

CANADIANS PLAYED LARGE PART IN THE BRITISH OFFENSIVE New "Tank" Cars Did More Damage Than Two Years of Zeppelin Raids

MOST DRAMATIC AND FORCEFUL BATTLE OF BRITISH IN FRANCE

Canadians Took Very Prominent Part in Big Fight of Sept. 15th, Making Magnificent Charge and Accomplishing Great Things

Most Dramatic Take One By Courier Leased Wire. British Front in France, Sept. 18, via London, Sept. 19.—The most dramatic and picturesque battle of the British army in all its two years in France was fought on September 15. Here is the story of how all kinds of men from the ends of the earth took part in this mighty conflict.

battle of Ypres, at St. Eloi, Orrell Hill and Sanctuary Wood, and it had been their fortune up to the present to stand under blows rather than give them. They wanted their chance on the Somme to make good, as they said, and they had it.

The "Tanks." It was the "tanks" that completed the wonderful business of this battle. To-day when the correspondent was calling on a Canadian brigadier, it was a "tank" called the "cordon rogue," looking like a prehistoric monster in a skin of modern armor and with engines inside, which took him across the field of shell craters weaving its way with pythonic capability by all irregularities up to the door of the brigadier's dugout.

Confidence in Canadians General Byng grasped the idea that the Canadians have initiative. Just there, as far as the correspondent is concerned, is the essential of the universally admitted brilliant stroke which the Canadians dealt when it came their turn to play their part in the colossal plan of the Somme offensive.

German Official Statements Strive to Conceal Losses

British Gains Are Never Admitted. Though French Receive Credit for Gains.

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Sept. 19.—A New York Times cable from London says: Attention is called by a British official to the fact on September 17 the German official staff announced that it would no longer record in its bulletins operations of a secondary importance. The announcement was made towards the end of what is regarded here as the worst week the German armies had had since the first week in July.

Which of the points in the war map does the general staff consider important enough to be mentioned? it is asked here. It certainly admitted prominently enough the loss of Guillemont and Bouchavesnes. It took an extra day to deliberate before deciding to mention the loss of Chilly and two days before mentioning the loss of Ginchy.

Picture shows the twisted ruins of a German Zeppelin which made part of a raiding fleet, and which was brought down near Enfield, England.

British Seaplanes Bombed Huns on Belgian Coast

By Courier Leased Wire. Berlin, Sept. 19.—(By wireless to Sayville)—"According to a British admiralty statement of September 16," says a semi-official announcement to-day, "a squadron of British seaplanes bombarded heavy batteries in the vicinity of Ostend. It is stated on competent German authority that no such attack took place, but that during the night of September 16-17 a hostile air craft attempted to attack Zeebrugge. The bombs dropped, fell into the sea, doing no damage."

RUSSIAN OFFICIAL

By Courier Leased Wire. Petrograd, Sept. 19.—The text of the Russian official statement says: "Western (Russian) front: 'In the direction of Vladimir-Volynski, in the region of Dobrudja, the enemy launched an attack against one of our advanced platoons, but was repulsed by our machine gun fire. Then riflemen of our platoon who escaped injury, counter-attacked under command of the sergeant-major, killed some Germans, took one prisoner and put the others to flight. The sergeant major was seriously wounded.'"

BOMBED FOE CAMP

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 19, 12.45 p.m.—"On Sunday night our pickets east of Orlik bridge, were attacked by the enemy, who was repulsed," says to-day's official report of the campaign on the Macedonian front. "The enemy camp at Prosenik was bombed on Sunday by our air craft, apparently with successful results. There were no developments on the Doiran front."

BAD WEATHER HALTS OFFENSIVE OF ANGLO-FRENCH ON SOMME

Germans are Active Against Russian Forces in Champagne. But Gain Nothing in Scene of French Victory of a Year Ago

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 19.—Bad weather has set in along the Somme front in northern France and the Anglo-French offensive has halted. Both the British War Office and the French War Office report a cessation of the heavy attacks which during the past few days have won them square miles of new ground, carried the British to within four miles of Bapaume, virtually pocketed Comblès and seriously weakened the hold of the Germans on Peronne and Chaumes.

GERMAN STAFF IS MOVED EAST

First in Belgium, Then in France, Now to Eastern Front.

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 19.—The Wireless Press to-day gave out a German despatch quoting the Sueddeutsche Zeitung to the effect that the German great general staff has been moved from the western to the eastern front. The great German headquarters, which directs operations on all fronts and at which the Emperor and chief of staff spend much of their time, was in Belgium in the early weeks of the war, and subsequently was moved to northern France. In the spring of 1915 it was in a town near Lille. According to unofficial reports, it was transferred later to a small village further east.

MOST DRAMATIC AND FORCEFUL BATTLE

despite the complicated time table methods of a modern offensive, that he could go further. The commanders of British corps of all kinds, from cockneys to the clerks, stock-brokers and farm hands of the new army made the same decision so they worked in conjunction, as everything in these big moves must be cooperation and team play.

"Confound the Cost." "Confound cost and everything else," said the Canadians, their nerves strained to breaking point in their determination to make good on their first offensive. When the word was given they started for Courcellette which they were ordered to take. Now this village had been "less crumpled" than any yet captured. There were some battered remains of roofs still in position. That is, Courcellette had less hammering by preparatory shell fire so as to clean out its strong points, nests of machine guns and so forth. Through these streets to their new objective, marked on the map, went the fighters of the new world, including men from Nova Scotia to Vancouver. They were determined to get there and make good, and they got there!

When no word came back for some time, the staff, sitting in the centre of the web of telephone and telegraph wires, over which was flashing the news of the progress of the great battle, began to wonder if the Canadians were in trouble, but presently they got word that the charge had swept beyond the village and that the Canadians had been so busy digging in they had not had time to send word. It was explained that they thought that it would be taken for granted that they got there.

French Canadians. Among those who "made good," say those who are supposed to know the facts, was a battalion of French-Canadians, the kind of men you see in times of peace working their farms in Quebec or bending over the benches of a factory in New England.

"We had luck with us and we forced it," one of the Canadians said. "It was up to us to do so that's all. At one place in the village the attackers were held up for a time by a strongly fortified post which bristled with machine guns.

"Well," as one officer said, "we did not have to tell them what to do." They stalked that strong point, man to man moving around it, and got it.

"The German is so a fighter," said one Canadian to conclude the story, "and he has been leaving the game for a long time, but on this occasion we had him going."

Tank Offensive

But the exploit of the Canadians is only one of the many chapters which may be told now of what the soldiers humorously called "the tank" offensive, having reference to the new armoured motor cars. There was a London division, comprising representatives of all classes of the great city's life, who were told that they must reach their objective in a given time. In front of them in High Wood was a fastness of machine guns, which neither the artillery nor the trench mortars had been able to reduce. However, it was the business of the Londoners to be on time in reaching the given point on the map and to hold on there until further notice. "These orders were all very simple and direct," said one of the Londoners afterward with a grim smile, "but those Germans in their fort knew that it was a life and death fight and all that was required of them was to put their fingers on the triggers of their machine guns when we charged. We left it to the blooming tank. We had to take chances of those machine guns shooting into our necks if the tanks could not do the job. But the orders were left our happy homes to go soldiering in France, and we had to reach that point on the map. We reached it and the tanks wiped out the machine guns."

New Zealanders

Then there were the New Zealanders. They are known from Australians by the colored band around their campaign hats. The New Zealanders also had their orders of the "go there and stay there" kind. They went and later on the situation was such they were warned that they must try and hold against a heavy counter-attack. The staff wondered if they could. Out of the clouds of shell smoke in which bullets and fragments of steel screamed and whistled, it was as difficult to glean information as it would be to learn what a man in the next block was doing in an earthquake. Finally word came back.

"We have stopped counter-attack and taken some more ground and are going to hold it." This cheered the staff as much as the sight of the columns of German prisoners filing by. It particularly cheered them as at some points things were not going so well as at others. The battalions whose luck failed there in this drive on the six mile British front were driven back by the cunningly arranged enfilading fire of machine guns in strong points which neither the artillery nor tanks could conquer. As the wounded from these battalions came hobbling down the shell-swept road they were cheered by the news of successes at other points.

The Guards

There was a spectacular moment when, some time after the battle had opened word ran down the line that "The Guards were going in." The Guards are the crack regiments of the British regular army and are steeped in traditions. When they came to the offensive they must show others the way through.

When they "went over the lid" as the slang phrase is for mounting parapet of the trench for a charge, it was the supreme moment for the Guards to live up to their traditions. They were to reach a certain objective in so many minutes and then wait. But they did not wait. They took their second objective in the same rush. It was no matter if the column of one of the regiments stood up on a hillock and blew the silver hunting horn he carried in order to halt them. The Guards were off and they meant to stretch a two base hit into a three-bagger, machine gun fire notwithstanding, or how else could they be the Guards. When they reached their final objective where they were to have it out with the Germans in as hard fighting as even this war has known, an Irishman in the Irish Guards exclaimed: "Is this as far as they told us to go? Sure I haven't got my second wind yet."

More than once facing counter-attacks the British have gone out to meet the German charges in the open with the bayonet and the Germans have done the same. All past records in ferocity of fighting seemed to have been surpassed during the latest British advance. So freely was life given and so wonderful was the courage shown on both sides that the whole thing seems unreal to the spectator. In today's mist and rain the ceaseless pounding of the guns goes on as fresh troops march up to the front from the rear to take their place in the next battle of this tremendous offensive.

Music and Drama

THE COLONIAL

Patrons of the Colonial the first part of the week are witnessing one of the best attractions brought here in a long while. Miss Olga Pet in a most moving emotional actress of the stage or screen is starring in "The Painted Woman," a gripping story in which interest is held until the final scene. In "The Painted Woman," the story of "The Painted Woman," is also on the bill and those who have been following this great serial should not miss the final and best picture of the series. The 16th episode of "The Pirates of Finance" is also shown and is well up to the standard of its predecessors. A Universal comedy entitled "A Perfect Match" in which the troubles of a lover are unravelled by "black magic" rounds out an exceptional programme.

THE SITUATION.

Latest reports from the headquarters of the British army in France and menacing the German occupation would indicate that Canadian and other Colonial troops played a much larger part in the great offensive drive of Sept. 15 than was previously believed.

Progress has also been made by the French forces upon the Somme front, taking the village of Denicourt from the Bulgarians. Against the Bulgarians the French have been very active, their attack upon Florina necessitating a disorderly retreat upon the part of the former army toward Monastir, which they are in turn reported to-day to be evacuating before the French advance.

From the Roumanian front no word of importance has come as yet. It would seem that the invading forces under Von Mackensen have not yet ventured to come to close conclusions with the Russo-Roumanian defenders.

THE CONTRAST BETWEEN LIBERALS AND CONSERVATIVES. Let it not be forgotten, for it is an incontrovertible fact, that the big and the fertilest measures in connection with Canada's progress have been the work of Conservative Governments—the National Policy and the Canadian Pacific Railway, per example.

It is equally true that there is more of independence and less of subservience in the Conservative ranks than there is in the Liberal ditto. For many years the Conservative party swept Ontario for the Dominion House, while the Mowat (Liberal) Government remained in power provincially.

thing which may be done, are things which do not characterize Conservative allegiance. It is a good thing that the adherents of one of the great parties are imbued with such a spirit.

NOTES AND COMMENT. Instead of the goose step, the Hun soldiers are commencing to break into the two minute trot.

Illustrations like these could be multiplied. They show that there is a great spirit of independence in Conservative ranks, and that Crit subservience and swallowing any-

IN FIGHTING

Another battalion containing many Brantford men, which is believed to be in the thick of the present Somme fighting is the 19th, to which the Dufferin Rifles furnished a large number under Captain (now Major) E. H. Newman. No word of any local casualties from that unit has been as yet received in this city.

84th IN FIGHTING

That the men who left Brantford last spring, in the ranks of the 84th Battalion, since broken up into drafts in England, have been prominent in the recent fighting, is evidenced by the casualties learned of here daily. The latest is Pte. Wm. Rodwell, 12 Brunswick, who was reported wounded yesterday, in a telegram received by Mrs. Rodwell. Pte. Rodwell enlisted in the 84th Battalion in the summer of 1915.

RETURNED TODAY

Pte. David Lyle, of the 4th battalion, who was expected to arrive in the city this evening, reached here this morning quietly and unexpectedly, returning to his home on Drummond street without ceremony.

GAS TROUBLES

Mr. Frank B. Tomb, representing the Doherty interests which control the Dominion Gas Co., met this morning with City Engineer T. Harry Jones and His Worship Mayor Bowler in the latter's office, re: the purification of gas at Tilbury. The two above mentioned city officials are to take a trip to Tilbury next Monday at the expense of the company to examine the purification plant there.

DIED IN HOSPITAL

A Buffalo man named Bird, passing through the city on a G. T. R. train was removed to the Brantford General Hospital yesterday evening in a very serious condition, and passed away there a half hour after his arrival. The exact cause of his death has not been ascertained to-day. The remains were conveyed to Buffalo for interment this afternoon.

WOUNDED

The name of Pte. T. Mason, of this city appeared among the list of wounded in the official casualty list this morning. Pte. Mason left Brantford in March of 1915, with the 86th reserve battalion, under Lt. Col. E. C. Ashton. He was a married man, residing at 182 George street, English by nationality, and had seen three years' service in the Dufferin Rifles.

VETERAN RETURNS HOME

Quietly and unheralded, save to the members of his own family, C. S. M. Wm. Blues of the Imperial army, arrived home in the city on Saturday morning last, after a long illness in Scotland, which necessitated his discharge from the regiment which he crossed the ocean to join in the early days of the war. He is a married man residing on St. Paul's Avenue.

THE BRANT

A bill of all feature moving pictures is that presented at the Brant theatre for the first half of this week. The illustrious Charles Chaplin appears in his latest comedy creation, "The Vagabond," and creates a greater hit and more amusement for all than ever before in the course of his multifarious and variegated successes. An episode of "Who's Guilty?" lives up to the usual high standard of the series, while Cleo Ridgley and Wallace Reid appear together once more in a stirring and heart gripping drama of society, under the caption "The Selfish Woman." Two all star vaudeville numbers serve to complete one of the finest bills seen in this city in some time.

GOOD ROADS SCHEME

The County Good Roads Association occupied the attention of the Roads and Bridges committee of the county council during the majority of their meeting yesterday. No definite action was taken in the matter, but the suggestion was made that a scheme be submitted to the various minor municipalities for consideration whereby the county should take over about 75 miles of road in the various townships of the county, as county roads under the provincial County Road System, the mileage of the roads to be taken over being allotted between the various minor municipalities according to their equalized assessment. Each Reeve was instructed accordingly to have the scheme discussed by his local council and decide upon what roads they would desire to have taken in on the scheme, and to be prepared to report upon the subject at the next meeting of the county council.

ON VIEW

The fine articles of household furniture to be sold at the residence of Mrs. A. E. Harley, No. 25 Chatham street on Thursday, at 1:30 p.m., will be on view to-morrow from 2:30 till 5 p.m. S. G. Read, Auctioneer.

RECRUITING TO BE RE-COMMENCED

215th Will Initiate Active Campaign Very Shortly. Under Capt. Pearce.

Capt. McKenney, Andrews and Pearce, of the 215th battalion, arrived in the city last evening to have charge of the recruiting campaign which is to take place shortly. The actual date has not as yet been set for the opening, but all information will gladly be given at the local headquarters as to necessary qualifications and prospects of advancement.

The soldiers, both officers and men in the ranks, are highly elated over the new acquisition to the battalion of Lt.-Col. Morris. They say he is certainly a fine man, and cannot praise him too highly. Mrs. Fred F. Buck, 59 Brant Ave., and Mr. Davies of Terrace Hill St., yesterday contributed two large bundles of reading matter for the boys at camp.

Farewell to Lieut. Hunt

There was a large gathering last evening at the Boy Knight Armories to bid farewell to Lieut. Hunt of the 11th battalion, who is home on last leave before leaving next week for overseas.

Capt. Forbes Thompson, who will be in charge of the work during the absence of Prof. Hunt, acted as chairman for the evening.

Lieut. Hunt gave a very instructive as well as interesting address on "camp army life and Mr. Thompson also spoke along the same line, drawing moral lessons from the address of Lieut. Hunt.

Mr. A. G. Ludlow spoke during the evening and presented to Lieut. Hunt a shaving set and box of cigars, the gift of his friends and the Boy Knights.

Lieut. Hunt, although taken entirely by surprise, made a feeling reply to his friends, thanking them for the remembrance and wishing them continued prosperity during his absence.

All the members were greatly enthusiastic over the future and promised to carry on the work so ably begun by Lieut. Hunt. The good accomplished by this society is well known throughout the city, but, perhaps, it is not known that 59 of the boys who have trained under Lieut. Hunt are now serving their country or have made the supreme sacrifice of their lives. It is certainly a record to be proud of, and Lieut. Hunt may now leave with the full assurance that upon his return he will find the organization established upon as firm a basis as when he left.

To the Grave

Mrs. Mary Ann Johnson The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Ann Johnson took place on Saturday afternoon from the residence of her son Ashner, 37 Cayuga street, to Hamilton for interment, service being conducted at the cemetery chapel there. A very large number of beautiful floral tributes, evidencing the esteem in which the deceased was held by all, were received.

RECEPTION GIVEN RETURNED PASTOR

Rev. D. T. McClintock's Return Fittingly Celebrated Last Evening.

A royal welcome in the form of a reception, was extended last evening to Rev. D. T. McClintock and family by the congregation of Alexandra Presbyterian church. The great popularity which the pastor enjoys with his people was testified to, not only by the hearty addresses made by the members of the church, but also by the splendid number of people present at the function.

The chair was ably occupied by Mr. A. C. Cooper, who presided over the gathering in his usual genial manner. In his opening address, Mr. Cooper expressed the joy which he himself felt in having Mr. McClintock back again, and stated that such a long absence would never be again allowed.

Mr. Housion, who had had some experience in mission work in the Old Land, said that he could well appreciate the difficulties to be contended with in that distant province, where the ideals of the people are so different from our own. A piano duet was acceptably rendered by the Misses Lona Baltzer and Lois Wiley.

Mr. Davie made a short speech, in which he concurred with the sentiments expressed by the previous speakers, after which Miss Paterson sang a solo which was much appreciated.

Mr. McFarland was called upon and responded with a humorous speech, in which he recounted the experiences of Rev. Mr. McClintock, and also those of the church during his absence of four months.

Miss Ralston sweetly sang a lullaby at the conclusion of which Mr. McClintock made a short address of welcome.

Mr. A. L. Baird thought that the absence of the minister had been beneficial for all concerned. Mr. McClintock would have the new experience, while the people would learn to appreciate him to a fuller extent and seek to enter more ably into a spirit of co-operation with him. Mr. Baird urged that more interest be taken in the future in prayer-meetings, church services and other forms of worship, than in the past.

Mr. McClintock in reply said that he appreciated more than he could express, not only the formal reception tendered him last night, but also the splendid attendance at the two Sunday services. He agreed with Mr. Baird in that his experience of the last four months was in some measure a benefit to him. His new work had resulted in a widening of his outlook on life, and had sent him back with a new inspiration and a new message to his church.

At the close of Mr. McClintock's address, dainty refreshments were served by the ladies and the happy gathering broke up.

City Council Held Long Session of Many Matters of Much Public Interest

Chief Slein Is Appointed Temperance Officer—Member Not Yet Appointed to Parks Board Owing to Deadlock Reached.

Bantam Battalion Wants Grant—Lorne Crescent to be Paved—"No Quorum" Cut Short Discussion of Gas Case

Stated for an uneventful session, last night's meeting of the city council saw the transaction of much business and many matters of interest and importance to the city in general. The St. Paul's avenue subway, the closing of Read street, the appointment of a member to the Parks Board, and the gas trouble all received hearings, and it was only the discovery that a quorum was not present that terminated the discussion upon the last matter and brought about the adjournment of the council.

Clarence St. Question

Mayor Bowly at this point reported to the council the terms of settlement proposed by the G. T. R. in the question of the stationing of guards at the intersection of the railway tracks with those of the Municipal Railway at the corner of Colborne and Clarence streets. The G. T. R. proposed the installation of two signal boxes, 65 per cent of the cost being paid by the city and 35 per cent by the railway company.

Mayor Bowly considered this proposition as highly unfair to the Municipal Railway, and through it to the city. The matter had already been submitted to the finance committee, the chairman of which expressed the opinion that the question should be dealt with by the mayor, the railway committee and the board of railway commissioners. The contract submitted by the G. T. R. was read by the clerk, it having been signed by Jno. Thresher and C. H. Hartman, secretary and chairman respectively of the board of railway commissioners, but the mayor had refused to attach his signature.

The contract stipulated that the city erect and supply the two signal lights with all necessary, the wages of the two watchmen, joint employees of the two parties, being borne in the proportions of 65 per cent, and 35 per cent, by the city and the G. T. R. respectively.

Ald. Ward styled the agreement "entirely one-sided," expressing the opinion that the present was the time for action in the matter. Ald. Dowling moved that the agreement be referred to the railway committee.

Mayor Bowly opposed the idea of further delay. Ald. Bragg considered the railway commissioners should take up the matter. Ald. Ballantyne thought it rested rather with the railway board of the council, favoring the resolution of Ald. Dowling.

Ald. Wiley considered the matter one of vital importance, and urged consideration by the various committees without further delay. Mayor Bowly opposed reference of the matter to the railway committee.

THE PROBS

Toronto, Sept. 19.—Light showers are occurring this morning near Lake Superior, elsewhere in Canada the weather is fine. The temperature was decidedly high yesterday and today in the western provinces, while in Ontario and Quebec it was rather low and there were light local frosts this morning.

FORECASTS

Moderate to fresh southwesterly winds with a few light local showers, but mostly fair and a little warmer today and on Wednesday.

Committee, organized to encourage recruiting, organization of resources, etc., throughout the country. It was recommended that a committee of representative citizens be appointed from this city. This was referred to the finance committee.

Train Whistles

A. J. Wilkes, City Solicitor, reported on the Hydro-Electric Railway Association, giving details as to the annual membership fees of the organization, being referred to the railway committee, together with several other communications.

NEW RUSSIAN WAR LOAN

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 19.—A new war loan by the Russian government is proposed, according to a Reuter despatch from Petrograd to-day. The plan, says the despatch, is to issue at the end of October a new internal 5 1/2 per cent, ten year loan for war purposes to the amount of 3,000,000 rubles, the price of issue to be 95.

Paving Lorne Crescent

A petition from residents of Lorne Crescent asked for the paving of the portion of that thoroughfare known as Kerby Street, as soon as possible. The petition was referred to the Board of Works, being signed by the necessary two-thirds of the residents of the locality.

Mayor Bowly enquired whether that work could be carried out without delaying the work upon Erie avenue. Ald. Ward believed that it could be done, and moved, seconded by Ald. Frechorn, that the work be proceeded with. The motion carried by unanimous vote.

The finance committee recommended in its report the filing of a lengthy list of communications. The third reading of the by-law for the closing of Read street, was laid over owing to receipt of a communication from the property owner of that vicinity protesting against such an action. The writer will be instructed to attend the next meeting of the council and to state his case before the members there.

Appointed Temperance Officer

Chief of Police Slein was, by by-law, constituted a temperance officer in the city, subject to the provisions of the Ontario Temperance Act, the by-law receiving its three required readings. The reason of the appointment is that the fines imposed and paid in liquor cases here may go to the city, in place of to the provincial government, as would be the case when action was taken by License Inspector Eacrett.

Parks Board

The old question of the appointment of a member to the Parks Board was once more mooted. Mayor Bowly nominated Mr. Quinlan for the vacancy, and Ald. Bragg R. J. Eacrett; matters reached a deadlock, the Mayor ruling that he alone could nominate a candidate, and Ald. Bragg retorting that the council must ratify the Mayor's choice of candidates.

Ald. Bragg declared for Mr. Eacrett as a sportsman who would do much good to the parks of the city. In order to obtain a vote upon the matter, Ald. Dowling and Hess moved acceptance of the name of T. Quinlan, as nominated for the position.

Mayor Bowly considered it his duty to nominate T. Quinlan, as a member of the same religion as the late J. J. Hawkins, who had been the only one upon the board. His Worship considered that in view of this, such a good man as Thos. Quinlan should receive the situation.

HUNS TRY TO FORCE HUGE WAR LOAN

Belgians Protest to U. S. Against Being Forced to Subscribe to Hun Loan.

By Courier Leased Wire. Washington, Sept. 19.—State department officials to-day took up for study a protest filed yesterday by the Belgian legation, alleging that German military authorities are trying to force Belgian banks to subscribe to a German loan equivalent to $200,000,000. The protest also charged that because the National Bank of Belgium declined to assent to a loan, the director, M. Carlier, had been thrown into prison. Similar reports carried in news despatches from allied countries, have drawn denials from Berlin.

It was regarded as doubtful that Washington authorities would consider the situation as justifying interference by the United States.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Chicago forced Boston back into first place to-day, when they tossed away the final game of the series with the world's champions, while Philadelphia won from Detroit. The score was 4 to 3. All three errors made by the locals were costly, and although they used 16 players they were unable to overcome the lead gained by the Red Sox in the early innings.

LANNIN AND THE UMPIRES

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Joseph J. Lannin, president of the Boston American League club, late yesterday confirmed stories that he planned to give up his part of the club if his team did not win the championship this year.

Mr. Lannin said he was convinced the umpires in the American League were giving his team the worst of it, and that his players were discouraged, because they thought the same.

Reds Purchase Two Players

By Courier Leased Wire. Cincinnati, O., Sept. 18.—The Cincinnati National League Club announced to-day that Outfielder Twombly and Infielder Kopf had been purchased from the Baltimore team of the International League.

The Chicago Nationals have drafted Pitcher "Lefty" McTigue from the Leafs. The New York Nationals had first chance at the pick of the Toronto club, but waived their right.

Last year McTigue was drafted by the Tigers. The Chicago Americans drafted Kopp, of the Bisons, and have the first choice of Montreal players.

Cleveland has the first choice of Baltimore players, and Washington the first choice of Rochester players.

Brooklyn secured Shortstop Fabrice from Providence, while the New York Giants picked up Outfielder Witter from Newark.

The Chicago Americans drafted the most players, when they secured 14, while the Boston Red Sox were the only major league club that failed to draft a player.

CLYMER LOOKS LIKE A WINNER

Last Year's Manager of Toronto Leaf with Louisville in American Association.

Louisville, Sept. 19.—The race in the American Association is rapidly drawing to a close, and there is little or no likelihood of "Derby Day" Bill Clymer's Louisville Colonels being ousted from first place.

The season will come to an end in about ten days, and the pennant is already conceded to the locals. It will be the second flag won by the Colonels with Clymer in command, the first occasion being in 1909.

Clymer has been at or near the top throughout the season, although one protracted losing streak was experienced in the middle of the season.

The team is composed largely of veterans. Clymer has had unlimited capital and a free hand in the management, so that his job has been a comparatively easy one.

The standings, including the games of to-day, is as follows:

Table with columns: Team, Won, Lost, P.C. Rows include Louisville, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Toledo, Columbus, Milwaukee.

Phillies Beat Chicago Cubs

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—Errors while McConnell was pitching and bad work by Carter and Clemons, Chicago's battery, in the eighth inning gave Philadelphia an easy victory yesterday, 6 to 1. The score: R.H.E. Chicago . . . 000000001—1 5 3; Philadelphia . . . 10010004x—6 7 2.

Batteries—Carter and Clemons; Rixey and Killifer.

Tyler Won His Own Game

Boston, Sept. 19.—Tyler was the big factor in Boston's 2-to-0 victory over St. Louis yesterday. The Boston pitcher held the visitors to three hits, did not give a base on balls, and drove in both runs. Boston hit Meadows hard. The score: R.H.E. St. Louis . . . 000000000—0 3 0; Boston . . . 02000000x—2 13 0.

Meadows, Williams and Gonzales; Tyler and Blackburn.

SISTERS THREE

"They ain't at it again!" exclaimed the old man.
Gipsy gasped from the block in front of the gate to the face of the servant and instantly understood.

"Have they right to do that? Is this our right way? And has somebody thought to stop it against us?"
"Right or way—has sure 'tis so, missie. The gurt villain! And not a week since the corpse of 't' old master carried through, and I was one of the bearers! Dallee! But I'd like to 'a' caught that skunk Knott 't' the job! The mumphead!"

"Pennyquik, can you and the boy clear all that away?"
Gipsy's face was deeply flushed, and the old man's blue eyes kindled with the light of battle. A shout brought his underling to his aid, and after fifteen minutes hard work the path was cleared and the thorny impediment was set on fire in the middle of the cart-road.

"Let 'n try your dirty tricks on us! We'll be as good as they one day! Cooon along, in a thimble, we'll find another block at 't' other gate. We'll make another fire to warm Mister Gaston's hands by!"
They hastened through the twinkling lights and shadows of the path, and Gipsy felt how intolerable it would be to lose the right of this pleasant woodland way to village and church—so sheltered and clean in the winter, so cool and fragrant in the summer. Already the pride and tenacity of ownership was upon her, and she clenched her hands and set her bright face almost in lines of sternness as she vowed to keep the charge laid upon them and never to let the proud Lebretons oust them from their rights.

Yes, the other end to the path was blocked, but in a different fashion—not by a mass of thorn and bramble, but by a chain and padlock on the gate. For the moment Gipsy asked herself whether the enemy had been too much for them; but soon she saw that her allies had foreseen this possibility and had come adequately prepared. They brought out strong files and tools of which the girl did not know the names, and set to work with such a will that in twelve or fifteen minutes by filing, wrenching, and hammering a link of the chain gave way, and the next minute a mangled chain and a useless padlock were contemptuously hurled a score or more of yards along the path to catch the eyes of whoever first opened the gate from the far side.
Gipsy's eyes were dancing and flashing at one and the same time. She was vastly entertained by the talk of her companions; she was wrath with the man who sought to defraud herself and her sisters of their right. By this time she was in full possession of a vast store of information concerning the Lebretons, and, though she had by no means understood all of it, she did understand that the father of the present owner had drawn upon himself the contumely and contempt and hatred of the whole community, and that his son was credited with being "a chip of the old block."

Certainly this morning's discovery pointed strongly to the correctness of this surmise.
When the Pennyquicks were gone Gipsy went through the gate into a wide and shady path that led direct to the old church and onward to the village. She wandered into the churchyard and found a newly-made grave which she knew to be that of her uncle, since it stood among the graves of other dead-and-gone Rickards. She peeped in through the windows and saw old tombs and brasses which she knew to be those of her uncle, since it stood among the graves of other dead-and-gone Rickards. She peeped in through the windows and saw old tombs and brasses which she knew to be those of her uncle, since it stood among the graves of other dead-and-gone Rickards.

CHAPTER VII.
"I have been waiting for you, Miss Audrey, my dear," said Mrs. Gosling on that first enchanting morning, and Audrey, with a face alight with eager anticipation, joined her old nurse in the big square room in the north gable of the house which corresponded to the big room allotted to Allard at the other end.
The plan of the house was simple. Two square gables at either end formed rooms larger than any of the others, and connecting these was a corridor with a row of windows to the east, and rooms opposite which looked out towards the sunset.
This big north room, which also had westerly lights, contained deep presses and cupboards for linen, china, and other laid-by treasures of an old house. The room itself was already allotted by Audrey to Mrs. Gosling as her parlor and "work-room." She had a bedroom in the projecting wing, where lay the kitchen and offices on the lower floor, and the sleeping chambers of the Pennyquik family on the upper.

There was an empty room here just behind the swing-door, which shut away this part of the house, and was conveniently situated at the head of the back staircase.
"But, Goosey, dear, you must have your own parlor; and you must have you set up in a black silk dress and mob-cap, so that you can play duenna for us at any time it may be wanted." Audrey's humorous lips twinkled and the gray eyes lighted. "Oh, I know we live in the twentieth century! I know that girls can do things their grandmothers would have faint—I mean swooned—at the bare thought of. But I'm not going to have any remarks made about us. We are three girls living alone; I don't know what sort of society there will be here, but Gipsy is bound to make friends, and boys like her—naturally. It boys take to coming here it may help things to be lively; but you will have to appear, Mother Goose. That is quite settled! And if these stores do not furnish the wherewithal for your stage get-up—well, we must see what else we can do."

But the deep presses and chests did not disappoint Audrey. Here she laid by in all manner of stuffs and clothes which in the past had been the property and joy of Rickards now long laid in the dust. The air was impregnated with the scent of sandalwood, lavender, and spice. Modern naphthalene sent forth none of its offensive odor here. It was the scent of a fragrant past that made an atmosphere around the two busy, happy workers who carefully and with reverence unfolded and examined these treasures and wondered about those who had so tenderly and carefully laid them by.

And there was the black silk dress, rich in texture and plain in style, which was and be the very thing for Mrs. Gosling when robbed for her part as duenna. There were soft, delicate sarments which some day, when their mourning was over, the girls themselves would wear. There were lengths of old brocade, some of it made up in curtains, others laid by with a view to use in other ways. With the aid of "Penny," the butler—Gipsy had discovered that her uncle had always called him "Penny," and the girls followed suit—she quickly had down the faded rep of the drawing-room windows and hung up in their place these silken, shimmering brocades that instantly transformed the room. Mrs. Penny brought down from attics all the delicate odds and ends of silken-covered furniture which had been removed when the room was no longer in use. The two handmaidens, eager and smiling—Audrey called them Halfpenny and Farthing, and they beamed appreciation of the mild pleasant—arrived on the scene with duster and bowl and water, and in the square hall the eager young hands scrubbed and polished and dusted, and brought in one by one the renovated articles, while Audrey placed them with a critical eye to their exact value in her scheme. So that by quick degrees the room lost its aspect of vacancy and forlorn disquietude, and was transformed into as charming a parlour as three pretty girls to dwell in as could well be imagined.

"It was just so—only a bit different too—it looked in Miss Mary's time!" said Mrs. Penny, with admiring eyes. "When we get down the china and have the flowers in the vases it will seem like as though Miss Mary was back again—bless her!"
In Audrey the housewife instinct was largely developed. At sixteen, on the death of her mother, she had striven to manage, with the aid of Mrs. Gosling, the big house and the small and shrinking housekeeping allowance which was all she had to keep things going from the encumbered property which her father had inherited, and which under his easy rule had become more encumbered year by year. It had been a hard, trying time; and yet she had in measure enjoyed it. But the task had left a mark on her, and when the crash finally came with the death of her charming but spendthrift father, there had been an element of relief in the knowledge that the struggle was ended.

Now the prospect of managing a small house on a small but sufficient income was pure delight to the girl. She spoke about it laughingly to her shrewd old nurse.

MANY OFFICERS IN CANADA

No Lack of Applicants for Positions, but Number Is Being Depleted.

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—Canada is long on officers. It is estimated that there are now about two thousand more officers in the Dominion holding certificates than there are commissions for them.
The majority of the surplusage consists of subalterns, although there is a fair sprinkling of captains and majors and a few colonels.
When war began trained officers were scarce, and training schools were opened in leading centres and classes were conducted energetically. The results have exceeded expectation, and to-day there are more officers than places.

MANY LIVES ARE LOST IN BOHEMIA

Great Destruction Wrought There By Bursting of a Large Dam.

By Courier Leased Wire.

London, Sept. 19.—Many lives have been lost and enormous damage has been caused near Gablonz, Bohemia, by the bursting of a dam in the valley at Weissendesse, according to despatch to Reuters from Amsterdam, quoting a telegram received there from Gablonz.

The dam was eight meters in length and twenty in depth. The on-rushing water carried away numerous glass polishing factories, and it is feared that there are many victims. The bridges were not destroyed, but are in danger of collapse. The danger is very great. The villages of Teezendorf, Tiefenbach, Tauswald, Schumrowitz, and Grosshammer and Haratz are inundated. Ten bodies of victims have been recovered and identified.

There's an impression in the offices of the leading New York producers that BRANTFORD isn't large enough to support big companies—the companies that play Hamilton, Toronto and Buffalo and New York.

Loyal supporters of BRANTFORD who shout "Give BRANTFORD the first-class companies, and BRANTFORD will turn out capacity," have not been disheartened in their claim by the so-called "knockers."

GERMANS MAKE EFFORTS TO LINE UP

Attacks Endure Three Mile Bouchavesnes

By Courier Leased Wire.

New York, Sept. 21.—The correspondent of The Tribune writing last night, says:

As if to disprove the statement that their counter assaults had their elan, the Germans made separate effort to-day to regain hold on the Peronne-Buamont line. A series of terrific rushes were led against the French and the British lines, but they made no way.

The blows began last night on sides of the river, but they were no success. On the French front Germans penetrated some three short order. This apparently preliminary work—an attempt to regain possession of those positions.

With morning a greater effort begun. This attack was confined to the French front in the sector between Rancourt and Clery. It was in Gallie's, the Kaiser's troops the Bapaume-Pedonne road was the French a week ago. This gap it is possible for the troops to drive a wedge between two towns.

From 9 o'clock in the morning until nightfall, the attack continued with fury along a three-mile front. Moving forward in dense masses the Russians assailed the Kaiser's troops themselves repeated. Foch's positions. Wave after wave broke under the intense fire.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Berlin, Sept. 20, via London, 21, (T23) p.m.—Renewed and discussion in the Reichstag of submarine issue and the controversy, which led to the retirement of Admiral Von Tirpitz as minister of the navy, appears to be inevitable consequence of the publication yesterday of the letters exchanged between Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg and the admiral.

These letters the public learned in a private conversation. Prof. Valentin asserted Admiral Von Tirpitz has misled the Reichstag as to the number of available submarines and the possibility of a marine campaign. The admiral mandated that the chancellor of the line Prof. Valentin, but the charges took the position the professor was not subject to disciplinary powers.

These letters, however, do not only the fringes of accusations allegation which for months been circulating from mouth to mouth in connection with this controversy. There is attributed Prof. Valentin not only the statement that Admiral Von Tirpitz misled the Reichstag regarding the submarine campaign and the tonnage destroyed and the Foreign Office obtained the figures only from the papers sent from the admiralty.

This account of Prof. Valentin conversation not only reached Admiral Von Tirpitz, but was submitted the form of an affidavit to the aryan war ministry and formed the subjects of discussion in the Reichstag last month by King of Bavaria to a delegation which demanded a change in the
