Mend or End!

The House of Lords Must Do One or the Other.

The National Liberal Federation Urges Unflinching Treatment.

A Remarkable Circular—Charles De Lesseps Released From Prison—The Lords Who Voted for Home Rule—Charley Mitchell's Farewell.

Noted French General Killed.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—General Marie Francois de Miribel, chief of the French general staff, who was injured by falling from his horse at Hauterive yesterday, has died from the effects.

Canadian Cattle Sales.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—At Deptford yesterday trade was decidedly firm, owing to lighter supply and cooler weather. Some 210 Canadian animals were offered. The primest made 3s 11d to 4s 1d; second quality, 3s 7d to 3s 8d per eight pounds.

A Lively Riot.

ROME, Sept. 12.—A mob of Italians attacked a number of Hungarian peasants at Deleneyes yesterday and tried to destroy the town hall. The riot was quelled by troops, but not before 25 had been wounded. The trouble was the outcome of a long-standing racial animosity.

Corner-Stoned by the Queen.

EDINBURGH, Sept. 12.—The Queen yesterday laid the corner stone of Craithie Parish Church in the presence of the Duke and Duchess of York and all the royal family at present in Scotland, except the Duchess of Fife. Her Majesty made a short speech, expressing attachment to the Church of Scotland.

Death of Noted Men.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Surgeon Parks, who was a member of both the Stanley and Emin expeditions in Africa, died suddenly on Sunday while visiting the Duke of St. Albans at Alta Craig.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Adolphe Yvon, a distinguished French painter, is dead. He was born in 1817.

De Lesseps Gets Off Easy.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—M. Charles De Lesseps, who was sentenced to five years' imprisonment for complicity in the Panama Canal scandal, was released from prison to-day. He had served about six months of the sentence, when the prison officials were to-day ordered to release him. Most of this time was spent in the prison hospital.

Mend or End.

LONDON, Sept. 12. — The National Liberal federation has issued a circular in connection with the rejection of the Home Rule Bill by the House of Lords, in which it says that the question of mending or ending the House of Lords may displace for a while in the House of Commons all other subjects of reform. The question, the circular adds, needs unflinching treatment.

Ravages of Cholera.

ROME, Sept. 12.—There has been a severe outbreak of cholera in Leghorn in a dirty quarter of the town named Venuzie. Two hundred and sixty-five cases and seven deaths were reported yesterday. The record of the infected places for 24 hours is as follows: Naples, no new cases, five deaths; Cassino, four new cases, one death; Palermo, three new cases, four deaths.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 12. — Cholera returns for this city for the past 24 hours show fourteen new cases and five deaths.

The Bruiser's Farewell.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A farewell dinner was given at St. James' Hall this evening to Charley Mitchell, the English pugilist, who is about to sail for America to fight Corbett, and Jack McAuliffe, the American lightweight champion, who will accompany him. Fifty friends of the two fighters were present. G. W. Moore, better known as "Poney" Moore, presided, and proposed the toasts. All the speakers cordially wished Mitchell the victory in his fight with Corbett. In reply, Mitchell said that he would try his best to deserve success.

The Britannia's Victory.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Times, noting the fact that in accordance with the English rules the Britannia is entitled to time allowance from the Navahoe, says this makes her victories the more decisive. British yachtsmen, the paper adds, have long held that in no weather is the Navahoe the clipper that American builders are wont to turn out when they try their best, and that in a strong wind she is absolutely deficient in stability. The Times while accepting Mr. Carroll's explanation as to the accident in the race at Cowes for the town cup, insists that the Navahoe keeled in a dangerous way and answered her helm with difficulty.

The House of Commons.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—In the House of Commons yesterday, in a discussion on the army estimates, J. H. Dalziel, M.P. for Kirkcaldy, moved a reduction in the estimates on account of the Duke of Connaught's appointment to the command at Aldershot.

Mr. Campbell Bannerman, Secretary of State for War, said that in public opinion the Duke was well fitted for the position, and that the appointment was not a step towards his filling the place of the Duke of Cambridge. It the event of the latter's retirement causing a vacancy at the Horse Guards the position would not be filled.

The motion was defeated by a vote of 156 to 39.

The Liberal Lords.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The minority of 41 in favor of Home Rule in the House of Lords was the highest that had been anticipated by the Liberal whips. It comprised the following peers: Lord Chancellor Herschell, the Marquises of Ripon and Breadalbane, Earls Chesterfield, Spencer, Granville, Russell, Kimberly, Rosebery, Elgin and Ashburnham, Viscount Oxenbridge and Barons Camoys, Wentworth, Boyle, Vernon, Thurlow, Carrington, Ribblesdale, Leigh, Houghton, Acton, Sandhurst, Aberdare, Coleridge, Reay, Northbourne, Monkswell, Hobhouse, Kensington, Hamilton of Ualzell, Brassey, Thring, Playfair, Battersea, Swansea, Farrer, Overtoun, Hawkesbury, Kelhead and Stanmore.

Alsace Delights the Kaiser.

METZ, Sept. 12.—In replying to the address of the burgomaster of Strasbug on the Broglie Platz yesterday, the Emperor, after expressing his regret for the shortness of his sojourn in the beautiful city, said: "When as a boy I sang 'O Strasburg, du Wunderschoene Stadt,' I prayed God that Strasburg, for which I always felt an especial sympathy, might again become German. Since then that wish has been fulfilled. I treasure Strasburg as one of the best German cities. I am convinced that the people of Strasburg are happy in the reunion. This conviction I have felt so much the more on this occasion, as I arrived here unexpectedly. My engagements prevent a long stay among you now, but I hope in the future to find an opportunity for a longer stay without taking you by surprise. I feel at home among you; that is why I acquired a hunting estate in your neighborhood, which will soon bring me here again."

Irritated France.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—The irritation of France against England seems to increase day by day. First the Government was urged to assert itself against England's interference in the Siamese question; then it was claimed that, at the opening of the chambers, the Government must make the power of France felt by raising the Egyptian ghost again, and now the French press has found fresh cause to attack England and is angrily harping against the obstacles which, it is claimed, the Niger Company has placed in the way of French explorers. There are people who are unkind enough to say these attacks upon the part of the French press, directed against England, serve, intentionally or unintentionally, to turn the attention of the people from the really irritating reviews, sham battles and visits to frontier fortresses indulged in by the German Emperor with the Crown Prince of Italy at his side. That is really where the shoe pinches, and it will take more than the visit of the Russian fleet to Toulon to dissipate the angry reflections which are now agitating the thinkers of France.

Killing Cholera Germs.

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—Experiments at the Berlin Hygienic Institute by Prof. Rubner and Dr. Davids, of the imperial navy, show that Siemens' water-boiling apparatus effectually destroys all cholera germs. Water that has been boiled is passed through water in process of being heated, and thus the water already boiled is quickly cooled and ready for use at a great saving of cost. The experiments of Messrs. Rubner and Davids prove that all cholera germs are destroyed. The cost of sterilizing, say 20,000 pints of water, is less than 50 cents. The apparatus feeds itself. Sixty pints can be sterilized in an hour with it, and it occupies only a small space. The obtaining of bacteriological proof of Asiatic cholera has been much facilitated lately by the Dunham process, introduced by Prof. Koch, of breeding the comma bacillus in a solution of alkali and peptone. This process permits proof of the presence of the cholera bacillus in as brief a period as six hours occasionally, and in all cases within 24 hours. The presence of the comma bacillus has been detected in persons with no other symptoms of cholera and seemingly in perfect health. It must be mentioned, though, that those persons had been in frequent personal communication with sufferers from Asiatic cholera. These new discoveries prove that the bacillus may be present in the system in a non-poisonous state. So far nobody has discovered what produces the virus. The old theory is still believed that disturbed functions of the stomach or intestines will develop the cholera if the bacillus is in the system.

Calls the Lords Hayseeds.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Harold Frederick, in a special cable, dealing with the vote of the House of Lords on the Home Rule Bill, says: Something like a fifth of the whole number of performers had never been inside of the Chamber of Peers till last Tuesday. To fully one-half of the remainder it was almost as unfamiliar. These titled strangers, whipped up to London from their grouse and partridge, and denied even the sacred solace of the St. Leger, swarmed into the corridors of the House of Lords on Tuesday in droves, like rustics on a personally-conducted tour through the sights of the metropolis. Policemen had to be stationed at every turn in the passages to show them the way to the scene of their deliberations. As for identifying them, that was quite beyond the powers of the servants of the House. Apparently any elderly farmer wearing a cover coat with side pockets could pass freely in and take his seat without a question. This bucolic effect colored the whole assemblage. In deference to the occasion all wore black coats, but their sunburnt, heavy faces, huge red hands and awkward postures kept perpetually suggesting that they ought instead to be in tweeds and gaiters. Here in London we think of peers mostly as carefully-dressed, even dapper, habitues of Piccadilly and the Row. But in this great formal muster of the peerage this handful of well-tailored men of the world was fairly snowed under by serried masses of countrified squires. This effect of hayseed was by no means confined to appearances. No tub-thumping demagogue could have wished for a more heartless, unsophisticated audience. They laughed wildly at bald old elementary jokes which even the drivers of four-wheelers wearied of a decade ago. They stared at such speakers as strove to discuss the Home Rule Bill on the grounds of logic, law and constitutional precedent. But when a cheaper sort, like Cranbrook, rose, and simply went for Gladstone as knave, liar, traitor and lunatic, and spat on the Irish, trampled them under foot as scoundrels, murderers, alien scum and filth, then they bellowed out great volleys of "Hear, hear?" like the roar of their own prize bulls at home. They listened with obvious amazement to warnings such as Spencer gently hinted and Rosebery bluntly thrust at them, that their order itself was on trial and stood in jeopardy. It seemed to them absurd. They know, of course, that there are some low fellows in big towns who talk like that, but so there are unruly poachers at home. They cannot see there is more in it than that, and so they stolidly, cheerfully, trooped out last night behind Salisbury, 400 of them, into the lobby, against home rule. That was nearly a hundred more than the House of Lords' voting list has ever recorded before. It took them fully a half-hour to pass in single file before the throne. On the way out they made mild rural jokes as they edged along, taking it all as a tremendous lark. The public themselves, for the moment, see only the ridiculous side of the thing in the spectacle of these hundreds of muddle-headed beefy rustics dragged up to town from their preoccupation over game preserves and the price of fodder, and the best remedies for swine fever, to sit yawning through four evenings of speech-making, and then lightly throw out a measure which the House of Commons has been sweating blood over for 84 days, and which the country has been discussing for six years. It is, frankly, too preposterous for serious comment. Of course the angry aspects of the case will come swiftly enough. In a fortnight you will see England all astir with the cry of "Down with the House of Lords," and by the time the recess ends there will be no other issue in sight.

Daring Train Robbery

A Lake Shore Express Held Up in Indiana.

The Express Car Wrecked by Dynamite and Robbed.

Heroic Conduct of a Messenger—The Engineer Shot.

$250,000 in Gold Carried Off by the Bandits.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Twenty masked men held up a Lake Shore train 140 miles from Chicago, near midnight, and after wounding the engineer, blew open the safe in the express car and stole its contents. The robbers stopped the train by means of a red light. The engineer would not give in, and was shot by them. They placed dynamite under the express car, which made a huge gash in its side. The express messenger, who had refused to surrender, poured shot after shot into the robbers, but was finally overcome and beaten into unconsciousness. Half a dozen of the twenty men then looted the express car. Dynamite was again used in opening the safe, and the thieves used their own time in taking everything they thought worth carrying away. The guards at the doors of the passenger coaches were called off, a few parting shots were fired and the band of robbers disappeared in the woods. The sheriff of the county, aroused from his bed, called up all near him for help, and soon a posse of residents of Kendallville were speeding along the highway to the scene of the hold-up. They scoured the vicinity, went through the bush, and traveled miles through the woods, but could find nothing. The train held up was the New York express on the Lake Shore Railway, which reaches Kendallville about midnight. It was made up last night of ten coaches, two express cars and one baggage car. The dynamite having wrecked only one express car, the robbers contented themselves with looting this alone, and made no effort to force an entrance to the second. Lieut. Shepard at once sent half a dozen officers to intercept the bandits if they came towards Chicago.

Later details say the robbers secured $250,000 in gold which was being shipped east by a Chicago bank. The engineer struck down one of the robbers with a coal pick and he fell from the engine. The fireman jumped through the cab window and ran for his life. General Manager Wygant, of the United States Express Company, is taking active steps to capture the robbers. A number of the express company's best detectives, several Pinkerton men and a squad of city police have gone to the scene of the robbery on a special train.

A POSSE IN PURSUIT.

ALBION, Ind., Sept. 12.—The bandits who robbed the Lake Shore express succeeded in getting about $30,000 of a consignment that was being shipped from Chicago. At 4 o'clock this morning a telegram was sent to Sheriff Shauck of this place requesting him to report immediately with an armed posse, and capture the robbers. He is in hot pursuit of the thieves. The men who did the work are members of a well organized gang and have confederates throughout this section.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—A special to the Evening Sun from Chicago says: "The robbers secured $150,000 in currency which was being shipped to New York, but did not take the gold, of which there was $250,000 packed in iron boxes. The Harrison street police have five men under arrest. It is claimed they were concerned in the robbery."

TOLEDO, Ohio, Sept. 12.—The railroad and express officials here say that last night was a light one on the express car. Several nights ago $5,000,000 was sent through, and it is thought the robbers were organized for the purpose of raiding that pile, but missed calculations. It is not definitely known what amount the robbers secured.

SENSATION IN WINDSOR.

A Penniless Woman and Helpless Children Starving to Death.

WINDSOR, Sept. 12.—Yesterday a young man called on Mayor Fleming and stated that a woman and two children living on the corner of Sandwich street and Windsor avenue were in actual want. He had heard that they were starving to death and wanted the proper authorities to make an investigation. The place referred to is over McKeon's carriage shop and consists of two small rooms. When a visit was made there it was found that the report was correct. The woman had sold all but a few chairs to procure bread and had even sold her dress to keep her two children in food. The last crust in the place was used yesterday morning and the poor woman in despair had locked the door, and was waiting huddled in a corner with her children for death to relieve them from their sufferings. The woman's name is Mrs. Johannes. She was deserted by her husband about a month ago. The two were married in Germany, and came from Boston about two months ago. Johannes was a painter, but showed no disposition to work. Mrs. Johannes is about 30 years of age and has the appearance of being a refined lady. She claims to have wealthy relatives in Germany and is highly educated. Arrangements are being made to remove them to the Home of the Friendless.

A Canadian Smuggler.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Charles Woodley, who said he was a farmer and lived near Waterford, Ont., was arrested to-day charged with smuggling opium from Canada. He had $250 worth concealed in his clothing. He was held in $20,000 bail.

A Triumphal Tour!

Magnificent Welcome to Laurier by the Liberals of Essex.

Ten Thousand People Honor Him at Leamington

Despite Morning Rain—A Monster Procession—"The Maids of Canada"—Speeches by the Leader, Hon. Mr. Hardy and Others—Grand Banquet.

LEAMINGTON, Sept. 12.—The demonstration at Sea Cliff Park, Leamington, held in honor of Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, was perhaps the most successful of the series of meetings now being held. The threatening weather and the downpour of rain which took place up to 9 o'clock in the morning no doubt prevented thousands from being present who would have been there. Notwithstanding this there must have been between 8,000 and 10,000 present.

Mr. Laurier arrived by special train at 11 a.m., and was received by an immense crowd. An address of welcome was presented to him by the Leamington Young Liberal Club, by whom the demonstration was prepared. The distinguished parties then took carriages, and, headed by the Leamington band and mounted yeomanry, the party proceeded, passing between lines of Liberals with mottos and banners to a handsome arch erected in the public square, when a halt was made. There a beautiful bouquet was presented to Mr. Laurier by Miss Fuller, representing Miss Canada and her maids, seven little girls bearing banners representing the seven Provinces of the Dominion. One of the little maids, Miss Vera McSween, representing Quebec, presented a beautiful bouquet of roses to Mrs. Laurier. An address of welcome was then read by Mayor Fuller on behalf of the corporation. Addresses were also presented him from the Liberal associations of Kent and Essex.

A parade was then formed, composed of the Leamington Young Liberals and Liberal clubs from Essex, Amherstburg, Windsor, Tilbury and Chatham, with many beautiful banners and mottoes. They passed in review before Mr. Laurier, after which an immense procession was formed for the park on the Lake Erie shore. Nearly 200 invited guests sat down to a magnificent spread, after which addresses were given by local members.

Mr. Wm. McSween called the great gathering to order and introduced the speakers in the following order: H. W. Allan, M.P., Wm. McGregor, M.P., Arch. Campbell, M.P., W. D. Balfour, M.P.P., G. Pacaud, ex-M.P., Wm. Muloch, M.P., and the guest of the day, Mr. Laurier, who was received with an ovation that made old Lake Erie echo, and which must have inspired the brilliant leader's heart. Mr. Laurier, although hoarse, was in his happiest vein, and for over an hour maintained the closest attention of every man and woman in the tremendous audience as he dealt with his customary frankness and ability with the planks in the Liberal platform. At the conclusion of his speech in English he addressed a few words to his French countrymen, a large number of whom were present.

Hon. A. S. Hardy, in one of his wittiest addresses, explained the policy of the Mowat Administration, and showed the fallacy of the charges made against that Government. James Sutherland, M.P., also made a few remarks.

The town has been most brilliantly decorated with flags, mottoes, streamers, arches, etc., and the crowd of 10,000 people to-day carry away good impressions of the town and the illustrious leader whom they came to honor in haste. They were given a reception at the Ridgetown station as they passed through.

FOUND GUILTY.

The Celebrated Campbell Heresy Case Before Montreal Presbytery.

The Professor Replies to the Charges Against Him—Alleged Biblical Discrepancies.—The Vote Against Him.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—The Presbytery of Montreal met to-day in the David Morrice Hall to consider the alleged Campbell heresy case. The charge of libel, agreed upon at the last meeting of the Presbytery, was read.

The professor read his reply to the charges, in the course of which he said: "With no feeling of trepidation, far less of shame, I appear before this court to reply to the charge laid against me. But so far as my libeled lecture is concerned, I feel a good conscience towards God and man. I believe the Bible, even the Old Testament, to be on the whole a very truthful book, and its errors in history, chronology and other matters to be very few and of no great importance, yet the errors are there. More than 25 years ago I gave special attention to the genealogy of the First Book of Chronicles. A comparison of these with those in the 36th chapter of Genesis, and with the scheme of ancient history reveals wonderful discrepancies showing that the chronicler ignorantly classified under the families of Israel great Gentile names having no connection with them."

Several clergymen gave their views on the subject at issue, but no definite decision was reached at the time of adjournment.

Later — The Montreal Presbytery to-night found Prof. Campbell guilty on the first count of the libel for heresy by a vote of 21 to 13.

TAKING A TUMBLE.

Sir John Thompson Talks Tariff Reduction—The Pow-Pow in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—Between 5,000 and 6,000 people attended the big Conservative demonstration at the drill hall to-night in honor of Sir John Thompson, the Dominion Premier. Addresses were presented to the Premier by the Club Cartier and the Sir John A. Macdonald Club, and in reply he announced the policy of the Government. He declared the Government, after a careful inquiry into all the interests involved, would make a complete and might also probably make a reduction. In its policy the Government would endeavor to serve the interests of all classes of the population and to favor no particular class. Speaking of the Manitoba school question, Sir John Thompson said the Government had submitted the question whether it had the right to give remedial legislation to the courts, and until a decision was rendered it would be impossible to say what the Government's course would be. Addresses were also made by Sir A. Caron, Messrs. Ouimet, Angers and Curran, and the meeting broke up at a late hour.

Albert Edward Wilson on Trial for Murder.

A Plea of Insanity—His Sister in the London Asylum.

SARNIA, Sept. 12.—The trial of Albert Edward Wilson, who was brought here some few weeks ago from Saginaw, charged with the murder, in 1889, of Miss Mary Marshall, of Warwick, this county, was commenced here this morning at the assizes, presided over by Justice Falconbridge. Almost every person, especially in this vicinity, is familiar with the story of the memorable Sunday evening when Wilson shot the young lady coming from church. Mr. Lount, Q.C., is conducting the business for the crown, and Mr. B. B. Osler, Toronto, and J. F. Lister, Sarnia, are defending the prisoner.

The plea for acquittal on the grounds of insanity was entered. The facts of the case are not disputed by the defense. A number of witnesses were examined, including medical experts, who gave testimony as to the different features, etc., of such cases. It appears, however, from evidence given, that Wilson's family are predisposed in this respect, and some of the members, especially a sister who is now in London Asylum, have been under treatment. The evidence will be all in to-morrow, when the addresses will be delivered and the jury charged. There was a very large crowd at court. Wilson seems very much depressed and feels his position keenly.

BLAKE AT HOME.

The Distinguished Canadian Arrives at Quebec.

Looks and Feels Well—Will Remain for Six Weeks—English Politics.

QUEBEC, Sept. 12.—The Beaver Line steamship Lake Huron, Capt. Carey, arrived here from Liverpool shortly after 5 o'clock this morning and moored at the Grand Trunk wharf, at South Quebec. Hon. Edward Blake was one of the passengers on the Lake Huron. At 6 o'clock Mr. Blake left the Lake Huron and crossed to Quebec, where he took the steamer Carolina for Murray Bay.

It was on the promenade deck of that fine boat that I saw him. Mr. Blake looks hale and hearty. He was looking over a morning paper when I approached him. "Yes, I am well, thank you," he answered to my question as to the state of his health. "My trip across the ocean," he added, "was most pleasant and contributed much to the recuperation of my health and strength generally."

"How long will you stay in Canada?"

"Until the latter end of October."

Mr. Blake refused to be interviewed with regard to English politics. During conversation, however, he declared that the position of the Liberal party was still unchanged. He refused to give an opinion as to future measures to be taken by the Liberal party on the home rule question. "The home rule question," he said; "is pretty much the same now as it was when Lord Salisbury went out of power." Concerning the Irish factions Mr. Blake said they were also unchanged and he declined to speak any further on the matter. Mr. Blake left at 8 a.m. to join his family at Murray Bay.

THE WHITE HOUSE GIRLS.

Oh, the hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the earth;
So here's to Frances Cleveland
And the recent White House birth
And the country's heart beats joyful
And is glad, in every truth,
That a baby's come to frolic
With that pretty baby Ruth.

London Presbytery.

Rev. Thomas Wilson Declines the Call to East London.

Rev. Robert Aylward Asks Admission to the Presbyterian Church.

His Request Unanimously Favored—The Vanneck Commission's Report Adopted—James Munro's Appeal — A Deal of Church Business.

The London Presbytery met in Knox Church, St. Thomas, at 11 a.m. on Tuesday. Mr. John Currie, Belmont, was in the chair.

Rev. Messrs. Aylward, of London, and Beatt, of Ottawa Presbytery, were invited to sit and correspond.

The minutes of the Presbyterial Commission, which met at Vanneck on Aug. 29, were also read. Dr. Proudfoot made a vigorous speech in opposition to the appointment of a commission with Presbyterial powers, and declared that if such a step should be taken in future he would oppose it. The minutes were approved by Presbytery.

The roll of the Presbytery was then made up and the docket arranged. Rev. Alex. Henderson, of Appin, was elected moderator for the next six months. Session records were laid on the table and committees appointed to examine.

The Presbytery adjourned at 12:30.

The Presbytery met at 2 p.m. Mr. Ballantyne presented a call from the congregation of East London to Rev. Thomas Wilson, of Dutton. The call was signed by every member and adherent who was in the city of London at the time it was prepared. Messrs. Stewart, Cheeseborough, Parkins and Forsyth were present in behalf of East London. The congregation of Dutton having been cited by the clerk of the Presbytery in view of this call being sustained, his conduct in so doing was approved. Messrs. R. S. McMillan, Hollingshead, Beatty, St. Clair, Dr. Ruthven and Leach were present in behalf of the Dutton congregation. The deputation from East London was first heard in support of the call. The Dutton delegation was also heard and made a strong protest against Mr. Wilson's translation. Mr. Parkins was then heard in reply, and the call was placed in Mr. Wilson's hands, and after explaining the difficulty he had felt in deciding the matter, declared his intention of remaining in Dutton. On motion it was resolved that the translation be not granted, and at the same time the sympathy of the Presbytery was extended to the congregation of East London.

Session records of a number of congregations having been examined and handed in, were attested as carefully and correctly kept. Messrs. Kelso, Ballantyne, Miller and Henderson received permission to moderate in calls to Dunwich, London East, Wardsville and Glencoe.

The application of Rev. Robt. Aylward, of the First Congregational Church, London, to be received as a minister of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, was presented, and on motion a committee was appointed to confer with Mr. Aylward.

Mr. Miller asked if the church law required that the Presbytery should be consulted before a manse could be built by a congregation, having special reference to the congregations of Wardsville and Newbury, of which he is moderator. After hearing the explanation of the difficulty, a committee was appointed to visit both congregations and if possible settle the matter—Messrs. Miller, Milloy, Henderson, Currie, ministers; D. K. McKenzie and John Cameron, elders.

Dr. Proudfoot reported on behalf of the committee appointed to confer with Mr. Aylward, that they recommended that his application be favorably received, and this Presbytery make application on his behalf to the next General Assembly, and also that the home mission committee avail itself of his services in the interval as far as possible.

Mr. Aylward was heard in reference to his reasons for wishing to make such a change, and stated clearly that while not having changed his views in theology he had altered his view of church polity, and therefore made this application. The report of the committee was unanimously adopted.

The report of the committee on the transference of Rev. D. Currie, of Glencoe, to Perth, was presented, referring in terms of high respect to Mr. Currie's work in Glencoe, and was unanimously adopted.

The application of Mr. Smith to be certified as a student of Knox College was referred to a committee.

The clerk read the appeal of James Munro against the decision of the Presbytery to the Synod of Hamilton and London, but inasmuch as the appeal had not been presented within the time required by church law, the Presbytery take no action on this matter.

The committee appointed to meet with Mr. Smith recommended him cordially as a student of Knox College. Adopted.

A request was read from Rev. W. S. Ball, asking to be reported to the aged and infirm ministers' committee. The clerk was instructed to answer the communication and state that the Presbytery will guard his interests in the matter.

Communications were read from Ottawa and Regina Presbyteries regarding a suspended and removed minister.

Too Careless With the English Language.

A clothing dealer, in Boston, advertised all-wool pantaloons for $2, advising the public to make haste and secure the great bargain, saying: "They will not last long." Probably they would not. Neither will your health last long if you don't take care of it. Keep Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets in your house; they are indispensable to every family, as they positively cure biliousness, with its endless train of distressing ailments—sick headache, irritability constipation, dizziness and indigestion; a marvelous specific for liver and kidney troubles, and a pure vegetable compound. They are sugar-coated, the smallest pills made, and the best because they do all they promise. All druggists sell them, and the proprietors guarantee them, and refund the price if they fail.

The gross value of the estate of the late T. B. Griffith, of Hamilton, has been placed at $180,845.

To-day will be the eleventh anniversary of the battle of Tel-el-Kebir.

A wonderful new combination is R. Stark's Headache, Neuralgia and Liver Powders; nice to take and perfectly harmless. Mrs. Mary Keats, 88 Main street, Hamilton, says: "For years—in fact all my life—I have been troubled with severe headaches. I have tried all the remedies I could hear of, and have been treated by many doctors, but with very little good results. A friend recommended your Headache, Neuralgia and Liver Powders some time ago, and I have found them to be the greatest blessing to me—in fact, I can truly say they are perfectly wonderful. I would not be without them for more than I can tell." Mr. Flock, station master, Grand Trunk Railway, Hamilton, says: "They cured my most severe headaches, which I had for at least three years." Price, 25 cents a box. Sold by all medicine dealers.

A FAMILY QUARREL.

The Government's Heavy Hand on the Young Tories.

A Split in the Ranks—After Mackintosh's Shoes—The Coming Convention a Fizzle.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—The decision of the Macdonald Club, which was arrived at at last night's meeting of the executive committee, not to send delegates to the Toronto convention to-morrow, shows plainly that the proposed meeting of the Young Conservatives in Toronto is not viewed with favor by the Dominion Government. The Macdonald Club here is nothing if it is not a Government institution. Its membership is largely made up of Government clerks and others seeking promotion in the Government service. The Ottawa young Tories are of the belief that the Toronto young men of the party are not very sound in the faith, in fact that they are composed largely of the McCarthy wing of the party, and consequently whatever they might do at their convention would not meet with the approval of the Thompson Government. A member of the Macdonald Club, who was at last night's meeting, says that the Toronto convention is bound to be a fizzle since it has not the support of the Dominion Government. Another member of the club says that President Armstrong, Secretary Maguire and other members of the Toronto Association are getting up the convention with a view to deriving some notoriety from the meeting. All this goes to show the disorganizing and disintegrating forces which are going on within the ranks of a party which followed Sir John Macdonald to a man, but which refuse to accept the leadership of Sir John Thompson.

As time advances the breach in the party here over a successor to Mr. Mackintosh widens, and until it is healed up Mr. Mackintosh's appointment cannot be officially announced.

A Mount Brydges correspondent writes: The most interesting lacrosse game of the season was played on Saturday evening last at Mount Brydges between the home team and a very excellent set of men of the Union Football Club of Muncey. LAURIER AT DURHAM.

Preparations for a Grand Reception to the Liberal Leader on Sept. 18.

DURHAM, Sept. 12.—The preparations for the reception of Mr. Laurier on Sept. 18 are well under way. The demonstration will be under the auspices of the Young Liberal Club of this town, and will be such as shall reflect no discredit upon those in management. A special train will leave Palmerston on the arrival of the morning trains from the north on the several branches, reaching here at 11 a.m. At 5 a.m. the friends at Dundalk, headed by their band, will start, leaving Hopeville at 6:30 a.m., Dromow at 8 a.m., Varney at 9:30 a.m., arriving here at 10 o'clock. Markdale will also be represented by a large contingent, headed by their band. Leaving Markdale at 6 a.m., Flesherton village at 7 a.m., Flesherton station at 7:30 a.m., Priceville at 8 a.m., Bimessen at 9 a. m., reaching here at 10 o'clock. Hanover friends, headed also by their band, will take up the line of march at 8 a.m., leaving Allen Park at 9, arriving at Durham at 10 o'clock. A number of bands are also expected by train. Mr. Laurier, accompanied by Mr. James McMullen, M.P., of Mount Forest, whose guest Mr. Laurier will be on Sunday next, will arrive on the special. Addresses will be delivered at the station from the Young Men's Liberal Club, the Reform Association of South Grey and the town council, who will attend in a body. The enthusiasm is running high, and this promises to be a demonstration of which all may well be proud, and an honor to not only those in the management, but also to our leader in the Commons, and also to the leader in the riding, Dr. George Landerkin, M.P.

Look Around

and see the women who are using Pearline. It's easy to pick them out. They're brighter, fresher, more cheerful than the women who have spent twice as much time in the rub, rub, rub, of the old way. Why shouldn't they be? Washing with Pearline is easy.

And look at the clothes that are washed with Pearline. They're brighter, and fresher, too. They haven't been rubbed to pieces on the washboard. They may be old, but they don't show it. For clothes washed with Pearline last longer.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. 399 JAMES PYLE, New York.

God's in his heaven,

—[BROWNING.

If you trust in God and yourself you can surmount every obstacle. Do not yield to restless anxiety. One must not always be asking what may happen to one in life, but one must advance fearlessly and bravely.
—[PRINCE BISMARCK.

London, Wednesday, Sept. 13.

—Only those communications to which the writers are willing to have their names appended in print will be published in these columns.

—It is the products of Canada which have to face the competition of the world that are reflecting the greatest credit on her at the World's Fair—not the "protected" ones.

—In 1878, the Dominion public debt amounted to $140,362,669; it has now reached the enormous sum of $241,679,972, and still keeps marching on. The country needs a change.

—Deaths from eating toadstools in mistake for mushrooms are reported almost daily. It seems to be easier to identify frog legs than to definitely settle what may or what may not be eaten in the fungi kingdom.

—Conservative papers are in great fear that President Cleveland will carry out his tariff reform pledges and thus give Canada a better chance at the American market. The organs know such will hasten the doom of Canadian McKinleyism.

—The World's Fair managers look for an attendance of at least 1,000,000 visitors a week during September. Last week 1,119,689 paid for admission. It was the banner-bearing record of the season. The attendance during the whole month of May was only 1,050,037.

—The Vancouver World asserts that the census, so far as British Columbia is concerned, is a sham and a fraud. Taking the alleged census of manufactories as an instance, this characterization might fitly be applied to the census for this Province. The numbers given, in response to special payments to the enumerators, are the laughing stock of every urban community.

—Canadian wheelmen will be glad to learn of an important customs decision rendered at Washington by Acting Attorney-General Whitney. It is held that bicycles are personal effects and entitled to free entry into the United States as such when necessary to the comfort and convenience of the owner. There cannot be too much emancipation from all unnecessary taxation law red tape on both sides of the border.

—The cable brings information of an unusual multiplication of wasps both in Britain and on the continent. In this locality, too, the season seems to have favored the development of the hymenopterous insect. It is not contented with building cells in its accustomed haunts, but on the south side of Queen's avenue, opposite the Sacred Heart Convent, and again opposite the Memorial Church, colonies have established themselves under the sidewalk. The wasps do not attack the ordinary passer-by, but children who have endeavored to get a little fun out of them have had reason to repent their temerity.

—The editor of the Templar denies that he stabs Sir Oliver Mowat at every opportunity because he was refused an office. The ADVERTISER accepts the denial unreservedly. Beyond question, however, many earnest temperance men and women have been more than grieved (1) at the Templar's half-hearted support of the Provincial plebiscite—the greatest educative opportunity of a generation; (2) by its failure to give due credit to Sir Oliver Mowat and other public men who are perfectly willing to go as far in moral reforms as public opinion will permit; and (3) by an unnecessarily acrid tone towards those whose ideas of methods may be dissimilar, but whose judgment is not necessarily inferior. We repeat, the ADVERTISER has nothing but good will and good wishes for the Templar and its editor. Both have done good work in the past, and both, with a little enlargement of view, will do grander work in the future.

MR. LAURIER AND THE FACTORIES.

"If the factories get shut up by a removal of the tariff, why so much the worse for the factories," was what Mr. Laurier said in effect at Newmarket.—[London Free Press.

It would be more honest for our contemporary to print for the benefit of its readers what the Liberal leader did say than to put in his mouth, "in effect," sentiments that he never uttered. Mr. Laurier's speech was printed in full at the time, and its meaning could not be misunderstood. Among other things, he emphatically declared that no factory conducted on business principles, and only demanding from the people of Canada a fair market price for its products, would be injured by the Liberal policy. He pointed out that the ten boot and shoe manufacturers in Quebec were supporters of his policy, and that the mayor of Newmarket, an extensive implement manufacturer, who presided over the great gathering in that town, was an earnest upholder of the Liberal policy. These and other facts going to prove that a tariff for revenue only would hurt no legitimate industry, but rather help it, while repressing combines, and benefiting the whole people, Mr. Laurier made plain in his Newmarket speech. Is it not decidedly suggestive that organs like the London Free Press should suppress the important information and deductions supplied by the Liberal leader, and palm off on readers a misleading statement that he never uttered?

SHORTHAND IN THE COURTS.

Many people have trusted that there is no limit to the stenographic art, and even some shorthand writers have led the public to believe that no one could talk fast enough to get beyond their powers. That opinion is not entertained by the Chartered Stenographic Reporters' Association of Ontario, which embraces in its membership the swiftest shorthand writers in the Province. At the recent meeting of the association the following important motion was unanimously carried:

"That as it is absolutely impossible to take down verbatim documents read in court, and as it is recognized by the highest authorities and most efficient stenographers in Great Britain, the United States and other parts of the world, that this is beyond the capacity, not only of stenographers, but of shorthand systems, this association is unanimously of the opinion that representations should be made to the judges as to the importance of their making an order that henceforth in all judicial proceedings counsels shall be required to file with the stenographer a copy of every extract used and intended to form part of the reporter's record, and that the council of this association furnish a copy of this resolution to each of the judges and make such other representation as may be deemed necessary."

The chartered stenographers have pointed out a difficulty and an easy means for its solution. No one who is seized of the importance of obtaining an absolutely accurate record of the evidence will object to the change insisted upon by the stenographers, and we doubt not that the judges will so alter the court rules as to provide for the change.

Few people are conversant with the saving in time and money which is effected by the use of shorthand in the administration of justice. There was a time when the judge took a running record of the testimony, keeping counsel and witnesses in check while he proceeded. In those days, and it is not so very long ago, it was no uncommon thing for the business at an assize court to last from four to six weeks. Now the shorthand writer relieves the judge of all anxiety as to the record, the time necessary for attendance upon court is reduced to less than one-third, and every county in Ontario saves money by the transaction. As a time-saving agency the stenographer has been of inestimable service to the public, and he should not be grudged fair remuneration for his toil. No profession calls for more arduous exertion in qualifying to take the front rank, and no occupation demands more painstaking and exacting service than does that of the stenographer. For a time the shorthand writers were content to remain without cohesion. Now they are united to forward their own interests and to prevent the public from being imposed upon by inefficients. In this light the strength and meaning of the resolution given above will be appreciated by all. Surely the plain statement of the situation is alone necessary to enlist the judges in favor of the reform.

THE PROPHETIC AND THE REAL.

Hon. C. H. Tupper, who, according to the usual practice, received a knighthood because he took part in the international arbitration regarding the Bering Sea seals, predicts that "next year's catch of British vessels will be the largest in the history of pelagic sealing." But his prophecy—it is likely to be only a Tupperian prognostication, and we all know what credence should be given to it—does not chime with that of the British Columbia sealers. On the very day that he was holding forth his roseate picture at Ottawa the Victoria sealers appointed a committee to set forth in a memorial to the imperial authorities that the Paris regulations had ruined their industry, and asking that the British Government should buy their vessels and outfits at a fair price.

It appears to be settled, indeed, as pointed out by the St. John Globe, that while Canada has lost almost everything for which it contended, Great Britain has maintained her jurisdictional theory, the United States gets the seals and Mr. Tupper gets knighted.

HOLDING THE MIRROR UP TO TORONTO.

The Canada Presbyterian, in the following paragraphs—which have a tolerably wide application—thus holds up the mirror to Toronto:

"Perhaps the most alarming, as well as the most humiliating, thing connected with the infamous system of personation on the 26th was the fact that for the most part the personators were native Canadians. In New York city the Irish are blamed for all the municipal evils from which the city suffers. In Chicago and Cincinnati the Germans and other foreigners are said to do the bad work. Here in Toronto it is done mostly by men who have been brought up under the shadow of our own church spires and at the very doors of our schools and colleges. At some recent elections we are informed that personators were brought from Buffalo to do the infamous work; but there is no pretense that the street car company did anything of that kind. The gang were on the ground ready for work. They are citizens of 'Toronto the Good.'"

"When bribery, personation, and other corrupt practices are resorted to at political elections the blame is laid by many on what they call 'party politics.' There was no party politics in the Sunday car contest and a carnival of corruption prevailed. The root of the evil is much deeper than party feeling."

"Underneath every other civic issue in Toronto there lies the question whether the city is to be governed by respectable men, as Glasgow and Edinburgh are governed; or by the worst classes of the community, as New York and Chicago are governed. That issue is now clearly before the community and there are four months in which to come to a decision. If the men who employ personators once got a hold of the reins then we shall have New York city government over again."

THE OPEN FORUM.

Conductor Smith's Statement.

Mr. Smith, conductor, C. P. R., writes: Seeing a statement published that I was injured by striking a fog signal with a hammer to show a friend how it worked, I wish to say that such is a deliberate falsehood. There was no friend with me at the time of the accident. Why, a man with any experience would know better than to strike a signal with a hammer, as very serious results would be sure to follow. I was injured about three miles west of Streetsville Junction, not near Galt or Drumbo, as has been reported. It is also said that a tramp was not brought to Woodstock. This is likewise false, for four train hands, besides myself, the agent at Woodstock, and a dozen more I can mention, if necessary, were at the station on my arrival there.

Cruelty to the Horse.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

I only express the feelings of every right-thinking citizen when I say that it is shameful how this noble animal is being daily abused by boys and very deficient men. I noticed on last Sunday evening a little bay-colored one, with a top buggy, was the victim of two youthful creatures, who evidently require guardians. Considerable indignation was felt among those who witnessed the driving, more especially when they saw the horse fall, and a prominent member of the Humane Society allowed them to proceed without one word of reproof, in my hearing, notwithstanding the over-heated condition of the horse.

Are our officers afraid to do their duty, and is this kind of conduct to pass unnoticed in this city of boasted morals? Thanks, Mr. Editor, for the space so freely offered in your paper to denounce wrong.

Yours truly, J. C. ROLLSTON.

GLADSTONE INSULTED.

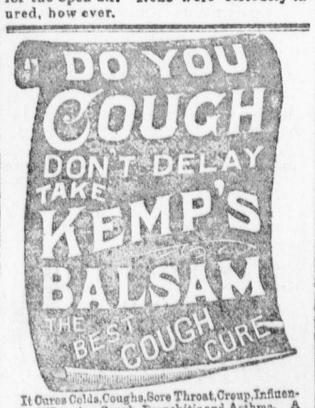

The Grand Old Man Attacked by a Clergyman from the Pulpit.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The sensation of the day here is an attack made Sunday upon Mr. Gladstone by the Rev. Frederick Davies. Mr. Gladstone, it appears, attended divine services Sunday at the Episcopal Church at Blairgowie and the sacred edifice in honor of the Premier's visit was packed with people anxious to see the great Liberal leader. On previous Sundays, it would seem, the church mentioned has not been crowded with worshipers. The Rev. Frederick Davies, who was to preach the sermon, publicly insulted Mr. Gladstone by refusing to shake hands with the venerable statesman before service. In addition, during his sermon, the clergyman vehemently condemned the people present for, as he claimed, coming to church for an unworthy motive; to worship a creature rather than the Creator. The remarks of the Rev. Frederick Davies caused much indignation among the majority of those present.

FROM A RATTLER'S BITE.

A Snake Charmer Dying in a Chicago Hospital.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Walter Ralston, known as "Rattlesnake" Ralston, a snake charmer, is in the county hospital dying from the effects of a bite of a rattlesnake. Ralston has been giving exhibitions in a dime museum, and yesterday was to try a new lot of rattlesnakes which had just been brought from Florida, and which, it had been wagered by the man who brought them, he could not handle. Ralston went into the cellar to get the snakes, when one of them slipped out of the box and caught him on the hand. He flooded himself with whisky, but his arm in a few minutes was frightfully swollen and the physicians at the hospital said he could not live. Shortly after Ralston was bitten the report got out that all the snakes had escaped from the box and there was a frantic rush for the doors. A lively crush ensued and several people were bruised in the struggle for the open air. None were seriously injured, however.

Were the scrofula sores on my poor little boy, sickening and disgusting. They were especially severe on his legs, back of his ears and on his head. His hair was so matted that combing was sometimes impossible. His legs were so bad that sometimes he could not sit down, and when he tried to walk his legs would crack open and the blood start. Physicians did not effect a cure. I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla. CRICKET.

CANADA VS. UNITED STATES.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—Play in the international cricket match was resumed this morning at 11 o'clock, when the Canadians followed on in their second inning with Goldingham and Terry at bat, the former, before being caught and bowled by Brown, succeeding in adding 25 runs to the 25 he made yesterday afternoon. Terry, who yesterday made 32 runs, passed the century mark amid great excitement among the spectators. Terry was ruled out after having put on a total of 111. Hansard, who succeeded Goldingham, made 5 runs before being put out. He was caught by Ralston and bowled by Brown. Play was stopped at 1:30 p.m. for lunch.

After luncheon the Canadians resumed their second inning, with Lyons and Laing at bat. Lyons scored 2 and Laing 4 runs before being put out.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—There has been very good cricket all day in the international match, and the Canadians pulled up so well in the second inning that despite the manner in which the visitors played up this afternoon when their turn came, the result was not absolutely certain when play ceased. The total of the two innings of the home team figures 323, the visitors counting 281 with six wickets to fall, with only 42 to make, however, and being now in good shape there is little doubt they will easily accomplish this. The feature of today's play was the big score by Rev. F. W. Terry, the nominee of the London Asylum club, who was in great form. The Canadians began their second inning yesterday with Terry and Goldingham, and when play ceased last night they had 25 and 32 to their credit respectively. Terry added 76 to his score, and Goldingham put on another 25 before they went down. The rest of the day's play was not exciting and is best told by the score:

ENGLISH CRICKET NOTES.

After their season's play in England, the best critics on the other side sum up the work of the Australians like this: "They have succeeded in showing that they are quite up to the strength of the best county elevens and are very nearly a match for All England." This latter opinion was borne out by the match with All England eleven at Manchester last week, where after three days' play, the issue was still a very even draw. The Australians scored 204 and 236 (W. Bruce 68, and A. C. Bannerman 60), against England's 243 and 118 for four wickets. Gunn's 101, not out, alone saved England's total falling short of the Australians', the other batsmen being disposed of with comparative ease.

A team representing the Gentlemen of Ireland recently accomplished some fine scoring on a tour through England. Against the United Services at Portsmouth they ran up a total of 403 without a man scoring a "century," but F. Browning, with 94, and J. W. Hynes, with 92, came very near it. They followed this up with a total of 462 against Leighton, to which J. Lambert contributed 115, while J. W. Hynes again stopped just short of the century, with 97, while J. M. Meldon and R. Johnston added 71 each. The team fairly astonished the natives, the climax being reached when a draw alone saved Surrey from defeat.

The contest for the English county championship has been brought to a conclusion, with Yorkshire the winner, with 9 points (12 wins and 2 defeats), against Lancashire's, 4 points (9 wins and 5 defeats.) Up to the last week the issue was in doubt, a peculiarity of the contest being Lancashire's double defeat of their successful rivals. Middlesex, Kent, Surrey, Notts, Sussex, Somerset and Gloucestershire is the order in which the other counties finished.

H. A. Watson, playing for the Albion Club against the Chicagos last week, went in first and carried his bat out for 106, the second century scored in Chicago this season.

M. R. Cobb, New York's champion batsman, met with a painful accident while practicing at Bergen Point last week, one of his fingers being broken in stopping a hot grounder.

H. T. Hewett, who will be remembered for his big hitting with Lord Hawke's team, recently made four "centuries" in eight days.

NUMBER ONE COMPANY DEFEATED.

A cricket match was played at the Asylum yesterday afternoon between the Sawbones and the Military School. The game commenced at 2 p.m. with the doctors to bat. Dr. Williams and Dr. Sippi made a most determined stand, and 77 was telegraphed before the latter succumbed to a slow break from Ross (Scotty) for a splendid 39. Dr. Beemer was caught in the slips at 124 for 18. Dr. Williams, a little later, played to the wicket keeper, scoring 61 runs. Dr. Cox, a new and useful acquisition to London and the team, carried his bat out, after playing carefully for his 11. Total 150. Evans and Ross for the Military School, first went to bat, but the first ball from Williams took the former's wickets, and Ross succumbed, l. b. w., for 3 a little later. The only others to make double figures were Dunlevy and Foster. The inning closed for 48. The soldiers followed on and succeeded in scoring 53 for the loss of 5 wickets. For the Sawbones Dr. McLaren bowled magnificently, 3 wickets for 5 runs, and the fielding was all that could be desired on both sides. Score:

Engineer Keefer Presents an Elaborate Report.

Plenty of Water But Not Enough Machinery.

The Necessity of Another Main Is Imperative.

The City Congratulated on the Purity of Its Supply.

New Sets of Steam and Hydraulic Pumps Required—Big Expenditures—$30,000 for Machinery and $68,000 for a Main—The Fire Pressure Insufficient—How the River Power May Be Increased 40 Per Cent.—An Interesting Document.

At a meeting of the water commissioners held last evening Engineer Charles H. Keefer, of Toronto, who had been requested by the board to consult with its engineer, Mr. John M. Moore, in regard to three matters connected with the city water supply, presented his report. It was a voluminous document, extending over twelve foolscap, typewritten pages.

The questions dealt with were:

First—As to the quantity of water already collected and available for supply on and in the vicinity of the property of the commissioners on the south side of the River Thames.

Second—The pumping machinery and the best means of increasing its capacity.

Third—The question of providing a new supply main to the city.

THE SUPPLY OF WATER.

In regard to the present and available supply, they had ascertained several facts. The present supply flowed at the rate of 4,032,000 gallons in 24 hours. This may be supplemented by the addition of some 60,000 gallons in 24 hours, which represented the leakage at points near the pumping station. In addition to this the supply might be increased by the acquisition of the water of Griffith's springs, which represent a flow of 299,594 gallons in 24 hours, making a total of 4,301,592 gallons in 24 hours of visible and measurable supply at a sufficient height above the level of the pumping station to insure its flow by gravity.

The visible and at present measurable supply below the level of the pumping station consisted of the water from the Colville springs, which issues from the river bank at a level of 3.15 feet above the water surface of the river and 17.50 feet below the present water surface level of the lower or collecting pond with a flow of 455,846 gallons in 24 hours.

In regard to the visible supply which was not yet measurable they had determined the existence of a water bearing stratum of considerable depth. The fact that some test wells showed at a depth of 10 and 16 feet no signs of water pointed to the existence of a depression or valley in the water bearing stratum below the surface of the ground, with a direction northerly and southerly corresponding to the lateral valleys connecting with the main valley of the river, and indicated that the probability was that the water now visible at Colville's springs is a lower flow, flowing at these higher points below the levels. They had ascertained in test wells that the visible springs were under a considerable pressure and by tapping them at a sufficient elevation could be made to flow by gravity to the pumping station.

UTILIZATION OF GROUND WATER.

These springs could be utilized either by the establishment of an independent pumping station or the construction of a filter gallery along the river bank with the river wall high enough to raise the water to a sufficient height to flow by gravity to the pumping stations. The latter though desirable would be expensive. The most promising plan would be the formation of a collecting well and the interception of ground water by pipes above the level of the present conduit pipes.

PUMPING MACHINERY AND WATER POWER.

The steam pumping power, continued the report, consisted of a duplex engine with a united capacity for both pumps of 2,500,000 gallons in 24 hours. This engine, erected in 1882, was in good order. The three boilers provided were more than sufficient in steam capacity. The hydraulic pumps consisted of two sets of Worthington pumps of a capacity of 1,500,000 gallons each in 24 hours or a united capacity of 3,000,000 gallons. These pumps had been in service since the construction of the works in 1878, and after 13 years of service were in need of overhauling.

The surplus water-power going to waste had been estimated from the records of the flow of the waterwork's dam, for a head of ten feet, and it had been found that last year, which seemed to have been exceptionally favorable for water-power (October being the only month without surplus power), that for the months of June, July, August, September, November and December the surplus represented 238 effective horse-power. In the present year the average surplus power for the "flood discharge" during February, March, April and the first half of May represented a normal power with the same head of ten feet, of 1,781 effective horse-power. For January, June and the last half of May, the normal surplus power represented with the same head 198 effective horse-power. For the remaining two months of July and August no surplus power was available, and during these months the pumps could only be run at about half their capacity. One difficulty with the power or want of power at low water stage, was on Sundays, when the dams on the north and south branches of the river above the waterworks dam were closed and water was being stored in the upper ponds at these. This, however, did not prevent its use, even then, to a limited extent.

The power of the waterworks dam could, when desired in the future, be increased to an extent of 40 per cent. through the acquiring and removal of Griffith's dam—by the increased head which the removal of the lower dam would give.

ADDITIONAL SUPPLY MAIN.

Since the works were first constructed the mileage of distribution had been increased to more than double the original capacity. The number of services had increased since the year 1881—four years after the laying of the first services—nearly 400 per cent., and the number of hydrants had been more than doubled. This increase of mains and services had, of course, produced a corresponding draft on the system with the result of a loss of fire pressure.

"I would recommend," stated the report, "that this pressure be restored, and safety from the danger of the whole supply being cut off by a break in the single pumping main by the laying of a

on the same general route as the present, but giving a supply perfectly independent of the existing main. As this is a country main, and will necessarily not be tapped before reaching the city, advantage might be taken of the superior strength and lightness of steel for that purpose. The size of this main should not be less than 18 inches in diameter. We estimate the cost of laying the 18-inch cast iron main from the reservoir and pumping station to the central portion of the city at $78,000; if of steel, $68,000.

EXTENSION OF SUPPLY.

"I would recommend, as I have already stated in detail, the collection of all available ground water above the level of the pumping station that can be brought to it by gravity. My inquiry has been limited to the water available on and near the commissioners' property on the south side of the river, and I have every expectation of its yielding a considerable supply. Should, however, the growth of the city overtake the supply—you may develop—and there is the necessity of obtaining more water for the future, the springs on the north side of the river could furnish an additional supply of a considerable amount.

WANT MORE STEAM PUMPS.

"At present there is an ample supply of water collected and available, and the only reason for shortage is the want of sufficient pumping power. This I would strongly recommend to be increased by the addition of one set of steam pumps of a capacity of 3,000,000 gallons in 24 hours. The steam plant is at present a necessity, and for safety, as well as for present and future requirements, it should be duplicated, and, as it is required at the time of greatest consumption, should have a capacity at least equal to that of consumption. The present steam pumping engine is good and reliable, and, as experience has proved, economical. It has, however, been working at a higher rate of speed and consequently pumping more water than its rated capacity, and, as its best performance is not equal to the demands made upon it, to keep up the supply when the hydraulic pumps are shut down, the necessity for additional steam pumping power is evident. Such fuel economy has been attained in high duty pumping engines that this engine should be the best of this class and represent the most economical development in fuel economy for this capacity, viz., 3,000,000.

HYDRAULIC POWER PUMPS.

"The water power, being, of course, the most economical of all powers, should be, for the future requirements, developed to its fullest extent, with a view of limiting the steam power as much as possible, relying on an improved water power for the future. The present hydraulic power pumps are, however, not of a sufficient capacity to pump the maximum supply during the low water and heavy consumption seasons of the year, and the time is now reached when they require to be supplemented by additional pumps. I would strongly recommend this to be done by the addition to the pumping plant of one set of hydraulic power pumps of a capacity of 3,000,000 gallons in 24 hours, with turbines as well as pumps of the best and most economical design as regards consumption of power and pumpage of water. This addition to the pumping plant would, of course, involve an extension of both the steam and hydraulic pumping stations. The head race or flume will also require to be of a more permanent form of construction, with stop logs, head gates, and with masonry stop log checks. I estimate that the cost of the addition to the steam and hydraulic pumping plant, which I have recommended, to be, for steam pumps and boilers and hydraulic pumps and turbines, $30,000. With regard to the cost of extensions to the pumping stations and deepening of the lower collecting pond, and improvement to head race, your engineer will advise you when he has determined the best and most economical arrangement to suit the conditions.

SUPPLY MAIN.

"I have already given my reasons for recommending and estimating the cost of an additional supply or pumping main, viz., increased mileage of pipes and services beyond the capacity of the present main and consequent reduction of fire pressure. The necessity for duplicate pumping mains is imperative."

CONCLUDING REMARKS.

Mr. Keefer concluded his report by thanking Mr. Moore for the assistance which he had rendered in the investigation, and added the following observations: "I must congratulate your commissioners on having such a bountiful supply of water, the quality of which may well make London to be envied by other cities for having what all the world over the ideal of purity and excellence—pure spring water."

The report was laid over.

A. S. Emery made an application for a main on Windsor avenue. This was referred to the engineer.

Those present were: Chairman Jones, Mr. R. K. Cowan, the mayor and officials.

Single pound rolls sold at 27c to 28c; baskets of the same sold for 25c to 27c; crocks at 23c to 25c and tubs at 20c. Hides have fallen away down, selling at 1c, 2c and 3c per lb. Sheep and lamb skins sell at 40c to 60c each. Peaches scarce and held firm at 75c to $1 25 per basket. Tomatoes easier at 50c. Potatoes steady, 80c to 90c. Apples dull; 75c to $1 50 per bag was asked. General quotations:

The Tramp Was "At Home."

There is a terrace of three large brick houses on the south side of Dundas street in the very busiest part of the city. One of these houses has been unoccupied for some time, and the watchman at a neighboring establishment has been considerably troubled at nights to account for a light in one of the back windows of the vacant place. At first he thought his eyesight was playing a trick on him; or that the light might be a reflection in the glass of some outside glare. He watched it for several nights and then went to the next door neighbor and told him about it. They made an investigation by daylight and were much surprised to find one of the roome furnished in tramp style by an old straw tick and a few other attributes to a bed. The boarder had left part of his wardrobe behind him in the shape of an old pair of boots and a dilapidated hat. The furnace gave signs of having been used on more than one occasion. A lookout was kept the following night, and the next, but no tramp appeared. He had gained an entrance through a basement window.

Annual Celebration.

The anniversary of the Colborne Street Methodist Church Sabbath school was held Monday with a large attendance, the superintendent presiding. An excellent programme of recitations, dialogues, kindergarten selections and solos was rendered in first-class style and greatly pleased the audience. At the close of the programme a cordial vote of thanks was tendered to the following ladies and gentlemen, whose untiring efforts made the celebration a success: Revs. C. Smith, B. Clement and J. R. Gundy, Mrs. Henderson, Misses Bissell, Boyd and Murray, the choir, and Messrs. E. J. Forsythe, Garner, Hance, Simmons, Ferguson & Sons, Gaze, Pratt, Geo. Fortner and Madden. The members of Zetland are actively at work perfecting the arrangements, which will be on an elaborate scale, and the visiting brethren will receive a royal welcome."

A False Alarm.

Much amusement has been caused by an episode that took place in connection with the Dundas Center Methodist Church Sunday school, the other Sunday. One of the little scholars attracted attention to himself by a very red and wry face. His teacher was solicitous, but, unlike other little boys, this particular cherub would make no answer. Feeling that some explanation was necessary, one of the little fellow's classmates cried out, "He swallowed him's copper." A general alarm was caused by this statement. The teacher, with a dim recollection of some almost forgotten schoolboy lesson on "First aid to the drowned," seized the child in his arms and started for the doctor's office across the street, vigorously thumping the poor young one on the back all the way over. Both of them were hatless and both were excited by this time. The doctor at once took the easiest possible method to get the copper out of the wrong collection box into which it was supposed to have passed. They proceeded along all the lines known to science for the dislodgment of the coin, but were not successful. It then began to dawn on both teacher and doctor that perhaps after all the boy had not swallowed anything and that his trouble might have been caused by something else. A search was made (outside this time), and, tightly clasped in the child's hand, was found the missing copper! His facial expressions were afterwards found to have been heroic efforts to repress a cry that was in imminent danger of bubbling over, the result of a neighbor's pinch.

HIS REPENTANCE.

"Nay, it is not worth while," was Oswald Cray's interruption, as he thought how very different a thing was Lady Oswald's unhappy death from the topics under discussion. "Believe me, you had not, and could not have had, anything to do with the real question."

"But I'll tell you now I have begun. I and my choice friend, as I thought him then," Captain Davenal spoke with scornful bitterness, "got into an awful mess together, and could not get out of it. No matter whether it was gambling or horse-racing, or what not; money we were compelled to have. King assured me on his honor that in three weeks' time he should be in possession of several thousand pounds, if we could only stave off exposure until then, and in an evil hour I yielded to his persuasion, and wrote my father's name. The suggestion was King's, the persuasion was King's, the full assurance that all would be well was King's. I don't say this in extenuation of myself; the guilt and madness of yielding were all mine. Well, the days went on, and when the time came, and the thing was on the point of exploding, King had not got the thousands he had counted on; moreover, I found that his expectation of getting them had been from the first very vague indeed, and we had a desperate quarrel. The sneak turned round, threatened me with exposure, with ruin, and I had to go down and confess the truth to my father. He saved me. Saved me at the sacrifice of all he had, and—I fear—of his life."

There was a pause. Oswald had grown strangely interested. Captain Davenal continued.

"I shall never forget the effect it had upon him, never, never. I speak only of the hour of the communication; I never saw him after that. I told him there might be trouble with these bills, to get them at all; that even with the money in hand to redeem them, I was not sure the consequences could be averted from me. I saw the change pass over his face, the gray, scared look; and it did not quit it again."

"Where did you see him?"

"At Hallingham. I went down at some peril, after leave had been refused me at headquarters, getting to Hallingham about 11 p.m. Sunday. I stayed an hour or so with my father in his study, and then went back to the station again, for I had to be at my post on duty the following morning. No one at home knew of my visit. I tapped at my father's study window and he let me in. Before I left, I asked to see Sara. I knew quite well, though they did not, that I should not go down again, and I did not care to leave for years without saying a word to her, so my father fetched her down from her room. We did not tell her the particulars, only that I had been doing something wrong, was in danger, and that my visit to Hallingham must be kept quiet.

My poor father! I remember him asking in a burst of feeling, what he had done that all this trouble should fall upon him. Another great sorrow had befallen him that night in the death of Lady Oswald."

"Yes," said Oswald with a calm manner, but a beating heart. His thoughts were in that long past night, and Neal's description of it.

"It was very dreadful," resumed Captain Davenal, alluding to the matter of Lady Oswald. "My father was sadly cut up. Mark Cray had killed her through administering the chloroform."

Oswald felt his heart stand still, his face flushed with a burning heat. He moved nearer to Captain Davenal, his voice quiet still.

"Did you say Mark administered the chloroform?"

"It was Mark. Yes. My father said he had especially forbidden Mark Cray to give her chloroform. Mark, in the course of the day, had proposed doing it, but the doctor warned him that chloroform would not do for Lady Oswald. When all was ready, he (my father) had to carry Lady Oswald's maid from the chamber in a fainting fit, and when he got back to it he found Mark had administered the chloroform, which he had taken with him surreptitiously, and was commencing the operation. The doctor said he could not make out Mark Cray that night. He was beginning the operation in so unskilful, so unsurgeon-like a manner, that my father had to push him away as he would have pushed a child, and go on with it himself. But they could not recover Lady Oswald."

Oswald made no remark. He felt as one stunned.

"It struck me as being a most shocking thing," continued Captain Davenal. "I remarked to my father that it seemed like murder, and he said yes, he supposed the world would call it such."

"But why did not Dr. Davenal declare the truth—that it was Mark who had given the chloroform?" interrupted Oswald. "Why suffer himself to rest under the imputation?"

"What imputation? There was no imputation to lie under. All the world supposed the chloroform had been rightly and properly administered, according to the best judgment of both of them."

True; true. Oswald Cray had been speaking in accordance with his own private knowledge, not with publicly known facts.

"My father kept the secret for Mark Cray's sake. If it went forth to the world, he said, it would blight Mark's professional career for life. He told me the facts, but he intended to keep them from all others, and he warned me not to divulge them. I never did. I am not sure that I should feel justified in telling even you now, but that Mark is no longer in his profession. My poor father made the remark that they were two heavy secrets for his breast to keep, mine and Mark Cray's.

The murmur of the words fell upon Oswald's ear, but he was as one who heard them not. A weighty amount of self-reproach was rising up within him.

CHAPTER LV.

THE BARGAIN SEALED.

The scales so long obscuring Oswald Cray's eyes had fallen from them, and he saw the past in its true colors. The one wondering question that seemed to press upon him now was, how he could ever have doubted Dr. Davenal. Above his own self-reproach; above the bitter feeling of repentance for the wrong he had dealt out to her whom he best loved on earth; above his regrets for the late years wasted in a miserable illusion, was his remorse for having so misjudged that good man, misjudged him even to his grave. He saw it all now; how when he questioned Dr. Davenal about his motives for administering the fatal medicine, he had taken the odium upon himself for Mark's sake; not even to him, his brother, would he, in his loving kindness, betray Mark.

Never had the pride, the self-esteem of Oswald Cray received a blow like unto this. He had plumed himself on his superiority; he had cast off Dr. Davenal as one unworthy of him; he had dared in his self-sufficiency to cast off Sara. Her father was a man of suspicion, and therefore she was no fit mate for him! Whereas Oswald now learned that it was his own brother who was the offender, Dr. Davenal and his daughter were the victims. The full value, the Christian conduct of that good man was patent to him now; the patent endurance of Sara became clear to him.

He lifted his hat and wiped the moisture from his brow as he walked through the streets, all these considerations doing battle in his brain. The winter's day was cold, but Oswald's brow was hot; hot with inward fever. He was on his way to Miss Davenal's, to seek a conference with his half-brother; there were one or two questions he would put to him. He had taken his hat and come out the moment Captain Davenal left him; business and all else gave way before this.

Mark Cray came to him in the dining-room. Mark found it (between ourselves) rather tiresome to sit in his wife's sick room, and Mark was very likely to doze asleep at his post. It was from a charming dream of greatness—in which some grand scheme of Barker's had succeeded, and he and that gentleman were sailing through the atmosphere in a triumphal car of gold, looking down with complacency on the poor toiling mortals in the world below—that Dorcas had aroused him. Mr. Oswald Cray was in the dining parlor waiting to see him; and Mark, after a stare at the girl, descended, pushing back his clustering hair, which had disarranged itself in his sleep.

Oswald was not sitting; he stood near the fire; and when he spoke it was in a quiet tone.

"I have a question to ask you, Mark. It relates to the past. Who——"

"Oh, never mind the past," interrupted Mark, in a half testy, half careless sort of tone. "I'm sure there's enough worry in the present, without going back to that of the past. I wish that horrid mine had been sunk a thousand fathoms deep before I had had anything to do with it. I dare say I shall pay you back sometime!"

"It is not about the mine I wish to speak to you, or of payment either," calmly rejoined Oswald. "But, Mark, I want the truth from you—the truth, mind—upon another subject. It was you, was it not, who gave the chloroform to Lady Oswald?"

Mark made no reply, either truthful or otherwise. The question was so unlike any he had expected that he only stared.

"It was supposed I knew at the time to have been administered by Dr. Davenal. But I have reason to believe that it was administered by yourself, during his temporary absence from the chamber, and against his sanction. Was it so, Mark?"

"I suppose you heard this from the doctor himself at the time?" was Mark Cray's remark.

"I beg you to answer me, Mark. What you say shall go no further."

"Well, yes, it was so," said Mark, "though I'm sure I can't think why you want to bring up the thing now. I did give her the chloroform, but I gave it for the best. As I was to perform the operation I thought I had a right to exercise my own judgment, which was opposed to the doctor's. I was very sorry for the result, but I did it for the best."

Untold Misery—What a Well-Known Commercial Traveler Suffered, and How He Was Cured.—Gentlemen,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time traveling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of dyspepsia. (Signed.) T. S. WAR IN BRAZIL.

Rebel-Controlled Warships Hemmed in at Rio.

Attempts to Land Repulsed With Loss of Life.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The Herald's Montevideo special cable says: Brazil's naval rebels are having a hard time of it. Hemmed in within the Bay of Rio, they fear to run the gauntlet of the forts and torpedoes at the entrance and put out to sea, and an attempt to land has been repulsed with a considerable loss of life. The Brazilian Minister here received a telegram yesterday saying the rebel squadron had fired upon Nichteroy, which is a suburb town near the entrance to the harbor of Rio. The insurgents then tried to effect a landing with some of their men from small boats, but were repulsed by the police, reinforced by troops with Krupp guns. Fifty-one of the rebels were killed and 30 more wounded. The Government losses in the encounter are not reported. The land force and the garrison in the forts remain loyal to President Peixoto. Rio and Nichteroy have been declared in a state of siege for the last two weeks, and this condition may be extended to any part of Brazil where it is deemed necessary. The situation is practically unchanged, and cable dispatches are still prohibited. The English consul here has warned all British vessels of the risk of putting into Rio. The Brazilian gunboat Bahia has gone up the Paraguay River with orders in case any of the ships at Matto Grosso join in the revolt against Peixoto, to engage with them. The Brazilian warship Tiradento remains here subject to the Minister's orders. The Italian, German and Spanish warships, which were here, have all started for Rio.

THOMPSON'S TOUR

Commences Like Laurier's With a Breakdown—The Ministers in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—Sir John Thompson, Sir Adolphe Caron, Hon. George E. Foster and Hon. A. R. Angers arrived at 1:30 this afternoon from Ottawa, the train being delayed an hour and a half by the breaking down of the engine. A great portion of the assembled crowd to receive the Ministers had got tired of waiting and gone away, but there was a good gathering of politicians and members of the city council. Mayor Desjardines read an address to Sir John Thompson welcoming him to Montreal in the name of the citizens. Sir John replied. In reference to the Bering Sea arbitration, Sir John considered it as a matter of delight that such an important question between probably the two greatest nations in the world had been settled without resorting to war and bloodshed. A lunch was tendered the Ministers at St. Lawrence Hall.

CANNOT EAT WITH PLEASURE.

We truly pity the poor unfortunates who sit at table during meal time, and who are obliged to partake very sparingly of food. They eat with fear and trembling; they have no inward rest or satisfaction; their existence is uncertain, and to them life is a burden. These unfortunates are dyspeptics; they are troubled with constipation, sour stomach, nausea, heartburn, dizziness, nervousness, failing eyesight, foul breath, furred tongue, and a score of other miserable and distressing symptoms. Many of these unfortunate dyspeptics have met with failure after failure in their endeavors to be cured. The wise and prudent, when overtaken with trouble, find a speedy cure by using Paine's Celery Compound. This world-renowned remedy never fails in its work; it acts directly on the organs of digestion and at the same time strengthens the nervous system. No other medicine in the world can claim so many cures—permanent ones, too—as Paine's Celery Compound. We strongly advise every dyspeptic to give this wonderful remedy an immediate trial if they would rid themselves of suffering. It has cured thousands and will certainly cure you, no matter how bad the case.

Do you feel blue and despondent? Do pains rack and tear away at nerve and muscle, and have you been disappointed in finding a remedy that will afford certain and speedy relief? Polson's Nerviline is sold in bottles at 25 cents—by all druggists and country dealers everywhere.

The Golden Wedding.

Comparatively few couples are spared to enjoy the pleasure of celebrating the 50th anniversary of their marriage, their golden wedding, but such was the good fortune of Dr. Frederick and Mrs. Humphreys on Aug. 1.

The reception took place at Monmouth Beach, their country seat, of which there is none handsomer on the Jersey coast, the grounds running to the broad Atlantic; the fine, beautiful house of "many gables" was even more attractive than ever when decked with golden flowers, and when there was gathered beneath its spacious roof children, grandchildren, kinsfolk and friends from far and near. The dresses of the ladies, the strains of sweet music, the fragrance of flowers and the many rich and rare presents gave the effect of fairy-land. The scene seemed complete, when the central figure, erect and as handsome as of yore, Dr. Humphreys, and his sweet-faced wife, children, grand-children and friends, stood while the golden Loving Cup was passed from hand to hand. Each sip of the rich wine was accompanied by a silent prayer for the continued happiness of host and hostess. bd bw

While walking or at work he would pass into a sleepy stupor, from which it would be difficult to arouse him. Last Sunday noon he dozed off into a quiet, tranquil sleep, from which he never awoke. He died yesterday.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Walter Coll and Oscar Cunningham, city, have returned from the World's Fair.

—Mayor Essery, of London, and four of London's aldermen were in the city last night and examined our electric light system.—[St. Thomas Journal.

—Lieut. Carpenter, of the Infantry School, of London, is in the city for a few days. After leaving London Mr. Carpenter will attend the Cavalry School at Toronto. —[Hamilton Times.

—A special meeting of the Board of Education was called for last evening to consider the advisability of widening the steps at the entrance to the Collegiate Institute. There was no quorum and no business was transacted.

—The motor trucks of the first motor car to arrive in the city was run up the Dundas street tracks to the stables yesterday afternoon. Supt. Smith and several workmen enjoyed a ride through the streets on what citizens generally did not understand.

—A Granton correspondent asks What was the origin of the Primrose League and the designs and ends of the organization? The primrose was the favorite flower of Benjamin Disraeli, the Conservative leader, who ended his life as Lord Beaconsfield. After he died the Primrose League was formed, with the special object of advancing the interests of the Conservative party. It was specially designed to enlist the aid of the men and women in the poorer ranks of life by appealing to their sympathies through the agency of entertainments, charitable visitations, etc.

—Mr. Bart Howard, who has been in Chicago attending the Moody Bible Institute for the past two months, has returned home and expects to be located in this vicinity shortly. Mr. Howard speaks very highly of the work done there. The institute has tents in various sections of the city and the meetings are addressed by the leading evangelists and ministers of the world, among them being Rev. John MacNeill, the Scottish Spurgeon, and Mr. John Harley, the workingman's evangelist, both of London, Eng. In this way over 5,000 people attend the meetings every night, while last Sunday the attendance was more than 10,000.

Fog Signal on the Car Track.

A loud explosion on the corner of Dundas and Clarence streets startled the residents round about at 8 o'clock last evening. A fleeting rig and a cloud of smoke added mystery to the occurrence. Windows went up and heads appeared all along the street, while everybody who could got out into the road in a hurry with visions of another shooting scrape in view. An immense crowd gathered at the corner, and each car brought up one or more policemen. P. C. Howie came up from Richmond street, while Sergt. McGuire arrived on the scene shortly afterwards. P. C. Gall was also on hand, and P. C. Ralph was in view. After much explanation it was found that some joker had placed a fog signal on the car track, and the buggy passing over exploded it, at imminent danger of a serious runaway. No lives were lost.

Car Shop Accidents.

David Erskine, a machine hand at the G. T. R. car shops, had the misfortune on Monday afternoon to get his clothes caught in a revolving rod of the bolt-threading machine on which he worked. He was whirled around several times, his head striking the floor at each revolution. His clothes were almost completely torn off him ere his workmates could throw off the belt and extricate him. The injured lad was carried on a stretcher to his home on Brydges street in an unconscious condition. Medical aid was summoned, but the full extent of his injuries cannot yet be learned, as fears are held that internal trouble may result.

Yesterday afternoon a carpenter named Bryce McLeod, a former well-known local ball player, received a deep cut on the inside of the thigh from a sharp chisel. The flow of blood was very great and had a weakening effect. With rest Mr. McLeod will recover.

The St. Thomas Meeting.

If Mr. Hyman occupies a warm place in the hearts of the Liberals of London, those Liberals have not a monopoly of the respect and sympathy which is entertained in the country for the genial, clever, resourceful young man, whose seat in Parliament was stolen from him by as cowardly and contemptible a conspiracy as has ever darkened the annals of Canadian political history. St. Thomas and Elgin showed last night by the ovation that their citizens gave Charles S. Hyman that they resent that outrage almost as keenly as though they themselves were the victims, and that they respect and honor the man who, though the vanquished in the fight, is still the victor. As Mr. Hyman, graceful of figure, genial, yet firm of face, came forward, he looked every inch the man whom, it is easy to believe, has won the personal affections of his fellows.—[St. Thomas Journal.

The manner in which the details of the meeting were carried out reflects credit on the Young Liberals of St. Thomas. A feature of it was the presence of the Young Liberals of London, who were there to show their loyalty to Liberal principles and to their defrauded leader, Mr. Hyman.—[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

The Naval Brigade in connection with the Young Liberal Club of London, is an organization of which the club and Mr. Hyman may well be proud. After the meeting the brigade formed in front of the doctor's residence, and in single file marched in, the members were individually presented to Mr. Laurier, and the unbroken line passed out, and took up position on the street until the pleasant little ceremony was concluded. Then, having come, and looked and conquered, the brigade went back to London. It has placed the Liberals of St. Thomas under no slight debt of gratitude, and in their memory the boys in blue will long remain associated with a pleasant visit, and a meeting made more successful by their presence.—[St. Thomas Journal.

Mr. C. S. Hyman, the member for London, was not permitted to speak for some time after he arose from his seat. The demonstration with which he was received showed the place that Mr. Hyman occupies in the hearts of the people of Western Ontario.—[Toronto Globe.

A London Boy's Marriage.

A Petrolea dispatch says: One of the most brilliant weddings in Petrolea for years took place in Christ Church this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The contracting parties were Mr. Ernie Fitzgerald, son of Mr. F. A. Fitzgerald, of London, and Miss Maud McCort, daughter of Mr. James McCort, of this town. Rev. W. Craig, B.D., officiated. The church was packed to suffocation. After the ceremony a number of carriages under Mr. John Scott's charge conveyed the bridal party and some 30 guests to the residence of the bride's parents, where a cold luncheon was partaken of. The happy pair left amid showers of rice on the 6:15 train for Niagara Falls, thence to Toronto. From there they go to Collingwood where they will take the boat for Chicago. After spending a couple of weeks at the World's Fair they will return home about Oct. 1. An immense crowd witnessed the departure of the newly-wedded pair, and shouted them God-speed amidst the somewhat discordant music of the many-tuned whistles of the different refineries.

PARLIAMENT OF RELIGION.

Proceedings of This Remarkable Body —Distinguished Men Present.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The delegates to the World's Parliament of Religion separated into sections and departments this morning according to their respective creeds and faiths, and each of the various halls was well filled with those interested in the doctrines enunciated. Wise on "The Theology of Judaism"; Dr. Alfred W. Monerie, of London, upon the "Moral Evidence of a Divine Existence"; and Hon. Justice Ameer Ali, of Calcutta, upon the "Faith of Islam." Rev. Maurice Philips, of Madras, read a paper upon the primitive Hindoo religion and primitive revelation.
