REMARKABLE INTERVIEW BETWEEN COUNT ORLOFF AND THE EMPEROR OF THE

Count Orloff recently had an audience of Count Orloff recently had an audience of the Emperor, to ask for explanations on the subject of the treaty of April 15, between England, France, and Austria. The Russian plenipotentiary represented that this treaty, unexplained, was construed by his Government as a symptom of want of confidence in the good faith of Russia. The Emperor Napoleon protested against any such interpretation, and assured Count Orloff that he had only signed the treaty in comthat he had only signed the treaty in com-pliance with the wishes of England and Austria, who desired to have a pledge of his good feeling towards them. Count Orloff replied with as much vivacity as it was possible for a diplomatist to display in the presence of a reigning sovereign, that the treaty of peace of March 30, effectually secured the independenc and integrity of the Ottoman Empire; that the Emperor Napoleon had, before the signing of that treaty, ginen strong assurances of his desire to cul-tivate the most intimate relations with Russia, and that the unexpected step which had been taken was calculated to sow doubt and distrust in the mind of his Imperial master. During this remarkable interview, the Emperor Napoleon III. preserved that calm and impenetrable demeanor for which he is remarkable, while Count Orloff scarcely concealed the excitement and surprise which the new situation had produced in his mind. The Menace against Belgium.

The affair between Belgium and France be gins to assume an unpleasant aspect. The Belgian press is not, however, the only cause of the Belgians hastened to give to the Czar the Grand Cross of Leopold, and made a display of Grand Cross of Leopord, and made a dispara-ti in the Belgian Moniteur. It is not usual to publish the name of the recipient of such honours in the official organ of the Government when subjects cannot of course be put on a level. On the other hand it is declared that there was no ntention of bravado in the act. Intention of oragado in the act. The order to Leopold could not be given to the Czar so long as he had not recognised the Government of King Leopold, and that recognition coming late was all but coincident with the political situa-tion which preceded the war. Moreover, the decoration could not have been given without offence to England and France while Russia was at war with those powers. Now as the Czar appears to prize the Belgian Order beyond measure, King Leopold took the first favourable

THE London Township Council will sit as a Court of Appeal, at the Council Room, for the Revision of the Assessment Roll, on Tuesday 3rd day of June, 1856, at ten o'clock,

"This breed of pigs has been generally considered to be one of the best in England, on account of its smallness of bone, early on account of its smallness of bone, early maturity, aptitude to fatten on little food, hardihood, and the females being such good breeders. Although termed the Berkshire breed, these pigs have been reared in various parts of the kingdom; and some of the very best have come from Staffordshire; from the progeny of the celebrated Tanworth boar. In Leicestershire, also, is a very fine race of them, descending from very fine race of them, descending from the stock of RICHARD ASTLEY, Esq., who devoted much care to the improvement of the Berkshire pigs.

"Hogs of the pure original breed have been known to attain to an immense size. and weigh as much as 800 to 950 pounds. One bred at Petworth measured seven feet seven inches from the tip of his snout to the root of his tail, and seven feet ten inches in girth round the centre; five feet around the neck, ten inches round the thinnest part of the hind leg, and two feet across the widest part of the back. He stood three feet nine inches high; and, what was most remarkable in this mon strous animal, he did not consume more than two bushels and three pecks of ground oats, peas and barley per week. oats, peas and barley per week.

"Parkinson, in his Live Stock, vol. ii., gives some extraordinary accounts of the size and weight attained by individuals of this breed, and the profit yielded by them and also of their aptitude to fatten at grass. They are not, however, generally of an enormous size, being much smaller than several of the older breeds; their ordinary weight averages from 250 to 300 pound ne will at two years old weigh 400

They have been greatly improved by a cross with the Chinese and Neapolitan breeds, reducing them somewhot in size, but increasing their early maturity and aptitude to fatten. The cross is also said to have improved the flavor of the flesh, and rendered it more delicate.

Some years ago in this country there was a Berkshire fever, and interested individuals raised the anticipation of farmers, in regard to the Berkshire, higher than the character of this or any other breed could meet. The assequence was, that a reaction speedily place, and the Berkshire has been as ch underrated, as its advocates overrated Still, taking it all in all, there are few, f any, better breeds of British swine, than the Berkshire. Its meat is not so fat as that of some other breeds, and on this account is not so well adapted for barreling; but for bacon, which is exported to Eng-land in considerable quantity, and might be to a still greater extent, this lean-meated uality is an advantage rather than a detri-For fresh pork, the Berkshire are good, but perhaps not quite equal to the improved Essex, Suffolks, or Middlesex, though being of larger size they are pre-

A Herd of Heavy Cattle.

For a year or two past there has been a spirited competition between some of great stock farmers of Illinois. The object being to produce the heaviest herd of cattle of 100 head.

In the spring of 1855, B. F. Harris, of Champaign county, sold one hundred head cattle, the average weight of whi Determined to improve on these weights but in the generous and manly spini of competition which is always productive of great results, Mr. Rufus Calef and Henry Jacoby, both neighbors of Mr. Harris, and large and opulent stock farmers, joined forces, and shipped in the spring of 1855, one hundred fat cattle, the average weight of which was 2,090 lbs., thus leading Harris 125 lbs. to the bullock.

Society, was called upon to attend the weighing of another herd of 100 head, belonging to Mr. Harris. The aggregate weight of the heard was 1183-5 tons, or 2,372 pounds each! Twenty-five of the best and fattest averaged 2,662 pounds each., "The Baby" of the twenty-five kicked the beam at 2,876 lbs. They were so fat that three days were required to drive them to the station 14 miles dis-

The average age of the 100 is less than five years. Not one has ever been housed a day in his life; a half dozen pairs only have been yoked, and a less number orked. They have been pastured and erded on the prairies in the summer, and in the winter fed on corn in the shock and und timothy, and yarded along the skirts of the Sangamon timber.
It is said that Mr. Harris is likely to realize from $18,000 to $20,000 for the lot.

THE VALUE OF SKIMMED MILK.—The value of what passes under the name of "dairy slop"—which is skimmed milk, whey and buttermilk—is not always reckoned at as much as it is worth. Mr. Waroned at as much as it is worth. Mr. Warren Judd, of South Hadley, sends us a statement showing the result of a trial made in feeding six pigs. He gave them 501 bushels of corn, mostly ground, the cost of which was $49.54. He paid $11 for the pigs at five weeks old, about the first of November, 1853. The pigs were killed at various times, from July 1st to December 20th, 1854, and the pork brought from seven 20th, 1854, and the pork brought from seven to eight cents a pound. The aggregate weight was 1,7231 lbs., which brought $135.04. Besides the meal or corn, the pigs had the skimmed milk and buttermilk of six cows. Deducting the value of the corn, and the first cost of the pigs, $60.54, we have $71.50 as the value of the skimmed milk and buttermilk—equal to $11.91 for each cow for a year .- Boston Culti-

Hovey's Seedling Strawberry vs. McAvoy's Superior.—At a recent meeting of the Cincinnati Horticultural Society, N. Longworth sent in a communication effering McAvoy's Superior.—At a recent meeting of the Cincinnati Horticultural Society, N. REMEDY FOR EWES DESERTING THEIR LAMBS.—Let a dog bark at and teaze the lamb in the presence of the ewe, and all the natural instinct of affection of the mother will be aroused.

ABORTION AMONG Cows .- Earl Spencer says, that since he placed lumps of rock salt in his pasture lands, none of his cows have suffered abortion.

Cavour and the Marquis de Villa Marina to the Chamber shows—that Austria having, at the Conferences, refused to discuss the condition of Italy, Sardania, as the only state which offers a barrier to revolution, demands the co-operation of England and France in carrying out reforms. It shows that the evils of Austrian occupation are opposed to the interests of Italy and Euorpe, and contrary to treaty, humanity, and justice. Finally, the memorandum calls on England and France to unite with Sardania in the application of efficacious remedies.

decided improvement in Washing Machi

A decided improvement in Washing Machines or washing made casy by the use of Bright Co's patent Washing Machine—decidedly the greatest invention of the age in which we live. By the use of the above machine, a child of fifteen years of age will do the washing of an ordinary family in two hours; they also effect a great saving of fuel and soap.

The machines are maffiactused by Burke & Co. at William Darville & Sons Pail Factory Talbot Street north, and for sale at their store on Dundas Street East, adjoining Smith's Block; London C. W. where they will always be prepared to furnish the article at short notice and our favorable terms. They are also authorized by the patentees to sell letters patent for the following Townships, viz. Southwold, Yarmouth, Delaware, Lobo, Malahide and Bayham CERTIFICATES.

This is to certify that we the undersigned have used. Wright & Co's. Washing Machines and can safely say that out of five or six kinds of machines used under our inspection, we have not found its equal for saving labor, time, soap, and also therelis a great saving in wear and tear of clothing by the use of this machine, over any other we have seen or used.
