Beautiful Cynthia;

Victory After Many Defeats.

CHAPTER XVI.

Cynthia dropped into her chair and covered her face with her hands. She was young, and notwithstanding the Griffin's training, was innocent and unworried.

To say that she would lay down her life for Darrel is but to utter a truism; that she, who loved him, should be a drag upon him, should ruin him, was simply impossible to her. She knew that what Lady Alicia had said to her was true—that if she saw Darrel, if she heard his voice pleading with her, if he touched her but once with his little finger, she would yield. She must not see him. What should she do?

Lady Alicia watched her closely. Would the girl slip through her fingers, after all?

"Don't grieve so, dear," she murmured sympathetically. "You will set me off crying presently. What will you do?"

"I don't know! I don't know!" broke from Cynthia, in a kind of wail. "What—what would you do?"

"Oh, my dear, my dear, it isn't fair to ask me," responded Lady Alicia, as if shrinking from the burden Cynthia would lay upon her. "You see, I don't love him"—as she spoke the words she seemed to scorch her tongue—"but if I did—mind, you asked me, Cynthia—I would write and tell him—"

Cynthia shook her head. She knew Darrel.

"It would be no use," she said, almost inaudibly. "He would not let me go—"

"Not if you told that you had discovered that he was poor," said Lady Alicia. "He would not accept that as a reason for breaking the engagement. He might give you up if you told him"—despite herself, she paused—"if you told him that you had changed your mind, that you did not care for him enough to marry him."

Cynthia winced and quivered as if she had been struck. She held her breath and gazed straight before her, and then she said suddenly, hoarsely:

My Digestion Is Now Good

And I Feel Like a Young Man Since Using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Prof. A. T. Smith.

What a horrible condition the digestive system gets into when the liver becomes sluggish and the bowels constipated. The poisonous waste matter is thrown back into the blood stream and finds its way into all parts of the body, causing pains and aches and feelings of fatigue and misery.

It is wonderful how quickly Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills sweep the poisons from the digestive system and enable the organs of digestion to resume their natural functions.

Prof. A. T. Smith, 1 Mt. Charles street, Montreal, and formerly of Boston, Mass., writes: "I suffered for many years from bad digestion, constipation and horrible backaches. I have been treated by many doctors without any results. One day a friend in Boston advised the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. After using two boxes I noticed great improvement, and after the fourth box I was completely cured. My digestion is good. I never feel any pain in the back. My head is clear and I feel like a young man. I think Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are one of the best medicines on earth."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

"Yes, I will do that; it—it is the only way! Oh, am I doing right?"

The cry broke from her in anguish. Lady Alicia was silent for a moment, as if she were struggling with her feelings; then she said, with an assumed reluctance:

"My dear, if you ask me, if you insist upon my answering, I must say that you are. If I were in your place I should feel as you are feeling. I could not drag down to ruin the man I loved."

"I will—I will write at once," said Cynthia, looking round helplessly. "But I don't know where to write—He has gone to his regiment to-night."

"Write to his quarters," said Lady Alicia. "But hadn't you better speak to Lady Westlake—"

"No, no!" said Cynthia, pushing the hair from her forehead with a trembling hand. "I must do it by myself—I must do it at once—before—oh, if I don't do it at once, if I wait, I shall never do it!"

Unsteadily, as if she were half blind, she went into one of the small rooms into which the conservatory led, and sat down before a writing table.

The room seemed to be whirling round about her, she could scarcely see the note paper or hold a pen; but at last she was able to write. She folded the paper, addressed the envelope, and looked up to find Lady Alicia standing beside her.

"You have quite made up your mind," murmured Lady Alicia.

Cynthia bowed her head and crouched in the chair, as if she had surrendered life itself. Lady Alicia bent and bestowed a Judas kiss on the bowed head.

"Dear, you have done a wise thing," she said soothingly. "It is precious hard for you now, but you will be glad afterward. You have acted very nobly; for all my talk I don't know that I could have done it. I am afraid I should have stuck to him—and been sorry for it the rest of my life, as you would have been. But think, Cynthia, before you post the letter!"

"I have thought," said Cynthia, in a dull, toneless voice. "Will you—will you post it for me, at once, please?" She rose and stood, her hand gripping the edge of the table. "I am very—tired. I—I want to go to my room. Will you tell Aunt Gwen that—that I have a headache? You have been very kind—I want to thank you."

She held out her hand; Lady Alicia took it, and made an effort to draw Cynthia to her. Cynthia yielded for an instant, then, struggling for breath, went out of the room. Lady Alicia stood for a moment or two with her fingers gripping the letter tightly, her underlip caught in her teeth.

No woman is quite merciless; not even Lady Alicia could look on unmoved at such agony as Cynthia's. There stirred within her bosom an almost irresistible desire to run after Cynthia, to tear up the letter. But she resisted the desire. Jealousy, her passion for Darrel, were too strong for the stirrings of pity.

She went into the drawing-room. The Griffin sat up and stared at her questioningly.

"Well?" she demanded eagerly, her lips moving spasmodically.

Lady Alicia nodded. It seemed as if she found it difficult to speak, but at last she said, in a dry voice:

"She has gone to her room. I have a letter to post for her. You can start for the Continent to-morrow. Will you be so kind as to order my carriage, Lady Westlake?"

CHAPTER XVII.

BAD NEWS.

Darrel reached his quarters in a frame of mind which does not need description. Cynthia would be his on the morrow. As he was rushing to his rooms, his man met him with a letter. Darrel thrust it into his pocket, but his man called his attention to the fact that it was marked "Immediate," and Darrel opened it.

It was from Mr. Burrigge, and, as Darrel read it, the flush of happiness faded from his face; he grew pale and stared before him apprehensively.

"Not bad news, sir, I hope," murmured his man, who was fond of him.

"Yes; it is," said Darrel brokenly. "My father has been thrown from his horse; he is badly hurt. I must go at once."

The man hurried off to pack; but Darrel stood hesitatingly. How could he leave Cynthia! He read the letter again. Mr. Burrigge said that Sir Anson had been injured, to what extent the doctors would not say. It might not be necessary for Darrel to come down at once, but Mr. Burrigge had thought it incumbent upon him to write. He would wire in the morning.

Darrel spent a sleepless night, trying to decide between his love for Cynthia and his duty to his father, whom he also loved. He tried to comfort and quiet himself with the reflection that it would be possible for him to marry Cynthia and to go down to Summerleigh by the afternoon train.

He knew what his father would say if the decision rested with him; with Sir Anson the woman he loved and to whom he owed a duty would come first.

As soon as the office was open he sent a telegram saying that he would come down by the midday train, and begging for news; then he got leave—alas, that was easy now, with such an excuse!—and ordered his dog-cart to take him to the station. The cart was at the door, when an orderly came up with a letter and a telegram; he opened the latter first and uttered a groan. "Come at once; much worse." What should he do? Cynthia would be waiting for him; how could he let her know? He could catch the early train to Summerleigh, if he started at once.

Mechanically he glanced at the letter in his hand, and his face flushed, for the address was in Cynthia's writing. With a strange presentiment, he shrank from opening the envelope. Why had she written? Had anything happened? He took out the letter slowly, and, as he read the few lines, his heart seemed to cease beating.

"Dear Darrel! I do not know how to write what I have to say. The fewest words are best. I cannot marry you; I have changed my mind. Nothing will make me alter it again. Please do not try and see me or even write to me—Cynthia."

At first he could not grasp the meaning of the words, and he read them over and over again; but at last their full significance crashed down upon him. They did not present any problem to him; he jumped at the only conclusion they seemed to convey.

Cynthia had found that she did not love him; she had been carried away by the impetuosity of his passion, had in the excitement of the moment, persuaded herself that she loved him, but on reflection had discovered that she did not care enough for him to become his wife. There was no longer any reason for him to hesitate between his father and the woman he loved. She had decided for him!

He drove to the station, caught the branch train, and picked up the express at Salisbury. His brain was in a whirl, he scarcely knew what he was doing or where he was going. At one moment his heart was racked by the thought of his father's danger, and the next it was tortured by the loss of Cynthia.

The carriage was waiting at Summerleigh station. To Darrel's broken, stammering question, "How is my father, Giles?" the old coachman merely sadly shook his head.

The railway journey had been long, but it seemed ages to Darrel before the sweating horse pulled up at the entrance of the Court. Priestly was at the door, his face as sad and grave as Giles; Mrs. Bowles, the house-keeper, came forward, trying to keep back her tears; Mr. Burrigge, his huge head thrust forward, his small eyes downcast, stood at the library door. Darrel scarcely spoke to any of them, and went quietly up the stairs into the darkened room.

The doctor and the nurse stood beside the bed on which Sir Anson lay. His face was gray, his eyes closed; Darrel bent over him and spoke the dear, sacred name:

Too Pretty by Half.

Some Real Life Tragedies Which Show That Good Looks Can be Dangerous.

Ask a girl what fairy's gift she would prefer—wealth, long life, goodness or beauty; in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred she will unhesitatingly plump for beauty. Looks mean so much to a woman that to most people it seems absurd to talk of the possibility of being too beautiful.

Yet only the other day, in a case in court, a well-known barrister mentioned an instance in which beauty brought trouble to its possessor and to her people. This was that of a London restaurant-keeper, whose daughter was so exceedingly lovely that great crowds collected to see her, completely upsetting the business of the restaurant and deeply embarrassing both the girl and her father.

The end of it was that the young lady had to be packed off into the country.

About two years ago a firm of dress-makers in the West End tried the experiment of collecting a number of pretty girls and putting them in the new dresses in their window, in place of the usual wax models. In less than an hour the street was blocked, the police had to interfere, and the proprietors were obliged to dispense with their charming dummies.

Looks that Lost a Husband.

There is at least one case on record of beauty being the means of losing a husband instead of winning one. The story comes from Genoa. Signorina de Frate of that city was so exquisitely lovely that crowds followed her in the streets. A wealthy and altogether desirable young man fell in love with her, and they became engaged.

One day, a photographer named Ricci came to Miss de Frate, and begged to be allowed to take her photograph. He offered a considerable sum if he might be allowed to sell her likeness on picture postcards. The lady consented, and when her lover, who had been away in Rome on business, returned, he found the pictures in every window. He was so disgusted that he at once broke off the engagement. She sued for breach of promise, but lost her case, and had to pay costs.

Blown to bits by a Rival.

Extreme beauty is naturally the cause of jealousy, and jealousy has unpleasant ways of manifesting itself. The tragedy of Mrs. Helen Taylor is a case in point. She was a widow famous for her beauty, and was rumored to be engaged to be married to a very wealthy man who had filled a girl for her sake.

One afternoon a messenger delivered a parcel at Mrs. Taylor's house. As she opened it, there was a terrific explosion and she fell dying, dreadfully mutilated. The perpetrator of the crime, a harmless-looking draughtsman, has just confessed on his death-bed to sending the bomb because Mrs. Taylor rejected his advances.

Jealousy is not confined to the weaker sex. In the commonplace surroundings of a suburban chemist's shop the Parisian police recently unearthed a drama of jealousy on the part of a husband which has no rival even in France.

Kept His Wife Chained Up.

Parab, the chemist had married an extremely pretty girl. He was jealous to begin with, but as time went on he grew worse. He could not bear that his wife should speak to, or even look at another man. First, he forbade her to leave the house, and finally he resorted to strait waistcoats and chains in order to keep her a prisoner.

At last the unfortunate woman managed to get word to her sister, and the police broke in. They found her in a bedroom, chained with strong steel chains to the wall.

Business firms have often cause to complain of the fair employees being too pretty. It is not only that a pretty girl distracts the attention of men in the shop or the works. The worst trouble, so far as the firm is concerned, arises when one of those pretty girls is injured in the course of her work and claims compensation. They declare that beauty in distress causes juries to be far too generous.

Facts seem to prove their contention. Only the other day a pretty girl who had lost part of her scalp in a machinery accident was awarded £2200. Another, who complained of shock to nerves from an explosion, received £400, while a third, who was bitten on the cheek by a dog, was awarded £240 damages against the owner.

Notes and Comments.

It is election year and Government work will be offered in profusion. We observe that the West End is to reap the advantage of the times. The basin west of the bridge is to be dredged, a pier built on the South side of it, and the Clapeau removed to the west of the present bridge which is to be replaced by a draw-bridge.

The desire of the people for good music was well illustrated last night when they thronged the streets leading to the doors of the Methodist College Hall long before the hour for opening. The hall was filled and many had to go away and were disappointed in their desire to hear the reproduction of Handel's Messiah by Mr. Allan and the Choral Society.

The Council is, to my mind, the most important educational organiza-

Codfish Valuable.

We learn from passengers by the express that the fishermen of Channel and Port aux Basques are reaping a rich harvest for their fish. As the boats come in off the ground a Gloucester vessel there takes the fish from the knife and the men get $6 per qtl. for it, so that men who get 10 to 15 qtls. daily are "ooling money." Cod is plentiful and it seems to be the irony of fate and is another illustration of Morris' fake cold storage promise—another of his "code" that this vessel should bring a lot of frozen squid along from Gloucester to our fishermen of Channel and sell it to them for bait. The vessel left Gloucester with a load of squid taken out of cold storage and sold two-thirds of the cargo at St. Pierre. If the fishermen of the S. W. Coast had now the squid out of cold storage which was promised them in connection with Morris, Trefethen & Lord "cod" they could catch all the fish they want now. They won't forget the oily Edward, however, when the Picnicer who represents the district again comes round.

Committed for Trial.

The preliminary enquiry into the indecent assault case preferred against one John Ashley, a seventy-five year old cooper, was concluded at noon to-day in Judge Knight's chamber. The prisoner was committed to the Supreme Court to stand his trial which will come off next month. Ashley is represented by Gibbs, K.C., his original counsel having thrown up the case, which is so wicked in detail. The prisoner asked for bail through his counsel. Bail was refused and he was committed to H. M. Penitentiary to await his trial.

DUE TO-NIGHT.—The Bruce express is due here at 11 to-night.

BEOTHIC DUE.—The s.s. Beothic is now due from New York with a coal cargo.

CONSCIENCE MONEY.—Mr. W. J. McKay, Water Street, to-day received four dollars conscience money due to his late mother's estate.—adv

STEPHANO LEAVES HALIFAX.—The Red Cross liner Stephano is expected to leave Halifax this evening for this port, bringing a full cargo.

PURCHASED PREMISES.—Messrs. Dicks & Co. recently purchased Mr. Raymond's premises on Duckworth St. to carry on their printing and book-binding business.

LINTROSE'S PASSENGERS.—The Lintrose arrived at Port aux Basques at 6.10 yesterday bringing T. T. Cartwright, H. Crawford, G. Spire, J. H. Carter, C. F. Butts, G. H. Fisher, E. H. Crawford, John Jenkins, G. Smith, H. H. Wilde and W. J. Ryan.

With business pressing, Miss Alta F. Gum, of Eaton, Colo., operator in charge of the telephone exchange there, was married to H. B. Mick, with the wedding the head receiver and with the switch-board plugs in one hand. Twice during the ceremony she stopped the officiating clergyman to answer calls.

WARM TO-DAY.—It was very warm to-day and straw hats were worn in the city. Across country a warm west wind blew and it was an ideal summer day. The thermometer registered 75 in the shade at Bishop's Falls and at other places 70 and 74.

HEARING TO-MORROW.—The man Corbett, who attacked the little girl Burke, at Conception Harbor recently, as told in the Telegram, will be up before Magistrate O'Toole to-morrow for a preliminary hearing. It is thought likely the case will come before the Supreme Court.

DOING GOOD.—Mr. Sandy French, son of Mr. Robert French, sailmaker, Harbor Grace, who has been working for the Sun Life Insurance Co. at Montreal, for the past four years, has lately been promoted to the position of confidential clerk. He enjoys good health, and has made many firm friends. Mr. French has many friends in St. John's, who will be glad to hear of his success.

KEEP DOWN THE DUST.—Pedestrians were complaining of the wretched condition of the streets yesterday and to-day due to the dust clouds. The Reid Co. should have the sprinkling car operating, even though the contract with the City Council does not commence until May 1st, as there will be several days during the contract that the water will not be kept down to keep the dust.

KITE'S CREW MAKE BILL.—The s.s. Kite finished landing her seals this morning. Her turnout was 63 young harps, 2 young hoods, 1,140 bedlamers, 59 old harps and 15 old hoods; total 1,280 seals; gross weight 37 tons, 4 cwt., 1 qr., 6 lbs.; gross value $2,474.12. Her crew of 38, including men and boys, shared $19.55 each. A great many of the Kite's seals were partially destroyed. The seals were wrongly culped by some of the boys who were inexperienced.

SCARLET FEVER.—A case of scarlet fever was reported from a residence on the Southside Road Saturday afternoon. The patient is being treated at home.

CAME WITH LUNATIC.—Sergeant Crane, of the West Coast, arrived here by the express last night with a woman named Baker for the Lunatic Asylum. She had been living with her daughter in Halifax and was sent on here from Sydney.

GOES IN EARLSHALL.—It is likely that Capt. Waite will take command of Job's barge, Earls Hall, which has made nautical history. Capt. Falk, who brought the vessel here from the Old Country, continues in charge of the s.s. Nascopic.

The Quarterly Meeting of the St. Bon's Ladies' Association will be held in the Aula Maxima on Wednesday, April 30, at four o'clock. MINNIE BATES, Hon. Sec.—apr28,21

DURANGO FROM LIVERPOOL.—The s.s. Durango, Capt. Chambers, ten days from Liverpool, reached port Saturday afternoon. Moderate weather was met throughout the passage. She brought 800 tons of freight and twenty packages of mail matter. The Durango left Liverpool two days ahead of the Allan boat Sardinian.

KINDLY ACT.—Councillor J. T. Martin recently imported from England a number of particular trees which he presented to the priests of the Deanery of St. Patrick's and for which they are deeply thankful. These will, when they reach maturity, form a splendid hedge around the Deanery grounds, and will certainly beautify the surroundings.

MUSICAL RECITAL.—A Concert will be given in George St. Church on Wednesday evening, at 8.30. Some of the leading musicians of the city will assist the choir. Programme will be published to-morrow.—li

BASEBALL ENTHUSIASTS.—The baseball enthusiasts of the city, are now hard at work at the game, and practice each afternoon and evening of Saturdays. Reids and the Imperial teams had a practice match on the Parade Ground Saturday, and the former team often has practice in the square near the railway station, sometimes to the detriment of the windows. The Shamrock team yesterday afternoon has an interesting practice match and the first League game will likely occur on Empire day, May 24.

NOTE OF THANKS.—P. F. and W. Collins wish to thank Doctors Knight and Cowperthwaite, Misses Southcott and Bowden, Sisters Forsey and Taylor, Nurses Sheppard, Fleming, Edgar, Moore, Taylor, Carroll, Payne and Penney, for their kindness and attention shown to their sister Agnes Collins, during her illness at the General Hospital.—adv

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mrs. Patrick Murphy, Hamilton St., wish to tender her sincere thanks to those kind friends and neighbors for their expressions of sympathy and condolence in the recent great loss she has sustained and would make particular mention of the following: Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Penney, The Misses Condy, Miss Andrews, P. Berrigan, Miss Berrigan, W. A. Ellis; and also to the T.A. Liverpool masses; T. A. Band, Floating Dock Coy., and Mr. P. Byrne, for wreaths sent to adorn the coffin of her dear husband.—adv

FENCING PARADE GROUND.—The work of fencing in the Parade Ground, which the Council has determined upon, will shortly begin. An ornamental iron fence will encircle the land with a base of concrete and the Council will be liable for that portion of it which will run down around Harbor Road and up by the Barracks, while the Government will do the portion running along opposite Mount St. Francis and down towards the Central Station. Next year the place will be planted with trees and sodded.

The Militant

Suffragette

You can talk of life on the ocean wave

Or sing of the roaring gale,

Of the trumpet's call as the billows fall

Like demons upon the sail;

But give me the life of the suffragette

With powder and torch and fuse,

And I'll guarantee, as I wander free,

To cut a swath in the news.

And slip away in the dark;

As a matter of pride I'll stand aside

To laugh at my midnight lark,

I'll fill a mail box with acid or oil;

I'll blow up a bridge with glee;

And I'll say to the judge: "What, hot oh, fudge!

Now what can you do to me?"

"If you send me to jail I'll hunger-strike,

And when I get out once more

I'll join in the fray in the same old way,

But worse than I did before."

Oh, the life of a Suffragette for me.

It's out of the beaten track.

And the thing I like when I war and strike—

The gentlemen can't hit back.

MAJ DEVOTIONS.—Devotions for the month of May will open on Thursday evening next in the R. C. Cathedral and St. Patrick's. The Litany of the Blessed Virgin will be sung each evening to new settings and the choir boys of the Christian Brothers Schools and St. Patrick's and Holy Cross will sing.

FISH STILL COMING.—The motor ketch "A. F. Goodridge" arrived here Saturday afternoon from Renew, with 200 qts. codfish. There is still a good deal of fish along the Southern Shore, which was caught late last fall, has been in salt bulk all winter and was recently cured for shipment here.

CAMPING OUT.—The first summer camp was erected on the Southside Hill, just above Ford's Hill, Saturday and was tenanted yesterday and last night for a while by several friends of an invalid who has erected it there. The hills will be dotted with tents this year and many will be erected on the Southside.

A PLUCKY BOY.—The lad M. Dillon, who jumped overboard Saturday on Goodridge's wharf and saved another named Palphrey, is a son of the late Capt. Dillon, and is a plucky lad. Palphrey was so far gone that he had to be rolled to get the water out of him. The lad Dillon, who is only 15 years old, has more than once saved companions from the water.

Big Act at Rossley's.

The old style of clog dancing that has died out of late years is to be revived at Rossley's theatre to-night. Jack Rossley, while in London, had made to order several styles of dancing boots and wooden shoes or clogs, and will show the patrons of the Rossley Theatre what he can do in that direction. Rossley is considered one of the finest dancers now living among the old-time performers. In 1884 he was presented in London with the championship medal for clog dancing having danced without music thirty-two different steps without missing a tap out of fifty competitors. From coast to coast Jack Rossley was known as the man with the educated feet. Not as young as he used to be, he can give the younger members of the theatrical profession a great lesson in dancing. There is a big musical act of 12 people arranged for to-night, and Shadrack and Talbot in new and up to date songs and dances. Then some fine imported from Europe pictures and the popular Star orchestra, a great variety to please all.

The Police Court.

Two drunks were discharged. Three drunks were fined $1 each or 3 days. Two deserters were put on board their ship, the "Ada Peard." The two men who are held on several charges in connection with breaking and entering Ellis & Co.'s store, and stealing therefrom a quantity of liquor, will come up at 3 p.m. to-day.

Price of Biscuits.

WHY IS IT NOT REDUCED?

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I ask you to grant me space in the People's Paper to say a few words about the price of biscuits which still hold up to the same old price notwithstanding that the cost of sugar has been reduced three cents a pound. We hear a lot of talk from the manufacturers of biscuits and we see their prices go up when the cost of ingredients increases. They are very smart then and they lost no time in getting out their new prices, but when the cost of ingredients go down, as in the present case we hear nothing about the price of biscuits going down. Now, Mr. Editor, this game has worked long enough and people are beginning to open their eyes and what they want is a square show. It is no use of the duties being reduced if the manufacturers who are already protected by big duties on imported goods, have all the benefit. We want a reduction in the price of biscuits, because flour is cheap to-day, currants are duty free and sugar is duty free. Biscuits are like the butter, once they go up in price they never come down again. I remember the time in this town when I used to buy a ten pound tub of creamery at the store of the late John W. Foran for one dollar and seventy-five cents. Now to-day I have to pay two dollars, and twenty-five cents for the same kind of butter. The two big manufacturing concerns that manufacture this butter have their business protected by a three cent duty on the imported butter which helps to keep the imported butter out. And the two bakeries of this town mind you, Mr. Editor, are protected by a duty of three and a half cents on the imported biscuits, and it is also generally believed that another bakery is closed in this town and being paid for stopping closed. The argument is very often put up that these concerns give a lot of labour, but my opinion is, Mr. Editor, that it would be better for the consumer if the Government took off the protection in the way of duty and let the imported article come in duty free, for these concerns do not give labour to a handful of people. Yes, Mr. Editor, your widely read paper has always championed the cause of the poor man and shown up the wrongs that they suffer under and I tell you, sir, that your kindness is appreciated, for the People's Paper to-day enjoys three times the circulation of any other paper in the country, and I tell you, sir, that the people of this country are just waking up and those who think we cannot see as far through a stone wall as they can are sadly mistaken. Let Morris see that the people get the benefits from reduced duty, let him hustle and keep his eye on the trusts that are cropping up in this town to-day. Let him make enquiries and see if we have not an oil trust in this town, a crowd of importers that meet and fix a price on oil that is away beyond what it should be. Between the biscuits, oil and butter and goodness knows what else the people are being fleeced, and it is high time for a change to come that will wake up the crowd who have had things their own way long enough.

I remain, Mr. Editor, WEST END GROCER. April 27, 1913.

"I killed Mildred Donovan. That was only one of the many murders I committed. That is all I have to say. What do you think of that?" This confession was uttered from the dock in the Superior criminal court, in Boston, last week, by William B. Jennings, known in the prize ring as "Young Kid Carter," just after he had been found guilty of killing William H. McPherson, a bar-tender, on New Year's Day, and had been sentenced to imprisonment for life. Mrs. Donovan, of Revere, whom Jennings described in a statement made after court adjourned as "a pal who would do anything for me," met her death on New Year's Eve. Jennings said that he invited her for a walk and near Holy Cross Cemetery, in the Linden section of Malden, strangled her. Her body was found there the next day. "I killed her because I was afraid she would squeal about some of my crimes," Jennings declared.

Roman Tragedy.

A tabloid of Daly's biggest success "A Night Off," will be the next comedy treat the Casino Company will offer. It is considered to be one of the best comedies ever written and Mr. Barr has retained all the vital points and eliminated the "padding" or superfluous matter, with which most plays are necessarily filled, in order to constitute a two and a half hour entertainment. The plot treats of a Roman Tragedy which a mild and learned professor has written to while away his leisure hours. A theatrical manager having read the play persuades the professor to let him produce it. The professor, who is much "hen pecked" by an aristocratic but dominating wife, takes advantage of her absence, and all goes swimmingly when the wife, who abhors theatricals, unexpectedly returns and all is chaos. Two daughters and a son-in-law figure in the plot, also the son's friend, who, being rather fast, has incurred debts and taken to acting to retrieve his fortune. The members of the company will all appear at their best in the roles assigned to them, so we can feel assured of an excellent performance of a most delightful and high class comedy.

The fishery on the Western Banks, is now over, according to news just received by the Portia, and the voyage on the whole is one of the best on record. Handliners get out daily in their boats and get good fares. Fish are very plentiful. There is also a good sign of herring for bait.

Handel's Messiah Repeated.

Handel's Messiah was repeated at the College Hall last night and possibly never before was such an immense audience gathered in the building. The doors were to open at 8.00, but from 7.30 until the opening a great crowd had collected at the entrances on Harvey Road and Long's Hill, and shortly after the place was opened every seat was filled, standing room was at a premium and hundreds had to leave without admission. The Oratorio was excellently conducted. The solos were well rendered as well as the choruses, while the orchestral and organ accompaniments left nothing to be desired. The collection as a very generous one and will it is expected, be quite sufficient to defray the expenses in connection with this Sunday performance and makes it unnecessary to make any call on these gentlemen who kindly consented to be guarantors for any deficit.

Choice Beef Cattle.

A carload of choice beef cattle were night. The shipment came from P.E. night. The shipment came from P. E. Island, the shipper being Mr. Wheatley, of Charlottetown. The animals were a fine lot, and compared favorably with shipments from Ontario. Cattle shipments to Newfoundland were never so heavy as at present, and Dr. Thurston, the Government Inspector, is kept busy. A sad feature of the deplorable condition of affairs at the terminus wharf, is the utter lack of room for live stock en route to Newfoundland or St. Pierre. If the S.P.C. would give this particular branch some attention, there is no doubt their good influence would have some weight with the Minister of Railways; every other known remedy was tried to induce the railway authorities to do something for the care and housing of dumb animals in transit, and which are obliged to remain here for days at a time in all kinds of bad weather, but the appeals have fallen on deaf ears. [The above lost of cattle were consigned to Messrs. T. & J. Cook, of this city, and are said to be the finest lot of beef cattle that has come to this city for a long time.—Ed. Ev. Tel.]

Cable News.

Special to Evening Telegram.
NEW YORK, To-Day.
The Brooklyn Eagle's London correspondent writes as follows: "I am able to announce definitely that King George will visit Canada in 1914. Only some such unexpected event as a European war involving England or a family bereavement will prevent this trip taking place. The King and his advisers are taking somewhat unnecessary pains to keep the proposed visit a secret. They are so afraid that Canadians will be disappointed that they dread the King's attention being announced at this distant date. The meeting of King George and President Wilson at Niagara Falls will likely be arranged within the near future. King George intimates his willingness to open the Toronto Exhibition in August 1914. Preparations for this event are already being made in English Court circles. It will be the first time any King of England has visited Canada, and it is hoped the Queen will accompany the King; but nothing yet is definitely settled as regards this. The Prince of Wales is quite likely to be with his father on this interesting trip. It is understood that the Duke of Connaught cordially endorsed the earnest solicitation of the Canadian Government and people to which the King has just acceded, so far as his plans can be arranged in advance, a welcome assent."
As the yacht races for America's Cup takes place in September, 1914, there is just a chance the King on his return trip home may be a spectator of Sir Thomas Lipton's fourth attempt to lift the cup. It has been suggested that the warship in which the King makes his trip to Canada should be diverted to Sand Hook so that King George can see in person what happens to the Four Leafed Shamrock. It is not likely the King would go ashore at New York, but it can be suitably arranged, he would be glad to see one or two of the races for America's cup. During the King's absence from England the Royal prerogatives will be invested in a commission similar to that which was appointed when he was in India to regulate the honours of His subjects in that Empire. For reasons of State it may be decided that the Prince of Wales shall stay in England while his father is abroad. This trip to Canada is only a forerunner of other King George's ambition is to be the first King to visit not only Canada but also Australia and South Africa.

Strassberger Post asserts that the German Emperor received a telegram to the effect that the Austrians had already entered Montenegro. This is probably premature, but little doubt is now felt that Austria is determined to act alone, unless the Ambassadorial conference at London on Monday resolves upon European action.

WASHINGTON, To-day.
Both in set speeches and discussion, speakers at the meeting of the American Society of International Law maintained that the States was under moral as well as international obligation to submit the Panama Canal tolls controversy to arbitration. It was also held by several speakers that Congress should at once repeal the Tolls Exemption Act and submit the subject to diplomatic negotiations. Hannis Taylor, former Minister to Spain, declared that upon the settlement of this controversy hinged a century old friendship between the United States and Great Britain and voiced an earnest plea to Congress. Amos H. Hershey, Professor of International Law, University of Indiana, was another speaker who desired the question to be submitted to arbitration.

VIENNA, To-day.
The official French diplomat discussing Secular says: "If Austria-Hungary is to be really tranquilized, the Great Powers must not stop at a platonic declaration and their unanimous intention. They must convert their good-will into deeds without delay in this connection. Constant talk abroad of compensating Montenegro for her military services, makes especially a bad impression of the political and military prestige Europe suffered by the fall of Secular. If this injury to their prestige, this check to their ambitions in a matter of indifference to the Powers, Austria cannot follow them along such paths. She must insist with all emphasis her command on a remedy being found as speedily and thoroughly as possible. The minimum she demands is an immediate presentation by the Powers at Cologne, of the protest they have already decided upon in the form of a vigorous demand for the evacuation of Secular at once. In the event of a refusal the adoption of further military measures for the forcible carrying out of the will of Europe will be made. Any hanging back on the part of Europe in this action would excite feelings of dissatisfaction and bitterness in Austria-Hungary. It will be Europe's interests to prevent this."

Alligator in Bed.

South Norwalk, Conn., April 22.--When Miss Lillian A. Walsh, a school teacher here, pulled down the covers of her bed last evening, she found a frisky young alligator there. One look was enough. Springing to the top of her bureau she yelled, "Get it out!"
The door of the room was locked and Miss Walsh had no desire to unlock it. Nor did she want any member of the Storey family, with whom she lives, to come in. Even in her excitement she did not forget that her raiment consisted of a single, light garment, which for the greater part of the time was far above her ankles.
Under the circumstances her cries were understood and the fire department was summoned. By the time the firemen arrived the truth had been ascertained, and Miss Dorothy Smith, another teacher, who owned the alligator, had seized it and returned it to its cage. The alligator was only eight inches long. It had just been sent to Miss Smith from Florida.

From Siberia's Hell To Canada.

After living for two years a fugitive under the shadow of the iron hand of the Russian secret police service, and tottering on the verge of collapse from her many thrilling experiences, Mary Sukloff, a youthful looking nihilist, and a leading figure in one of the many Leagues of Freedom in Russia, arrived in safety at the home of her brother, William Sukloff, a leading merchant, in Trenton, Ont., merchant, following a sensational escape from a Siberian fortress to which she had been sentenced to life imprisonment as a result of the internal turmoil which the nation had been thrown into by the intrigues of the various hands. The restoration of Miss Sukloff to her brother was brought about as the result of an article printed in a Toronto paper, which gave a clue to her whereabouts after she had been missing for over ten years, and her brother had abandoned all hope of locating her. Overjoyed to find that his sister had been almost miraculously restored to him through the medium of the newspaper, Sukloff at once had sufficient money forwarded to her by Gurofsky, and all arrangements were made to bring the escaped prisoner to Canada, where she could reside in safety. Early last week Sukloff received a despatch that the boat upon which she was travelling was nearing Halifax, and he at once went to the seaport to meet her.
Woven around the life of that exile is a story replete with its thrills and intrigues that would rival the creative genius of a Dumas. In it are unfolded the sufferings and miseries of the unfortunate condemned to the waters of Siberia, while the two thrilling escapes of the fugitive from under the eyes of armed guards, and the fidelity of the members of the League of Freedom in sheltering her reads more like a chapter taken from extravagant fiction than a page torn from real life. Although but twenty-nine years of age, Miss Sukloff has had adventures and sufferings seldom equalled by the most daring adventurer. Not only has she made two of those heart-breaking trips to the Siberian prisons, and twice escaped, but she was also one of the chiefs of the great Russian secret society for liberty, and lived constantly in fear of detection and even death.

Answer: MICHELIN

As a Time and Money-Saving Proposition, 77 per cent. say MICHELIN. As an Experimental Proposition, 23 per cent. are undecided, still experimenting with various makes, with the consequent loss of time and money.

Fancy pattern covers are no doubt attractive, they are intended to be; they are also a good advertisement.

To the shrewd buyer the very fact of such a great variety of Fancy Pattern Tyres proves conclusively that none of the patterns are correct.

Either one is best and should be universally adopted, or all are unnecessary.

MICHELIN are not fancy pattern covers: Quality is their watchword, and on their merits they stand or fall.

In celebration of the capture of Scutari by King Nicholas, he has liberated the men who were implicated in the conspiracy to murder him in 1909. Those convicted included former Premier Radovich, who is related to the King by marriage. Juvanovics escaped from jail by tunnelling under the structure, but Radovich, who was in the plot, failed to get away.

BRUSSELS, April 27.
The equal suffrage strike is ended in most of the industrial towns. In the provinces a good many miners still refuse to descend into the coal pits, but it is thought that by Monday all will obey the orders of the National Socialist Congress. Competent economists reckon the money loss caused by the strike at $20,000,000, which the Socialist leaders declare to have been well lost, if the country has thereby won equal suffrage.

ROME, April 27.
The departure of Angelo Sarlo, brother of the Pope, from the Vatican, is regarded as confirmation of the reported continued improvement in the condition of the Supreme Pontiff. Later the Pope was allowed by his doctors to stand behind the windows of his bedroom and watch the American pilgrims crossing the Square of St. Peter's, to enter the bronze door of the Vatican for reception by Cardinal Merry del Val, Papal Secretary of State.

NEW YORK, April 27.
Dr. Friedmann has arranged the sale of his anti-tuberculosis vaccine for $125,000 in cash, and $1,800,000 in stock in thirty-six Friedmann Institutes to be organized in as many selected states, with a total capital of $5,400,000, according to the Times. A large wholesale drug store is named as the purchaser. It was stated at Friedmann's hotel last night, that all plans had been made for the distribution of the serum, but the contract was not signed yet, and all details would be given by Friedmann Monday.

VIENNA, April 27.
Austria-Hungary will wait until Monday for some decisive action of the Powers regarding Scutari, according to a statement made in official quarters. Should the Powers fail by that time to agree on a united action, Austria-Hungary will proceed alone to vindicate her political and military prestige. It is reported that Germany has promised to support Austria, under all circumstances. Much significance is attached to the conference, which the foreign minister and war minister had with the Emperor yesterday.

LONDON, April 27.
Diplomatic circles here regard the withdrawal of Bulgarian troops from Saloniki as having great bearing on the Greco-Bulgarian differences regarding the possession of the town. Since the fall of Janina the Greeks have been concentrating their forces in the neighborhood of Saloniki. It is thought the Bulgarian commander at Seres became alarmed at the situation, and as a small Bulgarian force was left isolated, thought it wise to retire. Although the rupture is not believed imminent, developments are awaited with anxiety. The withdrawal of the troops is not regarded as indicating any change of the Bulgarian attitude on the subject of possession of Saloniki.

LONDON, April 27.
Hyde Park was again turned into a bedlam by the suffragettes and their opponents this afternoon. The women declining to recognize the police order that no suffragette meetings were to be held there appeared with a wagon and proceeded to address a small crowd. Youths commenced to gather and an attempt was made to drag the wagon to the Serpentine for the purpose of ducking the women. Mounted police intervened just in time to save them and these women were escorted from the Park followed by a jeering crowd, who pelted them with turf and street refuse. After they entered the wagon, men supporters of their cause were treated similarly by the crowd who refused to allow any suffragette meeting, militant or otherwise.

What About Your Cough?

Is it gradually growing from bad to worse? A person contracts a cold some way or another. Very often you do not know how you contracted it. The symptoms do not begin until 1 or 2 days after.

1st—It affects the head, causing a nasty, uncomfortable feeling for about 36 hours, leaving the head and affecting the throat and gradually settling on the chest, which 9 cases out of 10 is neglected. This is the time when the danger is at hand.

If there is nothing to relieve the spasms of coughing and to take effect on the bronchial organs of the throat and chest, the chances of the cough leaving the system of its own accord is not very great.

As a rule in the night your cough is worse than any other time.

Phoratorone Cough Mixture quickly gets at the seat of all kinds of coughs and colds, and in a few hours great relief is obtained. If you mix equal parts of Stafford's Liment and Sweet Oil in a saucer, warm slightly and apply on a piece of thick flannel, placing same over chest and allowing it to remain three or four hours, this will also relieve you a great deal.

Hundreds of people have coughs and colds gradually growing from bad to worse just because they do not take the proper treatment. If you are one of these don't delay any longer.

Phoratorone Cough and Cold Cure is prepared only by DR. F. STAFFORD & SON, St. John's, Nfld. Price 25c. a bottle; postage 5c. extra. apr25,tf

Mrs. Pankhurst.

I'll starve and die ere I'll eat pie in this my gloomy prison; John Bull may fret and fuss and sweat, I'll eat no grub of his'n. All night I dream of cake and cream, roast beef and skilful carving, of Lima beans and luscious greens—and daylight find me starving. I dream of tea that's not for me, of doughnuts, clams and fritters; do women know the load of woe I bear for fellow critters? In days of old the martyrs bold went bravely to the burning, but they could eat until the heat wound up their stomachs' yearning. In times far back men on the rack were stretched and strain riven, but they had cake and pie to break the agonies thus given. The doomed galoot endured the boot, but ere they made him suffer, and broke his legs, some hem and eggs they gave the wretched duffer. All these might eat their bread and meat and still be counted martyrs, but I must shrink from food and drink and masticate my garters. All night I dream of pink ice cream and sausages and chickens, and when I wake at morning's break, I'm hungry as the chickens!

Thrown into River and Drowned.

Bolton, Vt., April 21.—A negro youth of about 18 years old, who wandered into town Saturday, was hurled into the Winoek River, where he was drowned. It is charged, by four men, three of whom had accused him of stealing their dinner pails.

Three of the men, Henry McCabe, Jas. Sweeney and John Jennison, all of this town, were arrested last night and taken to the jail at Birmingham. Their companion, Henry Goodrich, also of Bolton, has disappeared, and is being sought. Jennison volunteered the circumstances of the negro's death, and the police say that his story was corroborated by the other prisoners. According to their version of the affair the boy was an unwilling participant in a game of "snap the whip" which crowned their efforts to extort a confession from him. When the whip "snapped" the victim shot into the stream and sank after a brief struggle.

CONTRAST.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

"Oh, dear, why isn't it always Saturday afternoon and Sunday," sighed the Stenographer-Lady, as she stopped at my gate to exchange greetings one blue Monday morning.

She expressed a feeling as old and as new as life itself. Doubtless you felt it today as you took up your routine after any break, however short. And yet, to say nothing of the infinite joy or work itself, how much less the pleasures of idleness would be if we did not have the contrast of work.

Few people realize the value of contrast. And yet what a tremendous force it exerts, and what an important part it plays in the lives of all of us.

It takes the contrast of misfortune to make us value good fortune. We drifted into a discussion the other day as to what had been the happiest moment of our lives, and one woman said promptly that the very happiest moment of her life was that in which she found a valuable ring which she had lost. Undoubtedly there must have been moments of greater positive happiness in her life, but it was the contrast afforded by the misery of anxiety which threw the happiness of that particular moment into chief prominence.

In all the gamut of pleasures which the world affords there is none more exquisite sensation than the cessation of pain? Surely there is no one who has suffered who cannot recall how blessedly happy is that golden moment of relief that comes when some terrible pain has ceased to torment.

If every woman were beautiful would there be such a thing as a beautiful woman?

Do the people live in ideal climates where it is never too hot or too cool, get as much pleasure out of their continual felicity as we do out of an occasional perfect day?

If there were no such thing as death to enhance the value of life, would we appreciate what a wonderful thing life is?

And, hark back to the little Stenographer-Lady, how could we possibly know the richest pleasures of idleness if we did not have the blessed contrast of work?

The only reason I ever knew to dispute this last fact was Dr. Johnson, and I'm sure he only did it for the sake of being contrary. Boswell had said, "We grow weary when idle," and Johnson promptly retorted, "That is, sir, because others being busy, we want company; but if we were idle, there would be no growing weary; we should all entertain one another."

It sounds plausible, but I don't believe it, and I don't think Johnson really believed it.

Of course it is hard to realize it sometimes, but life without contrast would surely be as dull and flat as a picture without light and shade.

Ruth Cameron

A BLOOD MEDICINE WITHOUT ALCOHOL.

Recently it has been definitely proven by experiments on animals that alcohol lowers the germicidal power of the body and that alcohol paralyzes the white corpuscles of the blood and renders them unable to take up and destroy disease germs. Disease germs cause the death of over one-half of the human race.

A blood medicine, made entirely without alcohol, which is a pure glyceric extract of roots, such as Bloodroot, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Mandrake and Stone root, has been extensively sold by druggists for the past forty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, the founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, and a physician of large experience and practice, was the first to make up an ALTERNATIVE EXTRACT of roots, without a particle of alcohol or narcotic.

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I write to let you know of the great benefit I received from the use of your medicine and self-treatment at home," writes Mrs. Wm. Harris of Ludwigham, B. C. "I suffered from three years from a rheumatic fever. I consulted four doctors but they failed to mend or give relief. Finally I was told I was in consumption and would have to consult a specialist concerning my case. That the dead bone must be cut out before the wound would heal. A kind friend advised me to write to Dr. Pierce, which I did, and after seven months' use of the treatment the sore is healed, and I enjoy better health than I ever did. I dressed the wound with Dr. Pierce's Absorbing Salve and took the Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets for my troubles. I shall always recommend your medicine.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver and bowels.

Fashions and Fads.

Draped coats for afternoon and evening are one great feature of the season's openings.

Tulle pleating makes a fascinating trimming for the new figured crepe de Chine gowns.

Black-and-white checked skirts are in high favor, especially on account of the odd coats.

Some of the new black-and-white checked skirts have bright green satin-bound buttonholes.

Fine Chambray lace, soutache and embroidered tulle are used to trim silk and crepon sole toilettes.

Bright-colored coats of silk tulle are worn over tulle and lace blouses by smartly dressed girls.

Little girls' Russian blouses are gathered into shaped bands or held at the long waistline by a leather belt. Mantlets of supple taffeta in plain, and brocaded silks are cut off at the knee line and worn with smart gowns.

For tennis, the proper skirts are of white corduroy, linen and rep or serge with pleats let in at side or back.

White lingerie dresses of voile-pongee are being trimmed with soutache effects in white embroidery on tulle.

Many of the white net blouses to satin afternoon gowns have rows of tiny satin buttons the color of the gown.

Spring flowered foulard makes charming summer toilettes with the skirts draped or fashioned with tulle sashes.

The bolero over a lace blouse worn with a draped skirt makes a charming street costume for warm spring days.

Some of the new sailor hats are covered with cotton broche ratine, their trimming usually a quill or slender feather.

Russian blouse coats this season are recognized chiefly by the peplum. They are apt to be cutaways and come in different lengths.

The effective touch of very bright color plays such an important part in the summer fashions that it should never be forgotten.

Some of the new peasant skirts are arranged with a drapery suggesting the wide, baggy movement of the Pincushion's trousers.

Women who cannot wear the regulation bright colors in their clothes can adopt them as linings with satisfactory effect.

The prettiest school wash dress for a child is the simple, solid-colored chambray with belt and hair ribbon of some bright color to match.

Spring evening wraps are of heavy chermuse, draped and lined with the same material. Edges of natural-colored marabout make a delightful finish.

Free Discharge Offered Men of the Niobe.

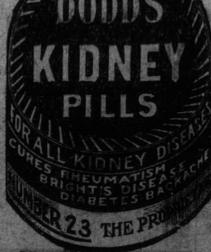

Told They Need Not Serve Out Term.

Hallifax citizens will be surprised to learn that within the last few days the men of H. M. C. S. "Niobe" have been offered a free discharge. That is, the greater part of the ship's company are at liberty to leave the Navy should they so desire.

When the order came recently that the Commander wished all hands to come aft, there was considerable speculation as to what information he was going to impart to the sailors, but when the offer was made, every man was completely taken by surprise.

Such a situation had never been anticipated by any of the ship's company. Very evidently the Minister of Marine has been a little previous in anticipating the passing of the Borden policy, as of course this is the real reason for the offer being made.

The news came as a blow to some of the young Canadian lads who have done well on the "Niobe" and for whom the prospect of promotion was very bright. Especially to those who had resolved to devote their lives to the Navy. After having served over twenty years they are coolly told that they can take a free discharge, their services are not required any longer.

A Chronicle reporter called on Commander Macdonald to ask if he could furnish any reason for the step being taken. The Commander said that the Government did not think that it was fair to keep the Canadian recruits on in a Navy which might or might not continue. The ex-Imperial men would of course stay on, he said.

Asked as to how the Canadian boys had turned out as sailors, Commander Macdonald said that on the whole they had become most useful men. They had on board the "Niobe" some very fine lads, both English and French Canadians, some of whom had got along remarkably well.

While not committing himself to any opinion on the matter, Commander Macdonald showed that he was sorry that the offer had been made for the sailors' sake. He was evidently very proud of his men, whom he said were as fine a ship's crew as one could wish to have.

A report current had it that an alternative offer of a six months' cruise in British navy warships would be made to the Canadian sailors, probably with the view of their being absorbed in the British service.

Items of Interest

C. Schrades of Denver has offered the Colorado State Museum an apple which was evidently petrified in his furnace. Mr. Schrades threw the slightly worm-eaten apple into his furnace three weeks ago, and when he cleaned out the ashes a few days later he found the apple still perfect in shape and color, but so hard that the point of a knife blade could not be driven into it.

The death duties collected in Great Britain in 1904 amounted to $62,000,000, and in 1912 to $126,000,000, the yield having doubled in eight years. Four members of the famous thread-making firm of Coats, of Paisley, have died within a year, leaving an aggregate estate valued at $23,000,000 and paying nearly $4,000,000 in death duties.

The twenty-ninth child of Charles Rogers has just been baptized at Chiswick, G.B. The baby was named Joseph Deely Rogers, after his godfather, Joseph Deely, M.A., a local philanthropist. Mr. Deely has put $500 in the bank for the benefit of his god-son, Mr. Rogers, who is a builder, 74 years old, has sixteen children living. He has been married twice, the first time in 1865, and has had eight children by his second wife, whom he married fourteen years ago. Seven children of the second marriage are still living, the eldest being thirteen years old. Twelve of his first wife's children died in infancy. The others are all living in Chiswick or its neighborhood.

S. F. P. Morse

BY H. L. RANN.

If it had not been for Samuel F. B. Morse, whose birthday we celebrate to-morrow, there would be no such thing as the telegraph instrument or the peak-headed telegraph operator who delivers a message four days after the funeral has been held. This is ample reason why we should pause a moment and review the life of this great and good man, who started out in life with nothing but his initials and wound up with more decorations than a Russian wrestler.

The inventor of the telegraph was born in Charleston, Massachusetts, April 27, 1791. He became a painter and did quite a little sculpting, but after pursuing art all over Europe without quite catching up with it, he decided to invent the telegraph. There was a good deal of need of the telegraph in those days, owing to the fact that it took four weeks to send a letter successfully in any direction. Mr. Morse looked around him and saw people who had sent darning letters in early youth and never received any reply to them, so he captured a little horse electricity and taught it to run back and forth on a long wire and say "ah." He then got up an alphabet which always misspells the name of the deceased and sounds like the impromptu remarks of a man who has stepped on a tack in the bath room.

When Mr. Morse tried to sell his invention to the United States government, several congressmen wanted to have the commissioners of insanity sit on him en masse. Finally, however, after pawing all of his household effects except a Prince Albert coat, and compelling a number of his wife's relatives to retire from business with a pained look, he succeeded in securing an appropriation for a line between Washington and Baltimore. He used a slow grade of electricity at first, but it is faster now, so that a man can quote a price on a car of shelled corn by wire and get a reply the same week, unless the operator is in the middle of an interesting story.

As a result of his invention Mr. Morse became immensely wealthy and did not have to operate with two fingers and his tongue in order to make a living.

A Sunday Drink.

Each Sunday of late certain "habitués" are noticed by the police to be under the influence, but able to take care of themselves and are not molested. Wonder was often expressed as to where the men got the drink and the general belief was that it was from bottles purchased Saturday. Such in all cases, however, does not occur. There is a new source of supply and yesterday a man was caught availing of this. Empty casks and puncheons are generally put outside the rearway of saloons, most of them with the bungs in. Generally there is a residue of their contents left, the thirsty operator removes the bung, adds some water to temper the stuff and generally fills a bottle or so for himself with free fire water. The party caught yesterday had filled a large flask from a cask and had taken so much himself from it that he was half seas over before he got home.

New Long Bridge

Saturday afternoon, Mayor Ellis with the West End members and some of the Councillors, visited the Long Bridge and viewed the waters above it, with the idea of having that part above the bridge dredged so that the Calypso may be berthed there and a new draw bridge placed where the present temporary "Long Bridge" is. The Government Engineer and City Engineer Ryan were also present and plans were made of the place. A pier will also be erected on the Southside and it is likely work will be commenced at an early date.

Arrah-Na-Pogue

AT THE NICKEL THEATRE.

At the Nickel Theatre this evening the celebrated Irish drama Arrah-na-Pogue will be shown on the canvas. The pictures are true to life having been taken among the beautiful and charming lakes and isles of Ireland. Every picture is life-like and will be enjoyed by patrons of the nickel. The Emerald Isle is well known for its great beauty, and this evening citizens will have the opportunity of seeing some. Misses Gardner and Guerin will be heard in new songs.

Bankers Baiting.

Having finished the voyage on the Western banking grounds, the schooners that were operating there are now preparing for the Grand Banks. At present there are more than forty sail of craft in the neighborhood of Harbor Breton baiting. On Friday last six hundred barrels of herring were seized at Connaigre Bay, Bay de Lieu and Harbor Breton. From reports brought along by the Portia, we learn that herring have struck in in abundance around Placentia and several bankers have gone there to bait.

S.S. Portia's Quick Trip

The s.s. Portia, Capt. Connors, arrived from the westward at three o'clock Saturday afternoon. The round trip was made in nine days and favorable weather was met throughout. She brought two-third freight and the following passengers: Capt. Berg, G. M. Goddard, R. Vigus, A. Power, P. Tobin, M. Myrick, Rev. Fr. Costello, Rev. Fr. Verker, J. P. Crotty, Mesdames Devereaux, Myrick (2), Fowlow, O'Leary, Power, Keough, Misses Harding, Harris, Vigus, Power Hogan, O'Leary, Murphy and forty-six in steerage.

Change of Captains.

We hear that some changes will take place on the bridges of the Red Cross Line steamers this season. It is said that Captain Clarke, the Commandore of the fleet, will be retired and that general promotions will ensue amongst the young masters according to competency and experience. In a similar way there will be a number of changes in the Black Diamond Line boats, caused by the retirement of Captain Fraser, late of the s.s. City of Sydney.

Would Curb the Sensational Press.

Washington, April 21. — Senator Works, of California, speaking in favor of his bill to prohibit the publication of crimes and scandals by newspapers of the national capital, declared in the Senate that newspapers are among "the greatest, most powerful and most corrupting evils and influences of the present day." "Reporters and kodak men," continued the Senator, "seem to lose all sense of decency or respect for the rights of others in their eager quest for what should be unreadable news. The man who helps to make the public mind impure, is a dangerous man and an enemy to the best interests of his country."

He advocated some method of curbing photographers and cartoonists in their activity of making public men ridiculous.

Convicts Were Guests of Honor.

Two hundred convicts in the Indiana state reformatory, who toiled on the levee for two days during the flood, and thus saved the town of Jeffersonville from the ravages of the Ohio river, are to have a banquet given them by the citizens of that community. Such incidents supply the one touch of nature that makes the world kin, and in this instance may furnish the spark of manliness needed to make good citizens out of what would otherwise be unpromising material.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

"Puddler," but Now Pastor.

The Rev. Dr. William H. Morgan, until recently pastor of the Central Methodist Episcopal church in Newark, preached his first sermon as pastor of Calvary Methodist Episcopal church in New York, which is the largest Methodist congregation under one roof in the world. Dr. Morgan has one of the most striking records of any man in the American pulpit. From a puddler in an iron mill for eleven years he has risen to the position of pastor of one of the leading Methodist churches in the United States. Up to the age of 23, Dr. Morgan could not read or write.

It is Necessary These Days

that you see things—and see them as others see them. Isaac Newton was hit on the head with an apple; it made him sit up and take notice. He saw the apple—he also saw "our laws of gravitation." In those days glasses were almost unknown. To-day there is no excuse for not seeing things. Spectacle lenses are made upon the most scientific principles and with mechanical precision. Let us examine your eyes if you don't "see things" as you should. Our examination will show the defects, if there are any present.

Singing to Talking Machines.

Stage "Stars" Find Entertaining Audiences Easy Compared with Record Making.

The latest penalty that fame exacts from theatrical and music hall "stars" is that of singing to talking machines. For gramophone agents descend in shoals on the "star" who comes out with a new song success or talking scene that takes the public fancy. Most artists will tell you—and hardened ones too—that singing to a reproducing machine is to them a far greater ordeal than performing to a crowded theatre. It is the strange conditions, under which these voice reproductions are carried out, that so often unnerve the most experienced performers.

The setting—a bare barn-like hall—in itself scarcely inspires confidence. One end is screened from the gaze of the occupants by a long curtain through which a monstrous horn of brass extends out into the room, being suspended from the ceiling. Musicians with Weird Instruments. Grouped around are a motley assembly of musicians with instruments of weird design. Somehow these instruments seem familiar, yet no one ever saw their like in a theatre or orchestra. They are especially constructed to produce soft sound waves that do not drown the singer's voice. The violins no longer possess the familiar curves and sturdy frames. They are peculiar hollow tube-like affairs with strangely arranged strings. The 'cellos are in a similar emaciated condition, their ample sides having apparently dwindled into slight wooden supports. Every instrument, however, boasts a little aluminium horn directed towards the parent trumpet, in order to concentrate the sound waves at one common point. Perched on a high platform near the roof is the conductor, whose lofty position is chosen to take him out of the way of the all-important sound waves.

Silence for the Singer. The performer stands on a little wooden platform right at the mouth of the receiving trumpet. A few hurried directions and then strict silence is the rule. No human voice or sound but that of the singer must now disturb the atmosphere, for the little machine behind the curtain relentlessly records every little sound wave. A red light is flashed and the attenuated little orchestra gets to work. And then the artiste has to sing to this strange little assembly with abandon and zest as though the inspiration of the brilliant light, of beautiful clothes, and scenery and applauding audience were all there.

Even Shuffling Feet are Recorded. With fendish cruelty the revolving wax recording disc gathers in every little fault. A slight clearing of the throat or little swallow, every deep breath or slight shuffle of the feet are sufficient to form sound waves that imprint their message on the yielding wax. Such things an audience would not note, but the obedient record maker makes no distinction between the actual and the intended. When the artiste has finished the record is played over and the inevitable imperfections criticised. The weak spots are then rehearsed and the whole trying business commenced over again. If the performer makes a mistake during the song, a bell rings and a fresh start is made. Not until a record of pure and distinct tone is obtained does the artiste's ordeal end. Big artistes such as Caruso, Melba, and Tetrazzini make many thousands of pounds by records of their voices, while even the smaller fry in the theatrical and concert worlds considerably augment their income by royalties on records of their performances. Several of the most famous reproductions of Caruso's and Melba's voices have been placed in a sealed tomb beneath the Opera House in Paris in order that future generations a hundred years hence may know the singing talent that existed in the nineteenth century.

Very Warm.

Saturday and yesterday the weather was unprecedentedly warm for the month of April and overcasts of the lightest kind were discarded and straw hats worn by not a few. Across country Saturday it was the warmest for the season; the thermometer registering 65 in the sun in the early forenoon, and 75 at noon. Yesterday it was warmer still and shortly after-noon the glass registered 80 in the sun. The highest temperature was reached at Bishop's Falls where at noon it registered 86. Beautiful balmy weather prevailed everywhere Saturday and yesterday. The Reid, Co.'s despatchers tell us that about the latter part of April last year snow and cold weather prevailed and the trains were stuck on more than one occasion.

DEAR SIR,—Photography is now being recognized as a method in Education too valuable to overlook.

More and more are we turning to Nature, because we recognize for the first time in the history of the world that we are a part of Nature. We are Nature. And the more we love Nature, the more we understand her, the stronger, the healthier, the happier, the saner we are.

The Camera brings us very close to Nature. It makes us feel our kinship with the Infinite.

The Camera habit isn't a passing fad. More and more it is becoming fixed in the heart of the race.

Yours faithfully,
