PURITY FLOUR

And Its Keeping Qualities

SOME people find it necessary to buy a considerable quantity of flour at one time—sufficient to last for a long period. Naturally they are anxious to procure a flour of the kind best adapted to lengthy storage.

There are two important reasons why PURITY FLOUR possesses these qualities. One is that it is made entirely from Manitoba Hard Wheat. The other lies in the fact that the careful milling necessary to produce "Purity" absolutely excludes all low-grade particles of the wheat berry. It is the high grade Manitoba Hard Wheat Flour that keeps its quality for lengthy storage.

That's "Purity."

"Purity" flour may cost a little more, but it is more than worth the difference. Try it. Watch results both for quality and yield.

Which Call?

Ma's call! from the milk-house. Call! call! Call! you can't get good for nothing. Come as church. Ma's call! from the corncrack. Call! call! Call! you can't get good for nothing. Come as church. Nature's call! from the trout-look. Call! call! Call! you can't get good for nothing. Come as church. Son, your tired, boy, feller. Come and fish. Stranger, if we just swapped places. Put it down. Which of all these call! Would you hear?

THE CONTENT.

There was much more of the same sort, followed by a letter signed by Roberts and said to have been prepared in consultation with his fellow deacons, in which what he called 'The True Facts of Dr. Gaunt's Case' were set forth, according to these facts the real reason why Gaunt had resigned the Mayfield Avenue church was nothing more or less than this, that his ministry had been a failure. It might be only a coincidence that the late pastor of that influential church had become a reformer only when he had fallen as a preacher; such coincidence certainly might happen, but Dr. Gaunt's former associates in the Mayfield Avenue church knew him too well to regard them as accidental. Butler smiled grimly when Gaunt showed him this article.

woman in scarlet tainment. 'The part as friends,' said Gaunt. But the old man drew away from him in anger, exclaiming that he would shake the hand of no man who was a traitor to the truth; and so Gaunt since more had to master. 'Poor fellow,' were other visitors too of a different type; people who came late at night because they had only a few minutes of leisure of the working-man. Many of them were of that intelligent and thoughtful type which may be found on Saturday night at the college institute—men with cultured tastes, who spoke of hard work, who had their narrow opportunities of social and political economy. They were all of them hostile to the church, and Gaunt's own discovery that the primary attraction he had for them was that he had broken with the church. But if they were hostile to the church, they were far from hostile to the man. They regarded Gaunt as the greatest of thinkers and reformers, who was crucified by the capitalist classes, who distorted the meanings of his Gospel, suppressed his real teachings, and finally murdered him. They were socialists in theory, and some of them might be justly called anarchists; but there was one distinguishing quality which he found in all of them, a real passion for humanity, a vehement desire for human betterment, a true sense of the part which collectivist ideas must play in the future reconstruction of Society. These are the best Christians I have yet met,' he said to Palmer. 'Of course,' Palmer answered. 'In their own way these men are feeling that Gaunt is a martyr, and they've turned from his views, how he sought out other men that he might save them, how five years ago he had bought a cart which he wheeled into the market-square every day at noon in all weathers, and preached his plain Gospel of instant salvation to all who would hear him. He's a man who has had a hard time of it, but he's a man who's never given up. I'm only a poor ignorant fellow, but in those five years I've seen two thousand men saved just as I was. And here in my city are scores of ministers, all good men, and with all kinds of learning, and they've never seen a man saved like that in years. Sir, how is it? Surely God would save a man with knowledge than a poor ignorant man like me, if only he'd let God use him. And so, sir, I thought I'd run up to New York, just to tell you this, by way of encouraging you. If God can use me in my poor way, He can use you in a much bigger way, and I believe He will, if you'll let Him.' Gaunt would gladly have kept this strange guest with him all night, but he refused.

'No,' he said, 'I must get back by the night train. I've got my work. But I'll tell my men I've seen you, and we'll all be praying for you to-morrow night.' The more Gaunt reflected on this story the more it affected him by its simple truth and pathos. But it did more than affect his emotions; it was to him a spiritual revelation. All that Palmer had said to him long before about his own sense of Jesus as a living presence came back to him with overwhelming force. Here were two men of widely different ages; one a young cultured, the other quite ignorant of all that the world calls knowledge; yet each had experienced the same revelation of Jesus as a personal friend; nay, far more, as a Saviour capable of loosening the bonds of sin, and creating new life in the human soul. He saw now, not quite for the first time, with intense lucidity of vision that the real dynamic of all service for others lay in this experience of Jesus as a living Saviour. It was for want of this dynamic that so many schemes of social service had failed, and without it his great League of Service would fail too.

What if this man's experience—his crude challenge to the unseen, the immediate response, the room filled with sunlight—was in the nature of the miraculous? Surely enough had occurred in his own life to make him tolerant of miracle. Had not he, in the rapid passage of his own life in these days, in all its unfolding of events, been conscious of an Unseen Steersman? Besides, there was always that for twenty centuries all kinds of men had testified to the same kind of experience which had suddenly lifted them from the depths of despair into a world of infinite light and joy. Cromwell had made the same confession; Augustine and Francis, Bunyan, Wesley, and millions of humble people whose names had perished. And then there was that remark about preachers which the man had made—how was it that these men, students of the Bible and its accepted expositions, had never witnessed that immediate deliverance of men from the bondage of their sin which he, ignorant street preacher as he was, had seen in two thousand instances? Could it

SAFE EVEN FOR CHILDREN

There is not a Trace of Opium or Morphine in 'Father Morriac's No. 10' (Lung Tonic).

A cough is merely a symptom of an irritated, inflamed or diseased condition of the air passages or the lungs themselves.

Many cough mixtures are simply preparations containing enough Opium, Morphine or similar drugs to deaden the irritation. They relieve the cough but they do not remove the underlying condition that caused it. Moreover any medicine containing morphine or opium is unsafe unless prescribed by a competent physician.

'Father Morriac's No. 10' (Lung Tonic) contains absolutely no drugs of any kind. It relieves a cough by removing the cause.

Made of Rootes, Bark and Balsams, Nature's own remedies, it clears the mucus from the passages, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, and strengthens the lungs and whole system so that they can throw off the cause of the cough. Thousands have proved it. Trial bottle 25c. Regular size 50c. At your dealer's, or from Father Morriac Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N. B.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., MAY 14, 1909.

The council of the town of Annapolis Royal appears to be a progressive body. Since their election in February last they have taken a decided attitude on the temperance question and bid fair to blot out the liquor business which has been the bane of their town, in common with many other towns of the province. Another most commendable step which they have taken, or are about to take, is the introduction of a curfew which will ring at eight o'clock in the evening in the winter and nine o'clock in the summer. The people of our sister town realize the dangers and temptations which beset a child on the streets at night even in a small town, and through their council are doing what they can to minimize the possibility of such harm. THE ACADIAN has a number of times advocated the putting into operation of a similar ordinance in our town, but thus far has not been able to get the citizens sufficiently interested to induce the council to act.

Of the 505 members of the Harvard University class of 1908-1909 engaged in some employment during their summer holidays. A hundred and eighty eight of them participated in philanthropic and social improvement work during their entire course. Three-fifths of the whole class got through college on from $5000 to $10,000 a year. The year after leaving the university every member of the class either has a lucrative position or is taking a post-graduate course. These statistics discount the impression that college life is largely given over to frivolities and worse. The facts thus tabulated likewise go to offset the statements frequently heard regarding the number of university graduates to be found among the derelicts of society.—Toronto News.

This week through the assistance of the Hants Journal, the public in this district has been re-versed with the anti-prohibition speeches of Premier Murray and his colleagues, who, like himself, are apparently 'viewing with alarm' the approach of the next Local Election. The Western Chronicle, Kentville, also has the cause of the Government's 'Advanced Temperance' policy so much at heart that it, too, leads its assistance in circulating the sheet as a 'Supplement' to its partisan organ. The whole arrangement is so palpable that one is amused at the unprompted manner in which the 'campaign literature' is being sent broadcast throughout the country.

Some of the headings, such as 'The Rationing Way,' 'A Noteworthy Advance,' 'The Most Effective,' 'Among the Scott Act,' etc., are in themselves worthy of observation, arranged as they are to catch the attention of the gullible reader.

It is to be hoped that the people everywhere will read carefully the whole sheet and place it in the category where it rightly belongs.—the allied interests of the liquor sellers and the keeping in power of the Government.

In the face of every day evidence in our own town, where liquor is openly sold in defiance of the law, and brought here from Halifax whenever required, of what use or even common sense is it to say that the present laws are effective?

Let Premier Murray and his supporters be as honest with the people as they are with themselves. Let them say to the prohibitionists: 'No! As we value our existence as a party in power, we dare not antagonize the liquor interests. If we gave you this thing we would be compelled to count the votes of the rum traffic against us, and we are afraid to face the results.'

They might go further, and with equal truth, declare that a large number of the temperance men cannot be trusted to lend unqualified support to any party which might enact prohibition. The chances are that many of the most zealous temperance supporters would prefer to have it colored by partisan politics, so that the cause is weakened by some of the very men who are advocating the measure.

After all, the issue is clear, and rests entirely with the people, and the speeches of those who lead to the wishes of the liquor trade do not require to be chronicled all over the country to further enlighten the voters. If they believe in prohibition as being the right principle by which to decide against the evils resulting from the traffic in strong drink, the only way by which the law can be secured is to elect to Parliament men who are themselves honestly imbued with the same idea, not only believers in the principle, but men who will faithfully represent it regardless of party affiliations.

The question will never be satisfactorily adjusted until it ceases to be a political football, and is decided on its own merits by the untrammeled vote of the people.—Windsor Tribune.

At a meeting of the Annapolis town council held last week a resolution was passed providing that interest at 5 per cent, would be charged on all taxes that remained unpaid after July 1st. A persuasive act was passed by the local government giving towns councils this power provided they choose to exercise it.

The Waste of Daylight.

In connection with the passage of the Daylight Saving bill in Great Britain some very interesting information has been compiled showing the advantages which will be enjoyed under the new system. It is pointed out that 250 additional available hours of daylight will be gained, and that the people of Great Britain will save over $20,000,000 in the cost of artificial light. The most striking advantage will be gained by those who enjoy Saturday half holiday, because their work will be over at what is now approximately 11 o'clock in the morning. Those who have travelled by sea will remember how easily they have accommodated themselves to the frequent alterations of time on board ship, and it is reasonable to expect that the same absence of inconvenience will be experienced on land. The benefits afforded by parks and open spaces will be doubled, and opportunities for athletic recreation will be gradually increased. The brief period of daylight between the hours of work and sleep is frequently insufficient for outdoor recreation, but the daily addition of an hour or more will multiply, several times, the usefulness of that which we already have.

The street cars will reap increased dividends from the fact that more people will patronize them in the latter hours of the day than after dark. It is also anticipated that an appreciable benefit to eye sight will occur, as there will be less reading by artificial light. People will sleep better during the darkness because they will have more outdoor exercise during daylight, and also will not be disturbed by sunlight during their hours of rest.

According to the proposal of Mr. William Willet, F. R. S., instead of the change being made on one hour twice a year, the change will be made gradually in Great Britain during April and September. He proposes that the time be set back 20 minutes in each of four Sundays in April, and put ahead the same time on four Sundays in September. The contention is that the change being made on one Sunday, will be less liable to affect business, also that by being made by degrees, even if an individual fails to set his watch on that day, the mistake will not be so important as if the change of 80 minutes was made at one time. From the Citizen's point of view this method would be much too complicated, and productive of more confusion and inconvenience than if the straight change of an hour was made on a certain date in the spring and fall. To expect railway companies and individuals to change their watches and clocks eight times a year would be too much to ask and the risk of accidents would be very great during the time that the changes were being made. Besides this the alterations in line of a clear hour is made less liable to cause confusion than by adding or taking off a fraction of an hour. The division of standard time across the continent has caused very little difficulty since the system has been clearly understood. At a certain point on the journey westward or eastward all passengers put their watches backward or forward an hour. The same could be done with the whole population of a country on a certain day to which particular attention would be drawn by the newspapers, and it is safe to predict that no inconvenience whatever would result.—Ottawa Citizen.

Prefers Nova Scotia to the West.
When a man thoroughly educated, wide-spread and closely observant, who has studied all the Canadian Provinces in detail, expresses a decided preference for a particular section of this country his words demand attention.
Professor James W. Robertson, LL. D., a native of Scotland, who was for many years, Deputy Commissioner for the Dominion and who, as the best agricultural authority in Canada, was selected by Sir William Macdonald to be the head of the great Agricultural College at St. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, has told the public in what part of Canada he would settle if he arrived here today as a newcomer. In a recent address on 'Education for the Improvement of Agriculture,' he said: 'For myself, were I, even with my present knowledge of Canada, now coming to the Dominion as a new settler, I would rather come to the Maritime Provinces to make a home for myself than try the fortunes of the West. Here one finds invigorating climate, good schools, a law-respecting population, with high ideals and standards of life, running streams, plenty of trees, the fragrance of clover blossoms and flowers, fresh fruits and innumerable other satisfactions. In brief, here is a satisfying place in which to found a home.'

I have discussed with leading men from England the desirability of directing a portion of the stream of immigrants into the Maritime Provinces. These might not be during the first few years such a rapid accumulation of available wealth as from prairie farming, but there might be general success with few failures. The land is suitable for growing almost every crop of the northern temperate zone. It has a climate healthful and reliable as to rain-fall and temperature, and good markets for all classes of products at the doors.'

This statement should be carefully considered by those of our young men who are dazzled with the exaggerated stories of great wealth to be easily acquired in the West, and who overlook the opportunities that exist in their native Province. The foregoing is the wisest conclusion of one of the shrewdest minds in this Dominion.

Principal DeWolfe on 'The Secret of Success.'
Principal DeWolfe gave a very instructive and inspiring lecture on 'The Secret of Success' before the Senior Class of the Seminary at the meeting of the Pierian Society, Friday evening, May 7th.

Going out from the etymology of the word success 'what follows after' the learned speaker pointed out the characteristic qualities in those men who have been universally recognized as eminently successful in their respective spheres of endeavor.

The question whether success is dependent on forces over which we have no control was treated in a very convincing manner. Apparently some persons seem to be born successful, others achieve success by hard struggle. In reality, the happy combination of those requirements bring about true and lasting success. Native ability developed by hard and incessant toil and struggle and aided by favorable circumstances are necessary to the highest attainment.

Imagination—the ability to have a vision—faith, decision, self-control, persistence are predominant qualities in all great men.
The objective viewpoint as to what constitutes true intrinsic success forms the most inspiring part of the address.

Success is not always that which succeeds. The aim must be correct and noble, the spirit of self-sacrifice which rather ministers than is ministered unto must be the principal motive. Often an honorable defeat is preferable to a dishonorable victory. Dismissing the base view of opportunism which advocates low ideals, the speaker here set forth of emulation the Christian ideal in the moral realm of truth and righteousness as exemplified in the life of Jesus Christ.

A Guarantee of Safety.
Most of the 'soothing' syrups and powders advertised to cure the ills of babies and young children contain poisonous opiates, and an overdose may kill the child. Baby's Own Tablets are sold under the guarantee of a government analyst that they contain no opiate or harmful drug. They can be given with absolute safety to a new born child. They cure all those minor ailments originating in disordered stomach or bowels. Mrs. F. Young, River Herford, N. S., says: 'I have used Baby's Own Tablets for constipation and stomach trouble and when my baby was teething, and I have found them the best medicine I know of for these troubles.' Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

I am-Buk Saved His Hand!
WHEN TORN BY ROLLEY ROPE.
WORKING men and women throughout the Dominion find that am-Buk is the greatest boon they can have as a healer of accidental cuts, burns, and bruises, as well as skin diseases. Mr. H. G. Purchase, conductor on the Toronto Street Railway, tells how this great herbal balm benefited him when he met with his accident.

The trolley pole of his car slipped off the live wire, and the rope was caught in the standard. Purchase held on to the rope until his hand was pulled up to the top of the car. There it was held, and the rope pulled through his fingers by the force of the moving cars, and lacerated to a shocking extent. Three fingers, bearing several pieces of flesh completely away. am-Buk was applied, and saved the pain very quickly. Writing in this effect, Mr. Purchase says: 'I had previously had experience of the healing power of am-Buk, and this time it worked like a charm. I therefore, bound the fingers in am-Buk, and it was most gratifying the way in which this balm soothed the pain. Two days after the accident the wounds were closed, and new skin was beginning to form over the top. Each day I dressed the wounds with am-Buk, and I am now back again at work with the hand as sound as ever. To look at you would never know it had been so terribly torn and lacerated. I am sure that there is nothing to equal am-Buk as a healer of skin injuries and diseases.'

WHY YOU SHOULD USE I AM-BUK FOR
Burns, cuts, scalds, chafes, chilblains, frost-bites, hemorrhoids, insect bites, itching, and all skin diseases. It is the best remedy for all these troubles. It is sold in all drug stores, and is also sold by mail from am-Buk Co., Toronto, Ont.

The Japanese Girl.

The idea of 'The Japanese Girl' was suggested by reading an account of a picturesque custom prevalent in some parts of Japan. When a near relative has to be absent from home for a considerable period he often leaves behind a growing plant, young tree, or singing bird, which is called by his name and regarded as his substitute.

The greatest care is bestowed on this object, as it is considered most unlucky to the person whom it represents should any harm befall it during his absence.

The Characters are as follows:—O Hanu San, Soprano (Beautiful Flower) Miss Edythe Ring—A Japanese Girl of position.

O Kitsu San, Mezzo Soprano (Sweet Chrysanthemum) Miss Annie Miller. O Kayo San, Mezzo Soprano (Tea of Bliss) Miss Charlotte Layton—Her Cousin.

Chaya, Mezzo Soprano (Tea Server) Miss Ella Vance—Her Servant. Nora Twinn, Mezzo Soprano, Miss Helen Knowles. Dora Twinn, Mezzo Soprano, Miss Eva Frodsham—Canadian Girls.

Miss Minerva Knowall, Contralto, Miss Ermieva Baker—Governess. Miss Evelyn Haines is the accompanist throughout.

The rehearsals show that the presentation of the Japanese Girl is to be most successful. The quaint Japanese costumes, especially designed for the occasion, the pretty songs, trios, duets and choruses, the funny situations, the witty dialogue and the refined sentiment which pervades the whole conspire to provide an evening's entertainment of rare enjoyment.

All the seats sold, whether reserved or general, provide a good view of the large stage; though of course the advantage is with those who secure the reserved seats. The libretto giving the complete text of the play may be had at Rand's or at the door for five cents. Reserved seats and general tickets are also on sale at Rand's.

The proceeds are for the use of the Y. W. C. A. work—two-thirds going to the treasury of the society for Y. W. C. A. work and one-third for the library fund of the Seminary. It is hoped that the people of Wolfville and vicinity who have always so generally patronized entertainments of high order will bestow upon this their material mark of a fine appreciation. Reserved seats are fifty cents. General admission thirty-five cents. Remember the date, Friday, May 14 The Japanese Girl. The event, The Seminary Glee Club under the direction of Miss Merson and Miss True.

Field Meet.

The first annual field and track meet of the academies and high schools of Nova Scotia is to be held on the campus here on Victoria Day.

This is a new organization which promises to be of great benefit in creating a greater interest in athletics among the pupils of our schools. The first meet promises to be a most successful one. Already teams have entered from Halifax, Pictou, Truro and Horton Academies and Acadia Villa School, and as the competition is open to pupils in any school in the province, it is likely that the number of contestants will be largely increased between this and May 24th.

The list of events includes: 100 yards dash, high jump, hammer throw, 220 yards dash, pole vault, half mile run, 12 yards high hurdles, mile run, shot put and mile relay. Messrs. Craig Bros., of Halifax, have offered a special trophy for competition. There will be a band in attendance to furnish music, and everything possible will be done to make the day a successful and pleasant one.

The Uses of Bile in Digestion.

Bile is quite as important as are the gastric juices in the process of digestion.

Without bile human life is short; for, Bile hastens the passage of the food along the alimentary canal.

Bile prevents the fermentation of food in the intestines, which in turn causes gas, wind, flatulency.

Bile, in short, is Nature's cathartic and maintains a regular and healthy process of digestion and elimination of waste matter by way of the bowels.

But to have a regular flow of bile the liver must be kept healthy and active and just here is where Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills come in, for they are judiciously specific and direct in their action on the liver.

It is only by setting the liver right that constipation can ever be cured. It is only by making the liver healthy that biliousness and bilious, sick headaches can be thoroughly overcome. It is only by making the liver active that the most difficult cases of indigestion and dyspepsia will ever be relieved.
