John Nicholson

One of the best known and most highly respected citizens of Wentworth county passed away on Wednesday, April 20th at his home in Hamilton, in the person of John Nicholson. Mr. Nicholson was born on the old Nicholson homestead, in East Flamboro, in 1852, and resided there continuously until 1906, when he retired and moved to the village of Waterdown. His parents came to this country from Ireland in 1834.

After a few years in retirement Mr. Nicholson again entered business life and became associated with his son in the Nicholson Lumber Co. at Burlington, in which business he was actively engaged until his death. Mr. Nicholson was a very successful farmer and was for many years engaged in lumbering. He took a very active part in municipal matters and served in the East Flamboro township council and County council almost continuously for 17 years. He contested the North Wentworth riding in the provincial election in 1894, but was defeated by a very small majority. He was a member of the Waterdown lodge A. F. & A. M., the Orange order, the Maccabees, K. of P. and I. P. B. S.

Mr. Nicholson was a life long member of the Anglican church and a staunch Conservative. He enjoyed the best of health, but about six weeks ago contracted typhoid fever which resulted in his death. He is survived by his widow, four daughters, Mrs. Robert Allen, Burlington; Mrs. George Los, Henriburg, Sask. Miss Elsie Nicholson, Waterdown, and Mrs. W. M. Gilbert, Winnipeg, and his only son, Allan S. Nicholson of Burlington.

The funeral took place from his late residence, 116 George street, Hamilton, to Grace church, Waterdown, on Saturday afternoon. Interment was in Grace church cemetery. Rev. Archdeacon Forneret, assisted by Rev. Mr. Bennett and Rev. H. J. Leake, conducted the services. The pallbearers were H. A. Drummond, W. A. Drummond, Edward Blagden, Thomas Morden, Peter Ray and Alex Robertson.

Mrs. Charles Prudham

Mrs. Charles Prudham, a well known and much respected citizen of our village, passed away Thursday April 21st at the home of her daughter, Mrs. P. S. McLaren, Beachburg. Mrs. Prudham has been failing in health since the fall of 1919 when she had a slight stroke. The immediate cause of death was an attack of bronchial pneumonia.

Mrs. Prudham was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Walker and came with her parents to Canada from Nottingham, England about 1849 and lived for some time on Dundas street in Nelson from which place they moved to Carlisle. In 1870 she was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Prudham at Waterdown by Rev. William Willoughby. One son, Rev. W. W. Prudham, and five daughters graced the union, all of whom but one, together with their father, survive to mourn a beloved mother.

Since retiring from the farm in the neighborhood of Lake Medad in 1894 Mrs. Prudham was a resident of Waterdown until she went to Beachburg where she skilled attention of her youngest daughter did much to mitigate the afflictions to which she was subject. She will be remembered by all who knew her as industrious and kind, a good neighbor and a helper in every worthy cause. She was a life long constant and devoted member of the Methodist church and was especially interested in the missionary side of church life.

The remains were brought here from Beachburg, where service was conducted by Rev. John Hurst, to the home of her daughter, Mrs. David Thompson, at which place the funeral service was held on Monday last conducted by Rev. C. L. Poole assisted by Rev. H. J. Leake. Interment took place in the Waterdown cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends.

Messrs. Charles Brigger, George Willis, William Little, Robert C. Griffin, John W. Griffin and Alfred Dale acted as pallbearers.

24th of May to be Big Day

The several committees appointed for the 24th of May celebration are working hard to make the day one of the biggest and best ever held in Waterdown. The school children are preparing a program which will take place in the morning, and the sports committee are arranging for a full and fast afternoon of baseball, races and other sports, to be followed with a grand concert in the rink in the evening. Mr. Lennox of Hamilton is very kindly loaning 20 large flags for decorating purposes.

Turn out now and give the boys a helping hand. They are working to secure an athletic field and club house where the young people will find plenty of good clean sport. At present there is no place where our young folks can find amusement excepting the street corners.

The Sunday School Lesson

Lesson V. May 1.
BIBLE TEACHINGS ABOUT EDUCATION.

Lesson—Deut. 6: 4-9; Prov. 3: 12-18; Luke 2: 40-52. Printed Text—Deut. 6: 4-9; Prov. 3: 12-18; Luke 2: 52. Golden Text—"Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom"—Prov. 4: 7.

The Lesson Text.

Deut. 6: 4 Hear, O Israel: Jehovah our God is one Jehovah:

5 and thou shalt love Jehovah thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might.

6 And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be upon thy heart;

7 and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thy house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.

8 And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thy hand, and they shall be for frontlets between thine eyes.

9 And thou shalt write them upon the door-posts of thy house, and upon thy gates.

Prov. 3: 13 Happy is the man that findeth wisdom.

14 For the gaining of it is better than the gaining of silver.

16 She is more precious than rubies: And none of the things thou canst desire are to be compared unto her.

18 Length of days is in her right hand;

17 Her ways are ways of pleasantness, And all her paths are peace.

18 She is a tree of life to them that lay hold upon her:

And happy is every one that retaineth her.

Luke 2: 52 And Jesus advanced in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men.

Comments.

Deut. 6: 4. This part of our lesson is from a discourse delivered by Moses to a people in the plains of Moab, when, by the direction of Jehovah, he was seeking to educate them in the high principles of self-government and pure religion. The basis of this instruction was an acknowledgement of the oneness of God.

Verse 5. This is the verse quoted in Matt. 22: 28 as the first and great commandment. The real worth of all education depends upon the way those who seek education look upon God and their fellow-men.

Verse 6. May of the people were dead to whom the Ten Commandments had been given at Sinai. This was a fresh issuance of the orders of Jehovah and a refinement of the original commands.

Verses 7-9. To teach religion to parents requires parental reverence, devotion and sincerity. Parents can not teach in the home precepts that they do not practice. There are to-day hundreds of good books available to parents showing them how religious truth may be taught. In spite of our much talk about religious education, there is a steady decline of religion in the home.

Prov. 3: 13. No one object in life is so all-absorbing as the pursuit of happiness. The author of Proverbs shows that it consists in finding wisdom and getting understanding.

Verse 14. Wisdom is better than silver because it embraces more. There are things that are more precious than gold: freedom, friendship and love, for instance.

Verse 15. Wisdom is spiritual wealth and nothing material can be compared to things spiritual.

Verse 16. Wisdom would banish the sins and most of the suffering of mankind. Wisdom would bestow the only riches worthy of the name.

Verse 17. People blindly imagine that the ways of sin are pleasant, and that the paths of selfishness bring satisfaction, when the truth is that right conduct brings joy unalloyed and unselfish living produces permanent content.

Verses 1-8. Emphasis upon education is right, but it must also be right emphasis. The present-day tendency is to intellectualize without properly spiritualizing. See to it that religious education is religious.

Luke 2: 52. Here the summit of human perfection education is described in the process of the growth of Jesus our Lord. He advanced in wisdom. This means that he grew morally and intellectually in harmony with the eternal principles of truth and righteousness. His mind acquired poise and power.

Illustrated Truth.

No power on earth can give a man an education, but the world is full of opportunities for him to get one for himself (Prov. 3: 13).

Illustration.—Education means a drawing out of the powers within us, but we have somehow confused education with cramming. A young woman was in the habit of going over her lessons aloud while she went about her work. Among other things she committed to memory the names of the Presidents of the United States. One day the parrot that was kept in the kitchen astonished every one by repeating the names of the Presidents. After this Polly repeated the performance very often. It was noted that she never made a mistake. No wonder! What she was saying meant nothing to her, and she knew one way of retaining it.

Topics for Research and Discussion.

I. Teach the Word of God (Deut. 6: 4-9). 1. From what is the first part of this lesson taken? 2. What was Moses trying to teach the children of Israel? 3. What great single fact was he aiming to impress? 4. Where in the New Testament is the language of verse 5 quoted? 5. What is the supreme test of all true education?

II. The Word Brings Happiness and Honor (Prov. 3: 12-18). 6. What is the one absorbing pursuit in human life? 7. Give your own definition of true happiness.

III. The Word Develops the Fourfold Life (Luke 2: 52). 8. In what sense does this passage describe full-orbed education?

SELECT LAXATIVE MEDICINE WITH GREAT CARE

In debility and weakness, medicine should be mild and far reaching. Many pills and purgatives are too hard, are drastic instead of curative. Excessive action is always followed by depression, and knowing this Dr. Hamilton devised his pills of Mandrake and Butterbur so as to mildly increase liver and kidney activity, so as to flush out the system by toning and regulating the bowels. Thus do Dr. Hamilton's Pills eliminate poisons from the body, thus do they restore clearness to the skin, thus do they renew health and strength. To keep your system in healthy good working order, regulate it with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c all dealers or The Cattarrh-ozone Co., Montreal.

8-Year Old Chess Player.

An eight year old boy who whistles while he plays chess is amazing London, (Eng.), chess players, says a correspondent. Samuel Rzeszewski is the name of this child, and he is the wonderful 8-year-old chess prodigy from Poland who has been amazing the Continent by beating grown-up experts wholesale. Chess is a sort of instinct with him; obviously it no more worries him to play than it worries the average small boy to throw a ball about. Now and then he will pause and consider things for a moment or two, but for the most part his mind works like a flash. It is his opponents who sit with wrinkled brows, while he sits and swings his little legs—and whistles. His greatest feat so far has been to play 25 people at the same time and beat 21 of them.

What One of the Best Known Travellers in Canada Says.

"Now I am going to give you an unsolicited testimonial, as they say in the patent medicine advertising. Heretofore I have had a profound contempt for patent medicines, particularly so-called liniments. Perhaps this is due to the reason that I have been blessed with a sturdy constitution, and have never been ill a day in my life. One day last fall after a hard day's tramp in the snow of Montreal, I developed a severe pain in my legs and of course like a man who has never had anything wrong with him physically I complained rather boisterously. The good little wife says: 'I will rub them with some liniment I have.'" "Go ahead," I said, just to humor her. "Well, in she comes with a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT and gets busy. Believe me the pain disappeared a few minutes after, and you can tell the world I said so."

BE ON YOUR GUARD IF BOOK-AGENT "ACCIDENTALLY" DROPS HIS PENCIL!

The last time a book agent cornered you, do you remember whether he dropped his pencil during the conversation? If he did, it probably wasn't an accident, but just an example of applied psychology, says the New York Sun.

The worst obstacle a book agent has to overcome is to get the prospective customer to sign on the dotted line, and often the mere offering of a pencil causes him to draw back. One of the agent's problems, therefore, is to get a pencil into your hand so that it will be there at the moment of decision.

So he drops his pencil. In nine cases out of ten the innocent victim will stoop and pick it up as an act of courtesy. That is the agent's cue to have both hands engaged so that he cannot take the pencil back, and he will keep right on talking until you forgot about it.

Finally he works up to the climax, points to the dotted line and, lo and behold, you have a pencil in your hand all ready to do the trick.

PRINCIPLES WHICH TEND TO MAKE THE HOME LIFE IDEAL

I am engaged to be married in the near future, and my fiance and I have discussed what constitutes an ideal home," writes a young woman. "As we have not been able to reach any definite conclusions, we will deem it a favor if you will write on how to make an ideal home for a couple in modern circumstances.

If I must lay down certain definite principles for the making of a happy home, there are five, which if followed conscientiously, will make for certain success: the spirit to give and take and respect for each other's rights; perfect frankness; mutual appreciation; a definite plan of life for present and future, and children in the home.

No two persons can live together happily and harmoniously unless both are willing to give and take. In many marriages, there is too much selfishness on one side. The husband believes that he is supreme in the family and that everything must go his way, or it may be the wife who is domineering, and who assumes that after she has attached her husband to her legally, she can treat him as she likes. In no form of human relationship does the spirit of co-operation count for more than in marriage, and the adjustment of mutual rights. No institution requires a greater exercise of intelligence. It takes ming as well as heart to be a successful husband or wife.

Concealment Breeds Distrust.

Whenever a husband or wife adopts a policy of concealment, that immediately breeds distrust. Husbands and wives must have no secrets from each other. Honesty and candor are the very foundation stones of mutual happiness. Time after time I have heard wives say, "Now, if I can just do this without my husband finding it out, I will be all right." Nothing could be more foolish. Members of one family inevitably discover and lay bare all forms of treachery practiced by another. You may be able to conceal something from your next door neighbor, but you cannot keep secrets from one of your own household. That is one situation when "murder will out." If a woman discovers that her husband is not dealing honestly and squarely with her, or if a husband finds out that his wife is concealing something from him, from that moment, there is unrest, dissatisfaction in the home.

Courting days are punctuated with a delightful exchange of courtesies and compliments. Why not in married life? Men look to their wives for encouragement, for appreciation of their efforts. You can hardly drag a man away from a woman who gives his generous appreciation. But let her fail to satisfy that craving, and he is likely to look for it outside his home. The woman, too, longs for her husband to reiterate his love and devotion. She expects a compliment of her new dress. She likes to be told that the dinner is good. That she is "the best little wife in the world and the cleverest," is music to her ears. It is the rare woman who does not respond generously to appreciation. It is the bread of life to her.

Start With a Plan.

In order to insure harmony in the present and happiness in the future, every young couple should formulate a definite plan of life, and not only form it, but stick to it. Too many young people enter into marriage without a definite plan of how they can live and what they can spend. Just as soon as possible, every couple should acquire its own home. In all matters of investment into full confidence. Wives should encourage saving and give their hearty co-operation in the building of the family fortunes. Building for the future forms a strong tie between a man and a woman. It ceases the sense of mutuality and furnishes the powerful motive for fidelity to their marriage vows.

No husband and wife, I believe, achieve complete happiness in marriage when they bar children from their scheme of things. Men and women who fix their choice on worldly pleasures and "personal freedom" sell their souls for a lot of dross. A beautiful, healthy, intelligent child is a perennial joy in the household. Sacrifice is no longer sacrificial when it is made for a child. Painful effort and fatigue lose their sting when a child is the beneficiary. A thousand delights and satisfactions are vouchsafed to parents that the childless never dream of.

"In creating happiness for this woman I am marrying, I shall find my own," a man wrote to me recently. There is the secret of the "ideal home."

The History of Your Name

REID.
VARIATIONS—Reed, Read, Redman.
RACIAL ORIGIN—Anglo-Saxon.

There is no more elemental human trait than the tendency toward the use of descriptive nicknames. Indeed, in a sense, all names originally were nicknames, since the first use of any name either as a given name or a surname, was definitely descriptive of some distinguished peculiarity in the person to whom it was applied.

And in this connection it is classes of our population today, ranging from the schoolboy and the college youth to the burglar and gunman, the descriptive nickname and gunman, the descriptive nickname is more commonly used than the true family name. Thus, even now, we have our Reddy Jake, our Lefty Louie, and our Gyp the Blood.

The first use of the surname Reid in England of the Middle Ages is traceable directly to this elemental human trait. The word is Anglo-Saxon. It means "red." In fact it is the same word. The old spelling was "rede." The old records contain many such entries of names as "Hamo le Rede," "John Redehad," "Adam de Redmaye," "Robert Redman" and the like.

The fact that Reid, as well as the single-syllable variation of the name, are not spelled Red is due to the fact that very shortly after surnames became hereditary rather than descriptive, people forgot the original truth of the descriptive association and accepted them merely as names. It was through this period, too, that spelling was in no wise standardized and largely a matter of the individual writer's whim.

It is said that in the days of Pharaoh there was a canal between the Red Sea and the Nile.

GOOD JOKES

DIDN'T NEED RETOUCHING.

Friend (who photographs)—I was very much pleased with the negative I got of Miss Loveleigh.
Jack Poppington—I wasn't with the one I got.

BEYOND HIS CAPACITY.

He's in for a big disappointment this summer.
"What's the reason?"
He imagines he is going to play real golf this year.

SAVING IN LITTLE THINGS.

These chain stores must do a wonderful business.
Yes, I just heard of one concern that saves money buying soda fountains by the gross.

WON'T REFORM.

What will you do when smoking becomes a crime?
Go to jail, I suppose.

MERELY PRACTISING.

Did you ever love before, George, dear?
Yes, darling—once. But only in a small way.

A MOVIE HIGHBROW.

Robert Vignola, the motion picture director, has a friend who runs a theatre in a small town near by. Recently this man wrote to Mr. Vignola asking his opinion of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."
"Is this another one of those cowboy pictures?" he demanded. "I am getting tired of them. Four cowboys is too much, anyhow, but I will book it if Tom Mix or William S. Hart is one of them."

PROPRIETIES.

"Hiram," said Mrs. Cornfossil, "I want you to promise me one thing."
"What's that?"
"When you go to the big town, pass all your spare time in the theatre. I don't want you in the street strolling at them fashionable dressed ladies."

GARDEN ECONOMY.

"Working in the garden gives you an appetite."
"There's the trouble," replied Mr. Crosslots. "What I raise doesn't begin to pay for the extra food I have to eat."

GIVE HER TIME.

She impatiently—The medium seems to have trouble getting connections with the spirit world.
He—Just calm yourself! It won't be long. She used to be an operator in the telephone exchange.

AND THEN HE DID.

Visitor (who has been refused admittance)—But are you sure you gave your mistress my name correctly?
Maid—Yes, sir. I says, "Please, 'ere's Mr. Bird." "Ho," she says, "well, tell him to o' pit."

C. N. R. AND G. T. R. MILEAGE BOOKS NOW GOOD ON EITHER RAILWAY.

One of the practical advantages of co-ordination of Canadian National and Grand Trunk lines of railway, is shown by a recent order which enables the use of mileage books, issued by one road on the trains of the other company if desired.

Previously, if a business man were travelling, from Toronto to Ottawa, for example, his Canadian National "book" would be valid to that point. But if he wished to continue his journey to Montreal over the Grand Trunk, it would not have been good on the G. T. R. train.

The order just issued wipes out the distinction, in a mileage-book sense, between C. N. R. and G. T. R. books issued by the Grand Trunk are good over all eastern lines of the Canadian National and, likewise, those issued by the C. N. R. are valid on the trains of the G. T. R. One capital outlay takes the place of two which should be a matter of satisfaction to the travelling public.

Friendship is a beautiful thing, but nevertheless many a man has been boosted into prominence by his enemies.

The silver mining methods of Peru are much the same as practiced when Pizarro conquered the country four centuries ago.

DEDICATED TO EVERY BOY AND GIRL IN CANADA

R. R. No. 2, Mossley.
Dear Aunt June—I have been reading your letters for some time and thought I would like to join the Club to send my name and address. I would like you to send me a badge.
CYRIL PIGRAM.

Dear Cyril—I am keeping your stamped envelope until you write and tell me of some of the things I am sure you must do every day to help others. It is one of the rules of the League that you do what you can to help others so as soon as you write to me I will be able to send you a badge.

R. R. No. 1 Chippewa Hill.
Dear Aunt June—I am a girl ten years old. I go to school and am in the junior third class. I like school very much. I help my mother by washing dishes, clean the lamps, sweep the floor and get dinner and supper on Saturdays. In the weekdays I just have time to get supper ready and do my homework. I will be eleven years on August 28th. I would like to correspond with someone who would like to write and I will gladly answer.
EVA DONALDSON.

Dear Eva—I would like to send you a badge as I have to tell quite a number of Helpers this week. I cannot do so until you send me a three-cent stamp. If you send this the badge will come right along. Thank you for your interesting letter. I am sure some of the Helpers will be glad to write to you. Will some Helper of Eva's age please write to her?
TEESWATER.

Dear Aunt June—This is my first letter to your club. As I have been ill all winter I was not able to go to school. I enjoy your letters very much. I am eight years old and in the second book. The next time I will tell you about my dolls and pets.
BROWN EYES.

Dear Brown Eyes—I am so sorry to see that you have been ill all winter and hope that with the spring weather you will be able to get out and feel quite well again. Do write to me and tell me about your dolls and pets. I am sure all the other Helpers would like to hear about them too.
NANTICOKE.

Dear Aunt June—We get the paper every week and I read the Boys' and Girls' corner. These letters are always so interesting I thought I would like to join your club. I am thirteen years old and am in the fourth class. I am going to try my entrance this year. I milk three cows every night and like milking. I have one brother and also one sister. We live one and a half miles from school. Our teacher's name is Miss Brown. Wishing the club success.
ADA B. WATTS.

Dear Ada—See my letters to Mildred and Norma and you will find that as you did not send a stamp I cannot send a badge.
COBAIT.

Dear Aunt June—I am ten years old and in the senior third class at school. I am a girl guide and would like to correspond with a girl who has written sometime ago saying that she was a girl guide. While mother was sick I did all the house work. I wash and dry dishes, sweep, dust, scrub and do other little chores. I noticed a letter from Hepworth and I thought I would tell you that Grandma and some girl friends of mine live there on R. R. No. 2 line. I spend my summer holidays at grandma's. While there I milked, brought the cows up, separated, picked plums and other things. Grandpa took my brother Harold and my self to Lake Huron which is about five miles from grandpa's.

EDNA E. CAMPBELL.

Dear Edna—I should love to send a badge to such a splendid little Helper but you forgot to enclose the stamp. If you send it along I will send you a badge. I hope you will write to me again and let me know how you spend your holidays this summer. Will the other girl guide who wrote to the Helpers' League please write to Edna?
WHEATLEY.

Dear Aunt June—I have been reading your letters and I thought I would like to join your club. I wash dishes, scrub, bake, churn, milk, iron and wash clothes. I will be twelve in June. I also take care of my little sister. Yours sincerely, ELLEEN SMITH.

Dear Elleen—I am glad to be able to send you a badge as you are such a good little Helper. Let me hear from you again some time won't you.
WHEATLEY.

Dear Aunt June—I have been reading your letters for some time and thought I would like to join. I milk, wash dishes, help get the meals, can bake cookies and cakes. I don't have far to go to school as it is on the corner of our place. The next time I write I will tell you more about our school.
EDNA SNYDER.

Dear Edna—I am sending you a badge and am glad to welcome you as a member of the League. I hope you will soon find time to write to me about your school.
WHEATLEY.

Dear Aunt June—I wash dishes and take care of my little sister and brother. Mama says she is going to houseclean in the Easter holidays so I can help her. I clean the kitchen floor. I am ten years old in May. I set the tables and clean it off. I clean the lamps. Yours sincerely,
MABLE CREWE.

Dear Mable—I am glad you are such a splendid little Helper and I am sending you a badge which I hope will reach you quite safely. Let me hear from you again after Easter won't you?
MOSSLEY.

Dear Aunt June—I am a girl eleven years old and go to school every day with my brother and sister. I have four sisters but only one brother. I help with the dishes, can sweep the floors, dust and love to bake. I have made several cakes. I took second prize at the school fair for a layer cake. I help milk in the summer, clean lamps and make beds and help mother get meals when home from school. I am the eldest girl so must help when I can. I must close wishing all the boys and girls every success.

VERNA M. NEWELL.
Dear Verna—I am very glad to be able to send a badge to such a busy little Helper as I know you will be worthy of it. I think it splendid of you getting a prize for a layer cake. Do you know that your Aunt June could not bake one and I am sure could never get a prize? I hope you will write to me again sometime—especially if you get any more prizes. I love to hear of that and know that my Helpers are getting on well.

WHEATLEY.
Dear Aunt June—I have been reading your letters and thought I would like to join your club. I wash dishes, churn, clean lamps and scrub.

HELEN SMITH.
Dear Helen—I have quite a lot of Members for the League from Wheatley this time and am glad to be able to send you a badge as well as the others for being such a very good Helper. I hope you will like it and will always wear it.

DODGINS, QUEBEC.
Dear Aunt June—I would like very much to get a badge. I am six years old and go to school. I carry water for mamma and mind my baby brother. Sometimes I wash or dry the dishes. I go to the office for the mail.
BERNICE MAY ARMSTRONG.

Dear Aunt June—We get the paper every week and I like very much to hear the letters read. I am eight years old. I help do the chores. I clean the stable, carry in wood and water and go to the office with my sister.
GERALD ARMSTRONG.

Dear Bernice and Gerald—I am sending you both a badge and am glad to welcome you as members of the League. I should like you both to write to me again sometime and tell me how you are getting on at school and what games you play or what pets you have.
ARMELET, SASK.

Dear Aunt June—I like others wish to join the club. I go to school every day as my parents wish me to have a good education. I am in the seventh grade. When I come home from school I get supper and wash the dishes, then I do my homework. In the summer holidays I did a lot of chores for my father and mother. I have four brothers and two sisters. The chores I do for my father are drive a team and stook-rack at threshing time. I also take care of my own two horses such as feed and water them. The chores I do for mother are: wash the dishes, set the table, sweep and wash floors, dust and sometimes bake. I would like if some of the girls of my own age, fourteen years, would write to me as I do not get many letters. Wishing the club every success.
ANNA SMELTZER.

Dear Anna—I am sure some of the Helpers of your own age will be very glad to write to you when they read your very interesting letter. I am sending you a badge which I hope reaches you safely. Let me know if any Helper writes to you as I like to feel that our corner is making new friends for you all. I hope to hear from you again some time.
WILL SOME HELPER OF FOURTEEN YEARS PLEASE WRITE TO ANNA?

WINGHAM.
Dear Aunt June—I am a little girl of five and a half years old and I like to hear the letters read to me from the other boys and girls. I am going to start to school soon and I help my mamma do a lot of things. I can dust, wash and dry dishes, go over the floors with a dust mop and I feed and water the chickens. I have a black horse called Bessie and a black dog called Dixie and a pet pigeon Polly. I would like a badge if you think I am old enough. My mother writes for me as I cannot.
BLACK EYES.

Dear Little Black Eyes—I am so very sorry not to be able to send you a badge right away as you are such a wonderful little Helper, but mother and you forgot to put a stamp in your letter for the badge. If you will send me a three-cent stamp I will send you a badge right away. I am proud to have such a splendid little Helper. I wonder how you will like going to school. You must write to me just as soon as you can so that I can see how you are getting on with your writing. Thank you for telling me about your pets. I think they sound very nice.
PAISLEY.

Dear Aunt June—Seeing your corner I thought I would write. I am fifteen years old and I stopped school two years ago. I have worked on the farm since I left school. I was presented with a medal by Mr. Tom McDonald for working on the farm as a S. O. S. and I filled in the form which was sent me and I received a beautiful certificate. I clean the stable every day besides doing the milking and do any other job assigned me to do. Yours sincerely,
SOLDIER OF THE SOIL.
Dear Soldier of the Soil—I am very proud to have you a member of the Club and to send you a badge. I think it perfectly splendid of you to have earned a medal and a certificate for your own work on the farm. Write to me again and tell me how you are getting along as I shall be very interested to hear.

CUTICURA HEALS SISTER'S ECZEMA

In Rash All Over Body. Burned And Itched. Could Not Rest.

"My little sister had eczema all over her body. It came like a rash, and was burning and itching. She could get no rest, and we would have to wet her clothing to take it off. She was cross and irritable, and the breaking out caused disfigurement. She had the eczema about five months when we tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. We could see she was getting relief, and we just used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment when she was healed." WEALTH IN BEADS

Natives of Borneo Possess Choicest and Most Valuable.

The natives of Borneo possess the choicest and most valuable beads in the world. In some cases these beads are very old, having been kept for generations, in one family. They are regarded as heirlooms and it is difficult to persuade their owners to sell them. A rich chief usually possesses old beads to the value of thousands of dollars, and his young children are carried out in a kind of cradle which is adorned with beads, usually to the value of $1,000.

RHEUMATISM

IS YOURS ACUTE OR CHRONIC?
In either case you'll get such results from good old "Nerviline" which has five times the pain destroying power of ordinary remedies. Nerviline gives results because it penetrates to the source of the pain, because it contains ingredients that destroy rheumatic pains. It is the usually bad case that proves the power of Nerviline. Suited for young and old; used internally and externally for many purposes, 36c at all dealers.

An Oil of Merit—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is not a jumble of medicinal substances thrown together and pushed by advertising, but the result of the careful investigation of the curative qualities of certain oils as applied to the human body. It is a rare combination and it won and kept public favor from the first. A trial of it will carry conviction to any who doubt its power to repair and heal.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

BY MISS ROSALIND

Registered According to the Copyright Act.

Miss Rosalind welcomes letters from young women asking for advice on any subject. All you have to do is to address your letter to

MISS ROSALIND,

34 King William St. Hamilton, Ont.

Perplexed Lonely One—It is possible that girls your own age are a bit afraid of your mature manner. Try to win one of the younger girls as a friend by forgetting yourself and becoming really interested in her. The others will follow.

Sweetheart—You should keep with the crowd for a few years yet.

Dimples—Why not keep both friends? You can have two or more just as easily as one.

Dear Pops—You will have to get some friends to help you. Somebody who knows the young man and will arrange to have you meet him and improve your acquaintance.

Dear Tedy—Always consider the color of your eyes when choosing dress colors. I think I understand your feelings regarding the new neighbors. Be considerate and kindly, but you do not need to be intimate. It may surprise you to discover a real friend though if you are patient and tasteful.

Dear Dolly—Don't bother with any "steady." Just be happy having a good time with the crowd. It is correct to ask a boy to call. If you have enjoyed a dance or skate, say so, but don't be gushingly grateful; for the boy should appreciate the pleasure you have given him.

Dear Quartette—It would be permissible to write after a reasonable time to see if the letter had miscarried. I do not see why a boy friend should not have a snap shot, the same as a girl friend.

If a girl's parents object to her having a boy friend walk home with her, the easiest explanation is the truth.

I would suggest that the girl refuse laughingly to allow one boy to always claim the honor of escorting her home.

There are so many pretty ways for fifteen and sixteen-year-olds to dress the hair, it seems a pity to do it "up" before one is eighteen.

Dear Lover One—If the young man is in a good financial position and your parents agree, I think you are quite old enough to marry, since you have been engaged nearly two years.

Dear Gypsy Girl—I wish some of the lonelies would take your example—to chochet, knit, bake, sew and read and I am sure they, too, would find themselves never lonesome.

Answer the boy's letter. Tell your grandmother you are doing so. Begin by saying Dear Jack and close—yours sincerely. You cannot visit says No. Say. Then may I have the pleasure of taking you home or words to that effect. If she says she has already made arrangements. Just smile and say you are sorry, but hope for better luck next time.

Conversations usually suggest their own topics. Keep them general: books, shows, well-known people and so on.

Dear Gogey—I don't think you are too young for boy friends. But you are much too young for any foolish nonsense about love affairs. Better talk it over with mother and do as she wishes.

Dear Monty—I enjoyed your letter. It made me homesick for a gallop over the prairie. I never was long enough in the mountains to learn to ride straight up them; but I sure did have some good times on a Saskatchewan broncho. Tell the boy that you need a lot of friends, but have no use at all for lovers. If he can be sensible, all right. Send your name and address on a stamped envelope and I'll send you some easterner names.

ROSALIND.

TENNYSON'S HOME FOR SALE.

If atmosphere in poetry counts there seems to be a remarkable opportunity, for some poet of the new generation in the announcement that Aldworth, furnished very much as Tennyson left it, is to be sold, observed a correspondent. It may be objected that such a house is suitable rather for the arrival of an "arrived" poet than for the workshop of one who has still to make the world listen; but that might be got over if some philanthropist would take over the house and establish there a colony of budding poets. Aldworth surely, cannot lack inspiration, even for the budding genius, of today who affects to consider Tennyson "Victorian."

HOW RHEUMATISM CAN BE OVERCOME

NOT BY RUBBING, BUT BY ENRICHING THE BLOOD.

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with acid and impurities, thus setting up inflammation in the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather may start the tortures of rheumatism, but it is not the cause. The cause is in the blood. Victims of this malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints, followed by sharp pains through the flesh and muscles; these are the symptoms of poison in the blood, which will shortly leave the victim pain-racked and helpless. Liniments, hot applications and rubbing may give temporary ease, but cannot possibly root the trouble out of the system. That can only be done by enriching the blood. This new blood drives out the poisonous impurities, and the rheumatism disappears. If you are a sufferer from this painful malady, begin the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and see how soon the pains and stiffness of the joints fade away. Among those who have benefited by the use of these pills is Mr. Freeman Irving, Baxter Harbor, N. S., who says: "Some time ago my blood was in a terrible condition, leaving me very much run down, and with boils breaking out on my body. To add to my misery rheumatism set in, and I not only suffered greatly from the pain, but could only get around with the greatest difficulty. After trying several medicines without much success, I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, as they had been warmly recommended to me. I think I used nine boxes altogether, but the results met my every expectation, as both the boils and the rheumatism disappeared. Naturally I feel that I cannot praise the pills too highly."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Poor Man's Friend—Put up in small bottles that are easily portable and sold for a very small sum, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil possesses power in concentrated form. Its cheapness and the varied uses to which it can be put make it the poor man's friend. No dealer's stock is complete without it.

The total estimated value of the metal and mineral production of Canada in 1919 was $170,075,818, which is less than the total value reached during each of the three preceding years.

ASPARAGUS POSSIBLE FOR EVERY GARDEN

Most people relish the flavor of asparagus and it is considered more or less as a rare or dainty vegetable, largely because so few people grow it. For the home garden few vegetables provide such an excellent supplement for the table, while for the commercial market garden there are few crops that can be made more profitable.

The best way to start a bed is probably to get good strong one-year-old plants and set them in rows about two feet and a half by five feet apart. Healthy, stocky plants only should be used, and all weakly, spindly ones discarded. It is also possible to start the bed from seed, or to buy two or three-year-old crowns, but the one-year-old plants are probably best. If starting from seed, about one ounce of seed is required for 100 feet of row. Not a large patch is required to supply the average family, because asparagus should be cut every day throughout the cutting season.

Any rich, sandy loam garden soil in good condition will be satisfactory for asparagus, but it should not be planted on stony or gravelly soil. Worked soils are not satisfactory, as asparagus is a gross feeder and requires a soil in good heart and well supplied with manure. Many vegetable growers annually apply from 25 to 50 tons of first-class manure per acre to this crop immediately after the cutting season is over. Manure is applied at this time because this is the time that the plant begins to store up plant food and prepare the shoots for the crop and following spring. On small plots the manure should be applied three or four inches deep. In the spring a light sprinkling of nitrate of soda will hasten the crop along.

Thorough preparation should precede planting in the spring, and after the soil is prepared a V-shaped furrow should be made six or eight inches deep. If more than one is required a distance of five feet between furrows should be allowed to permit of easy cultivation and to provide for the spreading of the roots. The plants can then be set and earth drawn around them, leaving the remainder of the furrow to be filled in by subsequent cultivation. If crowns are used they should be set eight or 10 inches deep and covered with three or four inches of earth, which should be firmly tramped down. Planting may be done as soon in the spring as danger from severe frosts is over. During the following summer weeds should be kept down by frequent hoeing and scuffling. In old patches that are four or five years old and scuffling should be used as long as the tops will permit during the summer while in early spring the land should be disked lightly as soon as it is fit. After the cutting season is over a thorough disking should be given to a depth of three or four inches so that the soil will be loosened and the heavy coat of manure well worked into the soil.

Nearly everyone knows that the part of the asparagus plant that is eaten in the part that appears above ground in early spring. These shoots, which are very tender, are cut off below the ground about an inch and a half by means of a long knife. Each stalk or shoot should be cut separately, of course, and it is best to hold the knife close to the shoot, so as to make a long, sloping cut. This is advisable in order that young sprouts that have not yet appeared above the ground may not be injured. Only those shoots that are above the ground six inches should be cut.

TOO ILL TO GO TO SCHOOL

Mother Tells how Daughter was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cobourg, Ont.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me for my daughter. She had trouble every month which left her in a weak and nervous condition with weak back and pain in her right side. She had these troubles for three years and frequently was unable to attend school. She has become regular and feels much better since she began taking the Vegetable Compound and attends school regularly. She is gaining steadily and I have no hesitancy in recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine."—MRS. JOHN TOMS, Ball St., Cobourg, Ont.

Standing all day, or sitting in cramped positions, young girls contract deranged conditions, and develop headaches, backache, irregularities, nervousness and bearing-down pains, all of which are symptoms of woman's ills. Every mother who has a daughter suffering from such symptoms should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

W. W. Livingstone
CARLISLE, ONTARIO

THE MAELSTROM

BY FRANK FROST.
Late Superintendent of the Criminal Investigation
Department of Scotland Yard.

"You see," he went on, "unless we prove these other people accessories there is only one person whose neck is in jeopardy. That's the actual murderer. He probably wouldn't object to save himself by another murder. But the others are not going to that length if they can help it. They intend, I imagine, to try and bottle him up till Smith is discharged and the whole boiling of them make a clean getaway."

"But," objected Congreve, "Royal's evidence alone will convict the man." "Maybe they don't understand that," retorted Menzies. "Anyway we won't worry yet. I'm going on to Ludford Road. I shall want you to go back and swear out a search-warrant in case it's wanted. Also have that note properly done up and photographed. You might get a paper merchant to examine a piece of the paper. There's just a chance we might find out when it was bought and who bought it. You can get an all-night tramcar at the end of the road. Leave the taxi for me. I'll have to change again."

An hour later a plump, ruddy-faced man, smoking a clay pipe, and with his hands thrust deep in his trousers pockets, slouched along Ludford Road. The loosened shoulders, the shuffling gait, the unpolished down-heeled boots (one of them laced with string), all told of the practical vagrant. Yet Weir Menzies had not disguised himself in the sense that disguise would be understood by those whose knowledge of Scotland Yard is derived from the books and newspapers.

His face was untouched by grease-paint he wore no wig nor false beard. He was just Weir Menzies, as he might have been if fortune had made him a tramp. Yet he bore little superficial resemblance to the Weir Menzies, Esq., churchwarden of All Saints, Upper Tooting, or the Mr. Weir Menzies, chief inspector of the criminal investigation department.

His hair had been rubbed up until it looked as if it had not seen brush or comb for a month and was surmounted by a battered Trilby hat. He had rubbed his hands on a door-mat and then on his face to prevent any suspicion of unnatural cleanliness. His neat mustache had been combed out till it hung down ragged and bristly. His clothes were shabby and no two garments matched. They might have been given him at different times by charitable householders.

There was nothing which could betray his assumed character. Indeed, any accident to clothes or person would but increase his disreputability.

Twice he shuffled up and down the street, the second time meeting a policeman who passed and without saying anything watched him out of sight. The two met again a quarter of an hour later, and this time the constable was not so forbearing. He turned his bull-eyes full on the tramp and surveyed him up and down. It was at the back of his mind that he might have a charge "loitering with intent to commit a felony."

"What's the game, Isaacstein? What are you hanging around for?" he demanded. And because he had been trained not to take risks, his hand gripped the grooved collar of the nondescript and administered a slight warning shake.

One hundred and eighty pounds of trained policeman took the pavement with a thud. He sat up ruefully and with a wrath. One does not expect a rickety middle-aged tramp to have a working knowledge of Ju-Jitsu. And it astonished him still more that his assailant remained instead of taking advantage of the opportunity and making a dash for freedom.

"All right," he growled and advanced cautiously. "Don't make a fool of yourself, my man," said the tramp, authoritatively. "I'm C. I. Walk on quiet to the corner and I'll show you my warrant card."

The constable hesitated. He was young and this was beyond his experience. But the authority of the voice shook him and he obeyed the order. Within five minutes he learned how near he had been to committing a bad mistake.

"I'm sorry, sir," he apologized. "I didn't know." "That's all right," said Menzies. "Of course you didn't. I'm not blaming you. Now you hang on to this corner for half an hour. I'll be responsible to your superiors. Just stand here and keep your eyes and ears open in case I should want you."

He had straightened up during the conversation, but now he became again the shambling hobo. A clock somewhere had just chimed six, and he judged that there might be a chance to commence operations.

He moved furtively up to the door of number one hundred and forty and rang the bell. Twice he had to repeat the summons before there was any movement within. Then a window was flung up above and a woman's voice demanded the business of the man who was ringing the bell.

Menzies's answer was to press the bell again. He had no very definite plan in his mind. His was merely a reconnoitring expedition. He wanted the door opened and had no intention of carrying on a conversation with the lady up-stairs, whoever she was, at the top of his voice. He was shielded from her sight by the porch, and he did not offer to step out.

The window closed with a bang and there were sounds of some one moving. Presently the door opened, and the pleasant-faced woman who had met Hallett confronted the detective. "Are you a bit you could spare a pore man, lidy?" he whined. "I've been walkin' all night an' nothing 'as passed by lips since yesterday." The pleasant-faced lady frowned. She had a dogged chin and a wide mouth and was quite obviously not the sort of person to be played with. "I've got nothing for you," she snapped, perhaps with excusable viciousness for one who had been dragged out of bed by a beggar. She flung the door to forcefully. Menzies's foot, however, was a shade the quicker as he thrust it in the opening.

"Why Gwennie," she said, smilingly in his natural voice; "this is a nice welcome for an old friend. Don't you remember me? I'm Weir Menzies."

She gave a quick exclamation and pulled the door back. Her face did not for a moment bear any very noticeable expression of delight at the reunion. That, however, was only for a second. The next instant she had thrust out her hand with a bright smile.

"Why, so it is! Who'd have thought of seeing you here—and in a rig like that? Come right in, Mr. Menzies. I am glad to see you."

"After you, Gwennie," said Menzies, politely, but firmly. "Lead the way. Never mind the door. I'll shut it."

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion you have already tried papain, pancreatin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, or milk, but the pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now cause your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little Bisurated Magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger or pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

ENGLISH GIRLS WHO WORK

SOME SEEK JOBS FROM NECESSITY OTHERS THROUGH AMBITION.

The Society Woman Strives Hardest of All to Attain Qualities Enabling Her to Advance in Social Realm.

The life of the English girl who has not the father's checkbook at command for everything that her whim and fancy suggests is not different from that of the girls in other civilized countries. Of late, however, it may be noticed that English girls are exceedingly eager to get away from housework and to earn their living in every possible occupation but the one it was thought women are particularly designed for by nature.

With the exception of rough work, which requires very muscular men, they invade all imaginable activities. They flood counting rooms, constitute a steadily growing majority of the hands in industrial shops, and not a few have a burning ambition to shine in the learned professions. Colleges and universities are crowded with prospective physicians, naturalists, philologists and theologians.

Some Prompted by Pique.

It would appear that this desire to occupy a place in the world of learning is not always prompted by the necessity of pursuing a vocation that would secure daily subsistence, but that a kind of pique against the stronger sex is a contributing cause.

Besides this class of English women who work from necessity or ambition, there is a class who are not spurred by either motive. These are the women of high rank and great wealth. Their aim is to cut a figure in society. This is not quite as easy as some might be inclined to believe, for a position in these circles requires many accomplishments. Mere amateurish performance in the literature of all nations that have produced great poets and writers in the minimum of attainments. They also must have a full speaking knowledge of the most important modern languages. And if in the course of conversation Horace and Virgil is quoted it must not have a strange sound to their ears.

Cooking a New Study.

With such burdens it would not appear likely that young women would be inclined to take some more upon themselves. But they strive for a new accomplishment. This is the useful art of cooking. The boarding schools for wealthy kitchens where the girls are seen handling pots and pans, baking, stewing and frying.

What originated this idea with them is to some a mystery, which they try to explain as a mere fad which, like all other fancies, soon will disappear. This insinuation is stoutly repelled by the young woman, who says that they learn cooking from a sense of duty, awakened in them by the late war.

A SPLENDID MEDICINE FOR THE CHILDREN

Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine a mother can give her little ones. They are a mild laxative which quickly regulate the bowels and stomach and are guaranteed to be entirely free from any injurious drugs. Concerning them Mrs. A. D. West, Loreburn, Sask., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets have given me more satisfaction than anything else I have ever given my children. They are easily taken; always work well and though I have given quite a few to my baby they seem to work as well now as at first, which is something other laxatives seldom do." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE CONTROL OF CUT-WORMS.

The best method of controlling cut-worms in gardens is by the application of a poison bait, made as follows: Twenty pounds of bran and half a pound of Paris green are thoroughly mixed in a wooden vessel, while dry. One quart of cheap molasses is dissolved in two and a half gallons of water, the solution added to the poisoned bran. The whole is then stirred so as to thoroughly moisten the bran. In small gardens the following proportions may be used: One quart bran, one teaspoonful of Paris green, one pound molasses and sufficient water to moisten the bran. The mixture is scattered thinly along the rows in the garden at dusk, as soon as the cut-worm injury is noticed.

IT WORKS WONDERS ON COLDS, CATARRH BRONCHITIS, WEAK THROAT

When your throat rattles, your lungs and chest are sore, your throat is stuffed with cold—don't fear consumption—use Catarrhzone and get well. It clears the throat, stops hacking, relieves tight chest and soreness in the bronchial tubes. To clear away Catarrh of the nose nothing could be better. Catarrhzone is Nature's own remedy—it heals and soothes—removes every form of throat, lung and bronchial trouble. Prescribed by many specialists and used by thousands every day. Get the dollar outfit; it lasts two months. Small size, 50c; trial size 25c; at all dealers or the Catarrhzone Co., Montreal.

Peevish, pale, restless, and sickly children owe their condition to worms. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will relieve them and restore health.

YOUR EYES AND THEIR CARE

By Dr. Hal. Brown, Specialist. Take care of baby's eyes. Insist that extreme care be taken to prevent infection of baby's eyes at the time of its arrival. A very large percentage of the blind in public institutions are blind from lack of this elementary safeguard. Remember that all baby's surroundings should not be glaring white. Science teaches that softer tints are better.

Don't expose baby's eyes to the direct rays of the sun or any other bright light. Line the buggy shade with green.

Don't give a child toys that require near and acute vision. Big things are better.

Don't hesitate to have the eyes examined by an optometrist or eye specialist if there is any sign of crossed-eyes after the third birthday.

Don't be in too much of a hurry to scold Johnny if he is at the foot of the class. Like as not his eyes need attention and with proper glasses he'll be at the top.

Don't neglect the signs. All these conditions and more are frequently reflex symptoms of defective eyes.

Mrs. C. S.—I got glasses from an eye doctor who was going through this district but I am not satisfied, was it all right to let him examine my eyes?

Look with suspicion on any travelling "eye doctor" who comes to your door to sell glasses. Often such a man is not qualified to treat the eyes of a wax doll. Reputable optical specialists have permanent offices and seldom visit outside points in which case he will be able to show his license to practice from the government and other credentials.

If you have a question about your eyes, write direct to Dr. Brown, Adelaide street east, Toronto, and the answer will be given in this column.

The use of Miller's Worm Powders insures healthy children, so far as the ailments attributable to worms are concerned. A high mortality among children is traceable to worms. These save the strength of infants so that they are unable to maintain the battle for life and succumb to weakness. This preparation gives promise of health and keeps it.

STILL YOUNG.

The quest of youth has oft been made by learned men without success. Yet, when grandmother is arrayed from head to foot in modish dress. To see the way she trips along With nothing much upon her mind, You'd think—and maybe not be wrong— She hasn't left girlhood behind.

In Tokio, Japan, it is not unusual to see a week-old baby strapped on the back of a child of about eight and sent out to be jumbled about as its infant nurse disports itself with other children in the streets.

The Authority of Years

For over 50 years Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has helped thousands of women, to better health, greater strength, brighter spirits, better looks. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, (in tablet or liquid form) helps women to retain their youthful looks because it removes the cause of most of the troubles peculiar to women. It is a non-alcoholic tonic—invigorating and health-restoring—which has been so successfully used by American and Canadian womanhood.

Makes Weak Women Strong

DACRE, ONT.—"I am more than pleased with Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was run-down and so nervous that I could not even stay in the house alone in the daytime, and tried every kind of medicine I heard of, but got no result. One of my friends advised me to take 'Favorite Prescription'—said that it would cure me, and it did. After taking four bottles I felt like a new woman. It is also the very best medicine for a woman bringing up a family."—Mrs. JOSEPH BRAUDRY, Route 2.

AN HISTORIC PAGEANT.

250th Anniversary of Hudson Bay Company Marked.

With Indian fur brigades and York boats laden with peltries on Red river, council fires burning at Lower Fort Garry, and the smoke of the peace pipe scenting the air, the romance of wilderness days will live again at the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the Hudson Bay Company, which will be inaugurated in Winnipeg May 3.

Sir Robert Kindersley, G.B.E., latest of the distinguished line of Hudson Bay Company governors that began with Prince Rupert, valiant champion of the house of Stuart in the Cromwellian wars, will come from England and take part in the river pageant and in the subsequent street pageants which will be held successively in Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria.

The Red river pageant, which promises to be one of the most interesting historical spectacles ever staged in Canada, will start from the site of old Fort Garry, early capital of the company's once vast empire and about which Winnipeg grew, and pass down stream eighteen miles to Lower Fort Garry. Tricked out in bravery of paint, feathers and beaded buckskin, Indians from a dozen tribes will man York boats and canoes in fur brigade formation. To do honor to the company to which their ancestors paid loyal allegiance, Crees will come from the shores of Hudson Bay; Swampy Crees from James Bay, Ojibways from the Lake Superior fur country, plain Crees from Northern Saskatchewan, Blackfeet, Piegiens and Assiniboines from the prairies and the Rocky Mountains, and tribesmen from the Athabasca and British Columbia.

A flotilla of freight boats piled high with bales of furs will trail in the wake of the York boats in charge of factors and trappers in pioneer costumes. As it glides in long procession through a countryside famous in Hudson Bay traditions, past the site of old Fort Douglas, the scenes of Lord Selkirk's Red River settlements and the battlefield of Seven Oaks where Governor Semple and twenty men fell in conflict with their rivals of the Northwest Company, the pageant will seem to sail out of the past of 250 years ago.

When it reaches Lower Fort Garry, whose stone buildings and battlemented stone walls still preserve the picturesqueness of early days, two ancient brass cannons at the gate will boom a salute from their rusty throats. Within the walls of the old stronghold where the first treaty was signed between Canada and the western Indians in 1871, Governor Kindersley will seal anew the ancient friendship between the Redmen and the company by smoking the calumet of peace. The pipe, specially designed for the occasion, will bear carved upon its stem the totems of all the tribes and will be presented to the governor as a souvenir. Sir Robert will confer upon each of the braves a medal struck in honor of the anniversary, and at a council at which the Indians will squat upon the ground in a wide semi-circle, will reply to orations by the sachems and chieftains. After the speeches, the Indians will present a wampum belt to the governor in ratification of their pledges of fealty, and will partake of an old-fashioned feast.
