when they lower their prices for a one-day sale of all manner of goods.

Dollar day acquisitions are matters of pride to be pointed out on the days following and the price told.

There are only two dollar days in the year to be taken advantage of by thrifty buyers, and they do take advantage of them as the crowds will on Thursday, the second great bargain day in London of 1922.

ORDERS FASCISTI TO DEMOBILIZE

ROME, Aug. 8.—Benito Mussolini, leader of the Fascist organization, has instructed the secretary-general of the Fascisti to order by telegraph the demobilization of all Fascisti throughout Italy, it was announced today.

Demobilization of the Italian Fascisti, or extreme Nationalist organization, had been demanded by the Government owing to the turmoil bordering on civil war into which clashes between the Fascisti and the Communist and Socialist elements had plunged Italy recently. Scores of persons had been killed and thousands wounded in the fighting.

NEW MANITOBA CABINET DEBATES GRAIN CONTROL

WINNIPEG, Aug. 8.—The possibility of Manitoba taking legislative action regarding co-operation with Saskatchewan and Alberta in a government-managed wheat board, was discussed here tonight at a caucus of Farmer members-elect of the Manitoba Legislature.

Premier John Bracken stated after the caucus late tonight that a decision had been reached which was contingent upon the personnel of the board now being appointed. Beyond this the premier declined to divulge the nature of the decision.

DRURY FLAYED BY MEIGHEN AT KINGSTON RALLY

Conservative Leader Charges Ontario Premier Fosters Rampant Patronage.

ATTACKS LIBERAL STAND

KINGSTON, Aug. 8.—Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the official opposition in the Dominion House, and Hon. Howard Ferguson, leader of the Conservative group in the Ontario Legislature, dealt with the record of the Federal Ontario government in addresses before 10,000 people who attended the barbeque in Lake Ontario Park this afternoon and evening under the auspices of the Kingston Liberal-Conservative Association.

Mr. Meighen charged that the King government had broken every pledge it had made in opposition, and Mr. Ferguson laid the same charge at the door of the U. F. O. "administration."

Both leaders were given great ovations by the crowd.

The barbeque was the first held here in many years. People were present from far and near, and many social as well as political friendships were renewed.

Several legislators were noticed in the crowd, including J. A. Stewart, M. P. for Leeds; A. M. Rankin, M. L. A. for Frontenac; S. A. Fowler, M. L. A. for Lennox, and W. D. Black, M. L. A. for Addington. After two hours of sports, free refreshments were served, and besides a whole ox, which was roasted on the grounds, great quantities of other things were provided.

Attacks Drury Stand.

Mr. Ferguson said that the U. F. O. government had failed to redeem their pre-election promises to reduce expenditure and abolish patronage. In 1919, under the Conservative government, the capital expenditure was $47,000,000; in 1921, under the Drury government, it was $120,000,000, while the cost of managing the ordinary business of the country had increased by about $5,000,000 a year. The speaker said that there was a great lack of efficiency and an enormous waste of money in connection with the government's good roads program. The Drury government was going to get rid of expensive lawyers, but in two years about a million and a half had been spent for legal services. They were told that under the present government there would be no patronage, but patronage was never so rampant and glaring as at the present moment.

There was a patronage committee in every riding and patronage was the universal rule.

Messrs. Meighen and Ferguson left on the midnight train for Port Stanley, where they are to address a picnic gathering tomorrow.

Mr. Meighen, who is accompanied by Mrs. Meighen and his daughter, is on his way to the coast.

Reiterates Doctrine.

Declaring that he preached tonight the same doctrines as when he last spoke in Kingston, as the head of his government whose actions he was then defending, Mr. Meighen reviewed the work of his party in opposition and the actions also of the government which he opposed. The Conservative opposition had never changed its stand, he asserted, "but it had witnessed the loud and reckless enemies of other days being forced to abandon their lines, and with such composure as they could command swing around on one question after another to the position which we have consistently occupied and which we occupy today. What has happened has been a change from sincere initiation to clumsy imitation."

The past session, Mr. Meighen asserted, had produced a crop of legislation that was scant, limp and sickly. Less was accomplished in seven months by the King government than would have constituted a week's program for its predecessors.

Mr. Meighen dealt with his pre-election statements on the tariff. He urged that Canada declare for a moderate tariff, and had been denounced by Liberal speakers throughout the country, "who were told by Mr. Fielding and Mr. King to denounce the protective principle; into whose hands was placed the solemn pledge of the Liberal party to sweep away all protection on a long list of goods, the main articles used by the people of Canada."

Attacks Liberalism.

The opposition leader said he had urged that such a course would be fatal, and had pressed upon the people that the Liberal party was seeking power by appealing to the enemies of protection, with definite and sacred pledges adopted in the most solemn way, pledges hostile to and inconsistent with protection in any form, and was at the same time, by secret understanding and by further chicanery, promising at selected points a repudiation of those pledges as soon as they had done their work. This warning, he declared, had been borne out by later events. "The Liberals had forsaken all their proposed tariff changes, and had come right back into the footprints of the government they had denounced. 'Instead of a sweeping schedule of free goods they confined their free list to the porcelain parts of pumps,' said Mr. Meighen.

"Under the law, as now enacted by these champions of freer trade by these crusaders against autocracy, they are able to fix a tariff rate just as high as pleases their sweet will," Mr. Meighen declared. "Their first fiscal creation is a tariff by order-in-council."

Lauds Efficiency.

Mr. Meighen dealt at length with soldiers' re-establishment, upholding the record of his government in this regard, and stating that Canada had reached a degree of efficiency and generosity exceeding that of any other country.

Reviewing the railway situation, Mr. Meighen said the men who really controlled the present government had declared themselves as enemies of public ownership.

"Those men have not the courage to sell the system," Mr. Meighen asserted. "Their conduct has been such that I believe their purpose is Italian Colony Will Grow Olives in Canada.

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—An Italian agricultural colony will shortly be organized in Canada, and the favorite Italian olive and macaroni spring from Canadian soil under the astute direction of Italian agriculturists.

Count and Countess Giulio Bolognesi, the new Italian consul-general for Canada, and his wife, arrived in Montreal this morning, and are staying at the Ritz Carlton. After paying his respects to the government he will commence duties here. After he becomes settled it is his intention to travel through the country and establish an Italian agricultural colony similar to the one he has already established in Wisconsin.

To maintain the system first and then to destroy it." An alleged fair trial was now proceeding, but the essential advantage of full amalgamation had been deferred.

It was estimated that the country was losing $50,000 daily through failure to unify the Grand Trunk with the National Railways. "Are the cogitations of Mr. Mackenzie King and Mr. Kennedy about a man to take the place of Mr. Hanna worth $50,000 a day?" Mr. Meighen asked. Mr. Meighen referred to the minister of labor, who, he said, had threatened to bring home crimes of conspiracy, disclose secret horrifying alliances, and destroy the reputation of public men. Mr. Murdoch had not started anything, and had not disclosed anything. The present minister of agriculture also had made pledges, and since his election had only basked in the sunshine of office.

GOVERNMENT CANCELS LIFE INSURANCE PLAN

Money Deposited To Be Returned or Transferred to Private Company.

Moneys deposited will either be returned, left on deposit as ordinary savings account or can be transferred to a private insurance company, which is designated, but for which the government assumes no responsibility.

Canada Has Coal.

RIGHT NOW when the coal shortage faces this country it is good business for Canadians to face the fact that right in their own land they have coal reserves so great that the figures describing them simply baffle imagination.

Looking back over the reports of the World Geological Congress, which met in Canada in 1913, figures then presented—and these represented very careful estimates—showed the existing underground coal reserves to be 7,739,283,000,000 metric tons. Some of the leading deposits were:

United States	3,838,657,000,000
Canada	1,234,269,000,000
China	995,587,000,000
Germany	423,336,000,000
United Kingdom	189,533,000,000

Nearly all of the known coal of the world lies north of the equator, the statements of the Geological Congress above referred to giving to the southern hemisphere less than 5 per cent of the known coal reserve of the world, though in the opinion of experts this share of the southern hemisphere will be materially increased by further exploration and discoveries.

While the quantity of coal turned out from the mines of the United States since the beginning of coal mining a century ago is about 14,000,000,000 tons, it is estimated by the Geological Survey that approximately 95 per cent of the original supply is still available, while as above indicated, our known coal reserve is about 52 per cent of that of the entire world. Coal consumption in the United States averages, for the entire year, over one million tons per day.

The big problem for Canada, as far as soft or bituminous coal is concerned, is location and transportation. A glance at the map will show this. The great coal-bearing areas are in the extreme east and west, while the big manufacturing centres are in the middle and somewhat to the east. On the other hand, these coal-consuming centres of Canada are only a short distance from the fields of United States. It has been a clear case of convenience that Canada has come to rely to such an extent on United States coal resources.

Anthracite coal is a different proposition. Canada has not yet unearthed any great quantity of this, although some coal taken in Northern Alberta comes close to it.

Attempts have been made to turn bituminous coal into a domestic fuel, but these have not produced results. In a large way, we have dabbled in other experiments, but it has always been so easy to get United States coal that we have never, as a nation, taken the matter seriously enough to work it out to a successful issue. If we were to shiver for a whole winter we might look at it differently.

China Takes Its Medicine.

NEARLY a century ago—in the year 1827—THOMAS RICHARDSON COLLEGE, by a strange accident, was placed in a position to see the seething masses of humanity in China, unprovided with proper medical care, eking out an existence in an environment of disease. A ship's doctor had failed to report for duty, and in the emergency COLLEGE, then a medical student, was appointed as a substitute.

Pushing his way along the streets of a busy Chinese seaport, COLLEGE saw the need of the natives, and the rights stirred his soul, with the result that he resolved to devote his time and money to the relief of suffering.

Such was the awakening that brought about the founding of the first institution ever opened in China for the purpose of bringing the benefits of western medicine to the Chinese—the Macao Ophthalmic Hospital. The hospital thus established was the forerunner of the great adventure of medical missions, which represents one of the most beneficent gifts which the white man has ever offered to the most ancient civilized nation of the world.

Now that almost 100 years have passed since THOMAS COLLEGE opened his first hospital in China, the world may ask what has been the harvest of these years. Has modern medicine replaced the superstition and crude practice of the old Chinese physician? Has it provided assured diagnosis and scientific truth, with corresponding advances in fighting the battle for the health of China?

Although the medical forces of this nation are pitifully understaffed at present, the outlook is tremendously more hopeful than when COLLEGE, cramped the crowded Chinese ghettos. There are now about 1,500 fully-qualified western-trained physicians of both sexes laboring among the Chinese. This means that out of 120 sick persons in China who need competent medical help, only one obtains it.

Authoritative figures obtained from mission boards declare that up until 1921 western physicians are in touch with 0.8 per cent only of China's sick. That is to say, 392 out of every 1,000 sick people in that country have as yet no fully-qualified medical help.

At first resenting the invasion of their cities and villages by the western medical missionary, China has learned by results obtained during the past few decades that the advent of modern medicine is to the best interests of the nation. Helpless against such epidemics of malaria, beriberi, dysentery, typhoid, tuberculosis, cholera and a host of tropical diseases, the native-born of Chinese cities have learned to rely on the medical missionary for relief.

China has recognized the situation, and in response has seized the opportunity to educate her people to cope with their needs. Medical colleges of that country, made possible by means of western hemisphere interest, are swarmed with youths anxious to become qualified to practise the medical profession and relieve their fellow-countrymen. Others are ever on the alert for the opportunity of attending universities and medical colleges in the United States, Canada and the British Isles.

The scarcely tolerant nation of years ago is now co-operating with her western hemisphere benefactors to make medical education possible in China, and the financial encouragement to these institutions is being annually augmented by grants from the Chinese federal and provincial governments.

The conversion of China to the ideals of modern medicine has been a slow one. Its story is unfolded in an interesting manner by Dr. HAROLD BALME, F.R.C.S., D.P.H., president of Shantung Christian University, Tsinan, China, in his recent book, "China and Modern Medicine."

In this volume Dr. BALME throws out a challenge to western civilization, which must be fruitful of results. Possessing the faculty of being able to set down his information in a manner that eliminates many of the technical medical terms, but does not detract from its value to the physician, Dr. BALME employs to good advantage, and tells the story of China's mobilization against disease during the past century.

The story is one replete with interest, and has only been made possible by the splendid co-operation of all toilers in this foreign field, regardless of their religious denomination.

The Dollar Talks.

RESIDENTS of this district have learned from profitable experience what Dollar Day is, and what it stands for. London merchants have prepared for a remarkable Dollar Day on Thursday of this week.

The idea is not a new one in this district. It has come to be regarded as an outstanding merchandising event, and a good time to purchase. Merchants realize the obligations they take on themselves when they put on an event of this nature. They advertise certain lines of goods at special prices, and they are bound to live up to their announcements.

Right now is a good time to buy. There are large quantities of reputable goods on the market that have been placed there because certain makers and dealers have been forced to realize ready money.

Dollar Day is not a freak proposition. It is a real offer made by reliable London merchants, many of whom find at this season of the year they are carrying stock that they desire to turn into ready cash, in order to put them in a better position to go on with the fall and winter trade. The merchants themselves are solidly back of the day's offerings, and the dollar will do real service in London on Thursday.

Anthracite coal is a different proposition. Canada has not yet unearthed any great quantity of this, although some coal taken in Northern Alberta comes close to it.

Attempts have been made to turn bituminous coal into a domestic fuel, but these have not produced results. In a large way, we have dabbled in other experiments, but it has always been so easy to get United States coal that we have never, as a nation, taken the matter seriously enough to work it out to a successful issue. LITTLE 'TISERS

About the time a man pays his last installment of taxes his pocketbook knows what was meant by the old song of putting the axe in the taxes.

A girl's club, it is reported, has quarters that are decorated with pistols and swords. It is possible that the girls like to have arms around them.

JUDGE GARY's address on "Business Ethics" is being mailed to the clergy all over the country. And the chances are that some bright parson may mail one back to the steel company.

A dentist in California has a radio set in his office. Now it is possible to sit in the chair and hear that old song "Oh, the Bitter Shame and Sorrow," as the professional man lays onto the molars.

Some people always have excellent advice. Right now we are handed the advice: "Don't get excited over the coal situation." Excellent. Just keep cool and after a while you'll be so cool you can easily freeze.

Financial Post: "If BRACKEN and Darcy have similar ideals regarding the public interest—and we believe they have—the businessmen of Winnipeg need have no fear that part of Portage avenue will be torn up to grow wheat."

After having LENINE poisoned, drowned, dying in a hospital and committing suicide, we are told that as soon as he can stand it there must be an operation on him. Seeing that he has come through all the other things so well, the saw-bones can sail in and do their durndest.

E. V. BURHANAN, general manager of the public utilities commission in London, is back from the old country, and says he heard words of praise there for the park system of London, Ont. And yet there are plenty of people right in this city who have never taken the time to inspect and admire the parks at their very door.

What reason can there be, asks the New York World, for the money of the miners in Illinois being put up to "finance and erect the defense" of every union miner brought to trial for the massacre of non-union miners which took place at Herrin some weeks ago. The organization of miners denies it condones violence. Why not, then, assist in bringing out facts rather than building up defenses?

Whoever would have thought of girls being expert swimmers 20 years ago? Yet today we have contests all over the continent, in which it is being demonstrated that girls are excellent swimmers. Imagine a 10-year-old girl swimming three and a half miles. With all their short skirts, paint and lipstick, the 1922 girl is developing some traits that used to be considered as the exclusive property of the sterner sex.

An interesting point comes up in the fire commissioner's court in Montreal, where it is urged that it should not be possible for people to make money out of a fire. The inference of the statement is very clear, viz., that there are cases where it pays to have a fire. The best way to deal with such a case is to have no insurance issued, but the thing that makes this impossible is that there are so many firms in the market anxious to take on risks.

Renfrew is having a merry little war because one of its merchants, I. E. PEDLOW, ex-M.P., refuses to close his place of business on Wednesday afternoon in accordance with a by-law passed by that municipality some time ago. This merchant also advertises the fact that his place is open for business several times in police court, and on the last instance was fined $50 and costs, in spite of the fact that the case has been appealed to a higher court. The outcome of the case will be watched with interest, as in some minds there appears an element of doubt regarding the validity of bylaws forcing a half-holiday in the middle of the week.

NOAH'S POETRY

WHINERS.

Last week I met a friend of mine, the sweat was pourin' down his nose, no collar dangled on his neck, and he was mighty shy on clothes.

He said the weather that we had was just one blunderin' sort of joke, and if there wasn't soon a change he'd simply wizzle up and choke.

Humidity, he said, was fierce, it might do in some jungle clime, but as for him it made the sweat go tricklin' downward on his spine.

He longed to have a cooler day, with wind a-pippin' from the west, when he could don his clothes again and air a collar and a vest.

And then I met this bird today when wind was sweepin' down the street, with ozone puffin' round in blasts and smittin' both your dome and feet.

I thought this jay would have a song in praise of days what's cool and fresh, what stick new ginger in us all what roams about in human flesh.

But he was shiverin' in the sun, he poured his grouch out by the peck, while goose flesh sprung upon his jaw, and likewise camped upon his neck.

Oh, how I'd like to take his tribe if such a thing were right by law, and box 'em all upon the ear, and smite 'em firmly on the jaw.

But then if every day was right, and every night exceedin' fine, they'd simply rack their little brain for somethin' else on which to whine.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

NO. 291—IS HE ROMANTIC?

You wonder whether he is romantic, perhaps. True, he always seems to say just the right thing and to act in just the right way. But as in the case of the flapper's idol on the screen, you wonder just what sort of a fellow he is down underneath it all. Has he a true sense of romance, or is all this "put on"?

Have you a bit of his handwriting? You can tell from that. In yesterday's article was given the negative test which you could apply in this case, the test for habitual insincerity. Here is the positive test.

First note whether or not he connects all the letters in a word. If he does he has one of those logical, matter-of-fact, "I'm from Missouri" sort of minds, which do not constitute fertile soil for the growth of romance, though no end of loyalty, sincerity and kindness may flourish there. Romance, that is to say, a well-developed sense of the romantic, is a thing which is characteristic of the intuitive type of mind. And the intuitive type of mind is indicated by the habit of not joining together all of the letters in a word.

If his letters are disconnected, then look for the "b" with the big lower loop, for this is a decided indication, when found in combination with the foregoing characteristic, of the poetical and romantically inclined type of mind.

It's pronounced con-glom-er-ate, with accent on the second syllable. It means that which is gathered into a ball or mass, a collection, a heaped together accumulation.

It comes from Latin "conglomerare," to roll together.

It's used like this: "Critics of wide-open political primaries in the United States say recent tests have consisted in submission to the voters of vast conglomerates of names, from which the average man found it hard to make intelligent selections."

EARLY DAYS IN WILLIAMS
By J. B. McLACHLAN, 322 High Park avenue, Toronto.

THERE lived, labored and died in the County of Middlesex a medical man, and as far back as my memory carries me I can remember him, for his practise as a physician extended to the township of Williams, sometimes on the blazed trail. He was the only doctor in that section of the country in those days, with the exception of an army doctor by the name of Walker, who lived near Hickory Corners in the township of Adelaide. I may be permitted to entitle him to be named the Canadian Dr. McClure, for he went on foot or rode his horse or drove his wheeled vehicle many miles, dispensing his medicine, often without fee or reward, going over all kinds of roads and no roads, in all kinds of weather, of which you will allow me to relate a few instances later on. To many of the pioneer settlers, as well as those of a later generation, the name of Dr. Hanson was a household word in the London district. The genial face and the kindly smile of the doctor "was worth a pot of money," as the Irishman would say, to a person in the grasp of a burning fever or agonizing with pain. He was, to the country west of and around London, what Dr. McClure was to the glen of Drumtochty, although he had no "hereditary connection." Yet I surmise that his father lived in the township of London, for the records of the crown lands show that in February, 1848, a person by the name of Hanson located 400 acres on the third concession in that township, and which included lot 26, which was afterward the doctor's home, about four miles west of London town. While Drumtochty lay in the hands of Dr. McClure, the London district was in the hands of Dr. Hanson, and while he had no neat hoies or treacherous bogs to cross, yet he had other obstacles peculiar to a new country to cope with, and, like Dr. McClure, "he did his best for the needs of every man, woman and child in that wild, straggling district, year in and year out, in the snow and in the heat, in the dark and in the light, without rest and without holiday, for forty years."

ARCHIBALD McLACHLAN, a cousin of my father's, and who lived in Kilworth at the time my parents lived in Lobo, called to see him in passing, and to whom I referred in my first letter. In 1848 he removed to Williams and settled on lot No. 1, west of the center road, 7th concession, shortly after was taken ill and was attended to by Dr. Hanson, who informed the family that he could do nothing for him as he was beyond human aid, and so died. At the time that Archibald died, father was taken suddenly ill, and Dr. Hanson was sent for and got as far as Pettit street, and was informed that McLachlan was dead, and retraced his steps home. Fortunately father got better, and always considered that he was the doctor's debtor, but the generous Hanson never rendered his bill.

In 1857 my uncle, John Black, while on a business trip to Michigan, contracted scarlet fever, and got on his way home as far as Jones' tavern, 13 miles east of Sarnia, where he was forced to lay up and send word to his home in Strathroy. His wife immediately sent a doctor to Jones'. He pronounced his case incurable, and returned to Strathroy, reporting that his patient was dead. Dr. Hanson, who happened to be in the village, hearing that John Black was dead at once called on the other doctor and asked him if it was true, the report he heard. His reply was something to the effect: "He was not dead when I left, but he is by this time." Hanson asked him if he considered that was professional. If a reply were made it was of such a character that Hanson, knowing Black for so many years, took the trail for Jones', and found Black still alive, and on applying the usual remedies and hot baths with the desired effect, succeeded in getting him home in a few weeks, and he lived after the first doctor had him dead 47 years. The physicians of today, neither in town nor country, have little conception what those of 70 years ago had to endure in the practise of their profession in those pioneer days. Oft driving 20 or 30 miles, beginning with a buggy, leave it in the wood, make the next installment on horseback, tie the horse to a tree, fish up on foot; often wet and mud-bespattered from head to foot.

John L. Bray (Johnnie Bray, as he was familiarly called at home and even after he went to Chatham), whose parents lived in Adelaide village in 1857, was under instruction with Dr. Hanson, preparing to take a course in medicine, which he did, graduating, and soon after settling in Chatham, where for many years he practised his profession. He was a general favorite, especially in the field of games and sports; more especially was he an enthusiastic cricketer. His latter years were spent in Toronto, having been appointed registrar of the Ontario Medical Association, succeeding R. A. Payne, Esq., D.D., when he resigned, having accepted the portfolio of minister of education in the Whitney government. Johnnie Bray was Johnnie Bray first and last and always.

BEWARE OF DANDRUFF
BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

MOST of the bald-headed men you see in the front row at the musical comedy might not have been bald if they had taken pains to cure dandruff in earlier years. For numerous cases of baldness are due to dandruff.

There are two forms of dandruff. One is attended with scaling or crusts and drying of the scalp. In the other form, the scales unite with oil from the scalp and form a crust over the head. This is the form that causes baldness.

Dandruff is "catching" usually being spread by promiscuous use of the comb and brush.

Debility, constipation and other conditions that undermine the health are future causes of falling hair.

As baldness increases, dandruff lessens. The disease is one of early life, coming usually between the twentieth and thirtieth years. Both sexes lose their hair from dandruff, though women rarely become bald, as do men.

Hereditarily also has something to do with baldness. One does not inherit baldness, but an individual often inherits a weak-muscled scalp.

With men the shape of the hat has much to do with the shedding of hair. Stiff hats should be blocked to the exact shape of the owner's head, so as not to press too tightly at any one spot.

Scalp massage is effective in preventing baldness. It must be done at least once a day and two or three times will do no harm.

Grasp the scalp with the open hand and with firm pressure endeavor to gather up a handful in a bunch. Use first one hand for a few grabs and then the other. Keep it up for five minutes, going over the scalp thoroughly until the skin is in a warm glow.

DOLLAR DAY

HOUSEWIVES TO REALIZE VALUE OF DOLLAR BILL

Merchants Join Hands in an Effort To Make Day a Success.

SMASH HIGH PRICES

Keen Competition Will Assure Shoppers of Exceptional Bargains.

Once again London merchants, members of the Dollar Day Association, have indicated that they are desirous that the buying public shall be afforded another opportunity of obtaining exceptional values for their money.

This event is set for the big day when hundreds of London householders discover that the dollar has certainly come back into its own in this city at least, despite the persistent attitude of the pessimistic ones.

All the merchants have joined hands in another real home effort to make tomorrow a day of days for the buyers, when merchandising bargains will be possible on all sides, and all records will be smashed.

The statement is often heard that the dollar will derive more for its value than earlier in the year, or even a few weeks ago, and the advertisements in The Advertiser today fully indicate the truthfulness of this statement.

The crucial test is at hand, and the aggressive merchants who, like the general public, have begun to look forward to this event, have promised that if there is to be any difference in the matter, it is their intention to offer more value for the money than ever before.

Will Play Fair.
It would appear that behind such announcements by the merchants who will participate in the big sale will be encountered good business judgment and common sense, and a survey of what they have to offer will convince even the most wary and discriminating, they assert, of their avowed intention to play fair with the public.

As an initial declaration it may be said with emphasis and truthfulness that the benefits to be accrued by such a gigantic undertaking as a general Dollar Day throughout the downtown district are by no means confined to one class, the merchants.

There are, of course, those who always treat their goods with suspicion, and term a dealer's announcement as a mere catch phrase, tended to lure the unwary into his store, where he will be charged top-notch prices for something that he or she does not require, and would not purchase under ordinary circumstances.

Storekeepers Confident.
Persons so inclined, if they have not been so fortunate as to have visited one of the several stores during other Dollar Days, will after a careful analysis of the situation, find tomorrow the storekeepers are confident that they are certainly not endeavoring to hoodwink the people.

Since the first of the year costs of maintaining a business have been steadily declining, although not quite as speedily as the merchants themselves would like. With an unusual large supply of goods upon his shelves, carried through a long and anxious period of depression, he is not ensconced in any enviable position.

If he possessed but a small portion of the stock, and had the remainder of the same in cash, he would be in a ready position to take advantage of the wholesale price cuts that have been in evidence more or less consistently since the first of the year.

As he cannot, to do this he chooses Dollar Day as the only other alternative at his disposal that will allow him to reduce his stock at as near the original buying price as possible, and so obtain the money necessary to purchase the same material at a better figure. Incidentally the public cannot lose by an enterprise of this nature, but has everything to gain.

In short, it is the only position to assume by the merchant with their over-stocked places of business, and they are then placed in a more strategic position to face the future.

Will Unload Stock.
Caught in a situation of this nature, through no fault of his own, with a high-grade stock of goods, he is powerless, however, to compete in the local falling market with another merchant who may carry an inferior quality in the same line. It is only natural to assume then that he will unload when the most favorable opportunity presents itself. Happily he is able to choose Dollar Day as a way out of an unpleasant situation, with the purchaser none the less cared for.

So the buyers of London will find Thursday, when they sail forth to view the bargains, that the elements of business are largely in their favor. There are always things of some nature that they desire. Many of these articles they have been doing without because the price has soared away out of reach during the past two or three years. More than often there are two or three things badly needed, one for each of the family, perhaps.

On Dollar Day these persons find themselves in the fortunate position that they are able to obtain two of these coveted articles for the price that one would have cost the previous day.

Competition is Keen.
More than ever before is the old maxim "competition is the spice of business" regarded as the sage observation, and more than ever does it mean, when applied to Dollar Day in London, a wealth of competition that cannot help but yield satisfaction on every hand.

Live wire merchants realize the competition that they are facing, and quite aware of the natural fact that the public will flock just where they will get the best and most for their dollar, have prepared accordingly.

It is a wonderful opportunity for the ladies to obtain a new skirt, shirtwaist or any one of a hundred nice articles that they have been wishing for weeks past, at a figure that is ridiculously low.

WAR ROMANCE BROKEN BY DEATH

Young Scotch Piper Attracted To Gladys Comber At "Y" Hut Concert.

A sad "next step" in a sweet young romance begun in war-time, in London, was the death from appendicitis of Mrs. Donald McKellar, known in the city and far and wide as Miss Gladys Comber, gifted young entertainer.

Beginning to study Scotch dancing with Mrs. Alice Henderson when only ten years old, Miss Gladys, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Comber and the late Robert Comber of this city, quickly revealed exceptional talent, winning in a few years more than fifty coveted medals. In addition, she was London's first girl piper, and it was her success with the pipes that suggested to Mrs. Henderson the idea of a juvenile pipe band. It was her playing of the instruments from the Land of the Heather that first attracted to her the young man who subsequently became her husband.

One evening during the war, Mrs. Henderson, as was her custom from time to time, took a party of her clever and versatile pupils to give a concert for the soldiers in the Y. M. C. A. hut. Along with them went Miss Gladys Comber, "one of the sweetest little that ever lived," according to the sorrowing friends, who yesterday commented on her untimely death.

In the audience was a young Scotsman, a member of the Pipe Band of the A. M. C. himself a champion piper and holder of the Junior medal for Scotland. Delighted with the playing of Miss Gladys, and impressed with her winsome personality, he asked for an introduction after the concert, and, with the acquaintance began that night, a friendship developed which resulted in romance and marriage when the clever girl was only nineteen.

In the past few years, the champion girl piper and Scotch dancer of Canada had been successfully appearing in vaudeville with her husband from coast to coast and as recently as last January she delighted London friends when they presented their act, "Donald and Donald," at a local theatre.

The death of Mrs. McKellar is the first break in the ranks of Edinburgh Castle Camp, Daughters of Scotland, and the floral tribute sent to the home of the grieving mother from which the funeral takes place, was a broken circle.

The loss of Mrs. McKellar was foremost in the minds of all the members of the D. O. S. at a meeting held Tuesday evening in Ulster Hall, and touching tribute to her was paid by the chief, Mrs. James Hendry. A resolution of sympathy was forwarded to the bereaved family, and decision made to attend in a body if the funeral was public.

As grand chaplain of the Sons of Scotland, Rev. Dr. D. L. McCrae is conducting the funeral service.

VICTORIA HOME ELEVATOR HUNDRED DOLLARS ON WAY

Miss Emery Starts Fund to Promote Happiness of Suffering Shut-Ins.

Members of the Women's Christian Association are rejoicing today in the fact that publicity given to the great need of an elevator at the Victoria Home has already brought most satisfactory results. A check was received Tuesday for $100 from Miss Emery, as the first subscription towards a convenience which will add immeasurably to the pleasure of the suffering shut-in patients. While installation of the elevator would cost in the neighborhood of $2,500, it is felt that a splendid start has been made, and that it might yet be possible for the upstairs patients to get a glimpse of the gardens in their autumn glory, if not their summer beauty, and perhaps even a drive before the bitter winter days set in.

A few days ago a visitor commented to a bed-ridden woman on the loveliness of the grounds and surroundings of the home at the present time. "I don't suppose I will ever see them," she said hopelessly. "I don't expect ever to be outdoors again till I am carried away for the last time."

For just such helpless patients as this one the elevator would make possible excursions from the narrow bounds of their own rooms to the outdoor world.

Who'll be the next to "lend a hand" in building that elevator?

Graduate Nurses Offer Scholarship

The Graduate Nurses' Association of Ontario is this year offering a scholarship for the university public health courses, open to a graduate from a hospital training school outside of Toronto.

Graduation from a standard hospital is necessary in order to be eligible for the scholarship, and a provision attached is that the nurse receiving the benefit shall devote herself for a period to rural public health nursing. She may take her course either in the University of Toronto or the Western University.

Notices with regard to this have been received in London this week by affiliated alumnae associations.

I. O. D. E.'s Policy Has Always Been To Honor in Death Ex-Service Men

The action of the Dominion government in extending to August 31, 1922, co-operation and assistance in the burial of ex-service men who die from wounds or sickness contracted in the war is one which should meet with the hearty approval of the Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire, according to Mrs. F. J. Greenaway of this city, one of the Dominion councillors of the order, who has had the privilege of attending the last three annual conventions in Calgary, Toronto and in Vancouver.

"The question of properly honoring in death the men who have served their country is one to which the I. O. D. E. in Canada has given very special attention ever since the organization was effected at the time of the South African war," said Mrs. Greenaway. "One of the things I will report when I tell the London Municipal Chapter about the Vancouver convention is that the memorial to the Canadian heroes in South Africa has at last been completed at Bloemfontein, and that a surplus from the amount required for the monument will be used for the decoration of the graves of the Canadians there."

"At the Calgary convention two years ago there was much gratification over the report that the I. O. D. E. in Manitoba had provided a cemetery for the burial of ex-service men. In Toronto a year ago the order put itself on record as strongly opposed to any ex-service man having unsuitable burial. The question arose from report of some of the delegates of cases that had come to light of former soldiers going to paupers' graves. 'The strong feeling of the order, as represented at the convention, was that measures should be taken to guard against this ever occurring, and also provision made for suitably marking the graves.'

"It was a significant fact that the first ceremony in which the Daughters of Empire from all over Canada participated at the annual convention held in Vancouver this year the end of May and beginning of June was unveiling of the cross of sacrifice in Bonaventure View Cemetery by the honor the Lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, Hon. Walter C. Nichol, formerly of London. The event took place on Sunday, May 28, the day before the opening of the convention, with Miss Joan Arnoldi, then president of the order, having a prominent place in the ceremonies, and appearing in a picture subsequently published, standing with the Lieutenant-governor and one or two others in front of the cross of sacrifice."

CLEARING DECKS FOR LAST DUTIES

The War Memorial Children's Hospital committee is giving attention at present to the engraving of the plates to be placed over endowed cribs, cots and rooms. The majority of the inscriptions for these have been received and an effort is being made to get the remainder as quickly as possible in order that these may be placed and leave time at the last for the inevitable eleventh-hour duties before the formal opening, Sept. 24.

ADVERTISER PATTERNS

A Popular Style for Slender and Stout Women.

4027. Here is a model with lines that will tend to slenderize the woman of ample proportions. The fullness is placed to avoid simulating width, and the vest and lines of the tunic give an appearance of length to the form. Crepe and silk braid are here combined.

The pattern is cut in seven sizes—36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches, bust measure. A 38-inch size requires 6 1/2 yards of 40-inch material. The width of the skirt at the foot is about two yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps. Address all pattern orders to Pattern Department.

MAIL-BOX

SACRIFICES FOR S. C. H.
My Dear Miss Grey,—I see by the Mail-Box that Geranium is asking for my address if I am still in need of baby clothing, which I sure am, or any other clothing which will do for my other children, as I can make over if the things are not just the right size. I would be pleased if she would be so kind as to send me the same, whichever way is most convenient to her. Also Lilac is asking for my address, if you will be so kind as to send, as every little helps at times like these. I received a few things from Wax Plant for which I am very grateful. She said she wished she had more, but it is the smallest amount which helps to give comfort, as they all add up in time. That is the way the S. C. H. fund grew. We who are poor put all our mites together and help to make one real gift. I am inclosing my mite, with best wishes to all the Boxites, and many thanks to yourself for your kind and prompt attention. Sincerely, T. I. P.

name? Thanking you in advance, J. J.

Good thing Lilac wrote to say the offer still held, wasn't it, Mrs. J. J. Evidently you know the small box or girl who would just fit into that country home. Some little one is going to be made healthy and happy, or the Mail-Box misses its guest. Have forwarded you Lilac's address, and am waiting anxiously to know what happens next. This is just like a continued story cut off at the most interesting part.

Phyllis.—Have forwarded your letters to Moss Rose and Thornless Rose. Glad you have help for her. Thank you for mite for hospital.

WANDERER RETURNS.

Dear Miss Grey,—It is nearly six years since I last visited the cosy corner, but have been reading of the grand work being done by the Boxites, and would like to help a wee bit. Please send me T. I. P.'s address. I have a few small dresses I would like to pass on to her. Wish I had more help to give, but have two small boys of my own.

Would like to have Geranium's address, as I love flowers, and have moved into a home of my own now. So will be able to have some around. I lost most of all mine last winter just after Christmas. Am sending an addressed envelope for addresses, and a plaster to help along with the S. C. H. fund. Will sign a new pen-name. HOPEFUL.

It is nice to have you back among us again, Hopeful, after such a long absence. See that you don't neglect us in this manner again. I know you feel quite comfortable and at home in the corner that has been kept swept and garnished for you all these years, and a new name doesn't change you in the least to your old friends. We forgive the change, since it is such a nice cheery name. Shin-plaster is a nice big lift for the memorial cot fund. Am forwarding your addresses of T. I. P. and Geranium as you requested. T. I. P. just wrote today saying she would be so glad of any clothing she could make over for the children. She never seems to think of herself.

OFFERS HOME.

Dear Miss Grey,—Having seen in this morning's paper a kind lady named Lilac would like to give a little girl or boy a home for a little while, I think it would be kind of her. Dear Miss Grey, would you give me her home address and 10:30 o'clock, the young guests arriving promptly, and enjoying every moment with games, music and guessing contests, and a beautiful buffet supper. Those invited included Jean and Gertrude Grover, Ruby Brown, Olga Darling, Ethel Adams, Beulah McDwyer, Lorne Powell, Clarence Dowling, Ernest Sullivan, Tom Harrison and Harold McIntosh.

The RED HOUSE MYSTERY

by A. MILNE

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

revolver shot was heard two days after ERT ABLETT, ne'er-do-well other of
RK ABLETT, bachelor proprietor
The Red House, had been hered into Mark's office on his turn form a 15-years' absence Australia.
TONY GILLINGHAM, a gentlemanly adventurer and friend of MARK ABLETT, one of Mark's ests, arrived at that moment to t.
T. CAYLEY, Mark's constant
panion, pounding on the ed door of the office and demanding admittance. The two men entered the room through a window and discovered the body Robert with a bullet through a head. Mark was not to be und.
Tony, who had been invited by Mark to remain at the Red House Bill until the inquest is over, sees to believe the theory of Inpector Birch that Mark murdered ert. Several things arouse his suspicion. If the key of the office was on the outside, could Mark locked it? He asks Bill to tell all he knows of Mark's characteristics.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Mark was silent, wondering how to in words thoughts which had formed themselves very clearly in his own mind. Seeing his panion, Tony said:
"I ought to have warned you that ing that you say will be taken n by the reporters, so you n't bother about a split infinite wo. Talk about anything you how you like."
ell, Mark fancies himself at nging things. He arranges es, and it's understood that he fall in with the arrangement.
arranging things for you?"
es. Of course, it's a delightful e and opportunities for every-e or sport that's ever been ined. But with it all, Tony, there's int sort of feeling that—well, ve got to do as you're told."
ow do you mean?"
e's a devil for taking offense."
Miss Norris—did you see her? e's done for herself. I don't betting what you like that she comes here again."
hy?"
ll laughed to himself.
ve were all in it, really—at least,
y and I were. There's supposed a ghost attached to the house.
Anne Patten. Ever heard of ever."

Mark told us about her at dinner night. He rather liked the idea being a ghost in his house.
know except that he doesn't believe in ghosts. I think he wanted us to believe in her, and yet he annoyed with Betty and Mrs.
ndine for believing in ghosts at Rum chap. Well, anyhow, Miss ts—she's an actress, some acts, too—dressed up as the ghost played the fool a bit. And poor x was frightened out of his life for a moment, you know."
Where did the ghost appear?" own by the bowling green. That's eemed to be his haunts, you
e."

Was Mark very angry after-it?"
Oh, Lord, yes. Sulked for a e day. He got over it—he gen-eally does. He's just like a child, s really it. Tony; he's like a l in some ways. As a matter fact, he was unusually bucked himself this morning." s he generally in form?"
e's quite good company, you e, if you take him the right way.
rather vain and childish—well,
I've been telling you—and self-portant; but quite amusing in his and—"Bill broke off suddenly.
ay, you know, it really is the t, talking about your host like don't think of him as your host, of him as a suspected mur-derer with a warrant out against him."

Oh! but that's all rot, you know."
That's the fact, Bill."
e's but I mean, he didn't do it.
e wouldn't murder anybody. It's a y thing to say, but—well, he's big enough for it."
suppose it was an accident, as e says, would he lose his head run away?"
ll considered for a moment.
es, I really think he might, you
e. He nearly ran away when he the ghost."
Well, now," said Antony, "what at Cayley?"
ow do you mean, what about
e?"
want to see him. I can see k perfectly, thanks to you, Bill.
e were wonderful. Now let's e Cayley's character. Cayley n within."
ll laughed in pleased embarrassment, and protested that he was not coming novelist.
Besides," he added, "Mark's easy ly one of those heavy, quiet ple, who might be thinking about thing. Mark gives himself away.
Ugly, black-jawed devil, isn't
e."

Some women like that type of
e."
That's true. Between ourselves, I think there's one here who
e. Rather a pretty girl at Jale—he waved his left hand—wn that way."
What's Jallands?"
e's a country cottage belonging e's a widow called Norbury. Mark Cayley used to go there a good together. Miss Norbury—has been here once or twice for e; seemed to prefer Cayley to rest of us. But, of course, he e's much time for that sort of

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

JACK LOOKED ALL THROUGH THE CABIN BUT COULDN'T FIND THE PERSON WHO HAD COOKED HIS SUPPER AND THEN CLEANED THE DISHES. HE DECIDED TO SEARCH THE GROUND ABOUT THE LITTLE HOUSE.

THERE WERE TREES AND BUSHES NEARBY. JACK LOOKED BEHIND THESE BUT FOUND NOTHING. THEN HE WORKED HIS WAY TO THE TOP OF A HILL OVER-LOOKING THE CABIN.

LYING DOWN, HE KEPT AN EYE ON THE CABIN DOOR. SUDDENLY FLIP CAME RUNNING OUT HIS LIMP FROM THE CABIN, AND THERE SAT A MYSTERIOUS OLD MAN. MYSTERIOUS HAD HAPPENED.

JACK DECIDED TO FIND OUT HOW THE INJURY HAD HEALED. SO QUICKLY CLIMBING DOWN THE HILL HE WENT TO THE CABIN, AND THERE SAT A MYSTERIOUS OLD MAN. HE BECAME JACK'S FRIEND IN THE NEXT CHAPTER.

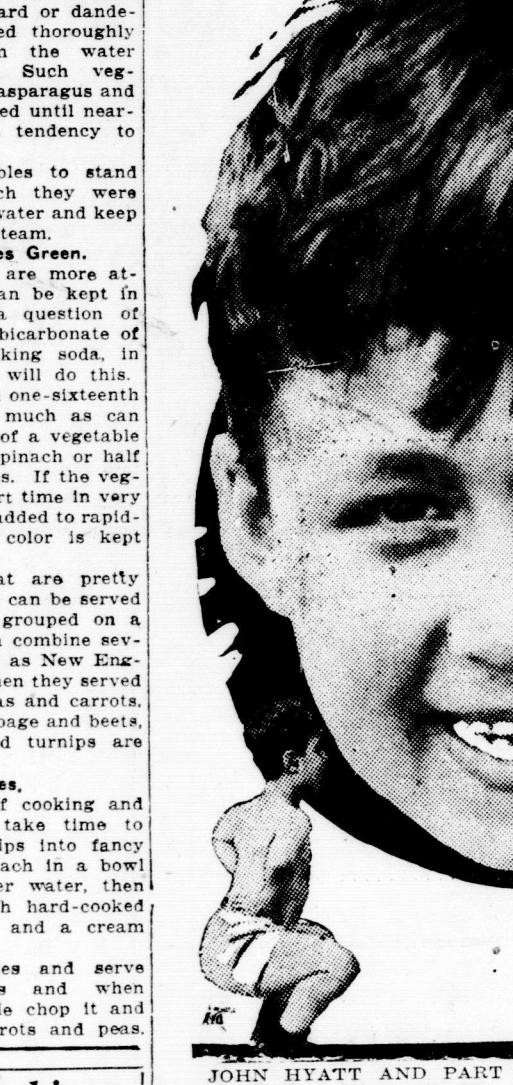

How To Cook Vegetables

FROM earliest history vegetables have been an important part of man's diet.
In a little book published in the middle of the seventeenth century, called "A d d m's Luxury and Eve's Cookery," the list of vegetables grown and the recipes for cooking them are more varied than those of the average housewife of today.

The Bible speaks of melons, leeks and cucumbers in the time of Moses.
In the diet of many, vegetables take the place of meat, and when so used there should be one vegetable which contains protein, that which builds up, and repairs waste —peas, beans and lentils are among such.

Vegetables contain valuable mineral salts which are often lost in the cooking. If a large amount of water is used and then thrown away much of the value of the vegetable is lost.
How to Cook Them.
Strongly flavored vegetables, as cabbage, onions and turnips, are best cooked in water for 10 minutes. This water is drained off, taking with it the unpleasant flavor—and then fresh water is added to finish the cooking. Asparagus is best when steamed.
Cook other vegetables in as little water as will prevent burning and keep the kettle covered. The water remaining when the vegetable is tender may be used for making a sauce to serve with it or as a foundation for a cream soup the next day.
Carrots cooked in this way taste quite differently, as one gets all of the real carrot flavor.

How Couple Solved the Boy Problem

JOHN HYATT AND PART OF HIS DAILY TRAINING WITH HIS MOTHER, ANNE HYATT.

JOHN HYATT hopes some day to see his face decorating the sporting pages of the leading dailies under the caption, "world's champion."
At present his heroes are Benny Leonard and Jack Dempsey and boxing gloves and trunks are his idea of what the well-dressed man should wear.
He's probably the youngest prizefighter in training, as he has but six years to his credit.
His father is a wrestler and his mother a physical culture instructor, so his athletic tendencies are easily traced.

Right now he is quite content to allow his parents to act as his trainers and to use his home for a training camp.
Each morning he goes through five minutes of good stiff exercise with his parents. Later in the day he boxes with his father, and after his bath he gets a daily rubdown with olive oil.
He is now 3 feet 7 inches tall and weighs 63 pounds, can expand his chest from 25 to 27 inches and has a reach of 37 inches. He's never known a sick day.
"His ambition to be an athlete makes it very easy to rear him," explains Anne Hyatt, his mother. "He really loves candy, but he never asks for it because we have told him sweets will keep him from being muscular and strong."
"He eats vegetables, when he doesn't want to, because we have explained that they contain the iron and mineral salts needed for strength."
"He's no fonder of going to bed early than most children, but when he regards it as a part of his training for the ring he marches off willingly."
"Of course, we stress his physical training as a means of enforcing discipline and instilling in him habits of health, but we have also taught him that a fighter needs an education, and that a strong body without a strong brain to direct it doesn't count for much."

"We are very careful not to let John exercise too much or attempt things too difficult for him and we explain everything to him as we go."
"I believe it is easier to manage a child by appealing to his imagination and to his budding ambition than by just enforcing rules that he doesn't understand."
"It happens that John himself developed the prize-fighter ambition and we have worked along that line, but if he had shown any other inclination we should have used that to build his training on.

"We want John to be healthy, strong, educated and a good sport about everything that comes up. Then whether he decides to be a prizefighter or a preacher, he's got the right foundation."

Dignity Stressed in New Fall Fashions

"PAPA, prunes and prisms" may be the watchword of next season. Dignity and propriety are quite the thing.
Some of these advance fall models show circular skirts that are very full and gathered to a basque bodice.
Others are straight-line and bloused loosely around the hips.
Gone the short skirt, gone the terrible display of silk stockings—gone for a couple of seasons, at least.

CHOCOLATE ROOSTER IN DANGER OF MELTING

[By Olive Roberts Barten.]

THE Magical Mushroom had to go home back to the earth to help his dear mistress, the Fairy Queen.
So the Chocolate Rooster said he'd go with the Twins to help hunt for Flap-Doodle, the purple fairy who flew with his ears. Flap-Doodle had stolen the Fairy Queen's wand, and had gone up to the Twinkly-Winkly
Star to hide.
"I'll never rest till I find him," declared the Rooster. "The rascal!
To change me into a dreadful thing like this when I was such a handsome Tinkly-Winkler! All my friends envied me my looks!"
Well—they went off down the road with the Twins to help hunt for Flap-Doodle, the purple fairy who flew with his ears. Flap-Doodle had stolen the Fairy Queen's wand, and had gone up to the Twinkly-Winkly
Star to hide.
"Not any more," said the Chocolate Rooster, sadly. "Not since I lost my ears. I used them for both swimming and flying."

"Then we'll have to go around," remarked Nancy.
But the lake kept spreading, and no matter where they turned—there it was!
"We'll have to carry you over," said Nick. "Nancy, you take a wing and I'll take one, and then we'll wish ourselves on the other side."
But right over the middle of the lake the Chocolate Rooster's wings broke, and the poor thing fell plump into the water.
"Help, quick—I'm melting!" cried
the rooster.
The Twins flicked him out just in time. But he was so slippery they could scarcely catch hold.
"I'll fix Flap-Doodle for this!"
gasped the dilapidated fowl.

A GIFT OF THE GODS.

Bounteous nature has supplied tea for the pleasure and refreshment of mankind. When pure and fresh, it is a most delicious and beneficial drink. In winter, if it is served hot, it is delightfully exhilarating, and in the heat of summer, if iced, there is nothing more refreshing. Unquestionably, the purest and most delicious tea to use is "SALADA." Your grocer can supply you. Ask for it today—Advt.

Radio Radiations

BY THE RADIO EDITOR.

MANY amateurs are using the loop aerial form of transmission over short distances with great success.
This type of transmitter was developed just before the armistice for use in trench warfare.
Using the small tubes which are ordinarily found in the radio receiver, and loops of wire consisting of three or four turns on a square frame three feet on a side, a transmitter can easily be built to cover a range of three to six miles.
The loop type of antenna is directional. It throws the bulk of its energy in one direction. This characteristic was highly desirable since it would enable transmission up and down the trenches with small fear that the enemy would be able to pick up enough of the signal to be of any service to it.
As tried in France, the system consisted of two identical outfits. Both were tuned to approximately the same wave length. When the distant station went into operation, its actions were heralded by a steady whistling in the telephones of the local station.
It was the same type of whistling that one often hears in regenerative receiver head phones when some broadcasting station gets into operation. The sound is the result of "beats," which take place between the high-frequency current sent out by the transmitter and those which are generated right in the receiver.
The beat effect occurs only when there is a difference between the two frequencies.
When this whistling is heard in the local station, signaling commences.
Should the transmission stop suddenly, the signal that the station has either been dislodged by a shell, or that the operators have been driven away, would be given automatically.

KING PROVES GOVERNMENT MERITS TRUST

Gives Eloquent Accounting of His Stewardship At Leamington Picnic.

REVIEWS 1922 ELECTIONS

Declares Progressives in West Owe Impetus To Defeat of Reciprocity.

Advertiser Staff Special.

LEAMINGTON, Aug. 8.—In his first public utterance since the pro-rogation of Parliament on June 27 last, Hon. William L. Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, today presented to thousands of Canadians gathered at Lakeside Park an eloquent and creditable accounting of the stewardship of the Liberal party since last December, when the reins of Dominion government were wrested from the Meighen administration by the electorate and entrusted to representatives obedient to the mandate of the people.

Salient features of the premier's address, which thoroughly covered all matters of interest to the voters were his unqualified statement that the Progressive movement in Western Canada owes its inception wholly to the defeat of reciprocity in 1911; that the government will announce the results of the election of the board of directors who will operate all railways which are controlled by the Dominion in the near future; that the Liberal administration has pursued a course of economy during the seven months of its existence, with a resultant saving of millions of dollars on public works and the militia and defense department without sacrificing any essentials; and that concerted effort on the part of the government has brought forth assurance of early favorable action on the part of the British government relative to removal of the embargo placed on Canadian cattle for so many years.

Gets Warm Ovation.
While Premier King's address was the centre of interest for the thousands of enthusiastic people who attended the picnic, which was staged under the auspices of the South Essex Liberal Association, other statements of his administration were present, and were accorded a warm reception by the audience when they delivered speeches.

Those taking part in the program included Hon. George P. Graham, minister of militia and defence; Senator Archie McColg of Kent County; and R. Rinfret, M.P. for the constituency of St. James, Montreal, and editor of Le Canada.

Comparing the Liberal government to the Meighen administration, Premier King declared that Canada first and foremost demands a truly responsible government, and as the first citizen of the Dominion it has and will be his constant endeavor to carry out the wishes of the people. That the nation elected a government last December, in power without any mandate from the people, which had usurped their rights by assuming and maintaining office in violation of pledges, was his contention, and the stinging defeat administered to Mr. Meighen and his colleagues was a rebuke to this attempt to play the role of the impostor.

Reviews 1922 Vote.

Reviewing the general elections of 1922, the prime minister pointed out that they completely changed the complexion of the House of Commons in more respects than one.

Reduction of the Tory and reactionary forces to the status to which they were entitled, with the coincident ascendancy of democratic forces was the most significant feature of the vote of the people.

This ascendancy returned the democratic forces in two imposing groups, representing the Liberals and Progressives, each more potent than the reactionaries which they had helped to defeat, while the Liberal party succeeded in numbers the combined Progressive and Tory followings.

A new problem in government was presented by this complication, rendering efficient responsible administration difficult for his party.

"When as the leader of the party commanding a majority in the House of Commons I was called upon by his excellency the governor general to form an administration, it was the complication of the House of Commons, as determined by the general elections that presented the first problems for consideration," said Premier King, in his opening remarks.

Explains Difficulties.

The next problem, the speaker explained, was that of making the ministry adequately representative of the House of Commons' personnel, and of all parts of the Dominion. One solution of this problem was a refusal to recognize the Progressive party in the formation of the government, the other to minimize or ignore it.

A third way out of the difficulty was to accept the situation with a broad and generous mind, inviting the Progressives to share in Dominion administration.

As the latter course appealed to him and his advisers as the only sound one in the interests of the nation and Liberalism, it was put into operation with the least possible delay, and without opposition within the ranks of the party.

Premier King outlined the geographical aspects of the problem, declaring that next to the defeat of Toryism, the outstanding feature of the election results, with the exception of New Brunswick and British Columbia, was the solid Liberal East, and a practically solid Progressive West.

Any attempt at governing Canada by emphasis, instead of reconciliation of differences between East and West, and Liberal and Progressive, would serve to destroy alike the possible unity of the country and its democratic control of government.

"Happily in reconciliation lay the solution of both problems," said the premier. "To reconcile the differences between East and West was absolutely the first of national obligations. That was the view I held at the time. It is the view that I still hold. In accordance with that view I proceeded with the formation of the government, and the Liberal party has proceeded in conducting the affairs of the government since assuming office in accordance with that view."

Pledges Future.

Continuing, the speaker pledged to his audience that future government by his party will be conducted in keeping with this view.

In the appointment of Hon. W. R. Motherwell as minister of agriculture and Hon. Charles Stewart as minister of the interior, the premier asserted that the Prairie Provinces were made to feel that their interests in the government would be ably protected.

"If one act more than another could have been calculated to express the goodwill of the province of Quebec towards Western Canada, and equally the broad and tolerant outlook of the Quebec Liberals, it was the election by acclamation of Mr. Stewart in the constituency of Argenteuil," he declared.

"I think I may say, without undue boasting, that the government which was formed on the 23rd of December, will, as a government representative of all parts of our confederation, compare more favorably with any government ever formed in Canada."

"Touching upon the tariff, the prime minister stated that there can be little existing doubt that the Progressive movement owes its origin in Western Canada to the defeat of reciprocity. The West, perhaps more than any other part of the Dominion, has suffered by the loss of wider markets, which the defeat of that policy rendered inevitable."

Raps Mistake of 1911.

"All parts of the country have suffered and are suffering through the mistake made in 1911," said the premier. "There is only one way to seek to retrieve a defeat or undo an error, and that is to try to regain ground that has been lost. It was this motive that led Hon. Mr. Fielding to visit Washington almost immediately after the formation of the government."

"It was obviously in the interest of all that our neighbors to the south should be made aware of the significance of the change of government in Canada, and knowing that we were ready and willing to negotiate matters of mutual concern, and that if through a course of action on their part which might seem prejudicial to our interests we were obliged to seek markets in other directions, it was due to no lack of neighborliness or neighborly feeling on our part."

Describing the tariff wall of the United States today, Premier King asserted that our neighbors across the border can hardly take exception to the wisdom which produced a revision in tariff directing Canada's attention to a reduction of duties and an increase of British preference, and which for many years has been proven "so serious a handicap to this part of our import trade."

Wants Embargo Lifted.

Having failed to secure a more favorable immediate entry of Canadian cattle and other natural products into the American market, the government renewed its energies to effect a removal of the cattle embargo imposed by the British government, and which for many years has proven "so serious a handicap to this part of our import trade."

"All political parties in this country have vied with each other in an effort to secure the removal of this embargo," declared the speaker. "No cabled announcement has brought with it more hopeful promise to Canadian producers or larger promise of good-will toward the mother country than that which has summarized the recent discussion in the British House of Commons and House of Lords, and the assurances of early favorable action on the part of the British government in this all-important matter."

Dealing with the situation in Western Canada, the prime minister informed his audience that granting of control of natural resources to the prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta is a matter of primary concern to the people of this long-standing grievance would be remedied by the Liberal party, that pledge was partially carried out, being temporarily suspended by the Manitoba elections.

Repeats His Pledge.

The speaker reiterated the Liberal pledge to adjust this difference with the West, with operations to be resumed at once.

Marketing of the wheat crop is another important problem in the eyes of Western Canada, the speaker pointed out. Representatives of that portion of the country made it plain soon after parliament had assembled that the West is a unit in demand for formation of a wheat board to deal with the situation.

"If Eastern Canada had any views at all on the subject they were unfavorable to the establishment of such a board," declared the premier. "The purchase and sale of any product under government authority involves a measure of paternalism, which, speaking briefly, is not in accord with Eastern sentiment."

"Had the Liberal following in the House of Commons cherished aught in the nature of resentment toward the Progressives of the West it would have been an easy matter for the party to have declined the responsibility of assisting in the formation of such a body. However, the attitude of the Liberals toward the Progressives is not one of resentment, but of co-operation wherever co-operation along Liberal-Progressive lines is possible."

Lauds Cut in Rates.

The speaker also touched on the Crow's Nest Pass agreement respecting rates to be charged on grain, flour and other commodities by Canadian railways. He commented on the concluding work of the session when a measure settling the basis of railway rate reduction was enacted by a united following of Liberals and Progressives.

That it is the government's duty to do all possible in the operation and control of Dominion-owned railways was the premier's contention, who declared that with such an end in view the party decided as the first step to bring them under the control of a single board of directors, the personnel of which would be announced in the near future. He outlined the qualities required of the executive of this board to be selected only after rigid scrutiny in keeping with the interests of the people which must be safeguarded.

Cites Millions Saved.

Savings brought about by careful administration during the past seven months were instanced by Premier King, their aggregate reaching into the millions. In a single transaction whereby a Meighen government contract for an ice breaker to be utilized on the St. Lawrence River was cancelled, the Liberals saved the people one million dollars.

The total public works estimates presented to Parliament are less than those of 1921 by more than $120,000,000. A saving of over $3,000,000 has been made on the department of defense this year, and combination of several departments has made possible far-reaching economy in the interests of the people.

In regard to foreign relations, Premier King asserted that his party would deal liberally in their attitude to foreign powers. These would embrace the United States, China, Japan and other nations, and the recent visit of himself and Mr. Graham to Washington with a view to removal of grounds of possible misunderstanding was an instance of this policy.

Peace and Goodwill.

He concluded by expressing the hope that the century of peace and goodwill which has existed between Canada and the United States will serve as the criterion for other nations to accept in their contribution to the circle of world peace and benefit to mankind.

Senator McColg, one of the first speakers of the day, lauded Premier Mackenzie King as a man whose interest is in "the plain people of the land and not in corporations." He declared that when the tax was placed upon sugar beets the premier had lent his assistance readily when he perceived that this tax was hitting the producer.

Senator McColg declared that the premier had also rendered valuable assistance to tobacco growers of the Leamington district when they were about to be taxed heavily.

"There is another thing to which I think he will give his attention, and that is Senate reform," continued this speaker. "And when he introduces Senate reform he will have my hearty support." Senator McColg declared himself in favor of a revision of the income tax law.

Lauds Colleagues.

Commenting upon the excellent work of his two colleagues, Hon. W. C. Kennedy and Hon. James Murdoch, Hon. George P. Graham stated that undoubtedly their duties prevented them from attendance at the picnic. He complimented the premier for his brilliant work during the last session, declaring that he possessed strong, clear ideals, and the right principles of leadership.

"I believe Canada can duplicate the fifteen years of prosperity which it enjoyed under the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier," stated the minister of militia and defense.

Speaking both in French and English, R. Rinfret, M.P., voiced a plea for greater unity in Canada and elimination of national and religious prejudices.

During the afternoon the premier and Hon. George P. Graham were presented with gold tiepins and cuff links by Miss Helen West and Gertrude Parker, Leamington young women, acting on behalf of the South Essex Young Liberals' Association. The presentation address was read by Willard Burke.

PROPOSES WAR ON PROFITEERS

Drury Admits Cabinet Has Already Selected Provincial Fuel Controller.

States Appointment Will Be Announced in Course of Few Days.

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—At today's session of the Ontario cabinet the problem of selecting a fuel controller was debated, also the scope of his duties, and jurisdiction in the matter of preventing profiteering.

Following the meeting Premier Drury announced that while several names had been submitted for the office, the cabinet had practically decided upon a certain individual who, though not a coal dealer or directly connected with the business, appears to be well qualified for the position.

The identity of the prospective controller, the premier said, would not be divulged until he has consented to act.

The premier stated that it was altogether probable that the appointment would be made in the course of a few days. He was anxious that the position should be filled in time to enable a new fuel administrator to attend the joint conference of the government and the wholesale and retail coal dealers from all over the province, which will be held on Friday afternoon in the premier's office.

The premier did not believe the coal dealers would take advantage of the scarcity of coal to obtain high prices.

He emphasized that the fuel controller would be empowered to act should there be any attempt at profiteering. The controller would have access to the figures relating to prices paid by the dealers. There were channels through which a speedy ending would be put to profiteers, but he did not think that it would be necessary for the cabinet or the fuel administrator to resort to drastic measures.

KITCHENER MAN STRUCK BY CAR

Henry F. Jacobi Suffering From Fractured Skull in K. W. Hospital.

Special to London Advertiser. KITCHENER, Aug. 8.—Henry F. Jacobi, aged about 58, a contracting carpenter of Waterloo, lies dangerously ill at the Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital as a result of being hit while crossing King street on a bicycle at the Union street intersection late yesterday.

A motor car, which was alleged to have been speeding at the time, swerved suddenly from the right to the left side of the street, and crashed into Jacobi's wheel, throwing him into the air. He landed several feet away, striking on his head. He regained consciousness today at the hospital, where it has been found he is suffering from a fracture of the skull, a broken shoulder and three broken ribs.

Hope is held out for his recovery. There were four men in the car, all of whom have disappeared. The car came to grief against the curb, and is now in the hands of the Waterloo police. A hat found in the car indicates that one of the occupants is from Brantford.

PETROLEA MAN CLAIMS FARMING DOES NOT PAY

States Average Income of Agriculturists in 1920 Was Only $219.

Special to London Advertiser. SARNIA, Aug. 8.—W. P. McDonald, Petrolea district agricultural representative, was the speaker today at the weekly luncheon of the Sarnia Chamber of Commerce, his subject being the relationship between urban and rural municipalities.

Outstanding statements made by the speaker were: First, that farming was not a paying investment, and second, that the farmers' political movement was not a class movement, but was rather based on the "live and let live plan."

Mr. McDonald quoted statistics to show that the average farmer's income for a number of years was as follows: 1914, $454; 1915, $484; 1916, $543; 1917, $705; 1918, $826; 1919, $836; 1920, $219. The "Kazoo" trio of Port Huron rendered several selections, and aided the community singing.

CONDUCTS TESTS OF BRANT SOILS

Special to London Advertiser. SPARTA, Aug. 8.—This vicinity was visited yesterday afternoon by the heaviest rainstorm of the season. The rain came down in torrents, and for a time was accompanied with a strong northwest wind, which snapped off quite a number of trees, scattered shingles off many roofs, and did considerable damage to corn.

In some cases the corn was broken off at the joints, or torn out by the roots. No buildings were destroyed.

CHILD INJURED BY DRIVERLESS AUTO

Car Runs Over Owner Cranking It, Crashes Through Ingersoll Window.

INGERSOLL, Aug. 8.—Consternation was rife in the business section here this afternoon when a farmer named Wilson, from the Faldens district, cranked up his automobile on King street west, while the clutch was in.

The car ran down King street, crossed Thames and then crashed into Naylor's clothing store window.

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn.—"I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did."

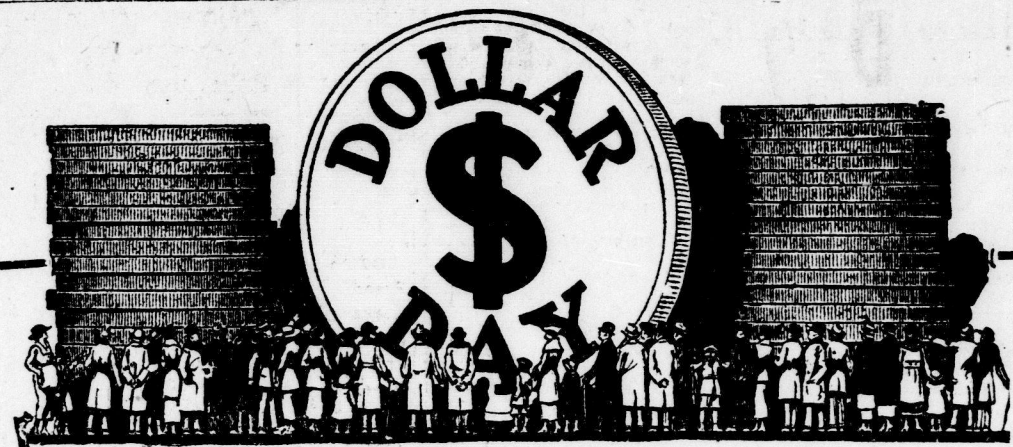

Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

smashing four large panes of glass. En route, it ran down a little boy named Ralph McKillen. He was taken to Alexandra Hospital suffering from head wounds requiring stitches. Wilson was backing in front of the car in an effort to stop it. He tripped on the Thames street curb and the car also passed over him. He received a number of abrasions and also suffered from shock.

TRANSFORMER OUT OF ORDER. STRATFORD, Aug. 8.—One of the big transformers at the city power station went out of commission today, and the city depended on three transformers. Although these are considerably overloaded, they will carry on, it is felt.

F. T. COSTELLO TO HEAD BOARD

Appointed Chairman of Commission To Arbitrate Canadian Rails Dispute.

Harding Asks U. S. Congress To Be Prepared For Emergencies.

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press).—F. T. Costello, barrister, of Alexandria, Ont., has been appointed chairman of the board of conciliation and investigation in the dispute between the Canadian National Railways and its employees who are members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees.

The appointment was made this afternoon by the minister of labor in the absence of a unanimous recommendation from the two parties. The men are represented on the board by H. S. Ross of Montreal, and the company by George D. Kelly of Ottawa. The dispute is over a reduction of wages.

KEEP HOUSE SITTING.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—President Harding has asked congressional leaders, in view of the menacing industrial situation arising from coal and rail strikes, to hold the House, now in recess, continuously in session, along with the Senate, after the house reconvenes next Tuesday.

The prospect was that, failing early settlement of the labor controversies, the administration might call for legislative action to enable the government to cope with conditions which thus far have failed to react favorably to efforts on the part of the executive.

Meanwhile, the leaders of all union organizations in the transportation field began to gather in Washington for conferences to determine the response which shall be made to President Harding's latest offer of a settlement basis for the seven railroad unions now on strike, and to determine as well, according to statements of those who will participate, what joint or co-operative action the labor forces shall take in case the president's offer is rejected.

Want Offer Rejected.
B. M. Jewell, chairman of the group of officers of the striking unions, declared he had received hundreds of telegrams today from locals of the shop unions, "telling us to reject the president's offer, and not a single one asking its acceptance."

Separate conference between the railway officials and representatives of the striking shippers on its lines broke up finally today, when the men declared that only a national settlement of the strike could be accepted by them, even though the railroad conceded seniority rights to returning strikers.

Fairfax Harrison, president of the road, later issued a general notice to all its employees that the company considered it had "more than fulfilled its obligations to the striking employees," and that its duty was now for unimpaired transportation service.

"This, we will perform," Mr. Harrison declared.

May Resume Control.
Suggestions were advanced that Congress might be asked to authorize resumption of federal control over the railroad systems should President Harding find it impossible to terminate the strike satisfactorily, with the further possibility that direct legislation amending the transportation act might be sought to make the railroad labor board decisions in wage matters binding upon managements and employees.

There was also a proposal in some quarters that jurisdiction might be given the board by law over differences which arise during a strike, as did the present seniority issue.

Mr. Jewell and W. H. Johnson, president of the Machinists' Association, charged that strikebreakers were being "chained in Europe, particularly England, by the roads," naming the Chesapeake & Ohio, as one such road.

"We found at Huntington, W. Va., men who had been brought over for the purpose," Mr. Johnson asserted, "and we called British labor organizations asking them to spread the knowledge of these American advertisements, and intend also to cite the cases to the immigration authorities as violation of the contract labor laws."

TELEGRAPHERS MAY STRIKE.
CINCINNATI, Aug. 8.—Following the announcement that a strike ballot was being spread, a strike of telegraphers on the Big Four Railroad was said by members of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers in Cincinnati terminal to be a possibility "within a few days."

It was said the main cause for promulgating the strike ballot was the failure of a recent conference with the management regarding what is known as the "split track," whereby operators are required to work eight hours in any twelve, in some cases being assigned to work four hours, be laid off for four hours, and then work another four hours.

There are 1,100 men in the group that is taking the strike vote.

Alberta Premier Believes Nominee Delaying to Consult His Various Interests.

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Premier Greenfield is not yet convinced that James Stewart and F. W. Riddell will not accept the position on the wheat board. Because of this uncertainty, H. W. Wood, president of the United Farmers of Alberta, who has been offered the position of chairman of the board, still declines to announce any decision.

Premiers Greenfield and Dunning wired Mr. Stewart on Sunday noon and have received no reply. The delay is regarded as not unfavorable, as it is believed here that it is caused by extensive consultation of his different interests.

Keeps Hair In Curl On Hot or Windy Days

Here's a hair curling secret that is decidedly "worth while." Just apply a little liquid lime before doing up the hair, using a clean tooth brush for the purpose, drawing this down the hair from crown to tip. In three hours you will have as beautiful curls and waves as you could wish for. The waviness will look so natural no one will guess it was artificially acquired. And it will last ever so long, regardless of heat, wind or dampness.

You can obtain liquid lime at any drug store and it is neither sticky nor greasy and is pleasant to use. It is doubly useful because of also serving as a beneficial dressing, keeping the hair soft, silky and lustrous. It's fine for both long and bobbed hair.—Adv.

CLAIMS TARIFF HELPS TRUSTS

U.S. Senator Believes High Rates Bring About Monopolies.

Finds Woolen Mills Combining and Setting Prices.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Canadian Press.—Are the great trusts in the United States becoming more and more strongly entrenched? This question has arisen in a number of ways in recent months, as, for instance, in connection with the high prices of gasoline. It is shown in a recent report of the Federal Trade Commission that Standard Oil interests, which it had generally supposed were "unscrambled" by a supreme court decision some years ago, are still operating in united fashion to control the oil and gasoline industry. The pending tariff bill, too, has served to bring forth much illuminating information and argument in the senate on this subject of growth of trusts and monopolies. Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, in a series of powerful speeches assailing the high rates of the wool schedule, has sought to show that the wool manufacturing industry in the United States is steadily becoming trust-controlled. He is convinced the high rates of the pending bill, once they are in operation, will accelerate this tendency.

"There is not a woolen manufacturer in this country who announces prices on dress goods or woolen cloths until the great combination, the American Woolen Company, first makes the announcement," said Senator Walsh. "That concern leads the way and dictates the price, and that trust is steadily and constantly gathering full control of the large and competitive woolen manufacturers of this country. In the last report of the American Woolen Manufacturing Company, I found that last year three great mills had been added to the combine, and I make the prediction now that before many years have passed the entire manufacture of dress goods and of woolen goods will have passed into the hands of this one organization. It is one of the significant things in the economic history of our country. In the last 30 years, that side by side with the bestowal of high protective duties have come combines.

"That is easily explained. Those men first meet for propaganda purposes. Every woolen mill of this country is part of an association. They send their representatives here to ask for high protective tariff duties. They become friendly; they become co-operative, and they can understand and see that by eliminating domestic competition they can make these duties more effective in raising prices, by the larger plant absorbing the smaller plant.

"The prices are controlled; nobody disputes that. The American Woolen Company produces in its mills 25 per cent of the woolen cloth and dress goods produced in this country, and, of course, it is rapidly expanding. So that it has such a volume of production that it is the dictator and leader in price announcements."

It was brought out by Senator Simmons in debate on this question that in numerous instances the existing Underwood law rates are practically prohibitive of importations. In such instances, the high tariff senators argue that if the rates are made still higher than they are no harm can be done. But the view taken by Senator Simmons and supported by Senator Walsh, was that much harm could be done, because the extremely high rates tended to bring about monopolies and, once a monopoly exists in any given industry, if it operates behind a high wall of protection and can snap its fingers at the thought of competition, it can levy tribute on the public as it pleases.

NEWFOUNDLANDERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

Hope To Obtain $20,000,000 To Finance Wood Pulp Industry.

St. John's, Newfoundland, Aug. 10.—Newfoundland newspapers are finding it possible to strike a most optimistic note in discussing the industrial outlook in the ancient colony. Two of that country's most prominent men, Sir Patrick McGrath and Sir Richard Squires, premier, are in Europe, on en route there, in the interests of the greater development of Newfoundland and with reason to hope that their visit will hasten the financing of a $20,000,000 wood pulp mill project which will tap one of the country's almost limitless resources, and, according to Sir Patrick McGrath, solve the country's most important industrial problem.

In addition to the above, there is another cause for optimism—resumption of iron ore shipments to Germany. Three-quarters of a million tons of ore from Wabana are to be delivered to Rotterdam for transshipment via canals into Germany. Twelve steamers of 12,000 tons of ore a month to Rotterdam between now and December. At the present time practically all the ore shipped out of Wabana is for Germany.

Overseas shipment of iron ore from Wabana have been practically nil since 1914. Previous to the war the Scotia Company, then owners, of practically all the iron areas in Wabana, shipped annually about 100,000 tons to Europe. The new contracts with German agencies will not only bring about a revival of pre-war prosperity in that district, but will create an exceedingly great activity in the Wabana district.

Proves Plush Horse Era In Men's Clothes Now Wanes

BY MARIAN HALE.

THE plush horse era in men's clothes is over.

The well-dressed man and the college youth who have been found guilty of perpetrating jazz styles of the last few seasons have been put under control. The conservatives again are in power.

After all, a woman should know whether her escort is properly assembled or not. Otherwise he may completely spoil the effect she is trying to get.

I was assured by the spokesman for the country's most exclusive tailoring establishment, that for a century has been dressing the husbands and sons, as well as the butlers, of our first families, that the really well-dressed man has never worn jazz styles.

"For my patrons I am making practically the same suit for the last 50 years," he says proudly. "Possibly from time to time we change from a three to a four button model coat, but nothing more."

No wonder men stay young longer than women.

I WAS besought by all the haberdashers to use my influence to combat the jacket coat evil.

Please be advised, fellow-citizens, that the man who wears his dinner jacket to a dance or a theater, when escorting a woman thereto, is guilty of a social error.

The Tuxedo or dinner jacket was the inspiration of a famous clubman, a most correct gentleman, who wore it to his club, to informal dinners and stag affairs.

But he never would have been guilty of coupling it with white flannel tennis trousers or a white waistcoat and a negligee shirt.

Repression in the matter of shirts is not only advocated but urged. A white silk one is permissible, but white cotton is better. Stripes must be inconspicuous to get by.

TROUSERS may be cuffed or plain, but English influence is backing the plain variety. Golf suits, with regulation trousers as well as knickers are shown. But the custom of wearing golf togs merely for promenading is frowned upon.

The Derby hat, probably the most place of the ulster. Heather mix-unsightly headgear ever imagined for any race, is said to be coming back. So is the opera hat with the accented attachment. A vague rumor promises something sort of snappy in green hats, but this may not materialize. In topcoats, the slip-on and plain man has one and display is no longer Chesterfield models are taking the necessary.

SWATOW FACES HEAVY TASK OF BURYING DEAD

Typhoon Survivors Turn To Grim Work of Interring 28,000 Bodies.

FOOD SHORTAGE FEARED

HONG KONG, Aug. 8.—Typhoon-stricken Swatow, a mangled and miserable caricature of the port of a week ago, today goes about the first task that falls to the survivors of the storm—burial of the dead.

Bodies of 28,000 have been recovered—a death toll that triples former estimates, and cuts in half the former population of the native city. These figures were given in a circular issued by the Swatow Chamber of Commerce from its branch in Hong Kong.

Rude coffins have been hammered together with lumber salvaged from the wreck of the city. But these cannot be knocked together fast enough to dispose of the bodies, which are a health menace. Gunny sacks and mattress bags have been made into crude shrouds. Graves are hurriedly dug in the alluvial flats on which the port was built, that bodies may be interred as they are recovered from the wreckage.

Shortage of food may prove another peril. British in Hong Kong already have sent $10,000 for relief to the British consul at Swatow. Rice is being shipped from the

Boy Admits Dumping Glass and Nails Into Dough Pans in Father's Bakery

DETROIT, Aug. 8.—Peter Tomff, 9 years old, whose father, Eli, is a baker at 194 Victor avenue, Highland Park, today repeated to Charles W. Seymour, chief of police, the confession he made yesterday to his father of dumping glass and nails into pans of dough in his father's bakery. He admitted he had been doing it for three weeks past.

Peter made the confession after he had been soundly whipped by his father, when caught dropping glass in a pan Sunday. The whipping drew from Peter a story that a friend of his father had bribed him to put the glass and nails into the bread dough. The father then told police that there was a plot among rival bakers to discredit him, arising from a dispute over prices.

Mr. Seymour said today that he had not been able to find that bread containing glass had been sold in large quantities, nor could he substantiate Tomff's charge that there was a plot against him. Mr. Seymour questioned the man whom Peter accused, then released him. He also released Peter, but recommended that Peter be whipped again, with a view to curing him of the habit of making up stories to account for mischievous deeds.

British colony. The Swatow municipality charitable association has organized a relief fund to which subscriptions are being sought. Benevolent societies in Hong Kong are uniting in relief measures.

Bandits, making grim capital of the city's disaster, are reported to have raided homes and robbed pedestrians in the native section. Ghoulies sought to loot the dead, but were promptly stopped by the native policemen.

Swatow is a heap of ruins. The tidal wave which swept the road along the harbor while the storm was at its height, completed the devastation which the storm started. Waterfront buildings, crumpled before the assault of the water, lie in tangled, nondescript piles. Three steamers caught in the storm were piled on the beach. Smaller craft, demolished when they sought shelter in Swatow Harbor, add to the tangle on the waterfront that swirls with the tide.

Bodies of many victims have drifted out to sea. They have been sighted by steamers as far as fifteen miles from the devastated port. Many will never be recovered.

U. S. SENATE APPROVES NEW TARIFF ON SUGAR

Rescinds Former Action in Voting Imposit on White Arsenic.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The Senate today approved a rate of 2.3 cents a pound in the tariff on sugar; rejected a plan for a government bounty of $9,500,000 for domestic potash producers, and rescinded its former action in voting an imposit of 2 cents a pound on white arsenic.

Potash and white arsenic were placed on the free list.

The sugar rate of 2.3 cents a pound was a compromise between the 2.5 cents duty urged by Louisiana cane and western beet sugar producers and the two cents proposed by the house and approved by the finance committee majority. It is three-tenths of a cent above the tariff in the existing emergency act, and 1.05 cents above that in the Underwood act.

Union Leaders and Operators

Abandon Hope of Settling Coal Strike On National Scale.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 8.—Expectations of a settlement of the soft coal strike on a national scale vanished tonight among the union officials and operators here for a joint conference on peace plans, with the receipt of reports of the failure of Indiana and Illinois operators' associations to agree to join the conference.

The hope, however, was held out that settlement affecting scattered mines in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania, and possibly West Virginia may result from the conference, which reconvenes here tomorrow afternoon.

President John L. Lewis of the miners announced that the joint conference would reassemble to open negotiations. The question, however, of whether the miners would be ready to make an agreement with the operators now here, was undecided.

Boys Left Alone as Father's Quest for Mate Ends in Jail

DETROIT, Aug. 8.—Charles Whitton, 15 years old, and his brother, John Whitton, 12 years old, according to stories to police, accompanied their father, Stephen Whitton, 40 years old, on a national tour in an automobile in quest of a new mother for themselves and a new wife for him—a quest extending from California to New York and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

But from Thursday to Monday the two boys were without even a father, or a bachelor's hall in which to eat and sleep, as a result of the arrest here of the father, without their knowledge, on a complaint from Toledo that he had sold contract property. They believed their father had deserted them.

The Whitton furniture, the contract property in question, had been moved from their apartment at 135 Kenilworth avenue, and then sold, as a result of the landlord's notification that he would not let them remain longer without a woman in the family to keep house for them.

Unable to find a job and without money, the boys begged their food for five days and slept on the steps of the Alger School. Monday they went to police headquarters for aid and learned that their father was a prisoner. Toledo authorities are expected here today to take Whitton to Toledo.

According to the story told by Whitton and the boys, Mrs. Whitton died two years ago in Buffalo. Whitton and his sons went to Mexico and then to California. It was from there that the quest for a mother for the boys began in an automobile bought in Los Angeles. The three arrived in Toledo six weeks ago and later came to Detroit.

Police say inquiries were being made in California as to Whitton's automobile, also said to have been bought on contract. He has not sold the automobile, however, police said.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—A message from Strabane received by the Exchange Telegraph Company this afternoon, stated that a settlement between the Ulster Government and the Free State authorities was imminent, the terms of agreement having been practically arranged in negotiations proceeding in London.

In Downing street, however, all knowledge of any such Irish negotiations was disclaimed and a telegram from Belfast quoted Ulster Government officials as denying that a settlement with the Free State was imminent.

3-2 WIN OVER VEHICLES

Jumpy Ball and Unexpected Turns Gives Fans Good Game and Thrills Galore—Stimpson Turns in Sensational Catch.

WETZEL'S Braves annexed yesterday's jumpy affray, 3-2, from the Powell Brothers' firm after nine innings full of unexpected turns and funny baseball, and marked by the nice pitching duel between Feigert and Bullard, even though the latter didn't seem to wake up to the fact that there was a duel on until half way through the piece.

The game hadn't any more than got nicely started when Brown raised a fuss over being struck out, and his boss, another Powell, and Jackson, Flint hurler, also took a part in the controversy. The ump's gave all three orders they were to meet the late customers at the gate on their way out, but about the middle of the game he heard familiar voices coming from the bleachers, and he finally had to call for the police to put on the eviction act.

The Vehicles got two hits and a walk for a run in the second, but Young's high pop allowed two more runs in the fourth to go to waste. Luce interrupted this spurting attack by interrupting after Monty's liner, and sliding his length with his one hand holding the ball, and the Londoners went on in their half and evened the count. Richardson, after popping up a sac bunt, which James at first dropped, tripping to right field, Bullard's sacrifice fly scored him.

The Flinters went out ahead in the 5th. Young being safe on Richardson's third bobbie. James singled. Feigert grounded out, but Morehart, bounced one off Bullard's shins, and Malmquist lost the cushion shot. Young scoring.

DECISION PUTS LONDON AND STRATFORD NINES TIE

STRATFORD, Aug. 8.—The local Grand Trunk Apprentice Baseball League have decided word that they have won their protest against the Toronto apprentice team and have been awarded the game without replaying. CHICAGO'S STAR TRIO: "RE" FABER (LEFT), RAY SCHALK (RIGHT) AND EDDIE COLLINS (CENTER).

WHEN considering the most valuable player in the major leagues the Chicago White Sox have three entries. Eddie Collins, remarkable sacker; Ray Schalk, brilliant catcher, and "Red" Faber, track pitcher.

Collins is the best second baseman of all times. Fifteen years of campaigning do not seem to have slowed him up in any department of the game. He is the key to the Chicago infield. No player has ever won a spoked shoe. It is difficult to estimate the value of Collins to the White Sox aside from his mere play.

BRUSSELS AWITS FINALS.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 8.—The final games in the junior football series of the W. F. A. are delayed on account of the disorganized condition of the Tavistock team, which has to meet Brussels in home-and-home games for the championship. One of their players broke a leg and another member was called away for a while. Tavistock offered to default, but Brussels preferred to give time to rearrange play, as the latter do not want empty honors after their victorious season.

CHESLEY BALL PLAYER
MARRIES IN TORONTO

CHESLEY, Aug. 7.—There is no more popular young man on the winning Chesley baseball team than Jimmy Green, the dependable left fielder, who rarely ever makes a muff.

During the games this summer Jimmy has been swatting flies, and now he will be swatting them by the most approved domestic science rules, for he was married in Florence recently to Miss Isabel Barker, an operator in the Canadian National Telegraph office.

The showing of the Chesley nine in the Owen Sound-Chesley play-off on Saturday was a surprise to all. The winner in this round will meet Wingham in the third.

Carlill is arranging exhibition games with Chesley, the first of which may be played about Wednesday of this week.

RUTHVEN DEFEATED.

RUTHVEN, Aug. 8.—The old ball baseball rivals, Ruthven and Leamington, met on the former's diamond on Saturday and played a nip and tuck game to the last inning. Ruthven was defeated by one run, which makes the standing between these clubs on the Leamington will play again on the Ruthven diamond on Sept. 21.

ACCEPT PLANS FOR 2 SCHOOLS

St. Thomas Board of Education To Build Annexes Immediately.

Provide Rooms For Overflow Pupils and Large Auditoriums.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 8.—Plans for annexes to Myrtle street and Balclava street schools, drawn by Darrach and Findlay, local architects, were accepted Tuesday night, and a special meeting of the board of education will be called within the next two weeks to issue tenders.

Besides providing enough room to relieve overcrowding in the public schools, the annexes will contain auditoriums with a seating capacity of 300 each.

Closed passageways will lead from the main buildings, and separate exits will be used as well. The cost,
Mr. Darrach said, would be approximately $52,000 each. A slight change will be made in the Myrtle street school plans to increase the size of the auditorium.

Providing that the Great War Veterans are willing to accept a rental of $45 a month, the rooms now occupied by them, opposite East street, on Talbot, will be recommended to the board to relieve the crowding in the collegiate institute. Several locations have been suggested, but on examination these rooms appear to be the most suitable for the purpose, Trustee Dr. Bennett said.

The Trinity Church School cannot be obtained, he said, and McLaughlin Hall at Alma College would require too many costly alterations. Al-practically no expense the rooms can be fitted up to hold two classes.

Fortunately the schools were re-lighting and ventilation were required as very satisfactory, and the proximity of the Collegiate is an added advantage.

A letter from the G. W. V. A. contained an offer of $60. This was thought much too high, considering the fact that light, heat and janitor service are not supplied. Dr. Bennett declared that a verbal offer of $45 had been made to him, and he thought for this amount the schools will be fairly well supplied with coal this winter. Acting on his own initiative, Secretary R. Newton purchased several carloads in the spring. Several of the schools have enough fuel to last until spring, while the rest will require added supplies about the first of December.

Miss A. Bole was appointed to the position of English history teacher in the Collegiate.

CHATHAM, Aug. 8.—The corn crops in the lower portion of Dover Township and the upper part of Raleigh Township were practically mown down by a very severe thunderstorm yesterday afternoon, shortly after 1 o'clock.

The damage will amount to many thousands of dollars. Tobacco plants and fruit on vines were also totally destroyed by hail, which fell for nearly twenty minutes.

The storm, which came up from the northwest, seemed to straddle the River Thames, and cut a swath of destruction in its path. Lightning played strange pranks in barns and stables along the route of the storm, but, strange to relate, did not cause any conflagrations in the county. The only fire was in the city.

SOLDIER WANTS WIFE ARRESTED

Winnipeg War Romance Ends
in Charge of Bigamy.

Windsor, Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press)
—When Wilfred D. Whitley, a Canadian war veteran, residing in Detroit, appeared in Windsor today to search for his wife, he told of a shattered war romance that commenced in Winnipeg, when he donned the king's uniform in 1916. He is now seeking divorce on the grounds that his wife deserted him three years ago in Detroit and bigamously married a man with whom she is now living in Winnipeg. He wants her arrested.

While Whitley was in France, the young wife lived in Winnipeg on the assigned pay and separation allowance, and was sent to her monthly allowance by the military department.
He corresponded regularly. Whitley waited for the day when he could return. Soon after armistice was signed he was sent back to Canada.
There was a happy reunion, but Whitley noticed that his wife had changed. He decided to move to Detroit and bring her with him. They had only lived across the river a short time when the young wife became acquainted with a Canadian soldier named Bowman, who was an outdoor patrol at a hospital. There were secret meetings between them.
Whitley charged and within a few weeks both had disappeared. That was three years ago.

Fortunately the schools will be fairly well supplied with coal this winter. Acting on his own initiative,
Secretary R. Newton purchased several carloads in the spring. Several of the schools have enough fuel to
last until spring, while the rest will require added supplies about the

MONTREAL STOCKS

Montreal, Aug. 9.—12:30 p.m.—The local market is livelier today and stands ready to respond to any favorable development that may take place in the industrial situation.

Paper and pulp stocks are in the lead again from the standpoint of activity. Price Bros. was the only one, however, to register a further advance at 42 1/2.

At 42 1/2, Atchafalca and both Spanish Rivers sold at yesterday's best prices. Howard Smith, of which broken lots touched 70 at the close last night, duplicated this price for board lots today.

Fractional decline to 44 1/2 is registered in Brazilian Traction. Other public utilities are firm, with Montreal Power the feature of the group at 50 1/2, an advance of 1/2 during the session.

New York, Aug. 9.—Sterling exchange

TORONTO STOCKS
Toronto, Aug. 9.—Some improvement in the volume of business offering on the local stock exchange was noted this morning, but the total sales did not reach 1,000 shares for the first time since the opening of the market. Activity continues to be displayed by Hollinger Mines, an unlisted stock, and this morning an advance of 1/2 was registered, the closing at $12.

General Electric was erratic, opening 2 points above last night on an odd lot, only to lose 1 1/2 points on its next sale at 80 1/2. Canadian Pacific, at 45, Telegraphs, unchanged at 44 1/2, P. R. Ry 1 1/2 at 141. Steamships preferred made a 1-point advance to 51.

War loans and bank issues were dull.

First Arrivals Confirm the Early Fall Tendencies In Ladies' Suits

The formal openings have already taken place in Paris and have confirmed the tendencies that have been hinted at earlier. Sleeves are an important feature and skirtlines are just slightly longer, and waistlines posed slightly higher, but developed in a straight silhouette, are the chief notes. As regards line, sleeves are in narrower treatments.

Crepes, Velvet

In fabrics, crepe weaves are still given great emphasis, with velvet also much in evidence.

Brown, Red, Yellow

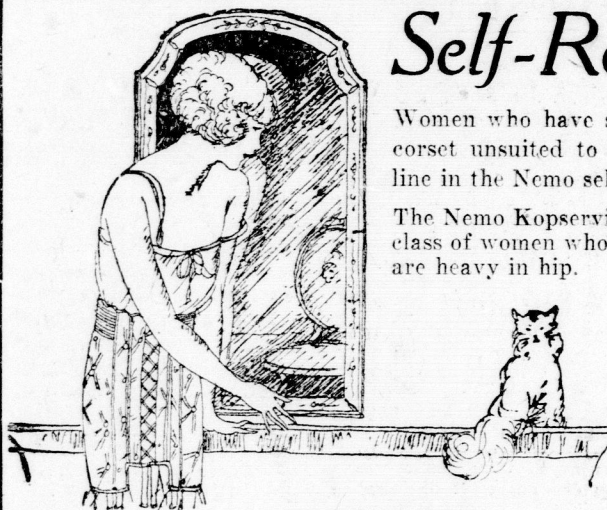

For daytime use, brown shades, in the tobacco and darker tones are sponsored, while for evening, carot red, mimosa and other light colors are featured.

New Fall Suits

The model pictured is a striking example of the new suits we are showing this week—the advance guard of our fall collection. Tricotine and broadcloths are featured in these models with coats about 38 inches long, notched collars, three and four button closing, beautiful tailored, belted models, plain tailored sleeve, satin lined, colors black, navy and brown, trimmed with strapping. Prices $45.00 and $52.00
