

MEXICAN REBELS CUT OFF AMERICANS AT CANANEA

Naco, Ariz., Sept. 10.—Mexican rebels today cut off all traffic and communication between here and Cananea, Sonora, Mexico, where about 500 American residents, shortly afterward a passenger train arrived here carrying 500 rifles and 150,000 rounds of ammunition sent by the United States Government from the arsenal at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas, to arm the American residents in Cananea. The rebels cut the railway in an attempt to prevent the shipment of arms reaching the Americans at Cananea.

The passenger train that left here this morning for Cananea was captured by the rebels a few miles south of the international line, the engine disabled and the passengers held. It is reported that the passengers were taken to a passenger coach down the grade from Naco to Cananea.

Rebel Chief de News. Care has been taken to conceal the identity of the shipment of arms, but news that the Americans of Cananea had received the arms for self-protection is believed to have become known among the rebel chiefs operating in this vicinity.

Not only are American lives believed to be in danger as a result of today's operations by the rebels, but the mines must close down for lack of fuel within four days, mining engineers state.

Cananea is one of the most extensive copper mining centers in the world and the Cananea Copper Company is the richest corporation of its kind in Mexico. The railway destroyed by rebels runs from points on the American border to Cananea and is a part of the Southern Pacific of Mexico system.

In Cananea are about 100 American men and about 100 American women. About 100 of these are American cowboys from surrounding ranches who are in view of the rebels look seriously upon the federal troops in Cananea. There are no federal troops in Cananea, other than 50 left in the hospital when the federal army evacuated the camp a few days ago.

Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 10.—Emilio Campa and his forces of rebels took possession of a passenger train on the Sonora railway at Villavieja, between Cananea and Nogales, today.

The discovery of the capture was not made until an engine was sent out of Cananea to locate the long overdue train. So far as known no one was molested by the rebels, who merely desired to loot the express car.

While returning to Cananea the engine which had been sent out to locate the train on a curve between Mesa and Del Rio. A rail had been removed by the rebels. It is not known whether any one was killed or injured. Bridges near Villavieja were fired by Campa's band.

SAN LAZARO, HAVANA, IS A CURIOUS BURIAL PLACE

Behind the leper hospital in the San Lazaro district of the city of Havana there lies an old cemetery. Few of the many visitors to that city know that there is such a place; still fewer even pass beneath its vault-covered portals. Thousands visit the Colon cemetery, with its massive gateway and its beautiful monuments; not one in a thousand sees that site of the dead which was established by Bishop Juan de Espada in 1805. For twenty years it has stood unused for its purpose.

In old Roman days, in the time of the funeral pyre, it was customary to burn the bodies of the dead in funeral urns, and these were deposited in niches in the walls of special buildings or structures, which were supplied with the name of columbaria, for the reason that their appearance suggested a dove-cote. The general idea of the columbaria has been preserved and, though unusual, is far from unique.

The more modern system dispenses with the burning and deposits the refined body in niches only differing from those of the Roman days essentially in their size. This system of the Espada cemetery in Havana.

The opening of a strongly locked and heavily barred iron gateway gives passage into a high-walled enclosure of some three or four acres in extent. Neither monument nor standing tombstone breaks its flat and grassy area. A grass-grown pathway leads straight across the plot to the mortuary chapel upon the northern side. All around are the walls, four to five yards in height, showing four tiers of round-topped niches, some open and some closed and sealed. Midway the western wall a gateway opens into a second enclosure of similar area to the first, though of different arrangement. A brick paved walkway crosses from east to west, bisecting a series of interior walls which extends through its greater length.

There are six of these structures, alternately open and arching the pathway. Here, too, the surrounding walls and the interior structures show the four rows of niches. A little counting and a rough calculation gave the total number in both enclosures at about 12,000.

The ground immediately around the chapel in the outer yard, is largely occupied by the horizontal slabs which mark the resting-places of those who rank, wealth or influence has secured for them a special interment. Here lies the body of a bishop and there lies one whose coroneted coat of arms, carved in relief on the marble, indicates a strain of royal blood. Many of the stones are broken, all are weather-stained, bordered with untrimmed grass and weeds. For the graves of many who lie here there is no one to care. Of Spanish birth, their friends and kindred have returned to their homes across the sea.

Many of the wall niches stand empty by reason of an established custom, prevalent in these countries, of renting burial space for a time only. At the expiration of that time the bones are removed to a large uncovered receptacle along the southern wall, where they constitute a ghastly heap seen only from the top of the wall. The vacated space may then be filled by succeeding tenants or by one whose payment insures repose so long as the place continues a burial ground. In some of these now vacant niches heads of carved marble repose on their pedestals, indicating their use by the living. There is no doubt that many of them were occupied by sleeping places during the days of the reconstruction under Weyler.

Marble tablets, often exquisitely carved, rest on their pedestals, marking the place of the now more generally used masonry monuments and headstones. Here and there some tablets show that even after a quarter of a century of sleep in this beneath the ground, some dead are lovingly and actively remembered. Here and there an English name appears, but they are very few.

VOTE FOR THE BY-LAW

The ratepayer who votes against the by-law to raise money to extend the waterworks, which is up for consideration on Monday, in order to show what he thinks of the city hall authorities...

This waterworks extension business is practically on the local improvement basis and the citizen at large is not very much interested except in a general way in the financial obligation undertaken.

A TEMPERANCE LESSON

The temperance workers of Quebec and Ontario have succeeded remarkably well during the past ten years and by their efforts have very greatly limited the consumption of liquor in different parts of the two provinces.

The temperance reformers in Quebec have carried on a campaign mostly of education. During the last seven years under the leadership of Archbishop Bruchesi, they have used the pulpit, the school and the press to show the evils of the drink habit and in a campaign of enlightenment have had very satisfactory results.

In Ontario the temperance workers have been equally active, though their method of operation has been quite different. They have made the legislative campaign the basis of the work and have succeeded in cutting down the number of licenses in the province very considerably.

Both methods are necessary in successful campaigning against the liquor evil, but the Quebec method gets to the axis of things and must have the more lasting results.

Temperance workers in Alberta, who have everything before them, should consider very carefully before launching out upon a campaign for which they are not prepared.

MODESTY OR ALARM

Was the Kaiser too modest or too timid? That is the question puzzling some of the greatest military minds of the present age and has been puzzling them since it was announced that the Emperor of all the Germans had refused to permit the Hon. Col. Sam Hughes, minister of war, or some such thing for Canada, to witness the military manoeuvres of Germany.

But it has been reported that the Kaiser learned that this celebrated slayer of men, was approaching the Father Land gave instructions at once that he was not to be allowed within a distance of ten rifle shots, one being shot from a point where the other left off, from the manoeuvres, which the Kaiser, in the words of the Sporting Editor, was pulling off at that time.

the Kaiser took such action through shame or fear. One school of military thought rather favors the idea that the Kaiser believed that the German manoeuvres would seem very tame to such an eminent and successful warrior as Sam Hughes.

There are other eminent military authorities who argue that the German Kaiser was inspired by alarm rather than moved by modesty. He argued out that a man with the experience and confidence of the Canadian gentleman would take a glance at the manoeuvres, grab the entire plan of organization and go packing it back to Canada or London with him, and then all the labor of many generations would be lost in one short but very fell swoop.

We are convinced that the Kaiser acted partly through fear and partly through modesty. He didn't want to show his bag of tricks to such an eminent person as Col. Sam, and he was afraid of what Col. Sam would do if he clapped eyes on the doings.

But what interests us quite as much is the excessive modesty and very great tact of our war minister. He could have seen that war play if he had determined to do it, believe us. A man who single handed could beat the entire Boer army to a standstill, as he admits that he defeated them, could get past all the German tylers and flunkies that could be lined up. He could have got right in on the ground floor if he had so desired.

The action of the Kaiser convinces those of us who were unconvinced before that Col. Sam Hughes is the greatest fighting man now abiding upon this terrestrial ball, and if the champions of Napoleon or Caesar or other illustrious men killers believe that their heroes have anything over him in skill and knowledge they will have to come around early in the morning with their proofs and tarry long on the job.

CONCERNING MR. CHILD

The council will begin at the wrong end if it accepts the resignation of the city engineer before it adopts a general policy of reorganization. The city engineer for the most part has been efficient and generally a very valuable official.

The trouble is that a new system was adopted at the city hall, but no person seemed sufficiently skilled to fit the new machinery on to the old organization. The result was the worst possible confusion. The department of the city engineer suffered more than any other. No person seemed to know where the work of the commissioners ended and where the work of the city engineer began.

No person, however efficient, under such conditions could do good work. The city engineer was responsible sometimes, and was not responsible sometimes. He sometimes appointed subordinates responsible to him, and found that the commissioners had appointed other officials working under him, but not responsible to him, at other times.

Good engineers are hard to get. City Engineer Child was overworked and underpaid. The city will go a long way before they secure a man who will be as competent as the retiring official.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Who said this was a dry country? There has been but one dry year in the last twelve.

A little bird has whispered to the Conservative newspapers that there will be a provincial general election on October 23. Skidoo, little bird.

If there is one member of the city council who has decided definitely not to yield to the demands of his friends to run for mayor, this would be a very good time for him to come forward and make a definite announcement.

Sir Max Aikin in an interview in Winnipeg, argues learnedly that if Germany has a greater navy than Britain that Germany will be at an advantage at sea over Britain and Britain will be at a disadvantage compared with Germany, but on the contrary, if Britain has the stronger navy, Britain will have the advantage at sea, which seems a very bold statement for so young a statesman to make.

TWO YOUNG MEN LOST IN THE WILDS OF ALASKA

Juneau, Alaska, Sept. 10.—John Shattuck, 21 years old, a student at the University of Oregon; Dell Lincoln, aged 20, a resident of Douglas, and Leslie Oliver, 17 years old, of Juneau, are believed to have perished in the mountains back of Sheep creek, four miles south of here, having become lost in a fog while hunting.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 8.—John Wesley Shattuck Jr., reported lost in the mountains back of Sheep creek, Juneau, has been working in Juneau and living with his brother, Henry Shattuck, who is a student at the University of Oregon. He also has another brother in Juneau, Allen Shattuck.

MAYOR GAYNOR IN WITNESS CHAIR, PARRIES QUESTIONS

New York, Sept. 10.—For about two hours, Mayor William J. Gaynor, mayor of New York, sat in a witness chair at the city hall and parried with picturesque retort and evasion the attempts of an alderman to bring a committee to learn his views on the police situation brought to a head by the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal.

Three times he threatened to leave the stand because he considered the questions irrelevant, twice he denounced the hearing as a scandalous merriment, and often throughout his testimony he repeated that attempts to "assassinate" him in the witness chair for what he had lived in the city too long, and had begun his efforts to purify government long before Emory R. Buckner, counsel for the committee, was born.

SUPPOSED CORPSE COMES TO LIFE

Sherman, Texas, Sept. 10.—Two undertakers, S. L. Talley, and Charles Smith, were taken out of their wits today, when a "dead" woman, Mrs. Sawaka Wehba, whom they were preparing for burial, raised up from the cooling table and walked about the room. The woman lived to talk hours afterwards. She was an Assyrian.

After the undertakers had recovered, they were taken to the hospital, where they were attended by physicians, who worked with the woman. She showed every indication of recovery.

MANY HARVEST HANDS ASK WORK FOR WINTER

Followin' Stampede week there has been a general exodus of laborers to the employing centres, yet the supply is far short of the demand, both for harvest hands and all lines of labor, especially railroad laborers.

This shortage has been productive of a peculiar situation as regards the harvest help. Many of the men are asking that they be guaranteed full fields. In many instances this has been acceded to in communities like Red Deer, where wheat and mixed farming is followed. Good dairy hands receive from $40 to $45 per month and food.

From every point where railroad building is in progress there is a call for additional laborers, with jobs as long as they desire them.

Every married man knows that all women are agreeable to strangers. Judging from the divorce statistics we will have to change the old adage and make it "and marry in haste and repent in haste."

I don't see any bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked girls running around yelling for women's suffrage. Most of them refuse to believe that the world is growing worse and they would rather see some wives and mothers than electors and politicians.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

"IN OLD KENTUCKY"

This very interesting drama, "In Old Kentucky," announced for presentation at the Albertan Grand, beginning Monday evening, September 16, and ending Wednesday night, September 19, is now on its second tour of the western Canadian cities, coming here direct from another engagement at the Walker Theatre in Winnipeg. The larger cities of eastern Canada have been visited by "In Old Kentucky" many times, but last year was its initial appearance here, and it immediately jumped into general popularity.

The three boys were unprovoked and carried no blankets or heavy garments. They were familiar with the mountainous country in which they must have been wandering during the cold nights for the last three days. Heavy rains have fallen the past few days, and the boys being found alive, Shattuck was here visiting his brother, son of Oregon parents.

ORPHEUM VAUDEVILLE

Cecil De Mille, in his ultra-modern playlet, "In 1898," has contributed to vaudeville an excellent bit of satirical comment on the suffragette problem. It will be at the Sherman Grand Thursday. There are two companies presenting the piece in vaudeville. The first is headed by Joseph Jefferson, a son of the most beloved of American players.

THE "HOUN' DAWG" SONG

Here's the last story of the "Houn' Dawg" song, and it comes to Calgary via no less distinguished a narrator than Louis Cantello, youthful star of the Juvenile Bostonians, who had the temerity to sing the dolorous ballad of the Missouri canine no longer ago than last July. The why and wherefore of Miss Cantello's daring was that the piece of singing was the Palace of Queen Liliuokalani, in Honolulu, and that she was the very first to sing the song in the Hawaiian Islands.

After the well-known air had gone the rounds for a brief week in the islands, the natives picked it up. The song became popular in the villages and spread with the rapidity and persistency of the Manila itch. Any day to the plunk-plunk of ukulele and guitar, the "Houn' Dawg" could be heard a hundred times the changed Hawaiian translation of the "Houn' Dawg" folksong.

Finally the newspapers took their turn at the song, each telling a different history and source of origin for the song. Only one, however, lived true to the traditions laid down by the great patriarch of the United States which had so busily gone over the ground a year before. The Journal on morning very soberly explained that in the presence of a long-forgetting newspaper editor of the United States which had so busily gone over the ground a year before.

"And there was I," said the little comic opera queen, pluming herself for being the first to introduce the island theatre-goers to a "new" popular song.

The Poet Philosopher

WHEN I was broke and full of groans, and rustling round for trifling loans, who was it led me two iron bones? My uncle! Who in my refuge and my hope when I in deep affliction grope, fooled badly by the baseball dope? My uncle. Who keeps my overcoat a spell when things are not progressing well, and fills it with a mothball smell? My uncle. Who takes my watch and plate glass ring and when't his hair the same I bring, enabling me to smile and act a trunk? My uncle. Who has a helping hand for me when I am steeped in misery, and other friends and helpers desert? My uncle. When days are bleak and roads are rough, and all the world seems grim an' douch, who is it always has the stick? My uncle. Who is it stakes me with a plunk for almost any kind of thing? My uncle. Who has a trunk? My uncle. No other relative have I who hears me when distressed I cry; one only needs my plaintive sigh—my uncle. And when I leave this earthly crowd I'll ask my uncle from a crowd to lend me something on my shroud. Oh, uncle.

FLOWERS DISTRIBUTED TO THE SICK BY WEST END W. C. T. U.

White Ribboners Purpose Discussing "Scientific Teaching of Temperance in Public Schools". The officers and conveners of the West End W. C. T. U. met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henderson, 1031 Eleventh street, east. The members regretted the absence, because of illness, of Mrs. Cruickshank, recording secretary. The report of the flower committee, given by Mrs. Hoskin, was most encouraging. The work of the committee has distributed over two hundred and forty bouquets to various institutions. These flowers were donated to this committee by the W. C. T. U. of Claresholm, Alta., which every two weeks sent quantities of beautiful garden flowers for the purpose. Mrs. McKinney, provincial president, who lives in Claresholm, was responsible for these donations. Mr. Standwick, superintendent of the Chinese missions; Mr. Pipehurst, of the Horticultural Society; Mr. Campbell, of the Horticultural Society; and Mrs. J. Frank McQueen's contributions have been a great delight to the workers and the "shut-ins." If more people could see the pleasure this work gives their friends, while the subject of scientific temperance teaching was introduced in the public school system. It has been felt by many in Calgary for a long time that should be made a special subject, and a special teacher, who could visit all the schools systematically, appointing for the work.

THE CHARM OF CULTURE. Culture does not mean merely a knowledge of books, as some people suppose, nor the veneration of much travel and experience. Culture is the refinement of knowledge, assimilated. How that knowledge is acquired may be through many different ways. It is innate where people have had the advantage of a good home and cultivated parents, who have watched their growth and development, and who have given them the best of life. Such people are generally modest and considerate of others, never ostentatious and seldom dictatorial. They have the great charm of unconsciously doing the correct thing at all times. There are many people who acquire their knowledge of the world and of life, not through the home, but through the school. Such people are charming as a rule—that is, when they have the faculty of being able to impart their knowledge to those who are interested to learn. Unfortunately there are many people who never store up any information, nor are they able to relate what they have been or what they have seen. They are too selfish to give out anything. Thus their brains are warped by neglect. There is another class of persons—the superficial class—who has a fair knowledge of books and things, but an enormous appreciation of self. They are the class that he knows it all, and who passes every instructive or interesting statement by with the interruption of some egotistical personal remark. Such people are not charming. They are superficial. Perhaps the most charming person one can know is the person who has the consideration to listen and wait. No one can give a charming, intelligent answer or an interesting statement when only half heard. One of the greatest proofs of culture is to be able to listen. Another is to be able to give information in a simple, direct, and unobtrusive manner. There is no shame in resentment or revenge. There is charm in consideration, but to the system it is pernicious. Remember, you will always charm when you give as much consideration as you demand. MARGARET. For all out-of-door wear the Cuban heel is the correct thing. Nine women out of ten buy shoes with a Cuban heel. This is the foot is small. The reason for this is that she sits down when she walks about. Exercise brings a larger circulation to the feet and they swell appreciably. The muscles are required certain space for exercising. In buying shoes women would find less difficult to find shoes that fit them on, instead of sitting down. Sitting in a chair when fitting a shoe, but their strong characteristic is to walk you wonder what the matter with the shoe, it cramps your foot. I shoe should never be worn with a high heel. The shoe should be made to fit the foot (traced with a pencil close under the rounding edge). Do not wear a shoe that will not allow the great toe to lie in a straight line, but one that pinches in the heel. Never wear a shoe with the sole turning up at the back.

THE BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY WELCOMES MRS. SYCAMORE

Pastor's Wife is Presented With Life Membership in Missionary Society. Mrs. J. C. Sycamore, who has been out of the city during the summer months, was presented with a life membership certificate of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church at a meeting of the society held yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Sycamore has been an ardent worker in the interests of the society, and when it was proposed to welcome her back to the city there was a hearty response, so hearty that the contributions given exceeded the twenty-five dollars which is the life membership fee. During the afternoon Miss M. E. Holding gave a splendid address on missionary work in the Sudan and Africa. A number of new members joined, and Mr. Geo. Clark enrolled on the life membership list. About forty members were present, and the meeting throughout was most enthusiastic and encouraging. The meeting closed with the singing of hymns and the serving of refreshments.

USEFUL HINTS

Coal oil is excellent for cleaning white paint, enamel and glass easily and quickly. If any greasiness or odor remains after cleaning, the shoe should be wiped off with fresh clean water. The easiest and quickest way to clean a pair of shoes is to wash them with soap and water. When buying chiffoniers and burlaps avoid those that have drawers curved in at the centre. If you want plenty of room, the drawers of your belongings elect those of the straight or bulging kind.

THE HEART DEPARTMENT

One Happy Hour. (Copyright 1912; by Laura Jean.) These whose lives have been crowded with pleasures, and to whom grief is only a name, know naught of the meaning of a long time. They are so busy and so lonely that their one prayer is, "Oh, if I could only have but one happy hour in my life I would be content." Happiness is but a small word, but it means so much. It takes so much to make someone happy, and little to make someone sad. Each one has his or her own little dream of what would constitute happiness. The child dreams of a mother's presence, the man of a wife's love, the woman of a husband's affection. The maiden who has parted with her lover sobs in her solitary chamber for the presence of her dear one again. All other joys would seem as naught to this. The mother who has parted from her boy, knowing not if Alaskan skies or the winds of heaven will ever bring him back to her, cries out to heaven for the happiness of knowing he is safe. In youth's exuberance, nearly all hours are happy. One should think twice before casting a cloud over any of these. If a girl has loved a man at a restaurant or public place who destroys her happy hour by giving her a frozen glance of disapproval? Better that she should have the subject be broached without giving her tender heart a stab of pain, or causing a flash of mortification. Those who have turned to stare at her will smile instead of frown at her, for they know that it is simply the heart of the onlooker who is happy, girlish laughter. Girls should not be ruthlessly rebuked in their happy hours, even though they do not conform to strict social rulings. Much may transpire in a day to prevent them from ever having such a happy hour again. Enthusiasm is the heart of the onlooker who can watch a group of jolly young folk making merry without the impulse stirring within him to laugh and to be as happy hours in his own youth. The rich, life seems to be but one grand, sweet song. With the maiden who must toil to live life has but few happy hours, and the few she has are like angels' visits, few and far between. It is this womanly spirit that makes life's path beautiful. There is no one who can say truthfully, "I have not had one happy hour in my life." Those who wisely put aside care, determining to make happy hours for themselves. Crowd into every day life as many happy hours as you possibly can. They Both Love Him. "Dear Miss Libbey: We are two good friends and are looking for you the same name. He is attentive to both of us and has declared his love. We each hate to give him up, yet feel that if one of us were to drop him, he would not give him up. Now my friend feels likewise. We have never had any disagreements regarding him, but we wish to withdraw. He is a man well worth fighting for. We would value highly any advice you may afford us." "LORNA AND MARTHA." The decision in the matter seems to

THE PRINCE OF WALES NO LINGUIST

To the disappointment of Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales did not add much to his knowledge of French during his stay in Paris. He is not a particularly brilliant youth, though amiable, and he has always been slow at languages. He did not talk as much French as it was hoped he would while on his visit. He is quite devoid of a sense of humor, and the cleverest of French wit, even when carefully translated for his benefit, failed to appeal to him. He is very often smiles at a sense of amusement to the sugar and salt sheer good nature, but he never sees the point, and he is for that reason a source of amusement to his brother Albert, who is the only one of the royal children with a well developed sense of humor. Queen Mary also takes life very seriously. King George, on the other hand, is easily moved to laughter. Queen Victoria and Queen Alexandra were notably deficient in humor. King Edward loved a good story or joke, and his favorite friends were always those who always those who amused him.

OUR BROTHERS

"Has the movement towards masculine privileges anything to do with the constant adoption of man's attire for women's use?" asks a writer in the New York Times. Take, for instance, the morning costume of a young girl of the period: slipping out of her pyjamas she dons first a woman combination made like running tights; if the weather is warm she may wear man's silk socks in place of long hose; this has been quite a prevalent fashion during the summer; she puts on "polo pumps," flat heeled footwear such as men wear; adds a shirt-waist cut on a man's pattern and runs the link buttons through the cuffs. She pins her negligee collar in place with gold safety-pins and knots under it the knitted silk. Her hair is dressed close to the head and the final touch is a soft felt or Panama hat. If it is cool and she is going out of doors she pulls on heavy gloves with a single finger and a great-coat of rough tweed with raglan shoulders and huge pockets. When dressed for the afternoon she smartly turned-out woman of today looks wonderfully like the beau ideal of the eighteenth century. She wears colonial slippers with broad "silver buckles, russet coat of satin or silk, with huge revers, long sleeve, flaring cuffs and immense buttons. A shawl of chiffon cloth encircles the neck and a wide ruff of lace falls between the lapsels of the coat. The Directors hat has its form turned up behind and before and is trimmed with a cockade in the middle. The latest in eye-glasses even folds to look like a monocle, and hangs by a black moire ribbon.

all good looking and have no admirers. Am a serious of winning the affections of a popular young man, but not wishing to be bold, would like your advice as to how to attract him. Your advice will be much appreciated by one who is always down-hearted for the want of the attentions of this young man, who is the 'ideal of my dreams.' KATIE. It is a relief to find some one of my correspondents who is not beautiful. Invite him to your home, Kate, and be as womanly, gentle, and sweet as you know how to be. It is a pretty hard thing to make any one fall in love with you. Love is a stubborn little fellow and self-willed to the extent that he rarely does what is expected of him. Life a Sad Affair. "Dear Miss Libbey: What do you think is the best for me to do in a case like mine? Have been married for little over a year, but it has been a sad one. To tell the truth, I haven't been happy one day since. Life seems nothing but a sad ray hanging down ready to fall. The day I was married I felt a severe shock and it has not left me. I have tried all kinds of ways to overcome this, but without result. Am 23 years old and working in an office at a small salary of $10 a week, which is hardly enough to get along with. Now what shall I do? I have a good education, but can't get anywhere, but pay up bills one month after another, and it seems as if I can't make any headway. My husband is a 'CHRISTY'." There is always a way out of a difficult, disagreeable situation if one makes up one's mind. Why not take up some special line of study in the evening to fit you for a better paying position? Stenography is a good vocation for a young man to have. It usually offers opportunities of getting in other lines of work and is not, as is often with other lines of work, a life-long profession, when one enters it. Shall She Wear Silk Stockings? "Dear Miss Libbey: I am 15 and go to parties occasionally. Do you think it is proper for me to wear silk stockings with my slippers? I have a pair. M. S. T." There is no reason why you should not wear the silk stockings if you care to.

AUTUMN

Shorter and shorter now the twilight clips. The days, as through the sunset gate they crowd. And summer from her golden coils slips. And strays through stubble-fields and moans aloud. Save when by fits the armor of leaves. And, stealing hopeful to some sheltered bow, She lies on pillows of the yellow leaves. And tries the autumn tapers for an hour. —Alice Cary.

FERRY WAS GIVEN POOR SUPPORT. PETER GOOD SUPPORT; RESULT: BRONCHOS WON

Second Game of Post Season Series Decided Largely by the Fielders; Bronchos Got to Manning in Early Stages of Game and Pounded Out Victory

RED DEER, Sept. 11.—Chagrined by the bad beating that the locals gave them on the opening day, the Bronchos came back last night and with Peter The Great on the mound, pounded out a victory over the Hurleyites by the score of 7 to 4. The game was not as well played as on the first day, the locals being especially conspicuous by the error-making ability. Four costly boots were chalked up against them in the score and these came at times when errors meant runs.

Ferry Manning and Pete Standridge showed equal ability on the mound, each fanning seven men. A double play in the latter part of the game in which Gay, Godfrey and Hurley figured was the fielding sensation of the day. The teams leave this morning for Calgary where they will play two games and will then return to Red Deer for the fifth. The box score:

WILLIARD LANG BESTED RAY BRONSON IN 'PEG BOOT'

Winnipeg, Sept. 9.—Williard Lang of Toronto, had the better of Ray Bronson of Indianapolis, in a twelve round go here tonight. At the start of the fight it was all Bronson, but for a matter of three or four rounds the fight was evenly divided, when Lang returned with some well judged swings and Bronson using the right and frequent left-hand jab, his left arm being slightly out of commission, owing to a wrench in the previous fight. The eleventh was the most even of all, both Lang and Bronson coming back strong in the final.

AUSTRALIAN CRICKETERS WILL VISIT CANADA AFTER ALL

Montreal, Sept. 10.—Mr. Wallace, the celebrated Canadian cricketer, who has just come back from the Philadelphia trip, states that the Australian cricketers at present in Philadelphia that after the visit there they will visit Winnipeg, where they will make their C. P. R. connections for the Pacific coast. He was also told that while the new, except this chance, and turn of hand is in reality only about half of the Australian, the other half, which will include such celebrated players as Hill and Noble, is now making arrangements to have a thorough tour of Canada next season.

RUGBY GOSSIP

The Tigers will hold a practice this evening at 8 p.m. sharp, at Memorial Park, and every person interested is requested to be out on time and to wear a uniform of some sort. Let all the old Tigers, as well as the new, accept this chance, and turn of hand is in reality only about half of the Australian, the other half, which will include such celebrated players as Hill and Noble, is now making arrangements to have a thorough tour of Canada next season.

SPORTING - FACTS - AND - FANCIES

If there is one atom of the old baseball enthusiasm which days of yore branded Calgary as the best baseball town in the West, lying dormant, it surely will come to life today when the Bronks hook up with the Deers in the third game of the "Little World's Series". The honors are now even, the Deers having captured the first game and the Bronchos the second. It will be up to the Bronchos to go right in and win both the first and tomorrow's games if they expect to figure on the gonfalon. Manager Streib will probably shove in Bill Barenkamp again today for although Bill lost his first game, the gigantic heater is strong enough to come right back and win one today. Then it will probably be up to Pete Standridge to do the mound duties again tomorrow.

The Hurleyites are hard fighters and the Bronchos are in none too good shape right now with Dean just out of the hospital and unable to play and Obie O'Brien unable to do anything but hit. Obie has been placed at the bottom of the batting order because of the serious strain which he got three weeks ago and if a utility man were available he would be on the hospital list.

But the Bronchos have been playing a wonderful game this last series, and if they are given a little support by the bleachers, should be able to cop the reg. Intelligent rooting has won many games and it is to be hoped that the Bronchos will be given the support that they deserve.

GOOSE RACE BETWEEN JOE WOOD AND WALTER JOHNSON FOR PITCHING HONORS IS THE BIG LEAGUE SENSATION

Red Sox Star Twirler Leads in the Race; Rube Marquard No Longer Leads the National; Major League Figurative Dope

The work of the great Red Sox pitcher, Joe Wood, and his illustrious rival, Walter Johnson, of the Senators, is the most interesting feature of the American league race, now that the Boston club has practically clinched the pennant. Wood led his club to a victory two months ago and since then has won 14 straight. He shows absolutely no sign of the great strain he has been under and seems to get better every game. His total number of wins is 23.

WM. RANDOLPH HEARST, NEW YORK EDITOR, SAYS WILSON WILL WIN

Says Roosevelt Has Failed to Unite the Progressive Element of Both Old Parties—Condemns the Weak Democratic Platform

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Evening Standard today publishes the following:
Mr. William Randolph Hearst, the well-known American newspaper man and politician, today made a critical analysis of the unprecedented political situation in the United States and in discussing the chances of the candidates in the race for the presidency showed how Dr. Woodrow Wilson in all likelihood would be Mr. Taft's successor.

In doing so, Mr. Hearst expressed the opinion that the new party movement would not be successful until the progressive wings of both the Democratic and Republican parties combined had formed an independent party of consolidated progressives. This united party, Mr. Hearst said, would succeed and would exercise a potent influence on the future of American politics.

Reasons for Accepting T. R. "Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly realized the extent and independence of this third party sentiment, and when he was defeated for the Republican nomination at Chicago he at once offered himself as the leader of this third party movement. He was gladly accepted as the leader on account of his vigorous personality and because of the strength of his following in the radical wing of the Republican party, also because the strength of the third party movement would be greatly increased by the leadership of a man who had twice been president of the United States.

Combination Impossible "The third party supporters believe ardently in their program, the main purpose of which is to take the control of government out of the hands of party machines and privileged interests and restore it to the hands of the people. Nearly all the measures of the third party platform are aimed directly at that and you will see therefore, how impossible it is for that

Mr. Roosevelt, being a Republican, should have chosen a Democrat, and preferably a Southern Democrat, for vice-president, and if Mr. Roosevelt had been anxious to unite the progressive as he was to disrupt the Republicans, he would have had a Democrat on the ticket.

Will Only Half Succeed "But Mr. Roosevelt, the candidate for president, is a Republican; Mr. Johnson, the candidate for vice-president, is a Republican; nearly all the leaders and speakers for the third party in this campaign are Republicans; therefore, I believe that third party movement will only half succeed in this campaign. This agitation will go far, however, to establish a third party, and the carrying of certain states by the third party will give added hope and confidence to the supporters of the progressive movement.

Roosevelt's Ambition "The Democrats who know Mr. Roosevelt and understand his personal ambition and rather selfish intentions believe that Mr. Roosevelt's main object is to break up the Republican organization so that he can gain control of it and dominate the party and be his candidate for president in 1916.

OLD SUPERSTITIONS OF THE CHINESE PASSING

Five hundred tons of ore in her cargo has been discharged to lighters, and it is believed the Northland will be floated on the next high tide.

City in Brief

A meeting of the Finance committee of the city council will be held in the city hall on Friday afternoon at three o'clock.

Hon. C. W. Cross, provincial attorney general, will be in Calgary yesterday en route to Banff to spend a few days vacation.

O. M. Biggar, of the law firm of Short, Cross, Biggar & Woods, Edmonton, is in the city, registered at the Elgin George.

The regular monthly meeting of the Calgary Ladies Aid will be held this afternoon at the Victoria Methodist Church.

James Short, of the law firm of Short, Cross and Selwood, has just returned to the city after a two months' vacation in eastern Canada.

Georgia Stevenson was fined $50 and costs yesterday for contracting the police while the officers were arresting her husband, William Stevenson.

William Boomer and George Yates were each fined $100 and cost by Magistrate Sanders yesterday for selling liquor at Victoria Park during the Stampede.

Mayor Mitchell, Alderman Whaley, Alderman Samis, and Alderman Ramsey have been appointed civic representatives at the meeting of the union of Alberta municipalities which will be held in Inmanville today.

ON his birthday little Freddy received a present of a beautiful model steam-engine from grandpa. He played with it until he managed to break the wheels off.

Mother was very angry with him, and talked to him severely on his roughness. Then she punished him by putting him in the corner.

"The father came home he found his little man with suspiciously red eyes."

"Hullo, sonny" he cried cheerily. "What's the trouble?"

"Oh nothing," replied "sonny." "But look here, old chap," said father kindly. "Tell me I want to know."

Freddy's lips quivered as he answered: "Well, if you must know, I've just been having a row with your wife!"

"THEIR LITTLE WAYS." "Why are you sobbing, my little man?"

"My pa's a millionaire philanthropist."

"Well, well, that's nothing to cry about."

"It ain't, ain't it? He's just promised to give me $25 to spend on my birthday, provided I render a similar amount."

"A GOOD SUGGESTION." A distinguished theologian was invited to give an address before a Sunday school.

The divine spoke for over an hour, and his remarks were too deep a character for the average juvenile mind to comprehend.

At the conclusion the superintendent, according to custom, requested someone in the school to name an appropriate hymn to be sung.

"Sing 'Revive Us Again,' shouted a boy in the rear of the room.

"THEY SURELY MUST." MISS ELDERBERRY—Do you really think that women propose?

Oldback—If they don't, there are a great many marriages I cannot account for.

"WHEN POLLY SINGS." WHEN Polly sings the whole house rings.

FATHER WOULD LIKE TO KNOW AS WELL

ANGRY MOTHER—"Tommy you are not to do that! Now, don't let me speak to you again!" Tommy—"But how can I stop you, ma?"—Comic Life.

WHEN POLLY SINGS. WHEN Polly sings the whole house rings.

ALL times of day she'll thump away there on the grand piano.

Oh, she will shirk all kinds of work To try a new selection; Her face grows red; each song, it's said Enhances her complexion.

HE WOULD BE KIND. DAUGHTER: "Papa, Jack is coming up to-night to ask your consent to our marriage."

FATHER: "Very well, my dear. I'll say 'No.'"

WHY SHE WONDERED. BLANCHE—"When I look at one of your paintings I stand and wonder—"

Our Artist—"How I do it!" Blanche—"No—why do you do it!"—London Opinion.

WHAT HE SOUGHT. IN his office the man of law was busy studying an intricate case.

So deeply intent was he, that he failed to hear the door pushed open, or to see the little golden head which was thrust into his office.

At last a deep sob attracted his attention. Looking up he saw a small boy with tear-streaked face and watery eyes.

"Well, my lad," said the lawyer, "and what do you want?"

"Are you a lawyer?" asked the lad, stuffing a grimy flat into each eye, and marking-time with his whimpering, "sonnie."

"That's my calling in life." "Then—then, please," said the new-comer, in a tear-choked voice, "I want a divorce from my papa, and mama!"

LOGIC. A PROFESSOR OF LOGIC, who was not particularly lucid in his deductions, was on one occasion endeavoring to substantiate that "an article remains the same notwithstanding the substitution of some of its parts."

SHOOK HIM

A YOUTH who thought that he had become pretty intimate with a certain maiden, persistently begged her to accept his hand in marriage.

"You need not take me for an answer," was her reply. "I will answer 'yes' on one condition only."

He was all impatience to hear what the question was, she wanted him to ask, and this was her gentle reply: "Just ask me if I am firmly determined not to marry you in any circumstances."

DOING JURY DUTY. "EVER been locked up?" demanded counsel.

"I have been," admitted the witness. "Aha! And what had you been doing to get yourself locked up?"

"I had been doing jury duty."

ROMANTIC DAYS. FINALLY THEY QUARRELED. "I LOVE you, darling, more than you love me," sighed the swain.

"Ah, that is impossible, precious," she whispered back, "for I love you better than you do me."

"You cannot!" "But I do not!" he argued.

"When I say a thing I stick to it!" she snapped.

An owl shifted uneasily above them. "Pardon me, Gwendoline!"

"Pardon me, Eustace!" "Miss Brown!"

"The owl hooted dismally and sought another bower."

A MILKMAID. "YOU have too much rouge on, my dear, to enact properly a milkmaid."

"Have I sir? But I thought a milkmaid should be rosy-cheeked!"

"On the contrary, a milkmaid is naturally a pall girl."

DANGEROUS. "DON'T you think that we ought to keep a diary?" asked Mrs. Jilks of her husband.

HE LOOKS LIKE IT

INSPECTOR (taking the charge)—"The prisoner is charged with window-smashing?" P.C.—"Yesir!"

Inspector—"With a hammer?" P.C.—"No, sir—with me!"—London Opinion.

NOT ON PURPOSE. "TELL me, how did you come to get hit by that auto?"

"I didn't come to get hit by it I come to see my nephew an' the blamed thing bumped me!"—Fun.

NOT DANGEROUS. PAT—I hear your wife is sick, Motter Mike—She is that.

Pat—Is it dangerous she is? Mike—Not at all. She's too weak to be dangerous any more.

THEY CAME OFF. I asked her why her lips were so red.

Then she kissed me. "Now yours are."

SORRY HE SPOKE. CUSTOMER (who has been shown every roll of cloth in the shop): "Can't you show me anything else?"

Tailor: "Yes, sir; your account!"

WHAT HAD SHE GOT? "JOHN, do you love me?"

"Yes." "Do you adore me?" "I adore."

"Will you always love me?" "Yes—look here, woman, what have you been and ordered sent home now?"

HIGH FINANCE IN THE PULPIT

A NEGRO preacher, whose supply of hominy and bacon was running low, decided to take radical steps to improve upon his flock the necessity for contributing liberally to the church exchequer.

Accordingly, at the close of the sermon he made an impressive pause, and then proceeded as follows: "I hab' found it necessary, on account of de straitness ob de hard times an' de general deficiency ob de circulation mejum in connection wid dis church, to introduce ma new oratoric clection box."

It is so arranged dat a half dollar or quartah falls on red plush cushion widout noise; a nickel will ring a small bell distinctly; a penny will be heard by de congregation, an' a suspendah-button, ma fellow-man, will flash off a pistol; so you will gwa' y'elves accordingly. "Lad, de clection now proceed, while I take off ma hat an' gibs out a hymn."

WHY NOT. SYBIL—When Steve proposed to ma he asked me to take a fish out of water. Maud—Why shouldn't he? He knew he was caught.

NOT ON PURPOSE. "TELL me, how did you come to get hit by that auto?"

"I didn't come to get hit by it I come to see my nephew an' the blamed thing bumped me!"—Fun.

LIBERAL LEADER PAYS FIRST VISIT HERE SINCE 1887

Mr. Munro-Ferguson spoke freely of the war score prevalent in the Old Country, though he declared that he did not care to express an opinion for Canada so far as naval matters were concerned.

LIBERAL LEADER PAYS FIRST VISIT HERE SINCE 1887

Mr. Munro-Ferguson spoke freely of the war score prevalent in the Old Country, though he declared that he did not care to express an opinion for Canada so far as naval matters were concerned.

"I'm a liberal," he declared, "but I am also an imperialist, though I believe that all parts of the empire should be free to pursue their own particular domestic policies. It is an advantage to the empire, however, to have a united form of defence and a united foreign policy. There is, however, not the slightest intention to interfere with Canada in the present movement to secure the national defence."

The German Menace. "It tends to reason that if every part of the empire is prepared for self defence, the chances of war are so much more remote. The immense naval preparations of Germany have occasioned great uneasiness in Europe, and under these, and indeed under all circumstances, the British sea power is the best security for peace."

Mr. Munro-Ferguson pointed out that the national burden of defence was getting very severe in England, which has now under hand a naval estimate amounting to approximately $250,000,000.

"Although the contributions by the Cape and by Australia, and New Zealand," said Mr. Munro-Ferguson, "will add considerably to the naval strength, it's the same time the real security will come through every part of the empire developing its own sea and land power at home so as to contribute effectively towards the maintenance of peace."

A direct contribution, he thought, might eventually come to be looked upon as a levy with ultimately a bad effect. Yet there must be some central control and a similar scheme of defence.

Having a personal acquaintance with Theodore Roosevelt, Mr. Munro-Ferguson naturally is more or less interested in American politics. He believes Mr. Roosevelt the ablest representative of American statesmanship at the present time.

He was not prepared to make any guesses on the outcome of the present political campaign in the States, but remarked laughingly: "If I had a vote on the other side, I guess I would vote for Mr. Roosevelt."

HEBREW CITY EMPLOYEES ASK NEW YEAR VACATION

Mayor Mitchell and City Commissioner Clarke Pleaded by Jewish Argument

Day of Atonement Also Near and if They Work Must Toll on Empty Stomach

Whether Hebrew employees of the city are entitled to a vacation during the celebration of the Jewish New Year is a question that is puzzling Mayor Mitchell and city commissioner Clarke.

The Hebrew New Year Rosh Hashana, begins at sun down today and lasts until sundown Friday.

On behalf of the employees of the city of Jewish faith, H. C. Conroy, president, and E. Goffe, visited Mayor Mitchell and Commissioner Clarke yesterday morning.

What complicates matters a little, is that there is another Hebrew holiday, the Day of Atonement, which begins on the 10th of the month.

The young people are said to be the first white couple ever married according to the simple rites of the Moki Indians.

Los Angeles, Sept. 10.—Fearing that a wedding knot tied by a Moki Indian chief, who used nothing more sacred than a cornmeal cake, would not be considered sufficient by their parents and friends.

Paris, Sept. 10.—The "Friends of Richard Wagner," who recently held a national convention at Leipzig, are organizing a nation-wide campaign to perpetuate the Wagner family monopoly of the "Parsifal" which expires by limitation in 1912.

SIR WILFRID WELCOMES PREMIER BORDEN

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.—At the luncheon to Premier Borden today after he had opened the local exhibition, Sir Wilfrid Laurier took occasion to welcome the premier back from Europe in these terms:

"I avail myself with very great pleasure of the opportunity given me, because it gives me an opportunity to tender the welcome of His Majesty's opposition to the Prime Minister on his return from England. The prime minister and myself do not always see eye to eye, but I trust that the differences in the future will not be so great as in the past. I am glad the prime minister is back in such good condition as he seems to be in and so able to fit for battle. He seems to have survived the dangers of the suffragist encroachments."

To Test Election Act
Moore Jaw, Sask., Sept. 9.—The first attempt to test the Saskatchewan election act will be taken tomorrow when Robert Radcliffe, Qu'Appelle, will receive his preliminary hearing on a charge of perjury.

Mr. Radcliffe, though a non-resident, voted in the Wolloughby-Matthews, city, election on July 15th after having been duly sworn.

The charge is that Radcliffe, though a non-resident, voted in the constituency where he was merely a visitor. Evidence will be given that he was superintendent of a government road gang.

As there is much controversy over certain clauses in the act the case will cause much interest throughout the province.

BRITAIN DISPLEASED BY PARISIANS' TREATMENT
London, Sept. 10.—In spite of the denials of the French government, the Louvre, Mr. Harold Rathbone is still convinced that his "La Gioconda" is the actual picture that was formerly one of the treasures of the national collection.

Mr. Rathbone has returned to England, and is staying for a few days in London, before leaving for his home in Islandia. He is not at all pleased at the way in which he was treated in Paris, and he does not propose to make any further overtures to the Louvre.

Mr. Rathbone's theory as to the robbery of "La Gioconda" from the Louvre is that it really took place in June last year, when a copy which had been prepared was placed in the hands of one of the workmen, who was the actual thief. When the substitution was not discovered after a couple of months, and the original was disposed of, the copy was removed.

Los Angeles, Sept. 10.—Fearing that a wedding knot tied by a Moki Indian chief, who used nothing more sacred than a cornmeal cake, would not be considered sufficient by their parents and friends, Roman Hubbell, son of the chairman of the Republican state central committee of Arizona, and Miss Alma Juliette Dorr, daughter of a capitalist well known in Washington and New York, waited until they could be married again by a Catholic priest in Pasadena before announcing their nuptials to relatives and friends today.

BOYS TRAINING CORPS NEWEST ENGLISH PLAN

London, Sept. 10.—An interesting project which has lately been initiated is the British Boys' Training Corps, of which Prince Alexander of Teck is the president. His main object is to provide efficient military and industrial training for boys from the age of 14 years and upwards, by which means it is hoped that not only will a considerable number of superior recruits be forthcoming each year for the army, but that the numbers of boys who enter "blind alley" occupations will be greatly reduced.

RACE ON FOR SECOND PLACE, LLOYD SAYS

Washington, Sept. 10.—Representative Lloyd of Missouri, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, who has just returned from a trip in the West tonight said: "The real contest this year seems to be between the Roosevelt and Taft factions for second place. All the politicians I have seen seem to be willing to admit that Wilson will be elected, but Roosevelt men I have met are all certain that he will get more votes than Taft. It remains to be seen whether an active, energetic lot of campaigners, such as Roosevelt has, will be able to give more votes out than the apparently quiescent, disheartened Taft men."

PHYSICIAN HAS RETORT. COURTEOUS FOR ARTIST

Paris, Sept. 10.—Monsieur, the famous French painter, was asked recently for an unusual fee by a doctor. The painter sent hurriedly for the doctor, who was greatly annoyed on his arrival to find that his patient was not Monsieur, or a member of the family, but a pet dog. But he swallowed the slight and billed his time until the question of fee arose. Then he quietly depreciated any suggestion of taking the artist's money. "No," he said, "my garden gate wants painting; come and do that."

DO YOU WANT CHEAP LUMBER

Fifty-two Yards in Alberta—Two Yards in Calgary

Few people appreciate that there is quality in lumber the same as there is in tea or in paint, or in most other articles. Cheap cut lumber or green lumber in better grades will build a house that, when well painted, will look fairly well for a few months. Such a building in our extreme climate soon takes on a dilapidated cheap look, making it difficult to sell, difficult to rent, and uncomfortable to live in.

We have always made a specialty of the highest quality, and owing to the tremendous size of our business we are able to buy on a basis that permits us to sell our lumber for as low a price as would be generally asked for a poorer quality. This has built up our large business—the largest in Western Canada.

Before building inspect our stocks and permit us to give you evidence that quality considered, our prices cannot be beaten. Particular people use our lumber. If your contractor obtains his lumber from us it is a sign that he is a particular man and demands the best of everything.
