FUR SHORE. Death Came at Last to One Who Had Prayed for it.

Within 300 feet of the crest of Mount Mitchell the rough road winding over the mountain rises close to the edge of a cliff...

Next night exactly the same thing happened. But this time he served away, and she ran into the hall and fainted.

The result of this long illness, and whether Miss A. died or not, she is in doubt about the fact that her health has been permanently impaired by her two night stays in the hospital.

"No, sir," she said, "but I'm not a high cliff here." "I thought so, but my eyes were very poor. I'm old and blind and have no use to anybody."

"I'm afraid I can't be much of a burden to you," she protested. "No," she said, "but old folks in the way of younger ones. I've done my share."

"I've heard that said, and I reckon I've done something like it in Serbia, but I'm all poor creature. What we want to do is our duty. What we don't want to do is to be a burden to anybody else."

MYSTIC MESSENGERS.

A SINGULAR APPARITION THAT MATERIALIZED IN THE FLESH.

The Intangible Vision Drove Daughter and Mother to the Brink of Death, Whence Its Human Prototype Rescued Them—A Mother in a Vision.

The events here related were told to me by a person intimately connected with them—persons who in the ordinary affairs of life would be believed.

Miss A. was a strong, healthy English girl, exceedingly sensible, and one who was a scouter at heart. Like the other woman, she did not believe in ghosts, but unlike her she was not afraid of them.

She was invited to stay at a friend's house in Ireland, and this house had a haunted room, which was furnished in a modern manner, and saw nothing to disquiet her, but as she was preparing for bed she sent a carriage to come up the drive and apparently stop at the front door.

She was standing opposite the door two black horses and a driver had got down from his seat and was standing by the horses, looking up at her window, with his hat in his hand.

It was my turn to go to bed, and I was in bed when I saw a light in the room. I got up and looked into the room, and saw a woman standing in the doorway, looking at me with a look of intense interest.

"I'm afraid I can't be much of a burden to you," she protested. "No," she said, "but old folks in the way of younger ones. I've done my share."

BROTHER GARDNER MAKES A FEW REMARKS ON ECONOMY.

MR. THOMAS ON PRONUNCIATION.

The Playwright's Father Had Decided Views as to the Word Missouri.

Mr. Thomas, the author of the play "In Mizoura," has given an interesting incident in his early life recalled by the title of his sketch in a sensitive question with the natives. Speaking of the matter the other day, Mr. Thomas said:

THE MEDICAL VALUE OF WATER.

The human body is constantly undergoing tissue change. Worn out particles are cast aside and eliminated from the system.

Water has the power of increasing these tissue changes, which multiply the waste products, but at the same time they are renewed by its agency, giving rise to increased appetite, which in turn provides fresh nutriment.

AN OPEN LETTER

ATHENS, Sept. 25, 1893. To Our Customers and the Public:

After nearly twenty years' experience with a credit business, we have no hesitation in saying that it is a very unsatisfactory system for both buyer and seller, as goods cost twenty or twenty-five per cent more than for cash. We have there fore decided to adopt

THE STRICTLY CASH SYSTEM

We shall close our books on the 1st of October, when we will commence to sell for cash or produce only. We shall expect all accounts to be settled by 1st Nov.

During our time in business we have sold to a great many who have never paid their accounts, and our loss in that way has been considerable. We have also met very many with whom it was a pleasure to do a credit business, who paid their accounts promptly, and always endeavored to carry out the Golden Rule.

To such of you, we are thankful, and trust you will appreciate and approve our forward step, and that we may have the pleasure of counting you among our Cash Customers, when we will endeavor to make it clear that it is to your advantage to buy for Cash.

Our present stock, which was marked at credit prices, will

FUR SHORE.

Death Came at Last to One Who Had Prayed For It.

Within 800 feet of the crest of Mount Mitchell the rough road winding over the mountain runs close to the edge of a cliff, down which you can drop a "bamboo" for over 100 feet.

At about sunset on a July day I sat on a rock by the roadside with this cliff at my feet. My pipe was scarcely alight when an old woman, walking slowly by the help of a cane, and her callow son, pulled forward to shade her weak eyes from the bright sun, came slowly down the mountain road.

"Howdy, grandma; going down the mountain?"
"Ye, there is a high cliff here."
"Ye, there is a high cliff here, very poor. Yes, I'm old and blind and of no use to anybody. I've prayed to the Lord every day for a year to take me away, but he don't hear me."

"Years and years ago, stranger?"
"Ye, but you have children?"
"Ye, but I'm a burden to them, I'm no good any more. I've been fearful this long while, but it didn't do me till this mornin'. I had my mind made up what should do, and now I'm goin' to do it."

"What is it, grandma; what has happened?"
"I've been fearful of William and Jane, William is a good boy, but he is peevish and don't get along. This mornin' I heard them talkin'. Jane says I'm too ole to work any more, and I must go to the porchouse. William waits a bit to think it over, but she says there is no other way. He says he'll see about it tomorrow."

"But the waste needs of an old woman like you can't be much of a burden to them," I protested.
"Ye, that's what she says, but ole folks in the way of younger ones. I've don't prayed and prayed, but the Lord won't take me. I've tried hard to live clean up to the good book, but I ain't fitten now, I never shall be."

"But it's the duty of a son to care for his old mother."
"Ye, that's what she said, and I reckon I've don't read somethin' like it in Scribner's, but we all are poor critters. What we want to do is to get away from here, and I'm goin' to do it."

"If your son has a home, he can't have the heart to turn you out of it, even if he has a struggle to get along," I said to the poor old woman held her apron to her face.
"Stranger, do you know how the Lord's ways?" she asked through her tears.
"I'm afraid I don't know as much as I ought to."

"Don't be take ole folks up their heaven when they ain't no mo' use down here."

MYSTIC MESSENGERS.

A SINGULAR APPARITION THAT MATERIALIZED IN THE FLESH.

The Inaugurable Vision Drew Daughter and Mother to the Brink of Death, Whence It Was Rescued by a Friend's Hand.

The events here related were told to me by persons intimately connected with the persons who in the ordinary affairs of life would be believed.

Miss A. was a strong, healthy English girl, exceedingly sensible, and one who was as cheerful as a lark. Like the other women, she did not believe in ghosts, but unlike her she was not afraid of them.

She was invited to stay at a friend's house in Ireland, and this house had a haunted room. Miss A. asked permission to sleep in the haunted room, and the permission was reluctantly granted, for those in the house thoroughly believed in the ghost.

It was nearly midnight when Miss A. went to the haunted room, which was situated in the front part of the house overlooking the carriage drive that led to the entrance. She looked around the room, which was furnished in a modern manner, and saw nothing to disquiet her, but as she was preparing for bed she heard a carriage come to the drive and apparently stop at the house.

She went to the door and looked out, but saw nothing. She returned to her room and was about to go to bed when she heard a carriage come to the drive and apparently stop at the house.

MR. THOMAS ON PRONUNCIATION.

The Playwright's Father Had Decided Views as to the Word Mission.

Mr. Thomas, the author of the play "The Mission," has given an interesting account in his early life recalled by the title of his play. The spelling of the name gives a fair idea of the local pronunciation. This pronunciation, particularly of the name of the play, is a matter of some interest to the natives. Speaking of the matter the other day, Mr. Thomas said:

"I hold you in my hand," said Brother Gardner at the regular meeting of the Limekiln Club on Tuesday evening last. "I have a few remarks to make on economy. In fact, he wants to know how many members of this club I can put to practical use."

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

A Mad Enthusiasm That Had to Be Checked.

AN EXCITING EPISODE.—Four weeks ago the Kicker indulged in half a column of mad ranting about the introduction of a pair of $200 shoes to the population of this town. In the same article it was announced that the introduction of a pair of $200 shoes had successfully introduced the straw as a medium of conveying the milk julep to the people.

AN OPEN LETTER

To Our Customers and the Public: After nearly twenty years' experience with a credit business, we have no hesitation in saying that it is a very unsatisfactory system for both buyer and seller, as goods cost twenty or twenty-five per cent more for cash. We have therefore decided to adopt

THE STRICTLY CASH SYSTEM

We shall close our books on the 1st of October, when we will commence to sell for cash or produce only. We shall expect all accounts to be settled by 1st Nov.

During our time in business we have sold to a great many who have never paid their accounts, and our loss in that way has been considerable. We have also met very many with whom it was a pleasure to do a credit business, who paid their accounts promptly, and always endeavored to carry out the Golden Rule. To such of you, we are thankful, and trust you will appreciate and approve our forward step, and that we may have the pleasure of counting you among our Cash Customers, when we endeavor to make it clear that it is to your advantage to buy for Cash. Our present stock, which was marked at credit prices, will be reduced to cash marks, and all new goods as they come in will be marked at cash prices, and sold for cash or produce only. We shall keep no books, open no accounts, but will sell so low that you will see it to your advantage to buy from us for cash.

You can buy of us and save money. Look at some of our quotations:

Another Canadian Prodigy. Ontario is again the sensation provider for the fair. No longer is the "Canadian Mite," as the big cheese is called, the undisputed sovereign in the realm of vegetable products. This time the most monstrous attraction of the world's fair. A milk-white squash, weighing 486 pounds and measuring 18 1/2 feet in circumference. It has been on exhibition the past week of the Ontario vegetable court of the Horticultural Building. There is an enormous crowd about the mammoth girth, and it is not surprising that it is in point of advertising merit has been seen here yet. The Fair authorities are greatly bothered about the blockading of Ontario, and the passing of the bill surrounding this garden warren of Ontario, Mr. William Warnock, of Goderich, Ont., sent the huge squash over which Superintendent D. Reed proudly presides.

Total income for year $224,775; expenditure, $231,983, deficit, $7,208. The decrease in revenue was $24,607 and the increase in expenditure $6,072. Mrs. McElroy, in her financial report of the women's missionary society of the Montreal Market, has contributed an increase of $368.89 over the preceding year. The membership numbers 1,800. The first year of the society's work the contributions were $500.

He took the contractor and a workman named Byrnes were trying to improve the bracing in the rafters when the crash came. The First Creation.

The diocese of Ontario will occupy a notable position in church history. The advancement of the bishop of Ontario to be archbishop marks the first creation of that title within fifteen hundred years of the life of the Anglican church and of the true church from which it claims to spring. Two archbishops in Ireland, one in Scotland and one in England have since been nullified, but no new creation has since been made. The result of the example now set will probably be the creation of several archbishops in the church in other British colonies.

Temperance Convention.

A general convention of the Leeds County Temperance Alliance will be held at Brookville next Monday, Oct. 30th, at 1:30 p.m. An urgent invitation to attend is extended to all ministers and representatives of all Royal Templar councils—All Sons of Temperance and Good Templars' Lodges, and to all W. O. T. Unions. With these, and all Temperance workers, please accept this notice and invitation, and let us have a general rally for arrangement for the great work before us.

J. B. SANDERSON, M. D., President.
JOHN GREENELL, Sec'y.
PARKER CORNELL, Convener.

For the Hospital.

The Athens Auxiliary of the Brookville General Hospital seem to be on the alert, judging from the way they are making. They have formed a number of committees to canvass all the ground contiguous to Athens, to solicit contributions, and two of the ladies going elsewhere soon returning to Athens yesterday with a fully laden wagon, the product of a visit to some of the generous farmers in the vicinity of the English church, Lansdowne. They had to return before one half of the ground was gone over. It is hoped that all the sections that are to be canvassed may prove equally generous. There is a strong feeling of sympathy in this section in favor of the hospital.

Lost in the Woods.

A Bedford Mills—accompanying writes as follows: "Mr. Grant was awakened from his slumbers by what he supposed was a wolf screaming in the bush. Fearing he would lose some sheep he lost no time in getting up and loaded his double-barrel shotgun with buckshot. He took a lantern and started for the bush. As he neared the spot where the screaming came from he thought the noise resembled that of a hoarse voice of a human being. He had never seen a panther but he heard that they make a noise something like a person crying. When within a few rods of the animal the noise ceased and to his astonishment he saw a pair of glaring eyes which shone like two balls of fire in a thick clump of bushes. He was not long in determining what to do, so he raised his gun to his shoulder when he was startled by hearing a human voice saying, "Please don't shoot." Mr. Grant then advanced to the bushes and found little Georgie Wyatt crouched on the ground almost paralyzed with fear. He had been out at James Gowling's near Elgin, on a visit, and started for home through the bush. He stopped at Chaffey's Locks to play with some of his playmates, stayed too long, and consequently was overtaken by darkness in the woods and got lost. He wandered about until ten o'clock when he began to cry and yell for help. Some cattle heard him and gathered around him. He thought they were wolves and yelled louder and louder. It is supposed that there were four men in the gang.

Several persons were present in this class village; one of the most needed of these is an electric light at the gate of the Methodist church. This would save hundreds much trouble, as in the darkness of the night, every man and woman would have to carry a lantern to the ladies of their affections.—Com.

The Brookville district holiness convention held here on Wednesday and Thursday last was attended by a large number of ministers and laymen from all parts of the district. A great interest was manifested in the many scholarly addresses delivered, and at the evening meetings the church was filled to overflowing.

With more than ordinary pleasure I hereby testify to the great natural and acquired ability of Mr. McKay as a portrayal of the experiences of humanity. He is a lover and student of human nature, and is able to appreciate all sides of it, and splendidly succeeds in making others see it. Laughter or tears are equally easy, when Mr. McKay has the platform. C. O. JOHNSON, Pastor Queen St. Church.

Murder in the Plot.

A remarkable plot was unearthed in the Watertown County jail on Thursday last week. Eight prisoners had planned an escape, and had actually secured the keys of their cells. The names of the men implicated are William Devlin, John Clark, Wallace Brigham, Edward Robb, Arthur Campbell, Thomas Lawrence, William Chandler and E. J. Poirer. The scheme was "given away" by Brigham, who stated that Lawrence and a woman prisoner had become quite "chummy" and that he had prevailed upon the woman to give the keys to him. One of which he had taken the steel bars in his cell. The operation was to have been repeated in the other cells, and when completed, the signal of a gun or some other noise was to break out of their cells, kill Night Watchman Wheeler, secure his keys and liberate themselves. As a result of the timely information given by Brigham, the plot was "nipped in the bud."

In Lawrence's cell were found the saws with which he had cut out a number of the bars in the cell door. The plotters have been sentenced to kill Brigham at the first opportunity.

The First Creation.

The diocese of Ontario will occupy a notable position in church history. The advancement of the bishop of Ontario to be archbishop marks the first creation of that title within fifteen hundred years of the life of the Anglican church and represents the royal church from which it claims to spring.

Two archbishops in Ireland, one in Scotland and one in England have been nullified, but no new creation has been made. The result of the example now set will probably be the creation of several archbishops in the church in other British colonies.

Temperance Convention.

A general convention of the Leeds County Temperance Alliance will be held at Brockville next Monday, Oct. 30th, at 1:30 p.m. An urgent invitation to attend is extended to all ministers of the gospel in the county, to officers and representatives of the local Temperance councils, all Sons of Temperance and Good Templar lodges, and to all W. C. T. Union. Will these, and all Temperance workers, please accept this notice and invitation, and let us have a general rally to arrange for the great work before us.

For the Hospital.

The Athens Auxiliary of the Brockville General Hospital seem to be on the alert, judging from the stir they are making. They have formed a number of committees to canvass all the ground contiguous to Athens, to solicit contributions, and two of the ladies might have been seen returning to Athens yesterday with a fully laden wagon, the product of a visit to some of the generous farmers in the vicinity of the English church, Lansdowne. They had to return before one half of the ground was gone over. It is hoped that all the sections that are to be canvassed may prove equally generous. There is a strong feeling of sympathy in this section in favor of the hospital.

Notes in the Woods.

A Bedford Mills correspondent writes as follows: M. Grant was awakened from his slumbers by what he supposed was a wolf screaming in the bush. Fearing he would lose some sheep he lost no time in getting up and loaded his double-barrel shotgun with buckshot. He took a lantern and started for the bush. As he neared the spot where the screaming came from his assurance was strengthened when he thought the noise resembled that of a hoarse voice of a human being. He had never seen a panther but had heard that they made a noise something like a person crying. When within a few rods of the animal the noise ceased and in his utter astonishment he saw a pair of glaring eyes which shone like two balls of fire in a thick clump of bushes. He was not long in determining what it was, he raised his gun to his shoulder when he was startled by hearing a human voice saying, "Please don't shoot." Mr. Grant then advanced to the bushes and found little George Wyatt crouched on the ground almost paralyzed with fear. He had been out at James Goring's, near Elgin, on a visit, and started for home through the bush. He stopped at Chaffey's Locks to play with some of his playmates, stayed too long, and consequently was overtaken by darkness in the woods and got lost. He wandered about until ten o'clock when he began to cry and yell for help. Some cattle heard him and gathered around him. He thought they were wolves and yelled louder and Mr. Grant came to his deliverance.

SHOT TO KILL.

Collector Clark Fatally Wounded One of a Gang of Burglars.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Oct. 23.—About 1:15 o'clock yesterday morning burglars entered the residence of Mr. J. B. Clark, collector, with the purpose of robbery. Mr. Clark, collector, heard a slight noise in the office, and jumped off his couch where he had been sleeping in time to see a man stick his head through the bedroom door. Mr. Clark grabbed his revolver and asked the man what he wanted. The burglar backed to the door, and pulled to his feet, "Jack," he said, "I have a gun." Mr. Clark had just slammed the door shut when a bullet came through the door and entered the collector's chest. He fell back on the bed, and the burglar fled. Mr. Clark was not long in recovering from his wounds, but he is now in a precarious condition. The burglar was seen to enter the house through the window and started off. Mr. Clark and the lock men followed them as far as the railroad bridge, where they lost track of them, and only having one revolver in the party, and Mr. Clark without a bullet, they deemed it better to come back and get more help.

The police station at St. Catharines was notified at once, and the chief frontier police as soon as possible. No further trace of them was found until 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the body of a well-dressed young man about 25 years of age, with sandy hair and light sandy moustache was found about 40 yards from the shore of the lake. The examination of the body showed that the man had been shot through the chest and the bullet wound was found in the man's breast about half an inch above the right nipple, and it is supposed to be the man shot by Mr. Clark early yesterday morning.

A number of other pieces of jewellery were found in the pockets of the dead man's clothes. A heavy brown fringed overcoat with a fur collar and a St. Nicholas hat were also found. The man was identified as James Miller, a well-known jeweller of St. Catharines, who had been out on a visit to the collector's house at the time of the robbery. He was identified as James Miller, a well-known jeweller of St. Catharines, who had been out on a visit to the collector's house at the time of the robbery.

It is supposed that there were four men in the gang.

Several improvements are needed in this classic village; one of the most needed of these is an electric light at the gate of the Methodist church. This would save husbands much trouble, as, in the darkness of the night, the women escort married ladies away instead of the ladies of their affections.—Com.

The Brockville district holiness convention held here on Wednesday and Thursday last was attended by a large number of ministers and laymen from all parts of the district. Much interest was manifested in the many scholarly addresses delivered, and at the evening meetings the church was filled to overflowing.

With more than ordinary pleasure I hereby testify to the great natural and acquired ability of Mr. McKay as a portraitist of the experience of humanity. He is a lover and student of human nature, and able to appreciate all sides of it, and splendidly succeeds in making others see it. Laughter or tears are equally easy, when Mr. McKay has the platform.

—O. J. TOMANOW, Pastor Queen St. Church.

Murder in the Plot.

A remarkable plot was unearthed in the Waterford County jail on Thursday last week. Eight prisoners had planned escape, and had actually seen through the bars of their cells.

The names of the men implicated are William Devlin, John Clark, Wallace Brigham, Edward Robb, Campbell, Thomas Lawrence, William Granger and E. J. Peck. The scheme was "given away" by Brigham, who stated that Lawrence and a woman prisoner had become quite "chummy" themselves, and as a result of the timely information given by Brigham, the plot was "nipped in the bud."

In Lawrence's cell were found the saws with which he had cut a number of the bars of the cell door. The prisoners had threatened to kill Brigham at the first opportunity.

Village Council.

The adjourned meeting of the village council was held, as announced, on Tuesday evening last.

A motion was passed ordering the payment of $81 to W. G. Parish for lumber supplied.

After full and careful consideration the following agreement was, by resolution, entered into by the council: That the village council do hereby agree to relinquish all right of the village of the said water-courses across Sarah street and allow them to be filled up and made fit for traveling over; provided that at any time in the future the said Jas. J. Gordon, or his assigns, shall have the right to open them up, by putting in good substantial stone culverts and maintaining them in good repair, and that the village council do hereby agree to acquire said water privilege. Also that a copy of this resolution be entered on the minutes and a copy signed by the reverend clerk and the president of the council, and affixed thereto be given to said James J. Gordon.—Carried.

A Knew Lady.

A lady named Mrs. T. C. M. Humphries, living in Keene, Ont., who used only two bottles of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, has forwarded a statement to the effect that it completely cured her of inflammatory rheumatism, kidney and liver troubles. Such a complication of diseases yielding so quickly to this remedy should give an honest trial.
