OPPOSITION FOR MAYOR WENIGE IN SIGHT

Aldermanic, School Board and Public Utility Contests Are Expected To Be Keen.

Six hours to go.
And George A. Wenige still waits alone at the mayoralty post.
From the heights beyond West London to the uttermost boundaries of Pottersburg on the east, and from Broughdale to the Westminster Township line, opinion concedes the mayor's unopposed return to the city hall for 1924 to further his policies of economy and government by and for the people.

Assuming that one of the six possible opponents does appear on the stage of nine, whether it be ex-Ald.
Fred Watkinson, late of the Labor party, or Ald. Wilson, it is the belief that he will hit into a sacrifice play—with the mayor romping to the plate.

Childs Crusade Revived.
The "Childs for mayor" crusade was revived at noon today when a member of the "ways and means committee"—the faithful few at Mayor headquarters—broadcast the rumor that Childs was reconsidering his decision not to be the party's choice.
—And then John Pringle's name was attached to the report to lend weight to the story. Mr. Pringle's nomination was accepted as "complimentary," there are those who would stampee him into the fight.
Then there is ex-Ald. Fred Watkinson. The mayor was informed this afternoon that the former member of the Labor party, who was defeated last year in ward three's aldermanic contest, was preparing to enter the mayoralty lists on a "Sunday bathing" ticket.

It was not explained just what this meant; whether he intended the stand of the public utilities commissioners to keep the municipal bath houses closed on Sunday or otherwise.

Fights Everywhere Else.
With a host of "possibilities" in view, the municipal aspirants were rather slow to qualify today. But one had appeared until noon for the board of education—Rev. Roy Mess.
Small hope is extended this afternoon for the re-election by acclamation of Public Utilities Commissioner Jared Vining and Philip Pocock.

Ald. Peter Watt has practically decided to enter the race, and he has the urgent persuasion of friends and supporters. "I am not asking for it," Ald. Watt stated. "If I run, the people who say they want me will have to elect me."

Should Ald. Watt enter the field by 9 p.m., it is expected that D. J.
Tallant, one of the nation's two nominees for this office, will enter the ward 3 aldermanic field, while "Ken" McCormick, the second Labor nominee, will run for alderman in Ward 1.
Despite the fact that but a mere handful of aldermanic prospects have entered their intentions with City Clerk Baker, a keen race is promised in every ward.

Ald. John T. May and Allen Towse have qualified for Ward 1, and it is assured that several other nominees, including Ald. John Greer, will be in the whistle blows.

Interest in Ward 4's fight quickened at noon today, when R. W.
Chappel signed on the dotted line.
Mr. Chappel entered public life during the last federal campaign as the unsuccessful candidate in the East Middlesex fight. He achieved an excellent record, however, despite the many handicaps.

Ald. Edmund Hayden and Edwin Smith have both qualified. Ald. Colbert and Ald. Ernest Shaw will be in tonight.

O. T. A. FINES BRING CASH TO THE CITY

For Eleven Months Ending Oct.
1 Aggregate Fines Imposed
Was $16,935.

CITY GETS $13,335
Province Benefits to Extent of $3,600 From Work of the Provincial Police.

London's citizens—and some visitors—have been contributing generously to the provincial and municipal treasuries through their non-observance of the stipulations of the Ontario temperance act, according to an official statement going forward to the Ontario government from City
Treasurer James Bell.

From November 1 of last year until October 1 of this year the local police department has received fines aggregating $16,935 from persons convicted of violations of the prohibition laws of this province.

The provincial authorities directed the city treasurer to secure a report upon this matter and, securing the same today from the records of the police department, he forwarded the return to the authorities at the capital. The treasurer presumes that this information is sought to "wind up" the books until October 31.
Of the amount collected from O. T. A. defendants since last November, the sum of $3,600 goes to the province, the treasurer explains, this being due to the fact that provincial police were responsible for arrests and convictions to that extent.

ADVISES PROHIBITIONISTS IN SASKATCHEWAN TO ACT

Canadian Press Despatch.
Saskatoon, Sask., Nov. 20.—"Isn't it time that, instead of conceding victory to moderationists, we make a fight for our homes and families?"
asked Rev. Hugh Dobson of Regina, chairman of the prohibition committee, Saskatchewan Social Service Council, speaking yesterday before the Social Service Council here. "I hear people going around and talking as if the moderationists had already won in Saskatchewan," the speaker continued. "We must stop such conversation. Do not forget that this is a good prohibition province. We have a glory to live up to and we had the largest backing for prohibition of any province."

Clergyman Who Parks Car At Theatre Entry Fined

Rev. W. Scott Galbraith appeared in police court today charged with parking his car in front of Loew's Theatre, contrary to the motor vehicle act. He was fined $3 and costs.
"I didn't know it was against the law to park in front of a theatre," explained the minister of the gospel.

City Made Good Profit From Ventures At "Port"

In Past Summer Season

Incline Railway, Bath House, Cafeteria and Refreshment Booths
All Showed Surplus on the Credit Side.

Revenue from the City of London ventures at Port Stanley the past summer show a substantial surplus, despite such a serious handicap as inclement weather, according to a special report available at the city hall today from the management of the London & Port Stanley Railway.

The profit is set, roughly, at $13,385 (although these figures are subject to slight change), showing a successful season for the cafeteria, bath-house and the inclined railway.

Receipts from all sources, including the refreshment booths, total about $62,591.50, and with expenditures on all counts aggregating $49,257.09, a profit of $13,334.41 is revealed.

The city's railway officials report the following:

	Revenue.	Expenditure.	Profit.
Cafeteria	$20,533.80	$17,779.40	$2,804.40
Inclined railway	7,301.10	1,921.38	5,379.72
Bath house	9,344.25	4,677.82	4,666.43
Refreshment booths	25,591.56	24,878.51	713.05
Totals	$62,591.56	$49,257.09	$13,334.47

UTILITIES PROPERTY INCREASES IN VALUE

Commission Ready To Pay Sixth Installment of $2,000
—Cost Was $20,000.

The sixth installment of the purchase price for the property owned by the public utilities commission on the northeast corner of Wellington and Dundas streets, amounting to $2,000, plus interest, falls due next month.

The commission, which bought the land from the city six years ago at a cost of $20,000, to be paid in ten annual installments, with interest, has made payments promptly, and this year will be no exception. The land has increased much in value since being purchased, and its value is being enhanced by the commission building which now adorns the corner.

Only recently someone inquired whether the commission had received the land as a donation from the city council, but General Manager E.
V. Buchanan points out that the property in question was purchased in the regular manner.

TWO HURT IN ELEVATOR RECOVERING, ST. JOSEPH'S

Fred Zoeler and Alec Thompson, employees of the Seaman-Kent factory in West Lorne, where they met with an accident in an elevator several weeks ago, were reported by St.
Joseph's Hospital authorities this morning, to be greatly improved.
Both men are expected to leave the hospital shortly.

I. W. W. Members Put In Dungeons

Associated Press Despatch.
San Quentin, Cal., Nov. 20.—As a result of their refusal to work after they had demanded the release of J. B. Childs, their reputed leader, confined to the dungeon for striking Saturday, 71 convicts, sentenced to San Quentin prison for criminal syndicalism, are in solitary confinement on a diet of bread and water. All the prisoners are said to be members of the Industrial Workers of the World.

NOVEMBER BUILDING AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

Officials Expect Complete Returns Will Break Record For Month.

London's proposed construction ventures for November now call for an expenditure of $130,015, according to a report today from the building inspector's office.
Building and alteration permits to the number of 94 have been issued since the first of the month.
It is now fully anticipated that the November, 1922, record of $165,875 will be eclipsed by the end of the month.

BURTON PLEADS GUILTY TO STEALING LUMBER

William Burton pleaded guilty in police court today to stealing what he termed "kindlings" from the home of G. H. Brown in Manor Park.

"I didn't break in, I just jumped through the window," explained Burton.

"That doesn't look very honest," observed the magistrate.

"I understand this man is a nuisance," said J. G. Gillanders, acting for the crown. "He broke down some boards across the windows of a house being built. Other lumber has been taken."

"He apparently took more than a little kindling," responded the court, who remanded Burton to jail for a week.

WILL JUMP ADMISSION PRICES FOR FILM SHOWS

Managers of City Moving Picture Houses to Increase Prices Three Cents.

STARS TO BLAME

Say High Salaries to the Screen Favorites Make More Revenue Necessary.

Increases in local moving picture prices of three cents for both matinees and evening shows were decided on today at a meeting of London theatre managers. The advance, they say, has become imperative, owing to the boosting of film prices all over North America.

The increase will be effective Monday next, Fred Jackson, manager of Loew's, declared.
The managers point out that the average cost of film rentals compared with that existing two months ago is more than 200 per cent. Comedies which brought $25 in the summer cannot now be procured for less than $75. Feature pictures run into the thousands.

London theatres have been hard hit, Thomas Logan, manager of Allen's, said. "The increase is absolutely necessary."
The boosting of admission prices is essential, in order to reduce the exorbitant salaries of movie stars.
William Stewart, manager of The Victoria, explained. The cost of production has gone up substantially owing to this. Famous-Lasky Film Company failed two weeks ago, and their assignment was attributed directly to the immense salaries paid to so-called stars.

MERCHANTS PREPARE TO BOOST THEIR BLOCK

Best Ways and Means Discussed at Meeting Last Night.

Merchants of Dundas street, between Clarence and Wellington streets, held a meeting last night to discuss ways and means of boosting that block to the mutual advantage of advertising.

The meeting, which was held in the store of R. M. Brisco, was well attended and several suggestions were made. The meeting, however, was left in the hands of two committees, who will report back at a meeting called for Thursday night. Messrs.
Jackson, Fishbein and Orth were appointed a committee to go into the question and advise what could be done to boost the block outside of advertising.

Messrs. Croden, Chapman and a representative from the Raphael-Mack Company, were formed into a second body to investigate and report on the matter of advertising and publicity.

Provincial Secretary Will Open Thomas Alway Home

Hon. Lincoln Goldie Will Preside at Ceremonies on Thursday Afternoon.

OUTLINE ACTIVITIES

Hon. Lincoln Goldie, provincial secretary, will be in London on Thursday to attend the official opening of the Thomas Alway Children's Shelter at 3:30 p.m. He will also be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be tendered him by A. E. Barbour, president of the Children's Aid Society, at 1 o'clock.

Representatives from the city and county will be in attendance, and a brief description of the work done by the society will be given. It is pointed out that at the present time there are some 400 children, wards of the work is of such a nature that it the local branch, and the extension of is felt that it should have the consideration and assistance of the government, this work coming under the jurisdiction of the provincial secretary.

DR. GRENFELL WILL MEET COLLEGIATE STUDENTS

Distinguished Canadian Accepts Advertiser's Invitation To Address Morning Meeting.

LIFE OF SERVICE

Dr. Grenfell Has a Fascinating Story of Realism and Action.

Dr. Wilfrid T. Grenfell, distinguished head of the Grenfell Mission in Labrador, comes to London tomorrow.

At the invitation of The Advertiser, Dr. Grenfell has agreed to address a joint meeting of Central Collegiate, East London Collegiate, and Technical High School students in the Central Collegiate auditorium at 11:15 o'clock. Dr. Grenfell has already accepted a heavy program for his visit to London with afternoon and evening meetings, and educational authorities joined with The Advertiser this morning in expressing gratitude for his willingness to undertake the morning address.

Dr. Grenfell ranks high among Canada's distinguished men. His life in Labrador has been one of extraordinary interest and remarkable achievement, and the story which he has to tell is gripping in its action and realism.

There is inspiration in any service such as that to which Dr. Grenfell has devoted his abilities, and there is added significance in his message at the present time, because of Labrador's new economic possibilities as a goldfield. Dr. Grenfell knows Labrador as no other man can know it, and his information will be of material as well as spiritual value to the advertiser, is glad that the Collegiate students are to have opportunity of listening to this great Canadian.

VICTIM OF ACCIDENT IMPROVING STEADILY

Harvey Ireland Had Four Fingers Amputated—Working On "U" Building.

Harvey Ireland, employee of the Putterborough Construction Company, who lost four fingers of his right hand several weeks ago while working on a cement machine at the new university building, and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where part of his hand was amputated, was reported this morning by hospital authorities to be showing steady improvement.

Although his hand is now almost completely healed, it is expected he will be in the hospital for some time before he regains his strength.

WELL-KNOWN ENGINEER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Wilfrid Blake, well-known C. P.
R. engineer, died at 9 o'clock last night at his home, 884 Elias street, after an illness of more than five months. He was in his 57th year.

Mr. Blake is survived by his wife and father, Dr. Weiler of Welland.
The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from his late residence to Woodland Cemetery.
Rev. Mr. McIntosh will conduct the services.

JAMES H. BRYAN DIES SUDDENLY IN CITY

Was Former Cavalryman and Prominent Member of the First Presbyterian.

James H. Bryan, son of the late Theodore Bryan, founder of the London brush factory, died suddenly this morning at the home of his mother, 44 Marley Place. Mr. Bryan was employed at the office of the Mc-Cormick Company, and was formerly employed in the Bank of Nova Scotia.
He went overseas with a mounted force under Col. L. Leonard, and was a prominent member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Besides his mother, Mr. Bryan is survived by one brother, T. A. Bryan, and one sister, Mabel, both of this city.

The funeral will be held from his mother's residence on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Beal-tie will conduct the services. Interment is to be made at Woodland Cemetery.

PRESE AT OPENING.
Hon. Lincoln Goldie, provincial secretary, who is coming to the city on Thursday to preside at the official opening of the Thomas Alway Home for Children.

DR. WILFRID T. GRENFELL, who is London's distinguished visitor tomorrow. Dr. Grenfell will address Collegiate and Technical School students at 11:15 in the morning at The Advertiser's invitation.

TRIM TREES AS WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED

Public Utilities Manager Suggests Winter Undertaking to Employ 100 Men.

BEAUTIFY CITY

General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission has forwarded to Mayor Wenige and the city council a suggestion which, if acted upon, should help to relieve the unemployment situation in the city this winter. The letter is as follows:

"We believe there has been some discussion as to the most suitable municipal relief work which could be undertaken during the winter. We would, therefore, like to call your attention to the fact that London has about 80 miles of boulevards on which there are many fine trees badly in need of trimming. The limited appropriation for park purposes has made it impossible to spend more than $2,000 or $3,000 a year for tree trimming.

"If the trees are to have the fine appearance that they should, they ought to be thoroughly trimmed. This work can be more advantageously carried on in winter than in any other time. Unskilled labor could be employed for the purpose, and practically every cent of the money spent goes into labor as no materials are required except a few ladders and tools.
Tree trimming is therefore the most desirable relief work that could be inaugurated. Taking a wage of $65 a month per man, $20,000 would provide three months' work for 100 men, and as much trimming could be accomplished as has been done in the past seven or eight years.

"In addition to the improved appearance of the streets, such trimming would add greatly to the effectiveness of the street lighting in the summer time when sudden drops of the lamps are obscured almost entirely by the foliage.

"In conclusion, let me say that the work could be started as soon as other outdoor work closed."

POWER TO GET MORE TAXES IN ANNEXED AREA DENIED

City Clerk Admits in McCormick Appeal Case He Assured
People 15-Mill Rate.

IS TEST CASE

Mr. Justice Kelly, at First Session, Decides to Head the Evidence in Assessment Dispute.

The power of the City of London to collect more than fifteen mills on the dollar as taxes from any resident or factory in the annexed area in the East End formed the discussion presented before Justice Kelly during the whole of this morning's session of the non-jury sessions of the supreme court of Ontario.

The case, which is in the nature of a test case, consists of the appeal by the McCormick Manufacturing company against the assessment this year by the city of a business tax on their east end factory, which has been assessed at $192,000, with a tax collection of $5,600.

J. C. Elliott, K.C., and R. Ivey appeared for the plaintiffs, and T. G.
Meredith, city solicitor, for the city.
Witnesses were still being called by Mr. Elliott when the court was adjourned at 1 o'clock.

In opening his statement, Mr. Elliott questioned the authority of the court to hear this appeal, on the ground that only the Ontario Railway Board, which had arranged the original agreement whereby the annexed area, was competent to deal with any matter involving a difference of opinion between the city and the residents of the area.

Mr. Meredith, however, held that the question raised by this particular case was merely a matter of interpretation of the order of the railroad Turn to Page 2, Column 5.

MINERS' LEADER DECLARES PARTY WILL STAND ALONE

Stephen Walsh Claims Mine Workers Strong For Nationalization.

MACDONALD'S STAND

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Nov. 20.—"There is not one chance in ten million of a Liberal-Labor pact," declares Stephen Walsh, miners' agent and Labor representative of the Lancashire division of Lancashire, who is again the Labor candidate in that constituency. The Lancashire miners, who always take a line of the "no pact" in the House of Commons, are standing strong for the nationalization of the mines.

Frank Hodges, secretary of the Miners' Federation, has been nominated for the Leicestershire division of Staffordshire, which includes a large coal field.

Ramsay MacDonald, the Labor opposition leader, left London today for the Aberavon division of Glamorgan, his own parliamentary seat in Wales, and is conducting a whirlwind speech-making campaign on the way.

WESTMINSTER EMPLOYEE CLEARED OF 'DOPE' CHARGE

FOUND MINCHALL INNOCENT THOUGH ACTING UNWISELY

Westminster Hospital Attendant Cleared of Charge of Distributing "Drugs."

GOT DOPE AS FAVOR

"Doing favors" for A. R. Murray, a patient at Westminster Hospital gave Harry Minchall, an attendant at the hospital two anxious hours in police court today. Minchall was charged with distributing drugs, and had been found guilty would have faced a long prison term as well as a fine, as recent amendments to the criminal code make this offense particularly serious.

Magistrate Graydon held, however, that the evidence went to show that Minchall had merely been a messenger and had carried the tablets from Saunders' wholesale drug establishment to Murray, and had not distributed heroin to other patients. The orders given Minchall proved to be forgeries.

Minchall, who sat nervously throughout the hearing, was visibly relieved when the magistrate announced his decision, and was soon in the arms of his wife and mother, who were in court.

Dr. McGhie, medical superintendent of Westminster Hospital, said Murray had been removed to Westminster from Eyrton because he was addicted to drugs, although a tubercular. On Oct. 26 he was found to be under the influence of narcotics. Murray was not a mental patient, witness said.

Nursing Sister Jane Fraser told of finding tablets in a tobacco bag in Murray's locker, while Nursing Sister Harriet Chilton told of Murray's condition after taking tablets. It was her opinion that he had been taking dope.

Murray's Story.

Murray was the next witness called. He told of serving overseas and being in hospital at Shorncliffe, Eyrton Sanatorium and Westminster. "I approached Minchall one night and told him a hard-luck story about my health. 'I had an order in my hand for tablets, and what I was getting was harmless, and I told him no, but said there were chemicals that made them harmless. He got about eight orders from me and they were not bona fide. I got about 500 tablets the first time."

"Minchall asked me one time if the tablets were doing me good, and I said yes. He was just doing me a good turn and got no remuneration for it. I signed the name of Dr. F. W. Hughes to the orders, and he gave me seven in number, to give the people at Saunders the idea that Dr. Hughes was giving me the tablets. I put the last tablets in a bag in my locker."

Questioned by counsel for defense, Murray admitted telling Minchall to go to Mr. Woolley at Saunders for the parcels, as he knew Mr. Woolley. Thought Orders Genuine.

Thomas Woolley Jun. said he was a druggist at Saunders off and on for 30 years. He knew Minchall and gave him for about 18 months, and had filled prescriptions for Murray on the orders alleged to have been signed by Dr. Hughes. He thought some of the orders were genuine. Some called for 500 tablets and some for 1,000. The orders were always in envelopes.

Asked why he didn't call up the doctor to verify the order, Mr. Woolley stated it was not customary to doubt the orders of any doctor. The average dose of heroin was one-twelfth of a grain.

"I had no conversation with Minchall except to ask him how Murray was getting on," said Mr. Woolley. "I have known Murray since he was a little boy. The charge for 500 tablets was $2."

Dr. F. W. Hughes testified he had never issued any order to Murray at any time.

According to the orders produced in court, some 5,600 tablets were given Minchall to take to Murray at different times.

Dr. D. H. Nichol, Westminster, stated Murray was responsible for all his actions.

Minchall, in the witness box, stated he thought he was merely doing Murray a favor when the latter asked him to take a note to Mr. Woolley. He objected at first, because he knew he was breaking hospital rules.

Had No Suspicion.

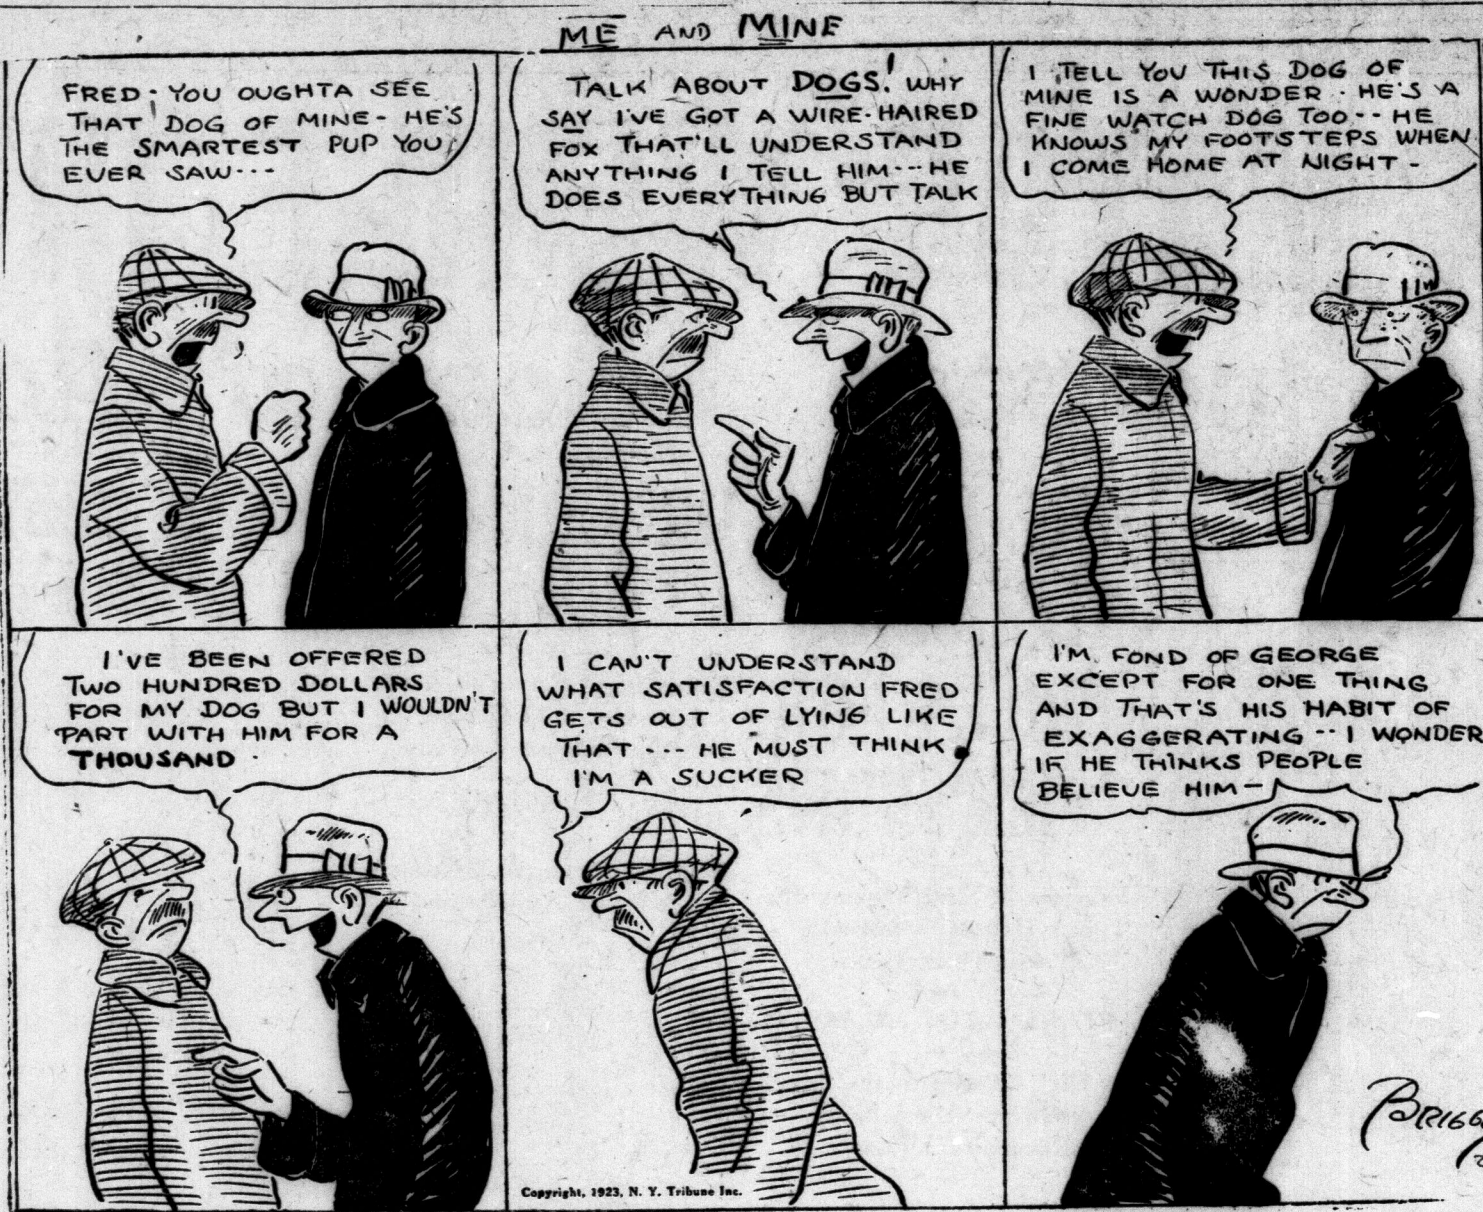

Minchall declared he didn't know what the parcels contained and didn't have any conversation with Mr. Woolley about them.

"I didn't know they were drugs," witness declared. "I didn't have the slightest suspicion what the orders were about. I was just doing Murray a little favor, as I was sorry for him. He told me he was getting enough tablets."

"If you told Dr. McGhie what you were doing you would have been cleared, wouldn't you?" asked Mr. Gilchrist, who appeared for the defense.

"No, I would have been fired," promptly responded witness.

"I think this case was acted very wrongly," said Mr. Graydon. "I don't think this case comes under that section of the act, as apparently all the tablets went to Murray. There is no evidence that he was distributing them to other patients. I have followed the evidence closely, and although the man's conduct was not what it should be, I don't think I should convict him on the charge."

ST. THOMAS BOARD UNABLE TO SETTLE WITH TEACHERS

St. Thomas Trustees Find Themselves Facing perplexing Situation.

MAY GIVE NOTE

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Nov. 20.—At the regular meeting of the board of education held last night in the city hall they found themselves without sufficient funds to pay the teachers' salaries for the concluding month. At the request of the council early in the year the board had lowered their budget from $180,000 to $147,000 on condition that $20,000 would be issued in debentures by the city treasurer to cover the expense of necessary improvements to several schools.

The acting chairman read a communication from Mr. F. M. Peim, treasurer, asking for an itemized statement of all money spent for improvements and furniture during the year. These accounts are the ones on which the board is to act.

Board May Give Note.

Trustee Baines directed a reply to the city council, ignoring their letter and requesting that all surplus money collected during the last five years for school purposes in the city's tax be credited to the account of the board of education. In the event of this surplus not meeting the demands of the board, the chairman and secretary were authorized to issue a promissory note on the bank for the rest.

A delegation, comprising Major W. F. L. Edwards and Col. W. J. Green from the Kiwanis Club, and Perry Dobson and R. Kidner from the Chamber of Commerce, waited on the board, asking them to take active steps to provide adequate fire escapes and ventilators for the city schools. Major Edwards, as spokesman, made an eloquent appeal to the members of the board, stating, "Gentlemen, if a fire was to destroy one of the schools tomorrow, I wouldn't be in your position for all the world."

Lacks Accommodation.

It was pointed out by Trustee Baines that the only solution for ventilation difficulties in the collection was an entire new school. "It is preposterous to think that 300 pupils can do justice to their work in a school intended for 450. The pupils are dull and listless, and with the support of these two live organizations there is no doubt but what some solution could be reached next year." Acting Chairman Harvey thanked the delegation for the interest they had taken in the matter, and pointed out to them the depleted condition of their exchequer which prohibited them from remedying the matter at once.

TWO MORE BOYS ENTER IN RACE FOR PARLIAMENT

Ben Faulkes and Robert S. Ferguson Announce Their Platforms.

ARE WELL KNOWN

Candidates are almost plentiful in the elections for the Boys' Parliament as for the civic honors. Here are two more platforms just issued by Ben Faulkes and Robert S. Ferguson, two later candidates.

Ben Faulkes was a member of one of the C. S. E. T. groups organized in London Y. M. C. A. and from there took up the program at Talbot street with A. E. Miller as leader. Taking up the Tuxis program under Mr. Huddell, Ben was twice preter.

When Wellington street Live Wires started Tuxis work, they gave him the reins of leadership and in one year they put over the program and came second in the city. Ben was also president of the Young People's Council, a body governing all the young people's activities in the church.

His platform was:

1. That the use of the initials C. S. E. T. be used only by fully qualified and registered groups.
2. That more stress be placed on vocational guidance as part of the C. S. E. T. program.
3. That financial support be given to the non-supported groups of the city.
4. That more attention be paid to the religious side of the program.
5. That interest be stimulated in the winning of the badges.
6. That more competitions be arranged to promote keener rivalry.
7. That a code of ideals be established to promote clean sports.

Robert S. Ferguson's Platform:

1. That every C.S.E.T. group emphasize more the devotional side of the program and take a more active part in the work of the church.
2. That the use of the initials C.S.E.T. be restricted to groups that have not only registered, but also are prepared to carry on the four-fold course of training.
3. That some kind of a simple, but standard uniform be adopted for Trail Rangers.
4. That through the elimination of some of the present red tape, the winning of red, blue and white honors may become a pleasure to the mentor as well as the C. S. E. T. boy.
5. That the athletic standards for national competition be reorganized.
6. That circulars be prepared and sent to communities where city councils have not yet been formed, telling them the great advantage of the city council system and suggesting ways of carrying different projects across.

TAKES OWN LIFE BY USING DYNAMITE CARTRIDGE

Canadian Press Despatch.

Fredericton, N.B., Nov. 20.—Suicide by means of a dynamite cartridge was the fate of a man named Urie Morehouse, an aged man who lived the life of a recluse near Zealand Station on the branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway. He passed away after suffering terribly for 36 hours. Those who discovered him at his home on Sunday found him with the left side of his head partly blown away and the thumb and forefinger of his left hand in the same condition. The old man had attached a lengthy fuse to a dynamite cap and had ignited it. He then held the cap in his left ear.

Finds Families Getting Smaller

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Canadian families are growing smaller, according to a report dealing with dwellings and families in the Dominion, exclusive of the Yukon and northwest territories, which has been compiled by the Dominion bureau of statistics and is based upon the sixth decennial census completed in 1921.

In 1881 the average size of a family was 5.33 persons, as against 4.62 in 1921.

DECLARES BRITAIN OWES PREFERENCE TRADE TO CANADA

Sir Robert Horne Doesn't Believe Lloyd George Will Recant Promises.

REJECTED U. S. PLAN

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Nov. 20.—Sir Robert S. Horne, former chancellor of the exchequer, speaking at Glasgow last night when accepting the Unionist nomination, referred to criticism of Lloyd George because he did not favor preference being granted to Canada.

"H. H. Asquith and Sir John Simon have been busy denouncing my preference being granted to our dominions. Is Lloyd George now going to recant everything which in the grave months of the war he solemnly agreed to with the dominion ministers? I do not for a moment believe it. He has just returned from Canada and must know of the immense pressure being applied to Canada by her great neighbor in their commercial relations."

"That was the spirit in Canada then, but how long do you expect her to continue this attitude if you flout all the proposals for closer business relations and leave her to find such benefits as she may in other directions?"

M'CORMICK APPEAL BEING HEARD TODAY

way board, and that the supreme court was the right place in which to hear his appeal. Mr. Justice Kelly, after listening to numerous citations of similar cases, preferred to reach a decision later on this question of procedure. In the meantime, he said he was willing to hear the evidence.

City Clerk Baker was the first witness called by Mr. Elliott. He was on the stand for two hours, and admitted in the course of his evidence that by the terms of the original agreement of 1912 whereby the areas in Ealing and Pottersburg were annexed by the city, the fixed taxation for a period of 15 years was to be 15 mills on the dollar, which was to be inclusive of all taxes. This year the city council levied a business tax on the factories in that area in accordance with the high education rates in London, and in order to recover a matter of $20,000, which is now being paid by other ratepayers within the city.

If they win the present case, they will be able to collect some $15,000 from all the factories in the annexed area. The amount that the McCormick Company is charged as a business tax is $5,500, he said.

Examining City Clerk Baker, Mr. Elliott elicited the fact that in 1911, the year before the annexation agreement came into being, the assessment on the McCormick property, which was a matter of seventy acres, was made to Sir John Carling at $10,700.

He also forced the admission from the city clerk that, at the instance of the chairman of the annexation committee at that time, he had solicited the names of several people then living in the Pottersburg area to be assessed for the high education rates in London, and in order to recover a matter of $20,000, which is now being paid by other ratepayers within the city.

Mr. Baker declared in his evidence that the rate established by the city for the annexed area at the time of the agreement was determined by making 14 mills for general purposes and eight mills for school purposes. They then deducted seven mills for the debenture debt and settled on 15 mills left as the annexed rate.

The agreement between the city and the McCormick Company at the time of the sale of the McCormick property in the city on Dundas and Wellington streets, to the city, was then read by the witness at the request of Mr. Elliott.

In this agreement, as read today, the McCormick Company agreed to pay the city $125,000 cash if the annexation agreement was passed as it stood, and as now force; that if the annexation agreement was not adopted as it was then drawn up and is now in force, and finally that they shall then pay to the city only on the distinct understanding that the city would build a city hall on it.

Miss Mary Grant, clerk of London Township, the next witness, verified what the last witness had said as to the assessment of the McCormick property in 1911 to the year previous to annexation. At that time she said the county rate in Middlesex was 12.5 mills on the dollar, minus the debenture rate. The general rate in the Pottersburg and Ealing area in 1912 was 18.4 mills on the dollar.

URGES ONTARIO TORIERS TO SHOVE ON TO OTTAWA

Delegates From All Parts of Province Gather in Toronto.

WILL LAY PLANS

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Still preserving the feeling of elation which followed the victory over the U. F. O. government, Conservatives from all parts of Ontario came in large numbers to the third annual meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Ontario, which opened here today.

J. R. MacNicol, recording secretary, of Toronto, and assistants were on hand early enrolling the delegates and answering inquiries for information.

"During the past three years our slogan has been 'On to Queen's Park,'" Mr. MacNicol said in his message to the members, "and we have pardonable pride that the efforts of this association to further organize and co-ordinate our forces played a part along with local and unselfish service by all Liberal-Conservatives in the victory. Ontario being redeemed, our slogan should now be 'On to Ottawa.'"

Vigorous effort now will receive momentum of public opinion that on election day will sweep out of power the unstable responsibility-shirking government at Ottawa and elect in its place a strong Liberal-Conservative administration pledged to maintain the traditional principles of our party.

The speech of Joseph E. Thompson, M. L. A. president, was full of the same spirit. He congratulated the members on the manner in which they rallied to the Conservative standard last June, and spoke in optimistic terms of the future. Mr. Thompson, who is to be appointed speaker of the legislature, announced his retirement from the presidency.

CITY DETECTIVES FAIL TO RECOVER MORE BOTTY

Local detectives stated this afternoon that there were no new developments from a local standpoint in the robbery of a general store, at Sparta last Friday night, in which the thieves used the stolen car of Sep Harris to make their departure.

The car was found early next morning at Hamilton road and Price street with some stolen jewelry from the Sparta store in the tonneau. Sunday afternoon detectives found more loot in a field just outside the limits on the Hamilton road. The articles will be returned to the owner.

Will Banish All Gangsters

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Nov. 20.—A program for abatement of a "crime wave" that swept the city last week was formulated last night at a conference of all police inspectors and captains of the greater city presided over by Chief Inspector Lahey.

Its first plank called for an immediate round-up of all known criminals and banishment from the city of those "without honest means of support" or "good reason" for remaining here.

MINISTERS VOICE DISAPPROVAL OF OFFICER'S ARREST

Members of Ministerial Alliance Protest Crown Action in Gogo Case.

EARLY ACTION URGED

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—The Toronto Ministerial Association today expressed disapproval of the interpretation of the law which has brought four Toronto policemen before the bar for killing a man, while they were carrying a raid on alleged bootleggers.

The association adopted unanimously the following resolution:

"That as a body of Christian leaders of the Evangelical Churches of Toronto, while deploring the untimely death of a man who was suspected of violating the O.T.A., we at the same time deeply regret that an interpretation has been put on the law by which police officers engaged in the suppression of bootlegging of men who form some of the elements of the country, are deprived of the protection and assistance that they are given in dealing with ordinary criminal cases of much less serious character."

"We would strongly express the hope that the interpretation so unexpectedly placed upon the law would be tested in the courts as early as date is possible, in view of the various opinions that are strongly held by the friends of law, order and good government."

CITY WELL WATER MEANS A BARGAIN TO HOUSEHOLDERS

Public Utility Figures Show the Cost of Wells Much Below Other Systems.

MONEY IS SAVED

Slightly more than $100,000 spent on wells in the City of London has supplied the city with as much water as one million dollars spent on bringing it from either Kilworth, the river or the lake, according to figures given out by General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission, under whose direction the water supply of the city comes.

According to the statement, the Beck wells, in 1910 produced 272,000,000 gallons. Five years later this was increased to 385,000,000, while in 1922 the total was 431,000,000, although three years ago, 525,000,000 gallons were pumped. In view of this, the commission decided to rely on the artesian wells rather than the following alternatives—Kilworth and Komoka springs, river water system, pipe line to lakes Erie or Huron. The latter proposition would entail a huge expenditure.

Since the Beck wells were finished the commission has expended $101,500 on new wells, or about $40,000 per million gallons added.

According to competent engineers, the cost of adding the same amount, 2,600,000 gallons to the supply by going to Kilworth would have been a million dollars, while for getting the same amount of water from the river, filtering and pumping it into the homes, the cost would have been equally large. As it is, London is supplied with clear, cold water in an increasing quantity at but a fraction of what any of the other plans would have cost.

BRAND NEW FIRE HELMETS ARRIVE FOR CITY FIGHTERS

Twenty-four brand new helmets arrived this morning at the central fire hall for London firemen. The new helmets are made of strong leather reinforced with brass.

The old helmets, many of them badly battered and worn, will be discarded.

The new arrivals are made, so as to offer good protection to the head from falling articles.

Some of the old ones bear marks from the most thrilling fires in the city, and in many cases they have saved firemen's lives.

Why Men "Crack"

When on the Highway to Success

What Do These Things Tell You?

"SLEEPLESSNESS," Doctor Kennedy tells us, "is one of the commonest signs of nervousness. Another is physical unrest. You are showing signs of nervousness when you cannot keep from twitching your eyebrows, shrugging your shoulders, swinging one foot when your legs are crossed; or when you cannot sit at a desk or table without continually tapping with the fingers."

"The nervous man very often finds that he cannot concentrate on one task, but continually goes from one thing to another. He is also very apt to lose interest in the work and recreations that formerly gave him pleasure. And he is easily fatigued. Nervous fatigue is most commonly indicated by a constant feeling of tightness around the head."

THE worry and strain of recent years has been too much for many business and professional men who have not been able to break away from the details and anxieties associated with their occupations.

In a moment you will recall many who have broken down suddenly just when they appeared to be in their prime.

Some have had their lives snuffed out while others have lingered as invalids, lacking the energy and nerve force necessary for the pursuit of their vocations.

The warning symptoms as outlined above by Dr. Kennedy in the American Magazine for October are well worth a careful study, because with this knowledge you can then detect the indications of failing nervous energy while yet there is time to prevent serious results.

A few days away from the scene of your worries, rest and moderate exercise in the open will help to get you started on the way to better health. Your recovery will be greatly hastened by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Your digestive system has failed to supply proper nourishment to the nervous system. And when thus exhausted the nerves fail to control the digestive fluids of the stomach. On this account outside help is necessary, such as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, before you can get back your strength and vigor.

You will not be using this restorative treatment long before you will find yourself sleeping and resting better. And this is what you need above all else. The old energy and vigor will be felt throughout your system and you will be encouraged to keep up this reconstructive treatment until you feel entirely yourself again.

ELECT MRS. J. J. LARKIN
MOTHERS' UNIT HEAD

Members Present the Retiring President With Pieces of Silver.

The election of officers for the coming year took place at the meeting of St. Mary's Mothers' Unit, held in St. Mary's Hall yesterday. The officers elected are as follows: President, Mrs. J. J. Larkin; vice-president, Mrs. McCafferty; secretary, Mrs. B. McCormick; refreshment convener, Mrs. P. Ryan; program convener, Mrs. C. Kelleher; and press reporter, Mrs. William Ogilvie. A happy feature of the meeting was the presentation to the retiring president, Mrs. W. J. Hoy, of a silver sugar and cream. Mrs. C. McCafferty read a charming address and little Aileen Ogilvie made the presentation. Mrs. Hoy has held office since the organization of the unit, two years ago.

It was decided to hold a social for the mothers in the hall, Dec. 5, and plans will be made also for a Christmas social for the children.

Modern Hat Is Simple;
Fashioned For Service

Hats, Happiness and Husbands Form the Eternal Triangle in Modern Domestic Circle.

It seems to be clear that the modern tendencies in millinery are in the direction of economy. This is true in spite of the fact that it is possible to purchase an imported model for from $75 to $80. But it is also true that for $5 one can buy a felt "utility" hat, which can be worn either backwards or forwards, can be rained on, shone on, snowed on or sat on, can be left in the bottom of a golf-bag for the winter and resuscitated in the spring, and can still make a respectable appearance in public.

The modern hat is built for service. It trusts to line rather than to decoration for its effect. The hat of a dozen years back was as elaborate as a fruit salad. It was covered with flowers and feathers, and long black velvet streamers. Or it was a black contrived of wire and tulle that looked as though it had been whipped into shape with a Dover beater—as unsubstantial as an egg nog.

Change Has Taken Place.

The modern tendency towards simplicity and serviceability has made it possible for women to make their own hats, or, at any rate, to trim them. Most women have sufficient art to sew on a ribbon band or tuck on a pheasant feather. With such a hat, contrived in the last five minutes of the morning, the average woman is equipped to meet 90 per cent of her social engagements. For the rest, she usually has to trust to her milliner.

It is worthy of note, however, that a change has come over the art of millinery itself. Dress hats—even imported dress hats—have body as well as charm. They are a combination of romance and reality. They are firmly built of buckram and wire and velvet or hat-makers' plush. What has become of those evanescent models in tulle and malines, faint astral halos built for an afternoon's romance? Some of them are in forgotten band-boxes in the corners of attics. Occasionally one makes its appearance at a hard times party.

The Eternal Triangle.

Hats today are built for the second season. At the fall millinery displays the writer observed any number of hats which had appeared in the spring, and which still looked like the latest issue from the exclusive shops. Senator Rebecca Felton of Georgia recently made the statement there was a closer relation between the cost of women's hats and the high rate of divorce than most people realized. Hats, happiness and husbands, she regards as the eternal triangle in the modern domestic circle. The high-priced hat, she points out, usually carries with it the necessity for the high-priced dress and shoes. The truth is that the hat is becoming, relatively the most reasonable of all feminine accessories. The traditional husband holding a milliner's bill in his shaking hand and threatening divorce doesn't represent a type at all. It is simply a mythical institution endowed in perpetuity by the comic section.

WOMEN TEACHERS' GUILD.

Miss Grace Blackburn (Fan Fan) has promised to address the Women Teachers' Guild at the meeting on Monday afternoon next at the Alexandra school. Plans for the meeting were made at a gathering of the executive held yesterday afternoon.

Stubborn Coughs.

Stop Quick With Home-Made Cough Mixture.

Not until you make your own cough mixture—a half pint of it for a small sum—will you know how easy it is to stop any bad, persistent cough as it by magic.

It's pleasant-tasting, but that don't stop it from knocking out a cough quicker than anything else in the world. Children love it.

Get from any druggist one ounce of Parment (double strength). To this add a little granulated sugar and enough water to make one-half pint—that's all there is to it.

This loosens the phlegm, stops the irritation, allays the inflammation, cleans out clogged nostrils, makes breathing easier, and causes sore throats and hoarseness to disappear. With speed almost beyond belief, this home-made cough mixture stops the toughest hang-on cough, and all because in it there is a substance (too costly for ordinary cough syrups) that immediately covers the membrane like a soothing, healing poultice, and blessed relief comes at once.

And it is always worth while to bear in mind that any remedy that overcomes catarrh, partially or wholly, is bound to be of benefit to those who are troubled with head noises and catarrhs of the throat.

Get Parment and get better.—Adv.

HAIRDRESSING
A Matter of Choice

Soft, fluffy, bobbed hair has a daintiness and charm distinctly its own, but when the natural beauty of abundant luxuriant hair is fully developed, when a soft, lustrous light reflects from each wave and roll, it is hard to say which is the more attractive. But whether you wear your hair bobbed or rolled, or in some other way, there is nothing which will give it so fine a quality of beauty and softness as the thoughtful use of Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide will bring out hidden strength and beauty which you never dreamed to exist, and will give it that lustrous and quality which compels admiration.

Nanny and Danny Investigate the Great Man Bird

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

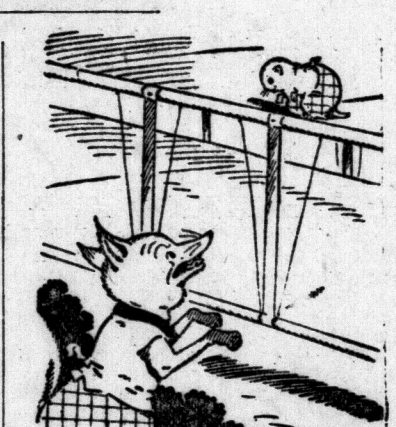

Nanny Meadow Mouse actually was in the great man-bird or aeroplane. She had had to climb into it to escape Reddy Fox. Danny Meadow Mouse chuckled to himself. He never had been able to induce Nanny to climb up in there. He knew that once having been in there and found it harmless, Nanny would come again.

Danny climbed up where he could look down at Reddy Fox. He felt sure that Reddy would not jump up in that machine. Even if he did, there were plenty of places for Meadow Mice to get where Reddy couldn't catch them. Reddy looked up at him and snarled. Danny had been right in his guess; Reddy had no intention of trusting himself to that man-bird.

"You think you are smart, don't you, Danny Meadow Mouse?" snarled Reddy. "But one of these days I'll get you! Mark my word, one of these days I'll get you!" After this Reddy paid no more attention to Danny Meadow Mouse. He walked all around the big man-bird until his curiosity was satisfied. Then he trotted away in search of a dinner.

By this time Nanny had gotten over her first fright. She followed Danny all around inside that man-bird, for she was quite as curious about it as Danny had been the first time he had climbed into it. Danny showed her the tiny cupboard in which he had hidden the day he was carried away by the man-bird.

"What a lovely home this would make," sighed Nanny. "Perhaps this man-bird will never fly any more. If it doesn't we can make our home here."

"You think you are smart, don't you, Danny Meadow Mouse?" snarled Reddy.

Nanny and Danny spent most of the night in that man-bird. Nanny forgot that she had ever been afraid. She kept running in and out of that tiny cupboard, and in her heart the hope that that man-bird would always remain there on the Green Meadows kept right on growing.

When they were back in their own home in the old scarecrow in the corn field Nanny kept talking about that tiny cupboard in the man-bird. She couldn't seem to think of anything else.

"That would make the snuggest, driest, warmest home we ever have had, excepting that time when we lived in Farmer Brown's barn," said Nanny. "No one would ever think of looking for us in there. And it wouldn't do them any good if they did. Perhaps something has happened to that man-bird. Perhaps it can't fly any more. I hope it can't. If it can't we'll move over there. Oh, I do hope it can't fly!"

Danny said nothing, but he chuckled to himself. He was too wise to suggest that they move over there at once. He was satisfied to wait. Perhaps the thing Nanny hoped might be true. Perhaps that man-bird was to be left there. Danny would have liked nothing better than to make his home in it.

For freedom of action

Oh! yes, a sport sweater must have spring elasticity. It must give to every movement of the muscles easily and gracefully. But it must also be shape-retaining.

It must be smart and clearly in the very latest style. The wearer must be conscious of its complete correctness.

In all these requirements, Monarch-Knit Sweaters show a clear margin of leadership. Every stitch is right for ease, style and wear.

The prices, too, will appeal to you. Especially when you measure their cost with their superb quality.

Sold by reliable dealers almost everywhere in Canada.

Many women still do this for their own convenience or to lessen the labor for the washer woman. We accomplish the same results in a few minutes in our slowly revolving cylinders. In addition to this process your fabrics are given eight to ten changes of clean, sparkling hot and cold waters. We use only washing materials and processes worked out by chemists in the employ of the Laundry Owners' National Association. We have many laundry plans at different prices. Call 558 and have a sales call for your washing—a trial will convince.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Marrying on Fifteen Hundred a Year—The Girl Whose Fiance Has Few Tastes in Common With Hers.

On Kissing Escorts Good-Night.

Dear Miss Dix—Here are two little problems for your morning exercise: (1) I am a young man twenty-six years of age, doing clerical work, with the usual salary for such work (approximately $1,500 per annum). I believe I have found THE GIRL, but hesitate to pop the question because of the small income. What are our chances for happiness on this income? Please discuss at some length the relation, if any, between money and love.

(2) What are the signs of love in a woman; i.e., how does a woman show the man she loves that she does love him? (Please don't laugh; I'm serious.) As intimated in Problem No. 1, I care for a young lady, but would like to know if there are any infallible signs by which a fellow may know whether his girl really cares or is just "kidding him along."

Answer: Whether $1,500 a year is enough to marry on depends, first, upon the kind of a girl you marry, and, secondly, upon whether you place love above luck and luxury.

If the girl is practical, and domestic, and thrifty if she is willing to do her own housework and make her own frocks, then I should think that you could get along comfortably on that amount. But if she is extravagant and fond of pleasure, if she hates housework and yearns for jazz palaces and theatres and fine clothes, then you will find that a $1,500 income will not pay the piper.

When you marry on a shoestring income you must make up your mind to make many sacrifices, because you will find that there is no greater fallacy than the old lie that two can live as cheaply as one. It takes at least three times as much for a man and his wife to live on as it does for a bachelor. So you will have to cut out the classy suits, and the fine neckties and the little poker games, and many another little indulgence you are used to. So will your wife. And under such circumstances it takes a lot of love to make up for the lost pleasures and diversions.

But if you and the girl are of the right stuff you will find that it pays; and you won't stay at the $1,500 salary always. Nothing guts pep and ambition into a man so much as having a family dependent upon him and somebody to work for.

Half the rich men in the community didn't have $1,500 a year when they got married. No, nor the half of it. And if you will ask them now they will tell you that the best days of their lives were when they and their wives lived in a little, cheap cottage and took a street car ride for a treat, and worked, and hoped, and planned together.

So go to it, son. The girl who won't marry you on a $1,500 salary is a poor sport.

As for your second question, the best way to find out whether a girl is in love with you for keeps or is just "kidding you along" is to ask her.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have been engaged to a very fine young man for the last two years, but he cannot make up his mind whether he wants to marry or not. He says that he loves me and that there are reasons why he wants to get married, other reasons why he doesn't. So we keep going on that way, and I think that it is time that he came to a decision on the subject.

We have very different tastes. I love to go to church; he doesn't. I like to read; he doesn't. I want him to read my column; he won't do it. He likes his food fried; I don't. I like mine boiled. I am ready to settle down and be happy, but he seems to be afraid of married life. Do you think if I marry him that I will be happy?

BESSIE.

Answer:

I think that your fiance is a little too sure of you, and that as he knows he can marry you any time he wants to, he is in no hurry to set the wedding day. Your plan would be to make him miss you. Can't you go off on a visit somewhere and let him find out how lonesome he is without you and how necessary you are to his happiness? Or perhaps you could turn your smiles on some other boy in the neighborhood and let him see that he has a rival.

As to his saying he wants to marry and yet doesn't want to marry, he is not alarmed. Most men get cold feet when they get in the shadow of the altar. No matter how much they love a girl, there are bound to be times when they get shivers thinking about the responsibility of shouldering a family, and when they wonder if they are not fools to give up their freedom for the sake of a home.

It is a serious matter, however, for a couple to marry who have diametrically opposite tastes, and there is not much harmony in a household where the wife always wants to do one thing and the husband another. Congeniality is the strongest bond between people.

Also, it is well to remember that in the adjusting of a married couple to each other it is nearly always the wife who has to give in. So I would think a long time before I married a man who didn't have the same taste in politics and pie that I had. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—My girl friend and myself are very much perplexed and we would like your advice. We have been told that to allow a young man to kiss you good-night makes him lose his respect for you. But we think not to allow a friendly good-night kiss is so prudish, yet we don't want to lose our friends' good opinion of us. What do you say?

RUTH AND NAOMI.

Answer:

My flapper friends assure me that a kiss means no more nowadays than a handshake used to mean, but it seems to me that a nice girl would be disgusted at the very thought of kissing any Tom, Dick or Harry good-night because he brought her home from the movies. I should think that she would like to feel that she had kept her lips pure and innocent and virgin, waiting for the one man to whom she could give her first kiss with her very soul in it, not shopworn goods.

Men value kisses in proportion to their rarity. That is why they are always eager for kisses that are hard to get and care nothing for those that are always on tap. The more a girl makes a man keep his distance the more he respects her. Just paste that on your mirror, girls.

If Pimples Mar Complexion
Drive Them Off With Stuart's Calcium Waters—Their Action in the Skin Is Wonderful.

Many girls with a pimpled skin do not realize that face creams and such things are merely to protect, not to remove the skin. What you must do is to supply the skin with its much needed calcium and this you do with Stuart's Calcium Waters. They go directly into the blood and to the skin to clear away those embarrassing pimples, blackheads and other skin blemishes. It is not a round-about way. You get results every minute. You are sure of it in a few hours. They clear the blood, they drive from the system the impurities that cause pimples. The calcium goes to the skin, it stimulates the tiny nerves, pores, and blood vessels to renewed activity, and before you realize it the skin is peachy, firm, clear and the picture of a sweet, healthy complexion. Get a 50-cent box today of Stuart's Calcium Waters in any drug store and you will have a real beauty matter to clear your skin of pimples, redness, roughness and such destroyers of beauty. A free sample package will be sent to you by mail if you will send your name and address to F. A. Stuart Co., 633 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.—Advt.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1923.

Welcome Home.

Mr. John Daffoe, editor of the Manitoba Free Press, a paper that has not been very friendly to the King government, has returned from the imperial conference at London.

Mr. Daffoe believes that Canada was well served at the conference by Premier King. He made a very favorable impression at public gatherings and at sessions of the conference.

Canadians will welcome Rt. Hon. M. King. He has played fair with them while in Britain, and has been instrumental in creating a feeling of friendliness and co-operation among the various parts of the empire—a greater asset than the drawing up and signing of certain clauses and phrases that might or might not be ratified by the peoples concerned.

The spirit of the British Empire is, after all, the secret of its strength.

The Hospital Trust.

James Gray, president of the Chamber of Commerce, is returned by acclamation to the Hospital Trust. This signifies one or perhaps two things: (1) That James Gray has done the work so well that citizens want him to continue, or (2) that no person felt capable of getting out and giving him a trouncing.

It takes time, patience and a willingness to serve in a corner where there is not much front-page publicity to run a hospital, and the Hospital Trust, Messrs. James Gray (chairman), Col. W. M. Gartshore, Mayor Wenige and the county representative, J. W. Laidlaw, have given good service.

It is believed there will be a better financial showing from the hospital. This year's estimates provided $19,395 for the deficit of 1921-22. The city does not want a surplus from its Hospital Trust, neither does it want a deficit. There is need for better equipment at Victoria, and there always will be. If the hospital is put on such a good basis that its finances are in better shape, the benefit should revert to the hospital for putting it in shape to do better work for the community.

How Four Went.

At least four people are not here today who were present yesterday.

1. Went around the corner on a wet pavement at 25 miles an hour.
2. Looked into the muzzle of a gun to see if there was anything wrong.
3. Put some gasoline on the kitchen stove to make it burn quickly.
4. Believed what he heard about hair tonic being a good substitute for whiskey.

France and Britain.

Premier Poincare of France has once more reasserted his position in regard to German reparations, viz., that France will not budge to the extent of one dollar.

France is willing to confer with the nations as to the matter of reparations, but only on the basis that France will not change her mind or alter her claims.

That is as far from the British position as the east is from the west. Britain by word and action has shown that she wants Europe to go to work. She is willing to match British work and British wits with the rest of Europe, and has no desire to see any crumble in the line-up of competitors.

An Old Slogan.

The Manchester Guardian, even before the British election was announced, was out with a charge against the Baldwin government of tampering with the food of the people. The developments since then have demonstrated that the Guardian handed to the Liberals of Britain the election slogan that they are now using. It is simply reverting to an old thought, and dusting off a weapon that has served to chase a number of powerful men from office in Britain.

The arguments used are like a two-edged sword. The placing of a preference on empire goods in the British market is pictured as likely to create friction between the dominions supplying the food in case there is an increased price to the British consumer. In that case the charge would at once be made that the dominions were using the preference to exploit the British market.

On the other side the Liberals claim that protection, as advocated by Baldwin, will not help unemployment. There are so many out of work in Britain that there is a big class waiting to listen to the argument. The Liberals hold British unemployment to be due to European chaos, and that the rebuilding of Europe is the only thing that will bring any measure of prosperity to Britain. They hold that this task has been recognized, and that a tendency to force an artificial prosperity by protection is an admission of weakness on the part of the government, and also of its inability to grapple with the affairs of Europe.

From the Liberal standpoint in Britain the campaign has got down to rock-bottom financial conditions. Tampering with the food of the people is a dangerous club to swing over any political head in Britain.

The Year in Council.

Mayor Wenige in his campaign for 1923 drew up a platform which was generously distributed, and in which he set out the various things he hoped to do in 1923. The year has shown that a mayor can promise or advocate, but it remains for the aldermen to do the deciding. Any measure has to be voted on in council, and when the yeas and nays are called the mayor has one vote, and it bulks no larger in the adding of totals than the vote of any alderman.

So it is easy to see that a mayor can go no farther than he can take the majority of the council with him. At times this is a disadvantage, at other times an advantage. Any scheme that a mayor proposes has to be sold to a majority of 12 aldermen, coming from all sections of the city, and sent there by the people's votes. It is one of the safeguards that our system of government provides, and while at times one may think it works the wrong way, still it is as near as we can come with our present machinery to get an expression of the will of the people on any given subject.

Unlike President Wilson and his 14 points at the peace conference, Mayor Wenige had 18 points. The first was a commission form of government, and it is his intention to bring it up again in 1924. The final showdown for this plank came when the mayor found that he had only two aldermen voting with him to send it to a vote of the ratepayers. In justice to the majority, on this vote it must be admitted that there was not a very concrete case placed before them; there was nothing to show what offices would come under a civic manager, and what would not. If the question comes up again it should be fortified by fact and from the positive experience of other centers—preferably Canadian.

Civic work, having the engineer tender with others. The engineering department is well managed. The 1923 council did a good day's work when it secured Mr. Near to take over that department. He is particular, capable and courteous, and in the short time he has been in London has secured a grasp of the local situation that is surprising.

"No reduction in wages," as pertaining to the outside service. This clause was no doubt inserted to open the way to consider the case of the garbage workers, who were the only class to be cut 10 per cent in 1922. The restoration of this 10 per cent by the 1923 council was a matter of simple justice.

City hall salaries were also mentioned in the mayor's appeal. He advocated a reduction of some of them, but he did not mention which salaries he would reduce, nor has he mentioned any specific ones. The salaries at the city hall are not too large. They are not larger than generally paid, in fact many places in London pay more. The grading of clerks at a first, second and third year, should be attended to. It would save a lot of trouble. This has not yet been accomplished.

The street railway problem was also taken up. There can be little sympathy for the way in which this matter has been handled. The proper solution is for the people to own the road. There were only two or three votes with the mayor when the move was made to let the people vote on the matter. If the 1924 council serves notice on the road that the franchise is to cease in March of 1925, they will not have the assurance of the ratepayers that they want the road. The clearing up of the Richmond street line has been the best accomplishment of the year. The work has been done—that is the principal point. Argument can now proceed regarding the legality of allowing the company ten years to pay for its share. In some rare cases it seems to be best to do the thing first, and then argue about its legality afterward. The Richmond street paving is one of these instances.

DENNY BROOKS

A STORY OF COURAGE
By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER XXII.

The Snub.

'Now, this shows what I think of old chums who used to eat mud pies with me!' Lou tied her program by a long pink ribbon to her wrist. Her flattery was balm in Denny's veins. It was quite a swagging youth who danced with the next three partners—no longer tongue-tied, self-critical, wondering after each speech if he had said a stupid or a crude thing. No need to worry. He was all right. Lou's approval was a seal on his charm.

So he grew buoyant, exuberant, like the Denny who had played with Kate; the Denny who had sneaked to open the kitchen door for Violet. He said whatever came into his head, making the shy freshman giggle with mirth and astonishing a tall, proud girl completely out of her dais. Many another turned as his deep, infectious laughter hummed. Then he was chatting with Lou again.

"Did you know Isabel Dalton before?" she asked, nodding to the proud one. "I don't know her now."

"Don't be silly. You've just finished dancing with her. Never met her before. Don't care if I never meet her again. You're the only chum I have."

Lou flushed with satisfaction. Handsome, conceited Isabel Dalton didn't have much of a chance with her "find."

She was fixing the flowers on her shoulder, trying to restore a crumpled petal. "Are they all right now," she asked. "Crusher a little. It's a pity to wear them."

"Oh! Such indignation in her tone: 'Why I love them. Orchids are my favorite flower. I always wear them.'"

Denny was unsophisticated in the ways of girls and the cost of orchids was merely admitted. "Well, they are pretty snuffy looking," Lou afterwards the incident stuck in his mind.

Lou was a diplomat in her line: "You say you're not going to the dance tomorrow nor the one on Wednesday?"

"No. I don't care about dances as a rule."

"Oh! Lou tossed her head: "That's foolish. The first two weeks don't count so much. We're giving a party next week. Can't you change your rule for that?"

Denny was too astonished to answer. Inconsequently a picture of Jimmy Foley demanding his suit flashed with comic detail through his mind. He laughed.

"Because," Lou added: "I'd like you to come with me." The impulsive consent was given.

Denny walked home, his overcoat thrown open. What if it were two inches short in the sleeves. Lou Benda—dear little fairy wanted him to take her to a dance.

If the barn had been a mansion he would not have swung more triumphantly toward it. Why at night, with those vines and roses climbing all over the walls and that great weeping willow in front, it seemed homey, inviting. The moon sent a pale streamer of light that wavered from scarlet rambler to the white, peaked roof, touching the place with shadows and beauty. Sneers could not remove that kindness.

Denny went in quietly—stood at the door of aty's room, was just about to steal away when an airy voice called: "No you don't, Mr. Denny! What did you promise? Come in!"

He switched on the light. Katy saw the lift on his face. She rubbed her chin against her shoulder, eyes dancing.

"I knew it! I knew it!" "Oh, I'm the boy, Katy-kid!" "Did you feel funny, Denny? What over in the world did you find to talk about with all those people you didn't know?"

"Pooh! Easy, Katy—after you get started."

"But at first? Oh, tell the truth, Denny, and don't stand there grinning. I bet you were just scared!"

So he began at the beginning and gave the honest details—said Lou was a fairy with golden hair, a peach of a kid, friendly as could be—

But of Merritt and his questions he whistling: "Whew! Two dollars each!"

Lou had worn three—six dollars! It would take him three afternoons to earn enough to buy her flowers. If he went out four times with Lou he would spend the price of a new overcoat.

At first he thought the man was guying him, then he wondered if Lou had orchids growing in a hothouse. But he remembered the comments he had heard and he knew that "Pesty" and other fellows paid for the decorations.

"She'll think I'm a tight," he weighed her criticism with increasing depression, imagined Lou's eyes flashing in scorn, reproached himself as a fool for having gone to the dance and then accepting another invitation.

There stole upon his thought the image of the tin box and Sid's $560. He could take $5 easily enough. As soon as he was aware of this insidious suggestion, a sense of guilt shamed him. He saw Katy's deep blue eyes fixed on him with sorrow and disappointment, and he felt himself shabby—a bluffer.

After a few blocks of moody irritation he dismissed the irksome problem—he would certainly not buy orchids. He'd tell Lou—

He met her that afternoon—walked along like a young millionaire and never said a word about orchids or poverty.

Late Thursday he was hauling lumber to the building, whistling at the top of a rollicking breath. Down the street came three or four girls. They crossed deliberately and slowly. Denny was just coming to the curb. His heart bounded. It was Lou.

He swung off his cap, stepped toward her, halted. It was her face—her eyes that chilled him—her up-tilted head.

"Why! Mr. Brooks! How do you do?" An indignant glance—she passed.

Denny was on fire, stared after her, his breath panting. What had he done?

DRIVER CLEARED AT INQUEST INTO DEATH OF WOMAN

Jury Finds That James Cake Was in No Way To Blame.

CALL WITNESSES

The coroner's jury, which investigated the death of Mrs. James Lavery, 55 Mamelon street, who was struck by a motor truck driven by James Cake, an employee of the Imperial Oil Company, last Thursday, exonerated the driver of the truck from any responsibility for the fatality at the inquest held last night.

The accident happened last Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the Hamilton road near Peglar street. James Cake, driving an Imperial Oil Company truck, struck Mrs. Lavery, who died a few moments later on the way to a Victoria Hospital. Dr. Roy Kingswood, chief of the staff of Victoria Hospital, told the jury last night that Mrs. Lavery had suffered from a fractured skull, six fractured ribs and a punctured lung.

Entirely Accidental.
The evidence brought out at the inquest by several eyewitnesses of the accident showed that the affair was purely accidental. Jens Dissing, 343 Hale street, who was passing in another truck at the time of the accident, probably gave the most explanatory account of the fatality of the witnesses called last night.

According to Mr. Dissing, Mrs. Lavery had parked her car on the north side of Hamilton road and had got out to walk across the street that she might speak to a friend on the other side. In crossing the street, she narrowly missed being hit by a passing touring car only to walk directly in the path of the one-ton truck driven by James Cake. Instead of continuing her course across the street, she hesitated in the path of the truck, but before it was on her she apparently sank to the ground. The left front axle of the truck struck the unfortunate woman at the base of the skull.

Traveling Slowly.
All of the witnesses called last night swore that Cake was travelling at a rate of speed not exceeding 15 miles per hour. Several of the witnesses declared they heard Cake sound his horn when his car approached Mrs. Lavery.

As Mr. Cake was arrested on the afternoon of the accident on a charge of manslaughter, but later allowed out on $10,000 bail, he was not committed last night to give evidence, but he did so of his own accord. He told the jury that he had driven a car for more than four years, that he had never been in an accident before, and that he had no other alternative but to bear down upon Mrs. Lavery when she stepped in front of his car because a woman and a baby were standing on the curb. He would certainly have hit them both had he turned the course of his truck.

Sergeant John Mackey, who inspected the brakes of Cake's truck the morning after the accident, pronounced them to be in perfect condition.

Tells Women How She Was Restored to Perfect Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"I cannot speak too highly of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was a nervous wreck and I just had to force myself to do my work. Even the sound of my own children playing made me feel as if I must scream if they did not get away from me. I could not even speak right to my husband. The doctor said he could do nothing for me. My husband's mother advised me to take the Vegetable Compound and I started it at once. I was able to work once more and it was a pleasure, not a burden. Now I have a fine bouncing baby and am able to nurse her and enjoy doing my work. I cannot help recommending such a medicine, and any one seeing me before I took it, and seeing me now, can see what it does for me. I am only too pleased for you to use my testimonial."—Mrs. EMILY DAVIS, 721 McGee St., Winnipeg, Man.

BUILD YOURSELF UP; WIN BACK STRENGTH, VIGOR AND ENERGY!

Every year you grow older you use up just so much of your vital nerve force. You become easily upset by indignities after meals, often constipated, nervous and in pain—and you feel slipping away from you the strength, energy and vigor with which you used to win.

Build yourself up! Let medical science help you feel fine again. Try just a spoonful of Dr. Thacher's tonic after the next few meals and notice the quick difference in the way you eat, sleep, look and feel. Win back that feeling of vigor that makes life a pleasure. Unless you are completely satisfied, druggists are authorized to refund the small cost.

An Overcoat Unnecessary Says 96 Year Old Youth

Special to The Advertiser.

Forest, Nov. 18.—Mr. Thomas Armstrong, aged 96, is the oldest citizen of Forest, and is still a very active businessman. His general health is still almost perfect.

This splendid veteran spends every week day on the bench of his shoemaker's shop on King street, in active work, and walks the five blocks to and from his home through the coldest winter storms. Mr. Armstrong refuses to wear an overcoat, and regards one as a cumbersome and unnecessary garment.

His lifetime doctor bill has been just three dollars, and he has never known the comfortable feel of a dentist chair or the soothing buzz of a drill.

Only his knees are weakened, but this is not surprising, since he has pounded leather over those sturdy knees since he was 12 years old. His hearing is perfect, and the eyesight has but slightly dimmed. After the day's work, sound sleep is one of his rewards. He hasn't an ache or pain. Commencing to smoke at the age of 13, his pipe has been a pal ever since, and he smiles when he refers to himself as a terrible example of a tobacco habit.

Mr. Armstrong was born at Gretna Green, Scotland, on July 23, 1828, and still speaks with the broad burr of a Scot.

The school children daily carrying their history books past this unassuming and capable pedestrian certainly do not realize that he was 3 years old when Queen Victoria ascended the throne, the great events of which time he remembers very clearly.

Started Young.
At the age of 12 he began his life work as a shoemaker, and except for a holiday of two years, has continued it steadily ever since—and as a shoemaker, Mr. Armstrong says that he intends to stick to his last to the last.

Mr. Armstrong was married twice in Scotland. In 1861 and 1864. He came to Canada and Forest in 1884, and at the age of 81 married again in this town in 1909. While being in Scotland, he was a member of the Presbyterian church, but he is now a member of the United Church of Canada.

As a lifelong Presbyterian, he is not in favor of church union. In politics he is a stout Liberal.

Believes in Strap.
Regarding the present-day juveniles, his criticism is certainly in the right place. They need more good leather properly applied by a lash, he says.

The rough, old-fashioned Scotch porridge is still his breakfast dish, and his appetite has not failed him. His brother, John Armstrong of Edinburgh, Scotland, is hale and active at the age of 98, but unlike Thomas Armstrong, he has not worked for several years.

Inquiries have recently been coming to the Forest postmaster from people in Scotland, the United States and Canada regarding Mr. Thomas Armstrong. He is interested in every letter and remembers them all.

Lived Moderately.
He attributes his great physical and mental well-being to a moderately lived life, freedom from worry, and an unflinching interest in his work.

Forest's Grand Old Man has the best wishes of the community to attain the century mark and well beyond.

Forest, Nov. 18.—That the claims of the city of Forest to one of the new steam plants of the hydro commission be placed before the commission by the industrial committee of the city council in co-operation with the board of trade was the substance of a resolution passed by the city council in session here tonight.

The report of the joint commission investigating the financial condition of the Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital recommended the submitting to the ratepayers of a bylaw to finally authorize the taking over of the institution. A bylaw was also passed authorizing the submission to the ratepayers of a bylaw to raise $68,000 to equip the city hall.

Tillsonburg, Nov. 18.—The town council has wound up its business for the year.

At the last meeting, the tender of the Lorne Tractors, Limited, for a combination hose, chemical and ladder truck on a Ruggles 1½-ton chassis, was accepted, and the work will be started at once.

Reeve Haller presented a report showing that $14,000 had been spent on permanent streets this year, the figures being about $2,000 under the estimates on account of a price reduction in stone and castings. Tenders were submitted for the proposed new market building, but as the specifications were not satisfactory to the council, the whole matter was referred back to the markets and building committee.

The officers for the municipal elections to be held on Monday, Dec. 3, were appointed as follows: South ward, D. R. O. Edwards; west ward, D. R. O. Thos. Ferguson; east ward, D. R. O. Thos. Ferguson; north ward, D. R. O. Thos. Ferguson; south ward, D. R. O. Thos. Ferguson; west ward, D. R. O. Thos. Ferguson; east ward, D. R. O. Thos. Ferguson; north ward, D. R. O. Thos. Ferguson.

Sarnia, Nov. 19.—When the steamer Huronic docked at Point Edward at noon today, a cordon of provincial police and special officers stepped from the Northern Navigation sheds and took up a close watch on the movements from the vessel while the big cargo of flour was being brought ashore.

Until the last sack is removed and a further search of the vessel made, it will not be definitely known whether Joseph Daniel Lockwood, ex-Toronto burglar and gunman, is aboard or not.

Captain Wright and his fellow-officers, interviewed early this afternoon, were prepared to lay odds that the ex-policeman and jail breaker was not aboard. His whereabouts remained a mystery up to two o'clock this afternoon. Whether he dived from the boat into the icy water of Lake Superior and perished, or, despite the rigorous search of the vessel, before Port Arthur was reached Saturday morning, remained in hiding and managed to swim to Port Arthur docks, unseen by watching police, is not known.

That Lockwood was aboard the vessel at Duluth is certain. He was brought aboard by immigration authorities for deportation as an undesirable, and at Fort William officers were waiting to take him into custody for jail breaking.

Escape being considered impossible, the handcuffs were removed when the Huronic left the dock at Duluth and Lockwood was seen running on the deck. He was seen late as midnight, and at 5 a.m., an hour before Port Arthur was reached, Capt. Wright ordered him to be handcuffed and made ready for landing.

He was not in his cabin. The bed had not been slept on, and Lockwood's overcoat, hat and overalls were lying in the cabin. The screws had been removed from the window, but there was not a mark on the glass or the woodwork around it. The window is about two by three feet.

Lockwood is 6 feet tall and heavily built.

I can't see how he got through that window without putting his hands on the window frame, Wright declared, "and if I hadn't seen the thorough way in which we searched the vessel I would swear that he is still aboard."

Will Form L.A.A. Sub-Committee of Girls To Look After Girls' Basketball In London

Affiliation With L. A. A. Gives Every Team Chance at Provincial Playoffs.

EDMONTON EXAMPLE

A general meeting of representatives from all Girls' Basketball Leagues in the city has been called for Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A.

The outcome will be direct affiliation with the L. A. A. through a sub-committee of girls, who will supervise girls' basketball. The league will likely absorb the three teams which formed the L. A. A. League, the latter three quintets playing as a separate group in the city league or on the same schedule as the other teams. This will make the City League representative of all girls' basketball in the city, outside the girls' association playing under the Manufacturers' A. A. A., which opened its series at the Y. Monday night.

Through the L. A. A. affiliation will be made with the new Provincial Girls' Basketball Association, which is to be formed at the end of the month, with the backing of outside play-offs and a provincial play-off for every girls' team in the city.

Officials of the Manufacturers' A. A. A., which had already sought affiliation with the L. A. A., believe that the move will give a new sort of inspiration to their teams, and they will be fully represented at Friday night's meeting. So will the City League, of which Miss Frances Talbot is president.

Bill Gurney, who is Manufacturers' A. A. A. convener of the girls' basketball section, believes that giving a girls' committee supervision over girls' basketball with the backing of the L. A. A. to insure what small financial backing may be necessary, will speedily develop organizing ability amongst the girls athletes of the city. He believes, too, that with a chance to participate in provincial play-offs opened to them, many of the teams will take the matter more seriously and that, therefore, the game will develop all the more quickly.

As for basketball enthusiasts points out, all the girls' teams of any prominence started out with very little better material than any of the ten or twelve basketball teams in London possess. By playing together, season or two and getting good coaching, they developed into their present state of efficiency on the court.

Edmonton Graduates, holders of the world's title, are themselves an example of what is possible by first building up team spirit, sticking together and even fair coaching.

O.A.C. STUDENTS MAY ENTER BOXING SHOW IN LONDON

Canadian Press Despatch. Guelph, Nov. 19. — Lieut.-Col. Simpson received a communication today from the secretary of the London Garrison Amateur Athletic Association, asking that the Guelph Garrison enter contestants in the boxing show to be staged in the Forest City early next month. Col. Simpson will take the matter up with the training corps at the O. A. C., where there is some good boxing talent, and a number of the students will likely be entered in the competition.

Another game will be played shortly to decide this argument, which has developed as an aftermath of the local Wossa group games.

London east were soundly beaten in the group games, but have made a huge improvement since then. H. B. Dinsmore, of London south, refereed the game, which was every bit as evenly contested as the countless count reads.

LONDON RIFLE TEAM MAKES WORLD RECORD

Anzac Club Scores 1,390 Out of 1,400 in Competition.

In the recent Dominion championship marksmanship contest at the Y. M. C. A., the Anzac Rifle Club won the provincial championship, from Truro, N. S., by default.

In winning the provincial championship they made a most remarkable score, 1,390 out of 1,400. This creates a world's record for a five-man team, at 25 yards.

This team is composed of the following boys: P. James, score 70, 70, 70, 70, 70, total 350; J. Kerr, score 70, 70, 70, 70, 70, total 350; F. Kerry, score 70, 70, 70, 70, 70, total 350; E. James, score 70, 68, 67, 66, total 272.

In the Dominion championship the standing of clubs was as follows: London Anzac Rifle Club, Ont., score 1,390, total 99.2; Truro Colchester Academy C. C., Truro, N.S., score 1,367, total 97.6; Rothesay Collegiate Institute, Rothesay, N. B., score 1,360, total 97.1; Montreal Ladies' Rifle Club, Montreal, Que., score 1,307, total 93.3; Winnipeg 9th Troop B. S., Winnipeg, Man., score 1,282, total 91.5.

WILL OPEN NEW ALLEYS AT NATIONALS TONIGHT

The undefeated Has-Bens roll the Moose, who are but one game behind the leaders. The other game will be between the Orioles, last year's champions, and the lowly Nationals, who have yet to break into the win column.

Card at Wallace's Gym Gives Fans Twenty Rounds of Action.

Alex Colvin of London defeated Harry Lazenby of St. Thomas in the event billed as the feature on Tommy Wallace's boxing card here last night. Wallace's miniature arena was packed to the eaves, and this mangle had the S. R. O. sign hanging on by one string. Colvin, making his first appearance in London, had the bout tucked away. It seemed, in the first round when he clipped Lazenby several tremendous punches from both hands and was beating the St. Thomas boy to the canvas, and this mangle had the S. R. Old-Fashioned Lead. An exhibition between Ern Colvin, a young brother of Alex's, and Bobby Bell almost became a headline contest. The two youngsters apparently didn't hear the "exhibition" part of the announcement, for they made an argument of it from the start. Young Colvin's elementary style of boxing put young Bell out of step at several stages, and he almost forgot his lessons. Young Colvin had an old-fashioned, rapier-like, darting left lead, which caught young Bell off guard and off balance a couple of times, and he had good infighting instinct which had Bobby puzzled at times, but Colvin always remembered his training in time to look the better.

Al Smith of Toronto lost a decision to H. Christie of London after the bout was sent into an extra round when the judges disagreed.

Has Good Right. Smith did most of the leading in the regulation rounds getting his right, the only punch he has apparently, home every time. Christie's left counters were landing weakly around Smith's right and the latter had a long lead in points at the end of the three rounds, despite the fact that Christie uncovered a slashing attack at the start of the fourth round, but the decision went against him.

Woodham of London lost the opening bout to Gardner of St. Thomas in a merry mix. Gardner was not only the strongest of the two, but he piled up points with a straight left, while Woodham was roundhousing most of his punches.

Charles Wilson and Fred Stanton, both of this city, eyed each other warily for three rounds. Wilson, taller, and with a British stance like the old woodcuts of the days of Jim Mac, refused to do much leading and Stanton was equally backward. They were sent in for an extra round, and Stanton got the decision because he landed a few light lefts to the face.

Alf Ince and Davey Smith did a three-round exhibition at a fast pace. Smith was giving away a lot of weight, and while he made the old veteran step lively, he was putting as he did it.

Referee—Tommy Wallace. Timekeeper—Jack Higgins.

Because some good men in the fight game have been bottle washers in the past, Silk is coming up in the betting. Firpo served his time as a bottle washer—not a druggist, as was claimed. Jess Willard in his hard and early days in Oklahoma, and long before he became convinced of the correctness of Barum's discovery about the birth rate per minute of draft parties, was a bottle washer. Stanley Ketchell was a waiter and it is supposed at odd moments took the same pride in polishing bottles that he took in performing the same act for opponents in later years. Looking through all these bottles of past history, Silk's chances seem much brighter.

"What is good enough to put the United States on top ought to be good enough for us," says Charles Otway in London Sporting Life, in commenting on the effort of the Amateur Athletic Association in England to regain the prestige of that country in the Olympic games next year. He declares that the selection of athletes to represent Great Britain should be done on the basis of trials and not on past records. He deplores the act of the English A. A. A. in arranging a list of athletes as suitable candidates for the Olympic games on the basis of their past records, without waiting to see what they can do in the trials.

"Let us have equal opportunities and devote our special attention to men when they have earned their places," urges Otway. "I am almost tired of pointing out that this has been the United States and Canadian plan, and what is good enough to put the United States on the top ought to be good enough for us."

Steps have been taken by the council of the soccer association in England to put a stop to what has grown to such proportions on the field as to be considered a menace to the soccer game, in that players do not hesitate to pull referees about with the idea that they may coerce them to alter their decisions.

Incidents of this kind have become so common as to cause Colonel McCalmont, who represents the army on the council, to offer a resolution that protests by players against a referee's decision constitute ungentlemanly conduct under law 13, and referees are required to deal with them accordingly.

The council adopted Colonel McCalmont's idea as embodied in his resolution, but left it to the rules revision committee to draft a law that would stipulate the penalties to be enforced, realizing that matters might be still worse than they are if the referees alone have the power to say what those penalties shall be.

Mike Rodden, who has been through many a football battle, and has affiliated as referee or umpire at several others, looks for Queen's to defeat Tigers next Saturday, although he figures that the score will be close. Lou Marsh, while giving Queen's the call, thinks that if Tigers' line proves as strong as it looked on Saturday, Tigers have a good chance to win. Lou figures that the Argos were stronger on Saturday against Queen's than they were in the game with Tigers, for the absence of Dunc Munro resulted in what Marsh claims was the strongest back division the Argos have placed on the field this season. He claims that the score is not a fair indication of the play, as Argos were always the aggressors, except when Batstone stepped over for a "soft" try.

MFRS. A. A. A. CAGE LOOPS GIVE FANS FAST OPENING GAMES

Somerville's and McCormick Girls, McClary and Silverwood Boys Win.

London's new basketball circuits, the M.A.A.A. cage loops, opened last night with a flourish at the Y.M.C.A. gym. Mayor Wenige throwing up the first ball. A big crowd was on hand to see the teams get into action, two games in the boys' section and two in the girls. Mayor Wenige complimented the officials for their good organization work, and if the games last night are any criterion, these new leagues should be a prolific source of development for higher cage teams.

McCormick and Somerville girls won the opening games in the girls' section. McClarys and Silverwoods being the winners in the boys.

Though several of the scores were lop-sided, the games were far from that. McClarys and McCormicks, in the men's division, put up a strenuous battle, which went to the Stove-men, 20-18, the same at half time.

Silverwoods, however, with three O.B.A. stars—Wanless, Douglas and Harold Gillies—disposed of Penmans by a 24-0 verdict. Penmans are going to produce "firsts" the next time out.

Penman girls, however, made Somerville girls extend to the limit to win 12-2. They held the paper boxes to 2-0 the first half. Richards-Wilcox were defeated 14-0 by McCormicks. The former team were playing their first real game and considering that McCormicks are Amazonian in comparison and with players much more experienced, Richards-Wilcox made a good showing.

Monday night, as a result of the interest aroused by the opening games in the Mfrs., will be a gala night apparently at the "Y" this season. The line-ups:

Girls. McCormicks—V. Scott, E. Poole, A. Poole, D. Gardner, V. Kyle. Richards-Wilcox—E. Hodges, D. Dalrymple, T. Tummelton, G. Morgan, B. Hodges, E. McLeas. Half time—McCormicks 4, Richards-Wilcox 0. Full time—McCormicks 14, Richards-Wilcox 0. Referee—George Sinclair.

Penmans (2)—A. Henderson, I. Steele, M. Goldspink, E. Johnson, J. Pollock.

Somervilles (12)—F. Rickard, L. Quant, E. Smith, B. Kew, T. Wilcox, M. Suter, E. Carroll. Half time—Penmans 2, Somervilles 0. Referee—G. Butler.

Boys. Silverwoods (24)—Gillies, Day, Wanless, Douglas, Ball, Moore. Penmans (0)—Richmond, Spears, Taylor, Lawson, Dutton. Referee—Sinclair.

McClarys (20)—Colley, Buchanan, Fox, Cook, Yorkie, McVicar, Peacock. McCormicks (18)—Evans, York, Ray, Arscott, Frezell, Arnold, Toll, Harmon. Half time—McClarys 10, McCormicks 8. Referee—Sinclair.

Garrison Will See Every Man Has Chance For Big Trip.

HEAVIES ACTIVE

The way entries are coming in for the Garrison boxing show on Dec. 7th, it begins to look as if the executive meeting on Thursday night will have to consider making a two-day card of the first affair. While it's on the cards that making a two-day tourney of the first event of the season may be considered, it is not likely that it will be decided upon as the would eat up the season too fast. A draw which will produce a good evening's bill, with the winners to defend their laurels against new men at the next show, is what, probably, be the course decided upon.

Entries for the show do not close until Dec. 1, but already there have been a bunch of boxing entries received from outside. The possibility that Ontario Agricultural College will send a string of their C. O. T. C. class may bring a response from Western University if the boxing class just started under Tommy Wallace's direction uncovers any unusual talent. O. A. C. has long been feared in intercollegiate boxing and wrestling circles, and the local show might be a good breaking-in point for Western before entering the college lists.

May Land Big Go.

It is possible that the local committee may land the Pook-Phillips go. It would be one prize, if they could. Either one does not need to fear lack of action as a victor, for the light heavyweights, as indicated by the Hamilton show staged last week, are craving action this season. Pook has a knock-out over Hamilton by beating Hillier of Beamsville. McDouglton won a decision over Howe, a home-brew heavy, when Marsh stopped the fight. These are all possibilities for local shows and all Olympic prospects.

The other divisions in this district are expected to produce some talent. There is still a chance for some up and coming youngster to horn into the Olympic trials, and the Garrison A. A. A. will see that any of the likely ones get this opportunity. To do this, however, it will be necessary to bring some of the Toronto and Hamilton boys here for tests about mid-winter.

Pook has already won his way into the trials, and so has Pete Laing in the lightweight wrestling division, but both these men who hail from this area will need plenty of work to make the trip sure in the finals.

Covers Whole Program.

Thursday night's executive meeting will cover the whole program. Arrangements will be completed for starting the indoor baseball schedule on Dec. 3. Six teams are lined up: R. C. R., 1st Hussars, Machine Guns, Western University, C. O. T. C., 1st W. O. R. and 12th Battery. Besides this program, Western University C. O. T. C. is also conducting an inter-commy indoor league.

Basketball, hockey, indoor track and soccer committees still remain to be formed. The material in all these games looks more than average. The fact that the hockey league will perform indoors this season should liven up this branch of the Garrison program.

Queens Decides To Play Regina If They Defeat Tigers

QUEEN'S TO PLAY REGINA GRIDDERS IF TIGERS LOSE

Kingston Team May Face Novelty of Having To Extend Themselves.

McKELVEY READY

Canadian Press Despatch.
Kingston, Nov. 19.—Queen's held a light workout at the stadium this afternoon in preparation for the Tiger game Saturday. The players will be down to strict business for the rest of the week, and Coach Hughes has promised them plenty of exercise. The "Q" squad realizes that they are up against something real for the first time this season, and they may have to extend themselves, something which they have not had to do hitherto this season.

All the players were on hand last night. "Red" McKelvey will be in Saturday's game, and it is stated that he is having a special boot made that will afford him protection for his injured toe. The players appeared to be in good shape today, none the worse for Saturday's play with Argos.

It was officially stated at Queen's University this morning that provided the senior team defeats the Hamilton Tigers in Kingston Saturday next, Queen's would play Regina in the Dominion championship contest on Dec. 1.

The Queen's athletic board of control will not agree to guarantee the western team the sum of $4,000, which was done last year for the Eskimos of Edmonton. The management of the Hamilton team has suggested that W. A. Hewitt, Toronto, referee the Queen's-Hamilton game Saturday. The Queen's authorities consider that Hewitt is a very capable official. Col. C. H. Constantine will be the head linesman.

Walter Hagen Wins Freak Tournament At Rye, N. Y.

Special to The Advertiser.
Rye, N.Y., Nov. 19.—Walter Hagen, former United States and British open golf champion, yesterday won a freak tournament at the Westchester-Biltmore Country Club, which ended the metropolitan golf season. One hundred and fifty players were entered, and each contributed a prize, so that the worst of the lot would not go home unprovided.

Among the prizes were a bathtub, a woman's evening gown, four tons of coal, a dozen photographs, a railroad ticket to Baltimore and a pastel portrait. Hagen, who played with a plus 2 handicap, had a net card of 75. The Duke of Manchester, who finished with a net of 84, donated a small bottle of gold dust from his mine in Northern Quebec.

H. TAYLOR WINS TROPHY IN CHATHAM GOLF MATCH

Special to The Advertiser.
Chatham, Nov. 19.—Howard Taylor won the Dr. C. B. Oliver trophy in the final golf contest of the local club, defeating P. S. Coote. A. C. Woodward won from Dr. Neil Smith in the Golfers' Magazine trophy contest.

WILL PLAY SATURDAY.

"Red" McKelvey, Queen's University rugby star, who has sufficiently recovered from injuries to his foot to permit him playing against Hamilton Tigers Saturday for the Eastern Canada championship.

NORFOLK READY FOR SENEGALESE

Battling Siki Makes U. S. Ring Debut in New York Tonight.

HAS TRAINED HARD

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Nov. 20.—Battling Siki, Senegalese conqueror of Georges Carpentier, makes his ring debut in the United States tonight at Madison Square Garden in a fifteen-round match with Kid Norfolk. Both expect to make 175 pounds by this afternoon, and the victor will lay claim to the negro light-heavyweight championship.

The Battler has been put through a strenuous siege of training for the bout. Siki's appearance has aroused considerable interest, but critics believe that in Norfolk, a hard-hitting negro, the Senegalese will be put to a severe test.

VILLA SIGNED TO MEET EDDIE PINCHOT IN TORONTO

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Nov. 19.—Charlie Hallatt, matchmaker for the International Club, Toronto, announced this afternoon that he had signed up Eddie Pinchot, bantamweight, of Charleroi, Pa., to meet Pancho Villa, the sensational Filipino fighter, and world's champion flyweight, at the Coliseum on December 5.

Villa, it is understood, will arrive here a few days before the contest, and finish his training in one of the city's clubs. The bout promises to be one of the most attractive of the year.

GARCIA WINS.

Associated Press Despatch.
Baltimore, Nov. 19.—Bobby Garcia of Camp Holabird was awarded the decision on a foul over Frankie Rice of Baltimore in the ninth round of a scheduled twelve-round bout here tonight.

THE PANORAMA OF BASEBALL

A Pictorial History of the Growth of the Game.

MARTIN T. COSGRIF, who took the baseball idea to the Pacific coast.

He is shown along the rules of the Tri-Mountain Club of Boston, which was organized in 1858, the year he went to California.

BASEBALL WESTWARD HO!

If it were possible for Alexander Cartwright to stop in amidst some boys playing around Murray Hill in New York and tell them a thing or two about what was afterwards to develop into American national baseball, and if he could be instrumental in forming the first baseball club in the country, it is not right to argue that when he went westward stricken by the gold fever of 1849, he stopped digging now and again to tell his fortune about the same thing? Who knows but the first ball on the California coast was a gold nugget? And is it not also possible that the natives of Hawaii in 1850 were regaled with similar lessons, when he moved there, to remain there for life? But it was not until 1850 that the Eagle Club was born in San Francisco, the first of its kind, and they had their first match with the Red Rovers in 1860, but the match broke over a decision of the umpire's in a game played on Washington's birthday—so much for climate! Nevertheless, the first state championship game was played this year, a silver bat and medals being the pennant of the time.

The Eagles split for the better interest of the game, in 1863, and the offshoot were the Pacifics, whose picture is here given. William Shepley, their third baseman, writing reminiscent of games in 1861, said: "I well remember a habit the gambler among the spectators used to have that surely savored of the wild and woolly west. Just as a fly ball was dropping into a fielder's hands, ever gambler who had bet on the nine a the bat would discharge a fusillade from his six shooter in an endeavor to confuse the fielder and make him miss the ball."

But if Cartwright's influence on western baseball is a matter of speculation, that of Martin F. Cosgriff is not; he had been one of the charter members of the old Boston Tri-Mountain and took to California; whether he went in 1858, the rules of this New England club. During the famous period in baseball history when the Cincinnati Red-Stockings frolicked east and laid low every team playing the game, they also collected to the coast and lured it over the Eagles and the Pacifics. They taught the west a great deal about professionalism.

Pictures Show Two Horses Tied

In Photographs in Memoriam Appears Ahead by Fraction.

Special to The Advertiser.
Louisville, Ky., Nov. 19.—News-paper photographs of the Zev-In Memoriam match at Churchill Downs Saturday show the heads of the two horses on practically a dead line, with In Memoriam having a fraction the better of it, if anything. Spectators on the finish line contended that In Memoriam's nose was projected farther than Zev's at the finish. The newspaper photographs seem to bear out this conclusion.

The photographs, besides showing In Memoriam to be a fraction of a nose in the lead eighteen inches from the wire, show one of his forefeet as having just hit the ground and his body lunging forward from the impact of the stride, while Zev's corresponding foot is on its downward motion, and cannot have given him an added impetus on the final jump before both crossed the wire.

Zev was given the judge's decision by a nose.

Home-and-Home Series To Decide Opponents For O. R. F. U. Winners.

FINAL DECEMBER 8

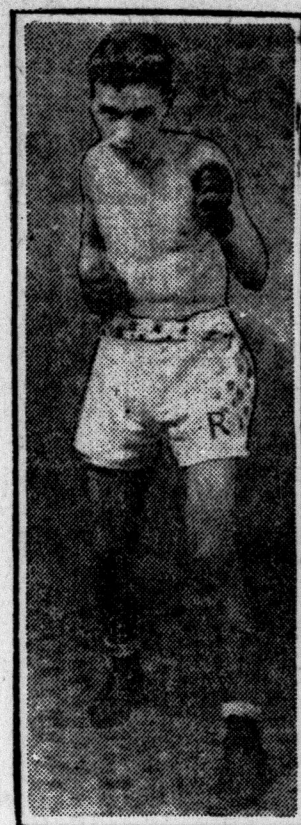

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Nov. 19.—The Grand Trunks of Montreal, winners of the Quebec Rugby Union, and the Royal Military College, intermediate champions of the Intercollegiate League, have been instructed to play a home-and-home game series, with the first game in Montreal Saturday and the return in Kingston Dec. 1. The winner of this series will meet the O. R. F. U. winners in a sudden-death game Dec. 8 on the grounds of the eastern winners.

The C. R. U. has not been notified whether Loyola College, Intercollegiate junior champions, intend to play for the Canadian title or not, but the O. R. F. U. has been advised that their winners must be ready to play in the final game against either Loyola or Westmount on the O. R. F. U. champions' grounds on Dec. 8.

The O. R. F. U. will not return an intermediate winner until Dec. 1, when the final will be played. Both Sarnia and Dundas have good leads for their return games in the semifinals with Galt and Parkdale next Saturday, and it looks as if these two teams will meet in the final.

In the junior series Toronto Canoe Club and the Elgin Regiment of St. Thomas will play a home-and-home series in the final, with total points to count. The first game will be played at Varsity stadium on Saturday, with the return in St. Thomas on Dec. 1. The Red Ringers have disposed of St. Catharines and Y. M. H. A., after winning the local group, and have lost only one game this season, the opener. St. Thomas won from Petrolia, and then won from Wallaceburg and Sarnia North Views in the next two rounds.

In the intermediate Intercollegiate O. R. F. U. series there are seven teams still in the running, Peterboro, Oakwood, U. T. S., St. Jerome's, Sarnia, Galt and Hamilton. U. T. S. have a good margin on St. Jerome's for the final game at the stadium tomorrow afternoon. Sarnia and Hamilton will play home-and-home games on Saturday and Dec. 1, with COMING BANTAM.

Jackie Johnson, Canadian bantam, knocked out Floyd Frisch of Buffalo, N. Y., in the first round of a bout staged Saturday. Experts declare that Johnson is worth watching closely.

The first in Hamilton, Oakwood and Galt, winners of the Intercollegiate League, will play a sudden-death game on Saturday in Guelph. Galt is uncertain whether they will play or not, but will make their decision tomorrow. The season has been a long one for the school teams, and some of the schools are not willing to spare the time from their studies.

KNOX PLAYER INJURED.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Nov. 19.—G. McIntosh, playing halfback for Knox College in the game with the School of Practical Science, today had his leg broken in two places. He was trying to break through the line when the accident happened. He was conveyed to the hospital. The School of Practical Science won.

All games are to be played Dec. 1 on the ground of the club first named in the draw.

BRITISH FOOTBALL.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Nov. 19.—Football games played in the Old Country this afternoon had the following results: London Challenge Cup (semi-final): Charlton Athletic 3, Clapton Orient 1. Friendly: Cambridge University 1, Nunhead 0. The Rugby Union: Hill Harriers 12, Coventry 3. The Rugby League (Northern Union): Oldham 28, Warrington 11.

Beautiful Models for Women

WOMEN skaters will take pride in the beautiful models of C.C.M. Automobile Skates designed especially for them.

Model F, for example, is a little jewel among skates. Wonderfully light, yet exceedingly strong. Shaped for speed, graceful skating. And so brilliantly finished it shines like a piece of new silver.

With a pair of these on your feet you can skim over the ice with the ease and grace of a swallow, and enjoy every minute.

These beautiful C.C.M. Women's models are made of the same Chrome Nickel Steel as in the models used by the champion hockey players and the C.C.M. Speed Skates used by Miss Gladys Robinson, the Women's International Speed Champion.

The blades are hard as glass outside, but with an interior "core" of tough steel that makes C.C.M. Automobile Skates practically unbreakable.

Ask your dealer to show you C.C.M. models for ladies. If you are a "figure" skater, ask to see the C.C.M. Figure Skate and the Winter Club. There are also C.C.M. models for men and boys—for everybody—for pleasure skating, hockey and racing.

When He Took 'Fruit-a-lives' For Rheumatism

The Medicine Made From Fruit. There can be no doubt that "Fruit-a-lives" is the long-sought remedy for Rheumatism and Lumbago. From all over Canada come letters testifying to this fact.

Mr. John E. Guilderson of Parrsboro, N. S., writes: "I suffered badly with Rheumatism for five years—tried different medicines—was treated by doctors in Amherst—and here at home—but the Rheumatism came back."

"In 1916 I saw an advertisement for 'Fruit-a-lives', and took a box and got relief; so I took them for about six months, and the Rheumatism was all gone, and I have never felt it since."

Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the sore spot is warmed through and through and the torture is gone.

Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, costs little at any drug store. Get a jar at once. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on every package.—Adv.

"WHIRL OF GIRLS" PROVES AMUSING AND PEPPY SHOW

Columbia Attraction At Grand Has Splendid Jazz Band Accompanying.

GOOD COMEDIANS

The "Whirl of Girls," the Columbia burlesque show, for the first three days of this week opened its engagement in the Grand Opera House yesterday features an up-to-date jazz band, billed as "Ten Music Spillers" without this number which is better than ordinary, the company is well up to the standard already set by the Columbia attractions.

The same lavishness of scenery and expensive costuming which characterized the Grand so far this season can be found in the latest edition to appear here and the stage pictures in consequence are colorful and elaborate. Opening with a conventional hotel lobby number, the members of the company are introduced as hotel guests and employees and plunge at once into the spirit of the funmaking.

The opening number serves to introduce the two comedians, Fred Binder and Vic Plant, both of whom present Hebrew characters and are very funny. Flossie De Vere, the peppy little soubrette Jerd and Gertrude Lavetta, the ingenue who sings well, but dances much better, as well as other members of the company in supporting roles. Quick change to an octette number in one "Meet Me Next Sunday" introducing George D. Weist and prettily gowned girls. Weist has personality and pep, and with the aid of the attractive chorines gets the number over in big style.

The One Word drama, a satirical and rather clever sketch, presents the principals the comedians, Miss De Vere and Miss Le Veay scoring. Vic Plant, Fred Binder and Billy Schuler have a funny street sketch introducing a new version of the old betting game with a laughable finale. Sketch well worked up and not too long, scored heavily.

Back to full stage for an old-fashioned scene, one of the prettiest numbers of the evening, in which song hits a Broadway number, effectively sung by Flossie De Vere, George Weist and June LeVeay. Miss De Vere's "Blues" number "Strutlin'" was particularly well done. The dainty little lady turned her ankle in the step accompanying the number, but a brief interlude and finished the performance, being roundly applauded on her next appearance. "Martha's Wedding," a pretty bridal scene with two well rendered numbers made a good finale to the first part of the program.

Part 2 opens with a deck scene well worked out. Follows comedy through changed numbers, on the stateroom doors, and giving Plant and Binder opportunity to make another laughing hit. Al. Flunkett's song "O Gee, O Gosh," was sung by Flossie De Vere and chorines to the satisfaction of the audience while the "Devil's Inn" introduced more fun.

Avenue A, a Bowery number, was well done by Miss De Vere and girls. While Fred Binder and Willie St. Clair contributed one of the cleverest numbers of the evening in their burlesque Apache dance. The Egyptian dance number was well done and the ten music spillers in jazz music scored immensely.

Drapes, scenic mountings and costumes are luxurious and pretty, while in every department the production runs a well with its predecessors. Obviously a show with a title "Whirl of Girls," would have to go strong on its ensemble and this important factor has not been overlooked. The chorines are pretty, youthful, shapely and peppy, dress well and work hard. They sing pleasingly, dance well and execute difficult march numbers with precision.

Altogether a good show, funny, snappy and clean. It will be the attraction today and tomorrow with music and evening performances daily.

shioned scene, one of the prettiest numbers of the evening, in which song hits a Broadway number, effectively sung by Flossie De Vere, George Weist and June LeVeay. Miss De Vere's "Blues" number "Strutlin'" was particularly well done. The dainty little lady turned her ankle in the step accompanying the number, but a brief interlude and finished the performance, being roundly applauded on her next appearance. "Martha's Wedding," a pretty bridal scene with two well rendered numbers made a good finale to the first part of the program.

Part 2 opens with a deck scene well worked out. Follows comedy through changed numbers, on the stateroom doors, and giving Plant and Binder opportunity to make another laughing hit. Al. Flunkett's song "O Gee, O Gosh," was sung by Flossie De Vere and chorines to the satisfaction of the audience while the "Devil's Inn" introduced more fun.

Avenue A, a Bowery number, was well done by Miss De Vere and girls. While Fred Binder and Willie St. Clair contributed one of the cleverest numbers of the evening in their burlesque Apache dance. The Egyptian dance number was well done and the ten music spillers in jazz music scored immensely.

Drapes, scenic mountings and costumes are luxurious and pretty, while in every department the production runs a well with its predecessors. Obviously a show with a title "Whirl of Girls," would have to go strong on its ensemble and this important factor has not been overlooked. The chorines are pretty, youthful, shapely and peppy, dress well and work hard. They sing pleasingly, dance well and execute difficult march numbers with precision.

Altogether a good show, funny, snappy and clean. It will be the attraction today and tomorrow with music and evening performances daily.

LOEW'S PRESENTS SPEEDY SHOW VAUDEVILLE GOOD

FINE PERSONALITY

Vaudeville and films combine in a splendid bill at Loew's for the commencement of the week. Viola Dana stars in "Her Fatal Millions" with a lively brand of comedy, the predominant note. The three vaudeville features are of excellent calibre.

Viola Dana continues to put out films of unquestionable popular quality. She apparently gauges her public with a sure eye and then gives them exactly what she knows they will please. The mixture is her own vivacious personality and a story in which action and humor predominate.

Light Dana continues to put out films of unquestionable popular quality. She apparently gauges her public with a sure eye and then gives them exactly what she knows they will please. The mixture is her own vivacious personality and a story in which action and humor predominate.

DRAMA LEAGUE'S SECOND OFFERING GREAT SUCCESS

Evening's Entertainment At Collegiate Is Divided Into Two Parts.

FOR MEMBERS ONLY

The one organization in the city which is assured of first-class attendance is the London Drama League. Their season has but commenced, and yet the membership has swelled to such an extent that it is amply sufficient to fill both auditorium and balcony of the Central Collegiate Institute, where last night's successful performance was given. This happened to be the season's first where admission was to be members only, and the seating capacity was only just equal to the audience.

To follow the season's successful opening, "Trust Emily," there was chosen for their second appearance a bill which should aptly contain both comedy and drama. In the two one-act production of the evening, the members were most effectively presented.

Two Stars. Having two parts, the evening had also two outstanding stars. In "The Bishop's Candlesticks" was presented a familiar scene from Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables." In this the star was undoubtedly Charles E. Carrothers. Mr. Carrothers' last appearance publicly was in a role which called for comedy of the highest order. Last evening he was forced to touch the depths of drama. He succeeded with consummate skill.

As the convict in this drama scene, he called into play a finished technical skill together with a mastery of control of the emotional aspect of the role. In this particular scene, the cast was small, but adequate. The bishop was played by Mr. Will Pope. For some, his sister, by Miss Blanche Roberts, and Miss Isobel Mortimer made a pretty Marie. The brief entrance of the sergeant of the gendarmes was handled effectively by Mr. Bert Perry.

One-act Play. With the drop of the curtain, drama turned to comedy of the finest quality. "Spreading the News," the one-act play of the evening, it was unfortunate that Mrs. A. D. Jordan, who was to have taken the role of Mrs. Tarpey, the Apple Woman, was taken ill a few hours before the performance, but her part was most ably taken by Mrs. Arthur Bricken-don. The cast was really "all-star" but "Spreading the News," had its high light in George McCormick as "Bartley Fallon." Here was a most amusing picturization of the pessimistic old Irishman. In appearance and in performance, Mr. McCormick was a complete success.

Other roles, handled in a manner which lost not a whit of the comedy, were taken by Mrs. W. R. Kendall, Mr. E. E. Cleave, Mr. Mel Dickenson, Miss Gwendolyn Anthistie, Mr. Clarence Donaldson, Mr. A. J. Nicholls, Miss Evelyn Harrison and Miss L. Galan.

During the interlude, Stanley Meredith was presented by the vice-president, Mrs. Emerson Nichols, with a handsome silver cigarette box. Col. Frank Ware spoke in a presentation of the excellent service Mr. Meredith has rendered the Drama League. The post of convener of the production committee was recently assumed by Mrs. Bricken-don.

NO BOOKS OF FICTION FOR GUELPH CHILDREN

Public Library Board Decides They May Have Other Issues.

Special to The Advertiser. Guelph, Nov. 19.—At the monthly meeting of the public library board, a resolution was passed that children under the age of fourteen years be not permitted to take books of fiction from the library. They will, however, be permitted to borrow works on history, biology, etc. During the month of October, the increase in circulation was over a thousand compared with the same month last year.

Hunt For Boxers. Lieut.-Col. Simpson received a communication today from the secretary of the London Garrison Amateur Athletic Association, asking that the Guelph Garrison enter contestants in the boxing show in the Forest City early next month. O. A. C. students will likely be entered in the competition.

Received Painful Injury. Stanley Burgoyne, foreman for the Standard Steel Company of St. Catharines, had his foot badly crushed and his shin bone fractured when a heavy steel truss fell on him. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate one of the toes.

OUTBREAK OF MEASLES. Special to The Advertiser. Mildmay, Nov. 19.—An epidemic of measles is prevalent in the northern part of Carleton place, known as Otter Creek. The local board of health ordered that Otter Creek school be closed indefinitely.

Guard Your Throat!

ONCE let 'cold germs' find the weak spot in your throat and troubles come thick and fast. The tickling soreness at the back of the mouth, hoarseness, difficulty in swallowing and irritating dry cough are all evidence of germ attack. The one speedy effective way to banish these troublesome symptoms is the Peps breatheable way. Simply take a Peps, peel off the protective silver-jacket and let the tablet slowly dissolve on the tongue, when the volatile healing medicines will mix naturally with the breath.

The germ-destroying Peps fumes as they circulate through the air-passages are soothing and comforting. Pain and irritation is charmed away. Any inflammation or soreness of the delicate membrane lining the way from mouth to lungs, is speedily ended. You soon lose the cough, hoarseness and swallowing difficulty. Always carry a few of these silver-wrapped Peps tablets about with you as a remedy and safeguard against coughs, colds, chills and bronchitis, or other throat and chest weakness.

Received Painful Injury. Stanley Burgoyne, foreman for the Standard Steel Company of St. Catharines, had his foot badly crushed and his shin bone fractured when a heavy steel truss fell on him. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate one of the toes.

Clearing the Way For Christmas Displays

The expansion of some of the main floor sections for the display of holiday stocks has caused serious overcrowding in some spots. To relieve this situation, we have gone carefully through each section, and will conduct a series of sales that will clear all surplus stocks, and relieve all congestion. The first event will be where it is most imperative—in the dress goods and coating section—and the reductions are most radical—one-third and one-half original prices. Can you imagine the smallest reduction being half-price, and others only a third of the original price? There may be many Christmas gift problems solved by this wonderful sale opportunity.

Also Fine Quality Dark Print, navy, black, gray, lilac, etc 30c

Check Gingham For Aprons

of fine imported cloth, lots of popular colors and all favorite checks, twenty different; you will like this good quality at a new lower price; it means you give a good gift, worthy of your time and work; 32 inches 40c yard

To-day I saw

The humorists have said so much about women's Christmas selections for men that ordinarily I might hesitate to make a suggestion. But the Hickok belts and buckles which I saw today are gifts that even men admit they would choose for themselves! From inexpensive sets for the little lad who wants one "just like Daddy's" to beautiful silver sets for the most discriminating buyer, the range is complete.

The belts themselves are of genuine leather, the finest grades of cowhide, morocco, calfskin, East Indian, and buffalo. The buckles and the new beltograms (which slip over the belt and guard the watch) are either solid silver or plated with a heavy sheet of silver.

For the holiday season, the sets are all attractively boxed. Of sure appeal to men are the sets which bear their fraternal emblems. Initialed buckles of individuality and lasting beauty may be purchased for two dollars. And for five you will find sterling silver buckles with a dull hammered finish, and a variety of beautiful designs.

The "teens and twenties" who are struggling with the absorbing problem of what to give "him" for Christmas will find a satisfactory solution if they come to see the Hickok gifts in the Men's Department.
