Mr. Tennent stated today that it was a tribute to the good work of City Clerk Baker and his staff that a great majority of the inquiries received showed that the names were already on the list, thus testifying to their accuracy.

Mr. Goldberg now declares that it s going to cost him more to move the house than he paid for it, and is half inclined to drop it as a bad bargain. On buying the house, he went to the moving contractor. He would only charge him a couple of hundred to move it. That was all right.

Mr. Goldberg then went to the City

The street railway then informed him that he would have to make good the fares lost if the street cars had to be delayed. This was too much for Mr. Goldberg, and he sent the moving contractors home, while he repented of his folly in starting to move a house from one end of th city to the other.

Since 6 o'clock yesterday morning the house has remained at the corner of Fullarton and Richmond streets, while Mr. Goldberg ponders whether it would not be cheaper to wreck the house than transplant it. Mr. Graham said that while the railway problem was embarassing, it was not discouraging, and declared the deficit was not due to poor operation, instancing that the railways, since the King government came in surplus in operating earnings every

"The railway problem is of too great an interest to the people to make a political football of it," adding that one great object the Liberal government had in view was that of keeping the railways out of the political arena. An object, he said, in which they had succeeded until a few was which they had succeeded until a few weeks ago, when the attack was started from Conservative platforms. He averred that the operation of the system was above criticism, and that "up to date, in this campaign, there had not been a dint made in its

"There never was a Canadian National Company in reality until the Liberals came into power," declared he minister.

Explains Deal.

Commenting on Conservative critism of the Canadian National Railcommenting on order of the Canadian National Railways Toronto property, Mr. Graham said: "With reference to the property on the corner of King and Yonge streets, Toronto, the Canadian National Railways do not intend to build a building, but it bought property for $1,250,000 and sold it for $1,250,000. The object was not to go into the real estate business, but it was to hold the position for its ticket office on the corner of King and Yonge streets, which the Grand Trunk had held for years. A well-known man, the railway minister said, had stated that if amaigamation took place 40,000 employees could be let out from both railwayd system. Hon. Vincent Massey placed on record his opinion that national unity could not be achieved by "the correspondence school method."

Would Destroy Unity.

"Let us remember this fact as a fundamental truth lying at the base of the whole question," he declared. "You cannot achieve unity in this country by forcing the prairie provinces and the maritimes to accept a fiscal policy to which they have been diametrically opposed since they became self-conscious members of this dominion. No unity can be achieved by attempting to fit this country into the straight jacket of a high tariff."

"In His Quiet Moments"

A True Story

Always the life of the party everyobody admires Ted Carruthers for his breezy good nature and winning personality. He is a real man through and through.

But in his quiet moments-

Poor Ted has his personal problem from which he cannot shake himself free when alone. A recent illness, the price of overwork, left his health impaired. The doctor says it is only a matter of time.

He now has only a few short years in which to provide for Mary and the children. What is he to do? He is not able to get life insurance and cannot save much more than $300.00 a year. In five years this will be but $1,500.00—not nearly enough!

Tis now he realizes just what it would have meant if he had insured when able, to provide for his wife an income of at least $100.00 a month ($1,200.00 a year) as long as she lived. At his age (35) $6.40 a week with the London Life would have guaranteed it, and worry would not now be further sapping his strength, killing any chance he may have had of recovery.

The future may easily be made safe for loved ones by insurance, and worry removed from those Bylaw To Be Submitted If Proposition Financially . Sound, Says McKay.

OPPOSED BY NEELY

London's latest bus proposal will be probed carefully by a city council committee during the next week. It will not be discarded, shelved or abated until the councillors are sure that the new bus company has sound financial, backing. If the firm is reliable and the proposition is as secure and progressive as indications have led the finance committee to believe, the whole matter will be resolved into a five-year franchise bylaw to submit to electors in December.

Transportation matters cluttered up the agenda of the city council last night, and Ald. Homer B. Neely and Ald. Frank McKay locked horns on the issue. Ald Neely assumed the role of street railway champion, declared the bus overtures to be sheer bluff from anti-street railway in-terest, and said they would never get

The mayor's attitude in regard to the street railway company continued to shape itself like Mahomet and the mountain. The street railway has mountain. The street railway has failed to bring its proposals to the city council, so the council must go to the street railway, the mayor says. Apples in Unsprayed Orchards Look Better Than in Other Years.

Will a great deal of the huge Middlesex apple crop go to waste as it has in past years? Ed. Bogue, fruit inspector for London district, is inclined to think that despite the large crop the wastage will be no greater than in the past.

"The apples are of better quality this year and that will be some incentive to the ordinary farmer to harvest the fruit," said Mr. Bogue. "The fruit grower will harvest his crop just the same and take care of it as he has in other years. At Caradoc and Mount Brydges the apples will be shipped to

British markets. The Strathroy canning factory will run at capacity again and the evaporator at Delaware will take care of a lot of stuff, while the London market will be well supplied from the immediate vicinity of the city, where there is a heavy crop.

"While the fruit in unsprayed orchards looks good and is better than last year, you will find that when this stuff gets on the sorting table and is scrutinized, it won't pack so good. It never does.
"I have read that the Ontario gov-

The Handbook vs. Mr. Meighen. During one of his addresses in Eastern Canada Mr. Meighen stated that he was advocating the same policy as he did in 1921. "I stand now for a protective tariff as I did then," was his way of stating the case. It is interesting, in connection with this idea, to look up the Conservative handbook, issued during the election of 1921 for the use of speakers and party workers. It tells of reductions made in the duty on agricultural implements, and boasts of it as one of the accomplishments Thoroughly Representative.

The very nature of the occupations of the men who have accepted Liberal nominations in Ontario for the general elections on October 29 is sufficient proof that the administration of the King government has been for the benefit of all, with special favors to no class. A stock argument used in recent years by Progressive and U. F. O. leaders was that the two old political parties were dominated by lawyers. It cannot be admitted that lawyers do not make good the free selection of candidates the Liberals of ever dreamed of, and we have learned how to ever dreamed of, and we have learned how to ever dreamed of, and we have learned how to ever dreamed of, and we have learned how to ever dreamed of, and we have learned how to ever dreamed of, and we have learned how to ever dreamed of, and we have learned how to ever dreamed of, and we have learned how to ever dreamed of, and we have learned how to ever dreamed of, and we have learned how to ever dreamed of the chief and the chief and the chief are the chief and the chief are the chief and the chief are t the provincial life being given an opportunity records for the "56" and upended cabers without threatened to go on strike unless the former carefor representation by the Liberal party.

"There Were Giants In Them Days." How is it that the old game of pitching Pitching horseshoes and quoits is the same in principle, but just now the quoit is rusting under the back porch, while the horseshoe is bright from much handling. How is it? Can it be that the men of today are not as mighty as those who used to fling with great precision a full fourteen-pound quoit for the full distance of fifty-four feet?

James Bell, the city treasurer of London, is somewhat of an authority on quoits, and it is a matter of record that he has taken the finest of pitchers into camp. He recalls the time when "Mat" Brown, an engineer on the Grand Trunk, used to meet all comers with a fourteen-pound quoit. Contestants of lesser brawn could pepper away with their eight-pounders, but the engineer could match and beat them readily, tossing easily a quoit almost double in weight. Another famous old quoiter was "Dan" Dodd, who used to keep a grocery store on Dundas street, and he never thought a quoit worth the name that was under twelve pounds. Mr. Bell recalls another engineer, "Simmie" Mason, who had the distinction of driving the train bearing the Prince of Wales on his tour in 1871. He was also of the school that handled a fourteen-pound quoit with ease, and was inclined to look askance

Father and Son

Ned tells his son he ran a race and gathered up a kitchen clock, whereas I know in all his days he never run a half a block.

Ned Whiskers talks unto his son, a husky lad of ten is he, and Ned when he gets home at night will take the lad upon his knee, and then he tells him of the feats that he performed when he was young, 'tis then that Ned forsakes the truth and wiggles off a fevered tongue.

"When I was fifteen years of age I used to race upon the track, as fit as fiddle strings I'd be just waitin' for the pistol crack.

"Why it was not a trick at all for me to run a ten-mile race, and finish fresh two miles ahead, they simply couldn't stand my pace. It come to this, though, later on, they'd ask before the race begun, if I was there the other chaps would quit right then and wouldn't run.

"I got that clock that's sittin' there, right there upon the pantry shelf, for stayin' from the races once so Steven Bones could win

Well I've knowed Ned for fifty years, and knowed him too when he was young, that's why I'm shocked to hear the guff that dribbles from his oily tongue. When Ned was young he couldn't race, his knees would always click and lock, I never knew him in his life to run a half a village block.

Of course I never tell his son, 'twould be a shameful thing to do, to brush away the pink and gold and paint him in a sombre hue. That story of the clock was wrong, it bordered somewhat on a crime, his boss he sent that up to see if Ned could get to work

But I'm not buttin' in on Ned, nor pointing out his flaw or fault, nor urging how his son should take his records with a grain of salt.

> > ANXIOUS JOHN.

I think the fifty-fifty proposition in money matters goes for the wife as well as for the hus-band, and that when a woman has money she should contribute her fair share of it to the maintenance of the household. Especially is this true if the woman continues to work outside of the home after marriage and does not give her time and service to keeping the house.

When a man "supports" his wife, s the phrase goes, that is when he pays for running the home, and provides her with clothes, etc. it is suposed that she makes a fair return for these by performing her duties as a housewife. In the case of the purely domestic woman, the husband should not expect her to help pay the bills, and if she has a little income of her own she should have a right to do with it as she pleases, without Important Union Meeting Held his feeling that he has any strings

> If, however, the woman keeps on with her profession and servants have to be hired to do the work that a wife would ordinarily do in a home, then it seems to me that she should pay her part of this additional expense, and use her earnings to dress herself.

On the other hand, if a woman continues a gainful occupation after marriage, and still does the housework incident to making a home, as many women do, then it is unfair for her to have to pay any part of the upkeep of the home. She is doing the work of the domestic woman, and deserves at least to get her food and lodging out of it, as the poorest sort of a slave wage.

It is certainly wise for any young couple who are thinking about getting married to thresh out the money in future be asked to attend all meet- stead of waiting to quarrel over it

> The ideal way, of course, of setling the family finances is for both husband and wife to put their income into a pool, and have a joint checking account. But until men gelic than they are at present, this will always result in the greediest one getting the lion's share.

So, perhaps, it is always safer for both husbands and wives to keep their property separate and just to divide up on the spend-

A TROUBLED MOTHER.

> I think she is crazy, too. But she is crazed with the sweet madness that we call love, and whether that is wisdom or footishness, nobody knows.

Undoubtedly, your daughter is giv-ing up a soft life for a hard one. She is exchanging a mahogany desk for gas range. She is giving up pretty clothes for shabbiness. She is giv-ing up leisure to read, to rest, to go about to places, vacations and good times for the never-ending labor of a poor man's wife-a sorry enough bargain to those of us who merely look on.

But this young man she loves, and who loves her may give her something so beautiful and precious that it outweighs all the riches of earth. He may give her a companionship, an understanding, a sympathy and a tenderness that will give her a happiness which no lonely old maid, no matter how successful she is. nor how much money she makes, ever knows.

Undoubtedly, there will be times of toil and stress, when the pinch of poverty comes when the little stepnoniacal, as all children are upon hildren are obstreperous and deoccasion, and when husband is grouchy and cantankerous as even he best of husbands are now and then. Make Dining-Rooms So Cheerful! What a real satisfaction it is to any housekeeper to have an easily cleaned, durable Congoleum Gold Seal Art-Rug on her dining-room floor! The hospitable warmth of its rich, tasteful pattern creates an ideal setting for her furniture; and there's the added advantage that, like the Congoleum Rug in her kitchen, she can keep it clean with a very little effort.

Congoleum Gold Seal Rugs

Easily Cleaned— Waterproof

The smooth, sanitary, waterproof surface doesn't absorb dirt and grease like woven floorcoverings. Just a few easy strokes with a damp mop or cloth and the cheerful colors are spotless. These rugs lie perfectly flat without any fastening-never curl up at the edges.

Congoleum Rugs are becoming more and more the choice of up-to-date women all over the Dominion. The variety and beauty of their patterns-rich Oriental motifs; dainty floral and neat tile designs—enable you to select a suitable pattern for any room in your home.

Congoleum Gold Seal Art-Rugs are made seventeen sizes; ranging from the handy 18 x 36 inch mats to the 9 x 15 foot room-size rugs.

Step into your home-town dealer's store and see for yourself how beautiful and practical Congoleum Gold Seal Art-Rugs really are.

Look for the Gold Seal

Don't be misled into buying some other material said to be "just as good" as Gold Seal Congoleum. "Just as good" is never as good.

Look for the Gold Seal shown above when you buy! It assures you that you are getting every cent's worth of floor-covering value. Congoleum Gold Seal Art-Rugs have a dominion-wide reputation for beauty and wear-a reputation that has been earned only after long, hard service in homes in every part of Canada. Buy the genuine and be sure of satisfaction.

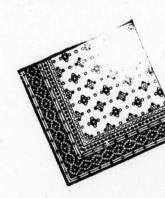

Congoleum-By-the-Yard

The same sanitary, flat-lying, durable material as Congoleum Gold Seal Rugs, for use where it is desired to cover the entire floor. It is made two yards wide in a wide range of beautiful patterns without border.

Finally Peter had to confess that he was beaten. He could think of no other place to look. So, for lack of anything better to do, he began watching the tree, the tall dead tree, on which Ol' Mistah and Ol' Mrs. Buzzard delighted to sit. Of course Mrs. Buzzard wasn't there much. But she was there once or twice every she was there once or twice every day, and Peter watched her to see where she went when she left. Sometimes she flew high in the blue, blue times she flew high in the blue, blue sky and he wouldn't see her again. But two or three times he was sure she flew only a very short way and then disappeared as if she had dropped down through the treetops. "Her nest must be right over there," thought Peter and away he went to look for it. But he didn't find it. No, sir, he didn't find it. Almost every time he would end his

Liberals in Panic.

Mr. Meighen claimed that the recent changes in the cabinet and appointments to the senate were indicative of a "regular panic in government ranks."

"Within the last three weeks no less than four ministers of the crown have fled from the contest and taken refuge in the senate." he said. "To make room for the last senatorial refugee it was necessary to crowd five senators into one single county in New Brunswick, the county of Westmoreland. In order to avoid certain defeat for Mr. Copp. the Government has placed one half of the whole senate representation from the province of New Brunswick in one single county.

MAY MAR PARLEY

Question of War Blame May Disrupt Pact Conterence.

Associated Press Despatch. Berlin, Sept. 28 .-- The fact that the German foreign minister, Gustav Stresemann, instructed Germany's ambassadors at London, Paris, Rome and Brussels to accompany formal acceptance of the invitation of the allied powers to a security pact conference by a verbal note raising the questions of war guilt and reservations respecting entry into the League of Nations, has left German politicians, press and public virtually dazed. Not only was the German press unprepared for this, but it is also asserted that the federal premiers and foreign relations committee were left in the dark. The unexpected action seems to have occurred at the very moment when the committee was debating whether to approve the government's acceptance

There is general confusion in Berlin as to whether the verbal note merely had reference to Germany's position on the war guilt question. Cologne evacuation and entry into the league or whether the note insisted that Germany would not sign a security pact unless her position on these matters was accepted. The foreign office, aroused by the lemands for clarification, now states through officially inspired diplomatic correspondence that the reason for the verbal note was the fact that the allies had demanded Germany enter the league before the pact could be concluded.

"A part can only be concluded between equals enjoying equal rights, not between parties, one of whom is weighed down by the stigma of heavy moral guilt." the correspondence declares in explanation for raising the war guilt issue. "It is self-evident that positive results may be expected from the conference in an entirely different manner once this moral concluded. from the conference in an entirely different manner once this moral blemish is removed from the German

Farmers Cutting Overhead and Not Indulging in Wild Spending.

In his tour of the west, Morley Aylsworth, assistant general manager of the Huron and Erie Mortgage Corporation, has been particularly impressed with the great reversal of attitude brought about by the good crops of the last two years In the following article, Mr. Aylsworth tells the Winnipeg Free Press of the impressions gained on his latest trip.

"I think the thing which impressed me most is the businesslike attitude of the farmers of the west, and the manner in which they are reducing overhead expenses," says Morley Aylsworth, assistant general manager of the Huron and Erie Mortager of the Huron and Erie Mort-gage, Corporation and the Canada Trust Company. Mr. Aylsworth with D. McEachern, secretary of both companies, both of London, Ont., have spent two or three weeks tour-ing the west, and have travelled some thousands of miles by automobile. For much of the trip they were ac-companied by H. W. Upon the first symptoms of the summer complaint a physician should be consulted, Dr. Downham says. A precaution lies in general cleanliness and the consumption of cooked rather than uncooked food.

NOTED SURGEON RESIGNS POST

Sir Henry Gray, K.B.E., of Royal Victoria, Montreal, Clashes With Currie.

Canadian Press Desnatch. Montreal, Sept. 29 .- Sir Henry Gray, K.B.E., surgeon-in-chief of the Royal Victoria hospital, Montreal, resigned his position last night.

In letters published in local newspapers this morning, an interchange between Sir Henry and Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill university, Sir Henry expresses resentment against "a campaign of calumny which was instituted at a very early stage and carried on with veiled but sinister virulence" against him. He recalls the circumstances under which he was appointed to give clinical lectures to McGill students and the agreement arrived at some time ago that all arrangements for the teaching of clinical surgery in the Royal Victoria hospital should be submitted to him as surgeon-in-chief. He charges breach of faith in connection with the carrying out of the compact.

Sir Arthur Currie's letter, to which Sir Henry's is a reply, mentions "the unfortunate difficulties which arose in medical circles following your ap-pointment as surgeon-in-chief of the Royal Victoria hospital," declared that these had created an atmosphe distasteful to him and, referring to a previous letter of Sir Henry that McGill men were divided against him, Sir Arthur declares that he cannot tolerate this state of affairs and points to the need of maintaining an esprit de corps in McGill. He expresses appreciation for the assistance rendered by Sir Henry to Mc-Gill university and in suggesting that the relations between Sir Henry and McGill terminate, assures Sir Henry that he is not influenced by personal feeling. The postcript to Sir Henry Gray's reply is as follows:

"Since t's letter was written evil effects of your action have already become evident in the shape of a letter from the governors of the Royal Victoria hospital, asking me to hand in my resignation as surgeon. I have therefore sent of our correspondence to the

There the parallel ends, however, for there the balance to find two backs tops of more opposite playing type and personality. Ruel, generally considered the most consistent receiver in the American league, is a quiet thoughtful, after and heady player Smith is talkative and aggressive to a fighting degree.

On the defence Ruel's steadiness gives him a slight edge, in the opinion of most critics, while at bat they are about on a par, both showing averages comfortably over 300 this year.

Their world's series experience has been about the same, Ruel catching all seven of Washington's games last fall, while Smith figured in parts of as many games for the Giants in the championships of 1921 and 1922 against the Yankees

Ruel established something of a bat-ting mark last fall when he failed to get a hit in the first six series games, but he came through in timely fashion in the deciding game, getting two hits and tallying the winning run.

As reserve strength behind the bat. Washington has the veteran Hank Severeid, formerly of St. Louis, while the Pirates have John Gooch, who is likely to share some of the burden with Smith and Spencer.

Severeid is the heaviest sticker of the lot, having a mark of around .359 to his credit most of the season.

—JABBER—

The boxing world is hailing Gene Tunney, New York heavyweight, as a real contender for Jack Dempsey's title In the opinion of New York experts, the fans are not far wrong in their belief that if they meet Jack may have a hard time to hold his crown. If Dempsey encounters that same crushing Dempsey encounters that same that right, which, followed by a short left hock, made ring history on Friday night at Minneapolis by putting Bartley Madden to sleep in the third round, the champion will need all his famed ability for standing punishment. But perhaps Harry Wills will have a chance to test that punch before Dempsey.

Madden, who never had been knocked out before, certainly earned the $8,000 he was paid for letting Tunney work on Lim. To stand up to a punch like that which Gene uncorked was worth something besides all the stars and stripes and comets he saw before he came to at the count of nine, only to fall asleep again before a finishing short left jab.

Give Gene a little more weight, and he would be Dempsey's most formidable opponent. When he went into the ring on Friday night he weighed 186 pounds, three pounds less than the game Irishman whom he drove into a corner and floored. There was more brawn to his shoulders and biceps than when he fought Gibbons. The snap behind his punches carried more force than ever before.

From past performances Tunney should be able to defeat Harry Wills. The New York boy took less than three tull rounds to knock Madden into smithereens, and Madden stood up to the colored boy over a full fifteen rounds toute.

Then there is the fact that Tunney toppled Tom Gibbons in six rounds, the lafter was good enough to stand up for fifteen rounds to Jack Dempsey. Billy Gibson. Gene's manager, is teady to take on Wills first, if necessary; but he would like a chance to muss up the movie actor's paraffine nose as soon as he finishes with what to Billy's way of thinking, would be a

A VISION OF MOUNTAIN-TOPS.

It would not have been surprising had Ross Somerville stuck to his original intention of not playing rugby this year. Somerville's performances over the past three years as an all-round athlete have no counterpart in the realm of Canadian sports. For Varsity, he played rugby, hockey and golf. Added to that, he is considered one of the finest cricketers Canada has produced, and played on the Seagram eleven which toured the British Isles four years ago. Such a program has permitted of hardly a breathing space in the past four seasons. His feat in fighting his way into the finals of two Canadian open golf championships marks him as one of the first flight of golfers on the Theoretically, there will be little honor in playing on an intermediate rugby team for the ex-Varsity star unless, of course, that intermediate team should make new history for this division of the O.R.F.U. With five men of senior experience on the roster, there is a big possibility of London doing just that.

There were as many as ten entry sets on some days during the height of the racing season, which would call for 7,000 horses in training. So that's why the milk companies motorized their delivery equipment.

Officials of the Weston street Horse-Shoe club strenuously denied last night that one of their members would be thrown off the team for not observing training rules.

"NOW NEXT SEASON-"

Wallaceburg suffered two lacrosse reversals in three days, but no doubt will be back again next year as one of the outposts of the one-time national game. Their juvenile team lost yesterday to Weston, another famous lacrosse center, and on Saturday the Burg's intermediates ran into a defeat at Hamilton, which wiped away a four-goal margin with some to spare.

In the old days, Chatham and Wallaceburg used to be great lacrosse rivals, but such are the sudden and unaccountable switches in sport tastes, that the former city does not bother much with the pastime now. Wallaceburg will still continue to play lacrosse as long as they can provoke Sarnia and Windsor into being opponents, but despite such strongholds as the Burg, the national pastime seems to be fighting a losing battle throughout Western Ontario.

Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, who has been elected head of the New York Brewers' association, must have conflicting emofions when he tells Ruth that he wants him as a ball player, not as a

HEREDITY.

The passion of this continent for changing things as they are in sport, seemingly so overworked lately, is not new. Trotting and pacing gaits in harness horse racnig are artificial. It is not generally realized that the pacing gait of a horse for speed is running, and that pacing and trotting gaits were developed very slowly. However, the remarkable thing is that heredity has developed to such a point that young trotters and pacers are born in these days, not made and trained, as they were in the beginning. With each stage of development has come more speed, not great bursts, but a sure paring off of fractional sec-Twenty years ago, a horse capable of trotting a final quarter in 30 secnods was regarded as a phenomenon. Last week at Columbus. Aileen Guy did the last quarter in 2814. That achievement is the result of split seconds of development over a period of perhaps 30 or 40 years, and has been aided, it might be added, by lighter sulkies, better shoeing, better driving, and all the accumulated knowledge gained of better methods of conditioning.

Three seconds progress for all those years of concentration on breeding and training do not seem much at first glance in the way of accomplishment. As a matter of fact, it's really under two seconds if consistent performances were reckoned, for the records that mark the steady cutting down of fractions of seconds were made when the day, the track and the horse were just right, and there was a little luck thrown in as well.

LARGE LONDON DELEGATION ASSURED FOR GAME IN GALT

Local Half-Holiday Declared Because of Widespread Interest.

SPECIAL CARS

Mayor Wenige yesterday declared a half-holiday for Wednesday afternoon for civic employees, when the Lordon Braves will meet Niagara Falls at Galt in the fourth play-off game to decide a winner to go into the senior provincial baseball finals.

His worship granted the holiday only after several large delegations of fans had interviewed him, and he had be come impressed with the widespread Interest manifested in this fourth meeting between the two teams. However will not issue a proclamation for a he will not issue a prociamation for a general holiday.

The series so far has been one of the most thrilling ever played in the O. B. A. A. semi-finals, and the fact that it will go to four games shows how evenly matched the teams are.

The Londoners have a good deal more respect for the pitching of the veteran. Bova, than they had in the first game. His apparently easy delivery shows method, and causes a certain amount of madness on the part of opposing batsmen. However, they are certain that with the team hitting on all six, as it did against St. Thomas and all the way up to the Cataract crew, they'll win Wednesday at Galt. Perusal of the box scores of the three games played thus

Wednesday at Galt. Perusal of the box scores of the three games played thus far, shows very clearly that the hitting has been blotchy.

No special train will be run, but special cars will be attached to the C. P. R. train leaving at 1:25. Special rates will also be available. A return train leaves after 5, and another at 8, if the contest happens to go into overtime.

Indications are that a large number of fans will make the trip to Galt.

Interest is running high, and the declaration of a half-holiday will give the fans an opportunity of looking over cost the home of three senior baseball

Six-Legged Kittens Thrust Village Into Hall of Fame

Woodstock, Sept 28.—Bonds Corners, a little-known village a few miles east from here, has sprung into fame overnight, and all through its sudden production of cats with six feet. Unknown, except to a few residents of the village, a cat with six feet has existed in Bonds Corners for some time past, but something of a surprise to the community occurred when the cat gave birth to a kitten, also equipped with two more feet than nature usually allows. Both cat and kitten, however, have left Bonds Corners forever, to become a part of a big midway attraction, having been sold by their owner, Miss Derothy Roberts, to a freak animal sideshow.

Once Barriers to Progress-

In days gone by the rapids and the waterfall meant danger, the long portage, the impasse, in the journeys of our pioneering fathers.

To-day the law that seems to balance Nature's handicaps with compensating advantages, works in the highest degree to open the way to our future progress.

As mighty producers of electrical energy our waterfalls have become the most important factor in our industrial progress and welfare. Every individual shares in the benefits.

Scores of industries have established themselves here because an abundant supply of water power is available.

Support the development of your water powers and you make of this Dominion, coupled with all her other advantages, the logical location for many of the continent's leading industries.

WINTER FAIR TALK COMES TOMORROW

No. 1 Committee of Council to Consider Proposals—Stock Arena Boosted.

Proposals to inaugurate a winter fair in London will be introduced to No. 1 committee of the city council at tomorrow night's session. Indications are that, while the council as a whole does not favor the present system of operating Western Fair, a stock arena would be considered a valuable acquisition to the city of "Personally, I can't think of any thing finer than a stock arena," de-clared Ald. Frank McKay today in discussing the merits of the winter fair. "But we must consider that we have sunk thousands of dollars into Western Fair and that new buildings will require more ground. There is no room for extension with out an outlay of much more money. We must consider that before we accept the winter fair proposition.

"The stock arena will be a good thing for London," declares Ald. Ed-win Smith, another member of No. 1 committee. "It's the first move to bring the winter fair from Guelph The province offers its support something we can't get later on it which mean so much . . . commercially, socially, are gained this new way with gleaming, white teeth

Don't believe your teeth are 'naturally' dull. Just accept this 10-day test. See how dazzling white teeth and healthy gums come when film coats go.

HERE is a simple test that proves the truth of the recent dental statement that dull, "offcolor" teeth can be lightened amazingly, given dazzling whiteness. In a few days you can work a great change in the color of your teeth. Can give them clear and charming gleam. There is a new way in tooth and gum care. A way that removes the dingy film that clouds your teeth. A film that absorbs discolorations and keeps teeth dingy

Just run your tongue across your eeth. And you will feel that film. It is the great enemy of pretty teeth and healthy gums.

It clings to the teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It forms a breeding place for germs. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack, your teeth open to decay. Those germs, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Old-time methods failed in successfully fighting film. So ugly teeth were common. You must remove it. Ordinary brushing won't do it satisfactorily. Under it are the clear, whiter teeth you envy in others.

Now modern science has perfected an effective film combatant, called Pepsodent. It acts to curdle film, then removes it. It firms and protects gums; beautifies teeth quickly and correctly.

Garden Supplies Fertilizer Insecticides

Sprayers Dairy Supplies Poultry Supplies Bird Supplies Dog Supplies Fixtures

HALF-PRICE SALE STARTS THURSDAY, 9 a.m.

SEEDS

The entire stock of Flower and Vegetable Secds, in bulk, will be sold at just half of what you would regularly pay. In fact, they will be sold at just half price. The stock comprises about as complete an assortment as can be found anywhere in Canada. These seeds were all new or retested last spring and should, with very few exceptions, be in good shape. They, however, will all be retested in earth by capable and responsible parties, and where any of them do not show a reasonable per cent of germination, we will fill with new 1926 seeds without any addition to the price. This means that you can secure your seeds for next spring at just half what you would otherwise pay, and you will run practically no risk.

We would recommend all gardeners, farmers, etc., to take advantage of this genuine bargain. The entire stock must be disposed of in the shortest time possible, and this discount will only apply to the stock which we purchased at bankrupt prices, excepting the lines which we will be required to substitute new stock for. Varieties of Seeds and quantities can be procured on application.

BIRD AND DOG SUPPLIES

Comprising Bird Cages, Squirrel and Mouse Cages, Bird Nests, Sparrow Traps, Sea Shells. Dog Collars, Dog Chains, Rabbit Feeders and Racks, Dog Muzzles, Pocket Compasses, Dog Feed and Cakes, Dog Medicines. Big stock of Glover's Mange Remedy to go at 35c a bottle—worth more than double.

Grit, Beef Scrap, Regal and others' Chick Feed, Regal and others' Chick Mash, Calf Meal, Milk Powder, Oatmeal, Poultry Tonics, Lice Killers and Medicines.

PACKAGE SEEDS

There are nearly 10,000 packages of Vegetable and Flower Seeds, comprising all the leading varieties. These were all put up last spring from New or Retested Seeds into envelopes with year 1925 stamped thereon. None of these can be carried over to next year without them being emptied out of the envelopes and repacked into new 1925 envelopes. This, you will readily understand, would be impossible to do profitably. We have, therefore, decided to offer them to you just as they are without assuming any responsibility whatever, at enormous reductions. All 10c packages and upwards at 5c each; 25 packages for $1, or 100 packages for $2.50. Even if a few do fail to germinate you will very likely do just as well as if you bought from regular stock next spring. Remember, these seeds were all tested O. K. last spring. They will all he laid out in separate boxes on counters and you may come and pick out just what you want. Why not have a beautiful garden next year at little cost? den next year at little cost?

CLOVER AND GRASS SEEDS

Comprising Alsike, Red Clover, Huban Clover, Alsike and Timothy mixed, Orchard Grass, Rye, Permanent Pasture Mixture, Sweet Clover, etc. These will all be offered at big discounts. There is a large quantity of these seeds in this stock and just as soon as we can get them tested and graded they will be offered to some one at a big bargain. Better secure your requirements subject to above conditions.

PEAS AND BEANS

We have about a ton of these which have been tested out, as not suitable for seed. They, however, are available for food, or they can be used for stock feed. They will be sold at 5c per lb., or $4 per 100 lbs.

POULTRY SUPPLIES

New York's Authentic Styles Are Revealed In The New Smallman & Ingram

We have had produced by foremost manufacturers a series of models, which combine excellent tailoring with authentic style notes for the fall season.

The fabrics used are mostly from the famous mills of Kynock of Keith, Scotland, noteworthy for uncommonness of patterns and unique coloring.

Shoulders are broad and comfortable; jackets hang easily with a slight tapering at the waist; trousers are cut moderately full. The double-breasted is shown with smart lapel treatments that make for individuality.

Select from hundreds of Suits-in the new Woodland shades, Bramble, Highland Fawn. New double-breasted. Fancy serges. Fair Isle effects.
